

About 2,000 Young People Jammed Gordon Creek

Although no serious law enforcement problems resulted from the congregation of about 2,000 young people at the Gordon Creek campground in Huron National Forest over the holiday week-end, Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell recommended Tuesday that the Northeastern Michigan area give consideration to organizing a national guard or similar unit to assist local police agencies in the event of future large gatherings.

O'Farrell said that there just was not enough manpower available to handle such a large crowd in the event it got out of hand.

"No serious problems resulted, although there were numerous reports that motorcycles were racing on the campground," said O'Farrell. "The vast majority of the young people were OK and those whom we talked with were disgusted with the motorcycle element."

The sheriff said many area residents, including police agencies, had been concerned when it was learned several weeks ago that a large congregation of downstate young people could be expected at the old CCC camp over Memorial Day week-end. He said that his department first became concerned a year ago when a crowd of several hundred camped there over the July 4 week-end.

"Carloads of teen-agers began arriving in the Tawas on May 28 and we began to receive telephone calls from downstate parents, who said they had been told that a rock festival had been scheduled."

By Saturday, the Gordon Creek campground was filled to overflowing and individual camps were scattered along Monument Road.

Because of the size of the crowd, police agencies did not enter the campground. A sheriff's department informant said that several subjects were openly hawking LSD and "speed pills" at the campground.

The sheriff's posse was mobilized and roads in the area were patrolled.

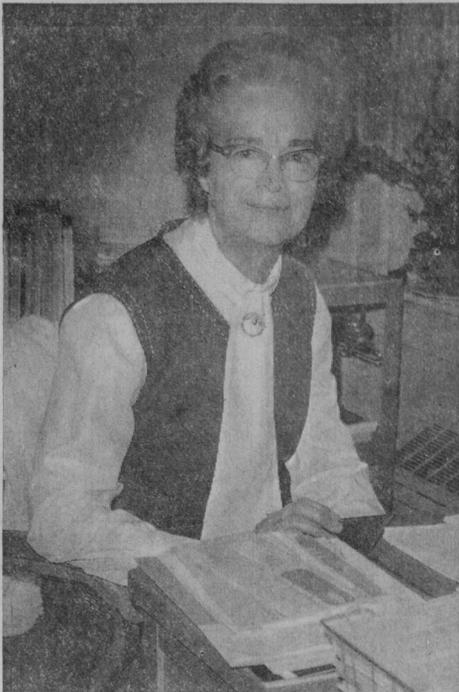

"Many youngsters stopped us along the highway or called at the office and asked advice about attending. Many youngsters left or went about their business after talking to us. Others were curious and wanted to meet other young people in the area."

On Monday afternoon, Sheriff O'Farrell checked the campground and found that about 95 percent of the crowd had left because of cold weather and about 40 to 50 youngsters were cleaning up the area.

Numerous plastic bags of junk were on the grounds, along with thousands of beer cans.

Concern over the lack of toilet facilities to handle such a gathering was expressed to the sheriff's department by Tawas Ranger Myron Smith of the United States Forest Service. He was also concerned with possible fires and damage to trees.

O'Farrell said that a representative of the Michigan Department of Health from Lansing had checked the campground Saturday concerning the possible health hazard during such large gatherings.

48 Years in Education

Long Career Ends for Clara Bolen

Ending a career in education which spans nearly one-half century at the end of the current school term will be Miss Clara E. Bolen, elementary supervisor of Tawas Area Schools.

She is now having enrollments of third generation students in school and she knows nearly all of the students by name and family background. Teaching has been her life and the Tawas area is a much better place for having had her these many years.

"As a youngster, I always wanted to be a teacher and I have certainly had my wishes fulfilled," said Miss Bolen Friday afternoon, as she watched elementary children heading for buses to close another school week. When the scene is repeated on June 11, she will have concluded a 48-year career.

Born at East Tawas August 25, 1905, Miss Bolen graduated from East Tawas High School in 1923 and, that same year, graduated from Iosco County Normal. She received a life certificate from Central Michigan University in 1930, her bachelor of art degree in 1934 and master of art degree from the University of Michigan in 1953. She has logged 36 hours of work beyond her master degree at Michigan State University.

As an 18-year-old girl fresh out of high school and county normal, Miss Bolen started her teaching career at Alabaster in 1923. She served there as an elementary and high school teacher, girls basketball coach and principal from 1932 until that district became a part of Tawas Area Schools in 1952. The last high school graduating class at Alabaster was in 1944.

