Burnette is Juvenile Officer for Iosco

Taking over recently as the new juvenile officer for Iosco Probate Court was George Burnette, a retired Michigan State Police sergeant.

Working under Probate Judge William McCready, Burnette has responsibility for investigation of home conditions and backgrounds of juveniles who come within the jurisdiction of the probate court. He investigates complaints of neglected children, as well as supervising probation of juveniles who are made temporary wards of the court.

In addition to these duties, Burnette investigates applications and licensing of foster homes, of which five are located in this county. The new probation officer said Friday that his office has a case load of 18 boys and two girls, all 16 years of age or under, as well as six neglected children. Some 23 adoptions, which his office handles, are pending in the county.

"Basically, my work is to report to the court on the causes which led children to become delinquent. Following an investigation of home conditions, these findings are reported to the probate judge, along with recommendations as to possible disposition," said Burnette.

With 25 years of experience as an investigating officer, Burnette said his new job seemed to be a natural for him.

Burnette was assigned to the East Tawas post from December 16, 1943, to May 1, 1955. He is married to the former Evelyn Pfeiffer of Tawas City.

He was promoted to corporal while serving at East Tawas and became sergeant in July 1959, commanding the post at St. Ignace. He became a staff sergeant in 1963 and served in the operations office at East Lansing.

Following his retirement in November 1966, the Burnettes moved to Oscoda where he had worked for Rolled Products before taking over his new job.

The couple has four children. James, 24, who works as a data processor for the Burroughs Corporation, Detroit; Harold, 21, serving aboard the United States Navy Destroyer Hubbard, Long Beach, California; Debbie, 16, an 11th grader at Oscoda; Dwayne, 10, a fourth grader at Oscoda.

Study Ways to Upgrade Enforcement

As part of the omnibus crime control bill adopted last year by congress, $1,050,000 has been allocated to Michigan to upgrade the law enforcement process in the state.

George Justus, director of area planning for a private firm which is conducting a survey in this state, was in Iosco Tuesday to study problems in region seven comprising seven counties.

"The thought behind the crime commission's action is to put this money at the grass roots level where it will do the most good," stated Justus.

As a result, counties such as Iosco are eligible to receive federal funds to aid in construction of jails, juvenile detentions and funds to supplement police salaries.

Justus interviewed members of the sheriff's department, local police agencies, the prosecuting attorney, as well as district, circuit and probate judges, in order to determine possible legislative changes to upgrade the total law enforcement process.

He stated that while crime has increased tremendously throughout the country, the major increase has been seen with juveniles. He said that steps were to be taken to reduce crime rather than to stay with the present holding action.

Justus is to make his recommendations concerning Iosco and the other counties to the region seven task force at its July meeting scheduled for Delta College. Members of the task force include Kenneth Myles, prosecuting attorney, and Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller.

On Ambulances

Legal-Financial Aspects Studied

Investigation into legal and financial aspects of possibly operating an ambulance service was authorized last week by the board of directors of Tawas Hospital.

M. Jerry Norwood, hospital administrator, said Monday that a number of problems would have to be considered before any decision could be made, although he said he was initially receptive to the idea of a hospital ambulance service which was suggested only last week.

Among the problems to be studied include legal and financial, according to Norwood. The hospital's attorney is to be here Thursday morning to discuss the matter with the administrator and board.

In addition, should the proposal prove feasible, the hospital would have to find additional personnel to train as combination orderlies and ambulance drivers-attendants, provide equipment and liability insurance.

"There are many questions to be answered and it will require time to reach a decision," said Norwood.

Suggestion of a possible arrangement with Tawas Hospital to provide ambulance service was made at a meeting of the East Tawas Council a week ago.

It was suggested that the county or local units of government obtain all the equipment necessary and turn it over to the hospital for operation.

Norwood said that Mayor James Campbell of East Tawas is now meeting with various township supervisors and city officers in an effort to determine their thinking on such a proposed service.

Meanwhile, at last week's session of the county board of supervisors, the majority of members of that group felt that the county was in no position to participate in ambulance service. Some members expressed the opinion that the board should stand on its action of last month in turning the problem over to local units of government—townships and cities.

"The sooner we quit talking about it, the sooner other local units of government will do something about it," was one opinion expressed.

Another member felt that the new nine-man board of supervisors already had its hands full in trying to solve many problems facing the county, without getting into something new.

