Proper Land Use Stressed by Ranger

Calvin Norton, 34, new Tawas District ranger with headquarters at the Federal Building, East Tawas, said Monday that management of public lands is a real challenge to those charged with this responsibility.

"What we do with our land today carries its effect a long way into the future—we want to be right, if at all possible," he stated.

Norton, who served 2½ years as resources assistant in the Manistee National Forest Ranger District at Manistee, succeeds Myron Smith, who has been transferred to the regional office at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

A nine-year member of the United States Forest Service, prior to coming to Michigan Norton served in the Clark and Mark Twain National Forests in Missouri. He is a native of Farrar, Iowa, and is a forestry graduate of Iowa State University. He and his wife, Lynette, are parents of three boys, aged 12, nine and five years.

Norton said that he was presently getting acquainted with the district, as well as meeting cooperating fire wardens and citizens of the area.

Norton said that use of public lands is constantly increasing each year. Along with state lands, the national forest provides the major portion of outdoor recreational opportunities to Michigan due to the close proximity with urban areas.

Due to inadequate funding in past years, present facilities probably have fallen behind the demand for public recreation. He said that while some plans for expanded facilities have been developed and then shelved due to lack of funds, work would soon have to start toward development of recreational resource programs, particularly in campgrounds.

The new ranger said that present facilities were gradually deteriorating due to heavy usage, but he believed that it would be far more economical to improve and expand these existing facilities than to develop new ones.

He said that a major problem to be faced is to provide safe recreational opportunities for people, while not over-controlling through the use of "no" signs. He referred specifically to balancing the use of public lands among the many different interests—camping, hiking, hunting, snowmobiling, dune buggies in some areas—while still making the best possible use of natural resources.

"We must continue to study the habits of people and design areas to blend with the people and the habitat," he stated. "We at the field level, the lowest echelon of the service, are close to the problem and our projection ideas need to be brought out at the higher levels."

Norton said that he and members of the district staff were presently working on financial projections, timber sales and getting equipment ready for the spring planting season. There are nine persons assigned to this ranger district.

He said that because of the fluctuating seasonal work load in this district, there probably will be further development of the cooperative college work study program whereby

Escapes Injury When Snowmobile Burst Into Flames

A snowmobile rider, Mrs. Robert Hicks of Lennon, escaped injury Sunday morning when the machine which she was operating burst into flames in Reno Township.

Investigating sheriff's department officers said that Mrs. Lennon bailed off the machine when it burst into flames at the Walter Redmond farm. Mrs. Hicks' husband had been riding the machine and had stopped to let his wife take a turn. She traveled about 500 feet when the fire broke out.

The machine was a total loss and valued at $1,000.

Two persons were treated at Tawas Hospital for injuries received in Iosco snowmobile accidents over the week-end.

State police officers said Bradley Lightcap, seven years old, Oscoda, was treated for mouth injuries sustained Sunday in Wilber Township. Riding on a machine operated by William Hatch, 33, Wurtsmith Air Force Base, the snowmobile hit a bump and the boy struck the handlebars of the machine.

Larry Mitchell, 22, Davison, sustained injuries when his machine struck a clump of ice on Bass Lake and flipped over.

Council Tables Action on Filling Alderman Vacancy

Appointment of a successor to fill the council seat vacated by Martin Wellna has been tabled by the Tawas City Council until receipt of a legal opinion on one provision of the new city charter.

The tabling action was taken Monday night when councilmen were unable to agree on interpretation of a charter provision which prohibits an elective officer from holding any "office or employment, compensation for which is paid out of city money, except that to which he was elected," as stated in section 4.6, paragraph G.

A strict interpretation of this chapter would mean that members of the volunteer fire department would be ineligible to serve on the city council. Ald. James Lansky, who serves as fire chief, has indicated that he was prepared to submit his resignation from the fire department. Ald. Clark Tanner is also a member of the volunteer fire department.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz stated that he, too, probably would be resigning from the fire department very shortly because of the possible conflict with his new position.)