"I was never so confident as that first year of teaching at Alabaster," recalled Miss Bolen. She has many fond memories of her years at Alabaster and none so dear to her heart as the championship girls basketball teams which she coached there. One of her star basketball players in that school, Mrs. Arlene (Proulx) Brown, is physical education director at the East Tawas Elementary Unit.

After reorganization, Miss Bolen became junior high school principal at Alabaster, then became elementary supervisor of schools at East Tawas, Tawas City and Alabaster, moving into her present office in the East Tawas Elementary Unit in 1957.

When use of the Alabaster school was discontinued in 1961 and later sold to Iosco-Arenac Regional Library, Miss Bolen was on hand to help supervise moving desks out of the building where she had spent 34 years.

It was a nostalgic visit for Miss Bolen, who said she had made so many trips between her home at East Tawas and school at Alabaster during those 34 years that "my car just seemed to know where to turn off US-23."

Proof of the high esteem held for Miss Bolen by residents of the school district was manifested several years ago by the Tawas Area Parent-Teacher Association which honored her with a special night. She was acclaimed "citizen of the year" in 1970 by Tawas Chamber of Commerce.

Retirement parties in her honor are to be held during the final week of school by Tawas Area Education Association and Tawas Area Board of Education.

To the natural question concerning her plans for retirement, Miss Bolen said she hoped to do some traveling—perhaps to New England and even to Ireland, the home of her paternal ancestors. But there is no doubt where her thoughts will always be—with the children of Tawas Area School District.

22 Jailed in Iosco Over Long Holiday

Iosco County Jail lodged 22 prisoners over the Memorial Day week-end on charges ranging from possession of marijuana, to drunk and disorderly and drunk driving.

On Tuesday morning, Undersheriff Leon Putnam filled $7,000 worth of interim and surety bonds posted by persons summoned into district court.

Arrests included 10 by the sheriff's department, five by state police, five by city police, two by Oscoda Township Police Department.

Four Persons File Petitions at Hale Area

Four persons have filed nominating petitions to fill two openings on the Hale Area Schools Board of Education in the annual school election June 14.

Three people are seeking election to the expiring four-year term presently held by Ronald Dane, who will retire from the board. They are Peter J. McNichols, A. D. Penrod and Mrs. Ann Strickler.

D. Ellsworth Bernard will run unopposed for the remaining three years of the term held by Thomas Clark until his resignation from the board last February. Bernard was appointed by the Hale board in March to serve out the remaining three months of the first year of Clark's term and is seeking election to the remaining three years according to Michigan Law.

Hale voters will also be asked to renew the present nine-mill operational levy for a second year on June 14. The package was approved for the first time one year ago and the Hale board is asking voters for approval of a similar proposal to enable the system to maintain all present programs and continue to make educational improvements through-out the system.

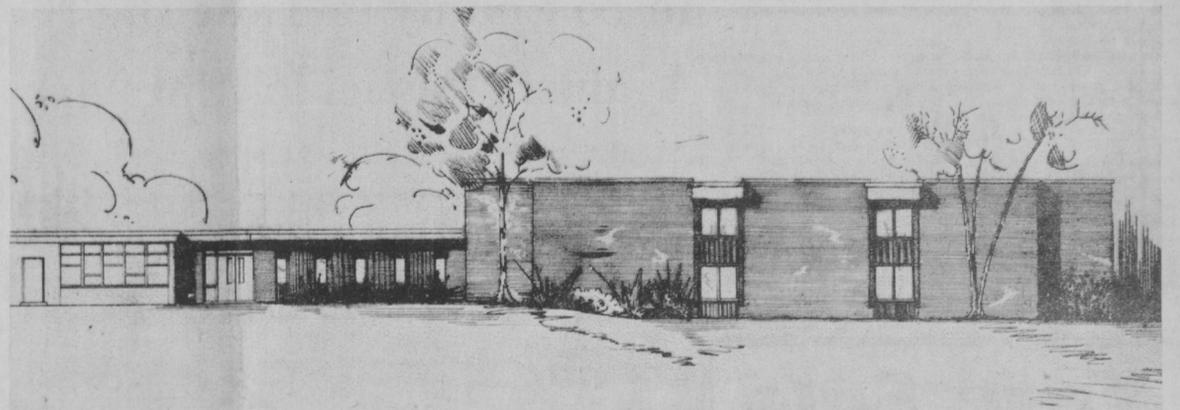

Polis will be open from 7:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. in the high school gymnasium on June 14.

Review Middle School Proposal

After months of discussion on a proposed new middle school, Tawas Area Board of Education is now down to the "nitty gritty" — asking district voter authorization to finance such a project.

This will be one of two special ballots (the other is a general school operational proposal) which voters will receive, in addition to the regular ballot for naming two trustees to the board of education, at the annual school election to be held Monday, June 14.