Carlton Merschel, chairman of the board's health and welfare committee, which has spent several months studying the problem, expressed the hope that someone would "come up with a plan" because of the need for adequate ambulance service in the county.

Registration Days Scheduled for TA Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for the fall term at Tawas Area School will be held June 23, according to an announcement Monday by Miss Clara Bolen, elementary principal.

Site of the registration will be the East Tawas Elementary Unit. Regular school hours will be observed for registration on June 23. Hours on June 3 will be from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m.

Miss Bolen said that a letter and forms had been sent to parents of kindergarten age children, establishing times for an appointment. Any new residents in the Tawas Area School District with children of kindergarten age who have not been contacted are urged to call Miss Bolen's office, 382-3151, to arrange an appointment.

Board Gives Views on Juvenile Center

Following study of the much discussed site for a proposed juvenile diagnostic detention center, a special committee of Tawas Area Board of Education recommended Monday night that a committee of the county board of supervisors visit other facilities of this type in the state.

A letter from the board of education to the county said that such a committee could sample the reaction of persons in the immediate vicinity of other centers in order to determine their reaction to having a facility placed so near to their homes, as well as to determine whether security of those detained is a problem.

This action of the board followed an appearance two weeks ago by a group of residents who are opposing location of the proposed center on the county-owned Iosco Medical Care Facility property.

The committee made arrangements with County Clerk Keith Papas to listen to a recording of the board of supervisors' meeting with William McMillan of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

"The fact that this facility would be placed near to the high school, the elementary school and an area with a concentration of homes causes the board of education to support the theme expressed by supervisors present that a careful study should be made before a site is chosen," said the board's letter.

The board of education stated it was in approval of the idea of the center "and know you will do a fine job in the interests of Iosco County in securing the facility and choice of a site."

The board of education received a copy of a letter from the director of a similar facility in Kent County which invited local residents to visit that facility. It was stated that local residents could visit with families residing in the neighborhood of the Kent County facility in order to test the reaction of such a location in a residential area.

Schools Plan Appeal to Allocation Board

Three school districts of Iosco County, which lost 1.08 mills in operating revenue when the Iosco Tax Allocation Board split the tax pie last week, are expected to appear before the allocation board today (Wednesday) to seek some relief before the final order is signed.

At its meeting last week, the allocation board voted four to two to split the 15 available mills as follows: Nine mills for schools, 4.8 mills for county, 2 of a mill to the intermediate district and one mill to townships showing a budgeted need.

Last year, schools received 10.08 mills, the county received 3.75 mills and the intermediate district received .00017 of a mill.

The lone exception to the above split is in the Whittemore-Prescott Area School District, which is controlled by Ogemaw County's "pegged" allocation of 9 1/2 mills.

It is expected that school representatives will appear before the allocation board and ask that there be a compromise on the final order to allow 9 1/2 mills to schools.

Supt. Reynold Mick told members of the Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night that the transfer of the 1.08 mills would mean that this district would receive $45,751 less tax money than the previous year, based on the district's new valuation of $42,000,000.

The state aid bill which was sent from the house of representatives to the senate last week requires that 14 mills be allocated by individual counties to schools to receive full state aid participation. In February, Tawas Area School voters approved a special operational levy of 4 1/2 mills, which brings Tawas' total millage to 13 1/2. The difference in the one-half mill would mean that the district would lose $13,413 in state aid.

Under the new state aid bill being considered by the legislature, Tawas Area would receive the additional benefit of $13,162 under a different formula, which would partially offset the loss under the 14-mill provision.

Mick told board of education members that he had been in contact with state officials and there had been no change as yet in the 14-mill provision. A final decision is expected at Lansing later this week.

Mick said that loss of the tax money and state aid would be a serious problem to the school. "I don't know what can be done, but we must do all we can to get this money restored," he said.

The superintendent said he was in no position to say anything concerning what effect the lower operational money would have on the school's budget until the state aid bill is finalized.

School budgets presented to the allocation board in April were as follows: Oscoda Area School, $3, (See SCHOOLS, page 3.)

ROBERT HUDDY

Det. Robert S. Huddy of the Michigan State Police fire marshal division at Rockford, has been promoted to detective sergeant and remains at his present location.

He succeeds Det. Sgt. Clyde A. Marquardt, who retired recently. Huddy joined the department in 1955. First assigned to Iron Mountain, he then served at Stephenson and East Tawas before transfer to the traffic division at East Lansing in 1965.

