

Waste Disposal Study Completed

Copies of a solid waste disposal study conducted recently in Iosco County by Environmental Research was presented to the county board of commissioners by W. C. Roach, chairman of the Iosco County Planning Commission.

Roach told board members that he planned to arrange a meeting with the township officers association to discuss possible implementation of the plan.

The board of commissioners authorized payment of $1,000 to Environmental Research for preparation of this report. Total cost of the survey was $2,000.

In other business conducted at the board of commissioner's February session, Harris Barkman, president of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, expressed the desire to have a county chamber of commerce organized. Barkman believed that such a group could coordinate activities between the various chambers of commerce. The matter was referred to committee for a report next month.

Susan Smalley and Judith Place of the Cooperative Extension Service reported on family living and 4-H activities in the county.

Henry Gage, county civil defense director, along with two representatives from the state organization, presented a program in regard to the civil defense warning system, fall-out shelters and preparation for natural emergencies. It has been proposed that a simulated drill on a natural disaster be held next October in this county.

The board approved an additional $226 as its share of the budget for Northeast Central Michigan Economic Development District.

County Clerk Keith Papas was authorized to attend a court administrator's conference in March.

The board approved a $600 allocation to the prosecuting attorney's office for special investigation relative to a county drug program.

Approval of a $739.50 bill representing medical expenses of a prisoner injured at the county jail was approved. The bill had been tabled earlier to determine if the county's insurance program would handle such an expense. The prisoner, Anthony VanDeusen, was injured October 15 while working on a boat at the jail. He shattered his arm in a fall.

On recommendation of the buildings and grounds committee, bids are to be taken for cleaning floors and window blinds in the county building.

Payment of $11,500 to Thomas Browne for architectural and engineering work on the first phase of construction at AuSable River Mouth Park was authorized.

McKay Sales Hires New Gen. Manager

McKay Sales Company of Tawas City, which this week is observing its 55th anniversary, announces the hiring of a new general manager for the dealership.

The new general manager is Roger McIntosh, 32, who moved here February 8, after serving as general manager of a Chevrolet dealership at Lansing.

He has been in the automotive business for four years. Prior to that he was a school teacher for five years. He and his wife, Judy, are parents of two daughters.

L. G. McKay Jr., who has been manager since his return from military service September 23, 1946, said he would continue his association with the business but would be spending more time at his duties as chairman of the board of directors of Peoples State Bank.

The business was established in February 1916 by L. G. McKay Sr., who has continued his association with the dealership during all those years.

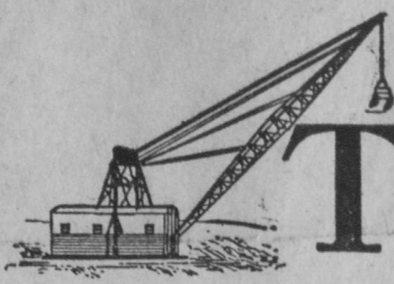

An announcement of the new general manager printed on page 4 of this newspaper includes a facsimile of McKay's first advertisement appearing February 18, 1916, in The Tawas Herald.

Pictured is a handsome one-man convertible top Chevrolet touring car. The question, "Where can you equal this?" referred to the many improvements emphasized that year and included electric lights, electric self-starter and valve-in-head engine. An 11-inch road clearance was pointed out as an important advantage.

County Seeks Bids on Park Concession

Lacking bids for a concessionaire at the county-operated Old Orchard Park on the AuSable River, the Iosco Board of Commissioners Thursday directed a change in specifications and a readvertisement for bids.

This action came at the conclusion of a two-day February session which was devoted almost entirely to matters pertaining to county parks.

During Thursday's discussion, commissioners were of the opinion that the lack of bids on this concession was due to the fact that a one-year probationary clause had been inserted into the original specifications.

The commission directed Gilbert Preston, county parks director, to draw up new specifications eliminating the probationary period.

Except for this probationary provision, commissioners expressed surprise that there had been no local interest in operating this concession, said to be a profitable one for the operator. Preston was instructed to advertise in trade magazines in order to obtain bids on a five-year lease, followed by a five-year option to lease the concession.

It was stated that without a concessionaire, the park probably could not operate this year. Possible operation of the park store and rental facilities by the county, in the event there are no bidders, was discussed.

Last year, operation of the park proved to be a controversial point between the county park commission and former managers concessionaires. The park commission hired Preston to manage all county parks and released Nilo C. Burger and Jess N. Bolin as manager, effective June 15.

