

Hale Area Voters to Decide on New School

Hale Area School voters are being asked to reconsider a proposal to construct a new junior and senior high school.

First submitted a year ago and rejected by voters, an almost identical proposal will again be on a ballot for the annual election on June 8.

"We have rearranged floor plans to take advantage of some new ideas in school construction, but the basic plan still calls for 17 teaching stations," states Supt. Paul Southerland.

The superintendent emphasized that the plans do not include a swimming pool or any frills, which apparently was rumored in the last election.

"This building program is a basic, sound school project which could handle an enrollment of up to 500 students," states the superintendent.

One of the main problems facing Hale Area School District is the overcrowded conditions in its present school plant built of masonry and wood.

Present enrollment is 280 students in grades seven through 12 and, judging from average increases in past recent years, the projected 500 enrollment will be reached in about five years.

One of the major changes over the plan presented last year is in classroom layout. Classrooms are planned in clusters of four with a central teaching station in the center. Portable walls are used to separate classrooms and the four rooms can be expanded into one large room to take advantage of team teaching and other instructional innovations, including televised classes, if desired.

Since last June, construction costs have increased approximately $3 per square foot through inflation. When the measure was defeated a year ago, the board of education had to turn toward leasing portable classrooms to handle the overcrowded conditions at the school.

"It is a shame to spend two mills of tax money on temporary quarters when this money could be utilized to build a school and community center to serve the entire district," stated the superintendent.

Southerland said that portable classrooms were definitely not the answer to overcrowded schools, but additional portables will have to be secured this year. Even if the new construction program is approved by voters on June 8, facilities would not be ready for about two years.

While state financing of schools is still being discussed, Southerland said that should the state decide to aid districts with school construction, the board of education could lower the local levy proportionately.

The school district will retire bonds on its elementary school by 1971-72. One mill of taxes is to be levied next year and the last year would only require a fractional levy.

Voters will also decide on an operational millage proposal and name two members to the board of education on June 8.

Hiring County Park Director Proves Controversial Matter

Commissioners Say They Were Not Consulted

Controversy over hiring a new county park director by the Iosco Parks Commission was heard during the May session of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners held last Wednesday.

A report from the parks commission director, Marvin Davenport, indicated that the commission had retained Gil Preston of Muskegon at an annual salary of $9,000 plus housing.

This action without "consulting the board of commissioners," according to Chairman Fred B. Lomas, apparently incensed a number of commissioners, who believed that the new job should not be paid a higher salary than that received by other supervisory personnel in the county building.

It was also stated that the job opening should have been advertised in the county in order to determine if an Iosco resident would have the proper qualifications for this job. Lomas said that Preston had outstanding qualifications to fill the position.

As a result of lengthy discussion during the session, the board of commissioners, by a five to four vote, disapproved the park commission's action.

An alternative recommended by the board was to hire a park director at an annual salary of $8,000, plus housing.

A resolution presented by Robert Foster, Oscoda commissioner, would require that applications be taken from county residents first for any job openings. The resolution is to be acted upon at the June session.

The new park director would have responsibility of operating Old Orchard Park, AuSable Township Park and Oscoda Township Park.

In other park matters, Davenport reported that AuSable Township Park was eligible for $145,000 to $160,000 in state funds after July 1. He reported that $40,000 had been funded for the park at Oscoda.

A meeting has been called for June 3 by Chairman Lomas to discuss the feasibility of a county-wide solid waste disposal district. Lomas reported that he had invited city superintendents of East Tawas and Tawas City to attend this meeting, as well as other township and county officials.

Discussion on this proposal developed following a presentation by James Collison, director of the East Central Michigan Economic Development District. Operation of solid waste disposal areas is becoming a serious problem in the county and a study is to be made to consider the feasibility of the proposed district.

The board concurred with action of Burleigh Township in allowing width of lots at the Big Dipper Lake development at 75 feet. This project was started in 1964 and lots of this width were sold. Later, the township amended its zoning ordinance requiring a minimum of 80 feet for lot widths.

The airport committee was authorized to purchase surplus federal equipment for use at the county airport.

The board adopted an amendment allowing an interest rate up to eight percent for the sale of Oscoda Township's water bonds, which is being handled by the county public works department. It was reported that there has been no buyers on the previous interest rate of seven percent.

