

School Financial Problems Remain, Despite Negative Vote on Monday

Just because it was Flag Day and its two proposals were defeated at the polls, don't expect the Tawas Area Board of Education to run up the white flag in defeat. Acceptance of Monday's negative vote would be a catastrophe for this community, to put it mildly.

What some people do not realize, or do not care to realize, is that this school district could operate less than one-half the regular school year on its share of taxes provided locally by the allocation board.

If Monday's negative vote is accepted, Tawas Area School would only receive its nine-mill allocation from the 15-mill limitation, or approximately $423,000. This is about one-third the budget of 1971-72.

The school district would not be eligible to receive any state aid because of the proviso in the state aid bill that there must be at least a local levy of 10 mills to be eligible.

Many boards of education across the state are at the point of surrender in their fight to provide a decent education for children. It is not merely that voters are in no mood to support new or even renewed millages, for Governor Milliken's promise of school financing reform has convinced many that local effort is no longer necessary.

This is far from the truth, for even if the governor's plan is accepted, it would be a good two years before it could be put into effect. Meanwhile, the schools have to keep going.

Tawas Area School District is financially better off than practically any other district in the state. Because of its high valuation behind each child, however, it receives a reduction in state aid and this gap must be paid locally.

While the state legislature debates reform, the short-term future of Michigan's school system—including Tawas Area—is being endangered. Schools simply cannot wait on the chance that the state will eventually bail them out.

And a good point for Tawas Area taxpayers to remember is this—any way you cut it, people of this district are going to be paying more for schools through a state income tax than under the present property tax, which is one of the lowest in the state.

There were a lot of parents of school-aged children who did not show up at the polls Monday. Oh, the negative votes were there—they always show up for elections. Some people have axes to grind with schools and others have forgotten that someone else shared in the expense of educating their children and still others are financing increases in social security and the many other benefits today for the older folks.

If Tawas Area School is to have a full program next term, parents will just have to get out and vote.

Medal of Honor to Peter Lemon

Peter Lemon of Sand Lake, a former sergeant in the United States Army, was among seven men to receive the Medal of Honor Tuesday from President Nixon in a private White House ceremony.

Twenty-one-year-old Lemon was cited for heroic actions near the Cambodian border of South Vietnam April 1, 1970. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lemon of Monument Road and is a 1968 graduate of Tawas Area High School.

While serving as an assistant machine gunner with the First Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam, his position was hit by a large enemy force. He turned back the attack, his citation said, eliminating the last soldier in hand to hand fighting.

Despite wounds from an exploding grenade, Lemon carried several buddies to safety. He realized a second attack was coming and waded into the advancing enemy soldiers throwing hand grenades.

"He was wounded yet a third time, but his determined efforts successfully drove the enemy from the position," his citation said.

When a third attack came, he grabbed a machine gun and stood atop an embankment fully exposed and kept the enemy at bay until he collapsed from multiple wounds and exhaustion.

Born at Toronto, Canada, he came to this area as a youngster when his father was transferred to the United States Gypsum Company plant at Alabaster. Peter now lives with his wife, Diane, at Sand Lake.

for the ceremony by a plane dispatched by President Nixon.

Baker - Proulx Won 18th Annual Tawas Canoe Race

Entering the winner's circle at the finish line of the Tawas River canoe race is getting to be old hat for John Baker of Ann Arbor. Baker teamed up Sunday with Bob Proulx of Orchard Lake, his third partner in as many years, to win the 18th annual running of this event.

Wearing his familiar railroad engineer's cap, Baker was a first place winner for the third straight year. He teamed up with Jack Kolka last year to win first place and paddled with Richard Kuski to win in 1969.

Rain has marred this race for the past three years, but the storm was not serious enough to have an effect on racers. The team of Baker and Proulx completed the course in 54 minutes, 11 seconds, slightly behind last year's winning time of 52 minutes, 27 seconds.

