Little Honored by Iosco Board

A "This Is Your Life" scrapbook, featuring highlights in newspaper clippings and pictures of more than 25 years of public service, was presented Tuesday morning to Lloyd S. Little by the Iosco Board of Commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. Little had been honored at a surprise dinner party Tuesday, March 14, by commission members and their wives. The affair marked their 60th wedding anniversary.

A blank scrapbook was presented to the honored couple during the party, held at Colonial Inn, Hale, William Wereley, county commissioner from Hale, was directed to compile information for the presentation of the scrapbook during the commission's April session. Old newspaper clippings and pictures were furnished by The Tawas Herald.

Little, who was born at Argyle, Sanilac County, February 29, 1892, represented the Iosco district in the state legislature in 1923-24. He and his wife have been residents of Sand Lake since 1920.

Active in Republican politics since reaching voting age, Little was elected to the old Iosco Board of Supervisors in 1952. He served on the county board until 1968, when the district commission form of government was adopted throughout the state. Little served as county finance chairman for many years and was chairman of the board of supervisors in 1965.

Following re-districting of the county, he continued to serve Grant Township as supervisor until the end of 1970. In the November general election of that year, he was elected eighth district commissioner.

Little announced Tuesday morning that this would be his last year in public affairs. "I've given many years of service to Iosco County and I do not plan to be a candidate for the district commission in the 1972 election," he stated.

Before coming to Iosco, Little had been a railroad telegrapher, employed by the Pere Marquette Railroad, Michigan Central Railroad and Detroit and Mackinac Railway. At the outbreak of World War I, the government took over operation of railroads and Little, who was drafted into the army, remained in the military's railroad traffic section.

He spent about 10 years as an insurance representative and operated a beef cattle farm in Iosco County, Reno and Grant Townships, for about 45 years. He retired from that business in 1965.

City Seeks State Aid on Fishing Sites

Tawas City officials are in hopes that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will aid in or purchase property along the Tawas River for development of public fishing sites.

At the present time, most of the river frontage is owned by private individuals and complaints have been heard in past years, particularly during coho salmon runs, of fishermen trespassing on private property.

The only property now owned by the city is the 60-foot street rights-of-way crossing the river at bridges or at streets ending at the river.

City officials conducted a representative of the DNR on a tour of the river last week. Some encouragement was received, but no commitment has been made concerning state development of sites.

One site in particular which the city would like to develop is along Ninth Avenue. The roadway is close to the street near the US-23 bridge and considerable erosion has been caused by fishermen walking along the river bank.

Cost of repairing the river bank and installation of treated wood piling would be approximately $10,000. A walkway would be included for the convenience of fishermen.

Judge Suppresses Illegal Evidence

A court-directed verdict of not guilty was entered by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller in a case against Donald Q. Wilson. Evidence was suppressed by the judge due to illegal search and seizure.

Wilson had been arrested by state police and charged with illegally carrying a .22-caliber revolver in his vehicle. The judge ordered that the confiscated revolver be returned to the owner.

TA Board Making Final Check of 1972-73 Operating Budget

Although adoption of a 1972-73 operational budget awaits action later this week, it is expected that Tawas Area School's budget to be presented next week to the county allocation board will be in the neighborhood of $1,361,421.

At Monday night's meeting of the board of education, Supt. Reynold Mick said that the new budget reflected a 5.5 percent increase over last year's operation. This amounts to an increase of $40,865.

The rate of increase is approximately the same as last year and is due to the generally increasing cost of all governmental operation through higher wages and higher cost of supplies.

A summary of expenditures indi-icates a cost of $387,195 for elementary education, as compared to $380,203 last year. Cost of secondary education would be $608,536, as compared to $564,074 in 1971-72. A number of teachers at the top of the pay scale are retiring in the elementary grades and are to be replaced by newer teachers at the lower end of the pay scale.

Other expenditure comparisons include community school, $30,120, up $720; administration, $51,410, up $5,410; transportation, $83,560, down $15,019 because of fewer bus replacements this year; operation, $112,300, up $6,200; maintenance, $28,500, same as last year; fixed charges, $51,450, down $6,500. Community services of $750 and capital outlay of $7,000 remain the same as last year.

Basing state aid on the same formula as received last year, the school would receive $384,756 from this source. Because of the district's increasing valuation, this is $57,485 less than received last year. To meet the budget, $866,365 would be needed in local taxes, based on nine mills from the 15-mill allocation and 7 1/2 mills of special operating taxes.

No state aid bill has been adopted by the legislature as yet. A bill recommended by the governor would give Tawas Area $464,290.

Members of the board of education are to meet with the superintendent this week before final action is taken on the budget to be submitted.

at a later date, the board of education directed administrators to continue investigation into the proposal.

Meetings have been held relative to the middle school concept. Administrators and teachers have been enthusiastic about the possibilities and felt it was needed.

Supt. Reynold Mick said at a meeting between administrators and a session of teachers, it was decided that the middle school concept should be implemented immediately even though there was no hope of immediate physical union of upper elementary grades.

"If the concept is good," said Mick, "then Tawas Area School should be working toward this in hiring of teachers and establishment of curriculum."

Mick said that teachers had been informed that if this new concept was adopted as a goal, the teachers should "plan to get behind the program, transfer to other areas of the school or be on the lookout for other employment."

Robert McDonald, assistant principal, reported he had visited two middle schools at Saginaw and found a much different type of atmosphere in those schools.

"There were no rows of desks with students listening to the lecture of a teacher; instead, the students were working together in groups. In some

Bridge Repair Bid Gets City Attention

Adopting a plan to finance its proposed bridge construction program by raising the city tax millage rate, Tawas City Council decided Monday night that it would delay action on proposed wooden bridges until additional information is received on steel structures.