Henry Oates, tax-equalization director, reported on his analysis of appraisals and assessments for timber cutover and farm categories. Oates said that the state equalized valuation of all property had increased by 9.85 percent throughout the entire state, while Iosco's SEV had increased 6.53 percent.

Village Carpeting of Hale was low bidder at $540 on installing carpeting in the living quarters at the county jail. The bid is to be accepted by the building and grounds committee on its approval of sample materials. Four bids were received on this project.

Harry Krueger, chairman of the Iosco Soil Conservation District, reported that the AuGres River watershed survey had been given a high priority by the state and preliminary plans are being completed earlier than expected. Krueger asked that the county allocate $500 for additional ISC office help needed due to the increased work caused by this project.

The board set a starting salary of $1.75 an hour for all new department employees on a 35-hour-per-week basis. After a six-month probationary period, the salary could be advanced to $2 per hour.

The board hired W. C. Roach as the county airport manager at an annual salary of $3,500, plus retirement and hospitalization benefits. Prior to this, the airport manager had been a contractual employee.

The board authorized advertising for bids on a boat motor and trailer for the sheriff's department to be used in marine enforcement.

School Board Gives OK to Track Bonding Plan

Authorization to seek financing for a new track and purchase of new bleachers for the football field by means of a revenue bond issue was authorized Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

This action had been under study by school administrators for the past several weeks and board members accepted a plan to finance the program as presented by Bill McIntosh, assistant principal and athletic director.

A bid of $31,285 was accepted for constructing the quarter-mile, all-weather Perma-Track. This will include constructing an oval with six 42-inch lanes, along with facilities for field events.

Robert McDonald, track coach, told board members that he had visited similar installations and believed this surface was the best available today for the money.

The program includes purchase of bleachers for the football field at a bid price of $6,490. An additional $1,000 will be spent to construct a blacktop surface upon which to set the bleachers. This will provide easier cleaning as well as a more stable foundation for the bleachers.

Approximately $4,000 from existing school funds will go toward the bleacher purchase. This includes $3,000 from the paper fund, which represents the profit from sales to students over the past 13 years, and $1,000 from the miscellaneous fund which remained from the sale of workbooks.

The balance of $3,490 on bleachers, along with the $31,285 track, is to be financed by an eight-year revenue bond issue which is to be guaranteed by receipts from various athletic events.

Annual revenue from gate receipts amounts to approximately $7,000 with $6,200 collected during the past year. However, in the past this money has been used to finance athletic department expenditures for referees and other items. The athletic department expense will now be financed from the general fund.

With the additional seating capacity at football games, it is expected that gate receipts will be increased considerably and McIntosh was of the opinion that the revenue bond issue could be retired in less than eight years.

Need for the track was emphasized by the fact that 150 youngsters in junior high school and high school would be using the facilities. In addition, it is expected that girls' gym classes would be using the new facilities.

Reactivation of an athletic booster club has been suggested as a means of helping to finance the added expense. It is expected that an organizational meeting will take place in the near future.

Next step in the program will be to apply to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for permission to sell revenue bonds.

Brooks, Tawas Lake, foundation, $1,000; E. B. Schanbeck, Franklin Street, 12 by 32-foot addition, $1,500.

Asks Damages for Injuries

A damage suit filed in Iosco Circuit Court by Duncan Pyscher vs. Charles Thornton and the estate of Silas Thornton asks damages of $30,000.

In his petition, Pyscher states that he rented a cabin owned by the defendant on May 20, 1967. He claims that a gas cook stove exploded and he suffered injuries.

School Calendar Had Discussion

Adoption of a 1970-71 school calendar which will see school open on Tuesday, September 8, and close on Friday, June 11, was adopted by a four to three roll call vote Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

The calendar had been developed by a committee representing the school faculty, students, administrators and board members.

The 1970-71 school year opening is complicated by the fact that Labor Day falls on September 7, later than usual. Several board members were of the opinion that school should open on August 25 and then dismiss school one week earlier in the spring.

A survey conducted by the committee indicated that a number of business places hiring school students in the summer objected to the early start because of interference with the Labor Day weekend.

