Ground Broken Thursday for Hale Area's New School

Seventy years ago, residents of Plainfield Township constructed their first one-room school. On Thursday of last week, ground was broken for a new junior and senior high school.

According to John Webb, who attended the ground-breaking ceremony, he was a student in that first school constructed in 1901. He recalled that work started during the summer and the school was ready for fall classes.

The new school, to be constructed on a beautiful rolling site east of Hale, is to cost 1.6 million dollars and, hopefully, will be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1973.

Thursday's event was a gala occasion for students of Hale Area Schools, who clustered around participants in the ground-breaking ceremony.

Following introductions by Supt. Paul Keene, Lynn Bernard, a senior, and Lucia Brindley, a junior, used a gold plated shovel to turn over the first piece of sod. The shovel was then passed to the following individuals for ground-breaking ceremonies; Mrs. Audrey Kocher, representing the board of education; Richard Parkinson, representing the citizens committee; Richard Dodge, high school principal, and Joseph VanderVeen, teacher representative; Gordon Stowe, representing the architectural firm, and Superintendent Keene.

During his remarks, Parkinson told the students that a great many people had worked hard to bring about a successful election to approve selling bonds to finance construction of the school and that district residents would now begin paying additional taxes to benefit the education of district youngsters.

Mrs. Kocher said that she was proud to be a member of Hale Area Board of Education and commented that when Hale wants something and people are willing to work, the community usually gets it.

The new 17-room junior and senior high school building will include eight regular classrooms, two science laboratories, one home economics room, a library-materials center, a cafeteria-auditorium, arts and crafts room, music room and gymnasium.

Originally, the board of education had intended to construct the school on a 25-acre site near the existing school buildings. Early this spring, the board changed the location to a 35-acre site east of Hale and north of Esmond Road.

Participating in Thursday's ceremony was Hale Area School Band, under direction of Darrell Grosz.

'71 Survey Found Fewer Kirtland Warbler Nests

Not a single Kirtland warbler nested this year in its usual habitat near Oscoda between River Road and old US-23, according to a report this week by Mrs. Nita Grear of Tawas City.

Beginning in May, Mrs. Grear searched for this rare and beautiful warbler, whose nesting site is found only in Michigan. The 1961 census count showed 30 male warblers in Iosco County.

Mrs. Grear reports that jackpine trees have been cut in the corner nesting areas of the warblers, while school buses and other traffic have made thoroughfares of roads in the formerly secluded nesting areas. "We explored the Ski Bowl fire burn area but found no Kirtlands. No warblers were found on old US-23 west of Oscoda," she said.

Assisting Mrs. Grear in the 1961 survey and again in 1971 were Eugene Kenaga and Mark Wolf of Midland. All three are members of the Michigan Audubon Society.

The 1961 total world count of Kirtlands was in the vicinity of 1,000 birds, according to Mrs. Grear. The count 10 years later shows a decrease of over 50 percent, or less than 500 Kirtland warblers for a world count.

LATEST ADDITION to the grounds of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce office on US-23 is this public use telescope being demonstrated by Gerald Reitler. The telescope is located on the patio at the rear of the office and overlooks Tawas Bay. The instrument is powerful enough to "bring in" the Tawas Point lighthouse and should prove to be an interesting attraction for visitors wishing to watch sailboats. The coin operated machine gives three minutes of viewing for 10 cents. The telescope was purchased by Peoples State Bank and proceeds will be used to purchase the equipment for the chamber of commerce. This is one of many improvements made on the office grounds during the past year under Reitler's chairmanship of the building and grounds committee.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Cable Named Mayor Pro Tem

Cecil Cable, Third Ward alderman, was named temporary mayor pro tem at Tuesday night's meeting of the Tawas City Council.

Cable succeeds the late Howard Hatton, who was fatally injured August 16. Cable's term of office is to expire January 1, 1972, the day on which city officers elected at the November 4 election are to take office.

The new mayor pro tem told those present that leadership of the city government had been thrown into a quandry because of the death of Alderman Hatton as well as the serious illness of Mayor John St. James, who suffered a stroke Sunday night and is in critical condition at Tawas Hospital.

In business conducted Tuesday night, Jerry Cotter, chairman of the charter commission, presented copies of the proposed city charter to the council. Members of the commission are to meet with the council September 20 to explain provisions of this home rule document.

Cotter said that commission members (See COUNCIL, page 2.)

State Police Busy During Past Week

Michigan State Police at East Tawas answered 61 complaints since September 1, including 15 breakings and enterings and eight personal injury accidents. The total included complaints in Iosco, Arenac and Alcona Counties.

A cottage owned by Stanley F. Foss, Anchorville, located in Wilber Township, was burglarized on September 4. A quantity of antique furniture and household items were stolen, including a round oak table and a wooden ice box.

Boy Scout Camp Lubaway on Media Drive, Baldwin Township, was burglarized September 3.

State police assisted Iosco Sheriff's Department early Friday morning in the arrest of three persons charged with breaking and entering Sand Lake General Store. A quantity of food and beer was stolen.

John A. Norris, Flint, was charged with breaking and entering Ken's Sunoco Service, Tawas City. He told officers that he left a nearby tavern on foot, stopped at the station and kicked open the door to get out of the rain. Officers said that apparently nothing was stolen, but the Flint man is being charged with breaking and entering.

Kenneth Thibault, owner, who lives near the station, said he heard glass breaking and watched Norris enter and leave the building. He was later apprehended by the sheriff's department. He was released under $1,000 bond while awaiting arraignment.

Prescott Raps House Speaker for Delaying Legislative Work

"For the third consecutive legislative day, House Speaker Ryan has refused to allow our chamber to operate," Rep. George A. Prescott, Tawas City, charged last week. "His obsession to pass a bloated welfare bill some 200 million dollars plus over last year, has led him to suspend the democratic procedures in our state capital," Prescott said.

"He made his third successive speech today," Prescott reported, "charging Republicans as being against poor people, then arrogantly adjourns the house, allowing no rebuttal and hiding behind the clouds of his own rambling rhetoric."

Prescott said that Speaker Ryan needs 10 votes to assure passage of his $37-million-dollar welfare bill and that his biggest problem is that daily, 10 to 15 Democrats are absent due to illness or whatever.

"All the budget bills are now out of the Democrat controlled appropriations committee," Prescott said, "and they total two billion, 122 million dollars. Our anticipated revenue, counting the $70 million dollars new income from the recent 50 percent increase in state income taxes, is two billion, 60 million dollars."

"I voted against the income tax increase," Prescott said, "and I am not about to vote for any budget bills that expend 60 million dollars more than our state's income."

The 102nd District representative cited one example contained in the massive welfare bill which has nearly brought state government to a halt.

"A family of four living in the Detroit area would be up-graded relief wise to $3,924, plus $835 for Medicaid, plus $240 per year for food stamps, or a total of $4,999 net money to spend," Prescott explained.

"That recipient," Prescott concluded, "doesn't care much about working when he has right at $100 per week to get along."

Indies Won First Game in NEM Playoff, but Lost Final

After winning the first game of a three-game playoff series to decide the NEM baseball championship, Tawas City Indies pitching and hitting attack fell apart in a double header here Sunday and the Indies had to settle for the runnerup spot and Northern Division pennant.

Regardless of the final outcome, the 1971 season has to go down as the most exciting in the past quarter century. It has been 25 years since Tawas City won its last NEM championship and the Indies represented the league two weeks ago in the annual baseball tournament at Jackson.

Everything looked bright for the Indies Saturday after they won a 5-3, 10-inning battle at Midland to open the playoff series. Dennis Krish went the distance on the mound for the Indies, scattering six hits to a hard-hitting Midland nine. Krish was in trouble during seven of the 10 innings when he gave up seven walks and hit one batsman, but he struck out five and had good fielding support from his mates despite two errors.

The Indies scored two runs in the third and one run in the fourth inning to take a one-run lead. Midland tied the game in the bottom of the ninth inning on a walk and two singles.

This set the stage for a dramatic uprising by the Indies in the top of the 10th. Krish fanned to open the inning, but Gene Jordan rapped a single. Peterson's ground ball forced Jordan at second base and Peterson took second base on the shortstop's return throw to first. Busha was safe on a fielder's choice and both runners scored on another fielding error.

Top hitters in the opening game for Tawas City were Dale Koepke and Busha, each with two hits.

Action resumed with a double header on Sunday with Ron Leslie on the mound. Each team scored a single run in the opening inning and the visitors pushed over two in the second and Tawas City had one in the bottom half of that inning.

Midland went three up in the third inning when LaFever rapped a two-run homer. The chemical city team then ran wild on the basepaths in the fifth inning, scoring six runs on five hits, including Donahy's two-run homer.

In the meantime, the Indies were registering zeros against the slick pitching of Weekesser, who did not allow a hit after Pat Jordan's single in the opening inning. Weekesser gave up six walks during the game, but his nine strikeouts were enough to offset this during the seven-inning game.