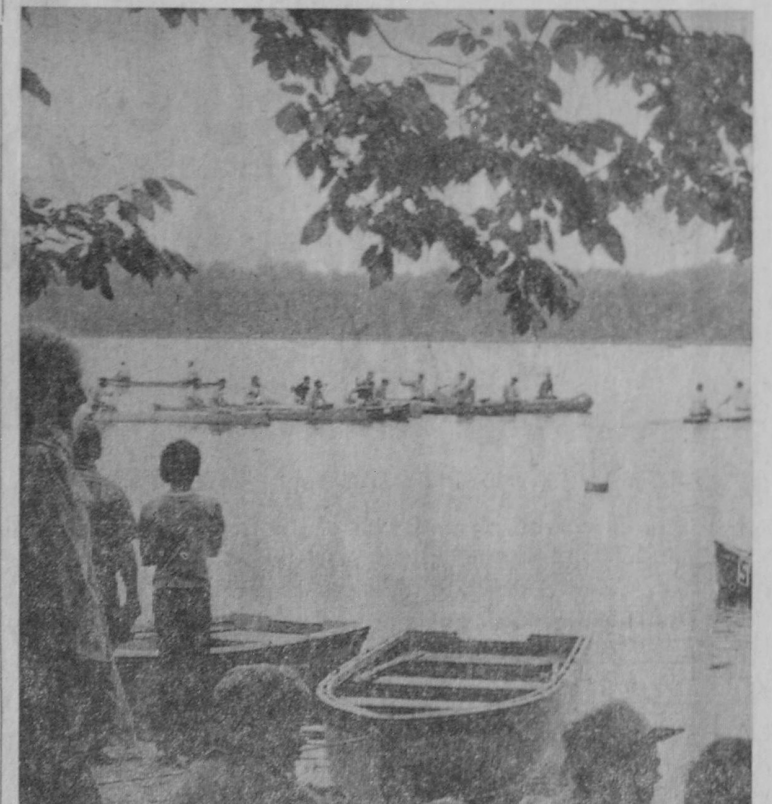

Other top finishers in the 10-team professional division were Jerry Kellogg and Jack Kolka of Twin Lakes, second place, 54 minutes, 35 seconds; Jeffrey Kellogg and Ed Adams, Twin Lakes, third place, 56 minutes, 41 seconds.

Running next were Al Robinson and Robert Walsch, Don and Lawrence Follett, Cliff Draper and Alan Kennedy, Bill Kellogg and Dan Burkund, Kirby and Gary Pettijohn, Richard Gillings and John Mandock, Tom Bacon and Cecil Lamb.

Gary K. Mundy of Trenton and Clark Barnes of Walled Lake won first place in the 10-team amateur division with a time of 48 minutes, 44 seconds. Second place went to John Unsworth of Flat Rock and Thomas A. Duhl of Monroe, followed by Lewis F. Bennett of Holly and Brad Addis of Fenton.

Only two teams were entered in the junior division with Barry Graham of Walled Lake and Kevin Edmonds crossing the finish line first. Ricky Gillings and Terry Mandock of Davison was the second team entered.

Trophies were presented to the first three places in the professional and amateur divisions, while the two entries in the junior division each won trophies. In addition, $75 in prize money went to Baker and Proulx, while second place won $25 and $15 went to the third place team in the professional division.

Circuit Court Places Three on Probation

Three persons were placed on probation in sentences handed out Thursday by Isosco Circuit Judge Alan C. Miller.

Christopher Kleiber received a one-year probationary term for larceny from an auto, Robert Nelson was placed on probation for one year for larceny from an auto and John E. Conklin received two years on probation for grand larceny.

Timothy W. Bogardis entered a plea of guilty to use of drugs and marijuana, and was referred to the department of corrections for presentence report. He entered a plea of not guilty to a possession of drugs charge.

In civil action, Judge Miller continued his order restraining the Isosco Road Commission and Grant Township from working on a road at Sand Lake. A suit brought by Robert Howard vs. the above two defendants is to come to trial within 60 days. The suit is in regard to construction on a road which the plaintiff claims would interfere with surface drainage.

