

Tawas Area Voters to Decide Fate of Millage

Tomorrow, Thursday, August 19, is D Day (Decision Day) for voters of Tawas Area School District. A "yes" vote will assure operation for a full term; a "no" vote will mean that the district's funds will be exhausted sometime in November and schools will close.

Voters can forget about the increased state income tax being any benefit to schools this year. It is not known if, or when, the state will use any of this money for school support. The only definite information is that it will not be available this year and it is 1971-72 with which the district is concerned.

Borrowing money is out of the question, too. Lending institutions are usually happy to lend money if the borrower can show he has the means to repay. Since borrowed money is usually repaid from future income and, without the millage, the district's future income is in question, the district just cannot borrow money. In addition, there is no sound advantage to borrowing since it would have to be repaid. Why not "pay as we go" and save interest charges? If the income is only enough to operate schools for 10 weeks, how could the district ever repay the loan that would be required to operate an additional 30 weeks?

It is not really known if the district could borrow money from the state, but it is quite apparent that a community should consider carefully before settling for such a source of money. The state has lent money to at least one distressed district, but the terms by which the aid was extended should be understood: 1. The loan was to be repaid in 10 years. 2. As long as the loan was outstanding, the district's finances were administered by an outside agency. 3. Failure to make a single installment would result in the district being dissolved.

By accepting such a loan, the district would forfeit local control of the schools and risk the very existence of Tawas Area Schools.

If school closes early, parents cannot pay "tuition" and have the schools remain open for the children of those parents willing to pay. This has already been decided by the courts. A local public school, if open, must accept all local children without regard to any financial situation. This is the essence of free education and a cornerstone of a democratic society.

Sending school children to another district is out of the question. Every public school in the area has an obligation to its own resident pupils and would be reluctant to accept other pupils when schools are already crowded. Nonresident students cannot be accepted without tuition payment according to state law. Parents would have to pay the tuition.

The cost of education will stop going up when the cost of food, clothing, shelter and other necessities stop going up. The school is a consumer and must buy in the prevailing market. The school today pays more for each item of service than it did a year ago, the same for any consumer.

If you live in an average home in this school district, the homeowner is assessed at $7,000 for taxes. The market value of the home will be approximately twice that figure. Since the proposal is for 7 1/2 mills, the amount at stake is .0075 times $7,000 or $52.50. But, 4% mills or $31.50 is a renewal of a tax paid by each property owner during the past two years. The increase is three mills times $7,000 or $21. It is correct to say that a "yes" vote will cost you $21 per year more than paid last year.

As of now, about one half the cost of school operation is borne by the state. It is inevitable that the state will assume even more of the cost, but it will not be this year and the community cannot afford to be without schools until the state does act. The local electorate must act now.

The only legislation passed to date provides that 10 mills must be levied to get full state aid and school must convene 180 days and 900 hours to secure state aid in full, or receive special permission from the state to operate less than the above time.

Tawas Area had no cash balance as of June 30, 1971. If all wages and bills and accounts were paid, the school would have a cash deficit of about $41,000 as of June 30.

An interesting fact is that costs would be increased if the school eliminated band and high school physical education. The least costly expenditure per student instruction hour is the cost for inter-scholastic athletics. These hours can become a part of the 900 hours dictated by the state.

Tawas Area School has been in the lowest one percent of the schools in the state as far as millage in 1970-71. With a successful millage vote Thursday, it would be well below the state average of 24 mills for operational purposes.

This millage must be passed to help meet the requirement for retention of accreditation by the University of Michigan after 1971-72.

If Tawas Area School does not have sufficient funds to operate 180 days, then it will have to run according to the dictates of the Michigan Department of Education.

Publishers of the Herald believe that every youngster in this district is entitled to a good, well rounded education. It is an important responsibility of taxpayers to assure that these youngsters have the opportunity to attend school. It will be a catastrophe for the youngsters and the community if the school is not operated a full 180 days. Your "yes" vote and continued support of Tawas Area School District is urged.

Tawas Area Millage Proposal THURSDAY (Tomorrow)

Hale Area Millage Wins In Close Vote

Voters of Hale Area School District approved a nine-mill renewal millage for one year Monday by a close, 820 "yes" to 512 "no" margin.

School Supt. Paul Keene considers this a real victory after a 465 to 328 defeat of the same millage renewal in June.

Keene commended each individual for the effort that was put forth. "A committee of interested citizens worked very hard to get the vote out for this election and this proved to be the difference," said Keene.

Hale Area Schools will open Monday, August 30, with a full-day session. Registration for grades 10, 11 and 12 will be held Thursday, August 19, with registration for grades seven, eight and nine following on Friday, August 20.

New elementary students are encouraged to register on these two days. Notification of sessions for kindergarten students will be mailed to their parents.

NUMBER 33

JERRY COTTER, right, chairman of the Tawas City Charter Commission, has just signed the final draft of the city's proposed new home rule charter and facial expressions of commission members would indicate they are happy the job

Commission Completes Work on New Home Rule Charter

One year and eight days after its election, Tawas City Charter Commission completed its work on preparing a new home rule charter and submitted the 29-page document to Governor Milliken's office for approval.

Tentative approval had been received on the first draft and, following minor changes, was submitted in its final form. The charter is to be presented to voters of Tawas City at the November 2 general election.

Revision of the city charter and adoption of the home rule form of government has been under consideration here for a number of years. Through unanimous action of the city council and planning commission, voters took the initial step by naming a nine-man charter commission in August 1970.