The two men were given the option to stay on as concessionaires if they would pay a percentage of the gross income received from sales. They continued operation of the concession for the remainder of 1970, but did not enter a bid under the new contractual arrangement.

Since that controversy and one which erupted in October concerning housing for the park manager, new lines of communications have been established between the county board of commissioners and the park commission.

Robert Foster of Oscoda, a member of the county board of commissioners and new chairman of the parks commission, said Thursday that many changes had been made in administration of the county parks system.

He said that considerable work had been accomplished by the parks commission in order to coordinate operational and planning activities for the entire park system. He said this work entailed many meetings and the per diem expense of park commissioners had totaled $4,000 for the year. Much of this administrative work is now being handled by the park director and Foster believed this per diem expense of park commissioners would be lowered through holding meetings every other month.

The board of commissioners authorized a $1,000 pay increase for the parks director, bringing his salary to $9,000. Salary of the assistant director was increased by $1,000, or an annual salary of $7,000.

During discussion, it was pointed out that Consumers Power Company was insisting that the county construct new sanitary facilities at Old Orchard Park this year. The county leases the park from the power company.

William Kraus, recreational research planner for the county, told commissioners that the reason new sanitary facilities had not been constructed at Old Orchard Park as yet was that work would have to be completed on the AuSable River Mouth Park and Oscoda Beach Park before the county would qualify for matching state funds.

A meeting is to be arranged with the power company to clarify the county's position.

During the first day of the session, a parks and recreational budget totaling slightly more than $460,000 was presented to the board of commissioners for 1971, of which $12,000 would come from the county general fund and the remainder in state and federal funds.

Kraus explained the first phase of the AuSable River Mouth Park construction program which totaled $160,000, of which $16,000 came from the county general fund. This included a boat launching area, fill and grading. The second phase of this construction is dependent on a $160,000 matching grant from the federal government, which would include construction of buildings.

Because of the lack of restrooms at this park, the county may have to construct a temporary building until such time as the federal money is received.

Kraus presented plans for the proposed county park at Long Lake and explained that the park commission was now studying the possibility of county parks in Alabaster Township and at the Thompson Farm in Plainfield Township. Arthur Aulerich, a member of the parks commission, stated that United States Gypsum Company had agreed to allow use of a portion of its property for a trailer park, but he now understood that the Alabaster Township Board was opposed to this location.

