East Tawas Eyes Voter Roll Change

Updating and modernization of East Tawas' voter registration system was authorized Monday night by the city council.

This action was brought about by the recent ruling of the state election commission which limits paper ballot voting precincts to not more than 400 voters in each precinct. The council had discussed the possibility of purchasing voting machines as an answer to the problem, but shelved action several weeks ago because of the expense.

Action of the council Monday night authorized complete registrations of the entire city. While this would not be effective until after the April 6 city election. Clerk Fred Lomas said that registrations could start at any time.

"We have a limited supply of forms at present and an order has been placed for additional registration books and forms," said Lomas. "This complete overhaul of registration books will require a lot of work, but it will be beneficial to future elections."

Lomas said that registration books had been in "poor shape" since the city's voting precincts were redistricted several years ago. The change was made due to the one-man, one-vote ruling and required changing of boundaries of all three voting precincts.

In other business Monday night, the council authorized payment of taxes on personal property owned by two individuals. The city attorney is to study the matter to determine if the taxes are collectible. State law prohibits cities from turning in personal property as delinquent and must be paid to the county treasurer on settlement day.

Iosco Plans for Recreation to be Aired

Iosco County Planning Commission has invited area residents interested in proposed plans for development of recreational facilities to attend a meeting Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock, at the Federal Building, East Tawas.

Recreational development is to be discussed with the commission's professional planner, William Krause, Recreation Research Associates, and Myron Smith, district ranger, United States Forest Service.

Ranger Smith will discuss plans for the 103,000 acres of Huron National Forest in Iosco County.

Roger Murray, parks and recreation specialist, from Michigan State University, will attend in an advisory capacity.

This public meeting is to be held in the conference room of the Co-operative Extension Service.

New Phone Number for Ambulance

Western Iosco residents desiring emergency ambulance service may now call direct to the Iosco Sheriff's Department office in Tawas City, which coordinates this service with Tawas Hospital.

Effective last week, a new telephone number for the sheriff's office was placed in service for telephone subscribers using Whittemore, Hale and Sand Lake Heights exchanges.

This new number is ENterprise 7936 and may be obtained through any of the above exchanges by dialing the operator.

Undersheriff Leon Putnam said the new telephone number is expected to improve ambulance service calls in Western Iosco. Residents of the Tawas and Oscoda area may continue to dial direct to the sheriff's office, 362-3485.

Taxpayers Have Chance to 'Gripe'

City and township boards of review held organizational meetings Tuesday and Wednesday (today) to review appraisals and to prepare for March 9-10 meetings with individual taxpayers concerning tax assessments for the coming year.

For the first time in history, a new law required that assessing officers notify taxpayers of any change in property valuations. Some 400 notification cards were mailed at East Tawas, as reported in a story elsewhere in this newspaper, and 98 cards were mailed in Tawas City.

Benjamin Brewer, First Ward supervisor for Tawas City, emphasized Tuesday morning that the appraised value of property, not the state equalized value, was shown on cards sent to Tawas City taxpayers. The state equalized value for tax purposes is normally about one-half of the appraisal.

Following a sales study conducted by Henry Oates, Iosco Tax Equalization Department director, valuation figures to be used by assessing officers for appraising timber cutover lands (hunting) were adjusted upward, as well as an increase for residential property in some districts.

Oates said that 24 different parcels in the timber cutover category were sold during 1969 and 21 parcels were sold in 1968.

Appraised value of the property was $221,300, which was 23.69 percent below the actual selling price of the 34 parcels. Only one parcel sold below the appraised valuation.

Average appraisal of timber cutover land last year was $73.34 per acre and the valuation was increased by approximately $10 per acre.

Deer Habitat Tour Slated for Thursday

Area residents interested in studying deer habitat of North-eastern Iosco County and Alcona County are invited to participate in a snowmobile tour to be held Thursday starting at Oscoda.

Arranged by the Michigan Deer Hunters Association, accompanying the tour will be three biologists of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The tour will start at 9:30 a. m. from the Oscoda-AuSable Township Hall and the general public is invited to bring snowmachines and accompany the group.

The group will be divided into three different tours, one heading to Alcona County, one to visit the Seven Mile Hill area and the third to head to the northwest.