Tawas City is one of several communities in the state still operating under Fourth Class city government, but the list of such cities diminishes each year as this form of government has long been on the way out. At the last count, there were less than 10 cities using the Fourth Class system and East Tawas is presently considering election of a charter commission.

One of the principal reasons for the proposed revision is that Fourth Class cities are usually ignored by the state legislature when new laws are adopted concerning local government. The modern home rule form of government also simplifies procedures for city operation.

Meetings of the charter commission have been held at least once a month during the past year and weekly meetings were held for several months earlier in the year as the commission proceeded with work on the new charter. Members of the commission served without compensation as prescribed by law.

Commission members included Jerry Cotter (chairman), Arnold Hosbach (acting clerk), John Brugger, Lawrence DeBeau, James Dillon, John Hosbach, Hugo Keiser, George Myles and Neil Thornton.

Donald Oakes of Grand Rapids, who has assisted a number of cities in developing new home rule charters, was consultant for the Tawas City commission. City Atty. Kenneth Myles served as legal advisor.

A number of home rule city charters adopted in Michigan were studied by the commission during its deliberation. Important features were incorporated in the new charter being proposed here.

One of the principal changes under the new home rule form of government is in city administration. A city manager would be the chief administrative officer of the city government, selected by the council on the basis of training and ability. He would serve at the pleasure of and be subject to removal by the city council.

The city manager would be responsible to the council for the proper administration of city affairs. He would recommend to the council the appointment of a clerk, treasurer, assessor and attorney and he would have power to remove those appointed. He would supervise and coordinate the work of administrative officers and departments of the city, would be responsible for enforcement of laws and ordinances, prepare and administer the annual budget under policies formulated by the council and keep the council advised as to the financial condition and needs of the city.

The city manager would be responsible for employment of all city employees, along with supervising and coordinating the personnel policies and practices of the city. He would act as the city's purchasing agent.

Work of the city manager would not be a great departure of today's superintendent of public works, although responsibilities and duties are spelled out by the new charter for the benefit of the city manager and council.

Other changes would see one ward in the city rather than three, that all city officers would be elected on a non-partisan basis, that the mayor would be elected for two years and councilmen would be elected for four years.

Appointment of a city assessor would eliminate the need for ward supervisors, offices which became meaningless when counties were re-districted and county commissioners were elected on a one-man, one-vote basis. In Tawas City's instance, the city assessor probably would be a member of the county tax equalization department.

All elective city officers would be elected in accordance with the odd-year election law to be held on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November in every odd-numbered year. If more than two candidates file for any one office, a primary election would be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday in August of each odd numbered year.

All ordinances, resolutions, rules and regulations of the city which are not inconsistent with the proposed charter would continue in full force until repealed or amended.

Elected officers of the city holding office on the effective date of the charter, proposed for January 3, 1972, would continue to hold offices to which they were elected for the balance of their terms. At the regular city election to be held in 1973, there would be elected a mayor and three councilmen.

Hill Top Road Vacation Approved by T. City Council

After tabling action for two meetings, Tawas City Council Monday night approved vacating Hill Top Road in the Second Addition to the Elms.

Closing of this 33-foot street had been requested earlier this year by Carl B. Babcock Jr., who stated that the road was not developed, that it was of an inadequate width, that it contained no public services and that he was the sole property owner affected.

Attending Monday night's session was City Atty. Kenneth Myles, who told councilmen that he had personally contacted members of the Iosco Road Commission and learned that no road was planned by the county to incorporate this portion of Hill Top Road.

At its July 19 meeting, a letter from Otis Love, county engineer, along with the one from Tawas Township, objected to the closing because it was situated on a section line and "would constitute an integral part of the proposed county road connecting the Townline Road with M-55 to be constructed in the future."

Myles said he had reviewed objections and all but one were improper according to state supreme court rulings in that objectors were not adjacent property owners or not located within the city. The one legitimate objector, he said, owns a wedge shaped parcel of land with the point fronting on the road.

A letter from Vilcan-Leman and Associates, Incorporated, the city's planning consultants, said that the city's future land use plan completed in December 1964 proposed the closure of this street for the following reasons:

1. Double frontage lots now existing would not make for desirable home sites on existing platted lots. Furthermore, if lands to the west are ever built upon using Hill Top Road as frontage, a poor house-to-house relationship would probably exist across Hill Top Road.

2. Growth and development in this area would not justify Hill Top Road as a major street connector to the north in the short or long range future because of railroad crossings and bridging obstacles.

3. Hill Top Road is not in a good location for a north-south road when related to US-23. The intersection with US-23 for a bypass road should be located to provide an adequate and safe intersection.

Members of the council had stated at the hearing in July that the present 33-foot street is difficult to plow in winter months and is too narrow for seal coating.

A resolution to close the road was adopted on a five to one roll call. Voting in favor were Alderman Cecil Cabbie, Jack Lardie, Clark Tanner, Frank Ahonen and Howard Hatton. Opposing the move was Alderman Martin Welina.

Hatton Hurt Monday Night in Bludgeoning

Howard Hatton, 64, Tawas City barber and Third Ward alderman, is in serious condition at Saginaw General Hospital with severe head injuries sustained Monday night.

Hatton was discovered around 11:00 p. m. lying on the ground behind his car on Hammell Beach Road, Arenac County. He was found on the roadway by a passerby.

