

Add Court Street to Summer Projects

An $8,100 summer street construction program was adopted Monday night by the Tawas City Council which calls for prime and double seal bituminous surface on 6,600 feet of city streets.

Included in the project will be 900 feet of bituminous surface on Court Street along the Detroit and Mackinac Railway tracks, with the possibility of another two blocks being added to the project.

During presentation of its recommended program, the street committee suggested that Court Street receive an application of road oil because the railroad plans to work on tracks along this street. As yet, a new height or grade for the tracks has not been established.

Ald. Martin Wellna, who has urged surfacing of this street for the past four years because of its importance as a parallel route to US-23, urged the council to include Court Street in its seal coating plans. He said that traffic on that street had increased tremendously since installation of a traffic light at the M-55-US-23 intersection.

During discussion, it was pointed out that the south or lake side of the street is narrow, ranging from 18 to 20 feet in width with no shoulder, due to the fact that the railroad right-of-way runs through the middle of the street. Two lane traffic could damage the edges of any bituminous surface and, if this should occur after construction, the council may give consideration to making the south side a one-way street.

Work on Court Street is to start at M-55 and extend three blocks south to the American Legion Hall. If the money is available, the two blocks between that point and First Street would be surfaced. To be considered next year will be one block east from M-55. Cost of the entire Court Street project this year is $1,100, or $1 per foot.

Other prime and double seal street construction approved is as follows: First Ward—Birch Street, from Court Street to Murphy Street, 600 feet; Murphy Street, from North Street to Birch Street, 300 feet; North Street, from First Avenue to Third Avenue; German Street, from M-55 350 feet; Wheeler Street, from the railroad tracks to Tawas River, 350 feet.

Second Ward: Whitemore Street, from Lake Street to Fourth Avenue, 600 feet; Ninth Avenue, from Harris Avenue to First Street, 400 feet; Second Avenue, from First Street to North Street, 600 feet.

Third Ward: Ninth Avenue, from railroad northerly 1,000 feet; Townline Road, from US-23 to Bay Drive. Yockey Construction Company is to repair or replace problem areas of last year's construction program.

CMU Prof. is Graduation Speaker Here

John C. Meyer, associate professor of education, department of student teaching, Central Michigan University, will be commencement speaker Thursday night at Tawas Area High School Auditorium.

In his sixth year of service at CMU, his major assignment has been that of university supervisor of student and intern teaching, with some time spent administering the TIP (intern) program. The past year was spent supervising the student program at four Mt. Pleasant area schools.

Beginning next fall, he will be living at Oscoda and directing operation of a new CMU student teaching center, in cooperation with Alpena, Oscoda and Tawas Area Schools.

Name Seven Defendants in Lawsuit

A lawsuit was filed recently in Bay City Federal Court by a California resident seeking a judgment of $175,650 against three police officers, two county officers and two physicians of Isosco County.

Patrick H. O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco claims humiliation and personal injuries when he was taken into custody March 28, 1968, on US-23 near the East Tawas-Tawas City line.

He was lodged in the county jail for his own protection following complaint from a local resident that the man allegedly was in the nude and kneeling on the street curb. He was found mentally incompetent in probate court and taken to Traverse City State Hospital. He was released from there in June 1968.

Named in the suit were East Tawas Police Chief Donald Docking, Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell, Undersheriff Leon Putnam, Probate Judge William McCready, J. Richard Ernet, who was then prosecuting attorney, along with Dr. Larry S. Kelly and Dr. James E. Jacques.

School Millage Votes Next Monday

Two Proposals for TA Voters

Two important propositions will be placed before voters of Tawas Area School District at the annual school election on Monday, June 14.

In addition, voters are to select two trustees to the board of education out of a field of three candidates, including Clare Herriman and Leonard Sarki, incumbents, along with Mrs. Charles Schreck.

Outcome of one proposition, asking for 7 1/2 mills of operational taxes, could well determine if schools will open here next year, while the second proposal asking the district to bond itself for a period of 15 years to construct a new middle school, would relieve serious overcrowding in the high school as well as being important to the education of students in grades five through eight.

The 7 1/2-mill operational tax package is a renewal of an operational tax approved two years ago, plus three additional mills. School officials say that this special voted tax will do little more than maintain the present operational status of the school district, but it does provide some funds for slight, but important, curriculum improvements over the next two years.

The reason that this 7 1/2-mill proposition will only maintain the present status of the school district can be blamed on national inflationary trends. Cost of materials and services for school operation have risen five percent or higher. Because of this inflation, Tawas Area School District was forced to expend its treasury balance of $26,000 and dip into future funds by borrowing $44,000 against delinquent taxes.