The championship game of the series found Midland with another good pitching performance, this time by Dorrien, who limited the Indies to four hits. The Midland team won this game, 6-1, and the NEM championship.

Losing pitcher, Chuck Petersen, gave up six hits, walked five and struck out eight. His mates had two key errors which led to scoring. Tawas City threatened in the first, second and third innings, but could not score until the sixth inning. The locals had two runners on the basepaths in the first, loaded the bases in the second and had two runners on base in the third without crossing home plate.

Old Prescott Home Being Removed

Work has been started on removal of the former G. A. Prescott residence at the corner of US-23 and River Street in Tawas City.

The property has been owned by Dr. and Mrs. J. D. LeClair since 1952, having served as a dentist's office and residence until Doctor LeClair's retirement last January.

Constructed shortly after 1900, it was considered to be one of the area's finest homes in the last days of the lumbering era. Exterior walls were of concrete blocks and oak was used extensively in the interior construction.

Removal of the dwelling will facilitate use of the property for commercial purposes. Allen Lutes of Tawas City has purchased the structure and is removing it.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

"He who has ears to hear, let him hear."—Matthew 11:15 (rsw)
When God gave us ears, He intended for us to use them in a sensible manner.

Do you think God gave us ears just for looks? Certainly not! Hearing is a precious gift. God had a reason for giving us our ears, just as He has a reason for everything He does.

Do you think God gave us ears just for looks? Certainly not! Hearing is a precious gift. God had a reason for giving us our ears, just as He has a reason for everything He does.

Our Father, thank you for listening to us when we pray. Help us to really listen when you speak to us. And help us to listen when others are talking. In Jesus' name. Amen.

the TRUTH that HEALS

How important are motives and standpoints to individual progress? This is a question to be considered Sunday at Christian Science Church services in a lesson-sermon entitled "Substance."

Selections to be read from the Bible include the following: "Do ye look on things after the outward appearance? . . . But he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord. For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," this citation will be read: "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint and show what we are winning."

Lunch Menus
at TA Schools

The following lunch menus will be served at Tawas Area High School during the week, September 13-17.

Monday, September 13: Cheeseburger on bun, hashed brown potatoes, fruit salad, one-half pint milk.

Tuesday, September 14: Goulash, buttered corn, diced pears, bread and butter, one-half pint milk.

Wednesday, September 15: Meat loaf, mashed potatoes with butter, diced peaches, bread and butter, one-half pint milk.

Thursday, September 16: Hot dog on bun, hashed brown potatoes, applesauce, one-half pint milk.

Friday, September 17: Fishwich on bun, lettuce salad, fruit, cookie, one-half pint milk.

Mrs. Thibault

Honored Saturday

Mrs. Kenneth Thibault Jr. was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower given Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Carroll Symons. Twenty ladies were present and Mrs. Thibault received several beautiful gifts.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Donald Lake and Mrs. Symons. Guests were present from Allen Park, Westland, Warren, Kawkwawlin, Pinconning, Whittemore, National City, Hale and the Tawas.

Urge Deeper
Commitment

Deeper commitment to truth is demanded by all who would help mankind, more than 5,000 Christian Science college students from some 31 countries were told in Boston, Massachusetts, recently.

Both students and guest speakers emphasized the need for commitment to the "truth of God and man" in helping to heal pollution, drug addiction, racism and other problems.

Some 250 students from Michigan attended the three-day biennial college organization meeting held at The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, according to A. Dean Joki, the committee on publication for Michigan.

The keynote speaker was Carl J. Kelz, the well-known editor of The Christian Science Journal, the Christian Science Sentinel and The Herald of Christian Science.

"The truth of God and man is a tremendous force, an irresistible power," he told the gathering.

"Human life is not to be escaped from but to be understood," he said, adding that when it is understood the lack of love in human life "can be eliminated and the truth demonstrated. This demonstration alone can awaken human beings to their capacity to eliminate the causes of war, poverty, disease . . ."

Approximately the same number of college students came from abroad for the gathering as all those who attended the first biennial 18 years ago, students from the United States included.

The program was planned to include maximum participation by the students. Mr. Weiz noted that the theme the students selected for their meeting was drawn from these words by Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science: "But what of ourselves, and our times and obligations? Are we duly aware of our own great opportunities and responsibilities? Are we prepared to meet and improve them, to act up to the acme of divine energy wherewith we are armed?"

The practical effect of this awakening activity was described by a number of college students who spoke out of first-hand experience with spiritual healing:

A black student from New York who found Christian Science in prison told how it freed him from bitterness and brought him a new way of life; a Haitian told how she was freed from dependency on LSD, marijuana and other drugs; a Korean described the protection he experienced through prayer in a combat zone in Vietnam; insights on overcoming racism were shared by a Rhodesian student; a Nigerian student told of a healing of a stomach ulcer through wholly spiritual means; a student from Maine said that he had been using drugs "as an escape from an ugly world and as a cop-out" at the time he attended the previous biennial conference in 1969, but that "in the next eight months there was a complete healing."

"Ecology and Population Control" was the subject of a symposium. Robert Cain, a member of President Nixon's Council on Environmental Quality, was one of the speakers.

The theme of the meeting was "But What of Ourselves, . . . Our Times and Obligations?"

Belcher Received Check-
Certificate for Suggestion

Howard W. Belcher, left, forestry aide on the Tawas Ranger District, East Tawas, received a certificate of merit and a check for $75 for a work improvement suggestion.

Belcher designed and built an inexpensive tool to quickly and safely hook or unhook a truck winch cable to the front tow-hook on a bulldozer.

Prior to using this tool a man had to block the bulldozer blade up and then crawl under the blade to hook or unhook the cable. This was a time consuming operation and could be unsafe if the dozer blade was not properly blocked.

This award is authorized as part of the United States Forest Service Employee Suggestion Program which provides for recognition of employees whose suggestions directly contribute to economy or efficiency, or directly increase effectiveness of programs.

Belcher resides at 811 East Westover, East Tawas, with his wife, Carol, and daughter, Linda.

The William Green family from Rochester visited for a week with his mother, Mrs. Wanda Green. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Green and family were also week-end guests.

Mrs. Catherin Godwin of Warren is spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Wanda Green.

Members had spent more than 1,000 hours during the slightly more than one year of work required to complete the document. The charter now awaits approval of the governor and is to be presented for voter approval at the November general election.

A petition was presented by five First Ward property owners living in the vicinity of the city skating rink on First Avenue, who claim that water from the rink seeps under their homes during the spring thaw.

The matter was turned over to the park board for investigation.

Roy Stewart presented a petition asking the closing of Pine Street from Main to Beech Streets. The matter was referred to the street committee for study.

Braves to Meet Garden City Team Saturday in Scrimmage

Speeding up the pace in practice sessions, Tawas Area Braves are to be host to Garden City East in a preseason scrimmage Saturday, September 11, 11:30 a. m.

Bringing his squad to the Tawas for the first time will be Gary Humphrey, former resident of the community, who is head football coach at Garden City East. Last season, Humphrey's squad had a record of eight wins and two losses.

Tawas Area has had its largest turnout of candidates in local football history, but there are a lot of holes to be filled after 19 seniors graduated from last year's squad which had a record of five wins and four losses.

Coach Ted Guthard commented Monday that members of his squad lack size this year and he hopes this will be offset by a little more speed.

The Braves have five returning letterwinners in Mark Schirmer, Tom Kasichke, Mike Russell, Dave Moe and Steve Nichols. Returning non-letter winners include Mike Herrick, Rick Bublit, Bob Glancy and Steve Cross.

With four returning halfbacks, the Braves will have good experience in the backfield and a real battle is shaping up between Kasichke and Steve Sventko for the starting call at quarterback.

Guthard said he was pleased with the performance of a number of juniors, including Don Brown, Greg Brown, Steve Anschuetz and Sventko, to name a few. He is also happy with the attitude shown by the returning non-letter winners.

Others demonstrating good potential and may see a good deal of action before the season ends are Dale Huff, Pete Guoan, Bob Proudfoot, Calvin Kendall, Jim Ulman and Mike Maher.

First year seniors demonstrating good attitude during practice sessions have been Gordon Long, Jim Benson, Brian McMurray, Warren Champion and Chuck Bublit.

Guthard was particularly impressed at last Saturday's scrimmage with the work of Glancy, Kasichke, Al LaBlance, Charles Schreck, Rob Elliott and Steve Janego.

"There will have to be a lot of 'Davids' out there on our squad, but whether or not we can conquer some of the 'Goliaths' of the NBC is something else—we are really inexperienced and our staff is stressing the fundamentals of football," said Guthard.

The head coach said he was extremely pleased with the turnout for freshman football, but was disappointed with the sparse turnout for practice. The players who turned out, however, demonstrated good ability.