A spokesman for the Michigan Deer Hunters Association said Tuesday that date of the tour has been pending for several weeks and had been confirmed this week.

"These tours will provide an excellent opportunity for the biologists and the general public to survey the deer habitat in this area," stated William Colbath.

A luncheon and roundtable discussion is to be held following the tours at the clubhouse of Oscoda Sportsmen's Club at the old AuSable Ski Bowl.

Tawas Area Cadet Band Receives Top Rating

Tawas Area Cadet Band participated in the District IX Festival of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Saturday, February 28, held at Tawas.

The band received the highest possible rating, that of four "I's" for a final rating of a "I." This marks the sixth consecutive year that the cadet band has attained this honor.

Bands from Clare, Whittemore-Prescott, Beaverton, Prudenville, Oscoda, Pinconning, Farwell, Gladwin, Standish-Sterling, Roscommon, Atlanta and Tawas participated in the festival.

The band played for its march, "Meadowlands"; the Class C required selection, "Kentucky 1800," and "Suite from Bohemia," the selected number.

Adjudicators for the festival were David Merkel, who said, "These are difficult works for junior band, I feel the kids did a fine job. You and your director are a credit to your school and community. If I were from Tawas I would be so proud of my band

DNR Representatives to Talk Salmon With City Officials

Discussion on salmon planting and fishing controls on the Tawas River is to be held between representatives of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and Tawas City officials at the March 16 meeting of the city council.

John MacGregor, regional fish biologist, in answer to a request from the city council, said in a letter that he would be most happy to attend the meeting and update city officials on DNR activities and proposals for the coming salmon season.

"We have an alternative plan for the Tawas River which should be discussed with the council. Also, if we operate a trap device in 1970, permission would be required from the council to use the street ending on First Avenue, as we did in 1969," said MacGregor.

The council requested the meeting because of a number of conflicting reports concerning salmon fishing on the Tawas River which have been publicized in recent weeks.

A poll of councilmen indicated that all desired that fishing be prohibited on the Tawas River from the lake to the weir during the salmon season, as a means of eliminating trespassing on private property by fishermen.

It was felt that a weir should be installed from Labor Day to about November 15 in order to trap surplus fish and to prevent them from entering trout streams. Councilmen felt they owed an obligation to upriver and Tawas Lake property owners to request such action.

City Police Chief George Westcott said that only a few complaints were received concerning trespassing on private property during the season last fall.

Injured Friday in TC Crash

Mrs. William Schauf, Tawas City, was treated at Tawas Hospital Friday afternoon for injuries to her left shoulder and side following a two-car collision at the intersection of Whittemore Street and Fourth Avenue.

Tawas City Police Chief George Westcott said that Mrs. Schauf was driving her car west on Whittemore Street. He said that a car driven by Shirley A. Schlicker, 29, was headed north on Fourth Avenue and failed to yield the right of way.

Tawas City Council OKs August Vote

An advisory vote concerning possible revision and modernization of the city charter will be placed before Tawas City voters at the August state primary election. This action was taken Monday night by unanimous vote of the city council.

Permission to hold such an election is to be requested of the Iosco County Election Commission.

Often discussed during the past decade, the matter came to a head Monday night following unofficial discussion by city officials during the past two or three years.

Under state law, city officials had the choice of placing this proposition concerning establishment of a charter commission before voters, or they could initiate action. The city council decided to take the initiative and submit the question directly to voters.

The proposal has been under study by the city council and City Atty. Kenneth Myles.

John St. James, acting mayor in the absence of vacationing Mayor Russell A. Rollin and a candidate for that position in the April 6 general election, said Monday night that he attended the convention last Thursday of the Michigan Municipal League and learned that several of the very few communities remaining with a Fourth Class City government in this state contemplated changes this year.

Attorney Myles said Tuesday morning that there were only about 10 cities still operating under the Fourth Class City form of government, two less than when he was associated with the state attorney general's office two or three years ago.

"The most obvious reason for such a change is that the Fourth Class City form of government has long been on the way out," said Myles. "When the legislature adopts new laws concerning local government, Fourth Class Cities are usually ignored and have declined in the same manner as townships."