The next year, he was promoted to detective and assigned to the fire marshal division at Rockford. Huddy was born May 24, 1929, at Flint, graduating from high school there and then attended junior college for a year. He is married and has three children.

Well-Known Lightning Sailor to be Speaker

Slated as commencement speaker June 5 at Tawas Area High School is Thomas D. Fallon, director of sales training, National Gypsum Company, Buffalo, New York.

A native of New York State, having been associated with National Gypsum Company for more than 30 years, he is a graduate of the University of Buffalo.

Fallon is well known here as a competitive sailor in the Lightning Class and is a good friend of Charles Schreck of East Tawas, as well as other members of Tawas Bay Yacht Club. He has raced competitively against Schreck many times on Tawas Bay, Lake Michigan, Lake Erie, as well as at St. Petersburg and Miami, Florida.

Although Fallon's teaching and educational career has been formally devoted exclusively to adult training and education, he has had considerable experience in training young people. During his long career in sailboat racing, he has seen many young men grow to maturity.

The ideal crewman on a Lightning Class boat is an enthusiastic young fellow, 13 to 14 years old. Fallon has brought six of these men from this age right up to maturity. He is proud of the contributions that each has made to the success of his boat, competitively, and also from the viewpoint of pleasure and good fellowship.

All of Fallon's boats have been called "Flare," with one exception. In 1963, the North American Lightning Class championship was won on Tawas Bay by Carl Eichenlaub of San Diego, California.

Prior to the start of the regatta, Fallon purchased Eichenlaub's yellow Lightning known as "Bull II." He did not take possession of it, however, until after Eichenlaub sailed it in the world's championship at Lima, Peru.

Mr. and Mrs. Schreck, along with Charles Jr., Fallon and his wife, Marie, are planning to sail in the Lightning Class world-championship at Buenos Aires, Argentina, in November.

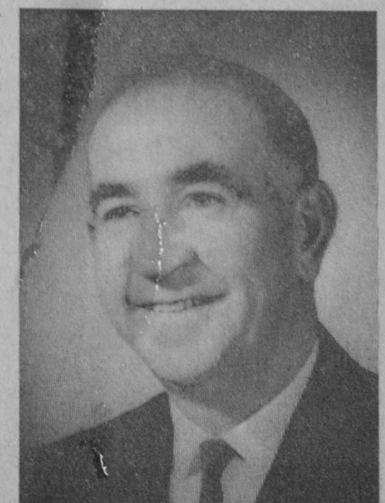

Fallon has been identified with practically all phases of sales and sales management in National Gypsum Company. He started as a sales correspondent in 1935, served as a territory salesman in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio and Kentucky. He was the company's district manager for Michigan and sales manager of the insulation board division for many years.

In 1953, he was called upon to set up the entire sales training program for the company and has managed this program for more than 10 years. During this period, he has trained more than 4,000 salesmen.

He is a member of the National Society of Sales Training Executives and, in 1961, received the top award from the society for his editorial contribution.

During World War II, Fallon served as a commissioned officer in the naval reserve where he was a navigator and navigation instructor.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read Genesis 50:15-21; II Corinthians 4:7-12

Ye thought evil against me; but God meant it unto good. (Genesis 50:20)

Reading again the story of Joseph, I came to love this great spiritual man more than ever. Here was a person who dreamed of his great destiny but suffered at the hands of his brothers whom he went to serve. He was thrown in to the pit until they could decide what to do with him. His brothers sold him to strangers and the strangers sold him to other strangers. Although honor and prosperity came to him in Egypt, he was imprisoned when Potiphar's wife lied about him. Even when Joseph helped and comforted the king's cupbearer, imprisoned with him, the cupbearer forgot him when he was released and Joseph continued in the dungeon.

In the whole story, they never escaped his lips one word of complaint. His brothers, Potiphar's wife or the ungrateful cupbearer never heard a word of complaint from his lips.

How often have I complained about my hard lot! How do I seem beside this wonderful example?

PRAYER

Lord, grant me such patience of spirit and greatness of soul that I may face life without complaining. Help me, I pray in the name of Christ, my Savior. Amen.

The Christian Science Bible lesson-sermon this Sunday recalls Paul's timely advice to the Romans: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light." The subject of the sermon is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Denounced."

Another passage in the lesson, from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, explains: "The Christian Scientist demonstrates that divine Mind heals, while the hypnotist dispossesses the patient of his individuality in order to control him."