The district is being asked to bond itself for $470,000 over a period of 15 years to finance this proposal. With a present valuation of $47,218,465, this would mean that .94 of a mill (or 94 cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation) would be required to retire the bonds in 15 years.

The voter is probably wondering to himself what this would cost in taxes each year. The average home in the district has a true cash value of $10,000 of which the taxable value of the property (state equalized valuation) is $5,000. This would mean that the annual cost to this average taxpayer would be $4.70, or a total of $70.50 over the next 15 years. This would be reduced somewhat because of new construction each year which adds to the district's total valuation.

A tax table on this bonding proposition indicates that a home with a true cash value of $6,000, or state equalized valuation of $3,000, would pay $2.82 annually; a $16,000 home with taxable value of $8,000 would pay $7.52; a $20,000 home with taxable value of $10,000 would pay $9.40; a $26,000 home with taxable value of $13,000 would pay $12.22 and a $30,000 home with taxable value of $15,000 would pay $14.10 annually.

While a middle school has been in the discussion stage here only in recent months, the actual idea dates back to the 1960s, when a special wing was built on the high school with the idea of separating younger children from the high school.

This move achieved some results, but not entirely the one desired—complete segregation. The main corridor is still open to the junior high wing, seventh and eighth grade students still must use the high school's cafeteria, gymnasium, library and other facilities.

Nothing has been lost by construction of that additional classroom wing, however. The building was originally designed and constructed as a junior and senior high school in 1957 to house 625 students. The building now has a capacity of 925 students and rooms there are now bulging with an actual enrollment of 1,062 and more students are expected next year and in future years in the upper grades.

If the bonding proposal is approved, junior high students would be combined with fifth and sixth grades in the proposed middle school addition at the Tawas City Elementary Unit, leaving the entire high school building for grades nine through 12. This would alleviate seri-

ROBERT M. SMITH, M. D.

Dr. of Medicine Degree Goes to Robert Smith

Robert M. Smith, son of Mrs. Gladys M. Smith and the late William M. Smith of Tawas City, received his doctor of medicine degree Friday, May 28, in ceremonies at University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Doctor Smith; his wife, Janet, and daughter, Laurie, will be moving to Washington, D. C., where Doctor Smith will be doing his internship at Andrews Air Force Base, Malcolm Grow Medical Center.

Both Doctor Smith and his wife, the former Janet Czuka, are 1963 graduates of Tawas Area High School.

ously overcrowding in the high school building, would offer some breathing room for expanding classes and would even offer an opportunity to incorporate some much needed curriculum improvements for the upper four grades.

As indicated by department heads at last week's board of education meeting, these curriculum improvements in the form of additional selective courses in English and social sciences are most important to the education of high school students.

In past articles carried by this newspaper, a statement has been quoted from a meeting between board of education members and parents which bears repeating—the middle school proposal is important to the district, not only to provide classroom space for an expanding enrollment, but to completely segregate junior high school students from the high school grades. Junior high students grow up and learn things fast enough without being influenced by older students.

The proposed $470,000 bond issue would finance an 11-classroom addition to the present Tawas City Elementary Unit for use as a middle school. Elementary grades presently in that school would be transferred to classrooms presently being rented at Zion Lutheran School, possibly Immaculate Heart of Mary School, as well as the East Tawas Elementary Unit. Some scattering of classrooms in grades kindergarten through four is more acceptable than in grades five through eight because of additional classes offered the latter grades.

Because of present overcrowded conditions at the high school, junior high school students are unable to receive instruction in art, home economics and shop. It is necessary that basic training in these three subjects be provided at an earlier age and the proposed addition would provide this opportunity.

The resource center or library is another important addition. Present library facilities at the high school are overcrowded and inadequate to handle both high school and junior high school students. The new resource center would remedy this situation.

In addition, the gymnasium and cafeteria are overcrowded at the high school and this situation could be relieved through the proposed middle school concept.

Looking at the current financial situation, board of education members believe that the district is now in a good position on the bond market. After two or three years of "tight money" and high interest rates, it is believed that bonds to finance this proposition would be sold at a rate of five percent or less.

In any event, to be eligible to vote an elector must be registered with his township or city clerk, he must have been a resident of the state for six months and have lived in the district 30 days prior to the election.

Polis are to be open on election day, June 14, from 7:00 a. m. until 8:00 p. m. Polis are located at city halls in Tawas City and East Tawas, along with Tawas Township Hall.