Information was received this week from a Cass City contractor which puts an entirely new light on the bridge replacement program. A representative of H. H. Craig and Son appeared at Monday night's special meeting and entered a bid of $9,250 for repairing the Mathews Street bridge.

In addition, the representative estimated that cost of replacing the First Avenue bridge would be about $30,000, the same cost estimated for a wooden bridge. A feature of the proposed steel bridge is that it would be a clear span. A wooden bridge would require piling to be driven in the middle of the river for support.

Following inspection of the Mathews Street bridge over the week-end, the Cass City contractor told the council that the exposed steel trusses on the bridge had not deteriorated. He recommended removal of the existing jack-arch walkway deck on the east side, repair all bearing points and connections, as well as installations of new cover plates on floor beams with new galvanized steel plates underneath.

With installation of new steel guard rails on both sides of the main trusses, along with sand blasting and painting of the entire structure, the Cass City contractor estimated that the bridge would have an additional 25 years of life.

It was pointed out that the wooden bridge proposed to replace this structure would carry two lanes of traffic with a walkway to facilitate fishermen. If the bridge is repaired, it would accommodate only one lane of traffic and there would be no walkway.

Widening of the bridge would necessitate removal of parking on both sides of Mathews Street. Some councilmen expressed the opinion that it may be a waste of money to attempt saving the present 50-year-old structure.

In addition to the repair proposal, the Cass City contractor requested that the council delay action on letting bids for wooden bridges until he could make a proposal for replacing the First Street bridge with a steel structure. As a result, the council is to advertise for bids for bridges meeting H-20 load requirements of the state highway department, which were met or exceeded by the wooden bridges proposed by Graham Brimhall Company.

An invitation is to be extended to Edward Davison and Son, Tawas City building contractor, to submit a proposal. Edward Davison Jr. appeared before Monday night's meeting and indicated interest in bidding on the project.

Discussion on a bridge replacement program has been under consideration here since early March. Edmands Engineering Company, Bay City, consultant to the council, inspected all city-owned bridges and reported that the structures were rapidly deteriorating and should be watched carefully to prevent accidents. The report came as no surprise to the city, because of inspections made by the department of public works over the past number of years.

Edmands Engineering's report stated that further deterioration of floor beam hangers and end post bearings on the Mathews Street bridge could cause collapse at some future date. The engineer estimated that cost of replacing the bridge with a concrete and steel structure would be in the neighborhood of $80,000.

The city council was then approached by Graham Brimhall Company with a proposition to replace the decaying bridges with new wooden structures costing approximately $30,000 per bridge. Besides the cost saving, councilmen were enthused over the beauty afforded the river by the proposed wooden bridges.

Monday night's meeting was called to take action to finance the project and to make a decision on the wooden bridges. In the light of this new information concerning possible repair to the Mathews Street bridge and the steel structure proposed for First Street, action on the type of construction was delayed until bids are received.

In the only official action taken, the council adopted a resolution calling for a levy of three mills for two years to finance the bridge replacement program. The millage, plus diversion of about $10,000 in Act 51 money each year received from state gas and weight taxes, would bring in approximately $63,000 for a sinking fund. Under the program, tax anticipation notes would be issued the second year in order to complete construction in the first year.

Diversion of the state gas and weight tax money would mean that there would be no new street construction in the city for two years. A budget item would be included during the fiscal year of 1972-1973 to repair and maintain present streets. The new budget is to be proposed next month.

At its last meeting, the council authorized its engineer to commence a long-term study of streets in order to develop a program which would provide proper street drainage. City officials believe that money is being wasted without proper drainage and it was felt that at least two bridges should be replaced before there is any more work on street construction.

City officials believe that appropriation of millage on a pay-as-you-go plan is more feasible for financing the bridges than bonding the city for a project of this size. Interest rates for a bond issue would be higher, as well as the additional cost involved in selling bonds.

While awaiting bids on the bridges and further investigation of the bridge repair recommendation, the city is to contact the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to advise the state of the city's plans concerning bridge replacement. Bridges must be approved by the state before construction can begin.

TAWAS HOSPITAL'S electro-cardiograph equipment now has near instant communication with a computer center at Kalamazoo. While the EKG is being taken of a patient's heart, information is automatically transmitted to the computer.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Kalamazoo Computer Reads Hearts of Patients

In conjunction with expansion and modernization of facilities at Tawas first hospital in Northeastern Michigan, a new automatic electro-cardiograph was placed into service.

Visual taped recordings of heart contractions are now performed by computer and Tawas Hospital is in direct communication with a computer at Kalamazoo while the EKG is being taken in the patient's room or emergency room and transmitted.

Information concerning the patient is fed directly into the EKG machine at Tawas Hospital. Electrodes are attached to the patient and a three-dimensional "picture" is transmitted to the computer at Kalamazoo. The computer tells the technician at Tawas Hospital whether or not it received a good transmission, or if another tracing should be taken.

At the same time, the computer produces a copy of its interpretation of the patient's condition at the bedside unit and it becomes a part of the individual's record.

Operating on a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week basis, information is returned to the hospital within two minutes. A cardiographer at Kalamazoo checks transmissions between the two locations and, three or four hours later, submits a formal report in addition to the preliminary cardiograph.

Albert Simon, supervisor of Tawas Hospital's cardio-pulmonary department, said the new service has already demonstrated its work. The equipment is used approximately 50 times a week for both in-patient and out-patient care.

Donald Miner, assistant hospital administrator, said that use of the new equipment was expedited by the hospital's current expansion program. Telephone jacks are now located in each patient room which allows operation of the automatic electro-cardiograph at bedside.

In emergency cases, the unit may be wheeled directly into the emergency room and transmissions may be made from there to the computer.

Prior to introduction of this new service, electro-cardiographs were mailed to Bay City and information was returned to Tawas Hospital two days later by telephone.