Although discussed, no change was made in Easter vacation, which begins at the end of the school day on Friday, April 2, and resumes on Monday, April 12.

Following a vote on the school start, the board directed one change to be made in the calendar. It was proposed to start Christmas vacation at the close of the school day on Tuesday, December 22. The board was of the opinion that school should be extended one more day that week.

With the above change, school would be in session 181 days and teachers working days would total 185.

In other business, the board accepted the low bid of Joseph M. Day Company of $2,798 to replace the oil furnace at the East Tawas Elementary Unit with a natural gas furnace. The present furnace is 11 years old and would require some maintenance.

The low bid of Bernard Scott of $1,827 was accepted for sanding, sealing and painting lines on the floor of the high school auditorium. The floor has never been completely refinished since it was installed in 1957.

Miss Clara Bolen, elementary supervisor, reported that there would be six vacancies next term in elementary grades. Mrs. Ellen Powers is to return to teaching after a one-year leave of absence, leaving five positions to be filled. Miss Bolen said there would be no difficulty in filling the positions.

John Alexander, high school principal, reported there were seven vacancies on the secondary staff and he anticipated no difficulty in filling the positions.

Tawas Chamber of Commerce was authorized to use the Tawas City Elementary Unit grounds for a circus on Wednesday, July 8. The board directed that school facilities could not be used and that other provisions would have to be made for restroom facilities.

VISITORS to the Tawas area last Friday received a special welcome as part of the Michigan Week hospitality day observance. C. A. "Bill" Arlington, left, is shown presenting a certificate for free gasoline to the Rev. Paul D. Trissel, Leesburg, Florida, an evangelist who was conducting services at the East Tawas Church of the Nazarene. Standing second from right is W. D. chairman for Michigan, along with Jerry Reiter, chamber of commerce president. Trissel travels around the country for eight months of the year as an evangelist and then spends four months as a golf professional at Rolling Hills Country Club at Leesburg. Summer School Opens June 15

Summer school for educationally disadvantaged youngsters is to start June 15 and end July 24, according to an announcement Monday night by Robert H. Crawford, director of federal activities at Tawas Area School.

Due to the late federal funding this year, all details of the project are not finalized as yet. A recent allocation of $10,044 to this year's program brings it to about the same level as last year.

Approximately 90 students will be involved in the program which will emphasize reading and mathematics, as well as field trips, science projects and enrichment.

A new project this year will be "Operation Pinetree Classroom," which will be conducted in cooperation with the forest service in Huron National Forest.

Crawford is now preparing an application for federal funds to be used in the 1970-71 program. Following a recent survey and study, Crawford is recommending that the project next year concentrate on reading and mathematics improvement in early elementary grades.

He said that an attempt should be made to identify reading problems in early elementary grades and correct them before they become too severe.

Tawas Area School will have one class of preschool Headstart youngsters this summer.

Braves End Season With Win-Loss

Tawas Area Braves split a doubleheader Friday with Carrollton to finish out the spring season with a record of six wins and eight losses in league play and an over-all record of seven wins and 12 losses. The visitors won the opener on the strength of a two-hitter thrown by Brenske. Richard Reasner's pinch hit double was Tawas' only extra base hit. Clarence Jordan was the losing pitcher. Tawas Area jumped on Brenske for four runs in the first inning of the second game. Chuck Petersen allowed two hits, struck out 10 and walked five. Herriman walked to open Tawas' first inning but was forced out by Cholger's ground ball. Glancy singled and Jordan singled to score Cholger. Matt Mayer then blasted a three-run homer for the Braves. This was to be Tawas' last hit of the afternoon, as Kontur came on in the second to hold the Braves hitless.

Cycle Riders Must be Qualified Motorists Under New Law

Under the state's new motorcycle law which goes into effect June 1, do cycle riders have to be qualified Michigan motorists and have a valid driver or chauffeur license? The answer . . . yes.

These are among the many questions being asked by motorcycleists of officials of the Michigan Department of State's driver license examining bureaus as well as licensing stations manned by sheriffs and local police departments, reports Sec. of State James M. Hare.