Earlier in the evening he had attended the regular meeting of the Tawas City Council.

Police believe that a blunt instrument was used to inflict the injuries, which included a skull fracture, broken nose and head lacerations.

State police from East Tawas, who are continuing the investigation, said they were unable to question the injured man while he was undergoing emergency treatment at Tawas Hospital before being transferred to Saginaw.

Indies Win Northern Flag; Defeat Meredith, 2-1, in Final

Tawas City Indies, Northern Division champion of the Northeastern Michigan League, won a 2-1 thriller Sunday over visiting Meredith to close out the regular season of play.

Ron Leslie of Tawas City and Bateman of Meredith hooked up in a good pitching battle with Leslie bettering his opponent with one-hitter. Leslie struck out nine and gave up three walks. Bateman gave up four hits, struck out four, walked six and hit one batter twice. Tawas City scored its first run in the third inning when Dale Koepeke was hit by a pitched ball. He then stole second and third base and scored on a wild pitch.

Meredith tied the game in the fourth when Bateman reached first base on an error. Following Bateman's theft of second, Dunham singled to score the runner.

The winning run came in the bottom of the fourth when Sieloff led off with a walk. Rollin and Leslie drew free tickets to first to load the bases and Koepeke was hit by a pitched ball for the second time to score a run.

Chuck Petersen cracked two doubles to lead the Tawas City team at the plate. Gene Jordan reached first base three times on walks.

City Council Approves Hotel License Transfer

Two transfers of ownership of the Barnes Hotel's class B liquor and SDM license, with dance entertainment permit, as submitted by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, were approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

One document approved by the council saw transfer of the license held by Edward C. Lier to the estate of the late Mrs. Irene S. DeFilippi, with Peoples State Bank as agent.

Approval was then given transferring the license from the estate to Jerry L. Brezina.

The Barnes Hotel, which has been closed for more than a year, is now being remodeled and is to be reopened soon by Brezina.

In other business, the council instructed the chief of police and superintendent of public works to notify Sinclair Oil Company of a hazard at its unused fuel storage tanks near Tawas Hospital. It was stated that small children were playing on the property.

Bids opened on a new dump truck were as follows: McKay Sales Company, Chevrolet, $6,679.95; Ingils Ford, $6,989.20; Ottawa Equipment Company, Dodge, $6,653.96, and International, $6,767.85.

Bids on a three-quarter ton, four-wheel drive truck for use as a fire truck were as follows: McKay Sales, Chevrolet, $4,343.09; Ingils Ford, $4,030.77; Ottawa Equipment Company, Dodge, $4,193.55, and International, $4,343.03. Bids were accepted and turned (See COUNCIL, page 6.)

Hale Bank Takes Over Oscoda Firm

Ownership and control of The Association at Oscoda, a world wide metal detector and treasure hunting equipment business operated by Gene Ballinger, has been taken over by Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale.

All common stock of the firm had been put up by Ballinger last May as surety for repayment of check kiting losses in excess of $600,000 sustained by the bank in business dealings with Ballinger.

Ballinger is still awaiting federal trial on 26 counts of check kiting filed by the United States Department of Justice. He was released on $25,000 bond on April 2.

Davis Hayslip, a former employee of Ballinger, has been installed as interim manager while new management is being established.

Some Thoughts About Tomorrow

The other noon when I went home for lunch, my seven-year-old son and I were inspecting the progress on our new basement. While we were standing there watching the workmen construct the walls, the inevitable happened: My little boy, Gary, asked, "Dad, how do they make mortar and where does it come from?" (He had heard one of the workmen use the word, mortar, for the "mud" he was mixing.)

Now, the majority of the readers have had questions like this from children, but it is something new for me. I told Gary that the principal ingredient of mortar, perhaps that being used on this very job, was mined from the ground about 60 miles north of here at Alpena. The rock was crushed, cooked and bagged and then distributed to lumber yards around the country. Contractors, like Mr. Eckstein, bought bags of this fine, gray powdery stuff from the lumber yard, mixed it with sand and water to make "mud" and then used it to hold the blocks together.

Naturally, the next question had to be, "Why is the mortar so hard when it dries out—the mud balls I make don't get that hard." Not being a chemist, the only answer I could come up with was that there was a chemical reaction between the ground rock and the water and this caused the hardening. Naturally, there was another "why" question, but I suddenly found something interesting on the other side of the house.

While looking at the steel beams which had been used to move the house into position, Gary suddenly asked, "Where does metal come from, Dad?" I thought to myself, here we go again as I patiently explained how rock-bearing metal was mined, crushed and then "cooked" to make steel. As we walked around the house, he stopped to dig his hands into some mortar, patted it into a nice round ball and asked, "Dad, how come I'm allergic to different things—why do flowers and bushes make my eyes water?" Following my feeble answer about tests by the doctor, there were other rapid-fire questions and I decided (or hoped) that lunch must be ready by this time.

As we walked toward the house, Gary suddenly said, "Gee, Dad, I'll be glad when school starts again; then my teacher can answer some of my questions."

I had to admit that I was licked when he said he liked school, for I can remember when I was at that age, I ducked my head when the old 1931 Buick purred along Second Street past the old school building—I always regretted when summer vacation fun was coming to an end.

All of these things bring up an important question which will be answered tomorrow by adults like you and I. Will Tawas Area School operate for a full term this year?

While I have always supported the school program and my taxes have helped to educate the children of other parents for a good number of years, I have been the parent of a school-aged child since only last November. I have two nicees and recall their very first days at school, but, as I have said, things are different for me.