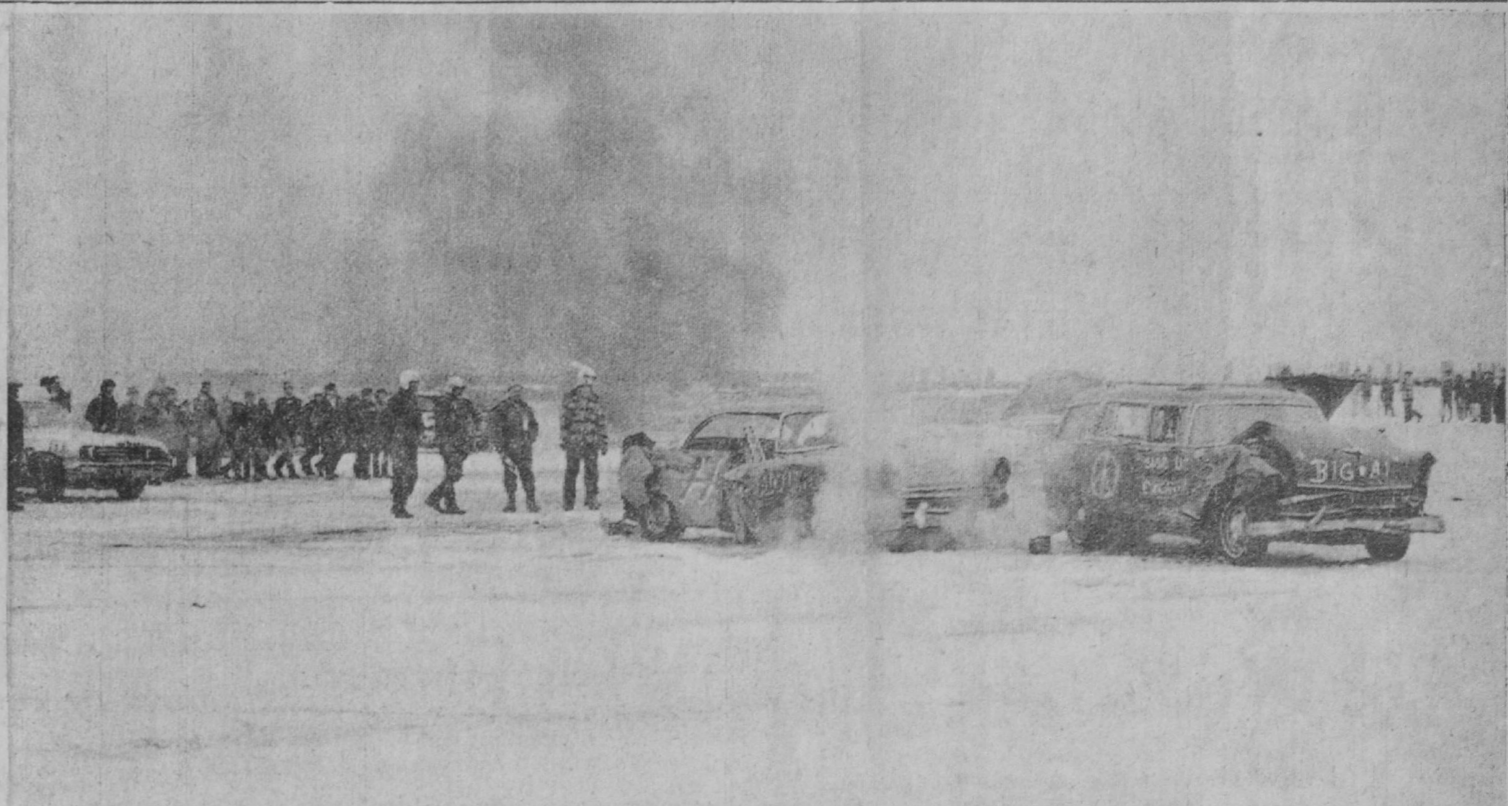

Kraus told commissioners he believed the AuSable River Mouth Park would be self-supporting once it gets into operation, but indicated that local tax money may be needed to put it on a paying basis. He said that the entire county parks system was dependent on operation of Old Orchard Park, which brought in $42,000 for parks and recreational use last year.

In 1966, revenue from Old Orchard Park amounted to $28,000, according to the county treasurer, but the park was expanded considerably in 1970.

Kraus said that the additional 6,900 persons counted in the 1970 census at Wurtsmith Air Force Base would result in additional state monies being expended in this county. He said that the base had conducted a survey last year to determine the impact of military personnel on this county and desired to establish communications with the county board of commissioners.

Kraus stressed that additional self-help was needed from individual townships and cities to expand the county parks system. "This program will work only if you people work on it," he stated.

Carlton Merschel, chairman of the county board of commissioners, cautioned board members that additional transfers of money from the general fund to the park fund could pose problems for county financing. He said that other county planning groups had pointed out the need for such things as a county-wide solid waste disposal, as well as expansion of water-sewer facilities and added space for county offices. These groups, he said, stressed an urgent need for these projects, but all, somehow, would have to come within the county's budget.

Last two cars in Sunday's demolition derby are "wheezing their last" at right.

Chamber's 'Luck' With the Weather Holds True to Form for Perchville

ALLEN EMRY of Sand Lake poses on top of his smashed station wagon after winning Sunday's demolition derby on Tawas Bay. The event attracted about 2,500 spectators and proved to be an exciting climax to a drab festival. The event was marred by poor weather conditions and much of the program was wiped out by rain and fog.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Although unfavorable weather conditions practically wiped out most of Saturday's Perchville USA program, colder weather on Sunday helped Tawas Chamber of Commerce salvage some of its festival activities.

The weather story is an old one for the chamber of commerce. Despite adjustment of dates for its February ice carnival, the chamber of commerce has been unlucky with the weather in nearly every one of its six Perchville events.

This year was no exception, as high wind a week ago broke up much of the ice in Tawas Bay. This did not prove to be a problem as ice protected by the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock and the bight of Tawas Bay was still intact.

What proved to be a disaster, however, was two days of rain at mid-week and continued mild weather Saturday morning. The ice was covered with water and slush, which was the deciding blow in canceling snowmobile races, motorbike races, games and contests. The water was uncomfortable, too, for spectators on Saturday and only a small crowd was present for a talent show at the dock and the polar bear swim.

An overcast sky on Saturday caused cancellation of skydiving and aerobic programs.