He said that the more modern home rule city form of government simplifies procedures for city operation, as well as placing the community in a more advantageous position to obtain better interest rates for bonding, special assessments and budget expenditures, as well as other improvements.

A number of different city charters have been studied by the city's planning commission in past years and copies of the Harrison charter were furnished to the council several years ago.

Area Teen-Agers 'Pilot' WAFB Camp Program

Twenty-four teen-agers from Northeastern Michigan schools made history last week-end as the "pilot" spearhead for hundreds of other youths, who will be taking part in the 1970 summer youth encampment program at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

More than 200 boys, 14 to 17 years of age, will take part in the 1970 program. All will be coming from Alpena, Alcona, Arenac, Iosco, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties under auspices of the newly-organized non-profit Michigan Youth Services, Incorporated.

The organization is headed by Probate Judge William H. McCready, Tawas City. Steven Paslaski, Oscoda, is assistant director of the program.

Purpose of this program is to give deserving, as well as needy and disadvantaged youths, a chance for a few days at the air base, using facilities and personnel under guidance of experienced civilian counselors.

As part of the Domestic Action Program established between the base and surrounding communities last year, the idea is also being pushed ahead for plans to open base facilities to fight drug abuse, help senior citizens, assist needy families, build better youth entertainment and provide new educational facilities.

Boys taking part in the pilot study arrived Thursday afternoon, were assigned to barracks, had dinner in the base mess hall and then spent the evening at the Oscoda High School swimming pool.

Activities Friday included a tour of base buildings and facilities, an afternoon of basketball at the base gymnasium, movies and informal discussion.

Saturday included an hour with base chaplains, a tour of the SAC bomber alert facilities, basketball and small plane flights from Iosco County Airport. A demonstration was held at the base firing range, there was a movie and a visit to the base coffee house.

Following church services Sunday, the boys visited the flight line to inspect jet bombers and tankers before "graduation" in the afternoon.

Ray Kesler, superintendent of Whittemore-Prescott Area Schools, headed the encampment volunteer counseling staff.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TO YOU

"And God said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth." This passage from Genesis is part of a lesson-sermon on "Man" to be read in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comes the affirmation, "Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth" (p. 516).

SUN IS ABUNDANT, wood is not, in Haiti. This solar stove could, when perfected, save the wood now used as fuel for charcoal stoves on which Haitians prepare food. It is the invention of an engineer on a community development team. United States churches contribute to the work of the team through One Great Hour of Sharing on March 8, along with similar appeals.

Church Women Join World Prayer

Church Women United will join millions of people on Friday, March 6, in a bond of prayer spanning six continents. Prayers will be offered in 75 languages and a thousand dialects. World Day of Prayer is sponsored in the United States by Church Women United and will be celebrated in 25,000 communities.

Here in Tawas, Church Women United invite all to join this worldwide fellowship at 1:30 p. m. at the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints, Tawas City. Participating in the celebration will be all Protestant and Catholic churches in the area.

World Day of Prayer provides an occasion for participation in a nationwide offering committed to helping others "take courage." This year's emphasis includes new religious educational materials for Latin Americans and Spanish-speaking families in this country, support of a secretary for women's work of the Near East Christian Council, the dispossessed Spanish migrant and Indian American communities. These are part of an Intercontinental Mission, a fund through which Church Women United expresses its concern for others in concrete terms including grants for Christian literature on six continents and grants to Christian colleges in Asia and Africa.

Chaplain Samuel G. Andreassen, a veteran chaplain, currently serving at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, will be the guest speaker Sunday, March 8, at the East Tawas Church of the Nazarene. He will be speaking both to the Sunday school and in the morning worship service.

Chaplain Andreassen is the second in a series of special speakers to visit the Church of the Nazarene this month. Local Nazarenes hope to win a Sunday school attendance contest among other churches in the denomination. If successful, their pastor, the Rev. Noak Funk, will be sent to the Nazarene mission in Haiti for one week this spring.

Hemlock Church to Host Rally

The Rev. James Lass, missionary appointee to Ghana, West Africa, will be speaking at the Hemlock Road Baptist Church Saturday evening, March 7, at which time the church will host the Tri-County Youth Rally.

At 5:30 p. m., he will speak to the young people at 7 o'clock present pictures of the work in Ghana giving a missionary challenge.