One mill of taxes in Tawas Area School District (or $1 per thousand dollars of state equalized valuation) raises $47,218. The district has a valuation of $47,218,465.

The second proposal asks permission to bond the district for $475,000 over a 15-year period to finance construction of a proposed middle school. This would require an annual tax levy of .94 of a mill (.94 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation).

The proposed tri-level addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit would provide 11 additional classrooms and 16,000 square feet of floor space. This would include six regular classrooms, plus two rooms for science, a resource center and rooms for arts and crafts.

Present elementary grades located there would be moved to East Tawas, along with utilization of quarters presently rented from Zion Lutheran School.

To be eligible to vote, an elector must be registered with his township or city clerk. He must have been a resident of the state for six months and have lived in the district 30 days prior to the election.

Polls are to be open on election day from 7:00 a. m. until 8:00 p. m. Polls are located at city halls in Tawas City and East Tawas, along with Tawas Township Hall.

Rode Bike Into Path of Truck

A seven-year-old East Tawas boy, Michael S. Gotcher, was treated of Tawas Hospital and then transferred to a Bay City hospital Saturday following a collision between his bike and a panel truck on Main Street near the intersection with East Bay Street, East Tawas.

Donald Docking, East Tawas police chief, reports that the boy received head injuries. Word from his parents, according to the police chief, was that the boy is now out of intensive care and improving.

Investigating officers said that the boy rode his bicycle out of the drive at the Imperial Station and into the path of a truck driven by Arthur Wagzager of Tawas City. The driver did not see the boy until the collision.

New Hale School Has Site Problems

Hale school officials, proceeding on schedule for the construction of a new 1.6-million-dollar junior-senior high school in the district, have acquired several problems concerning the location of the new school building.

The school was originally scheduled to be constructed in the north-west corner of the site presently occupied by existing school facilities.

Recently completed surveys and soil borings indicated that two areas of the building would require seven-foot foundations rather than the usual 42-inch footings because of the low elevation resulting in a considerable additional cost.

The system's architect, Gordon Stow of Warren Holmes Company, Lansing, also pointed to the lack of adequate parking and outdoor physical education facilities on the present site.

Supt. Paul Keene stated, "We are concerned about a number of things including constructing a building on a site which the community will be proud of. Not only will playground space used by the elementary students be eliminated but a real safety problem will occur if the school is placed on the present site. Traffic problems created during construction and after would be almost insurmountable. The injury or death of one child would cause real heart searching on the part of the administration and board if a hasty decision were made concerning the placement of the new building. It is also very important to consider the growth pattern of the area and be ready when expansion is necessary."

In several recent informal meetings with concerned people in the community and school board members, it was felt that the present site would not serve the long-range needs of Hale education and that alternate sites should be considered for the above reasons.

School officials are now exploring alternate sites, giving prime consideration to a larger site within a reasonable distance of existing facilities, near gas and sewer connections, with a more favorable elevation, and with better public view and traffic access.

Tentative OK For New Fire Truck

Authorization to take bids on a three-quarter-ton truck chassis for the Tawas City Fire Department was given by the city council Monday night.

Fire Chief James Lansky appeared before the council and presented information on a tank, pump equipment and hose reels which would fit into the four-wheel-drive truck chassis as a single unit. The equipment would be used for fighting grass fires.

The council indicated that authorization to take bids on the tank and equipment would be dependent upon approval of the 1971 fire department budget by Tawas and Alabaster Townships. The city provides fire protection to the two townships under an annual agreement.

Cost of the proposed new unit would be less than $8,000 and has been included in the fire department's budget for this year. The proposed new unit would replace the

Plaque Commemorates AuSable Methodist Church

A plaque commemorating the First Methodist Church of AuSable, which burned in the fire destroying the town of AuSable and most of Oscoda on July 11, 1911, was dedicated Saturday afternoon at the United Methodist Church, Oscoda.

Among those in attendance were 10 survivors of the 1911 fire, which claimed four lives and rendered 3,000 persons homeless. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kelly of Tawas City, Mrs. David M. Fleming, Miss Edna Young, Mr. and Mrs. Henry K.

(Harry) Loud, Mrs. Belva Cutting, Mrs. Richard Elliott and Mrs. Myrtle E. Smith, all of Oscoda.

Sponsors of the plaque were Mr. and Mrs. Loud and a university professor from Fresno, California, along with the Isosco Historical Society. Mr. Loud was superintendent of the Loud mills at the time of the fire.

Master of ceremonies for the dedication was the Rev. William L. Stone, pastor of United Methodist Church, who introduced Albert H. Buch, representing the county historical society. Buch presented photos of the church's original articles of incorporation, which were lost in the fire but are on file in the county register of deeds office.