A SPECTACULAR FIRE Sunday evening destroyed a large barn on Laidlaw Road near the intersection of Plank Road west of Tawas City. Located on the former Schmalz farm, the barn was owned by Charles Timreck and was filled with hay. Tawas City firemen responded quickly to the call but the blaze was out of control and efforts were directed toward protecting the house. Hundreds of cars filled with spectators lined Plank Road to watch as the barn and other out building burned to the ground. Firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blaze.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Iosco County to Take Big Step Against Pesticide Spraying

Iosco County will soon take a big step to reduce pesticide spraying. Wednesday, June 9, Marvin Davenport, county extension director, Michigan's Lower Peninsula at Gull will join every other county agent in Lake to collect tiny insect parasites that offer a potential "natural" control of the cereal leaf beetle, one of the most serious grain pests in the Midwest.

They will bring the parasites back here and "plant" them on the Britt, Curry and Sturtevant farms. A representative of the Britt and Curry farms will also attend the meeting. Result will be a "parasite nursery" in each county that will keep building until these natural enemies of the beetle multiply enough to lend a big hand in the beetle control effort.

The parasite is "tetrastichus julis." It is harmless to everything except the cereal leaf beetle. "Parasites are already doing a good job of keeping the beetle in check in Western Europe," said Davenport. "There is no reason they cannot do the same here."

The parasites were brought into this country by scientists at Michigan State University's pesticide research center in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. They have been managing the parasite and experimenting with it at MSU's Kellogg Experiment Station near Gull Lake. After releasing just a few hundred there in 1967 and 1968, scientists counted two to three million per acre in the most heavily parasitized areas in 1970.

"We hope to get that kind of buildup on the oat acreage in this county," said Davenport. "That could give us the biological control we need." "Biological or 'natural' control is not going to be easier than pesticides," added Davenport. "We will have to do a more careful job of pest management and crop manipulations to maintain an ecological balance and to give this the best chance to work." MSU scientists are optimistic about the program mainly because of the cooperation they are receiving from farmers throughout the state. After the parasites become established, Iosco County will have an intensively managed center that can serve as a point for further distributing parasites.

In order to use the three farms, they had to have fields that had not been sprayed with pesticides during the past year. Also, the test areas cannot be plowed or cultivated until after the parasites have emerged next June.

Little by Little, the parasites will be allowed to increase in Michigan and spraying will be reduced. Then some day, MSU scientists hope, the word will go out to let the parasites take over.

In the interim, from the time the spraying is reduced to the time the parasites are able to handle the beetle, farmers may have to take some loss on their oats.

"But environmentalists say farmers will have to go this route eventually and, if it works, it is far superior to spraying from every standpoint," said Davenport.

Women's Swim Classes to Start at Oscoda School

Women's organized recreational swimming will begin Thursday, June 10, 6:30 to 8:30 p. m., at Oscoda Area High School. Instruction is open to all area women, free of charge.

The schedule will include periods of distance swimming, stroke improvement, basic synchronized swimming, basic diving and water stunts. The pool will be limited for each period.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A letter to inform the public of school policies: Controversy over the possibility of a class trip for the class of '71 has brought to my attention the need for some small comment. Confusion as to school policies concerning senior trips reigns and has not been set to rest by our administration.

After several class meetings, suggestions by the class of '71 for the location of a senior trip were made. Some were: A school-sponsored trip to a recreational area such as Lake City, near Cadillac, or Cedar Point carnival grounds. When these proposals were presented before the school, the senior class representatives were told that there was not enough money in the general fund or any other school fund to sponsor buses or drivers for the day's excursion. There was also the problem of no extra buses to make this journey. The class officers met to discuss the problem, as they realized the distastefulness of another disastrous trip to Sand Lake. Since the school could not afford the finances entailed, it was suggested that the students organize their own day, using car pools for their trip. Students would not attend school all that day nor be on school grounds and those who participate would bring signed excuses from home. The seniors were told that this, too, was impossible. Mr. Alexander stated that he did not have the authority to give permission for this. There is confusion at this point, for it was made clear that students would bring pre-excused absences. It was then decided by the seniors to ask Mr. Mick, school superintendent, to speak to the class to clear up questions and allow argumentation on both sides. Craig Wilkins, class president, is reported to have spoken to Mr. Alexander about this. I do not know what ensued but the results were negative. Mr. Mick did not appear before the senior class.

The debate over the location of the class trip was never decided by the students. It was announced that Sand Lake would be it or nothing. I am not aware of who made the decision.