Mr. Lass is a graduate of Michigan State University with a bachelor of art degree and from the Grand Rapids Baptist College. Presently, he is directing a branch mission of the Mel Trotter Mission, working in the heart of the Negro area of Grand Rapids. In Ghana, he will be serving with Baptist Mid-Missions, which is one of the mission boards which are approved by the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches.

The public is invited to attend these services.

Development Team Tackles Haitian Hunger and Causes

Haiti sometimes has been called the hungriest country in the world. This description would seem to fit, considering the community of Duver. Eighty percent of its children were found to be suffering from "malnutrition in the third degree," according to a study by a nutritionist from the French Institute in Haiti.

One Great Hour of Sharing, to be held in local churches March 8, under sponsorship of Church World Service, is doing its part to correct the situation.

Responding to the request of the Conseil Communautaire, grass roots community organization and the counterpart agency of Church World Service, helped set up a nutrition center to care for the children.

Thirty-two of the most severe cases from among 180 children in need of care were first admitted to the four-month treatment program. Two field agents manned the center and mothers of patients and of those not yet admitted came to the center for instruction in nutrition and child care.

This response of community need is only one chapter in a continuing story of the work of the all-Haitian Community Development Team. Consisting of an agriculturalist, a project director and two nutritionists, the mobile team has applied its know how to many endeavors aimed at eradicating hunger from Haiti.

Soil erosion is a major factor in Haiti's poor agricultural productivity. Miles of stone wall terraces have been built to shore up hillsides. Many trees have been planted to replace those destroyed in past spend thrift denuding of the hills.

A team engineer has even devised a solar stove now being used on an experimental basis, which when perfected, may help abate erosion. The charcoal stoves presently used for cooking require the carbonization by smother-burning of wood which would otherwise be spared.

Increased food production has been encouraged by the team and distribution of seeds has led to growing of more and better vegetables. The team has assisted in solving a water shortage and roads have been built with help of the team, resulting in movement of more food to market.

Many Haitians have worked on these and other self-help projects, volunteering time and receiving food for work. It is their investment in a future which, hopefully, may be less haunted by hunger.

TODAY'S Meditation

Read Luke 9:18-25

He said to them all, if any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. (Luke 9:23)

Persons with the daily conveniences and comforts of life at hand do not often realize the meaning of Jesus' instructions to deny themselves. Many of us have cars, nice homes with electric lights and running water, and beds with soft pillows to sleep on. Some think we should deny ourselves these things, but Jesus' words have a greater meaning than asceticism.

A missionary in Africa had just settled into bed one night when a man anxiously pounded on his door. The man's son was ill and at the point of death. He had not accepted Jesus as Savior. Immediately, the missionary left his comfortable bed and hiked over 10 miles on a little dirt trail to bring salvation to a young man he hardly knew.

This is the kind of denying Jesus was talking about. He said that we should be willing to do without life's comforts if they stand in the way of our discipleship. When Christ and His commission to serve our fellowmen take first place in our lives, things lose their importance.

PRAYER
Help us, Father, to put Jesus first in our lives. Teach us to be ready always to serve Him whatever task He may have for us. Amen.

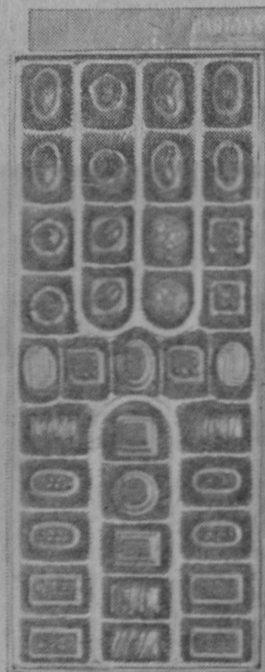

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Is it too much to deny ourselves for Jesus' sake when He forsook all for us?—(Warren Angel, Oklahoma)

Private Lands for Learning

The Conservation Education Reserve Program, established in 1967 by the Natural Resources Commission, has proved popular with both landowners and school and youth groups in Michigan, and is growing steadily.

With the March 15-21 theme of "Seen Any Wildlife Lately?" this year's observance concentrates on the importance of wildlife as a measure of the quality of man's environment.