I am wondering now who will answer my little boy's inevitable question, "How come I can't go to school?" if tomorrow's millage issue does not pass. I am sure that I will not be able to answer this question and I will need help in answering Gary if this catastrophe happens.

Last November, when Gary came to live with us, he had a reading problem which had been caused by a number of things in his young life. But I must tell you that the only "frills" we have in school are such dedicated teachers as Mrs. R. J. Cooke, Gary's first grade teacher last term. Through patience and understanding on her part, and perhaps some cooperation by two parents, Gary is now reading with the best of them. Mrs. Cooke and her fellow teachers are not "frills"—they are an essential part of our school and community and we must keep them.

For this reason, I am making a personal plea for the support of our schools—please vote "YES" on Thursday for all the Garys and Janes of Tawas Area School District. I would hate to have to answer the question, "Dad, how come I can't go to school?"

Iffey... the School Kid

Alright! This is it, man! Are you going to say to 150 young guys and girls... "Sorry, you can't graduate this year."

People are building these three mills into three mountains. (The school is asking renewal of 4 1/2 mills which expired and three additional mills to meet inflation.) You know what it means to the average family?—four cents a day!

I just wonder, can the working couple hire a sitter for four cents a day?

It is agreed that taxes keep rising, but the only taxes we control pay for local government and schools. Who suffers if we vote them down?

The teachers are fat cats? Ever think about it costing them four years and more of work plus about $10,000? You don't just walk in the door to join their union.

So everyone did not have band and track when they went to school. Okay, so we will make a deal—you throw out your television set, we will throw out our band!

You better believe that Tawas Area is no Utopia. But if it can't be improved, please don't just take it away!

Do you know when students directly affected by a school closing can be expected to recover? Maybe never!

Do you really want our schools to close?

Wolenberg-Hosbach Vows Exchanged at Zion Church

Arrangements of daisies formed a floral background in Zion Lutheran Church, Tawas City, for the marriage Saturday, August 14, of Carol Lynn Hosbach and John Charles Wolenberg.

The Rev. Robert Beyer performed the 1 o'clock, double ring service. Carolyn Wendt of East Lansing was organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Hosbach of Tawas City, L. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. H. D. Wolenberg of Huntington Woods are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a floor-length Edwardian styled gown of white silk organza. Appliqued daisy lace fashioned the bibbed bodice, stand-up collar and cuffed, bishop sleeves. The gathered skirt, also bordered in daisy lace, fell from a high-rise Empire waistline and swept into a detachable court train with matching daisy decor. A daisy lace, open clouche headpiece secured her three tiered English mist, bouffant veil. She carried a white basket of daisies, white roses and baby breath.

Suzanne Hosbach, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor with Mrs. Lonnie Bewernitz of East Lansing, Pamela Breunling of Flint and Mrs. Dennis Meader of Kalamazoo, bridesmaids. The bride's attendants wore identically styled, full-length gowns of apricot floral motif on white ribbed voile with green underskirts, bishop sleeves and green velvet sashes. Lace accented their stand-up collars. They carried green baskets of daisies, yellow roses and baby breath.

Sgt. David Wolenberg of Huntington Woods served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Baszler of Oscoda, Mr. Bewernitz of East Lansing and Steve Wolenberg of Huntington Woods, brother of the bridegroom.

Daisy floral arrangements decorated the Tawas Golf and Country Club for the reception attended by 200 guests from East Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Northville, Huntington Woods, Ohio, Minnesota, Oscoda, Tawas City, East Tawas, Grand Haven and the Detroit area.

Mrs. Hosbach greeted guests in a sleeveless apricot crepe gown with pendulum neckline and draped sheath skirt. She wore matching accessories and fastened a single gardenia to her purse. A blue-green print sheath coat and dress ensemble with green accessories was the choice of Mrs. Wolenberg. She fas-

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:
The Arenac-Iosco-Ogemaw Labor Council, in a recent paid advertisement, made several statements relative to school millage elections that are not according to fact and should be corrected.
The last four statements seem to the Tawas Area Board of Education as contrary to fact or legally impossible.
1. The labor council would ask the board of education to wait until after state aid is determined and then in November they would help raise the millage.
To be levied in the 1971-72 school year, September 15 is the last date that taxes may be placed on the tax roll so a November election can only provide for 1972-73 levies.
2. The board of education does not propose to refund money. They propose to levy less than the extra 7.5 mills if the state gives added state aid. This will extend until September 15, the time for a state aid bill to be passed and action taken.
3. The labor council states that the double millage requirement seems far above rising cost of salaries and materials.
The board of education proposes an added three mills which is far less than double millage requirements as stated by the labor council.
4. The labor council states that the board should negotiate a contract rather than pay a paid negotiator $10,000.
The board of education is not experienced in labor laws nor is there a provision to pay them for time spent negotiating.
The amount paid the negotiator is $500 monthly or $6,000 per year to handle all labor negotiations and grievances and problems.
We heartily agree with the labor council in belief in a good school and good education.
We are also believers in full year utilization of school facilities. We are carefully studying experiments in year around school and as the State of Michigan clears the way we hope to bring in all new ideas that will serve the persons in Tawas Area.
We hope that members of the labor council will help us in the August 19 election to realize their desires and ours.
We hope they will lend their able ability in formulation of future school policy.
Earl B. Davis, Secretary of Board of Education

Festival Commemorates First Author to Write About Bunyan

Paul Bunyan has lived for hundreds of years, but he was born at Oscoda in the fertile memory of James MacGillivray.