"The first thing we want to get across is that the new law goes into effect June 1 but motorcycle drivers do not have to qualify for an endorsement until their driver licenses come up routinely for renewal or they obtain their first driver license, whether it be a regular three-year operator's license or the one-year chauffeur's license," said Hare.

Hare said that officials of the field services bureau of the Michigan Department of State had just completed a series of 15 schools throughout Michigan training examiners on the routine of the motorcycle examination which has to be passed for cyclists to obtain Michigan's endorsement. More than 400 examining personnel were trained.

The best way to become acquainted with the state's laws on motorcycles as well as getting some helpful safety tips on operation is through a new booklet, "What Every Motorcyclist Must Know," available at examining stations throughout Michigan, or by writing: Michigan Department of State, Lansing, Michigan 48918.

Just what is a motorcycle endorsement? Simply, it is an extension of a person's valid driver license. Applicants must pass a written test. And they must prove basic operating skills.

Before a riding test will be given, proof must be shown that the cycle being tested and driver either is covered by liability insurance or that its owner has paid $35 into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund as an uninsured motorist.

Equipment on the motorcycle will be checked at the time the riding test is given.

Also, the person being tested must make arrangements for an acquaintance to bring a car to the test to transport the examiner during the road testing. Fees for the cycle endorsement, in addition to the regular fee for driver licenses, are $3 for the first endorsement and $1.50 for each renewal.

Motorcycle laws also apply to motor-driven cycles, Hare said. This means that a motor-driven cycle of less than five gross brake horsepower or a motorcycle of less than 125 cubic centimeter displacement is not allowed on any limited access highway in Michigan.

All motorcycle riders must wear approved crash helmets on their heads at all times when riding on the public streets and highways. "And this means on their heads," said Hare. Handlebars on cycles may not be higher than 15 inches from the lowest point of the empty seat to the highest point of the handle-grip.

Every cycle must have both front and rear wheel brakes. Cyclists must ride on and astride a regular and permanent seat.

No motorcycle shall be used to carry more persons than the number for which it was designed and equipped to handle.

No more than one person shall ride a motor-driven cycle at any time.

The driver of a cycle is forbidden to carry any package, bundle, or other article that prevents keeping both hands on the handle-grips. When operating at 35 miles per hour or faster, each motorcycle rider must wear some form of effective shatterproof eye protection.

It is unlawful to operate a motor-driven cycle at night without written permission from the chief law enforcement officer of the city, township, or county in which the operator lives. And the machine may not be operated faster than 35 miles an hour, or as set by local ordinance, whichever is less.

Motorcycles, like four wheel vehicles, are entitled to the full use of a traffic lane.

SOAP Asks—Are You Aware of Pollution?

To the Citizens of Iosco County:

Are you aware of what is happening in our community? Saturday, May 23, a poll was taken in front of the Kroger supermarket in Tawas City to find out how many of our citizens are really aware of the pollution problem in Iosco County. The results were quite interesting!

The poll consisted of three questions:

1. Do you know what SOAP is?
2. If so, do you support this project?
3. Would you be willing to contribute a few hours of your time in an effort to cleanup Iosco County?

Perhaps SOAP was not publicized enough, but we were shocked by the fact that out of the 50 people that were polled, 30 did not know what SOAP is! The majority of those who did know what SOAP is, were in support of this program. However, most of these people had better things to do on Saturday mornings (sleep?) and found it impossible to find time to cleanup our environment.

The Society Organized Against Pollution is a worthwhile and necessary project. It is a project that can be successful if the apathy of the people can be overcome. There are those people who feel they are doing their part by merely keeping the litter they have in containers. But what about the litter that is already strewn along our rivers and highways? It won't just disappear.

Then, there are those people who say they have no time to contribute. If you are one of these people, you can contribute in other ways. For example, we need garbage bags, trucks and the backing of the community. Any contribution to this project, no matter how small or how large, is deeply needed and will be appreciated. Those who have contributed are Merschel Hardware, Kroger, McKay Sales, Consumers Power, John Mielock, Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Young, Neil Luedtke and a few of the students of Tawas Area Schools.