New citizens naturalized during the term were Rita Rauch, Oscoda; Margot Jacqueline Semyan, Wurtsmith Air Force Base; Setsu Wright, East Tawas; Carman Garcia Hogan, Loren Meshael Morgan, Vi Latrice Morgan and Ekaterini Suserud, all of Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

Police Raid at Gordon Creek Nets 10 on Narcotics Charges

A Sunday morning raid on a gathering of youths at the Gordon Creek campgrounds in Huron National Forest resulted in the arrest of 10 persons on federal narcotics charges.

Participating in the mass arrest were Michigan State Police, Isosco Sheriff's Department, Oscoda Township Police, East Tawas Police Department and Tawas City Police Department.

A Michigan State Police spokesman said that about 2,000 youngsters had been at the campground Saturday night. Due to a rain storm, only about one-half that number remained when police staged the raid.

The campgrounds, formerly the site of the Silver Creek CCC Camp, has been the location of youth gatherings for the past several weeks. More than 2,000 youths camped there over the Memorial Day week-end and police informants reported that narcotics were being openly sold.

The following persons arrested

Sunday morning and appearing in district court Monday on felony charges were as follows:

Rudolph W. Staib, 19, Saginaw, sale of heroin; Gabriel H. Ferris, 22, Saginaw, sale of heroin; Ronald H. Borieau, 20, Hemlock, sale of LSD; Thomas L. Sullivan, 22, Saginaw, sale of marijuana; Henry A. Flues Jr., 24, Bay City, sale of marijuana; Maurice P. Montpas, 21, Flint, sale of marijuana.

Brendan J. Crane, 18, Bay City, possession of marijuana; Robert M. Tebo, 20, Saginaw, possession of heroin; David Solomon, 19, Bay City, possession of marijuana; Mary K. Porter, 20, possession of hashish.

A 16-year-old juvenile arrested in the raid was turned over to his parents.

District court arraignments on all but one of the defendants continued Tuesday before Judge J. Richard Ernst. All but Miss Crane, who was released on $1,000 bond, are being held at the Isosco County Jail.

School Millage Rejected in Four Isosco Proposals

Monday was a bad day for school proposals in Isosco County, as well as throughout the state. Two operational millage proposals and two building proposals were rejected by voters of three Isosco County school districts.

Operational millage proposals were defeated by wide margins in Tawas Area School District and Hale Area School District. A proposal for financing portable classrooms at Oscoda Area School was defeated and a proposed middle school addition was defeated by Tawas Area School voters.

In Tawas Area School District, voters were asked to approve a 7 1/2-mill operational proposal—renewal of 4 1/2 mills which had been approved two years ago and an added three mills.

This proposal was rejected, 973-664, by the following margins: Precinct One (East Tawas and part of Baldwin)—339 "yes" and 404 "no"; Precinct Two (Tawas City, Alabaster, Wilber, part of Baldwin and Whitney Township)—260 in favor to 324 against; Precinct Three (Tawas Township, Grant Township, Sherman Township)—65 in favor and 245 against.

The proposal to build an addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit and convert this facility into a middle school, which would have required a tax of 94 cents per thousand dollars of valuation for 15 years, fared slightly better than the operational proposal, but still lost by a wide margin, 935-669.

The vote on the above proposal in Precinct One was 358 in favor to 339 against; Precinct Two turned the proposal down, 257-327; the proposal lost in Precinct Three, 84-226.

Naturally disappointed over the outcome of the election Monday night, members of Tawas Area Board of Education were at a loss to offer any alternatives to school financing at this early date. A second vote on operational millage, however, can be expected in August if schools are to operate next year.

Investigation of past voting records revealed that there were 701 less votes cast Monday than in the election of February 1969, when 4 1/2 mills of school operational taxes were approved. This tax has now expired.