So if you want to tell the story of Bunyan, you must tell the story of MacGillivray, too.

And that is what is happening this week at Oscoda during the first annual Paul Bunyan Festival, Friday, August 20, through Sunday, August 22.

Paul Bunyan was and is the greatest logger who ever was.

He and Babe, the big blue ox, logged the Pyramid Forty, Michigan and North Dakota. They suffered through the "Winter of the Blue Snow" and the "Spring of the Deep Mud." They rafted logs on the Round River, the Saginaw, the AuSable and the Betsie.

They met and overcame all sorts of critters: The Glyptodont, the Huggag, the Rumpitfusel and the Stone Eating Gyascutus.

Paul taught real Americanism, American civilization and ecology.

He invented the double bitted axe and made the world round so that Columbus could discover America.

He planted the trees and then invented the lumber industry to help build America.

And there were a few million other details that people of this modern day accept as simple fact. Paul did them all.

Paul Bunyan did all of these, of that there is no doubt, but MacGillivray, in 1910, was the first writer ever in the history of literature to publish a story about the lumbering giant.

MacGillivray, after logging, prospecting, newspaper reporting and a few other career angles too numerous to mention by today's standards of computerized job placement, was working for the Detroit News-Tribune when he wrote "The Round River Drive."

MacGillivray's first knowledge of such a lumber camp character now known as Paul Bunyan came when he was scaling logs for Rory Fraser, 22 miles east of Grayling on the north branch of the AuSable River. He was then 13 years of age, but big, like an adult man.

"The men had a lounging shanty by themselves, removed from Rory's domicile, and hardly an evening went by that some lumberjack did not bring out some new angle on the prowess of a mythical 'Paul Bunyan.' I had never heard the name before, despite the fact that I lived at Oscoda-AuSable, the twin towns that led the world in sawmill production back in the 80s," recalled MacGillivray many years later.

In later years, MacGillivray wrote a column called the "Deacon's Bench" for the News-Tribune. It had its unique connection with logging and the Bunyan saga, too.

It proved to be a long road for the young Oscoda lad from the deacon seat to the "Round River Drive," but he traveled that road successfully and was the first to write a Bunyan story. Others followed and expanded and even originated, but they were followers.

MacGillivray left the News-Tribune in 1911 to become educational director of the Michigan Conservation Department, a post he held for 17 years. During this period, he made many studies of wildlife in its natural habitat to illustrate educational and fire prevention lectures given throughout the state.

MacGillivray continued his nature studies after retiring to Oscoda in 1928, writing extensively of his findings. He even found time to serve his township as supervisor.

He died in 1952, following a fall at the old Iosco County Courthouse in Tawas City. He is buried in the Oscoda Cemetery.

No one knows where the saga will end but the Paul Bunyan Festival, Incorporated, of Oscoda and AuSable know that it will never stop.

First Paul Bunyan Festival Features Fun-Filled Program

The big, three-day Paul Bunyan Festival at Oscoda — Iosco's final summer season program — opens Friday, August 20, 10:00 a. m. with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at Paul Bunyan Park, Oscoda.

Gates of the park are to open at the huge statue depicting the master woodsmen for games, competition, side shows, rides and booths of all kinds. There will be skydivers and door prizes.

Tours of Wurtsmith Air Force Base are to start both Friday and Saturday at 1:30 p. m. There will be live entertainment at the park both evenings starting at 8:00 p. m.

Highlights of the program Saturday include a golf tournament, a treasure hunt at the Vaughn farm beginning at 9:00 a. m. and a parade at 11:00 a. m. There will be floats, a queen and her court, bands, clowns, lumberjacks and many other attractions. Parade marshal will be George Pierrot of television travel-adventure series fame.

Activities during the remainder of Saturday include a greased pig chase and greased pole climb at 12:30 p. m. A $10 bill awaits the lad who can climb the pole and reach the top. A live pig is the adversary of the boys who enter that event.

Sunday's program opens with a pancake breakfast at 9:00 a. m., followed by a muzzle loader shoot at the Vaughn farm. Directions are available at the chamber of commerce office.

The Paul Bunyan Park opens at 12:30 p. m., where there will be games, thrilling rides and food concessions. Live entertainment at the park will begin at 8:00 p. m.

Grand finale of the festival will be a fireworks exhibit at 9:15 p. m.

As a special attraction during the three days, there will be a musical review of Michigan's lumbering days on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Oscoda Elementary School Gymnasium. Afternoon shows are from 1:30 to 3 o'clock and evening shows are from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

The first annual Paul Bunyan golf tournament, to be held Saturday and Sunday at Lakewood Shores Golf and Country Club on US-23, Oscoda, will have $4,000 in prizes.

There will be four flights: Championship, first, second and Calloway. The tournament is for amateurs only.

One of the most recent objects of historical interest—a moon specimen provided by NASA—features the opening of the Paul Bunyan Foundation's museum at Oscoda.

Lloyd S. Millegan of the sponsoring organization reports that the moon specimen, which went on display Sunday, will be featured at the museum through Monday, August 23.

The foundation's new museum is located at the former residence of

AuSable Log Mark Records Lost in Fire Subject of Research

THE SCALER with his "cheat stick" and marking hammer was an important individual during Michigan's logging days. He tallied and marked the logs with a distinctive design, which provided a means to identify ownership during spring drives.