In nominating Daniel Ulrich as Wellna's successor on the council, Ald. Frank Ahonen said that if firemen were full time employees of the city he "could accept" the present interpretation of paragraph G. He pointed out that the department was composed of volunteers and paid the minimal rate of $7 per fire call attended.

Ulrich, who had served previously on the council and is presently a member of the water board, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Lansky as fire chief.

Ulrich's nomination as alderman, along with nomination of Edward Savage as Wellna's successor, submitted by Ald. Robert Rollin, were both tabled through council action. Rollin said he had not contacted Savage to determine if he would accept an appointment but he believed that someone new to city government should be named as a successor.

Mayor John Brugger said that the reason for the provision in the charter was to assure that aldermen would break former ties with organizations in order to prevent power blocks on the council. He said it was the responsibility of councilmen to determine priorities of the city without being influenced by outside boards or organizations.

The mayor, along with Ahonen and Ald. Chester Smyczynski, expressed the opinion that the volunteer fire department should not be hampered through immediate enforcement of all charter provisions. Donald Oakes, Grand Rapids consultant who aided the charter commission in its deliberations, has told the city manager that the council must use its judgment in implementing the new charter.

City Atty. Kenneth Myles is to be requested to make a ruling on the charter provision.

According to the present interpretation of the charter, the provision would also prohibit the mayor and mayor pro tem from serving on the water board. Terms of two other members of the water board expire this year.

ET Council Directs

City Snowmobile Ordinance in Force

East Tawas' 1971 ordinance governing operation of snowmobiles on city streets is to remain in force until such time as there is further clarification on possible conflict with the amended state law.

This action was taken Monday night following a one-hour discussion at the regular council meeting. (Similar action was taken by the Tawas City Council following a brief discussion Monday night.)

While the 1971 amendment to the state law prohibits snowmobiles from traveling the shoulder or right-of-way of streets and highways, it was stated at the East Tawas Council meeting that there is a possible "loophole" in the act allowing cities to designate streets on which snowmobiles may operate.

An ordinance adopted by the council last year permits snowmobile operation on certain streets and the new state act states that a city may pass an ordinance regulating snowmobile operation if the ordinance meets substantially the minimum requirements of the act.

City Atty. Michael Freel advised the council that, if the council deemed it advisable, it should designate streets permitting snowmobile operation.

One section of the ordinance apparently is in conflict with state law. The local ordinance adopted by both East Tawas and Tawas City requires a snowmobile operator to possess a motor vehicle driver's license. The 1971 act states that a parent or legal guardian shall not permit his child who is under the age of 12 to operate a snowmobile without the direct supervision of an adult except on land owned or under the control of the parent or legal guardian.

The entire matter was turned over to the council's ordinance committee for further study.

In other business, a letter from Cong. Elford A. Cederberg to Elmer Werth, forwarded to the council, stated that the 90th Congress had designated the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock at East Tawas as a harbor of refuge. The congressman said that a project to expand dock facilities here would be included in the state's 1973 budget request to congress. He assured the city that he would do everything he could to see that the request is included in the federal budget.

Another letter to Werth from State Sen. Robert Richardson indicated that the Saginaw senator believed that emergency work on repairing the dock should be done by the Michigan Waterways Commission as soon as physically possible in the spring.

In December, Werth arranged for a visit between Keith Wilson, director of the waterways commission, and city officials to inspect the rapid deterioration of the dock. As a result of that meeting, new lines of communication have been established between the city and the state agencies involved. City officials are to meet with state officials again on Friday, January 21, to discuss the dock.

The council directed the clerk to request the Detroit and Mackinac Railway to make repairs to the Pine Street crossing.

A petition from Schreck Lumber Company asked the council to vacate an alley dividing property at the lumber yard. A public hearing is to be held Monday, February 22, to hear objections, if any, from adjacent property owners.