$80,000 Settlement in Auto Negligence Suit

An $80,000 out-of-court settlement in an auto negligence suit involving four Northeastern Michigan counties has been approved and a consent judgment ordered by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller.

The case, involving an automobile operated by an employee of District Health Department No. 2, had been held in abeyance since October 1970, to await an official ruling by the Michigan Supreme Court involving governmental immunity.

Two decisions were handed down by the supreme court in 1971, including one, Maki vs. the City of East Tawas, which ruled against governmental immunity in such damage suits.

Pretrial on this case was started in August 1971 and was to be brought before Judge Miller.

The settlement to Mrs. Petz, which was approved without costs, included $17,500 each from Iosco, Alcona, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties, which comprise District Health Department No. 2, along with $10,000 from Mrs. Richards.

Jane Petz, executor of the estate of her late husband, Joseph E. Petz, who was killed in an auto accident February 7, 1967, on US-23, Harrisville Township, Alcona County.

Named as co-defendant in the case was Lillian J. Richards, an employee of the district health department.

According to the petition, Petz was headed south on US-23 and Mrs. Richards was headed north. A collision occurred when Mrs. Richards attempted to pass a truck.

TA Continuing Study of Middle School Concept

Tawas Area Board of Education gave its go-ahead Monday night to a plan whereby existing facilities would be utilized to establish a middle school concept.

While official action is to be taken at a later date, the board of education directed administrators to continue investigation into the proposal.

Meetings have been held relative to the middle school concept. Administrators and teachers have been enthusiastic about the possibilities and felt it was needed.

Supt. Reynold Mick said at a meeting between administrators and a session of teachers, it was decided that the middle school concept should be implemented immediately even though there was no hope of immediate physical union of upper elementary grades.

"If the concept is good," said Mick, "then Tawas Area School should be working toward this in hiring of teachers and establishment of curriculum."

Mick said that teachers had been informed that if this new concept was adopted as a goal, the teachers should "plan to get behind the program, transfer to other areas of the school or be on the lookout for other employment."

Robert McDonald, assistant principal, reported he had visited two middle schools at Saginaw and found a much different type of atmosphere in those schools.

"There were no rows of desks with students listening to the lecture of a teacher; instead, the students were working together in groups. In some cases, sixth, seventh and eighth grade students were working as groups in three different areas—shop, art and home economics, both boys and girls. The students wanted to be there and it appeared as though they liked school under this concept," commented McDonald.

The assistant principal said that meetings were to be held with teachers to form a curriculum committee. Teachers and administrators are to visit other schools where this teaching concept is utilized.

In other business, the board of education gave its approval to share the cost with Whittemore-Prescott Area School to bring in two speakers to present a program concerning a year around school. It was stated that the intermediate school district and two other school districts of the county were not interested in the program.

Tentative arrangements call for the presentation to be made Wednesday, April 26, through Friday, April 28. Meetings are to be held with students, teachers, the board of education and community groups in an effort to explain all aspects of the program. It was suggested that a joint meeting be held between business organizations of Tawas City and East Tawas to outline the program which is being utilized in Vermont.

Funeral Held for Mrs. Siegrist

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche Siegrist of Whittemore, 50, were held Sunday, April 9, at the Forshue Funeral Home, East Tawas, by the Rev. Kenneth L. Tousey. Burial took place in Flint Memorial Park.

State engineers estimate that the Department of State Highways will have to spend nearly 250 million dollars in the next nine years to repair studded tire damage unless usage is checked.

"To put this figure in perspective," Stafseth said, "it is more than what the department would get from its share of the two-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax proposed in the transportation package now before the legislature. It is the equivalent of all the state revenue available for construction on non-interstate highways such as M-21 and US-131."

Newly-completed surveys by the department show that the proportion of cars and small trucks using studded tires has declined from 15.2 percent last winter to 11.8 percent this winter. Approximately 520,000 vehicles are equipped with such tires.

Department officials speculated that the decline is partly the result of publicity on a bill in the legislature proposing to ban such tires. Research also has demonstrated that studded tires improve vehicle stopping performance only on glare ice while providing no advantage and contributing to safety hazards in other types of weather.

Stafseth cited research showing that studded tires increase vehicle stopping distance as much as 27 percent on dry or wet pavement. They also rub out pavement lane markings and wear out anti-skid materials applied to highway surfaces.

Ruts worn in the pavement not only add greatly to maintenance costs but could cause vehicles to hydro-plane during rainstorms and go out of control.

Department surveys showed that studded tire usage increased in 14 Michigan counties in the last year and stayed about the same or declined in the other 69 counties.

Increases were reported in Bay County, up from 16.3 percent of cars and small trucks to 19.7 percent; Cass, up from 24 to 26; Eaton, up from 10.3 to 13.3; Gratiot, up from 15 to 20.5; Ingham, up from 13.3 to 15.4; Iosco, up from 19 to 21; Isabella, up from 17 to 23.5; Lapeer, up from 13 to 16; Ogemaw, up from 24 to 29; Roscommon, up from 21 to 26; Saginaw, up from 14.1 to 15.1; Sanilac, up from 11 to 12; Shiawassee, up from 14.3 to 17; Tuscola, up from 22.5 to 25.5.

Decreases in larger counties included: Berrien, down from 21.4 to 13 percent; Calhoun, down from 12.2 to 9.6; Genesee, down from 17.1 to 16.4; Jackson, down from 19.8 to 9.8; Kalamazoo, down from 14.9 to 9.8; Kent, down from 21.1 to 16.9; Livingston, down from 20.7 to 17.3; Macomb, down from 7.7 to 7.5; Midland, down from 21.7 to 11; Monroe, down from 14.3 to 6.2; Muskegon, down from 25.4 to 17.3; Oakland, down from 12.1 to 10.9; Ottawa, down from 24.6 to 18.1; St. Clair, down from 10.4 to 7.1; VanBuren, down from 24.7 to 15.3; Washtenaw, down from 11.7 to 10.9; Wayne, down from 10 to 5.5.