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:
In last week's Herald, you had an article on "Hear Protest Over Juvenile Detention," but in my opinion you failed the public sadly.

You quoted Mr. McMillan. Mr. McMillan says—but you fail to let the people know what the local people, your neighbors, had to say. Let's hear both sides of it: Let me start by saying I think Mr. McMillan tried too hard, and too many times to assure us that this will be a very secure center. We are safe and secure right now without fences and prison hardware.

The Iosco County News said, "The facility it was noted, would serve five counties adjoining Iosco and each county would be billed for each inmate." So Iosco would not be saving any money by doing it here, would we?

In The Tawas Herald, it said, "The regional diagnostic center would serve Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Crawford, Oscoda, Alpena, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Arenac and Iosco." That used to make 10 when I went to school. Either one of the editors heard wrong, or we are all hearing two different stories.

What benefits other than it's convenient for a few chosen few? Will it make for local jobs? I doubt it. Mr. McMillan said it would be run by officially trained personnel. And if it made 100 jobs and one child got hurt, molested or killed, would it be worth it?

"There probably would be opposition to location of a center in any area of the county," said McMillan. Meaning don't pay any attention to these protests, regardless of how valid they are! Because he also states, "However that these fears had been expressed by residents in other parts of the state and, after construction the residents had changed their opinions." What else could they do? The state didn't listen to them.

The Iosco County News says, "As for sex offenders and other violent juvenile offenders the Iosco County Unit would not be used for an extended period, and should it be used for a short period it would be with strict security."

McMillan said, "The average stay was three weeks or less." But how long does it take a desperate teen-age delinquent to escape? People, call your supervisors. Don't let this happen in our safe and secure and lovely Tawas. There are other sites. What this editor and the supervisors won't listen to is we are not against having a juvenile detention and diagnostic center in the county. Just this site in Tawas Township.

Mrs. Lewis Wilson
Editor's note: Sorry to differ with you, Mrs. Wilson, but the Herald has reported what your neighbors had to say at four different meetings—in fact, we devoted about one column of type to Mrs. Donald Gingersich, who acts as spokesman for your group. You might be interested to know that Mr. McMillan made the same statements at the May 7 meeting as he did when he met with the board of supervisors in February 1968, including the number of counties involved in the district, as reported by the Herald. If you wish to verify the counties involved, check with the county clerk's office.

Tawas Area School Borrows $40,000 from Peoples State

An offer of an interest rate of 3.75 percent from Peoples State Bank was accepted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education for the issuance of state aid anticipation notes.

Effective July 1, the school will borrow $40,000 on anticipated state aid in order to meet payrolls and other expenses during the summer months. Due date of the notes will be April 1.

This measure was necessary in order to fill the gap in school operating funds before receipt of property taxes next December and January.

In other business, Robert Elliott was named as the board's representative on the Iosco Intermediate Board of Education. He replaces Henry R. Mead, who had filled the unexpired term of Ronald Korthals.

Three members are to be named to the intermediate board of education, including one from the Whittemore-Prescott Area and one from Hale Area School District. The Tawas Area District representative serves the county at large.

The board authorized Schreck Lumber Company to prepare necessary specifications for the board of education to ask for bids on replacing 110 window units in the East Tawas Elementary Unit. It was estimated that cost of the project would be in the neighborhood of $23,000, if all windows are replaced.

Ernest Jordan, superintendent of Iosco Intermediate School District, appeared before the board of education and explained the responsibilities and functions of that organization.

Some of the functions include child accounting, teacher certification, school lunch reports, transportation reports, school finance reports. Additional functions include special education programs, staff and curriculum development, reorganization of school districts, community colleges, vocational technical centers, specialized instructional materials and library service.

The program offered during 1968-69 included speech therapy, diagnostic services, mentally handicapped rooms in Oscoda and Tawas, film cooperative with Bay-Arenac Intermediate District and services of an educational consultant.

Jordan said that the intermediate district was losing two speech therapists this year and that every effort was being made to hire replacements.

The intermediate superintendent said that his office would receive $96,000 next year to be used for special education purposes. It is hoped that a reading consultant may be hired to provide in-service training to elementary and secondary teachers, in order to present a more adequate educational program for students. It is also planned to hire an additional speech therapist to work in all high schools of the county.

He said that the Iosco Intermediate School District would be reorganized with some adjacent intermediate district in the near future but no decision has been made as yet.