Sentiment against Sand Lake as the place of the trip was high, especially when it was noted that other schools such as Whittemore and AuGres were given such choices as Mackinac and Washington, D. C. Some students decided not to attend this so called trip. Instead, they planned their own excursions for the day (Friday, May 28), with written permission from their parents. Thursday, May 27, Mr. McIntosh, spokesman for the administration, addressed the senior government classes. He said that no pre-excused absences would be accepted for Friday and any student not at school for roll call would be given zeros for the day and would not receive a diploma until this time was made up unless an excuse from a doctor, dentist, etc., was produced. The account above is fact. The following are my comments:

First, though it cannot be stated as fact because attitudes are ambiguous conceptions, the general attitude of the school administration did not seem overwhelmingly enthusiastic toward the planning of a satisfactory trip. Every suggestion made was turned down with flimsy excuses. Arrangements to make a trip could have been made regardless of the money situation. Students could have used their own cars and the class was ready, willing and able to make some extra money. Even a senior "skip day" could have been arranged with the proper help. Plainly, our school elders did not wish us to go anywhere other than Sand Lake, an area which a good portion of the students live in and see daily. Secondly, we were allowed neither to vote on where we would like to have our trip, nor to argue the fact that we were denied this right. Thirdly, I do not see how the school has the authority to refuse parent's written permission for their children to leave school. If the administration may use this power at their pleasure, of what use are ex-excused absences from parents at any time? School policies seem to be changed at the whim of the administration for their own purposes. The class has been browbeaten, bullied and neglected into going on a trip in which they have no say and, on my part, little wish. It is evident that not even an appearance of fair play is to be attempted and so it will remain unjust.

Rollin of Hale, to the United States Naval Academy. He is the grandson of the Russell Rollins of Tawas City and the George Philpotts of East Tawas.

Tawas City Blanks Barton City Nine

Collecting a total of 17 hits Sunday, including four for extra bases, the Tawas City Independents defeated Barton City, 19-0, on the losers' home field.

Ron Leslie pitched a three-hitter against Barton City, a squad usually top heavy with sluggers, as the Tawas City team racked up its third consecutive victory in Northeastern Michigan League play.

Tawas City had the big bats in this game with three players cracking three hits each to chase Gary Somers, starting Barton City pitcher, from the mound early in the game.

Leading the locals in the hitting parade were Dennis Krish, Clarence Jordan and Bill Mucha.

Only extra base hits rapped during the game were by Krish, a double in the fourth inning, and back-to-back home runs by Bob Sieloff and Mucha in the fourth. Mucha cracked a double in the seventh inning.

Tawas City scored four runs in the first inning to put the game away as Leslie struck out six batters and had excellent fielding support from his teammates to whitewash Barton City. The Tawas City squad had only one error during the afternoon, while the losers were charged with seven miscues.

The winners then went on to score four runs in the second, two in the fourth, two in the fifth, three in the seventh and four runs in the ninth.

Action this Sunday finds Meredith at Tawas City.

State Airport Plan Unveiled by Milliken

Acquisition of land to extend a runway at the Isoco County Airport was included in a five-year plan for Michigan's airports, released Tuesday by Gov. William G. Milliken.

The governor's plan calls for construction of 73 new airports and modernization of 138 others at a cost of more than $299,000,000.

The governor said the plan is a study of Michigan's needs and he does not anticipate that all the recommendations would be accomplished during the next five years.

"The state airport plan was developed to enable the state and local communities to establish priorities for airport development during the next five years," he stated.

An estimated $43,000,000 in federal funds and approximately $20,000,000 in state funds will be available during the next five years. Local communities would be required to provide an estimated $40,000,000 to accomplish the program.

Under the plan, the Isoco County Airport runway would be extended to 5,000 feet to serve business jets, along with other improvements.

'Let There Be Light' Theme of May 30 Christian Science Lecture

No one today has to live in darkness—not even the darkness of illness, immorality or discouragement—Edward C. Williams, C. S. B., a Christian Science lecturer, told his audience in East Tawas Sunday, May 30. Light is always available, he said in his lecture, "Let There Be Light."

But this light is not just physical illumination, he explained. "Marvelous and useful as physical light is, it has never taught a man to be moral or to love his neighbor."

Neither is this light simply the mental enlightenment of academic learning, the lecturer continued. He quoted a well-known college president. "The tragedy of our times lies in the fact that there is little or no correlation between education and goodness. We know how to make a man an outstanding scientist but we do not know how to make a man a saint. We can make a man skilled in finance but we do not know how to make him so good that he will not take advantage of the poor."

The light that is needed, the light through which anyone can discover a full and free life, is spiritual illumination which is found only through an understanding of God, the lecturer said.

This light regenerates. It heals. It was with this light, "the truth of God and of man in God's likeness," that Jesus healed, he declared.