An office clerk's failure to close a vault door in the H. M. Loud Sons' office can be blamed for the loss of records now deemed important to Iosco County and Northern Michigan's history.

But who could blame the clerk for making a hasty exit from the two-story frame building in AuSable's business district on July 11, 1911? Flames from sawdust and bark-covered streets of the mill town were already licking angrily at the office and the clerk had good reason to be concerned about his family and home on the opposite side of town.

At the time, destruction by fire of Osceola Boom Company records stored in the Loud vault was insignificant, for all of AuSable and most of Osceola were laid waste by one of the most devastating fires in Northern Michigan history. Four persons died in the blaze and 3,000 were left homeless.

The clerk's haste to reach his home has probably left a never-to-be-filled gap in historical research, for ledgers of the boom company contained the only known registry of log marks used on the lower AuSable River.

A few of the better known marks are recalled by old timers—the circle L of the Louds, the K reverse K of Pack Woods and Company, VC of Penoyar Brothers and JEP of J. E. Potts Lumber Company, to name a few—but there were nearly a hundred marks used on the AuSable during the 30-odd years of river driving and all had to be recorded with the boom company.

Marking hammers were in constant demand in Michigan during the 1870s and 1880s, or until railroads replaced streams as a means of transporting logs. The hammers, which had a raised design or combination of letters on one or both ends, were generally of cast iron, of from four to six pounds in weight and taking many shapes.

By 1911, river drives had long been a thing of the past—more than a billion feet of white pine logs had spilled down the swift AuSable.

Log marks, the little symbols of law and order which defended the rights of their owners during many drives, were practically forgotten for 30 years or more. Then, in 1939-40, WPA researchers for the Michigan Writer's Project dug into industry records in county clerk's offices across Northern Michigan, which resulted in Memoir Bulletin No. 4, "Michigan Log Marks."

An unsolved mystery developed during this project more than 30 years ago when only eight firms were found to be recorded in the Iosco County clerk's office and the marks registered there did not include names of the better known AuSable firms.

The mystery surrounding the missing registry comes closer to solving, however, when one realizes that booming companies controlled both of the county's major streams—the AuSable and the AuGres—and that lumbering firms operating on those streams for nearly 30 years probably registered their marks with the AuSable Boom Company and later the Osceola Boom Company, or with the AuGres Boom Company, which controlled footage of logs over that river and its several tributary streams.

For all practical purposes, the mystery was finally solved about a year ago when Henry Kimball Loud, grandson of the founder of the lumbering dynasty which was so closely connected with white pine operations on the AuSable and Northern Michigan for 40 years, told the story about the office clerk who failed to close the vault door at AuSable. Loud, now 95 years of age, was in a position to have first hand information for he was superintendent of the Loud mills at the time of the 1911 fire.

As a consequence of the fire, anyone interested in Iosco log mark identification must turn to other sources—circuit court records, diaries and personal recollections of the few remaining old timers who can remember the lumbering days in Iosco.

About three years ago, a search was commenced in the Iosco Circuit Court records, when it was recalled that constant litigation between companies and individuals was part of the Michigan lumbering picture. A number of marks were found in these records over a period of several months search.

In addition to the above source of information, the daily diaries and correspondence of Iosco Sheriff L. B. Smith, for the years 1874-1879, turned up more marks. On one page of his diary is recorded the cats head mark of Absalom Backus, who constructed the first sawmill at AuSable in 1867.

Using the above informational sources, 89 marks used on Iosco streams have been identified. Actually, the list is not so impressive for several firms had more than one mark. There were at least 200 log marks used in Iosco County and other sources and different means of investigation must be exhausted before a representative listing can be compiled.

A collection of log marking hammers owned by Neil Thornton of Tawas City will be on display at the Paul Bunyan Museum, Oscoda, during the August 20-22 festival.

Huron-Manistee National Forest
Tawas Ranger District
By STUART BAILEY, forester

Sanitary landfill! You probably have and will be hearing this term used quite frequently. What does it mean? What does it have to do with you? Why am I writing an article about it?

These are some questions you are probably asking yourself and you should be. The last time most of us see our garbage and refuse is when we set it out for the collector, at least we hope this is the last time we see it. But, a few years ago, if we had gone to where the collector had deposited it we may have seen it blowing out of a pit in the ground into the surrounding woods. If it had been burning, it could have possibly started a forest fire. Seven of these pits are on National Forest land and that is why I am writing this article. Incidentally, within the last four years, fires near dumps have burned 150 acres.

In 1965, Michigan passed a law stating that these open dumps were no longer permitted. A sanitary landfill was to replace them. This would be a dump that would be managed, where refuse would be dumped only at a designated place, where the refuse would not be burned and, instead, would be compacted and covered with soil daily.

However, it was found that a daily covering would be too expensive for small units of government, so it was modified to require covering at least once per month. Also local government officials determined that to keep people dumping in the designated place and to keep them from burning the refuse, they would have to establish hours of dumping and have a man there to exercise control over the dumping.

It is now six years after the act was passed and still not all of the dumps in Iosco County are operating under a licensed sanitary landfill. But more progress has been made in the last 18 months than in the previous three years. The reason for this is the new county employee called the county sanitarian. Through his knowledge and direction, he is assisting local governments and the forest service in establishing sanitary landfills.