"We have had a lot of enthusiasm and no NBC team will be in better condition or will out-hustle us," said Guthard. "We again anticipate that Oscoda will be the team to beat in the NBC, but I have great respect for every conference team. Our staff has a big job ahead of it."

Assisting Guthard this season will be Dick Look, former head coach at Ann Arbor St. Thomas, along with Steve Sventko. Handling the junior varsity will be Mike Zimmerman and Larry Larson, while Chuck Reddick and John Walton will coach the freshman squad.

The Braves open the 1971 season September 17 by playing host to Harrison.

Two Cyclists Treated Here for Injuries

Two motorcyclists were treated at Tawas Hospital Sunday following area mishaps.

Howard C. Broughton, 32, Rochester, sustained injuries when he lost control of his motorcycle and spilled while participating in a race at the Dirt, Incorporated, track northwest of Oscoda.

Clare L. Sherbrook, 57, Flint, was injured when his motorcycle struck a stump on a backwoods trail in Alcona County near Curtisville. The machine fell on the driver when it spilled.

Gas Company Names New Demonstrator

Miss Susan D. James has been appointed manager of consumers services of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's Northern District, according to James C. Preston, general manager of the utility's Northern and Upper Peninsula Districts. Miss James succeeds Mrs. Camilla J. Zawacki, who is resigning.

Preston said Miss James will be responsible for all planning, scheduling and presentation of company demonstrations, which may be requested by churches, clubs, schools and community organizations.

Her consumer service responsibility will cover Alpena, Big Rapids, Cadillac, Cheboygan, Grayling, Greenville, Ludington, Manistee, Mt. Pleasant, Petoskey, Tawas, Traverse City and other communities served by the company in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

AIA Reservations Due Sept. 13

Reservations for the Saturday, September 18, meeting of the AIA Association should be mailed to Mrs. K. W. Ross, 405 Church Street West, Harrisville, Michigan 48740, no later than Monday, September 13.

Registration will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, Harrisville, 5:30 p. m., with dinner following at 6:30 o'clock. Evening meeting of the Lake Huron Chapter No. 184 will take place at the Masonic Temple, 8 o'clock.

Four Iosco Members Attend VFW Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes, Mrs. Ralph Davis and Mrs. John Roiter attended the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary August 14-20 in Dallas, Texas. A $10,000 check was presented from the auxiliary to George Wallace for the cancer foundation in Alabama in memory of his wife. It was announced that members would soon be receiving new uniforms.

The auxiliary presented John Wayne with the Americanism Award for his appearance in movies for the general public. Pres. Richard Nixon delivered a speech at the Memorial Auditorium, Dallas.

The District No. 11 meeting will be held Sunday, September 12, 2:00 p. m., at the Oscoda Area High School. Madeline Davis of Oscoda will be hostess at the dinner. The ladies meeting will follow with Mrs. Roiter, president, presiding, at the high school, while the men meet at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Oscoda.

Next regular meeting of VFW Auxiliary No. 5678 will take place Monday, September 13, 8:00 p. m., at the VFW Hall, Tawas City.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ulman of Tawas City announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine, to Van A. Miller, son of Judge and Mrs. Allan C. Miller of East Tawas.

Miss Ulman is a 1971 graduate of Tawas Area High School. Her fiancé is a 1970 graduate of Tawas Area and will enroll as a freshman at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, this fall.

The couple is planning a September 25 wedding.

No Reunion This Year

Four Students Honored at Ferris

Four Iosco County students were honored for scholastic excellence during the summer quarter at Ferris State College by being named to the academic honors list.

Included were Donald J. Lear, business, National City; Gerald L. Wilkinson, business, East Tawas; Tyler G. Cholger, business, and Richard W. Niles, health, science and arts, both of Tawas City.

To be named to the academic honors list, a student must earn at least a 3.25 average on a 4.0 basis and carry a full academic load. A full load is defined as 14 quarter hours or 33.0 clock hours of credit.

TC Club to Open Year With Pot-Luck

A 12 o'clock noon, pot-luck dinner will be held at the cottage of Mrs. Harry Rollin Wednesday, September 15, at the first meeting this season of the Twentieth Century Club.

Mrs. Ervin Ulman will offer the meditation. Answer to roll call will be "ideas for civic improvement."

The president's greeting is to be followed by a review of the coming year's program.

Hostesses at the dinner are Mrs. H. Read Smith and Mrs. H. J. Keiser.

Mrs. Simmons Entertained Flint Club Members

Mrs. Ross Simmons entertained four Flint members of a sewing club at her East Tawas home Wednesday, September 1. Those attending were Mrs. Harry Baessler, Mrs. Harry Newcomb, Mrs. Marie Maguire and Mrs. Orville Averill, treasurer.

They enjoyed an outdoor lunch and shopped in the area.

About PEOPLE YOU KNOW

Tawas City

Mr. and Mrs. Werthy Sias of Detroit spent the Labor Day week-end with Mrs. Fred Boulder.

Tuesday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Frank were their cousins, the Frank Parkers of Hope Sound, Florida.

Recently, Comdr. and Mrs. Vance Proper and children, Alan, Susan and Tammy, of Alexandria, Virginia, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Proper. Other guests at the Proper home were their other son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Proper, and children, Michael and Dawn, of Howell.

Mrs. Susan Ashton and daughters, Lisa and Tracy, of Kawkawlin called on her aunt, Mrs. Howard Free, last Tuesday afternoon. They were enroute home from a three-day camping trip to Old Orchard Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Proper recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Frank of St. Petersburg, Florida, at a family-style dinner at the Rose City Hotel. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Richardson, the Melvin Morrises, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, the Earle Crowns and the Jack Hohsels.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McComb have returned home from a trip to various points in the Upper Peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lemke of Detroit were guests of his mother, Mrs. Edward Lemke, over the holiday week-end.

Mrs. A. E. Giddings has returned from a trip to Colorado. She accompanied her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Naslund of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shell and daughter, Kimberly, of Detroit spent the past week with her parents, the Robert Shorts, and her grandmother, Mrs. Olga Kasischke.

Mrs. Ervin Gauthier and Mrs. Frances Hill were business visitors in Midland, where the latter had medical attention.

Brenda Brugger left Monday by plane for a visit in New York City, New York, with friends. She will visit Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ketas. Mrs. Ketas is a former classmate.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Moreau of Tampa, Florida, and son, R. J. Moreau, and Mrs. Moreau of Brighton were Friday guests of Mrs. David L. Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Malotke of Sterling Heights and guests spent the Labor Day week-end with Mrs. Malotke's mother, Mrs. Martin Fiedler.

Mrs. John Martin and sister, Mrs. Robert Werth, were business visitors in Bay City Wednesday.

Dr. Richard Goodale of Muncie, Indiana, enjoyed the week-end with his parents, the Harry Goodales.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Rideout and children, Elizabeth and Jason, of Ann Arbor were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Thornton over the week-end.

Mrs. Mildred Ulman was called to Pinekey by the serious condition of her son, Nelson Ulman, who is a patient at St. Joseph Hospital.

Mrs. Herman Hosbach, Marie Liechty and Geraldine Smith spent Labor Day week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Click and family at Frankfort, Indiana.

David Nemecek, age 14, of Romeo has been a visitor for several weeks with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Watson of the Sunset Motel. The highlight of his stay was a trip to the Watsons' cottage in the Upper Peninsula in the community of Paradise. While fishing, David landed a three-foot, 11 pound, Great Northern Pike. He was using an eight-pound test line, no leader and the lure was a No. 3 Mepps spinner with a bucktail. The fish was the third largest caught so far this year in the "Big Bend" of the Tahquamenon River. David left for home with his parents and twin sister, Karen, Monday, September 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary S. Wood, Tawas City; Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Schreiber, East Tawas, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Spencer, Alpena, attended American United Life Insurance Company's Leaders Club convention last week at the Lodge of The Four Seasons, Lake of the Ozarks, Missouri. The convention recognized outstanding sales achievements and service to policyowners during the past 18 months.

The Mark family reunion was held at the John A. Mark home Monday, September 6. There were 57 members present. Those from out of town were the John E. Willett family of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beasley and baby and friend, Harold Reidenbaugh from Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mark of Augusta, Arkansas; Mrs. Phillip Mark and son of Jonesboro, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mark and family of Birmingham; Mrs. Main H. Mark, the John C. Mark family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tondreau and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mark and daughters from Livonia; Mrs. M. W. Henning and daughter, and the John A. Mark family of Detroit; Jennifer Mark and Richard Burke of Pontiac.

Marion O'Brien, Jennifer Harris and Lula Alda were honored on their birthday anniversaries Friday at the Schalms' Ranch. Twenty ladies were present and presented corsages and gifts to the honorees. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Beth Simmons, Olive Betzer and Mrs. Schalm. Mrs. W. Walters tape recorded the enjoyable party and played it back for all to hear.