As of Tuesday, the board of education is assured of only nine mills of school operating funds for next year, or about $423,000. This is provided by the school's share of the 15-mill limitation split by the county allocation board. This amount is about one-third of the 1971-72 budget adopted in April.

Hale Area School voters, who approved construction of a new junior and senior high school earlier this year, rejected renewal of nine mills operating for one year by a vote of 325-463.

Oscoda Area School voters rejected a three-mill proposal for five years to purchase portable classrooms, 714 "yes" to 1,003 "no."

Five New Members on Isosco School Boards

Boards of education in Isosco County have five new members following Monday's annual school election in four districts.

In Tawas Area School District, Leonard W. Sarki, an 11-year member of the board, was defeated for re-election. He will be replaced by Mrs. Charles Schreck, who received 1,069 votes. Re-elected to the board was Clare Herriman, who received 1,053 votes.

A vote by precincts was as follows: Precinct One (East Tawas and part of Baldwin)—Herriman, 417; Sarki, 341; Schreck, 528; Precinct Two (Tawas City, Alabaster, Wilber, part of Baldwin and Whitney Township)—Herriman, 403; Sarki, 250; Schreck, 363; Precinct Three (Tawas Township, Grant Township, Sherman Township)—Herriman, 253; Sarki, 126; Schreck, 178.

Sticker candidates spiced the race for two of three seats on the Oscoda Board of Education. Josephine DiLoreto, unopposed incumbent, received 1,141; Frank Bissonette, who filed nominating petitions for an unexpired two-year term, defeated Bruce Myles, a sticker candidate, 1,021-402; Edward Tate defeated J. Berkeley Smith, 696-393. No candidate had filed for office and both men were sticker candidates.

Mrs. Ann Strickler was successful among three candidates seeking election to a four-year term on Hale Area Board of Education. Mrs. Strickler received 234 votes, as compared to 238 for A. D. Penrod and Bernard, appointed to the board a few months ago to fill a vacancy, was elected to a three-year term with 576 votes and was unopposed.

One of two incumbents on Whittemore-Prescott Area Board of Education was re-elected to a four-year term. Archie Howe, incumbent, was re-elected with 142 votes. The new member is Howard Wilkins, who received 151 votes to best Keith McLean, incumbent, who had 130 votes, and Albert Wrathell, who had 68 votes.

New Memorial Garden Beautifies C of C Grounds

Beautification of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce grounds, a project inspired by the chamber's former president, Gerald Reitler, has taken a spectacular leap forward during the past several weeks.

Work on a new memorial garden on the west side of the office, along with construction of a lakeview patio, has been completed under Reitler's direction. It has been in the planning stage for the past four or five years.

While Reitler admits that this work may have been motivated by the fact that visitor traffic, coupled with water erosion, was causing damage to the shoreline, the new garden has added a beautiful landscaping touch to the grounds.

Such a project has entailed a considerable amount of volunteer work. There are about 3 1/2 tons of stones and 80 yards of rubble in the patio, along with a poured concrete protective ledge. The garden received 60 yards of sand, 30 yards of black dirt and 40 bags of peat moss.

The garden contains 24 different types of flowers, eight species of flowering bushes, seven flowering trees and 25 evergreens.

"I guess this project has been an obsession with me, as we never had anything to show visitors when they stopped at the chamber office," said Reitler. "We started out with a new flagpole and a couple of flowering trees last year."

Cash donations for the project were received from Chamber Pres. Harris H. Barkman, Tawas Plating, Gordon Huck and Arthur Dease. Planting donations were received from the Kroger Store, Ziehl's Greenhouse and Nursery, Moehring's Greenhouse, Tawas Flower Shop, Reitler, Donald and Rose Watson, Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and Tad's Bakery.

Donations of materials were received from Tawas Hardware, Merschel Hardware, Wajahn Floor Covering, Tawas Plating, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Gould's Rexall Drugs and Schreck Lumber Company.

Donating labor were Charles Nash, Terry Bronson, Reitler, Herb's Handyman Service, Frank Ahonen, Augie Fries and prisoner help from the Isosco County Jail.