Now 95 years of age, Mr. Loud told those attending that the idea for the plaque came through a chance meeting on June 16, 1968, with Charles Wesley Bird, professor of languages at the University of Fresno, California. Professor Bird was visiting Oscoda and met Mr. Loud while the latter was walking along Dwight Street.

As it turned out, Professor Bird was the son of the Rev. Levi Bird, who was pastor of the church at the time of the fire. The two men visited the site of the old church and Mr. Loud pointed out various locations of mills and homes destroyed by the fire. The Methodist congregation moved across the river to Oscoda following the fire.

Later, Professor Bird wrote to the Louds suggesting that such an important event as the fire of 1911 be commemorated by a bronze plaque and that he would be glad to share the expense. Arrangements were made by Warren S. Bennett of Oscoda for obtaining the plaque and stone marker.

Following the program, a reception was held at the Loud home, "River Bend," at 410 West Dwight Street.

Quandt to Succeed Westcott as Chief

Resignation of Police Chief George Westcott, effective June 15, was accepted Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

Presiding over the council for the first time since his illness early last winter was Mayor John St. James, who recommended appointment of Elmer Quandt as the new chief of police. The recommendation was adopted unanimously by the council.

Westcott resigned from the police chief's position to accept a new investigative job with the Isosco County Sheriff's Department. He had served as police chief for the past six years, having been named to succeed Frank Roti, and has been associated with the city police department since 1955.

Quandt has been a member of the East Tawas Police Department for the past three years, when he moved to the area. He is a retired sergeant from the Detroit Police Department.

Other action by Mayor St. James included appointment of Clarence King to the city planning commission to fill the vacancy of the late O. J. Westcott. Martin Wellna, First Ward alderman, was appointed as a new member of the city park board representing the city council.

Seek Renewal of Nine Mills at Hale Area

Voters of Hale Area School District are being asked to give approval to the renewal of nine mills for school operation for one year at the regular school election June 14.

In addition, two openings on the board of education are to be filled. Three people are seeking election to the expiring four-year term presently held by Ronald Dane, who retires from the board. They are Peter J. McNichols, A. D. Penrod and Mrs. Ann Strickler.

D. Ellsworth Bernard will run unopposed for the remaining three years of the term held by Thomas Clark, who resigned last February. Bernard was appointed to serve out the remaining three months of the first year of Clark's term.

District residents will be asked to approve a nine-mill package similar to the one approved a year ago. At that time, school officials requested millage approval for the initial year of a three-year program to meet demands created by a rapid increase in students plus the rising costs of materials, services and salaries needed for daily school operation and to make needed improvements in curriculum and instructional programs throughout the school system.

The three-year program has taken on additional meaning with the district's approval of bonds to build a new junior-senior high school last December, scheduled for completion in 1973. Approval of the program through the next two years would see the system through a transition period until the new building can be occupied.

A "yes" vote will give school officials the funds to again face an anticipated eight to 10 percent increase in enrollment, continued rising costs and salary increases, as well as the need for continued change and improvement in the over-all educational program.

Vote 'Yes' on Both Proposals

It is not every day that the voter has the opportunity to express his opinion on payment of taxes, but it will be that way on Monday, June 14, for voters of Tawas Area School District. In most circumstances, the taxpayer does not have an opportunity to express his view as congress or the state legislature has the final say about the cost of government.

For the present, it is not entirely this way in the financing of Michigan's schools. And, yet, at one time, voters of Tawas Area School District were not too concerned with additional operational taxes, for enough money was raised through the school's share of the 15 mills split by the county allocation board. This district, unlike most others in the state, was spared the necessity of asking voters to approve additional millage for school operation.

This situation was changed a number of years ago through adoption of a new method of distributing state aid. Despite local feeling on the matter, the state legislature was correct when it determined that the burden of educating Michigan's children should be spread more equally throughout the state. As a result, Tawas Area School District, with its high valuation behind each child, "lost" money with each new state aid formula and other districts with lower valuation per child gained in the process. And yet, property owners of this district were not burdened with a high school operational tax as new construction continued to offset the loss in state aid.

As a matter of fact, property owners of this district fare much better than nearly every other district in the state and we still have an excellent school system. With a district valuation of $47,218,965, this school district is eighth from the bottom of 827 districts in the state in total taxes levied.

That old "bugaboo" to the family household budget — inflation — has finally caught up to school financing in this district. The truth of the matter is that the district received less money in local taxes and state aid last year than it actually spent for operation. As a means of keeping the financial "ship" on an even keel, the board of education authorized borrowing of money against anticipated delinquent taxes and expended a balance of $26,000 remaining from the previous year. This balance had been built up over a period of years and cannot be replaced.