But the most important factor to make this work is you. Without cooperation from the people, many problems arise, such as dumping refuse at the gate if it is locked, dumping the refuse in the forest because the dump is closed that day, throwing burning refuse into the pit and not willing to support it financially.

In the past 10 years, our refuse increased from two pounds to 4½ pounds per day for each person. Couple this with the increase in population and we have a severe problem. Through cooperation, we can find a solution. One proposed solution is before the county board of commissioners now. But if the problem is not solved, the dumps on national forest land will have to be closed until they are licensed by the state. You have heard the saying, "Clean your own house before you criticize your neighbor's."

Because we bring children into the world, we obligate ourselves to insure they have a clean, healthy place to live.

Do not forget to attend the meeting tonight, 8:00 p. m., at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City. The subject will be the initial costs of a county-wide, solid waste disposal system.

Letter to the Editor:

It still puzzles me on why there is so much lack of interest with what the chamber of commerce does in the line of drawing people into the Tawas, such as the bigger and better every year Tawas Bay Waterfront Arts and Crafts Exhibit and Sale that was so wonderfully received by the 200 exhibitors who displayed their talents last Saturday and Sunday, August 7-8.

In observing, from the bandstand in the Tawas City Park, for two days enjoying such a spot of beauty that should thrill everyone thru and thru, I found very few city officials, very few influential people who are in position to purchase some of the higher priced goods that were on sale.

In order to have such a display of arts and crafts, we need buyers so that these exhibitors will come back each year. This was our 11th annual exhibit and by far the largest ever. They came from all over Michigan, Ohio, Louisiana, Florida, Kentucky, Canada and Iowa, plus our own local talents. Our local committee works very hard months in advance of this week-end and, with all their efforts, have made this exhibit one of the best for miles and miles around. Most of the exhibitors voiced their thanks for a show well run and that they received fine treatment. Also no trouble was encountered in the park by anyone. So, all and all, it was a very fine week-end.

There were all sorts of arts and crafts to buy and they ranged in price from 25 cents up to several hundred dollars, and it was these higher priced exhibitors who voiced their opinion that there is no money in the area because very little, if any, was sold and they doubted if they would ever come back.

Everyone enjoyed the park and the county building and I want to thank everyone who worked so hard to put this fine exhibit on. It truly was worth seeing and it truly was worth it all to me to sit there two days at the public address system. But we do need all your help in purchasing items so that we again can be proud to put on a great show each year in August.

I would like to now tell you about a telescope that was purchased and will be mounted on the patio at the rear of our chamber of commerce building soon. It will be a coin operated, 10-cent deal, whereby you can look out at the boats going by, the lighthouse, airplanes in the air and just observe beautiful Tawas Bay. It is a good one and, when installed, will run about $1,000. So again we need your support of using this telescope or spread the word around to all the people you see. We will advertise it and we hope to pay it off as soon as possible.

Thanks.

Yours truly,
Jerry Reiter
Director, Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce

Legion Post First in Community Service

At the American Legion Department of Michigan Convention held in Lansing July 15-18, the Audie Johnson Unit No. 211 was announced as placing first in hours spent in community service. Time was spent doing volunteer hospital work, helping senior citizens, doing girl, boy and cub scout work and the many projects involving the Tawas Area School Booster Club.

Announcement was also made that the poppy window display, which was placed in the Tawas Flower Shop during the week of Memorial Day, was chosen as first place winner in the department. A picture of the display will now go on to be judged in the national convention which will be held the last week in August.

First place winner in the American Legion essay contest was Joan Krueger, first place winner in the Audie Johnson Unit and also in the district. Miss Krueger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krueger of East Tawas and a 1971 graduate of Tawas Area High School.

Toni Penman, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price of East Tawas, was given a special citation which was awarded to auxiliary members who had joined through their grandfather's membership. This was a special award insofar as this past year, September 1970 through August 31, was the first year a granddaughter could join through her grandfather's membership. This practice will still continue but without special awards.

The next scheduled meeting of the auxiliary will be held Tuesday, September 7, due to the fact that Labor Day falls on the regular meeting date.

STATE SEN. ROBERT RICHARDSON, 35th District, is accepting a pen from Governor Milliken that the governor has used to sign the Age of Majority Bill at special ceremonies conducted at Michigan State University on August 4. The bill granting legal rights and privileges to all persons 18 years of age and older in Michigan will take effect on January 1, 1972.

Public Health Screening Set as Pilot Project

The Michigan Department of Public Health, District No. 2 of West Branch, announces a screening clinic to be held Tuesday, August 24, between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. in the Skidway Lake Chamber of Commerce building on Greenwood Road.

This clinic is a pilot project, of the District No. 2 Health Department and will be for the residents of Skidway Lake and surrounding areas. The success of the clinic will determine whether a continuity of health clinics will be feasible in other areas of the county or counties served by district No. 2. It is for anyone, men and women, who have reached the age of 30 years or over and will include screening for glaucoma, diabetes, blood pressure and tuberculosis.

Glaucoma is an eye disease which can rob its victims of sight without pain and other warning signs. The test for glaucoma is brief and painless.

The diabetes screening test involves a quick finger prick to secure a drop of blood. Statistics show diabetes to be a leading cause of blindness.

For the tuberculin skin test, clients will be advised to return in 48 hours for the reading of the test.

Public health nurses will perform the tests, which are offered as a free-of-charge public health service.

Anyone needing transportation is invited to call 345-2248, 873-3103, 873-3100 or 873-3143 the day before the clinic opens.