Mrs. Earl Authier left Tuesday for Eaton Rapids to care for her new grandson, Mark Edward, who was born Saturday, September 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ulman.

East Tawas

Mrs. David Hatt, Denise and Michael of Lansing are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Oris Hodge traveled to Ft. Knox, Kentucky, to observe the graduation of their son, Randall, from basic training in the United States Army. He will now be stationed at Ft. Polk, Louisiana, for advanced individual training.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Racine included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Racine of Drayton Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krause and Lennee Reni of Mt. Clemens, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Ewen of Center Line, Mrs. Trudy Bellware of Berkley and John and Richard Racine of Rochester. The group enjoyed a moonlight cruise on the River Queen while here. They brought instruments with them and treated others on the cruise to music.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Klemish and family are newcomers here. They are residing at 500 West State Street and formerly lived in Saginaw.

George Allan Davidson of Chicago, Illinois, spent the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips (nee Patsy Greene) and children have moved here from Flushing and are residing on Tawas Street.

Sgt. Richard L. Freeman of Calumet Air Force Base and friend, Carol Kilepa, also from Calumet, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Freeman, and family over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. John Moffatt celebrated a wedding anniversary Thursday, September 2. Their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hughes, and family of Standish joined them at dinner for the occasion.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Sanborn were their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sanborn, and family of Mt. Clemens. During their flight to Mackinac for a vacation, the Kenneth Sanborns stopped and spent the day with his parents.

Several friends of Louis Stienert surprised him Wednesday, August 25, to help him celebrate his 75th birthday anniversary. A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed by the group.

Present from Vienna, Virginia, were the Stienerts' two granddaughters, Kathleen and Linda Stewart. Also among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coy, who were celebrating a wedding anniversary the same day.

Mrs. Ruth Stump attended her high school class reunion at Jackson over the week-end. Her mother, Mrs. Ada Freeland, accompanied her and attended the wedding of a grand niece at Chelsea Saturday.

Clifford Kramer is a patient at Alpena General Hospital, where he underwent eye surgery the latter part of the week.

Janet Pennwell has returned to her home in Media, Pennsylvania, after spending several weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Violet Small. Mrs. Small took her to Detroit to board her plane and then spent a few days with her son, Robert Small, and daughters. She attended the state fair before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blake visited relatives in Coopersville last week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Eugene Deacon and Mrs. Delemere Brown, who also visited relatives there.

Newcomers in the community include Mr. and Mrs. William C.

Csapo and family, who have moved here from Flint. They have purchased the former Patterson home at the corner of Tawas and East Lincoln Streets.

Mrs. Eloise Krebs has returned to her home in Gulfport, Mississippi, after spending the past week with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Whitford, and family.

Diane Newbert of Romulus is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hancock, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Hynes leave this week-end for their Florida home.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

ten little buttons... all lined up in a neat little row are worked in single crochet stitches over buttons molds measuring 1/2" in diameter. Garter stitch bands at center front adds contrast of texture and long set-in sleeves and ribbing at neckband complete the look.

a wonderful transitional fashion... for that awkward period between summer and fall, this fabulous ribbed cardigan is an excellent schoolmate, date-mate or playmate for any occasion which might arise. SAFETY TIPS
IT'S DANGEROUS TO JAYWALK
Jaywalkers are a double danger; not only do they risk their own safety, but they also cause traffic jams and vehicle collisions. Taking the time to cross only at corners may mean saving your life and the lives of others. Deborah White, Cass Technical High School, Detroit, Michigan, drew this prize winning poster in the AAA School Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

60 Lakes Club Lists Winners

The Friday, September 3, card party of the 60 Lakes Club had six tables of pinochle and five tables of euchre in play. Euchre prizes went to Eva Blandin, Adelaide McDowell, Martha Schloss, Larry White, Vernon Smith and Ray Gillette. Pinochle winners were Frances Querio, Marguerite Gammon, Verna Mae Klaus, Adolph Schmaltz, Joseph Armon and James Carrievau. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaven joined hikers for the annual Labor Day walk across the Mackinac Bridge. They were accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Douglass and Mr. Kaven's sister, Mrs. Ruby Simmons of Omer. The Kavens and Mrs. Simmons were overnight guests of Mr. Kaven's nephew, George Kaven of Petoskey, before meeting Mrs. Douglass, who had been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Forbes of Elk Rapids. Saturday evening, a reception was held for the new pastor and his family of the Free Methodist Church at the Hale Community Building. The Rev. Neil Strickland; his wife, son, Carl, a junior at Hale Area High School; daughter, Marlene, who works in Lansing; Fonda, who attends Lansing Community College; Roger of Pontiac, who works for General Motors, and Wendy of Pontiac, who works at the Oakland University Credit Union, were guests at the pot-luck supper.

The Adam Kolodziejzski entertained the families of his son and daughter and Mrs. Clara Slosser last Saturday at a turkey dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee (nee Janet Kolodziejzski) and daughter of Tawas and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kolodziejzski Jr. and daughter of Clare were together before Adam's family moved to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to live. His company has moved its business there.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wagner entertained Mr. Wagner's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wagner of Pittsville, Wisconsin, for five days last week.

Students enrolled at Kirkland College, St. Helen, are Wayne Ryland, Kim Kocker, Dale Mollard and Eugene Short, who are residing there; LauriLee Springsteen, Staranne Wagner and Judy Hames, who commute each day.

Monday afternoon, the fire department responded to a fire at a trailer home west of Hale on the county line road.

Mrs. Ethel Greve left last week for her daughter's home in Everett, Washington. She will stay with the Ralph Jewell family for some time as Mrs. Jewell suffered a fractured left ankle in a fall on her stairway.

Ronald Johnson came from Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri, to spend the holiday week-end with his wife and son, Ronald, and his parents, the Clayton Johnsons. Rodney, his twin brother, also was home over the week-end from Great Lakes Training Station, Chicago, Illinois. Ronald will leave in the near future for a base in New Mexico.

Gordon Thayer was a patient in McLaren Hospital, Flint, for five days. He was dismissed Friday and the family came to Hale Saturday for a week-end of camping. The Ray Wyckoff family also camped with the Thayers at Long Lake. Daniel Thayer and his daughter, Rhonda, went to Ludington Friday afternoon to meet Charles and they joined the campers until Charles had to return to meet the boat for Milwaukee, Wisconsin where he attends Career Academy Broadcasting School.

The youth group of the Hale Baptist Church, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Redman, enjoyed an evening of miniature golf and pizza at Oscoda Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Redmond were callers of Mrs. Lillian Spencer and Doris Thayer Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bissonnette are parents of a son, born Thursday at Tolfree Hospital, West Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holzheuer also have a son, born Monday morning, September 6, at Tolfree Hospital, West Branch.

Bert Chrivia returned home from Tolfree Hospital Monday after an extended stay there.

Doris Thayer called on Mrs. Tressie Smith at the Ogemaw Valley Medical Facility, Rose City, Friday afternoon.

Miss Edna Otis Set as Speaker

Miss Edna Otis will be speaker at the Wednesday, September 15, 6:00 p. m., pot-luck dinner meeting of the Ladies Literary Club. The meeting will be held in the clubroom with Miss Otis relating historical tales of Iosco County.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Raymond Mead, Mrs. T. R. Winstead and Mrs. Herbert Steele.

Funeral Held for Alice Bamberger

Funeral services for Alice Bamberger of Tawas City were held Monday, August 30, at Moffatt Funeral Home, East Tawas. The Rev. Kenneth Tousley officiated with burial in Memory Gardens Cemetery, Tawas City. She passed away Friday, August 27.

Miss Bamberger was born September 17, 1891, and had been an office clerk by profession.

She is survived by her sister, Grace Bamberger; two brothers, Charles H. and Samuel J. All are residents of Tawas City.

Consumers Power Employees Returned to Work Sept. 1

Striking members of the Utility Workers Union of America returned to work September 1 under a directive from the national union, ending a 112-day work stoppage against Consumers Power Company.

Affected in the Tawas area were 52 members of the UWUA.

A company spokesman said that response to the union's back-to-work order and the company's acceptance of a proposed new three-year contract appeared to be extremely good.

Striking members of the union, other than those suspended or dismissed for strike related misconduct, were directed by the national union to return to work immediately. They resumed work under all provisions of the previous contract which expired March 31, pending expiration of the federal price wage freeze.

Following the freeze and subject to subsequent federal regulations, the operating, maintenance and construction employees would be covered under a new three-year contract that is to run through August 31, 1974. The national union is to submit this contract for ratification by secret ballot by mail to each member.

Terms of the new contract are those offered by the company May 12, when the strike began with modifications recommended by mediators on August 5. This contemplates an increase in hourly wages in the first year from 47 to 49 cents per hour depending on grade. In each of the second and third years of the contract, the hourly wage would be increased an average of 32 cents. These provisions, however, are subject to the present price wage freeze and would become subject to any future federal regulations.