A letter from Mrs. Ellen Evans thanked the board of education for allowing her to participate in the curriculum study at Boyne Mountain April 18-24, sponsored by the Michigan Council of Teachers of English. At Mrs. Evans' request, the board authorized her to hold a workshop for English teachers of the school district prior to the start of the fall term. As head of the English department, she would share with other teachers what she learned at the recent conference concerning curriculum evaluation.

The board authorized payment of $1,699 to repair a hot water line at the high school.

Miss Clara Bolen, elementary principal, reported that one kindergarten position was open for next year and the elementary vocal music position was still to be filled.

Four teachers remain to be hired on the high school faculty, including teachers for drafting and metal shop, English, vocal music and girls physical education.

Teachers signing contracts include Mrs. Lucille Mischel, elementary; Greg Mischel, French; Richard Franks, replacement for Larry DeBeauvoir, who requested a one-year leave of absence, speech department; Charles Reddick, physical science and assistant football coach.

Bring 'em back ALIVE!

KEEP OFF THE ROAD MEMORIAL WEEK-END and give the four and a half million Michigan good drivers a chance to enjoy vacations and help "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" That is the advice Automobile Club of Michigan Gen. Mgr. Fred Rehm has for two to five percent of this state's high-point drivers who cause up to 30 percent of the state's fatalities each year. The poster which Rehm holds shows that the average "bad" driver has accumulated 26 points, nine traffic violations and has had a license suspension, revocation or re-examination at least three times since the point system began. Statistics for the "wanted poster" which Rehm holds were obtained from driving records in nine traffic surveys conducted by Auto Club since 1966. Motorists traveling over Memorial week-end are advised by Auto Club to be extra alert near home where 85 percent of all fatal accidents happen, when in an area where drinking drivers might be and especially on two-lane roads at night.

Buck Passing?

The term, "passing the buck," is well enough known to require no clarification by this newspaper. But, it is our opinion that this term could well apply to the situation regarding ambulance service in Iosco County.

Everyone, it seems, realizes the importance of providing good ambulance facilities to residents of the county and the thousands of visitors who use its highways. But who will accept the responsibility or challenge of providing this humanitarian service?

Effective July 1, three of the five funeral directors of this county are definitely going to discontinue their private ambulance service. Regardless of what anyone may think, operation of a private ambulance service is a tremendous responsibility for these funeral directors, all of whom operate their business as a family enterprise. Because of new state regulations, greater responsibility is placed on those operators remaining in business.

Private ambulance service started here in the late 1920s or early 1930s to transport sick patients to downstate hospitals, with very few traffic accident victims. Today, the load of accident victims has grown tremendously throughout the country and it has been only natural that new state laws regarding the operation have followed.

True, there has been competition in the past between ambulance services but, today, the majority of funeral directors around the state say they cannot operate within the new restrictions because of increased costs.

Possible solutions to the ambulance problem have been discussed in Iosco County for the past four months. This is a county-wide problem, regardless of the fact that one area has apparently solved the matter for the time being.

We do not advocate that the county pick up the entire cost of this service but, instead of passing the buck to other units, the new nine-man board of supervisors should accept its leadership role by coordinating matters with all local units of government. The other local units—townships and cities—have a responsibility, too, and cannot expect the county to pick up the entire tab for this added cost. The cost of financing equipment purchase should be financed through special voted millage or through assistance from the other local units of government.

Before there is any further delay, the supervisors should check into possible state and federal assistance which is available. They, too, have a responsibility because of the state and federal highways located here. Tawas Hospital is now investigating the legal and financial aspects of possibly operating an ambulance service, through cooperation with local units of government. In time, it might be possible to place this service on a self-supporting basis.

This effort by the hospital is most encouraging and it is hoped it could develop into a possible solution. But, nothing can be accomplished without over-all direction from the county, as there would be many problems to be solved—including service to the west side of Iosco.

How about it? Let's get together and solve this problem collectively for the mutual benefit of all areas of the county. It is time for everyone to stop the buck passing.

BEHIND YOUR HEALTH

H. E. Kingman, Jr., D.V.M.

The first successful transplantation of human bone marrow performed recently may hold the key to life for countless victims of a whole group of diseases, including leukemia, called myeloproliferative disorders.

The diseases are characterized by an overwhelming number of white blood cells produced by the bone marrow. Extraction of the diseased marrow and replacement with that of a healthy donor can restore the proper balance of blood elements.