COLD WEATHER STRUCK THE AREA with all its fury over the week-end, but it did not deter fishermen from enjoying the good ice fishing on Tawas Bay. Comfortable in warm shanties, fishermen enjoyed catching the hungry yellow perch. Wind whistling along the ice proved uncomfortable to Joseph Rigg and his son, Billy, and Rigg used some snow to seal off the bottom of his shanty (above). Ballinger Files $18.4 Million Suit Against Hale Bank

An Oscoda businessman, free under $25,000 bond while awaiting federal court trial on 26 counts of mail fraud in a check kiting scheme nearly a year ago against Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale, Tuesday morning filed an $18,400,000 damage suit against the bank and four other defendants.

Gene Ballinger, 37, in a suit filed in Iosco Circuit Court, charges the bank and four other defendants with negligence, false representations and conspiracy to bankrupt his Amateur Treasure Hunters Association, a metal detection equipment sales firm at Oscoda.

Others named in the suit were Richard Parkinson, vice president and head cashier of the Hale bank;

Fisher Research Laboratories, Incorporated, of Palo Alto, California, principal supplier of treasure hunting equipment to the Association;

David Hayslip, a former FRL employee, who had served as office manager for the Association for several months;

Edward Lewis, president of the California firm.

Ballinger's suit lists seven counts, six seeking $3,000,000 each, and a seventh asking $400,000 in damages, alleging an improper takeover of the Association's assets and operations.

In March of last year, the bank disclosed it had suffered a loss of approximately $700,000 from a series of check kiting operations by one of its customers. Ballinger was later identified as the customer and admitted kiting checks, but "without intent to defraud and with plans for eventual repayment."

Ballinger has stated the check kiting was started after his Ausable Regional Credit Bureau of Tawas City was suddenly left on the verge of collapse and he began trying to recoup his losses to maintain its existence.

In May of last year, Ballinger entered into an agreement with the bank whereby he was to be permitted to repay the debt under bank control. Ballinger's suit states that he executed a promissory note for $627,427.66, secured by a security interest in all Association assets and Ballinger's personal property.

The second count claims that the bank, through its operations of the Association, negligently interfered with his operation of the business. The suit further claims the interference caused loss of current and potential sales, loss of a major supplier, thus reducing profits and operating income.

Water Main Break Blamed on Cold Snap

The extended period of sub-zero temperatures over the week-end caused one break in Tawas City's water distribution system.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said Monday that a four-inch cast iron main ruptured near the Herbert Chalgier residence on Harris Avenue. The break was repaired Monday afternoon by the city crew and water service was shut down for 1½ hours.

The rupture was apparently caused by ground frost entering a strata of clay, which caused a shift or "shock" strong enough to fracture the cast iron main.

Bublitz said that water pressure at the city's stand pipe behind the city hall returned to normal Monday night. Water pressure dropped slightly prior to the 1½-hour shutdown, then dropped sharply Monday afternoon after service was restored. The distribution system could not keep pace with the late afternoon demand for water and did not recover until about 9:00 p. m.

THE MAIN NURSES' STATION was a busy place Tuesday morning when the new patient wing at Tawas Hospital went into operation for the first time.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Patients - Equipment Moved Into New Wing of Hospital

After a delay of three months, work began Tuesday morning on moving patients and equipment into the new patient wing of Tawas Hospital.

On hand for the event were members of the hospital board of directors, who watched as patients were wheeled down corridors of the old building and into the gleaming new facility.

First patients to be moved into the new wing were those hospitalized in corridors of the old section of the hospital. "I hope this is absolutely the last time we ever overflow rooms and have to utilize a corridor as a hospital room," confided M. Jerry Norwood, hospital director.

Also making the move Tuesday morning was the obstetrics department.

The new wing, part of a 1.5 million-dollar expansion program at Tawas Hospital, includes 23 new medical-surgical beds, six obstetrics beds, a six-bassinet nursery, examination room, labor isolation room, a waiting room for fathers, a locker room for nurses and delivery room.

The wing also contains a solarium for patients, utility room, nourishment station for patients, showers and the main nurses' station.