In asking this question, Americans can begin to think about how much needs to be done to put fish into the streams, pheasants back into the fields, ducks on the ponds and birds in the skies.

Increasing air and water pollution, use of persistent pesticides, highways and urban sprawl are steadily gnawing away at this nation's wildlife resources.

Who needs wildlife? In the sense that many wild creatures are a step ahead of people in their sensitivity to polluted air and water, chemical pesticides and the absence of naturalness—in essence an indicator of environmental quality—all people need wildlife for survival.

The Iosco Soil Conservation District is joining with other agencies and conservationists across America in an effort to reach the public with the National Wildlife Week conservation message.

Americans are belatedly awakening to the dangers of their self-induced blanket of poisonous gases, garbage heaps, pesticide-infested surroundings, sewage-choked waters and the sterility of paved-over landscapes.

The presence of wildlife in our fast-moving world means that we have not yet destroyed ALL the habitat of nature. To insure a future, we all must, as vitally concerned conservationists, help advance the need to keep our world clean, remembering that a landscape that is favorable habitat for wildlife is also a desirable environment for people.

The 1970 National Wildlife Week observance, sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation with the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, a state affiliate, is directed by Joseph Strait Jr.

Select Location for New Playground

Tawas City Park Board has selected city property north of the baseball field and presently used for a skating rink to be the location of playground equipment to be furnished by the Lions Club.

Minutes of the park board, read at Monday night's Tawas City Council meeting, stated that authorization had been granted to install two basketball backboards on the tennis courts in the city park.

In other business Monday night, Reginald Bublitz, superintendent of public works, was designated as street administrator for Act 51 purposes.

Authorization was given the city clerk to purchase two new registration books at a cost of $59 each and a three-stall voting booth at an

Bell Starts New Service Program

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced Tuesday that it has launched a new service program committed to aiding customers who are dissatisfied with the handling of their telephone problems.

Warren B. Alexander, general manager of the company's northern area, said that a service action team has been set up to help when customers feel they are getting only "polite attention" or when normal operating routines have failed to satisfy their requests.

Alexander said the customer service action team is gradually being extended throughout the area served by Michigan Bell. The makeup, size and work experience of the backup team will vary and will depend on each telephone district's problems.

"Howard L. Haight, our manager for the Tawas area, will play a key role in implementing this new customer program locally," Alexander noted.

Haight explained that the new team will function as a backup group.

The service representative will be able, as she is now, to handle most cases when customers call the "business office to discuss telephone problems, Haight pointed out. But in situations where she finds the customer's needs either cannot be met or are not being met through regular channels, she will turn the problem over to the service action team.

The cadet, a member of the class of 1970, was selected for his outstanding academic achievement. He will be granted special privileges and wear a silver star designating the honor accorded him by the academy dean.

He had also been selected for the position of element leader with the rank of cadet first lieutenant.

The cadet will be commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a bachelor of science degree upon his graduation from the academy.

He was born September 29, 1891, in Tawas City, and had lived in Alabaster Township all his life.

great potential in the upper reaches of the AuGres River to develop recreation, fishing, camping, cottages. If impoundments could be built in Iosco and Ogemaw Counties. This would have a great economic importance in the area for land owners and business.

members discussed possible revision of the present city charter to replace the three city supervisors with a city assessor. This move was dropped in favor of asking voters to approve a move to have a special commission write an entirely new charter.

In August, Tawas City voters are to be asked if they desire a change in the form of government here, if a charter revision is desired and, if so, a nine-man charter commission would be selected from a list of candidates included on the ballot.

Persons desiring to become candidates for the charter commission would be required to file regular nominating petitions. The non-partisan petitions would require signatures of registered electors to the number of not less than two percent nor more than four percent of the vote cast for mayor in the last general election.

According to law, the candidate must be a resident of the community for at least three years. Persons presently connected with city government or employed by the city would be ineligible to serve on the charter commission.

The improvement of fishing potential is great as the AuGres River near Whitmore is mainly a sucker stream. If water quality and quantity is improved, the sport fishing would enjoy a boom. "We are close to the large metropolitan areas with the new expressways and improved cars. This brings new money into our area. The impoundments that may be constructed would help protect the rich farmland that is in the lower river reaches. This land is top sugar beet, bean and vegetable producing land," stated Fuerst, who is in favor of continuing the study of the PL 566 project to a point where the feasibility of the project can be determined.