State Seeks Highway Ban on Metal- Studded Tires

Usage of metal-studded tires has declined in Michigan since last year, but the damage they do is becoming increasingly evident, State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth reports.

"As the concrete surfacing wears down, the exposed aggregate material on some stretches of Michigan highways is beginning to resemble the cobblestone streets you see in Europe," Stafseth said.

State engineers estimate that the Department of State Highways will have to spend nearly 250 million dollars in the next nine years to repair studded tire damage unless usage is checked.

"To put this figure in perspective," Stafseth said, "it is more than what the department would get from its share of the two-cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax proposed in the transportation package now before the legislature. William Bowden Died April 6

William S. Bowden passed away Thursday, April 6, at his East Tawas home at the age of 60. Funeral services were conducted Monday, April 10, at the Moffatt Funeral Home, East Tawas, by the Rev. Kenneth L. Tousey. Burial took place in Flint Memorial Park.

Mr. Bowden was born October 18, 1911, in Mohawk. He married the former Leah J. Cook on July 20, 1935. He was a retired factory worker at the Buick plant in Flint, a member of the Tawas United Methodist Church and a veteran of World War II.

His wife survives him.

Board

In establishing June 12 as the date for the annual school election, the board of education may submit a proposal to voters asking for a levy of one-half mill for two years as a pay-as-you-go plan to finance construction of a library-resource center at the high school. If the proposition receives voter approval, a sinking fund would be established in order that tax anticipation notes could be issued for construction of the center in one year.

A proposal by Gene Sakamoto, band director, to hire Timothy Kasten, assistant director, to assist him in the four-week summer program, was denied by the board of education. The additional cost would have been $900. Present cost of the band program for the year is $25,570, which includes salaries and supplies. With 165 students served by the program, this amounts to an average cost of $154.97 per student.

The administration is to take another look at the school's driver education program. Driver education was offered during the regular school term this year as a departure from the past when the program was given during the summer. Because of snow days and bad driving conditions during the winter, which resulted in cancellation of classes, a number of students will not be able to complete the instruction during the regular school year. As a result, the school is to hold a class this summer for 50 students, which would relieve the class load next fall. Hiring of the instructor was left to the discretion of the assistant principal.

John Alexander, high school principal, reported that three students would be coming next fall from Central Michigan University in the continuation of the student teacher program. Two of the students are graduates of this district, Vicki Groff and Gary Nelkie.

The board of education authorized the administration to adopt a computerized scheduling program for use next fall. Estimated cost for this service is $1.50 per high school student in a general academic scheduling program. It is felt that such a system would result in a saving of time as well as improving scheduling and a better utilization of classrooms.

Set Annual Clean-Up Campaign

Michigan's annual state-wide clean-up campaign will be conducted from April 21 to May 20.

Keep Michigan Beautiful, Incorporated, which sponsors the annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign, said that all of its chapters throughout Michigan have been alerted to provide local leadership for the month-long effort.

Arthur E. Nelson of Saginaw, KMB's president, said the campaign will culminate on May 20, which is Community Pride Day of Michigan Week.

The month-long observance will include sermons in churches on stewardship and conservation on April 23; earth studies in the schools, April 17-20; Arbor Day ceremonies, April 28, and giving of flowers on May Day, the first of the month.

"This year we hope to see Michigan people do the best job ever in cleaning up trash that has accumulated during the fall and winter seasons and getting Michigan looking its best in readiness for the summer season and the annual influx of travelers from Michigan and other states," Nelson said.

Mrs. Chesbrough Died April 9

Mrs. Chesbrough was born August 4, 1914. She is survived by her husband, Harold; three daughters, and eight grandchildren.

Dairy Farmers Make Exodus in Michigan

At the rate Michigan dairy farmers are selling their herds, Michigan State University agricultural economists predict there will be one-sixth as many dairymen in the state in 1980 as there were in 1960.

There were more than 42,500 dairymen selling milk in the state 12 years ago, they say, and this figure will drop to about 6,500 by the end of the decade.

High investment and low income are among the major reasons for the exodus from the business.

LETTER to the EDITOR:

Dear Editor,

In a ruling by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, it is established that right-of-way," as used in the state law governing the use of snowmobiles, does not include the roadway or its shoulders.

While in the Upper Peninsula, snowmobiles may be operated on the right-of-way of public highways but not on the roadway or shoulders, the state law further restricts the use of public highways in the Lower Peninsula while retaining the exclusion of roadway and shoulder.

Township officials have erred in opening up all township roads to snowmobiles without sufficient restrictions and without consulting the electorate or requesting clarification of state law from the attorney general.

The people should now expect and demand that these poorly conceived ordinances be rescinded or amended to keep snowmobiles off roadway and shoulders in residential areas at the very least.

Dairy Farmers Make Exodus in Michigan

At the rate Michigan dairy farmers are selling their herds, Michigan State University agricultural economists predict there will be one-sixth as many dairymen in the state in 1980 as there were in 1960.

There were more than 42,500 dairymen selling milk in the state 12 years ago, they say, and this figure will drop to about 6,500 by the end of the decade.

High investment and low income are among the major reasons for the exodus from the business.

Law Has Central Role In Society, Says Pres. Nixon

In observance of the 15th annual celebration of Law Day USA, May 1, President Nixon urges all Americans "to think anew of the central role of law in our society."

In his 1972 Law Day USA proclamation, President Nixon said that "this year many observances (in recognition of Law Day) will be designed to promote greater efforts to renew our governmental institutions, strengthen the legal structure and encourage a wider acceptance of the responsibilities of citizenship."