The board of education, elected by this district to guide the school system, which includes financing, now comes before the people and asks for a renewal of the 4 1/2 mills which expired this year (after being approved two years ago) and asks for an additional three mills, making a total of 7 1/2 mills for voted school operation for a period of two years.

In simple terms, this means that the board of education is asking voters to approve a tax levy of $7.50 for each $1,000 of state equalized property valuation. For the average taxpayer, this means that on a house with a true cash valuation of $20,000 and state equalized valuation of $10,000, this special voted tax would amount to $75, or, using the above example, $30 more than the previous two years.

Actually, one-half of the three additional mills would replace the $70,000 being expended above actual receipts last year. The remaining 1 1/2 mills would be used to finance hiring of two additional teachers needed because of an increasing enrollment, plus some much needed improvements to the curriculum for English and social studies.

Approval of the 7 1/2-mill package is absolutely necessary to keep the school operating and this fact cannot be stressed enough. This amount will do little more than maintain the present status of the school district.

Another important ballot will be the decision on the middle school proposal. This asks a tax levy of .94 cents per thousand dollars of valuation and would finance a $475,000 bond issue over a period of 15 years to construct an addition to the present Tawas City Elementary Unit for use as a middle school.

This proposal, along with the millage, has been discussed at meetings of the board of education and at public meetings with taxpayers. It has received considerable coverage through the columns of this newspaper during past months.

One of the important facts to remember is that overcrowding in the high school building is becoming intolerable—the building has a capacity of 925 students and rooms there are now bulging with an actual enrollment of 1,062 and more students are expected next year and in future years in the upper grades.

Under the proposal submitted by the board of education, an addition would be made to the elementary unit of 11 classrooms. This unit would then be utilized for grades five through eight and present elementary grades there would be located elsewhere.

The board of education believes this construction will be the answer to present overcrowded conditions and, in addition, it will achieve complete segregation of junior high students from the high school. Grouping of grades five through eight in one building will offer the opportunity to provide additional educational experiences for those children through classes in art, shop, homemaking and improved library facilities.

This newspaper endorses both proposals brought forth by the board of education and urges approval by district voters. All residents can take pride in this school system, with the knowledge that local taxes are spent to educate local children. Can there be any better investment?

Mrs. Hanks New Chairman of Directors

Needs of the whole human family can be met through individual spiritual recognition of divine power, Mrs. Lenore D. Hanks, the new chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, said at the denomination's annual meeting in Boston, Massachusetts, on June 7.

It is not too late, Mrs. Hanks told the gathering, for the individual to learn about the spiritual resources which enable mankind to repair the ecology, reverse the population explosion, and arrest drug abuse, war, crime, injustice, apathy and greed.

"Peoples everywhere," she said, "need to get the feel of irresistible divine power, of divine activity going on all over the world. We must never allow human action to overshadow the recognition of divine action."

The results of recognizing the power and presence of God and the commitment of many people to this ideal are shared at Wednesday evening meetings held in more than a hundred branches of the denomination in Michigan.

Former Circus Trapeze Artist Has Been Teaching Dance Here 35 Years

Miss Ruth, taking a few minutes off from preparing gaily colored costumes for her upcoming dance revue, said Friday that she could not recall the exact number of years that she had operated Ruth's School of Dance at East Tawas, "but it must be at least 35 years."

Mrs. Louis Klish, better known by two generations of Tawas area children as "Miss Ruth," will present her students in a program entitled

"Dance Parade" Saturday, June 12, at Tawas Area High School Auditorium.

Although parents have been taking their children to her home studio on West Tawas Lake Road for years, few realize that Miss Ruth's professional background includes vaudeville and the circus.

Born at Romney, West Virginia, she started her professional career in her early teens as a trapeze artist with Ringling Brothers Circus. She was also a high trapeze performer for Barnum and Bailey Circus based at Sarasota, Florida.

Later moving to vaudeville, she was a tap and acrobatic dance performer and toured this country as well as on cruise ships which took her to South America.

Following her professional career as a performer, she operated a dance studio at New York City, New York, and from there came to East Tawas in about 1939. She spent several years here, returned to New York City and then came back to this area in 1939 to care for her father, the late Parson Groves. He had operated restaurants at Akron, Ohio, and came north for his health.

She opened her dance studio here in the 1930s and, since then, has taught hundreds of children in the art of tap, acrobatic, ballroom and ballet dancing, as well as baton twirling and square dancing. She conducted an adult class for a number of years.