The laboratory mouse provided the first clues for matching transplanted marrow from donor to host. The same rejection problems encountered in other transplants apply to bone marrow grafts. Dr. Robert A. Good, head of the University of Minnesota transplant team, observed that it does take time to return the knowledge that animal experiments provide to the clinic. Work with mice showed how to type tissue in somewhat the same way blood is typed. But learning the major tissue matching system was a much more difficult task and even now is not complete.

Investigation on the disorders themselves in the past has been hampered because naturally occurring myeloproliferative diseases in animal subjects are rare. On exposure to radiation, however, miniature swine, rats and dogs develop various types of abnormalities of the bone marrow.

The use of these animal models under carefully controlled experimental conditions gives researchers hope that many new concepts will be uncovered to fill the gaps in present knowledge.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

EVERYTHING IS MINI OR MAXI, in fashion this year. Hemlines are worn either very high or very low. Sweaters follow the same trend; they are long and lean or short and sweet.

THE LITTLE EVERYTHING SWEATER

If you like your sweaters "short and sweet," here is a pretty little minikin. It is lightly knit of cotton yarn for cool summer wearing. A strand of white used with lavender or another pastel, makes a flower-fresh blend. A lacy pattern of zigzags and diamonds is traced around the yoke. Ribbed borders edge the low, rounded neckline, short sleeves, and waist.

SUMMER PLAYMATES

A knit blouse is the perfect playmate for summer sportswear. It clicks with a mini-skirt, flippy culottes or flared-leg linen slacks. For weekend jaunting, it is purely packable and comes out of the suitcase without a wrinkle. Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for leaflet PK 2049.

Ban The (DDT) Bomb!

Too often, the use of persistent insecticides has produced damaging side effects for wildlife and potential risks for people. That threat dramatically reared its ugly head about a year ago when DDT was linked with the die-off of about 800,000 young coho salmon in Michigan fish hatcheries. During recent weeks, it sent out even more electrifying shock waves when about 34,000 pounds of frozen coho from Lake Michigan were taken off the market because they contained too much DDT. Such damning evidence against the polluting powers of DDT should be foremost in the minds of property owners this spring when they think about using bug sprays, weed killers, and other chemical poisons to get rid of pests. The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is not against the use of all pesticides. It is dead set against the few "hard" ones, the persistent chlorinated hydrocarbons, which contaminate the environment far and wide over a long period of time. Among these is DDT, Dieldrin, Aldrin, Endrin, Chlordane, Lindane, Heptachlor, BHC, and Toxaphene. They come in sprays, dusts, and mixed with fertilizers and the consumer has to read the fine print to make sure he's not buying products containing these insidious pollutants. Happily, the Michigan Department of Agriculture has initiated action toward banning the sale of DDT in this state. Property owners who still have DDT and these other long-lasting poisons on hand are urged not to use them. And with the pesticides they do use, they should read and heed the labels on their containers and follow directions to the "T."

NEM League Opens

Tawas City Indies Lost to Worth, 14-1

A young Tawas City Indies squad opened the 1969 Northeastern Michigan League baseball season Sunday by losing to Worth, 14-1.

The Indies were saved from being shutout by the visitors in the first inning when Link and Groff hit back to back singles. Solomon was safe on a fielder's choice and Link scored.

Worth had scored one run in the top half of the first inning, added one run in the second and pushed a pair across in the third when Schermerhorn homered. The visitors kept adding to the run total, scoring two in the fourth without a hit, three in the sixth, one in the seventh and four in the ninth.

Zacharko, winning pitcher, scattered six hits over the nine innings and was never in serious trouble after the first inning. Solomon pitched six innings for Tawas City and allowed five hits. Seven errors hurt Tawas City's cause along with 10 walks. Krish took over the pitching in the seventh inning, allowing five runs on five hits.

A double by Rollin in the sixth inning was Tawas City's lone extra base hit.

This Memorial Day we will pause to honor the brave men and women who have given their lives in the service of our country. We invite you to join us in observing Memorial Day, May 30th.

Of 251 votes cast, 182 favored the bond issue and 69 were against. The vote in favor of the proposal was generally conceded to be larger than even its most optimistic advocate had expected. Urged to Keep Sharp Lookout for Insects

Gardeners, farmers, campers and hikers are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to keep a sharp lookout for unusual insects or damage to ornamentals, trees, lawns, houses or crops.