"Jesus clearly understood and thoroughly exemplified the truth of God as infinite good and of man's indestructible relationship to good," Mr. Williams explained. "It is this truth that brings enlightenment of human consciousness and releases the natural capacities for achievement and happiness. It is the power through which Jesus could cure the incurable and could give new hope and purpose to the sinner and the outcast."

Christian Science brings such light today by helping individuals to see the true nature of God and man as Jesus understood them, the lecturer said. In this light, man is seen to be spiritual like his creator.

"This means that, in reality, we are not physical organisms, dependent on the limiting and insecure qualities of matter. Instead, we have the indestructible substance of Spirit..." Understanding like this, Mr. Williams observed, dispels the darkness of ignorant belief, and then "the pain and weakness resulting from spiritual ignorance melt like ice in the warm sunshine."

Spiritual enlightenment takes place in thought and it is generally brought about through prayer, he continued. Such prayer, the lecturer explained, means aligning thought with God. It means accepting His influence as fact and responding to His influence through more unselfish living. It means ruling out of thinking "discordant and worthless thoughts just as a cashier in a bank detects and rejects counterfeit money."

Thought is somewhat like a piece of camera film, Mr. Williams said. "In photography, physical light depends upon the sensitivity of photographic film in order to register its effects." So, he explained certain qualities of thought must be present in our thinking to make it sensitive to spiritual light and responsive to good. He named receptivity, perseverance and gratitude as three such qualities.

Receptivity he defined as the "willingness to accept a new idea, even if we have to let go of an old belief."

Perseverance he described as "the quality of thought that persists in relying on God alone, even in the face of the most discouraging appearances."

"A third part of true prayer is gratitude," Mr. Williams said, "for gratitude is the innermost acceptance of everpresent good."

As we cultivate these qualities of thought, the lecturer continued, we begin to feel within ourselves the presence of good, of God and to trust His ability and willingness to care for His own, for each one of us.

Mr. Williams, a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science, is currently on tour as a member of the board of lectureship of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. He spoke here under the sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist, East Tawas.

There is a spiritual dimension to making full use of one's talents. This is a theme of the lesson-sermon entitled "God, the Only Cause and Creator" to be heard Sunday at Christian Science church services.

"The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God," a citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states.

One of the Scriptural selections is from I Corinthians: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all."

NEW PEWS from the Kawkawlin Church Furniture Company were installed in Emanuel Lutheran Church of Tawas City as part of its continuing program of improvements. Kobs is attending school at Indianapolis. The pews are being loaded on a truck in the above photo.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Archdeacon Was Guest Speaker at Christ Episcopal

Sunday, May 23, Venerable Archdeacon Charles D. Braidwood was guest speaker at Christ Episcopal Church in East Tawas. During his talk, he informed the congregation of the diocesan election of the Rev. Coleman McGehee Jr., as rector of Immanuel-On-The-Hill, Alexandria, Virginia.

Northern C Convocation of the Diocese of Michigan met at Trinity Church in Alpena. The Rev. Alfred W. Saulsbury was re-elected dean of the convocation for a three-year term. Others elected were Mrs. George Gifford, secretary; Mrs. David Fellows Sr., treasurer; Robert Marsh, delegate to the executive council.

Sunday, June 6, 10:00 a. m., the following graduates will be honored: Vicki Blust, Lauri Defibaugh, Richard Brooks, Will Coleman, Carol Herman, Pamela Robey, Michelle Rosenberg, Linda Slavinski, Lester Sutherland and Julie Weible.

'All American Family' to be Selected in August

What is the quality of life in this great American decade of the 70s? Is it the real wealth of the nation, totaling four trillion dollars? Is it the 57,000,000 homes or the 95,000,000 motor vehicles? Is it 100,000 millionaires in a population of 280,000,000? Is it 10,000,000 college graduates trained to join the work force already numbering 70,000,000?

Perhaps, but the character of the quality is the single unit of the American family which, imbued with the teachings of thrift, plans and saves to acquire the true riches of its life. The American dream is the American family. It was in all the yesterdays; it is ever-present now.

A symbol of the homemaker aspirations of the nation is a title, "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds." She travels the states of the union as the "goodwill ambassador" for the treasury. She dramatizes the unity of the purpose of systematic saving with the needs of the homemaker to secure the future for her brood.

The hand that holds the purse-strings has a mind concerned with the environment in which her family is a unit of measurement against the whole. She is at once protector, often spokesman, club and school leader, persuader plenipotentiary in community affairs affecting the welfare of its families.

Down in Florida, in August, at the "community of Lehigh Acres," a "Mrs. Savings Bonds No. 13" will be selected from among the finalist mothers competing in the "All-American Family Search."