We are happy that these people are concerned about the pollution problem of Iosco County, but their cooperation is not enough. We need everyone's cooperation. A dozen people or so are not enough to organize, publicize and do the actual cleaning of this project. Because of Memorial Day, no cleaning will be done this Saturday, so let's use this as a time to promote and "talk up" the project and on June 6, 9:00-12:00 a. m., let's back up the talk by meeting at Tawas Country Club and cleaning Monument Road.

Sincerely,
Linda Davis

Professor Gives Views on Country's Problems

By DR. K. ROSS TOOLE
 University of Montana

I am 49 years old. It took me many years and considerable anguish to get where I am—which isn't much of anyplace except exurbia. I was nurtured in depression; I lost four years to war; I am invested with sweat; I have had one coronary; I am a "liberal," a square and I am a professor. I am sick of the "younger generation," hippies, yuppies, militants and nonsense.

I am a professor of history at the University of Montana and I am supposed to have "liaison" with the young. Worse still, I am the father of seven children. They range in age from seven to 23—and I am fed up with nonsense. I am tired of being blamed, maimed and contrite; I am tired of tolerance and the reaching out (which is always my function) for understanding. I am sick of the total irrationality of the campus "rebel" whose bearded visage, dirty hair, body odor and "tactics" are childish but brutal, naive but dangerous and the essence of arrogant tyranny—the tyranny of spoiled brats.

I am terribly disturbed that I may be incubating more of the same. Our household is permissive, our approach to discipline is an apology and a retreat from standards—usually accompanied by a gift in cash or kind.

It's time to call a halt; time to live in an adult world where we belong and time to put these people in their places. We owe the "younger generation" what all "older generations" have owed younger generations—love, protection to a point and respect when they deserve it. We do not owe them our souls, our privacy, our whole lives and, above all, we do not owe them immunity from our mistakes, or their own.

Every generation makes mistakes, always has and always will. We have made our share. But my generation has made America the most affluent country on earth. It has tackled, head-on, a racial problem which no nation on earth in the history of mankind had dared to do. It has publicly declared war on poverty and it has gone to the moon; it has desegregated schools and abolished polio; it has presided over the beginning of what is probably the greatest social and economic revolution in man's history. It has begun these things, not finished them. It has declared itself and committed itself and taxed itself and nearly run itself into the ground in the cause of social justice and reform.

Its mistakes are fewer than my father's generation—or his father's generation, or his. Its greatest mistake is not Vietnam; it is the abdication of its first responsibility, its pusillanimous capitulation to its youth and its sick preoccupation with the problems, the mind, the psyche, the raison d'être of the young.

Since when have children ruled this country? By virtue of what right, by what accomplishment should thousands of teenagers, wet behind the ears and utterly without the benefit of having lived long enough to have either judgment or wisdom, become sages of our time?

The psychologists, the educators and preachers say the young are rebelling against our archaic mores and morals, our materialistic approaches to life, our families in diplomacy, our terrible ineptitude in racial matters, our narrowness as parents, our blindness to the root ills of society. Balderdash!

Society hangs together by the stitching of many threads. No 18-year-old is simply the product of his 18 years; he is the product of 3,000 years of the development of mankind—and throughout those years, justice has existed and been fought; rules have grown out-moded and been changed; doom has hung over men and been avoided; unjust wars have occurred; pain has been the cost of progress—and man has persevered.

As a professor and the father of seven, I have watched this new generation and concluded that most of them are fine. A minority are not—and the trouble is that minority threatens to tyrannize the majority and take over. I dislike that minority; I am aghast that the majority "takes" it and allows itself to be used. And I address myself to both the minority and the majority. I speak partly as a historian, partly as a father and partly as one fed up, middle-aged and angry member of the so-called "establishment"—which, by the way, is nothing but a euphemism of "society."

Common courtesy and a regard for opinions of others is not merely a decoration on the pie crust of society, it is the heart of the pie. Too many "youngsters" are egocentric bores. They will not listen, they will only shout down. They will not discuss but, like four-year-olds, they throw rocks and shout.

Arrogance is obnoxious; it is also destructive. Society has classically ostracized arrogance without the backing of demonstrable accomplishment. Why, then, do we tolerate arrogant slob who occupy our homes, our administration buildings, our streets and parks, urinating on our beliefs and defiling our premises? It is not the police we need, (our generation and theirs) it is an expression of our disgust and disdain. Yet, we do more than permit it, we dignify it with introspective flagellation. Somehow it is out fault. Balderdash again!