Such insects or damage should be reported at once to county agricultural agents or state or federal entomologists. It could mean that a foreign pest has sneaked past quarantine barriers or that the numbers of an established pest are building up to dangerous levels in new areas.

Plant pest control experts of the Agricultural Research Service stress the important part played by private citizens in discovering new insect enemies. It was a Florida homeowner's curiosity about larvae found in a grapefruit that triggered the successful campaign in 1956 against the destructive Mediterranean fruit fly.

The weekly ARS publication, "Cooperative Economic Insect Report," provides a warning service on insect threats by noting established pests in new areas and the unusual buildup of known pests. Citizens contribute to the service by collecting insects, preserving them and sending them to county agricultural agents or state universities along with information on where the insects were found and what damage they were causing.

Funeral Held for Elizabeth McLean

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Alice McLean of Whittemore were held Thursday, May 22, at First Presbyterian Church, Maple Ridge. Burial was in Richland Cemetery, Prescott, Mrs. McLean died Monday, May 19, at Iosco Medical Care Facility.

Born July 10, 1875, at Coberg, Ontario, she came to Michigan in 1886 and settled in the Whittemore-Maple Ridge area. She is a charter member of First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are a son, Keith of Whittemore; nine grandchildren; 10 great grandchildren, and one sister.

Monthly Checks Iosco's SS Benefits Totaled $296,000

A record of $296,000 in monthly social security benefits was being paid to residents of Iosco County at the end of December 1968, an increase of nine percent above the amount payable at the end of February 1968, according to John J. Carr, district manager for social security.

"Throughout the country, monthly benefits payable at the end of 1968 amounted to nearly 2.1 billion dollars, some 350 million dollars higher than at the end of 1967," Carr continued. "Approximately three-quarters of the increased monthly amount resulted from higher benefit rates authorized by the 1967 amendments to the Social Security Act. The remainder of the increase was simply due to a greater number of beneficiaries."

By the end of May 1969, social security will be paying monthly benefits to more than 25 million people, one out of every eight Americans. Although retired workers comprise the largest group of beneficiaries, almost one-fourth of all people receiving benefits are under 60. There are currently more than 3.8 million children and 5 million young widowed mothers receiving payments. Yet, the public continues to think of social security as a program for old people.

In Iosco County, 538 people under 60 are receiving benefits. That figure breaks down into 307 under 18; 36, 18-21, and 195, 22-59. Many students would have been unable to continue their education were it not for the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act which extended survivors and dependents insurance benefits to students until their 22nd birthdays. In 1968, that provision resulted in continuing benefits for 470,000 students.

Monthly payments to the family of a worker who dies leaving a widow and two or more children range from $82.50 to $434.40 a month, depending on the worker's average earnings under social security. Payments to the young family of a worker who dies at an early age could total as much as $85,000 to $100,000.

Carr also pointed out that by the end of 1968, approximately 90 percent of Americans 65 and over were either receiving cash benefits or would have been eligible for such benefits if they or their spouses had not been working.

In terms of Medicare, almost all people in the country 65 or over are eligible for hospital insurance benefits. Likewise, 95 percent of all older persons in the country have elected coverage under the voluntary supplementary plan which pays physicians' fees.

A representative of the Bay City social security office will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, June 12 and 26, 8:30 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

IF YOU GO TO THE "ANIMAL FAIR," mother sheep and her lamb will be there. Both are gaily beribboned for the occasion. The ewe is looking forward to showing off her new black sheep.

A WE AND HER LAMB
Mother and baby sheep are adorably cuddly toys. Each one is crocheted of knitting worsted and plumply stuffed with batting. Their facial features are embroidered with pearl cotton. For a whole family full of children, why not make a few little brother and sister lambs in pretty pastel colors for spring.

GENTLE PLAYMATES

A family of toy lambs make wonderful playmates for young children. Their soft yarn bodies are absolutely safe and huggable. Their pasture is a playpen, where they love to gambol. ON JUNE 9, voters of Hale Area School District will decide on a proposal to replace the center wooden structure (above) with a new junior and senior high school building. The brick wing at left would be retained for elementary use, as would the gymnasium at far right.—Tawas Herald Photo.

HALE Gives Opinion on Combining Schools

The question has been raised many times, wouldn't Hale be better off to consolidate with another district? In this week's question and answer series, Hale Area League for Education deals with just this one question.