After months of waiting while construction was in progress, staff members of the hospital were particularly delighted in being able to move into the new quarters. "For months, the hospital staff has been inconvenienced during construction and the usual conflict for elbow room during such a project.

Work is to start today (Wednesday) on transforming the old OB quarters into new medical surgical rooms.

With completion of this phase of the project, patient bed capacity of Tawas Hospital is expanded from 44 to 60 beds.

Construction on the new north wing was to have been completed about November 15, but a delay in construction did not allow a move until yesterday. Ground breaking for the new addition was started in September 1970.

The entire construction project is scheduled for completion next May. The original north wing has been remodeled to include two private rooms, an office for the director of nursing, an inservice training office, new pharmacy, equipment room, coronary care unit, laboratory, X-ray and emergency room. The wing is served by oxygen and vacuum systems.

All ceilings in the original structure are being replaced. New sprinkler and fire alarm systems have been installed.

The hospital's south wing, to be completed in the spring, includes a new housekeeping office, staff dining room, kitchen, cafeteria, maintenance shop, incinerator, general storage room, food storage room, employee locker room, loading dock and boiler room. The heating plant has been converted to natural gas with a fuel oil standby service.

During its nearly 20 years of operation, the hospital has proven its worth to the community and is one of the area's most valued possessions, employing 130 persons.

Paula Sperber to Appear Jan. 22-23 at Tawas Lanes

A 20-year-old mini-skirted star of the Professional Woman Bowler's Association, Paula Sperber, Miami, Florida, will be the featured attraction Saturday and Sunday, January 22 and 23, at Tawas Lanes, Tawas City.

Winner of the first United States Open held last year at Kansas City, Missouri, Miss Sperber is a member of the AMF staff of champions. Her bowling credentials include a 198 average.

During her two-day visit here, she will present tips to junior leaguers on Saturday afternoon. At 8:00 p. m. Saturday, she will bowl a match game with Pat Knight, top Tawas Lanes woman bowler.

Sunday afternoon's program will find Miss Sperber and Barbara Brown, a high average women's league bowler, teaming up to compete with Chum Lorenz and Joe Martin, two top Tawas Lanes men's league bowlers. The match is to start at 2 o'clock.

Loss in State Revenues May Complicate City Financing

Unanticipated loss of revenue due to formula changes in tax returns from the state could present a financial problem for the City of Tawas City when it closes its fiscal year on March 10.

In addition, the city must develop a method of interim financing of its operation between the end of the old fiscal year on July 1, which has been changed by the new city charter.

According to a report Monday night by City Treas. Mary Byrd, cash receipts of the city as of December 31 amounted to $139,257.11. Total revenue budget for the year amounts to $174,325.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz stated Monday night that actual cash receipts before the end of the fiscal year would probably amount to around $169,000, which would leave a deficit of about $5,000.

Bublitz said that much of the city's problem has been caused through continued revisions of formulas which return sales tax and state income tax to local communities. According to the 1970 census, Tawas City, along with East Tawas and a number of townships, had been overpaid on sales tax and income tax returns. As a result, 1971 payments were withheld and paid to other townships, principally Oscoda, which had a tremendous increase in population due mainly to counting personnel from Wurtsmith Air Force Base for the first time in a national census.

In reviewing the city's revenue budget, councilmen noted that both Tawas and Alabaster Townships were delinquent in submitting payments under a cooperative fire protection agreement. It was directed that the townships again be billed for the service, totaling $4,800 and delinquent since July 1.

In other business, Benjamin Brewer was appointed as First Ward supervisor to fill out a one-year vacancy. According to information received by the city, supervisors have been given an additional year to qualify as assessing officers and the city's three supervisors are to serve temporarily this year as the board of review. It was recommended that the city treasurer serve as temporary assessor to fill out the board of review as clerk.

Tawas City, like many other communities, is finding it difficult to interest someone in qualifying as an assessor under new state regulations. If someone does not qualify as an assessor, the city may have to turn to the county equalization department and contract for the work.