Braves No Match for State's Top Class B Team, Carrollton

Tawas Area Braves finished out the regular 1969-70 basketball season with a double loss to visiting Carrollton Friday night. The Braves lost to the Cavaliers, 81-41, while the Junior Braves lost to the Carrollton JV, 61-54.

Carrollton, champion of the Northern B Conference, showed Tawas fans why it is ranked as the top class B squad in the state. Led by its all-stater, George Kubiak, the Cavaliers displayed outstanding teamwork, brilliant passing and unerring shooting eyes.

Kubiak played three quarters of the game and easily racked up 25 points to top both squads. Rex Jones, sharp-shooting little guard, meshed 13 points, as did Schultz, center.

The Braves, who have had trouble working the ball into the shooting zone against other teams, were practically shut out by Carrollton's defense in the first half. The Cavaliers jumped off to a 22-6 margin in the first quarter and topped Tawas, 21-12, in the second quarter.

Play slowed in the third quarter as Carrollton led Tawas, 18-10. The Cavalier's second string topped Tawas, 20-13, in the final quarter.

Leading Tawas scorer was Gary Libka, who had 13 points on five field goals and three foul shots.

The NBC championship trophy was presented to the Carrollton team following the game.

Tawas Junior Braves fell behind the visitors in the first quarter, 15-12, then jumped into the lead with a 19-10 second quarter scoring effort. Carrollton regained the lead in the third quarter with a 14-12 scoring effort, then staved off Tawas' attack in the final quarter with a 22-11 effort.

Tom Kasischke led the Junior Braves in scoring with 18 points, followed by 15 for Mayer. Fillian paced Carrollton with 13 points. Others scoring for Tawas were Shirmer and Russell, each with seven points; Hackborn, four points; Nichols, three points.

HA Eagles Nosed Out Atlanta, 76-75

Hale Area Eagles nosed out Atlanta, 76-75, in a dramatic come-from-behind victory to extend their record to 11 wins and three losses in league play and 14 wins and four losses during the over-all season.

After leading at the end of the first quarter, 13-11, the Eagles found Atlanta a tough nut to crack. Atlanta jumped off to a big lead in the second quarter with a 24-11 margin, then staved off Hale's attack with a 22-20 third quarter bulge.

The Eagles poured on the coal in the fourth quarter, but were still trailing by one point with one second to go. The Eagles of Coach Nelson Shellenbarger had switched to a man for man press defense in the final quarter and Mike Cline was fouled shortly before the final buzzer.

Cline stepped to the foul line and calmly meshed two foul shots to win the game for Hale to cap a 22-18 scoring effort in the final quarter.

The Eagles had four players scoring in double figures, topped by Flynn Shellenbarger's 25 points. Cline was next with 17 points, followed by 15 for Miller and 11 for Wereley. Spencer Kent of Atlanta led both squads with 32 points.

Social Security Questions Are Answered

Question: I was 65 in August of 1967 but never signed up for Medicare because I was still working. Is there any reason I should not still wait to sign up?

Answer: There is a very good reason for signing up in your case. March 31 will end your last chance to sign up for medical insurance. This applies to everybody who became 65 through September 1967. The social security law provides that to be eligible for medical insurance an application must be signed within three years after November 1967. Although hospital insurance can go back a year, you must sign an application and establish your eligibility for it.

Question: I will be 65 in May. I have never worked under social security. My husband is 63 and expects to work until he is 65 so he has never signed up for benefits. Can I get Medicare coverage?

Answer: Yes, you can get medical insurance at least to cover your doctor bills. Bring proof of your age in and sign up now. You will be billed for the premiums. You can be covered under hospital insurance only when your husband signs up. If you have no private health insurance coverage, he should consider signing up for reduced social security benefits so you will be eligible for hospital insurance. You can get this coverage even if no cash payments can be made to either of you. You both might even qualify for cash payments if his earnings are low enough. If you both have private insurance, it would be a good idea to take this up with the company to see what effect it would have on the premium on your private insurance. A social security representative is at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, on the second and fourth Thursday of each month from 9:45 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., or you can contact the office in Bay City at 1009 North Madison, telephone 893-9579, Monday through Friday from 8:45 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. and on Mondays until 6:45 p. m.