Law Day USA was inaugurated by presidential proclamation in 1958. In 1961, congress, by joint resolution, established the annual observance as a special day to remind all Americans of their rights and responsibilities of citizenship.

Following is the complete text of the presidential proclamation:

"Reminiscing once about his long and distinguished law career, the late Felix Frankfurter pointedly recalled how a dispute over a legal question had ended with a colleague on the Harvard Law School faculty. 'You take law awfully seriously,' his friend chided him. 'Yes,' Professor Frankfurter replied quietly. 'That's one accusation against which I plead guilty without reservation.'

"I do take law very seriously," he maintained, 'because fragile as reason is and limited as law is as the expression of the institutionalized medium of reason, that is all we have standing between us and tyranny of mere will and the cruelty of unbridled, undisciplined feeling.'

"As America prepares to celebrate this year, the 15th annual observance of Law Day USA, we have only to reflect for a moment upon the impact of law in order to appreciate the reverence in which it was held by Justice Frankfurter.

"Unquestionably, the rule of law underlies our entire social, economic and governmental structure. Under it, men and women can buy and sell, marry, express their personal opinions and engage in a vast array of other activities with the assurance that their contracts will be enforced and their liberties protected. Without it, America would not have realized its unparalleled growth in prosperity, individual freedom and equality of opportunity.

"Law Day is not a day set aside for lawyers, but was established by the congress to encourage every citizen to think anew of the central role of law in our society. This year many observances will be designed to promote greater efforts to renew our governmental institutions, strengthen the legal structure and encourage a wider acceptance of the responsibilities of citizenship. The law, as Daniel Webster said, 'has honored us, may we honor it.'"

"We cannot help but believe it is geared to minority recruitment," Wood added. "The pressures have been mounting to recruit minorities without regard to the individual's qualifications.

"Are they saying there are not enough good blacks, Mexican Americans or Indians who can become troopers under the very same conditions we did? I cannot believe that," Wood said. "We have black officers on our department who came in under the same standards and qualifications as set for us. "In fact, our association's own executive board voted in February to become involved in recruiting those born to minorities," Wood said. "No one forced us and we felt it was the right thing to do until the Michigan Civil Rights Commission began complaining our standards were too high to bring in the minorities and sought an order to change things. "We must resist any and all attempts to lower our standards and qualifications just so someone can meet a political commitment," Wood said.

"We feel the maintenance of these standards has been a key reason why the Michigan State Police have become one of the finest law enforcement agencies in our nation," Wood went on, "and, if these qualifications are changed drastically, it could mean the hiring of new troopers who are not psychologically or physically suited to be police officers. "We feel the public is demanding more professionalism of police officers," Wood said, "and I doubt if you can reach this plateau if lesser men are permitted to join.

"This same public," Wood noted, "has always held the Michigan State Police in high esteem and we think, if the people are made aware of this meddling with our standards, they will act accordingly.

"Already the Michigan Legislature has before it a resolution chiding those who would lower our standards and qualifications," Wood asserted, "and if this tampering continues the result could bring on a complete halt to all recruiting in the Michigan State Police. "The legislature controls the purse strings and provides the money for our recruit schools," Wood said. "Feeling as many of these representatives do we might urge them to withhold any more public funds if our standards are lowered or changed too much. "If the Civil Rights Commission and if our Civil Service Department are sincere in bringing more men from minorities into our department, they should avoid creating conditions that could cost us further new men," Wood said. "Certainly we need more blacks, Mexican Americans and Indians," Wood said, "but I doubt if they will want to join us if conditions are tailored just for their benefit." Wood, assigned to the Flint State Police Post, urged Michigan taxpayers to advise the Civil Service Department of their feelings. Wood and the MSPTA's vice president, Tpr. Herbert B. Ketzler of Munising, met newsmen at the Detroit Press Club. The MSPTA represents about 85 percent of all troopers, detectives and sergeants in the Michigan State Police.

Antique Workshop Series Features Quilting

The YWCA of Bay County is presenting a quilting workshop on April 19, 1:00 p. m., as part of the antique workshop series. Mrs. Donald Wilson of Midland will be guest speaker on the topic, "The History of Quilting." There will also be quilting demonstrations, displays and pattern exchanges. Those who plan to attend the workshop and have quilts of interesting design or history are asked to bring them. Concluding the antique workshop series will be Lecturer George Michael, editor of The National Antiques Review, who will be presented at the YWCA May 1. Michael is known as "Mr. Antique" on both sides of the Atlantic, resulting from his recent guided tours, which have taken him and his parties into Russia as well as other European nations in search of art and architectural treasures. In this country, he has been credited with creating new interest in the art and collection of antiques. The topic of Michael's lecture will be "How to Collect and Enjoy Antiques," beginning at 8:00 p. m. at the YWCA.

Civil Service Meddling?

Troopers Protest Proposed Change

The Michigan State Police trooper of the future may well be a man five feet, six inches tall, weighing 115 pounds "soaking wet" and who needs a strong pair of glasses to sight along the barrel of his service revolver.

And he will not have to be all that bright either if educational requirements and testing as known today are also dropped.

"That is the sort of meddling we are seeing now over the standards and qualifications in becoming a trooper," declared Tpr. James R. Wood, president of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association (MSPTA) during a news conference Wednesday.

"It is all pretty ridiculous," Wood said, "but this is how civil service staffers have been going about trying to lower our standards.

"Can you imagine a woman trooper pulling over a carload of hoodlums who are drunk or high on grass?" Wood said. "I would hate to see what shape she is in after they have finished with her.

"Yet civil service has been telling our department that women should be put out on road patrol like the men," Wood said.

Wood blamed agitation to reduce standards on those who seek to increase the head count of men born to minorities on the 1,800 member force.