At one time, she conducted dance revues in 13 communities of North-eastern Michigan, but now handles about 100 children weekly in her home studio.

Children begin instruction in dance at about the age of three, said Miss Ruth, "and many become quite proficient by the time they reach the age of 11 or 12."

She said that the child's progress can usually be measured by the interest shown by parents. Mothers of the children help to make most of the costumes.

A number of children are second generation students. For instance, Joellen (Fernette) Watts, who was a star acrobatic dance performer for Miss Ruth when she was a youngster, now has a little girl enrolled in the school.

Miss Ruth now presents about six programs annually and her dance studio participates in most area parades. In these programs, she is assisted by her husband, Louis, who serves as sound man, helps with staging, decorations and drives floats in parades. Another assistant is Robert Jackson.

Community interest in performances of her students has always been high and Miss Ruth still adds a professional touch to programs with her personal tap dance routines.

A dress rehearsal for her forthcoming program is to be held Friday, June 11. "It is always rush, rush at this time of the year to stage a program, but everything always seems to work out," said Miss Ruth.

Four Receive Probation in Circuit Court

A plea of guilty by Timothy C. Apel to a breaking and entering charge was accepted by Judge Allan C. Miller. He was referred to the department of corrections for presentence investigation.

Starts Suit Teacher Says School Owes Back Pay

Seeking back pay for hours of credit earned beyond a master degree, E. Paul Young Jr. commenced suit Wednesday, May 26, in Iosco Circuit Court seeking damages against Tawas Area School.

A member of the school faculty since September 1, 1964, Young's petition stated he has a master degree and 21 hours of credit earned beyond that degree.

The plaintiff claims that the defendant, through a contract with Tawas Area Education Association and the school district, is obligated to pay its employees sums of money for each hour of credit earned beyond a master degree.

Young claims that the school district had consistently and willfully refused to pay any sums of money for a period beginning in 1964 through and including 1968. He seeks a judgment of $750, plus cost, interest and attorney fees.

after graduation WHAT?

It is said that the world has changed. Nothing is as it formerly was. It is our opinion that our fathers, and our grandfathers, and their grandfathers before them have all said the same thing.

The world is changing. It has always been changing. It will always be changing.

How our world changes is dependent on our young people. Those young people who are entering upon the threshold of tomorrow.

We say to them, go ahead, face the world, its challenges. Form it, mould it into a better world for us and for those who follow.

We congratulate the graduates of the Tawas Area Schools. You are better equipped for the task ahead because of the fine teaching staff of our local schools and by the efforts of your fellow citizens who have provided for your education.

House Passes Prescott's Bill On Mining

The Michigan House of Representatives has unanimously passed a bill that would correct a current problem of lands not being restored after being mined, according to State Rep. George A. Prescott, sponsor of the bill.

The measure, passed by a 94 to 0 vote, amends legislation passed last year requiring the reclamation of lands used for mining metallic minerals. Prescott's bill removes the word "metallic" and in so doing, requires the restoration of lands from which any mineral has been mined.

Because of the new wording of the bill, the reclamation legislation of last year will now include mining of minerals such as gypsum, limestone, dolomite and shale.

"Excluded from the act of last year were literally thousands of acres of mining lands in the Tawas, Alpena, Rogers City areas where large quantities of limestone, shale, gypsum and dolomite are removed each year," Prescott said. "This bill will make significant progress in restoring these vast acreages of mining land to a useable condition."

"I feel that it is imperative that we use all land available wisely in our state. Land is becoming more and more a premium commodity and now we here in Michigan have an opportunity to return to use these thousands of acres of land, land that would not have been usable if this legislation had not been passed," Prescott stated.

The bill will now be considered by the state senate.

Highway Rest Stops Become Trash Dumps

Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, warns that the Department of State Highways is being forced into a role as Michigan's major garbage collector.

"In the past few years, roadside parks and picnic areas on the state highway system have registered enormous increases in household refuse dumped at these sites," Stafseth said. "It is obvious that the huge deposits of refuse dumped at roadside facilities are much more than normal litter generated by tourists and picnickers."

Stafseth reported that some roadside picnic sites near major resort areas accumulate as much as four truckloads of refuse over a single week-end.

The highway director linked the problem to a 1965 state law designed to upgrade town dumps. By requiring regular sanitary landfills, it substantially increased costs of operating dumps.

"Rather than meet the increasing costs, townships all over the state simply closed the dumps," Stafseth said. "This has resulted in a shifting of garbage and refuse from town dumps to roadside picnic and rest areas all over the state."

In an effort to relieve roadside facilities from garbage and refuse congestion, the highway department is asking for tougher enforcement of a 1963 law which prohibits the dumping of refuse, other than normal litter generated while traveling, at roadside facilities maintained by the department.