Colder weather on Sunday brought back smiles to program officials as about 2,500 people were on hand to watch a spectacular demolition derby on the ice. Winner of this event, which saw several junk cars go up in smoke, was Allan Emry of Sand Lake, who repeated his performance of the previous week when he won Grant Township's demolition derby.

A break in the clouds Sunday afternoon also allowed Bob Carter, the flying cowboy, to present part of his aerobic air show.

The program opened Friday night with good representation at the annual stag fish fry at Lixey's Restaurant and a party for women at Tawas Golf and Country Club. Chuck "Muddy" Waters of WNEM-TV was crowned Perchville king for the second straight year.

Flag raising ceremonies Saturday morning were delayed by a drizzle and much of the program was washed out. Bob Dwyer of Oscoda, guitar soloist, and the Danderys—a combo composed of Gary Sullivan, Lindsay Papas and David Anschutz—were finalists among 10 acts in the talent contest sponsored by the East Tawas Lions Club. Dwyer was voted winner of the contest following appearances by finalists at Saturday night's banquet.

Richard Brooks of East Tawas and his group of Tawas polar bears staged a shivering program for spectators at a swimming pool cut in the ice of Tawas Bay near the East Tawas dock. Weather turned colder during the afternoon and the rain turned into snow. A large crowd was on hand to watch the polar bears perform on Sunday.

Saturday night's activities saw Miss Barbara Hintz, 17-year-old Tawas Area High School senior, being crowned Perchville queen at the annual banquet held at the Holland House.

While fishing results matched the weather, Peter Bernhart of East Tawas was winner in the pike contest with a 6 1/4-pound fish. Joseph Drenovsky of Durand won the perch contest with a two-pounder. Junior class winners were Darlene Schade, Steven Anolik, Farmington, largest perch.

Chamber of commerce officials report that the area had a large crowd of out-of-town visitors, but most stayed off the ice until the break in the weather on Sunday.

Jury Trials Set for Two Damage Suits

Jury trials for two auto-negligence suits totaling $187,500 were set last week by Iosco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller, who disqualified himself from hearing either case.

Both cases are concerned with the May 7, 1970, collision on Townline Road at Lorenz Road intersection in which Mrs. Edith Prescott received fatal injuries and Mrs. Barbara J. Gillings was injured.

Martin Lathrop, driver of a truck owned by James Quarters which was involved in the crash, is charged with careless, negligent and reckless driving in failing to bring the truck to a full and complete stop at the intersection.

The estate of Mrs. Prescott asks damages of $100,000 against Quarters and Lathrop, jointly and severally. The case is to be heard by a visiting judge on June 15.

In the second case, set over to the fall term for a visiting judge, Mrs. Gillings asks damages of $75,000 for injuries, while her husband, Gary L. Gillings, seeks $12,500 for his wife's medical expenses.

T. Hospital Employees Reject Union

A special election conducted Thursday saw employees of Tawas Hospital reject union representation. The vote was conducted by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

A proposal for Michigan Council No. 55, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, was turned down, 55-38, with 12 challenging votes not counted.

There were 117 employees, both part time and full time, eligible to vote. Of this number, six were licensed practical nurses, who conducted their own election.

The LPNs voted unanimously to be represented by the Michigan Licensed Practical Nurse's Association.

Four Persons Sentenced in Iosco Circuit Court

Four persons were sentenced, jury trials were set for three persons and one was arraigned in circuit court last week.

Richard T. Fisher was placed on probation for two years, assessed $150 costs for breaking and entering.

Francis W. Tebo was placed on probation for five years, ordered to pay restitution of $163.98, court cost of $100 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for a breaking and entering at Oscoda Area Junior High School.

Robert M. Miller was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay restitution of $43 on conviction of possessing a stolen auto and breaking and entering.

Clinton L. Keys was found guilty of using marijuana. His sentence was delayed for one year.

Daniel R. Mitchell was arraigned on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He stood mute on the charge and a plea of "not guilty" was entered.

A jury trial was set for March 11-12 for Richard M. Barry Jr., who entered a plea of "not guilty" to a charge of selling LSD in AuSable Township.

Daniel A. Danielson entered a plea of "not guilty" to a charge of assault with intent to commit rape and trial by jury was set for March 23.

A "not guilty" plea was entered for Michael J. Buckner and a trial was set for March 5 on a charge of felonious assault.