"Again it is a case where you have bureaucrats and politicians who are detached from the rigors and perils of police work writing standards for those who have to face the dangers. "I have nothing personal against a short man," Wood continued, "Physically, I am too big to be a jockey so why would someone want a jockey-sized man trying to do my job."

Wood noted that during the past month civil service staffers have badgered the department over standards, suggesting easing of height requirements as well as eyesight. Also regarding police women that only a maximum age of 30 be set without a minimum and foregoing education standards.

"Civil service has proposed these changes and it is only because our department has resisted that they have not as yet become a rule of hiring," Wood said.

"We cannot help but believe it is geared to minority recruitment," Wood added. "The pressures have been mounting to recruit minorities without regard to the individual's qualifications. "Are they saying there are not enough good blacks, Mexican Americans or Indians who can become troopers under the very same conditions we did? I cannot believe that," Wood said. "We have black officers on our department who

Tax Break For Child Care

The Revenue Act of 1971 will ease the tax burden on working mothers. Beginning this year, single, widowed, divorced, separated and unwed parents and families in which both parents work may claim deductions for the cost of child care.

Deductions may be taken for child care in the home or outside the home. The amount you may deduct is limited to $200 a month for one child, $300 a month for two children, and $400 a month for three or more children. Care for children up to the age of 16 qualifies for the deduction, as does care of dependent older relatives.

Families with incomes under $18,000 can claim the full amount allowed up to the $4,800 limit. If your total family income is over $18,000, deductions are reduced by 50 cents for each additional dollar you earned above that point. For example, $3,800 is the most a family earning $20,000 could claim.

When family income reaches $27,600 no deductions are permitted. Be sure to keep full and accurate records during this year. This deduction goes into effect with the 1972 tax returns you will file next year.

You Can Build This Deck

Economical Garden Grades of redwood were used to build this practical deck, stained to contrast with the house. Note how the corner planters are sided with bevel siding to complement house siding.

Backyard Remodeling With Redwood

Residential remodeling needn't be restricted to houses. That's only half way. All the way means garden remodeling, too.

All the way also means redwood. The "Garden Grades" of redwood, Construction Heart, Construction Common, and Merchantable, are an economical alternative to the more costly upper grades.

Do-it-yourselfers are tackling bigger and bigger jobs every day. Redwood Garden remodeling offers numerous possibilities—decks, fences, planters, retaining walls, benches, stepping and garden shelters.

Backyard remodeling can involve as much planning as interior remodeling. For example, plan a deck so that it can be entered from two doors if possible.

Tell Disability Benefits Under Social Security

Question: I am receiving monthly disability payments from social security. If I continue to get disability benefits for five or six years before I recover and return to work, would my retirement payments at 65 be less because I was disabled and unable to work?

Answer: No, your retirement benefits would not be reduced because you were disabled. Furthermore, the years while you were disabled will not be used in figuring your retirement benefits later. This gives you the advantage of retaining a high yearly average of earnings.

Question: I know my social security student payments stop with the month I am 22. I will be 22 in September. Must I still fill out and return the end of the year report for students?

Answer: Yes. Be sure to show on your report whether you will return to school in the fall. If you plan to continue in school after you are 22 and your earnings do not go over $140 a month during July and August, you will still get checks for the month of July and August. If your earnings will exceed $1,680 for the year and $140 in July and in August, you may not be eligible to receive a check for these months.

Question: My mother, who was 68 years old, died last month. Since I paid some of her doctor bills, could I receive any payment from medicare for these bills?

Answer: You could receive partial reimbursement. You should ask the doctor for a receipt showing you paid the bills in full and the date, place, charge for and description of each service. Call any social security office for help in completing a claim for payment.

If you have a question about social security, contact your district office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, Michigan 48706; telephone, 893-9579. For your convenience, a social security representative will be at the Isoco County Building, Tawas City, every Thursday of each month from 9:45 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Do you and your wife know exactly where all your insurance policies are?

You probably haven't looked at them for quite a while. And possibly, as you moved from town to town (or agent to agent) you may have bought policies that duplicated some protection you already had. It's worth checking into. After all, why pay for anything twice? Give us a call.

NEW automatic electro-cardiograph equipment was recently placed into service at Tawas Hospital which enables the hospital to receive information on a cardiograph of a patient's heart within three minutes of transmission to a computer at Kalamazoo. Albert Simon, supervisor of the cardio-pulmonary department at Tawas Hospital, is shown operating a teletype machine which is used in conjunction with other equipment. Simon, formerly with Hutzel Hospital at Dearborn, has been a member of the hospital staff here for the past six months.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Go Fly a Kite, but Avoid Elec. Wires

"Go fly a kite," says J. Gordon Huck, Consumers Power Company's Tawas area community manager, "but do it safely!"

Mr. Huck is urging parents and school officials to warn youngsters of the dangers of flying kites near electric lines and poles.

"Each year," he says, "accidents happen when kites become tangled in trees and wires. Children are injured trying to free them. Accidents also occur when a kite flyer uses metallic or wet string which can conduct current if it crosses an electric line."

Mr. Huck listed these basic rules

- (1) Use dry string, not wire or anything metallic.
- (2) Use wood and paper in your kite, not wire or metal.
- (3) Fly your kite on days when there is no rain.
- (4) Avoid busy streets and highways while flying your kite.
- (5) Fly your kite far from television and radio aerials.
- (6) Keep away from electric lines.
- (7) If an electric line falls, stay away from it.
- (8) Call your power company if your kite gets snagged in a line, do not pull the string or climb the pole.

Grange Meeting Held April 3

The Whittemore Grange met on Monday evening with Worthy Master Terry Bellville presiding over the business session.

Mrs. Nancy Bellville reported that Channel Five, Television, is planning to present a program in the near future regarding the farmers' side of the recent rise in cattle prices. News reports have neglected to give this side of the story.