Disciplinary cases are to be resolved by negotiations or, failing to reach agreement, by third party adjudication, as recommended by federal mediators. None of the dismissed workers are to return to work unless they are reinstated under this procedure.

Review and arbitration where necessary is to be expedited and completed within two weeks.

Tuesday, Mrs. Glenn McLeod, Mrs. Emma Moeller and the Rev. and Mrs. George Kobs of Wisconsin visited their brother, William Kobs, at Frankenmuth.

Wednesday afternoon, eight members of the Women's Farm Bureau delegates met at the Tawas Township Hall. They enjoyed a pot-luck dinner and Orville Strauer's insurance speech.

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Simons of Bay City enjoyed Labor Day week-end at their Sand Lake cottage.

Answer Questions on Social Security

Question: I will be getting married this month. Since I will be protected as the wife of a worker covered by social security, why do I have to contribute?

Answer: When you are ready to retire, you might qualify for higher cash benefits based on your own eligibility and earnings record. During your working years, you and your children could receive disability benefits based on your work record. And, if you should die while your children are still young, they could receive monthly social security survivors benefits based on your record.

Question: I will be 72 next month and I am still working. I know that I can collect my full social security benefits and still keep working after my 72nd birthday. But will my employer also stop deducting social security contributions out of my weekly pay checks starting next month?

Answer: No. Regardless of your age, as long as you continue to work in employment covered by social security, you pay social security contributions.

Question: My mother has been discharged from the hospital and placed in a nursing home that has been approved by medicare as an extended care facility. The nursing home advised us, however, that medicare will not pay for her care because her type of illness is not covered. It is true that some illnesses are not covered by medicare?

Answer: It is not the type of illness your mother has, but the level of treatment she needs that is a factor in determining whether or not medicare will help pay for her services in an extended care facility. Medicare can pay only when a patient needs continuing skilled nursing care, not just help with such things as bathing, eating, dressing, walking and taking medicine at the right time. There are other requirements, too. Your mother can check her copy of "Your Medicare Handbook" for more details.

If you have a question about social security, contact your district office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, Michigan 48706; telephone 833-9579. For your convenience, a social security representative will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, every Thursday from 9:45 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon and from 12:30 until 3:00 p. m.

It will soon be time to put the lawnmower away. Clean out the garage and sell those unwanted items with a Herald classified.

ONE OF THE NATION'S largest and most unusual exhibits of creative and collective hobbies will be on display in the youth building throughout the eight-day run of the 1971 Saginaw Fair. Young fairgoers will want to see the paintings, wood carvings and ceramic arts created by others on their own age level.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT back when grandpa was courting grandma, the gleaming, leather-seated buggy and its carefully groomed, high spirited team, exists now as a feature attraction of the 1971 Saginaw Fair. Old time buggies and carriages will participate in a "Gay 90's Parade," Sunday, September 12, and Thursday, September 16, at 5:00 p. m., in the judging ring of the fairgrounds.

A Pear A Day

"All good things come in pears" would be a bad pun if it were not redeemed by being accurate. Pears are a good source of many vitamins, minerals and other important nutrients.

Because of modern handling and storage methods, fresh pears are available year 'round. Bartlett pears are one of the few fruits that do not ripen on the tree. This means pears must be ripened artificially which contributes to making fresh pears so available. As a September plentiful, pears offer flexibility as a menu item as well as a nutritious food source for your family.

Pears contribute Vitamin A, important for normal vision in dim light; Vitamin B complex, which makes for steady nerves, appetite and stamina, and Vitamin C, which is especially helpful in stimulating development and growth in teeth and gums.

Minerals figure into the pear's composition. Iron and copper, both important in blood building, are readily available in pears.

Levulose sugar, which tastes as sweet as a much larger amount of beet sugar, makes pears an ideal addition to a weight-watcher's diet. The sweeter sugar in pears can satisfy a hungry sweet tooth faster and with fewer calories. Diabetics find pears a welcome addition to their diets.

While pears are plentiful this September, declare a pear day in your kitchen and use the following recipes to help make that day beyond compare!

Breakfast: Baked Pears with Sausage

Wash, halve and core four fresh pears. In large baking pan, combine one tablespoon lemon juice and enough water to cover bottom of pan. Put halves, cut side down, in pan. Bake at 375 degrees Fahrenheit for 25 minutes. Transfer pears to baking sheet, cut side up. Sprinkle with sugar and top each half with a link of sausage which has been simmering in water for five minutes. Place pears and sausage under broiler, turning once to brown, approximately three minutes per side.

FRESH PEAR SALAD

Combine diced, unpeeled pears with crisp bacon bits, diced celery, grated sharp cheese and broken walnut pieces. Bind the ingredients together with mayonnaise. Serve the salad in individual lettuce cups garnished with fresh Bartlett pear slices.

HONEY BAKED PEARS

4 fresh Bartlett pears
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup honey
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Halve and core pears. Place unpeeled pears in shallow baking dish. Combine lemon juice with honey and pour over pears. Sprinkle with cinnamon and dot with butter. Bake at 350 degrees, basting occasionally, until pears are tender. Baking time will be 25 to 30 minutes depending on the size of pears. Serve warm as meat accompaniment. Makes eight servings.

Ram Truck Scheduled for Trip North

The Michigan Sheep Breeders' Association will again send a ram truck into Northern Michigan. Registered rams will be assembled at a ram day at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Wednesday, September 15, where rams will be selected for the truck. Ram truck stops will be made on the following three days:

Thursday, September 16, Clare Livestock Auction, Clare, 10:00 a. m.-12 o'clock noon, and Feeder Cattle Yards, Gaylord, 3:00-5:00 p. m.; Friday, September 17, Alpena Livestock Commission Company Yards, Emerson, 1:00-4:00 p. m., and Gordon McDougall Farm, Glennie, 7:00-9:00 p. m.; Saturday, September 18, railroad stock yards, West Branch, 1:00-3:00 p. m.

These stops were selected to cover as much of Northern Michigan as possible with a minimum of travel for both sheep raisers and the ram truck. Sheep raisers who need a ram this fall should contact their county Cooperative Extension Service office, Federal Building, East Tawas, indicating the breed and age of ram they wish. They may also write to Graydon Blank, Animal Husbandry Department, 104 Anthony Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan 48823.

Save money for that needed home improvement—use Herald classifieds for a quick return on unwanted items.

Sec. of State Tests New Driver Examining System

The next time you renew your driver license, you may take your re-examination with "DAVE."

Michigan Sec. of State Richard H. Austin has announced the start of the pilot program to test the Driver Audio-Visual Examining system, nicknamed "DAVE," a new system using sound-filmstrip projector units similar to a small television set.

The primary purpose of DAVE is to have currently licensed drivers re-evaluate their driving habits and outline traffic regulations and defensive driving techniques, Austin said.

"We are going to be testing the new system in several of our examining bureaus to make sure all 'bugs' are out before we expand the program statewide," he said.

The pilot machines are being set up at department of state branches located at Lansing, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Charlotte, Howell and Cornuna.

"During our field trials, every applicant taking a vision test on the DAVE system will also be given a vision test on the telebinocular device that has been in use for many years. We are doing this as a means of double checking the accuracy of that portion of the test."

The pilot program will run about 60 days. If found feasible, the entire project will be put into operation in late December or early January.

The DAVE system had its origin back in 1967 but its development got into high gear in February of 1969 when the Michigan Department of State was awarded a 50-50 matching fund grant by the United States Department of Transportation to establish such a testing program, Austin said.

The applicant will first be given the vision test, checking peripheral vision and eye strength.

Once the vision test has been completed, the program will advance to a series of 10 "knowledge type questions" relating to safety and driving regulations. After each question, the applicant will have slightly more than five seconds to mark his answer on a score sheet.

Total cost of the program when implemented statewide, including development costs, will be about $222,000, of which one-half has been contributed by the federal government. regular and periodic analysis of test questions," he said.

According to Austin the DAVE test is not a "pass-fail" examination in the sense that a driver must have a certain score to "pass." Rather, it is an essential new effort to prompt licensed drivers to re-evaluate their driving habits and update their knowledge of the more critical requirements of modern day driving.

Once instituted, the DAVE system will give the department the opportunity for a more meaningful, face-to-face contact with all renewal applicants and a chance to discuss individual driving problems or new laws, Austin said.

"In addition, the department will be better able to plan public information programs and similar activities aimed at correcting some of the deficiencies in knowledge that are brought to our attention through

NO spreading chestnut tree shades this blacksmith shop and the village smithy has long been gone from the Michigan rural scene. Nevertheless, the Saginaw Fair has recreated this working blacksmith shop as an authentic testimonial to the fact that the farrier's art still thrives in the state, despite Michigan's worldwide reputation as the home of the automobile. Accurate in every detail, this unique exhibit features blacksmiths shoeing horses.