HINTS FOR TEENAGERS

...From your Sewing Editor

MEASURE UP TO A JUMPSUIT

Expand your clothes consciousness. Pants are now a fact of fashion for p.m. dressing. If your party wardrobe is earthbound, put it into lunar orbit. For the p.m. moonshine nighttime, launch yourself in a jumpsuit (Simplicity 8506). If you think that you can't wear one or make one, think again. When you realize how few pattern pieces are actually involved, you will see that a jumpsuit or pants are quick and easy to sew. Concentrate on good fit and you can wear one one beautifully, too.

Hourglass Proportions?

You need to know your accurate body measurements before you can even buy a pattern. With the aid of a good tape measure and a friend to help you with the measuring, you are on your way. Be sure to wear the same kind of undergarments you plan to wear with the finished jumpsuit. Now, tie a string around your middle as a guide for all vertical measurements. Measure your waist, your bust and hips around the fullest part, and your back waist length from the prominent vertebra at the base of your neck to the waistline string. Measure the full length from neck to floor at the side seam. Take your front and back crotch measurements while standing. First measure the entire length of the crotch seam; then measure the front crotch from your waist to a point between your legs and subtract this from the whole for the back measurement. Find the crotch depth by sitting on a hard chair and measuring from your waist to the chair seat.

Ease-y Does It

Find your correct figure type and size for a jumpsuit pattern by comparing your bust, waist, hip and back waist length to the "standard body measurements" listed on the pattern envelope. The bust and back waist length are the most important because it is easy to change the waist and hip sizes. When you measure the pattern pieces, you will find that the actual measurements are larger than those listed on the envelope. This extra is the "ease" allowed for comfort and movement. Add ease to your personal measurements and compare the totals with the pattern. For a jumpsuit, there should be 1" ease in the front crotch seam and 2" in the back. If your hips are 36" or less, allow 1/2" ease in the crotch depth; for 37" hips or larger, allow 1" ease. You will need to alter the pattern wherever its measurements do not agree with your body measurements plus ease.

Bolero Your Look

The frosting on the party cake is a glittering bolero and jeweled belt. If you want to know how to make three other bolero and vest styles, just send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Sewing Editor of this newspaper and ask for your free copy of Leaflet PE 1502A, "right off the VEST vine."

Consumers Power Lists Construction

One of the largest construction budgets ever devoted to a single area of Michigan by Consumers Power Company was announced last week by Lowell L. Shepard, Bay City division manager.

Shepard said the utility will spend 63.1-million dollars in the division. Nearly 48 million dollars has been budgeted for the company's Midland nuclear plant which is scheduled to begin operation in 1974.

Other major projects in the division include installation of precipitators to improve air quality at the J. C. Weadock power plant, additions and improvements to the Midland area power supply and construction of natural gas mains to handle new business and improve the present gas distribution system.

An additional ash storage pond will be installed at the Weadock plant to aid in pollution control. Other improvements for that facility and the company's Dan E. Karn plant will total nearly $400,000.

Included in the program is an addition and improvements to Wurtsmith substation. Nearly $200,000 will be spent to renovate the Tawas service center.

Two Oscoda Meets on AMA Slate

Two moto-crosses sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association are to be held at Oscoda next summer, according to a calendar of AMA sanctioned competition throughout the state.

Attending a recent district meeting at Lansing were Charles Linneman and Curtis Wright, representing the Oscoda Motorcycle Club. The complete calendar was made available at the club's regular meeting Monday, March 2, at the Oscoda Township Hall.

Any motorcyclist interested in competition, or persons interested in being an active participant in the setting up of official AMA motorcycle competition are invited to join the Oscoda club. A six-week probationary period and membership in the AMA is required.

When the weather warms, President Linneman is planning at least semi-monthly varied riding events. The club is compelled by charter to hold all such events as in-club activities.

"With the advent of the riding season, why not become a member of our club?" asks Linneman. "You do not want to miss this chance for safe and educational motorcycling participation. If you are enthused about motorcycling, we need you."