Mrs. Marguerite Aulerich was again appointed chairman of the organization's community service and community more beautiful programs. The Grange voted to send letters to the Bay City Times and law enforcement agencies in the county regarding the plastic wrapped advertising litter that is being thrown along M-65, M-55 and the adjoining roads.

The Church of God will continue to use the Grange Hall for its services. A pot-luck supper was served preceding the business meeting. The home economics committee had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Lelia Barrington returned home March 31 from her vacation in Hawaii. She had a very enjoyable time there and was accompanied home by her son, Robert, who has a 10-day vacation. He will be spending some time here with his mother and the remainder of his vacation in California.

Miss Melanie Hottos spent part of her Easter vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cavett of Gaines. They will soon be new residents of Whittemore.

Friends are glad to see John Dickey is back to work at the post office after his recent illness.

Eugene Beaudrie, who received a back injury from a fall on the ice, is now home from the hospital and continuing his studies for the ministry at Delta College.

Mrs. Lucille Graham was in Bay City on Saturday where she had her French poodle clipped in a Continental style at the Groom Shoppe.

The Junior Girl Scout Troop has a nice display of paintings in the windows of the old Hoffman store.

The next P-TA meeting will be held April 11.

Mrs. Pat Nickell was a caller in Bay City on Monday.

The first racing meeting of the year for the Whittemore Speedway Association was held Saturday evening, March 25.

The newly-established Church of God, which was meeting at the Burleigh Township Hall, will now assemble at the Grange Hall, previously known as the Hottos school, on the Whittemore-Prescott Road. Sunday school is at 10 o'clock; morning worship, 11 o'clock; evening worship, 7:30 o'clock; and a prayer meeting Thursday evening, 7:30 o'clock. The community would like to extend a warm welcome to the Rev. Daniel Gagnon.

Mrs. Lelia Barrington and son, Robert Barrington, were Wednesday evening dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drzewiecki of Standish.

Mrs. Dorothy Burkholder, son, Clifford, and granddaughter, Darlene, left Tuesday for South Bend, Indiana, to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Bessie C. Bottorff. They returned late Thursday.

Several of the Grange ladies met at the home of Mrs. Gerald Bollen on Wednesday afternoon to make lap robes which will be used at a local medical facility.

Richard Aulerich, wildlife biologist at Michigan State University, is attending the International Convention on fur bearing animals at Edinburgh, Scotland, March 24-April 10. Mr. Aulerich lectured on nutrition, raising and breeding of fur bearing animals. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aulerich of Whittemore.

Miss Susan Bellville returned home on Sunday after spending the past eight days vacationing in Nassau.

Units Table Action on New Ambulance Pact Until June 1

Apparent agreement was reached April 11 between participating governmental units for turning over the ambulance service to Tawas Hospital.

Although no agreement is expected to be signed until June 1, contributions by the governmental units based on assessed valuation and population were adopted.

A budget of $3,000 as the amount to be shared by participating units is based on a workable estimate arrived at during the meeting. It includes a probable operating loss plus cost of equipment depreciation.

While the ambulance service has been operated by Tawas Hospital, ownership of equipment still remains under title of the 12 participating governmental units, with the City of East Tawas handling the administration. As a result, depreciation on equipment was not adequately handled.

The new contract would turn ownership of equipment over to Tawas Hospital.

Contributions based on valuation and population of each participating unit were as follows:

Alabaster Township, $175; Baldwin Township, $309; Burleigh Township, $145.50; Grant Township, $226.50; Plainfield Township, $622.50; Reno Township, $78; Sherman Township, $321.50; Tawas Township, $273; Wilber Township, $103.50; East Tawas, $523.50; Tawas City, $370.50; Whittemore, $81.

Representatives of the various governmental units were to report back to township boards and city councils for approval of the proposed budget and contributions.

A recommendation by the planning commission to rezone the remaining unused property comprising the old fairgrounds from industrial to recreational was tabled Thursday night by the East Tawas Council.

Several councilmen and Mayor Robert Bolen expressed the opinion that this property located on the south side of Bridge Street should be rezoned residential and disposed of for such use. The property is owned by the city.

It was pointed out that a recreational area in that neighborhood is included in plans for the 52-acre disposal property. It was believed that the city's recreational program should be studied before any action is taken on the property. The matter was turned over to the planning commission and parks and recreation commission, which is to hold a joint meeting next month.

In other business, the council approved a five-year lease with Chris B. Miller for operation of the bait shop at the city park. Miller has purchased the building and is to lease the city-owned land at a rate of $300 per year.

Building applications approved during the past two weeks included: Floyd Grove, Tawas Lake, new roof on rental cabin, $175; Clare Earl, 501 West State, repair, $3,000; James Dubovsky, Bennington's Addition, $3 by 47-foot dwelling, $15,000.

36 Attended Meeting of Retired Persons

American Association of Retired Persons met Wednesday, April 5, with 35 members and one guest, Mrs. Eva Gremens, present. Board of directors met Monday, April 10, at the home of Fred Francis Sr. Pot-luck luncheon will be held at the Wednesday, April 19, 12 o'clock noon, meeting at the East Tawas Community Building. Mrs. Sharon Dzierlatka will display the technique of decorating discards and various hobby materials.

Smoley Says:

Don't let trash fires get away!

Get some green back!

In your lawn—and in your pocket.

TURF BUILDER is the lawn food we recommend most often for spring fertilizing. It releases its nutrients only as fast as the grass can use them. So there's no spindly surge growth to cause extra mowing and no wasteful leaching away of nutrients — no matter how much it rains. TURF BUILDER produces a thicker, greener, sturdier lawn. Lasts longer too, because it's TRIONIZED.

Iosco County Has 10.71 Increase On Tax Base

Iosco County has a new tax base of $121,152,522, a 10.71 percent increase over 1971, according to a tax roll footing report submitted Tuesday to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

It is expected that the above total will be substantially the same as commissioners will adopt through equalization of the county during this week's April session.