SAGINAW FAIR GRANDSTAND audiences will be treated to an evening of smashups, calculated crashes and motorized mayhem in the thrilling Michigan State Championship Demolition Derby, scheduled for 7:30 p. m., Friday, September 17.

Pie "AlaMode"

by Sandra Bloom
Farm & Home Food Consultant

Always a favorite with young and old, ice cream has easily won the title "the great American dessert." It holds its own served alone, and combines well with so many dessert foods to make an otherwise simple final meal course a glamorous one. And besides being good to eat and a food everyone loves, ice cream adds some of the same important nutrients found in milk. It's rich in protein, calcium, iron, vitamin A and riboflavin. If you're in the mood for an extra glamorous dessert, try one of these ice cream pies.

APRICOT MERINGUE ICE CREAM PIE

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped California walnuts
¼ cup margarine, melted
3 pints vanilla ice cream
½ cup apricot pie filling
1 cup marshmallow creme
2 egg whites

Mix graham cracker crumbs, sugar and walnuts together; stir in melted margarine. Firmly press crumb mixture on bottom and sides of pie plate and bake 8 to 10 minutes. Chill. Soften 1 pint vanilla ice cream in a bowl; spread on bottom of crumb crust. Spread 2 tablespoons apricot pie filling over ice cream; place in freezer until firm. Repeat two more times with remaining ice cream and apricot pie filling. Reserve the remaining 2 tablespoons apricot pie filling to be used in meringue. Stir reserved apricot pie filling into marshmallow creme. Beat egg whites until frothy. Then slowly pour marshmallow mixture into egg whites, beating constantly. Beat until meringue is stiff and holds a peak. Spread on top of pie being careful to seal edges. Place pie on a thick board; bake at 400 degrees for 8 minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. Remove from oven and place in freezer for ½ hour or until serving time.

JAMAICAN FRUIT PIE

1 pkg. orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 teaspoons rum flavoring
1 cup finely crumbled macaroons
1½ cups drained canned fruit cocktail
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add orange rind, juice, salt and ice cream, stirring occasionally until ice cream is completely melted. Stir in rum flavoring and macaroon crumbs. Chill a few minutes, until slightly thickened. Fold in well-drained fruit cocktail, and turn into baked, cooled pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with additional fruit cocktail and whipped cream, if desired.

GINGER PEACHY PIE

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
½ cup gingersnap crumbs
¼ cup margarine, softened
1½ cups chopped peeled fresh peaches
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons ascorbic acid mixture
2 drops almond extract
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
Whipped cream
Peach slices

Mix crumbs and margarine until crumbly. Press firmly in 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool. Meanwhile, combine sugar, ascorbic acid mixture and almond extract. Add chopped peaches to mixture, tossing lightly to coat each piece. Chill 10 to 15 minutes. Mix peaches with half of ice cream. Spread in cooled crumb crust. Fill pie with remaining vanilla ice cream. Freeze until firm. To serve, garnish with dollops of whipped cream and peach slices which have been dipped in solution of 1 teaspoon ascorbic acid mixture dissolved in 2 tablespoons water. Place in refrigerator until easy to cut. Makes 6-8 servings.

ICE CREAM SUNDAE PIE

Crust:
1 egg white
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup granulated sugar
1½ cups chopped California walnuts
Margarine
Filling:
1 pint coffee ice cream
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Sauce:
½ cup light or dark raisins
3 tablespoons margarine
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Crust: Beat egg white with salt until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in sugar. Fold in walnuts. Turn into well greased 9-inch pie plate. Spread evenly on bottom and sides, but not on rim. Mixture will be sticky, and it can best be pushed into place with a spoon. Prick well. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool, then chill. Fill with layers of coffee and vanilla ice cream. Freeze. Serve with Raisin Caramel Sauce. Sauce: Rinse and drain raisins. Chop coarsely or leave whole. Melt margarine in small saucepan, add brown sugar and cook and stir over low heat until sugar is melted and lightly browned. Remove from heat, and very slowly stir in cream. Heat about 1 minute longer. Remove from heat, and stir in raisins and vanilla. Serve warm or cold over ice cream pie.

STRAWBERRY SUNDAE PIE

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped California walnuts
- 1/4 cup softened margarine
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 1 cup (10 oz. pkg.) frozen strawberries, slightly thawed or use fresh strawberries, sliced
- Whipped cream
- California Walnut halves

Mix graham cracker crumbs, walnuts and margarine together until crumbly. Press onto bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 375 degrees about 7 minutes. Refrigerate until well chilled. Spoon half of softened ice cream into shell. Spread with half of strawberries. Cover with remaining ice cream and strawberries. Garnish with whipped cream and walnut halves. Freeze. Let stand at room temperature 10 minutes before serving.

Want to eat like summer all winter?

You can with Fruit-Fresh.

Fruit-Fresh captures the just-picked taste—preserves the colorful sparkle of fruit when you're canning and freezing. For day-to-day use, keeps freshly sliced fruit salad colorful and appetizing until served. Cost—about 1¢ per pound of fruit. At drug and grocery stores and wherever you buy Kerr jars.

PEPPERMINT ALASKA PIE

- 3 egg whites
- 3/4 cup sugar

- 1 packet graham crackers, finely rolled (1 1/2 cups crumbs)
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup softened margarine
- 4-oz. jar chocolate sprinkles
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream
- 1/2 cup crushed peppermint candy

Thoroughly blend graham cracker crumbs, sugar, softened margarine and chocolate sprinkles. Press firmly against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. (The easy way is to press crumbs into place using an 8-inch pie plate.) Bake at 375 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool and freeze. Soften ice cream slightly and stir in crushed peppermint candy. Pile into crust and freeze until firm. Just before serving beat egg whites with sugar until stiff. Spread meringue over pie, sealing edges to crust. Bake at 500 degrees for 3 to 4 minutes. Serve immediately.

Lemon Breeze

A breeze to make: No baking. Creamy, crunchy and cool. Here's the easy way:

- 1 cup Kellogg's® Corn Flake Crumbs
- 1/2 cup regular margarine or butter, melted
- 1/2 cup ReaLemon® Reconstituted Lemon Juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- 2 eggs, separated
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 can Borden Eagle Brand® Sweetened Condensed Milk (Not evaporated milk)

1. Combine Corn Flake Crumbs and margarine in 9-inch pie pan.

Reserve 2 tablespoons for topping; press remainder firmly and evenly in pan to form crust. Chill.
 2. In small saucepan combine ReaLemon Lemon Juice and gelatin. Place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved; cool.
 3. In mixing bowl beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar. Beat until stiff and glossy. Set aside.
 4. Beat egg yolks in mixing bowl until thick and lemon colored. Stir in Sweetened Condensed Milk and gelatin mixture; gently fold in egg white mixture. Spread evenly in Corn Flake Crumbs crust; sprinkle top with reserved crumbs. Refrigerate 2 hours or until firm. Cut into wedges. Yield: 8 servings

Behind Granny's Makeup You Find Irene Ryan.

by
Irving Wallace

The names Brown Derby and Hollywood are synonymous. Seemingly one could not do without the other. The egregious, sophisticated and jaded Hollywoodians have a great deal in common with the tourists from the Middle West who daily flock into the Brown Derby for lunch hoping to see some of their favorite television stars.

One day when the doors swung open the usual number of heads turned nonchalantly in the direction of the doorway. In walked a chic, well-groomed, blue-eyed, redheaded lady wearing a stunning blue cashmere sweater and matching skirt. All eyes bored into her momentarily, then returned to the luncheon plates. It was nobody anyone knew.

However, had this quiet stepping person worn say an old gray wig, an ill-fitting calico dress stretching down to cover a pair of old army boots four sizes too large for her; and had steel-rimmed glasses been hanging close to the end of her nose, she would have been recognized immediately as Irene Ryan, that popular shotgun-toting, whiskey-making Granny of the Beverly Hillbillies television show.

"I seem to be widely known," Miss Ryan quips, "as the actress who is not very well known wherever she goes."

She looks much younger than her actual years. She is chuck full of vitality as anyone knows who has watched her on the Hillbillies show during the past nine years. She has bounce, a wonderful bright personality, a brisk walk and a slender body. Her clothes are not gaudy or flouncy. She prefers simple lines which add to her youthfulness. She is a wonderful conversationalist.

In high-heeled shoes Miss Ryan stands 5-foot-2-inches, and "I weigh the same as the sacks of flour we used to buy when I was a girl — 98 pounds."

She, like most women, never gives out her age; however, she does not hesitate to talk about her years of experiences in show business.

The studio was soon to learn that the public actually clamored to know her age. Phone calls and letters were received from many parts of the country asking for her correct age, many to settle bets. One man had bet $100 Granny was not over 50. He reasoned that her Granny getup was clever makeup. He was told that he had better pay off. Another insisted that from what she said on the show she must be nearing 80. He wanted to learn her secret for being so active.