Sensitivity is not the property of 1950. The young of any generation have felt the same impulse to grow, to reach out, to let the minds loose along unexplored corridors.

Today's young people did not invent it; they do not own it. And what they seek to attain, all mankind has sought to attain throughout the ages. Shall we, therefore, approve the presumed attainment of it through heroin, speed, LSD and other drugs? And shall we, permissively, let them poison themselves simply because, as in most other respects, we feel vaguely guilty because we brought them into this world?

Society, "the establishment," is not a foreign thing we seek to impose on the young. We know it is far from perfect. We did not make it; we have only sought to change it. The fact that we have only been minimally successful is the story of all generations—as it will be the story of the generations coming up. Yet, we have worked a number of wonders. We have changed it. We are deeply concerned about our failures; we have not solved the racial problem but we have faced it; we are terribly worried about the degradation of our environment, about injustices, inequities, the military-industrial complex and bureaucracy. But we have attacked these things. We have, all our lives, taken arms against our sea of troubles—and fought effectively. But we have fought with a rational knowledge of the strength of our adversary. We win, if we win at all, slowly and painfully. That is the kind of war society has always fought—because man is what he is.

Youth has always been characterized by impatient idealism. If it were not, there would be no change. But impatient idealism does not extend to guns, fire bombs, riots, vicious arrogance and instant gratification. That is not idealism; it is childish tyranny.

I assert that we are in trouble with this younger generation not because we have failed our country, not because of affluence or stupidity, not because we are anti-eluvian, not because we are middle-class materialists—but simply because we have failed to keep that generation in its place and we have failed to put them back there when they got out of it. We have the power; we do not have the will. We have the right, we have not exercised it.

The vast majority of our children from one to 20 are fine kids. We need to back this majority with authority and with the firm conviction what we owe it to them and to ourselves. Enough of apology, enough of analysis, enough of our abdications of responsibility, enough of the denial of our own maturity and good sense.

The best place to start is at home. But, the most practical and effective place, right now, is our campuses. This does not mean a flood of angry edicts, a sudden clamp-down, a "new" policy. It simply means that facilities should stop playing chicken, that demonstrators should be met not with police but with expulsions. The power to expell (strangely unused) has been the legitimate recourse of universities since 1209.

More importantly, it means that at freshman orientation, whatever form it takes, the administration should set forth the ground rules—not beligerently but forthrightly.

A university is the microcosm of society itself. It cannot function without rules for conduct. It cannot, as society cannot, legislate morals. But it can and must promulgate rules. It cannot function without order—and, therefore, who disrupts order must leave it. It cannot permit students to determine when, what and where they shall be taught; it cannot permit the occupation of its premises, in violation both of the law and its regulations, by "militants."

There is room within the university complex for basic student participation but there is no room for slob, disruption and violence. The first obligation of the administration is to lay down the rules early, clearly and positively and to attach to this statement the penalty for violation.

Too simple? Not at all. Merely an old process which we seem to have forgotten.

This is a country full of decent, worried people like myself. It is also a country full of people fed up with nonsense. We (those of us over 30) tax ridden, harried, confused, weary and beat up, need to reassert our hard won prerogatives. It is our country, too. We have fought for it, bled for it, dreamed for it and we love it. It is time to reclaim it.

Base Plans Practice Alert on June 5

Wurtsmith Air Force Base will conduct an eight-hour practice wartime mission exercise under simulated enemy nuclear attack conditions on Friday, June 5.

In announcing this "Buckskin Rider" exercise, Col. John W. Burkhardt, wing commander, stated that the base sirens will be used to "warn" personnel of various simulated wartime emergency situations.

The entire exercise will be confined to Wurtsmith Air Force Base which will be closed to the general public except for emergency use from about 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. The main gate will be the only entrance to the base.

If access is required, a security police escort will accompany the visitor.

During the exercise, the base commissary sales store, exchange, service station, library, service club and cleaners will be closed. The commissary warehouse will remain open.

Dependents of military personnel residing off-base and civilians with base privileges will not be permitted entry during the exercise except for emergency reasons.