Renewal of a request to close Pine Street between Beech and Oak Streets was submitted to the planning commission for its recommendation. Submitted by Roy Stewart last August, no action had been taken by the council due to the various changes in city government which have taken place since then. The undeveloped street is 40 feet wide and Consumers Power Company has an easement down the middle for its electrical line. Stewart has assured the council that the easement would be continued if the street is closed.

The city manager is to attend a state legislative workshop February 17 at Lansing called by the Michigan Municipal League. The governor is to be keynote speaker and representatives are to hear and discuss proposed legislation pertaining to cities.

Court Dates Set in Two Cases

Preliminary examination was to have been held Tuesday afternoon for two Tawas City men, Sidney Teague, 54, and James Clark, 38, on charges involving the sale of stolen snowmobiles. The examination was set for Wednesday, January 12, but was postponed until yesterday.

Clark, who also faces charges of possession of stolen snowmobiles, has been charged with Teague, a snowmobile dealer, on three counts of receiving and concealing stolen property, as well as conspiracy in obtaining money under false pretenses.

Also to have been arraigned Tuesday was Darrell Amlotte, who, with Thomas Weese, is charged with a felony in a larceny at Brugger's Market. Weese waived examination and was bound over in circuit court, while Amlotte demanded examination.

The two were arrested by Tawas City Police January 12 and are accused of taking a variety of tools, valued under $5.

Comedy Cage Team Coming to Tawas Area

The California Cuties basketball team will meet a team composed of high school faculty members in a comedy contest Wednesday, February 2, 8:00 p. m., at Tawas Area High School auditorium.

Composed of talented men players dressed in ladies' clothes, the California Cuties are hailed as the world's funniest basketball team. The quintet has mastered the art of comedy in basketball with a series of routines designed to entertain fans and nonfans alike.

Dipping into their bag of basketball tricks during the Cuties' local appearance will be such four veterans as Dottie Dribble, Leaping Lena, Dinah Sore, Hefty Helen, Rebound Ruby and Scaggy Maggie. The cutest Cutie of them all is the popular Little Susie, who stands only 38 inches high but still manages to play a prominent role in a game tailored for the tall.

The game is being sponsored by Tawas Area Braves Booster Club and proceeds will go toward the new "Matt Mayer Memorial Scoreboard." Tickets are on sale at the high school office or from booster club members.

Braves Start 2nd Half in Lead

Defeat Panthers After Slow Start

With an offense as frigid as last week's cold snap, Tawas Area Braves finally solved a sizzling first half defense to down the Standish-Sterling Panthers, 59-39, Friday night in a low scoring NBC clash. The win preserved the Braves' undefeated record and they retained the top rung in conference standings.

The Panthers utilized a close-guarding zone defense throughout the game and, while it proved an effective check against Tawas sharpshooters in the first half, Central ran into trouble late in the game as the three referees assigned to the game began sending Panther players to the bench via the five-foul route.

Unger of Standish-Sterling stuck to Center Tim Fox of Tawas Area like he was covered with cold molasses and the big man in Tawas' offense could only mesh five points in the first half. Fox, who turned in a good game on the backboards, warmed up slightly in the second half as he meshed nine points.

Tawas jumped off to a 13-9 margin in the first quarter when Wayne Etue was able to drive through the Panther defenders for two field goals and a foul shot. Rob Hackborn meshed two field goals on good rebounding.

Standish-Sterling narrowed the margin to only one point at intermission and Jurek and Unger topped the Panthers with two field goals each to outscore the Braves, 12-9.

Tawas' offense began to connect in the third quarter as Hackborn dunked three buckets and Fox meshed five points to pace the Braves in a 17-11 scoring edge. Tawas finally found the range at the free throw line in the fourth quarter, meshing 12 of 17 charity tosses, to outscore the Panthers, 17-7.

Accuracy at the free throw line again proved an important factor in the game with the winners netting 17 out of 30 tosses and the losers completing only five of 15 shots from the line.