Without question, part of the success of Miss Ryan's role right off the start was due to her knowledge about mountain folk for during her experiences as a young actress with tent and stage shows they would make an annual swing through the Ozark country.

When the first Beverly Hillbillies program was televised on the network, practically every TV columnist slashed it to ribbons. They said it could not last. In fact, several said it should never be allowed on the air. This did not perturb the veteran actress. She knew that self-styled professional theater critics had often missed on stage shows in past years and felt their first guess on the future of Paul Henning's show would miss. She remembered how the public liked the tent shows. "I'll wager when people across the country have an opportunity to see our TV show they'll like it," she told the other members of the cast who were not so cheerful.

The public did! And soon a survey showed some 35,000,000 people in America were watching Granny and the others each week. In recent years it is estimated between 75 and 100 million people look at it weekly for it remains one of the top programs in many foreign countries.

When Miss Ryan tells that she worked as a child, she really means it. She was born in El Paso, Texas, on an October 17th. The family soon moved to San Francisco. At 10 she won an amateur contest. Recalling her first success, she said, "You really had to be good, too, or else a huge hook would come out the wings and drag you off stage. Those audiences were really tough and if one bombed they'd throw tomatoes at you."

When 13, and claiming to be 16, she overheard a booking agent tell her mother, "Your daughter has lots of talent, but she's so awkward her future is a question." Young Irene reasoned she could make capital from her awkwardness. It, along with her perennially unhappy expression and quivering chin, became her stock and trade. The girl had capitalized on her shortcomings and developed a popular act as a vaudeville comedienne.

She quit school and never has been off a stage since. Later with a husband, the late Tim Ryan, they toured in vaudeville for many years as Tim and Irene. The two went on radio in 1932. They were selected as a summer replacement for Jack Benny. She appeared two years on the Bob Hope radio show, co-starred with Doris Day, plus working in all varieties of show business, including motion pictures. She has worked in 48 of the 50 states.

Still not telling her age, she admits she recently celebrated her 50th year in show business.

Even without a computer one surmises Miss Ryan is somewhere around the 60 mark! "You know," she smiled, "a woman telling her age is like a magician showing how to do one of his tricks — people aren't curious after that."

In real life Miss Ryan lives in a house that falls between the video mansion of the program and the mountain shack that was the Clampett ancestral home. And this suits her perfectly. She would be out of place, and character, in either of the extremes. The furniture is Early American, too. "I lived in hotels so long I wanted furniture I could put my feet on if I wanted."

Miss Ryan says she never wants to retire. "Once people stop being active they just lose interest in life," she points out. "Retirement is something I can't picture for myself, I love feeling good, and I make sure I get plenty of rest. I don't go out very much, but I still dislike holidays."

When one of the leading television executives was asked for his opinion on the reason Irene Ryan's Granny character became one of the most popular characters in the history of television, he answered, "Because of Irene's years of vaudeville training — when she had to constantly study human nature in order to make people laugh — she brought to this role a little bit of what every grandmother is. Although she is a hillbilly granny, I am sure people of all nationalities recognize some facets of their own grandmother in her. It's the identifiable universality of her character which makes her so great."

With the children sending in most of Granny's large fan mail it is apparent she has bridged the generation gap and has complete communication with the youth. While Miss Ryan enjoys people's reaction to her out of character, she attempts never to disillusion the children by allowing them to see her out of costume.

"Maybe I am an old softie," she said, "but the kids have been one of the nicest parts of the role. Granny might be a bit cantankerous, but they love her. She looks like a grandma should. No, like some I know with their flawless coiffeurs. Why, if you called one of them 'Granny' to her face, she'd hit you with her peroxide bottle."

"I'll never forget the day I talked to a group of children when visiting the studio. They were the giggling age. As they were leaving one little girl came up to me and gave me a quizzical look. 'Granny!' she asked, 'can you really cook possum?'"

This one comes from the Mason County Democrat of Havana, Ill.:

A do-it-yourselfer had read the instruction sheet accompanying the newly acquired gadget time and again, but despite repeated efforts, he couldn't assemble it. At last, gathering all the various parts and instructions, he sought the help of an old handyman working in a nearby yard. After looking at the gadget for a few moments, the oldster soon had it in working condition.

"It's beyond me," said the do-it-yourselfer, "how you got it together without even reading the instructions."

"Fact is," was the reply, "I can't read . . . and when a fellow can't read, he's got to think."

THE ZANY ADVENTURES OF AN EXCHANGE STUDENT

By Chuck Rhein

Chuck Rhein takes a mid-day break in the fields using a wine sack—a pouch of goatskin which is squeezed.

Compartment C on the train had a problem. Me! And the dark-haired senorita, so slim and beautiful she took my breath away.

How could her Spanish family keep this wild foreigner (surely I must be, judging from what they'd heard and read about Americans) from their lush 19 year old daughter?

And what was a young Americano doing on a steam locomotive chugging through the barren plains of central Spain, far off the tourist trail?

Tension grew so thick in the tiny compartment you could almost cut it. For hours they argued loudly, their excited chatter and nervous glances beginning to bug me. A portly uncle stood in front of the demure young lady, shielding her from the attack they expected at any moment.

To compound their fears, night was drawing near—and that meant the added problem of sleeping arrangements. After much debate, they motioned for me to take the top berth and the uncle was given the first watch in what obviously would be an all-night vigil.

Their worry was greatly exaggerated. Weary from a day and a half on the train, I fell asleep almost immediately. But it was a restless sleep, especially with two eyes boring into me from close range. At 3 I awoke, my mind awl with the adventures that lay before me in my six months touring and working in this sunny land as an International Farm Youth Exchange student.

I stared out the window at the jagged mountain peaks shimmering in the moonlight... A gorgeous sight, particularly for a flatlander like me. My fingers touched a metal clip under the bed and absent-mindedly I began squeezing it.

Funny, I thought, how uptight these Spaniards are about protecting their dau . . . . .

Craaaaaaack!
Now I knew what that clip was for. It was the bed release. And it really released me! I tumbled right into the senorita's berth directly below. She shrieked, just as her bed collapsed, too. That triggered a chain reaction the likes of which the world hasn't known since scientists created the atomic bomb.

In seconds there was a tangle of bodies on the floor of the swaying train, with me at the bottom and the pretty senorita on top of me.

The chaos was unbelievable. It may even be a legend in that part of Spain today. Her family was infuriated. There was much shouting, screaming and swinging. All aimed at me!

The commotion awoke the entire train. Hundreds of passengers rushed into good old Compartment C, a frantic conductor close at their heels.

Few saw the humor of my blunder.

I began to wonder if I'd ever again see the rolling campus of Wisconsin State University-Platteville, where I'd taken a year's leave of absence to be one of the more than 5,200 goodwill ambassadors (that description rang a bit hollow about then) in the IFYE program since its inception in 1952.

It took all the verbal finesse I could muster to escape with my life.

After my stunning debut, I had the feeling that this proud old land of bullfights, castles, shepherds and fiestas wouldn't soon forget me. Nor would I forget it, for I had a chance to see and savor Spain from a perspective few tourists encounter.

Although I had resolved that there would be no clowning or horseplay, trouble stayed doggedly on my trail. My travels through rural Spain were spiced with so many zany episodes it's a wonder the country didn't fall into nervous collapse.

My next train ride, trauma again climbed aboard with me. (Most of my trips up and down Spain—about 15,000 miles to all four corners of the peninsula and the starkly beautiful Old Castile in the heartland—were in the smoky old steamers.)

The locomotive was whizzing along when I struck up a conversation with a bearded old Spaniard. He must have been 90, but he was alert and surprisingly spry. When I told him my destination, a shocked look crossed his face.

"But, senor," he said, "that town is coming up around the bend. The train doesn't stop there . . . you can't get off for another hundred miles."

"What! When I gave the conductor my ticket, I assumed he'd take care of the stop for me."

"You assumed too much," the Spaniard replied, shaking his head. "But . . . I think I can help."

He reached up and, as I watched open-mouthed, tugged the emergency cord. Tugged? He almost hung from it! Suddenly there was the ear-splitting screech of wheels skidding on tracks. Sparks flew past the windows like Fourth of July fireworks. Reeling like drunken men, passengers slid to the end of the cars, toppling over into heaps on the floor. The animals that Spaniards often bring on trains and busses—goats, rabbits and chickens—hurtled past me, bawling and squawking.

The train had stopped on a dime.

I scrambled up, grabbed my bags and jumped out the door. My aged friend flashed a toothless grin and whispered, "Don't worry, amigo. They'll never suspect an old codger like me."

At my first home—Siscar in the citrus country of southern Spain—I became an instant celebrity again. This time by virtue of a skittish mule.

After delivering a load of alfalfa I was returning to town when a backfiring truck scared the mule. The sleepy old critter took off like a cannonshot.