From all states and the District of Columbia, the most representative families will gather August 5-14 to be considered for the title of "All-American Family" of 1971 by a distinguished group of judges. A separate set of judges will determine the attributes of those being appraised for the role of "Mrs. Savings Bonds." The judgments run concurrently, but the announcements of the winners of the dual contests are dramatized each in its own setting.

Entry forms for the "Mrs. Savings Bonds" competition are available from the local junior clubs of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the United States Savings Bonds Division, 1400 Washington Boulevard Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, and the All-American Family Institute, 927 Lincoln Road Mall, Miami Beach, Florida 33139.

To be eligible for the "Mrs. Savings Bonds" judging, the mother must be entered with her family in the "All-American Family Search." Entry forms for the search are available from the Institute in Miami; also from Dodge dealers, Tappan dealers and Eastern Airlines ticket counters. Entry forms for the family search are also available from the junior clubs of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Detroit office of the United States Savings Bonds Division.

The 51 state and district selected families receive an expense-paid, round-trip for the entire family to Lehigh Acres, Florida, for the grand finale, "All-American Family Pageant," August 5-14.

Family Living Education

By SUSAN SMALLEY

School is almost gone and summer is pulling in quickly behind. For most people, summer time means vacation time. Parents who have wished they had never taken the children on a trip should plan now to make the next trip with their children a pleasure.

To Make the Trip Easier

1. Children generally get warmer than their elders. If youngsters are wearing cool, washable clothing, parents will not have to be constantly after them to be careful and not get dirty.

2. A wet washcloth with a small piece of soap in a plastic bag is a "must" for parents who travel with small children.

3. If children helped to clean the car before leaving home, they would be careful about dropping wrappers and so on. Teach members of the family that they should not throw things on the highway but should use litter bags.

4. A small supply of crackers will ease a child's hunger or prevent an upset stomach caused by drinking too many sodas and eating too many hot dogs.

5. Take a supply of small paper cups and a thermos jug containing cold water. Often a cold spring is found where you can refill the jug and most roadside parks have pumps.

Youngsters feel the confinement of travel more than their parents. A stop every couple of hours in an open spot, at a playground, beside a forest or at some point of interest, where the children can stretch and run for 10 minutes, will make the next two hours of travel much more fun.

Whether your family is traveling by car, plane, train or bus, here are some suggestions:

For More Enjoyment

Carry a supply of modeling clay in a plastic container. This will keep small children occupied for many miles.

Carry books while traveling. Most children can read in a car or other vehicle without becoming ill.

Some knowledge of the history of the area helps to make the trip more enjoyable for the entire family.

Games for Travel

The Zoo Game—Taking turns around the family, name any animal, snake or fish. If Dad names "tiger" the next member in line has to name something that begins with "R" like rabbit, then the next something with "T" and so on, using the last letter of the animal previously named. Buzz is a number game for older children. Counting off in numerical order, players say "buzz" then they come to seven or 17 or 21, etc., any number that has a seven in it or can be divided by seven.

F. H. Goodrich, proprietor of Tawas Inn at East Tawas, is adding to building a large rustic dining hall which will face US-23.

Completion of the grandstand at the East Tawas High School athletic field leaves only the construction of two tennis courts to finish what will be one of the finest fields in this section of the state.

There are 806,000 persons on the federal payroll, according to the civil service commission.

Factories in 15 states were affected by labor troubles which intermediaries were trying in vain to settle. Leaders of organized labor claim that from 30,000 to 45,000 strikers are out.

All H-M Forest Recreational Areas Open

All Huron-Manistee National Forests recreation areas were opened to the public for the summer season Saturday, May 29, according to John von Barga, forest supervisor.