Stafseth reported that the highway department has just completed a state-wide program of posting warning notices at most of the 1,200 freeway rest areas, roadside parks and picnic sites on the state highway system.

"It is our experience," Stafseth said, "that most of these 1,200 roadside facilities are increasingly becoming potential garbage dumps."

What spring vegetable is thought of as a fruit and used to make tart, delicious desserts? The answer is easy—rhubarb. Many Michigan gardens give rhubarb during May and June, but Michigan also supplies about 60 percent of all household rhubarb marketed in this country. Whether rhubarb stalks are cut from gardens or individuals shop for them at the supermarket, they should look for the following: Firm, crisp stalks indicating freshness; medium to thick stalks for a more tender product; stalks free from strings.

Since rhubarb leaves are harmful to eat, they should be discarded. Wash, dry and wrap the stalks in wax paper. Store in the refrigerator. In case the family is getting tired of the traditional rhubarb sauce and pie, try these two recipes.

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

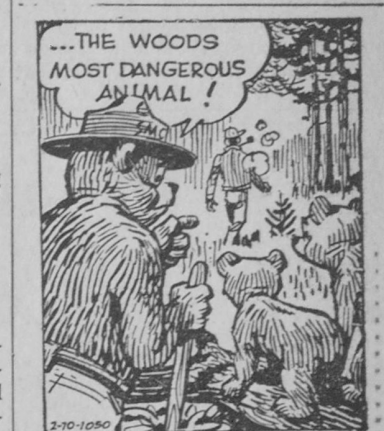

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar
- 3 cups uncooked red fresh rhubarb, cut into 1/2 inch pieces
- 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1/3 cup shortening
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup milk

Heat oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Melt margarine in a 9x9x2-inch pan. Stir in brown sugar and spread over bottom. Arrange rhubarb over sugar and butter mixture. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cream together until fluffy, shortening, sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. Pour batter into pan; spread before removing from pan. Yield: Nine servings.

FRESH RHUBARB COMPOTE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
 - 1 cup water
 - 2 1/2 pounds (6 cups) 2-inch pieces fresh rhubarb
 - 1/16 teaspoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
 - 1/4 grated lemon rind
- Mix sugar with water in a six-cup saucepan until it is dissolved. Bring to boiling point and boil three minutes. Add rhubarb and salt. Cover and simmer until rhubarb is tender, but has not lost its shape, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and rind. Cool and chill. Serve as dessert with cream, if desired. Yield: Five cups.

The bus will leave East Tawas Elementary Unit at 9:00 a. m. for the morning session and at 12:30 p. m. for the afternoon session. It will proceed directly to Tawas City Elementary Unit and then to the lake.

Registration will be held at the chamber of commerce office Tuesday, June 22, 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. Permission slips must be signed by a parent or guardian. An adult class will also be held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings if enough are interested.

Instructors for this summer are Brenda Behrens, Gene Harris, Robert McKinney and Pamela Howe. Lifeguards and water safety aides are Carol Vaughan, Craig Behrens, Daniel Kasischke and Jean Grimes. Miss Behrens is head instructor. For further information, contact Mrs. Michael Freele at 362-2903.

Social Security Questions Are Answered

Question: I am a student and I expect to go to work this summer for a small employer. I shall be the only employee. Will I need a social security card?

Answer: Yes, if the type of work you are doing is covered by social security and most jobs are. It does not matter how many employees are involved, nor how few hours you work, employers require that you have a card before you start work. To avoid the possibility of losing out on a job, get your card as early as possible.

Question: I got my social security card in Ohio but I intend to work in Michigan during this summer vacation. Do I have to inform social security of my new address?

Answer: No, your social security card is good any place in the United States. Take good care of it. If you lose it, contact the nearest social security office for a duplicate. No matter where you work, you will always have the same number.

Question: I lost my social security card but I have memorized the number. Will that be good enough when I go to work this summer?

Answer: No. The only dependable means of making sure that the social security number is correct is to insist that the employer copy the number directly from your social security card when you enter on your job. A duplicate card can be issued by any social security office and it is free of charge.

If you have a question about social security, contact the district office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, Michigan 48706; telephone 893-9579. For your convenience, a social security representative will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, every Thursday from 9:45 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon and from 12:30 p. m. until 3:00 p. m.

The sizing, selection and installation to your family's needs are just as important with central water conditioning as with central air conditioning or heating. A Lindsay water specialist will put it all together; the right equipment at the right price to give you fully conditioned water at all times from all faucets. So, whatever your water problem or usage may be... hard water, iron water, acid water, disagreeable taste or odors... your Lindsay man can solve it with the Lindsay central water conditioning concept.