Read Acts 17:22-28

"From one forefather He has created every nation of mankind, and made them live all over the face of the earth." (Acts 17:26 GoodSpeed)

By what he says here, Paul calls attention to a fact too easily lost sight of in our preoccupation with ourselves and things close at hand. At the point of our keenest awareness of spiritual kinship to God, we come to recognize our brotherhood.

A brief visit to a village in New Guinea during World War II underlined for me the depth of the kinship of humanity. Upon approaching the village, we were met by friendly people.

The village leader recognized the cross on my lapel as identifying me with the Christian religion. He brought out the New Testament in his language, and we read and compared the Word in his native tongue with the Word in my English Version.

He spoke with great affection for his missionary teacher who had been forced to leave because of the war. In some respects, we had little in common, and yet how much!

PRAYER
 Our Father, help us to see ourselves as Thy children so that we may see ourselves as brothers. Amen.

Consumers Power President Appalled by Misleading Radiation Statements

James H. Campbell, president of Consumers Power Company, said today he was appalled by the misleading discrepancies in a February 9 statement issued in Michigan. The statement by Dr. Ernest Sternglass of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, claimed that radiation released by the company's Big Rock Point nuclear plant had caused a rise in infant mortality in 10 counties in Northern Michigan.

"The counties close to the plant actually show a decrease," Mr. Campbell said, "and at least one county with an increase is located 45 miles away from the plant and the prevailing winds are in the opposite direction from the plant."

Mr. Campbell noted that Michigan Department of Public Health has thoroughly investigated the Sternglass claims and, in a report issued Friday morning at Lansing, reached this conclusion: "Based on the material used by Sternglass, there is no logical reason to conclude that there is a connection between infant mortality and radioactive effluent from Big Rock Point reactor."

Mr. Campbell's comments were made soon after the department of health issued the rebuttal paper which Mr. Campbell said "clearly shows that Sternglass's statistics lack credibility and logic." Further, Mr. Campbell said, "the conclusions drawn by Sternglass lack statistical significance, are misleading and are based on Sternglass's own arrangement of data."

Don VanFarowe, chief of the radiation section of the Michigan Department of Health, told a Friday morning news conference that his staff checked infant mortality rates in the 10 Michigan counties where Sternglass claimed increased mortality had occurred. Five of the counties showed a decrease and five showed an increase but on a random basis only, the report shows.

Even so, the over-all infant mortality rate actually showed an increase of less than two percent, rather than the almost nine percent claimed by Sternglass.

The health department's rebuttal of Dr. Sternglass is based on actual monitoring stations located at various positions and at various distances from Big Rock Point. These stations, said Mr. VanFarowe, show no radiation changes in the air that could be attributed to operation of the nuclear plant. The only radiation detected was directly traceable to nuclear bomb testing in other parts of the world, the report said.

In earlier statements, Dr. Sternglass claimed that infant mortality had increased in areas downwind from Dresden, Illinois, plant of Commonwealth Edison Company. The Illinois Department of Public Health subsequently rejected these claims, pointing out that infant mortality had declined in those counties from 289 in 1960, when the plant began operating, to 206 in 1969. In any case, the health department said, the areas cited by Dr. Sternglass are upwind from the plant, not downwind.

Significantly, Mr. Campbell observed, the actual radiation releases at the plant during the period cited were less than three percent of the United States Atomic Energy Commission limits. Six gaseous radionuclides detectable at the plant site during 1966, which were cited by Sternglass, are only radioactive for short periods. They cannot be concentrated in the food chain because of time lag, he said.

Dr. Sternglass claimed that gases are being inhaled, dissolved through the lungs into the bloodstream and are then carried to many parts of the body where they are incorporated in various tissues and organs.

Mr. Campbell observed, "actual measurements of body burdens of radionuclides of all employees at the Big Rock Plant, taken over a period of several years, has shown not one instance of any radioactive gas dissolved in blood, incorporated in tissue or existing in the body in any manner whatsoever. This is particularly important since the employees live close to the plant on an average of 16 hours per day and work at the plant for eight hours per day. Hence, the actual measurement of an employee is a maximum case and yet shows no evidence of radio gas being incorporated in the body."

The 75,000 kilowatt Big Rock Point Plant uses a boiling water reactor. Radiation monitoring was started before the plant began operation in 1963 and has since been carried on. Consumers Power maintains its own monitoring system and makes frequent reports to the United States

Atomic Energy Commission and to the state. The Department of Health also has monitoring stations, independent of those operated by Consumers Power. In addition, the Atomic Energy Commission conducts regular radiation checks of the air and water.