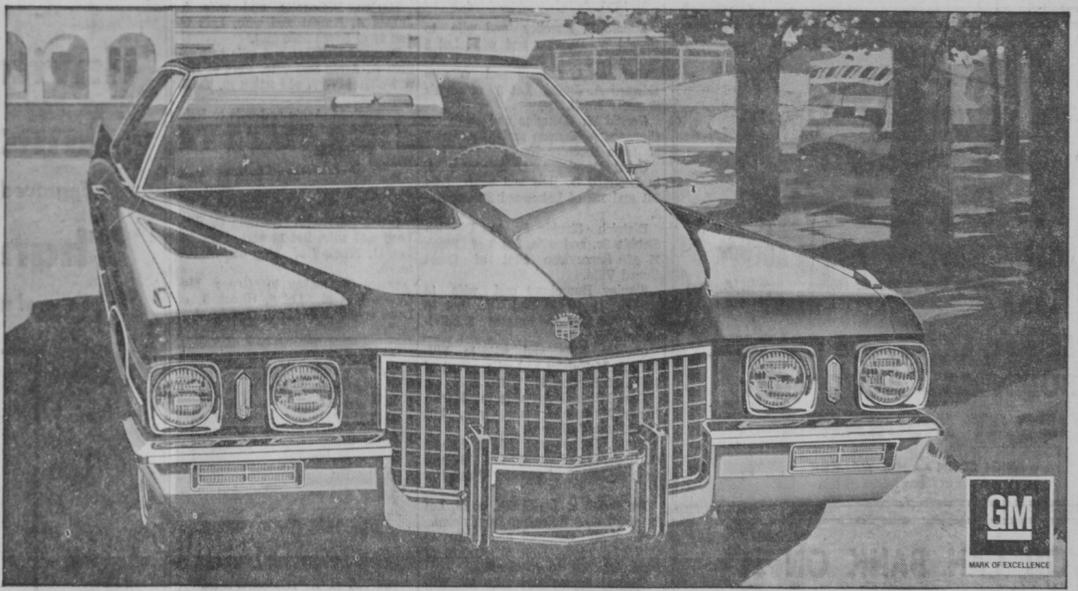

The following picnic areas are available: Olga Lake, Sand Lake, Benton Lake, Nichols Lake, Peterson Bridge, Pines Point, Udell Rollways on the Manistee Forest, Corsair, Loon Lake, Rollways and Sand Lake on the Huron Forest. Other smaller picnic areas are scattered throughout the two forests.

Some of the larger campgrounds available for overnight camping are Hemlock, Sand Lake, Udell Rollways, Pines Point, Peterson Bridge, Old Grade, Nichols Lake, Lake Michigan, Highbanks Lake, Driftwood Valley, Seaton Creek, Pine Lake on the Manistee Forest, Corsair, Gordon Creek, Island Lake, Jewell Lake, Knief Lake, Mack Lake, Monument, Rollways, Round Lake, Silver Valley and Wagner Lake on the Huron Forest.

The forest supervisor further stated that the new annual Golden Eagle Passport is now on sale. "It permits the bearer and all those in a private non-commercial vehicle unlimited entry to more than 4,000 federal recreation areas nationwide. This includes areas operated by the forest service, National Park Service, Bureau of Land Management and Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. For those who do not wish to purchase an annual permit, there is also a daily entrance permit available at the individual areas," stated von Barga.

Annual permits, maps and a free directory of recreation charge areas are available at the forest supervisor's office in Cadillac, Baldwin, White Cloud, Manistee, Mio, Tawas and Harrisville. Mail orders for the passports are also acceptable.

The leader... any way you look at it.

Cadillac for 1971. It could well be your best car buy, any way you look at it.
Styling. It's a carefully created combination of styling continuity and contemporary flair.
Comfort. A longer wheelbase and new suspension system mean an even smoother ride.
Performance. The proven 472-cubic-inch V-8 is amazingly responsive—on regular gasoline or no-lead and low-lead fuels.

Luxury. In the incredible quietness inside, in the beautiful standard appointments and in the many features you can order.
Choice. The first Cadillac luxury you enjoy. There are nine models from which to choose.
Value. A Cadillac traditionally returns a larger portion of original investment than any other car built in the land. Cadillac is the leader—any way you look at it. And now is the time to look at it—at your authorized Cadillac dealer's showroom.

Cadillac 1971

Cadillac is doing something about traffic safety, but some things only you can do. You might be surprised by the scope of our involvement in advancing the cause of safety.
Did you know, for instance, that Cadillac was the first to install safety glass in its cars? And introduced the triple braking system?
Today you can see evidence of the magnitude of our concern. The 1971 Cadillacs incorporate a host of recent safety developments. Including an energy absorbing steering column. Padded instrument panel. Seat belts for all passenger positions. Side-Guard steel beams in the doors.

And the work goes on. But all our efforts will not be enough, unless you do your share.
Here are five ways you can help. 1. Always use your seat and shoulder belts. 2. Make sure your car is in good running order. 3. Never drive when you're tired or under the influence of alcohol. 4. Support driver training and uniform traffic codes and enforcement. 5. Drive defensively. Please. Will you do your part?

Clean out your garage and hold a sale—advertise it in The Tawas Herald—and reap a good profit.

BOWLING, bowling balls, bowling bags, bowling shoes, beer, liquor, wine, hamburgers and pizza—All at the Tawas Lanes. Go bowling now, bring a friend. Tawas Lanes, Tawas City on US-23, Phone 362-2861. 43-tfb