After all, with everyone's concern about water and pollution, shouldn't you make sure your water is the best available?

For central water conditioning, call your Lindsay Dealer. He's in the Yellow Pages.

ORGAN GRINDER AND MONKEY

By Wally E. Schulz

Tony Beebe of Reynold's Bay, Ohio, makes a living traveling with his pet monkey "Chris" with an old fashioned organ. He travels from fair to fair and state to state across the nation.

This past fall he appeared in Walworth County at the Elkhorn fair and fair-goers were thrilled with the monkey act. There were many folks from the Delavan area that enjoyed handing coins to the gaily dressed little monkey.

"I got 'Chris' the monkey when he was only three months old and raised him like a baby," said Beebe. "I taught him many tricks which he picked up and learned quickly. Some of the tricks are harder for him to learn than others. But on the whole, the monkey catches on fast. You have to perform the same trick over and over with him again, until he masters it."

Chris has been taught to extend his tiny paw for a coin after he's performed for the audience gathered around him. And he's very polite and tips his hat when he receives a donation.

The public is flattered easily and they'll offer him another coin—just to see him practice the polite gesture again.

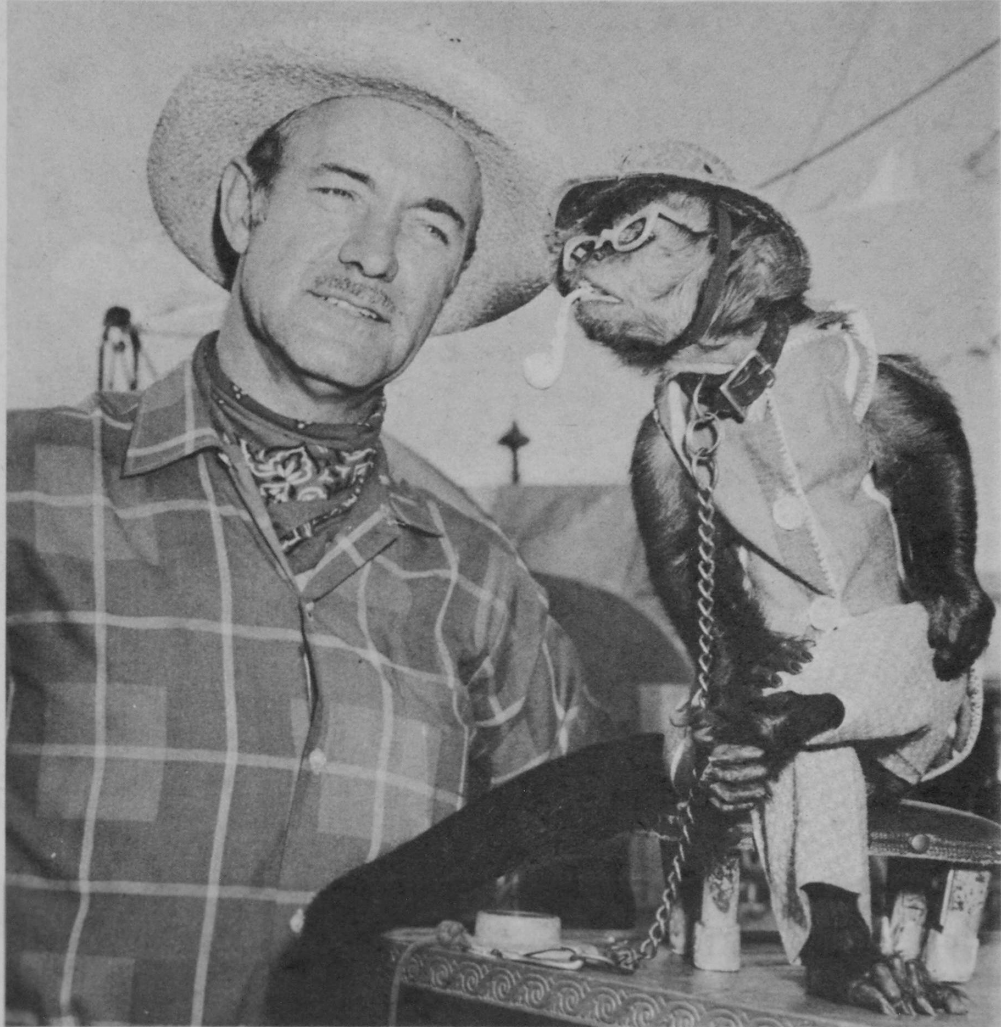

"We've been traveling together for about 15 years," said Beebe. "We travel in a camper and it's our home on wheels. We appear at many festivals and celebrations of all kinds . . . from fairs to appearing at big department stores in New York City. Wherever we go, we have a good time."