Tawas had three players in double figures, led by Hackborn's 16 points. Fox contributed 14 points to the winning cause and Towns meshed 12, netting eight out of 10 charity tosses.

Bell was top scorer for the losers with 13 points, followed by 12 points for Schnetzler.

Tawas Area Junior Braves jumped off to a big margin in the first half and then coasted the rest of the way to defeat the Panther JV, 66-53. Greg Hackborn was the big gun in Tawas' scoring attack with 22 points. The Junior Braves outscored the Little Panthers, 17-10, in the first quarter and then rang up a 25-14 margin in the second quarter. Standish-Sterling came back in the third quarter with a 20-14 bulge and outscored Tawas Area, 14-10, in the final quarter.

Friday night's games ended the first half of conference play and the Braves travel to Essexville-Garber Friday, January 21, to open the second half of play.

TODAY'S Meditation

from
The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

(Read Jonah 3)

The word of the Lord came to Jonah the second time, saying, "Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and proclaim to it the message that I tell you." Jonah 3:1 (RSV)

The youngest child was given a box of candy to pass to his brothers and sisters when they came home. After eating two pieces, he hid the remaining candy in his room to save it for himself. Later, when the mother discovered this selfish deed, the child was supervised in sharing the rest of the candy with his brothers and sisters.

God's instruction to Jonah was to take His message to the people of Nineveh, but Jonah wanted to restrict God's favor to his own people. Some harrowing experiences were required to persuade Jonah to deliver the message.

God's blessings always have social dimensions. He brings people into essential relationships with one another as they obey His will. Are we hearing and sharing God's message?

PRAYER

Dear Lord, so often in fear and insecurity we put self-concern at the center of our thoughts and actions. Teach us to be alert to Your plans. May we channel the flow of your directions and blessings to those around us. In Jesus' name. Amen.

SUNDAYS the TRUTH that HEALS
WIOS - 1480 kc
9:35 A. M.

There is a link between man's expression of integrity and the divine help he experiences, according to the Bible lesson-sermon on "Truth" to be presented at Christian Science services Sunday.

One of the passages to be read from the Bible states: "For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth."

Commentary from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, includes this citation: "Honesty is spiritual power. Dishonesty is human weakness, which forfeits divine help."

'No Miracle But Love' to be Repeated

"No Miracle But Love," nationally acclaimed documentary on mental retardation at Bethesda Lutheran Home, Watertown, Wisconsin, will have a repeat showing on network television, according to a recent announcement by the National Broadcasting Company.

The one-half hour special will be broadcast by NBC television at 12:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Sunday, January 23. Viewers outside of the New York area should check television listings for exact times in their localities.

The program was seen by an estimated 10-million viewers last year and prompted several thousand letters in response to a warm, moving exploration into the world of retarded children.

Bethesda is a haven for more than 650 retarded persons who cannot remain in their own homes and cope with a normal life.

"At Bethesda, there are no miracles—unless love is a miracle, and patience," observes Philip Sharper, noted television writer and author of the script. "Each resident is given a sense of his own dignity, and is treated with respect. No one is a patient. Each one is a person."

The program points out that almost every state has its institutions for the retarded, but those waiting to be admitted far outnumber those being cared for. Almost every institution is overcrowded and understaffed because of a shortage of funds.

"No Miracle But Love" is a production of the NBC Religious Programs Unit in cooperation with the department of public relations of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Family Medical Record Offers Important Health Guidance

By EVE WENGLER

Ever wish that you had a family health record, easy to read and complete with the facts you should have on hand?

The National Foundation—March of Dimes, in conjunction with the American Medical Association and Women's Day magazine, has devised an important new tool to make keeping track of a family's medical history simple and clear. It is a four-page form called the Family Medical Record and, when kept up to date, it becomes a valuable document upon which both the family and physician will depend. It provides a quick, comprehensive profile of each family member's health status as well as a record of possible contributing factors in certain conditions.

The Record, accompanied by an article by Dr. Virginia Apgar, the Foundation's vice-president for medical affairs, appears in the January issue of Women's Day, currently available.