First of all, Hale Area School owns 25 acres of land where the present buildings are located, with access to natural gas and sewer mains. If Hale was to consolidate, no school could take care of its students without buildings, which no doubt would be located in an area where these items are not available.

Secondly, Whittemore-Prescott Area has an enrollment of 1,030; Tawas Area has 1,850. Neither of these schools could take Hale Area's 545 students without extensive building, so Hale Area would have to pay for a new building, plus assuming the debt of a district with which it merged.

At the present, both Tawas Area and Whittemore-Prescott Area districts are paying a greater millage than Hale Area School. In a consolidated district, the first move would be to equalize the millage; so this would mean an immediate increase in Hale Area's taxes before the children have been moved.

The valuation of Hale Area School District is $30,677 behind each student. "We would like to keep money like this in our own district, where our board of education—which knows our needs and aims much better than any adjoining district—would be able to handle the education of youngsters. In a consolidated district, local board representation would be limited or, perhaps, not at all! And another district would be spending money we provide them in their own area rather than here," states HALE.

Transportation would create many problems. Time and cost should be considered. An added hour a day, traveling to and from school, would be involved for each student, which would mean less study time for the student. Extra curricular activities would mean more time spent in travel to and from school. Cost for buses, drivers and upkeep would be higher. "Our main concern is certainly the student who could easily lose his identity in a large system," states HALE. "Also, the highest dropout level is in the larger school district. Can't we serve our children better by keeping school here, where the students can achieve better communications with teachers, parents and administration through individual attention and, therefore, better education?"

"We feel it is our duty and obligation to provide the best well rounded education for these students and, after looking at all the above mentioned items, we feel our children will be given as good or better education here with the building of the proposed new high school plant."

There will be public meetings on May 27 and June 4. More facts are to be presented concerning the new bond proposal and residents of the district are urgently requested to attend.

Voice of the Consumer

Can the voice of the consumer make itself heard in the market place? Can the lady with a legiti-mate complaint get the ear of the man in a position to do something about it? Usually, the answer would be "Yes!"

Several years ago, a list of pet peeves was gathered from a group of 5,000 homemakers in 50 cities coast to coast. These women listed 44 complaints about supermarket shopping and the products offered for sale in those markets. A goodly number of the irritations spelled out by the women have obviously been heard and action taken to correct the problems.

For example: The homemakers complained bitterly about cans that left rust rings on counter tops and shelves—and now many cans which might be stored in damp areas have plastic-coated, rust proof edges. Cheese and cold meat slices that could not be separated now have divider paper between each slice. Egg cartons that too often failed to protect their contents have been redesigned so that cracked or broken eggs are few and far between today. Cans with hard-to-use or even missing keys have been replaced with easy-open zip-strips or peel-back tops that protect the contents but does not make opening a job for the marines.

The shopper expressed dislike and suspicion of prewrapped meat, vegetables and fruit that barred full examination. Now clear plastic trays give an unobstructed view of meats and plastic strip packs that allow a good look at fruits and vegetables.

Harness Racing Meet Scheduled at Whittemore

Third annual matinee harness racing will be held at Whittemore Raceway Sunday, June 1, 2:00 p. m. This event is part of an 11-week program under supervision of the Northern Fair Circuit.

Included in the stable of horses will be about six owned locally. Area owners include George Grabow of Whittemore, James Thurlow and Barney Allen of West Branch.

Ostrander said this third annual event should be the best ever.

Elwood McMurray of Hale will furnish the starting gate and Jerry Cleary will be announcer.

School Adopts Policy on Student Trips

A six-point policy governing attendance of student organizations at state and national meetings has been adopted by Tawas Area Board of Education.

Before student organizations consider participation in a state or national meeting, it is required to take the following into consideration:

1. A meeting must be designed solely to benefit high school youth in educational, civic, social and ethical development.
2. The program is open to all students, regardless of race or creed.
3. The program will not place undue burden on students, teachers or school.

4. The program is held on non-school time.

5. Travel will not require more than one day out of school, preferably no school time missed.

6. Arrangements are made well in advance, with only those persons who are active members of the organization participating.

If an organization meets the above criteria, a written request is to be submitted to the high school principal at least three weeks before the meeting.

Each request is to be considered on its own merits and acceptance of one does not mean acceptance of all. Approval once does not mean approval each year.

This policy does not reflect in any manner the board of education's present and future feeling toward the participation of Tawas Area students in classroom field trips.