Henry Oates, county tax equalization department director, said he would recommend equalization of the county as indicated on his tax roll footings report. Oates said that, based on his study, all units had assessed at 49 to 50 percent of the true cash value.

After adoption of the county equalization report this week, it is to be submitted to the state tax department for the final state equalized valuation figure. It is anticipated that there will be no change from the county total.

Highest percentage of the increase again came in Oscoda Township, which now has an assessed valuation of $38,011,300, with $32,571,700 in real property and $3,439,600 in personal. This is $5,001,261 higher than the April 1971 equalized figure and represents an increase of 16.13 percent.

Baldwin Township was next with an increase of 10.86 percent or $1,010,300, based on real estate of $9, 298,900 and personal property of $1,016,500 for a new total of $10,315,400.

Burleigh Township was next with an increase of 10.25 percent or $196,900 higher than the April 1971 report. The total assessed valuation in that township is $2,117,600, with $1,961,400 in real estate and $136,200 in personal.

The tax roll footing report was as follows for the remaining units of the county:

Plainfield Township, 9.81 percent increase of $1,561,200, with $16,279,000 in real estate, $1,202,200 in personal property for a new total of $17,481,200; Tawas City, 9.75 percent increase of $664,980, with $6,208,500 in real estate and $1,276,050 in personal property for a total of $7,484,550; East Tawas, 8.96 percent increase of $844,100, representing $8,973,500 in real estate, $1,291,000 in personal property for a new total of $10,264,500.

Grant Township, 8.46 percent increase of $580,800, representing $6,412,300 in real property and $1,035,500 in personal property for a new total of $7,447,800; Tawas Township, 8.42 percent increase of $304,972, which includes $3,464,000 in real property, $463,672 in personal property for a new total of $3,927,672; Alabaster Township, 7.31 percent increase of $467,900, representing $5,278,900 in real estate and $1,591,400 in personal property for a new

total of $6,870,300; Reno Township, an increase of 7.29 percent or $133,600, with $1,712,700 in real estate, $252,500 in personal property for a new total of $1,965,200; Wilber Township, 7.29 percent increase of $191,300, with $2,491,400 in real property and $323,900 in personal property for a new total of $2,815,300;

Whittemore, 7.06 percent increase of $60,700, with $733,600 in real property and $186,500 in personal for a new total of $920,100; AuSable Township, 6.79 percent increase of $648,900, with $9,159,200 in real estate, $1,047,500 in personal property for a new total of $10,206,700; Sherman Township, 2.55 percent increase of $32,700, with $2,094,700 in real property, $1,230,200 in personal for a new total of $3,324,900.

The average valuation adjustment for real estate was 3.82 percent higher than in 1971, based on the tax department's sales study announced in December. Oates said in some units, the total valuation increase is higher than the total of new construction and adjustments, the difference being due to new property descriptions and formation of new subdivisions.

The county had $8,593,550 in new construction during the past year, as reported last month by the tax director's office.

STATE REP. THOMAS FORD OF GRAND RAPIDS, demonstrates on I-96 Freeway west of Lansing, the cobblestone street-type surfacing beginning to appear on many Michigan highways. The culprit is metal-studded tires. Ford is sponsor of a bill to ban such tires, which State Highway Department engineers say will cause $250 million damage in the next nine years if usage goes unchecked. Research shows studded tires improve vehicle stopping performance only on glare ice while providing no advantage and contributing to safety hazards in other types of weather.

LETTER to the EDITOR

Dear Editor: We wish to take this opportunity to introduce you readers to a relatively new association in Northern Michigan.

The Alpena Association for Children with Learning Disabilities was granted its provisional charter by the Michigan Association in September 1971. Our association is comprised of parents and professionals who are working together to insure proper understanding and programming for our learning disabled children.

A child with learning disabilities is one of normal or above normal intelligence, who has disorders ranging from mild to severe, which prevents him from achieving his full potential in the classroom. He may be hyperactive or hypoaactive, causing behavioral problems.

Expert studies show that from five to 20 percent of all children suffer from learning disabilities. If these children are reached early, much can be done to realize their full potential and save them from severe emotional problems and/or juvenile delinquency.

Being informed is something we all can have a part in. In an effort to bring this information to Northern Michigan, we of the Alpena Association are sponsoring a Conference on Learning Disabilities on May 5 and 6. Workshops will be held for both parents and professionals.

For more information, please write AACLD, Post Office Box 573, Alpena, Michigan 49707.

Sincerely,
AACLD

SOLID STATE $119⁹⁵ FROM Other Style LAWN-BOYS From $99.95

Solid State Ignition on new Lawn-Boy push mowers. Another "first" for Lawn-Boy. Now the mower that's already famous for quick, fingertip starting, starts even more consistently. Solid State Ignition virtually eliminates mower tune-ups. It's the most significant advance in power mower history.

More powerful engine.
We've increased the horsepower up to 20% more, yet it's still three and a half pounds lighter than comparable horsepower engines. And the oil goes right in the gasoline. So there's no need to worry about crankcase level. No need to drain the oil. No fear of oil starvation even on the steepest terrain.

Don't be staggered by our staggered wheels.
They're staggered for good reason. To prevent scalping of turf on rolling or uneven lawns. They also increase the stability of the mower, and make it easier to trim close to fences, shrubs and trees. And while we're talking about the wheels, you'll notice Lawn-Boy has six different cutting heights that adjust instantly with fingertip ease.

Plus all these other great features:
Fingertip starting — Fold-down handle — Multi-position handle — Fingertip bag adjustment — Under-the-deck muffler — Variable speed control — Magnalite® deck — Vacuum sweep action — Smooth tires — One year warranty.