Reitler said that the garden would provide a variety of colors throughout the growing season and into fall. He expects that it will become a real attraction in two to three years, when the evergreen hedge is shaped and the bushes and trees begin to mature.

Shown on this map are 36 public harbor sites along Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline where pump-out facilities are available to serve recreational boaters with toilet-equipped watercraft. Boaters playing the Great Lakes will also find more than 100 pump-out stations at private marinas along this shoreline. Lists pinpointing the locations of these private facilities are available free from the Department of Natural Resources' Water Management Bureau in Lansing. Both the public and private pump-out stations are major service centers for meeting requirements of Michigan's new Watercraft Pollution Control Law. That measure, enacted in 1970, outlaws sewage discharges into Michigan waters from recreational and commercial boats. It also provides that all such watercraft moored or operated on this state's waters must be equipped with sewage holding tanks, recirculating self-contained marine toilets, or incinerators which reduce all watercraft sewage to ash. Any boater failing to comply with any of these provisions of the law faces a possible fine of $500. —Michigan Department of Natural Resources

MYS Begins Second Year at Wurtsmith

Michigan Youth Services, Incorporated, began its second year summer encampment at Wurtsmith Air Force Base on June 14.

The program will run through August 20 and will be followed by week-end programs ending March 3, 1972.

The encampment will bring 300 boys, ages 14 through 17, from a 28-county area in Northern Michigan to Wurtsmith Air Force Base, according to Steve Paslaski, MYS project director.

During the summer program, the boys will come in groups of 30 per week for 10 weeks. Beginning October 1 and running through March 3, 1972, each boy will return to Wurtsmith for three week-end reunions. During each stay at Wurtsmith, the boys will have a full schedule of activities with emphasis on recreational, educational, motivational and inspirational experiences.

Guidance throughout the encampment sessions will be provided by six qualified undergraduate counselors from Central Michigan University, supervised by the MYS head counselor, Larry Neiderheide, and the MYS follow-up director, Robert Doan, a recent graduate of the Mott Intern Program in Flint, where he received his master degree in community leadership.

Neiderheide and Doan participated in the 1970 summer program, as a counselor and head counselor, respectively.

Michigan Youth Services, Incorporated, a cooperative community directed, military hosted venture, was begun in 1970 under the leadership of the Rev. G. John MacDonald of Oscoda and William H. McCready, probate judge of Iosco County. Over a nine-week period, nearly 200 youths visited the base in what proved to be a pilot program for several air force installations throughout the country.

Attending the first camp from Iosco County were Joseph Greenlee and Ralph Oliverio.

Prescott Pleased Over Support

"Occasionally in this job, one is fortunate enough to have the majority of his fellow representatives concur with him on a piece of legislation he feels is worthwhile. The support I received on this bill has truly pleased me."

State Rep. George Prescott, Tawas City, was prompted to make the above comment regarding the recent passage of the bill he sponsored to tax severed mineral rights holdings. The overwhelming approval of the house members (88 yeas-1 nay on passage of the bill) prompted one Democratic representative, George Montgomery of Detroit, to propose that the bill be renamed the "Prescott Joinder of Title Act," a rare honor in the house of representatives.

The legislation introduced by Prescott (now in the senate for consideration) will put a $1 per acre tax on those who hold mineral rights to nonmetallic resources, but do not hold the title to the property. Those who hold the surface title would be exempt from the tax.

Prescott explained the background to the bill in his plea for approval before the house of representatives. "My research, from as far back as the middle '30s, shows that now, 30 to 35 years later, Farmer Smith, Widow Jones and even a Federal Land Bank still own mineral rights through deed reservations made that long ago. In 1963, this legislature passed Public Act 42, an act that provided for an orderly termination of oil and gas interests in land."

The act required everyone holding mineral rights but not surface rights to file "intent" with the county register of deeds to register their claim or forfeit their holdings.