For more information, call the health department in West Branch, 345-0596.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Steel Work Going Up on Auditorium

15 Years Ago—

August 16, 1956—Steel work on the auditorium of the new Tawas Area Junior and Senior High School will go up this week, but it appears that school will start this fall in the old facilities. Unfavorable weather this spring and the steel strike has caused the delay.

The corporate life of Tawas Hospital Association has been extended another five years by the Michigan Corporation of Securities Commission.

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new Immaculate Heart of Mary Church will be held Sunday afternoon.

Col. Thomas N. Wilson will assume command of Wurtsmith Air Force Base on Friday.

New location of the Trudell Auto Body Shop is in the building next to McKay Sales Company, Tawas City.

Plans for remodeling the M-76-US-23 "Y" intersection at Standish, recognized as one of the "bad spots" for accidents, have been announced by the state highway department.

25 Years Ago—

August 16, 1946—Tawas Community Hospital Association was formed last week and the outlook on possibilities of a hospital for this section of Michigan look very bright. To secure a hospital will require a large amount of work because a large portion of the money necessary will be raised by popular subscription.

Through community effort, the Lake Huron Playhouse has successfully opened the first season of summer theater in this territory. Performances are given Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday nights at the East Tawas Community Building.

The fight to unionize baseball has flared up again with the Pennsylvania state labor board accepting jurisdiction in the Pittsburgh baseball club's case. Casey at the bat may yet be there with a union card as well.

The Tawas City junior baseball team played a junior team from East Tawas. Donald Westcott was captain of the Tawas City team and Jack Mandock captained the East Tawas team.

Unless something disastrous happens suddenly, it is a pretty safe bet that Hal Newhouser of the Tigers will lead both leagues in pitching.

The V-J Day anniversary celebration at East Tawas featured a band concert and fireworks that surpassed the July 4 celebration.

35 Years Ago—

August 21, 1936—Administrative staffs of county emergency relief offices, exclusive of Wayne County, have been reduced in even greater proportion than the total case load during the fiscal year ending June 30. The case load of 82 counties has dropped from a total of 109,543 in July 1935, to 35,858 in June 1936, a decrease of 67.3 percent. Administrative staffs during the same period were cut by 83.5 percent.

Tawas City Public School opens for the 1936-1937 term on September 8. One change has been made in the faculty this year. Miss Doris M. Boone of Ypsilanti will have charge of the commercial department.

Former Isoco supervisor, Edward O. Putnam of Hale, announces his candidacy for state representative for the Arenac District.

Many Republicans from this vicinity are planning to attend the Landon-Knox Young Republican dance to be held Friday evening at Wenona Beach, Bay City.

Opening of the Tawas Game Refuge 10 miles northwest of Tawas City has aroused local sportsmen to the extent that petitions have been circulated throughout Isoco County asking the state conservation department to rescind contemplated plans.

The decision to open this refuge for deer in Isoco is due, in part, to complaints of farmers adjacent to the refuge that deer are so numerous that they are destroying crops. Sportsmen feel that if the refuge is opened as planned, not only will breeding stock be destroyed but some loss of life among hunters may result because of all the amateur nimrods that will flock here from metropolitan areas.

Mrs. Nelson Brabant of Flint has moved into her new residence at the corner of First Street and First Avenue in Tawas City. This pleasing, small home has captured the imagination of the many people who have inspected it during its construction. It was built by Arthur Stark, contractor, Tawas City.

VEE Questions Are Answered

Question: Why is the equine census necessary?

Answer: Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) is a serious, highly-infectious disease primarily affecting horses. Vaccine must be prepared should there be an outbreak in Michigan. Number and location of all horses is essential to prepare to combat VEE.

Question: Who can be infected?

Answer: All horses, mules, ponies, donkeys, zebras and man.

Question: What causes VEE?

Answer: A virus which attacks the central nervous system.

Question: How is it spread?

Answer: Primarily by biting insects, such as mosquitoes and biting flies, from a carrier animal to horses and man. VEE can also be spread between horses by direct contact through mouth, nasal and eye secretions, milk and urine.

Question: Who are carriers?

Answer: Any animal carrying the VEE virus in the bloodstream. These include horses, rats, mice, rabbits, dogs, cats, sheep, goats, man and maybe others.

Question: How serious is VEE in horses?

Answer: Between 80 and 90 percent of all horses infected usually die within six or seven days from the start of symptoms.

Question: What symptoms do horses show?

Answer: Sleepiness, walking in circles, unusual chewing movements, inability to swallow, standing in abnormal positions, unable to get up and coma.

Question: Can other diseases cause similar signs?

Answer: Yes, quite a few. Eastern or Western Encephalomyelitis (sleeping sickness) in horses may be almost identical.

Question: How can VEE be diagnosed?

Answer: Michigan veterinarians are prepared and alert. Diagnosis and reporting of infections must be made by veterinarians.

Question: Can VEE be prevented?

Answer: Yes. There is a highly effective vaccine released by the United States Department of Agriculture to be used only in areas of outbreaks, surrounding quarantined states or wherever there is threat of outbreak.

Sleeping sickness vaccines, such as Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE) and Western Equine Encephalomyelitis (WEE) provide no protection against VEE.

Question: Is VEE a threat to Michigan?

Answer: Not at present. The present quarantine and vaccination programs should control the outbreak in the United States. The Michigan Department of Agriculture is cooperating with the United States Government and is alert to any threat of VEE in Michigan.