Detroit Scene of Water Cleanup

This is an aerial scene of the River Rouge system. It targets one of the battlefronts in the Detroit River-western Lake Erie complex where the fight for clean water is being carried ahead as fast as physically—and financially—possible. Since 1966, the City of Detroit has contracted for $239.2 million worth of water pollution control developments. Another $150 million has been pumped into similar improvements by Detroit area industries during recent years. As a result of this large-scale thrust, the volume of industrial wastes discharged into the Detroit River and western Lake Erie has been cut by 42 percent since 1965. Dramatic, too, is coliform reduction and phosphorous removal which will be totally controlled in these waters by next summer. On top of that, state-federal standards to control water pollution will be met by all of the Detroit area's direct industrial dischargers in 1971. In spite of these significant advances, the new federal Environmental Protection Agency has threatened the City of Detroit with court action—unless "corrective" anti-pollution steps are taken by mid-1971. Truth of the matter is that the Detroit area's gains against water pollution would have been even greater if federal funding for Michigan during the last 4 years had not fallen about $80 million short of the level originally authorized by Congress to help clean up the problem in this state. --Mich. WEATHER conditions were far from ideal for the sixth annual Perchville USA Festival held last week-end on Tawas Bay. Despite program cancellations, visitors enjoyed a number of activities which were staged as planned. Water on the ice proved uncomfortable for spectators, but members of the local polar bear club did not seem to mind. The program was salvaged Sunday for the Tawas Chamber of Commerce with the return of colder weather.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Cavaliers Drop Braves in Final Seconds to Take Lead in NBC

Two key foul shots by Carrollton in the waning seconds of Friday night's NBC showdown battle dropped Tawas Area Braves into a second place tie as the Cavaliers stopped the Braves, 61-60.

The defending conference championship squad took a giant step towards outright possession of the 1970-71 crown as the Braves dropped into a second place tie with Standish-Sterling Central, each with 10 wins and three losses.

The game was almost a repeat of the game played earlier in the season on the losers' home floor. In that game, Tawas came from behind to tie the game and send it into overtime. Two key foul shots in that game after the final whistle sounded gave the Braves a one-point victory.

W-P Cards Lost 4 Games Last Week

Whitmore - Prescott Cardinals dropped four games to two schools last week. The varsity lost Friday night to Alcona Tigers, 92-66, and to AuGres Tuesday night, 73-72. The junior varsity lost to Alcona, 50-45, and to AuGres, 48-40.

The Tigers of Alcona were just too much for the Cards. Lacking height, the Cards played a good game and showed hustle, but were just out-classed.

Alcona held a 27-15 margin at the end of the first quarter and were on top, 55-39, at halftime. Both coaches used reserves most of the second half. The victory was the ninth straight for the Tigers in the NEM, but they have lost three league encounters.

Chuck Nichols led all scoring with 19 points for the Cards. Dave Somers led the winners with 16. Jeff Fellows and Roger Griffis scored 15 each for the Cards.

The Little Cards gave their opponents a battle all the way, but 31 turnovers led to defeat. Jerry Brace led the losers with 13.

Gunning for their first victory of the year, AuGres' Wolverines held an eight-point lead at the end of the first quarter and then held a 38-30 margin at intermission. The Cards tied the game early in the last quarter and the lead changed hands several times.

A field goal by Fellows put the Cards ahead with seconds to go, but a 15-footer by Mike Fitzgerald of AuGres proved to be the winning basket.

Fellows of the Cards and Ron Terry of AuGres each had 29 points.

Tawas and Standish-Sterling a possible crack at the title.

Other NBC action Friday night saw Essexville Garber winning over Gladwin, 52-51; Pinconning bumped Osoda, 74-60; Standish-Sterling downed Ogemaw Heights, 58-52.

Card Girls Beat Tawas-Arenac E.

Whitmore-Prescott girls continued their stranglehold on first place in the NEM with a come from behind victory over Arenac Eastern Wednesday night, 54-37. The junior varsity squad was not so fortunate as it fell, 22-18.

A nonconference game opened play during the week and the Card girls soundly trounced Tawas Area girls twice on Monday night, 44-18 and 40-7. The varsity was just too much for the Tawas girls, taking a quick, 7-0, lead and controlling the game all the way.

Cindy Erickson's 20 points topped scoring for the winners, followed by 15 for Linda Youngberg. Minard led Tawas with eight.