Ideally, the Medical Record should be started before a couple marries, so that when the woman becomes pregnant—or even before—her doctor will already have information about her health history and background and that of her husband, and their parents, sisters and brothers.

Family Data

Since many conditions may follow a definite genetic pattern, awareness of a disease in one member of the family may alert a doctor to early symptoms in time to avert advanced disease or disability. The age of the family member when the disease first appeared is relevant to the type or severity of some disorders and should be recorded.

So should his or her line of work, since some occupations expose workers to environmental factors which affect health. For example, a brother-in-law's chronic lung condition might be related to asbestos inhaled in his work at construction sites; a sister's miscarriages might be related to her work involving anesthetics.

But it is not just poor health or disease that should be recorded on the form. Information about good health also

One woman to another: Dr. Virginia Apgar shows Karen Sinclair how the Medical Record will help her keep track of her family's health, communicates pertinent information to a doctor.

Child Health

Details of each child's birth should be carefully noted as should incomplete pregnancies brought about by miscarriage, abortion, or stillbirth. The form has instructions about when children should be vaccinated for rubella (German measles), diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, polio, regular measles, smallpox, and all the various boosters. It provides space for an immunization record; periodic physical examinations; medications; allergies; and a record of family illnesses.

"The importance of a Family Medical Record cannot be emphasized enough," says Dr. Apgar. "With it a family and its various doctors are in a much better position to maintain good health and plan for better medical care. A record of the health of the family as a whole demonstrates responsibility, and being responsible is an important part in the battle against congenital disease, periodic illness and birth defects."

A free copy of the Family Medical Record can be obtained by writing—together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope—to Family Medical Record, The National Foundation—March of Dimes, Box 2000, White Plains, New York 10602.

Diagnostic Tool

Dr. Apgar developed the widely used Apgar score, which rates newborn babies' respiration, muscle tone, reflexes, heart rate and color. It is a quick check, one minute after birth, to determine whether the baby needs special attention in the delivery room. Sometimes this score also will provide a clue to some difficulty the child may have later in life. For that reason, it should be included in the Medical Record.

"If the Medical Record is faithfully kept, it can help with school, travel or insurance requirements and routine medical consultations, and also can be an invaluable diagnostic tool for the family physician," says Dr. Apgar. "Doctors have less and less time to delve into a person's health background, and many people don't remember or are not equipped to answer some of the questions the doctor does ask."

"The Medical Record is also valuable because it prompts a person to think about his family history, and to do his own detective work, rather than putting that burden on the physician who simply cannot be expected to know all the details."

Radioactivity is where you find it, and you'll get more flying coast-to-coast than living next to this nuclear power plant for a full year.