2,013 Michigan Men Face June Draft Call

All available I-A registrants with random sequence numbers 170 and below will be ordered by Michigan local boards for induction into the army during June, it has been announced by Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service.

Local boards have also been directed to order for induction during May all I-A registrants with random sequence numbers 145 and below.

Specific calls for 2,013 registrants for June induction have been issued to local boards, based upon registrants reported available at this time.

The blanket order to all local boards to deliver every available registrant within the random sequence ceilings in May and June is an effort to make up for the shortfall in deliveries since January. During the first four months of 1970, Michigan delivered 3,336 men for induction against net calls for 3,836. National Selective Service headquarters has requested the state to make up the deficit of 600 inductees along with current calls.

With a maximum random sequence number imposed each month, local boards have found it difficult to fill cells during the early months under the random selection system. Heavy direct enlistments of 6,679 men since January have also limited the available draft pool. No new registrants are coming into the manpower pool for selection in 1970 except those registrants whose deferments expire.

Reclassification of many graduating students this spring may add significantly to the available manpower pool. Recent changes in the regulations prohibiting new paternity and occupational deferments will also help some in future months.

In the meantime, all local boards have been requested by the state director to reclassify registrants as rapidly as possible when the basis for deferment ceases to exist. Hearings and appeals are also being expedited. Local boards have also been instructed to apply a strict application of current requirements of the Selective Service Act and regulations to all requests for deferment.

All registrants whose deferments will expire in 1970 have been ordered for preinduction physical examination during May and June if their random sequence numbers are 215 and below.

Registrants who have appeared for their physical examinations through local board No. 36, East

Enlisted and inducted registrants are John Wrathell, Michael John Anderson, Michael E. Bennett, James Jay King, Robert W. Arrell, Darrell Alan Walker, James Raymond Parsell, James A. Coston-

Recently returned servicemen include Walter L. Cheney, Henry K. Mioduch, Douglas M. Shoop, David V. Hawkins, Leigh H. Evans, Edward W. Beckley Jr., Raymond N. Rollin, Peter J. Bassi Jr., Gerald Stephenson, Roger Michael Helmer, William Louis Ezo, Lantry Dale Vaughan, Cary Marno Hilbert, Dale Michael Brumfield, William Joseph Rapp.

Needlecraft News

THE SKINNY PULLOVER hits the road. T-shirt your way through summer. Paired with pants or skirts, it sets a fast pace for vacation fun.

Easy Crochet and Blue, white and spice, that's how the sweater is striped. The material is cool cotton, of course. It's done in a zigzaggy way, working single and double crochet stitches alternately across each row. The blue bands around the crew neck, sleeves and hem are done in single crochet. The pullover is misses' sized, 8-14.

Easy Care, too
When you're on the summer road, you only take along the clothes that look and wear the best, and practically take care of themselves. There is no doubt about it, this crocheted T-shirt ought to be the first thing you pack into your suitcase. Free instructions are available to this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PC 4679.

PRETTY AS A ROSE. Take the garden path to summer entertaining; or serve food in a light-hearted way anytime of the year. A petaled hot plate mat and pot holder give the feeling of dining al fresco even when you set your table indoors.

Crochet in Bloom
Around and around you crochet to make this flower-fresh serving set. The three dimensional effect is achieved by beginning each successive ring of petals at the base of the one before, leaving the rounded edges free. The pot holder has 10 graduated circles of petals and the mat, 14. Each piece is made of a rose colored cotton yarn. You might find it fun to use several shades, ranging from white to red. Both the pot holder and mat are lined with felt.

A Refreshing Gift
This serving set is a rosy hostess gift to tuck away in your suitcase when you are a weekend house guest; or makes a nice favor for the winner at your next afternoon card party. Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PC 5149.

Kroger Company Helps Fight Malnutrition

The Kroger Company recently announced a major program designed to help fight malnutrition and provide more nutritious products for the consumer's food dollar.

The program will be in four phases:

—All white flour used in Kroger's 10 regional bakeries serving 1,500 supermarkets will be enriched with riboflavin (vitamin B-2), thiamin (vitamin B-1), niacin and iron in accordance with the standards of identity established by the United States Food and Drug Administration. Kroger, which produces in excess of 300,000,000 pounds of baked goods a year, is the 10th largest baker in the United States. The new program means that the company's enrichment program will be broadened to include some 230 additional food items baked by Kroger which were not previously enriched. Kroger is the first food retailer and baker in the United States to take this step, which was recommended by several panels of the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health.