The Junior Redbirds dropped Tawas Junior Varsity as Debbie Lentz scored 12 points. Revord led the Junior Bravettes with five.

The Card girls had a rough time in the early part of the game with Arenac Eastern, trailing by eight points at one time. Close guarding tactics by the Arenac team bothered the Card girls during the first half, but the gap was closed to within four points, 23-19, at the half.

Sparked by the second half return of Diane Dorsey, who was injured in the Tawas game, the Card girls quickly took over the lead. Eastern's girls made their last bid for an upset mid way in the last quarter to come within six points, 43-37.

Erickson led all scoring with 26 points. Rosemarie Moraitis played her best game of the year with 14 points, most of them in the first half when the Card girls really needed them to stay in the game.

This was the ninth straight win for the Whitmore-Prescott girls, who are assured of at least a share of the NEM title. They were to play once defeated Beaverton Tuesday night to finish the season.

Whether you are a new bride, just starting out with a family or a grandmother with an "empty nest," cooking for two is different than cooking for more. All the differences are not drawbacks though. When you plan, serve and prepare for only two people, there are fewer individual needs and preferences to consider. You spend less time and work in preparation. You can eat where and when you wish.

The problems of cooking for two are probably better known. Lack of variety of foods may result in poor nutrition. To get more variety, try to buy in small quantities when this is feasible. Include convenience foods in your meal plan.

Lack of appetite may also result in poor nutrition. Have friends in for meals occasionally to make mealtime more interesting. Plan meals for eye and taste appeal, with a variety of colors, flavors and textures. Eat in front of a window, on a balcony or in your back yard to vary the location of your meals.

RELAXING TIME—4 to 6 every day at the Tawas Lanes. Reduced prices on beer, wine, liquor. Bring a friend, Tawas Lanes, US-23. Phone 362-2861. 43-tfb

If you find that you invariably prepare too much food, plan several meals at one time to take care of leftovers. Exchanging food with your friends and neighbors is another good way to take care of your surplus.