The little monkey has a large wardrobe of many gay dresses, overalls, hats and shorts.

"I have several ladies who just love to make his clothes," said Beebe. "Some of them are made very elaborate. They say they get so enthused with the original creations they sew that they just go overboard with them."

When traveling on the road, Chris runs out of clean clothes, so his master has to take them to a laundry and wash them.

"When the women see me enter the laundry with baskets of Chris's clothes, they look at me puzzled," laughed Beebe. "They think I'm washing my children's doll clothes. Only I'm not married. When I tell them I have a pet monkey who wears the clothes, they all laugh. They think it's a big joke."

Ever since he can remember, Beebe has had a deep love for animals. He once had a dog act and performed with a number of them.

In Johnson Square in New Orleans he has a friend that takes care of his monkey when he is in that area. The place is called Camio's Bar and this is where all monkey trainers and their monkeys congregate and visit.

The brightly colored musical cart and performing stage which Beebe pushes through the grounds was designed and built by him. It's quite attractive and he no longer has to grind or wind the organ for music, as the pioneer organ grinders did. He merely pulls a switch and a record plays.

Chris will perform on the top of the cart (as his stage) and do various stunts and plays musical instruments for the audience.

Through the years, the monkey owner has taken an interest in organs and instruments used over the years by organ grinders and their monkeys.

"I have many hand operated instruments used by former organ grinders," said Beebe. "In the future, I hope to have a permanent museum where I can display them to the public."

He has studied the history and origination of the organ grinders and their monkeys.

"Over 200 years ago, the Chinese used monkeys and wore masks," said Beebe. "They used tin cups to make collections. Instead of using an organ, they had a gong they sounded before they passed the cup."

Later he said the Italians put the monkey and organ together as a team on the street corners.

"The organ grinders of Holland used a band organ which was about 10 x 12 feet in size," said the monkey owner. "He pushed it through the streets and it took a powerful hand to operate it."

The little monkey quickly wins the hearts of youngsters and grownups alike.

The small fry can't hardly believe the monkey is real and look at him like he's some kind of a plaything.

"We can stop in a very lonely part of a fairgrounds, but in no time at all we'll be surrounded by folks wishing to watch the monkey performance," said Beebe. "The human race is a fun-loving group. They like wholesome entertainment and don't mind giving the coins to 'monkeyshine.' My little monkey is sure kept busy picking up the coins at times."

As your writer watched the tiny monkey pick up the coins and tip his hat in appreciation, he couldn't resist digging down into his pocket and producing a coin, too.

The intelligent little monkey seems to have a habit of capturing the hearts of the public and swaying them into giving away their copper and silver coins. His gestures and antics are almost human-like.

But what's a fair without an old-fashioned organ grinder and his pet monkey?

It's good, clean entertainment that brings laughs galore to the very young and the very old alike.

And in these trying times, the world is made better by the organ grinder's music and the performance of the happy little monkey.

MIDWESTERNERS READYING FOR EUROPEAN TOUR

By Deena Schneider
Farm and Home Travel Editor

Although only announced in last month's edition of Farm and Home, interest and sign-ups for the 1971 Agricultural Study Tour have been higher than in any previous year. Yet, there is still space available on the accommodations which have been arranged.

The 21-day tour aboard Pan American World Airways includes the countries of Denmark, Germany, Holland and Switzerland along with such interesting side trips as a Rhine Cruise, through the Black Forest of Germany and the Alps of Switzerland, among the dikes of Holland and the glacial country of Denmark.

Like all Farm and Home tours, the price is all-inclusive . . . meals, first class hotels with baths, most of your lunches, transfers, etc. along with a multilingual guide, and the price from Chicago roundtrip is $999.

Now if you happen to live in Minnesota or Ohio or Nebraska or someplace other than Chicago, Farm and Home will arrange for you to get to Chicago to catch your departing Pan American jet for only $55 to $80 more roundtrip.

You will see Copenhagen, Denmark, the city of churches and palaces, visit the country of Hans Christian Andersen, tour the medieval buildings of Germany and delight in the beauties of the Black Forest and there has never been anything more enjoyable than the Cruise down the Rhine on a Rhine Steamer. These and much, much more will be a part of your 1971 Farm and Home Tour of Europe.

If you have not already requested your Farm and Home illustrated colorful brochure on this tour, send for one at once. You are under no obligation, of course, but the brochure does outline in specifics where you will be going, where you will be staying, how you will be traveling and what you will be seeing.