—In addition, outside food manufacturers who pack Kroger private brand products are being contacted regarding the use of enriched flour in Kroger products. This group includes such items as cake mixes and refrigerated biscuits, which are among several dozen products using white flour which are packed for Kroger by other food manufacturers.

—Low-cost, nutritionally-balanced recipes and menus will be featured in newspaper food advertising to help educate consumers concerning better diets for their families.

—Research into the development of entirely new food products which are high in nutrition has been instituted.

Kroger's broadened enrichment program will now include such items as snack crackers, sweet rolls, cakes, doughnuts . . . and even ice cream cones. The move recognizes the changing eating patterns of the 1970s and brings the benefits of enrichment to the broadest possible group of consumers. Previously, only white bread and roll items had been enriched.

In making the announcement, B. D. Reusser, vice president of the company's baked goods division, said: "This major step to improve the nutritional intake of all consumers has been under consideration for some time. The final decision came after evaluation of mounting evidence of persistent malnutrition in the United States at every economic level."

Nutritional studies have indicated a steadily dropping percentage of Americans who are consuming proper diets. For example, the United States Department of Agriculture conducted nutritional surveys in 1955 and again 10 years later. By 1965, only 50 percent of Americans were consuming diets which provided as much as two-thirds of the recommended daily allowance of nutrients—a drop of 10 percent. Evidence is that this problem is growing each year.

The White House Conference in Washington, D. C., last December identified problem areas and made recommendations on how to alleviate them.

The food and nutrition experts from throughout the country who gathered for the conference reported that:

—Malnutrition in the United States is not confined to low-income groups, but extends to the affluent as well.

—Private industry should take immediate steps to provide foods with a higher nutritional content for consumers.

—Food companies should begin by improving the nutritional qualities of those foods which people enjoy and are accustomed to eating.

—Changing eating patterns of the American public should also be recognized. Snacks and sweet foods are forming a large part of the cereal portion of the diet of many consumers, particularly young people and the poor.

Kroger's experience bears out the conference conclusions in this area, Reusser said. Eighty-five percent of the newly-enriched bakery items fall into the snack and sweet goods category.

Reusser pointed out that Kroger has produced enriched white bread and rolls since 1941, when current standards of enrichment were formulated.

At that time, white bread was chosen as the vehicle for enrichment because it is a basic food and was considered probably the most universally consumed food throughout the country.

The use of enriched flour and bread has been credited with virtual elimination of such deficiency diseases as pellagra, which was prevalent in the United States as late as the 1930s.

The recipe and menu program, which will be made available throughout Kroger's 23-state area, has been planned to emphasize meals that are well-balanced and nutritional and make them more attractive to homemakers.

Menus and recipes were planned around the United States Department of Agriculture "Smart Shoppers" releases (based on plentiful foods) and the "Low Cost Cookery" series developed by Hunt-Wesson Foods, Incorporated (using USDA recommendations).

Kroger, third largest food retailer in the nation, has operated bakeries since before the turn of the century. F. H. Kroger, who founded the company in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1883, has been recognized as the first grocer to operate his own bakeries to supply his stores.

Two W-P Juniors Attend Workshop

John Girard and Cindy Erickson, juniors at Whittemore-Prescott High School, attended a drug abuse workshop with the high school counselor, Mrs. Dorsey, Wednesday, May 20. The drug information workshop for young people in region III was sponsored by the Michigan Association for Community Health Service at Delta College. The purpose of the drug dependence-drug abuse workshop was to provide current and accurate information on the drug situation and to indicate ways in which local community and university people have involved themselves and are presently playing useful roles in the current drug problem.

Dr. Edward Lynn, assistant professor of psychology, Michigan State University, presented many facts about the present drug situation, straight and unbiased. Representatives from the "Listening Ear" in East Lansing and the new "Other Room" in Bay City told of their efforts in the community through their "crisis centers." Discussion completed the workshop proving to be worthwhile and beneficial program.