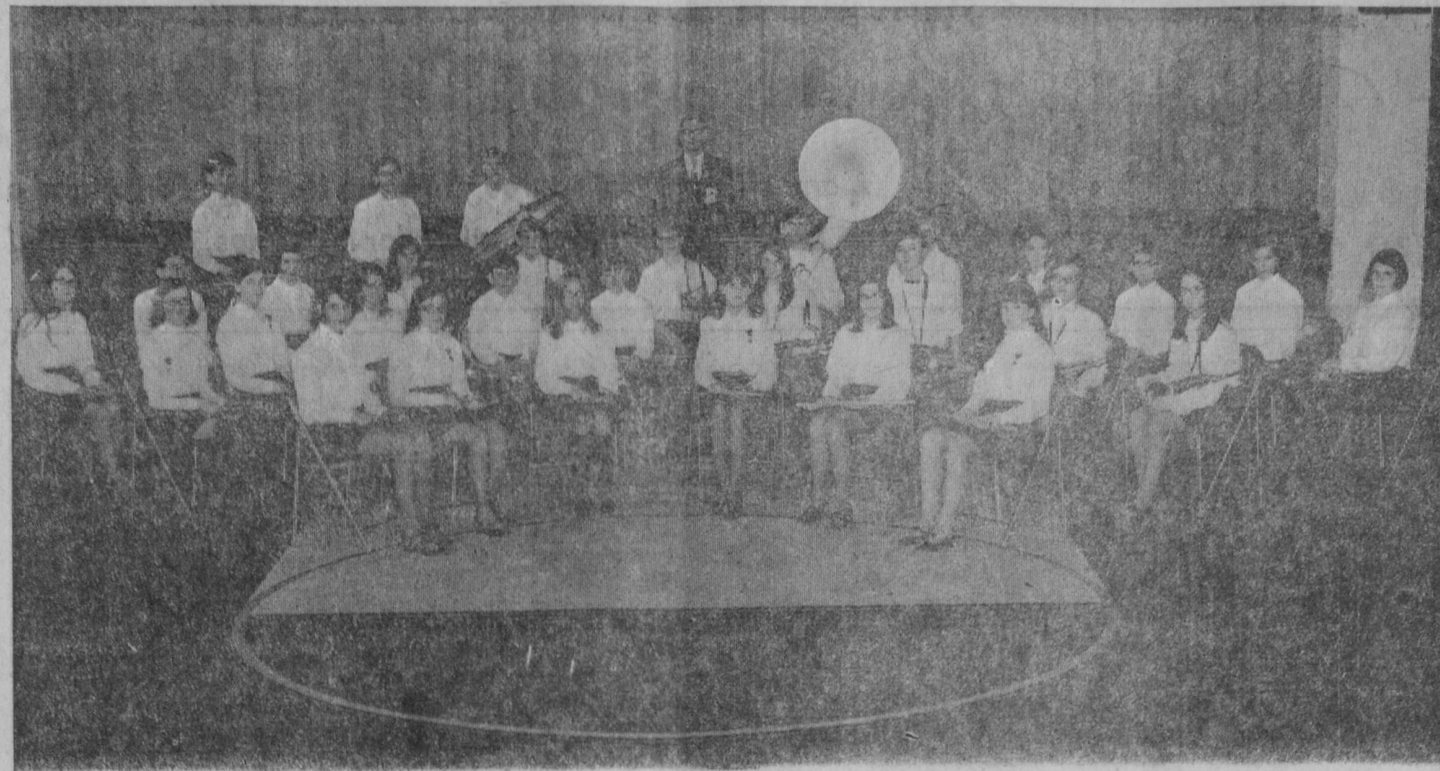

Use your favorite recipes, but cut them down to make the proper amount for two servings.

As if it weren't enough for our new Chrysler Royal to beat a comparably-equipped Buick on price (see chart above), it also comes through with features Buick doesn't even have. Like the roomiest interior in the class. Or a new 360 cubic inch V-8 that runs on regular. And that unique combination of quiet, smoothness and handling, Torion-Quiet Ride.

Now add Chrysler's quality construction, and the newest, lowest Chrysler price and you've got the new Chrysler Royal. If it's time for you to move up, go all the way. Come through our place, and we'll come through for you. Royally.

REAP Investment Plan Could Aid Conservation and Pollution Problems

Development of the 1971 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) in Michigan will get underway immediately according to officials of the Iosco County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, who have just returned from Grand Rapids where they met with Washington and state officials to learn details of this conservation cost-sharing program of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Attending the Grand Rapids meeting from all over Michigan were state and county ASC committeemen and employees. Attending from Iosco ASCS office at East Tawas were John Ori, vice chairman of county committee; John Newberry, member of county committee; June Scott, county executive director, and Lillian Engle, program assistant.

Michigan's share of the 150-million-dollar national REAP appropriation is $3,262,000. At the meeting, the participants were told that it is essential that they develop a "REAP" investment plan that will serve as the basis for using the program's allotted funds to help solve the urgent conservation and pollution problems in the state.

The goals of REAP are to improve the quality of life for all people by preventing or abating environmental pollution, providing the maximum public benefit and conserving the land and related natural resources so as to assure their "continuing ability to produce the food and fiber necessary for the maintenance of a strong, healthy people and economy, and to provide for wildlife, open space, landscape beauty and outdoor recreational opportunities."

Farmer-elected county ASC committees will administer REAP operating under a locally-developed program. Smith explained that the state development group has established the state-wide REAP guidelines and provisions. County development groups will set up their programs within the state provisions including practices they determine as needed from their 1970 program. At both state and county levels, the development groups consult with environmental and civic leaders.

REAP, formerly known as the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), provides for federal cost-sharing of beneficial conservation practices with farmers, but has been restructured to place greater emphasis on those agricultural practices which will contribute the most to environmental improvement.

A major consideration in authorizing cost-sharing, participants in the Grand Rapids meeting were told, will be the resulting public benefits of the conservation practices installed by farmers.

Date for REAP sign-up will be announced soon after the development meetings by the county ASCS committees.

The planning party consists of two engineers, a biologist, a geologist and an economist. These specialists are studying problems in the AuGres flood plain and are to make recommendations as to possible solutions.

Twenty-eight persons attended the meeting including Carlton Merschel, steering committee member and chairman of the Iosco Board of Commissioners; John Mielock, steering committee member and Iosco County drain commissioner; James Sturtevant, committee member and Iosco Soil Conservation District board member; Harry Krueger, chairman of the Iosco Soil Conservation District board of directors; Marvin Davenport, Iosco extension agent; Charles Lightfoot, technician for the Soil Conservation Service at East Tawas.

The steering committee is presently planning a tour of the Mistigay watershed south of Saginaw later this spring.

After viewing a slide presentation of the AuGres flood plain problems, the group adjourned to view progress on the harbor of refuge at the mouth of the AuGres River.