"This act," Prescott said, "gave the Farmer Smith, Widow Jones, etc., a period of three years—until September 6, 1966, to file claims of interest with local registers. For a $2 filing fee then, these severed mineral owners could renew their reservations for another 20 years.

"There were many abandonments under the bill, but at the same time hundreds filed within the time period—even the Federal Land Bank, although they were specifically exempted in P. A. 42.

"This bill will place a $1 per acre tax against these mineral owners as distinguished from the surface owners who all those years paid the higher and higher property tax. This bill will help, I believe, in bringing the surface owner and the mineral rights under his land together again," Prescott said.

Prescott emphasized that the bill

Shades of Summer

No longer do dark glasses indicate a movie star or gangster hiding from the public. Over 134-million pairs of sunglasses are purchased each year, most of them by ordinary people. It has not always been that way, though.

Sunglasses were first associated with the glamour and mystery of movie stars during the early 1930s. Later, during World War II, no-distortion polarized lenses were developed for use by pilots and gunners. They not only filter direct light, but they also kill glare. Returning soldiers brought their glasses back to wear at home.

After the war came big changes in the American lifestyle. A rising economy gave individuals more leisure time. Americans began buying and using sports and recreation equipment like never before. Sunglasses were a part of this. In the early '60s, shades became high fashion with wrap-around frames and lenses in every shade of the rainbow.

Such a wide selection makes choice more interesting and more difficult. Sunglasses are important—three or four hours without them on a bright day can reduce the ability to see after sundown from 50 to 90 percent. After only one unprotected day in the sun, it takes a full week without further exposure to recover normal night vision.

Choose the best color lens. Most experts agree that neutral, smoked gray glass gives comfort from glare without affecting the ability to identify color or details. Since it is hardest to manufacture, it is the most expensive. Sage green filters out ultraviolet rays most efficiently. People with blue eyes need greater protection from the sun than those with brown eyes.

One more choice to make—glass or plastic lenses. Glass tends to fog in

Majority Deprived of State Resource Through Decision

It is time for sportsmen's groups, tourist groups, small businessmen, local officials and the thousands of "little guys" of Michigan, who once enjoyed perch fishing on Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay, to get angry.

In case you missed the Herald's article a few weeks ago, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources once again bowed to one of the most powerful lobbies in Michigan—the gill net fishing industry.

These commercial fishermen were able to gain enough influential voices in the state legislature to silence voices of the DNR's professional biologists, who have insisted that overfishing by commercial operators has been the major cause of perch depletion in Saginaw Bay. The DNR fisheries men believe that a closure on commercial perch fishing would improve the area's stocks and recreational fishing opportunities in the shortest possible time.

DNR officials believe that the bay's perch population would probably rebound in a few years if non-selective gill nets were prohibited and trap netting efforts were held to last year's level. For this year, it had been planned to establish an effective catch quota on perch, but department fisheries biologists reported that such a quota would have to be considerably below 225,000 pounds per year, the estimated annual yield of perch in the bay, to improve stocks over a three to four-year period.

All of these recommendations, however, were tossed out the window when DNR officials bowed to extreme pressure brought by three influential members of the state legislature. These elected legislators "blackmailed" the DNR by warning that funds important to other conservation programs would arbitrarily be slashed if the bay's licensed commercial operators were sidelined.

"The Department of Natural Resources' refusal to curtail commercial netters of Saginaw Bay perch should be recorded as one of the most irresponsible, cowardly, decisions in department history," recently commented the editor of the Northwoods Call.

"The DNR action," stated his editorial, "robs thousands of Michigan citizens their rightful enjoyment of the natural resources of Saginaw and Tawas Bay. It will cost dozens of businessmen thousands of dollars. It will cost taxpayers thousands of dollars."

"All of this public sacrifice is being made to benefit less than a dozen commercial fishermen and to satisfy two or three politicians and, we are told, National Resources Commission Member Gus Scholle," stated the Northwoods Call.