"Whoa, boy, whoa!" I pleaded. "Come on mule, please whoa!"

But a Spanish mule and an English speaking driver add up to a canyon-sized communications gap.

Kicking up clouds of dust, the mule raced through town at a full gallop with me—looking for all the world like a chariot-riding gladiator—yelling at the top of lungs, trying desperately to keep from falling out.

The mule didn't break stride until we were a half-mile out of town.

Siscar loved it. The local people laughed and waved and cheered. It was the best show, I was told later, since two French girls in bikinis had gotten lost two years before and asked directions back to the main highway.

When at last I returned to Siscar, I was greeted like a conquering hero.

"You plenty funny fellow, Carlos," a senorita told me.

"El Tornado," another quipped.

A month later, I slipped out of an olive tree I was pruning and splashed into a mucky irrigation ditch with a spectacular bellyflop. It was like quicksand; I sank to me chest. Several fieldhands came along and pulled me out.

I didn't think much about it, but when I returned that evening, the whole village was abuzz. I had been plucked from the throes of death. As I was gasping my last breath, the Spaniards had heroically managed to derrick the giant (at 6-2 I was a head taller than most everyone) up from the muck and slime.

The rescue, in short, had been ballooned into a saga to make Hollywood cringe with envy. Ah, stardom—how sweet it isn't.

But as the months wore on, I found my affection and respect deepening for this rugged land where the 20th Century is just now emerging. The Spanish are connoisseurs of life . . . unbowed by dawn to dusk toil and incomes so meager many earn less than $500 a year. They live life as it comes, savoring the daily bits and pieces—good conversation, good times, the friendship of others. And they know how to have fun. Anyone who's been to a fiesta will attest to that.

Despite my many misadventures, the Spanish treated me warmly through my half-year. They couldn't do enough to please their American guest. Perhaps they saw me more human and likeable because of my missteps.

And, as a boy raised on a Wisconsin dairy farm, I knew how to work long and hard—and got plenty of opportunity to prove it. (At Llerena, nestled along the Portuguese border, I put in 15 hour days in searing 115 degree heat—dropping 30 pounds and my hair turned white). As do all IFYE's, I also quickly emerged from my cultural cocoon, even to the point of eating lamb's eyes, considered a delicacy (gulp!) there. And I was able to pass along some farming know-how. One dairyman, for example, didn't feed his cows enough. When I persuaded him to boost the ration, milk production skyrocketed.

All good things must end one day, and it was with nostalgia that I said farewell to Spain. The memory of my leaving Siscar kept running through my mind. The whole town had turned out. Even the shepherds and farmers came in from the fields. More than 500 fathers, mothers and children stood on the dusty sidewalks, waving, shouting farewell, some even crying.

They were saying good-bye to the first and possibly the last American they would ever see.

I was proud to have been that person.

BY KAY HIVELY

With the passing of the great passenger trains that once cross-crossed this vast American continent, what is left for those of us who have a special feeling for trains? No longer can we wander down to the depot and wave to the passengers as they stare out of their big dining car windows. No longer is there the pleasure of watching the whistle stop train pull into the station and unload passengers, baggage and freight. Gone, too, is the busy little depot agent taking and sending telegraph messages and hurrying across the platform pulling the quaint little baggage carts.

True, these treasured scenes are gone but I've discovered a new and interesting hobby for train watchers. I suggest they become students of "boxcar literature." The classroom for these students can be anywhere there is a railroad track. It can even be down at the old abandoned depot.

The whole idea behind this is to read all the colorful drawings and writings that unknown authors have scribbled across the passing boxcars. This graffiti has a quality about it which is strictly Americana. Here in this "boxcar literature" one can sense the mood of a people. One can see many aspects of his own life.

Boxcar literature comes in many different categories often complete with illustrations. A student of this colorful art soon becomes familiar with some of the more popular authors. One with whom I have become acquainted is "Herby," also known as just "Herb." But his style, like other established writers, is distinct. "Herby's" most well known work is his sketchings of a sleepy little Mexican propped up against a palm tree. Herby is always considerate enough to date his work and, according to my findings, he has been at work since, at least, early 1968.

I first saw Herby's work at the trainyards in Willmar, Minnesota. His art work decorated several boxcars at the railyards there.

But for every one of the more established boxcar authors such as Herby and a fellow named "Pete" there are at least a hundred amateurs. Some of the amateur work is of high quality while some is strictly for fun and written on impulse.

Boxcar literature is truly the art of the people. Here there are no class distinctions — no one-man shows. Right beside the familiar cowboy of "Pete" can be a note scribbled by some lovesick young man which may read "Ann is cool" or "Steve loves Sue."

Signs of the times are always in abundance. The peace symbol is a favorite of many people while others just write "Peace Now." Another piece of graffiti I noticed at the Willmar yards was one I attribute to a member of the younger, hippie generation. It asked this question, "Why is there air?" I suspect if there are any scientists who are students of boxcar literature they would be tempted to take some chalk and answer that question.

Personal items are far and away the most popular forms of boxcar literature. Many people feel inclined to write just a name (probably their own), others go a step further and put down a phone number or address. Upon reading these names I'm always tempted to say "hi" to "Tom — Sunbury, PA" and "Dingle Clark — Toledo, Ohio 11/5/59."

My observations lead me to believe that the second most popular items are advertisements. This makes me wonder when some public relations company is going to offer space on these traveling billboards.

Then, of course, people find it enjoyable to express their political opinions. George Wallace receives nothing but praise from unknown admirers. Many cars, especially those of the Southern Pacific, proclaim, "Wallace in '72" or "Vote Wallace & LeMay." Other political figures get a smaller share of space in such declarations as "Nixon's my man," "Spiro is an Agnew" or "McGovern stinks."

Like any good hobby, boxcar literature can lead to other interesting observations. Besides the graffiti scrawled by unknown authors from across the country one finds the messages the railroad men send to each other up and down the line. Messages of this type say, "Repair this door," "Use bags only," and one which I found particularly interesting, "Railroad Strike — May 17, 1971."

Further observation leads one to note the variety of freight carried by today's railroads. The rails now carry automobiles, petroleum products, fruit, grains from the plains of the midwest, farm equipment, frozen foods, parts and supplies for the big Boeing 747's and missiles for the military. Another new feature one notices on today's railroads is the colorful array of railcars. Even the little red caboose isn't always red anymore. Engines and cars alike are now yellow, blue, green and there is even one painted red, white and blue.

And so, for all Americans who mourn the passing of the trains, wander down to the old depot and pull up one of the empty chairs that still sits up against the wall and watch for the next train. You're bound to see some exciting and colorful pieces of "Boxcar Literature."

U.S. POPULATION CENTER MOVES TO FARM IN "EGYPT"

by Grover Brinkman

It all started back in 1790, when America was young; the first population census was taken. At that time, strange as it might sound today, the first population center of the nation was 23 miles east of Baltimore, near Chestertown, Maryland.

In the 181 years since that time, the "center" has traveled westward more than 700 miles, dipping slightly south in the process.

Today the new 1970 population center has been pin-pointed to the Lawrence Friederich farm, 5 miles east of Mascoutah, Illinois.

Mascoutah is about 25 miles east of Saint Louis, Missouri, in that segment of southern Illinois known as "Egypt."

The new census center is 727 miles west and about 45 miles south of the first marker dating back to 1790. Down through the years people have been following Horace Greeley's advice to go west. The trek never stops.

The population center moved to Virginia in 1810. Fifty years later it had crossed to Ohio soil. Kentucky got it in 1880, and then for the next 60 years Indiana claimed it, incidentally, a longevity record, by any one state.

In 1940, the last year in Indiana, the site was near Carlisle. By 1950 the result of heavy industrial development on the west coast shot the center across the Wabash river to Dundee, Illinois, near Olney, a shift of 42 miles westward and 7.5 miles south. From Dundee the center moved to Shattuc, near Centralia in 1960. Now it is still further west at the town of Mascoutah.

Its present site, incidentally, is less than 30 miles from the Missouri border, so Illinois will be lucky if it keeps it another ten years.

What happens when a new population center is revealed?

According to Mr. Lawrence Friederich, on whose Mascoutah farm the 1970 center has been pin-pointed, it can be summed up in one word: Pandemonium!

The phone starts ringing and never stops. The family has been asked for interviews from the press wire services, national magazines and newspapers, the TV networks and radio stations.

"I drove out to the spot eleven times today," Friederich said. "Everyone wants a close look at the marker."

The population center is described by the Census Bureau as the point at which an imaginary flat, weightless and rigid map of the U.S. would balance if weights of identical size were placed on it so that each represented the location of one person on April 1, 1970, the day the last census was conducted.

The nation's geographic center is in Butte County, South Dakota.

For the next ten years, the town of Mascoutah, Illinois will have a terrific tourist image. That obelisk set on the front lawn of the city hall is a mighty magnet to the curious.