Recalling a similar situation nearly six years ago, when the Iosco Sportsmen's Club, Tawas City Council, Tawas Chamber of Commerce, Tawas City Businessmen's Association and area sports fishermen warned that removal of restrictions would destroy perch fishing in these waters in the matter of years, the Herald now believes that the DNR was forced to bow to this tremendous pressure brought in the legislature then by gill netters and fish producers or buyers. This, apparently, was the reason for the ridiculous stand by the then head of the fish division that Tawas Bay perch were "short, fat and stunted" because of the overabundance of perch. This position by the DNR has since been refuted by the DNR biologists and it is our opinion that it was taken then only to save possible slashing of funds from the DNR's pet project at the time—planting of coho salmon. The salmon, no matter how you cut it, are beyond the reach of the large

Propose Change of Forest Name to Honor Bunyan

Among objectives of Paul Bunyan Festival, Incorporated, is an annual festival commemorating the logging era of the AuSable Valley, the legendary deeds of Michigan's and America's greatest folk hero, Paul Bunyan, and the life of his literary creator, James MacGillivray, who resided at Oscoda until his death.

The nonprofit corporation, according to Robert Newman, festival president, has several other aims, including the improvement of environmental and recreational facilities and to promote conservation.

"One objective, which will perhaps create wider interest than any other, is the renaming of the Huron National Forest to the Paul Bunyan National Forest," said Newman.

He said it was in the midst of that forest that James MacGillivray first heard the saga of Paul Bunyan. "The people of Oscoda and AuSable have no desire to restrict the Bunyan legend to Michigan, but rather to perpetuate his memory in a way that behooves America's living legend in a living and growing forest."

Newman said that residents feel that Bunyan and his literary creator, MacGillivray, were both giants in their own way. MacGillivray is credited by the Encyclopaedia Britannica and the American Peoples Encyclopedia as being the first person to write a Bunyan story. He also worked for the Michigan Department of Conservation for 17 years and his nature studies were widely published.

"Our national forests are conservation efforts that one can see, feel and be a part of," said Newman. "The Paul Bunyan National Forest would be a fitting memorial to both."

Toward this end, petitions are being circulated to give impetus to the name change. Copies of the petition are available from Paul Bunyan Festival, Incorporated, Post Office Box 397, Oscoda, Michigan 48750.

Festival officials are now making plans for the three-day event scheduled for August 20-22, which will commemorate Bunyan and MacGillivray.

Tawas City Downs Mikado, 4-3, in 10-Inning NEM Game

Singles by Pat Jordan and Her-man Rollin, coupled with a bunt, extended the Tawas City Indies' winning streak to five games Sunday as the locals won over Mikado, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Up to that time, Ron Leslie of Tawas and Morris of Mikado had hooked up in a good pitchers duel. Leslie allowed eight hits, struck out eight and walked four. Morris was nicked for seven hits and gave way to Foley after Jordan led off the 10th with a single.

Tawas scored single runs in the second, third, eighth and 10th innings, while Mikado put all of its runs together in the fifth.

One home run featured the winners' attack as Mucha hit a round tripper with two out in the second inning.

All of Leslie's trouble came in the fifth inning when he was unable to find the plate and walked three batters. A single by Deller and an error accounted for three runs.

Rollin and Jordan paced the winners' hitting attack with two hits each.

Action next Sunday finds Melita at Tawas City.

Tired of carry-outs? Here's what you need—a Gas incinerator. It takes all the bother out of garbage and trash disposal. And it does it without smoke, odor, noise or polluting the air you breathe. A Gas incinerator gobbles up all the combustible things you wouldn't dare put in a garbage disposal and can't burn outside. It makes short work of bones, boxes and boots—in fact anything that's combustible. And it does the job conveniently and completely. So put an end to your carry-out service. Promise yourself you'll see your appliance dealer about having a Gas incinerator installed in your home. Or, visit your Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showroom for all the particulars. And remember, there's more than enough Gas for all your appliances. MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY The future is great with GAS!