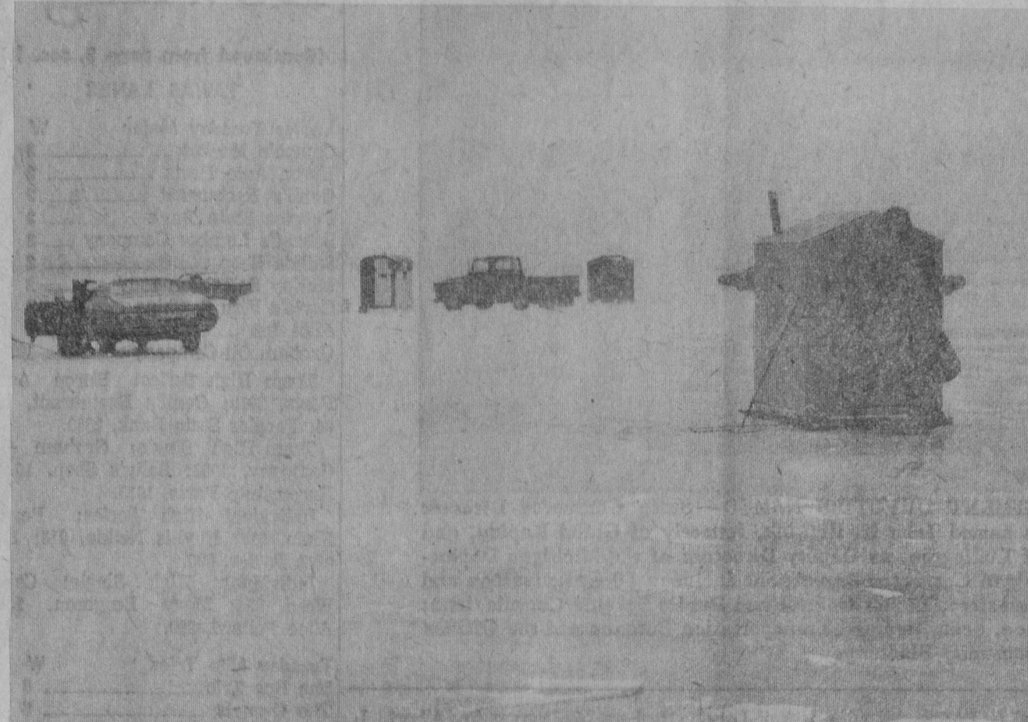

In fact, living next to a typical nuclear power plant for 24 hours a day for a full year would expose you to less than 5 millirems of radiation from the plant. (A millirem is 1/1000th of a rem, a unit for measuring the biological effect of radiation.) And you get 8 times more radiation from cosmic rays from space, when you're standing right on the ground. Commercial aviation involves no radiation hazard. Neither does a nuclear power plant.

No Change Here in Law on Posting-Fencing Provisions of Snowmobile Control Act

An article in the Herald last week incorrectly quoted one section of the revised snowmobile act of 1971. One portion of Section 15 should have read:

"A person shall not operate a snowmobile: (h) In or upon or remain unlawfully on premises which are fenced, otherwise enclosed in a manner to exclude intruders, posted in a conspicuous manner or when notice against trespass is personally communicated to him by the owner or an authorized person . . ."

A provision of the new act no longer requiring that property be fenced or posted applies only to Zone No. 3, the lower half of the Lower Peninsula and not applicable in Iosco County.

A Tall Tale of Tuna

On Sunday, October 10, 1971, Betty Barringer, a young Standish housewife, opened a can of tuna. She found inside, along with the fish, a dead fly. Following is the account of her complaint procedure. What she learned may help you if you need to make a complaint.

October 11, 1971: Mrs. Barringer contacted the Cooperative Extension Service, explaining the situation. We gave her the address of the Michigan Consumer Council (525 Hollister Avenue, Lansing, Michigan 48933). On the same day, Mrs. Barringer returned the tuna to the store where she bought it after first recording the code number on the can.

October 12, 1971: Mrs. Barringer wrote a letter of complaint directly to the tuna processor. She also sent a copy of this letter to the Michigan Consumer Council.

After this action, things began to happen. The consumer council contacted the processor and the Michigan Department of Agriculture. These contacts, along with Mrs. Barringer's initial letter to the processor, brought some results.

To date, the Barringers have received three letters from the "quality assurance manager" of the tuna packers. Each is essentially the same—an apology, assurance of the company's high standards and enclosed coupons good for free cans of tuna. For some reason, when Mrs. Barringer herself wrote, she received three such coupons. When Michigan Consumer Council and the Michigan Department of Agriculture wrote, each of these replies included six coupons. Anyway, the Barringers have now received 15 cans of free (and hopefully fly-free) tuna.

The food inspection division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture checked tuna stock still on hand at the spot of purchase. No similar code numbers remained on the shelf and the department received no other complaints, so the investigation was closed.

After this, the consumer council contacted the Food and Drug Administration. Their response included a fact sheet, "How the Consumer Can Report to FDA," with many worthwhile tips. You can obtain a copy of this fact sheet by writing to the Food and Drug Administration, 1560 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48207.

What if the same thing happens to you? The information and addresses in this column should help you. Another important thing is to act quickly. Telephone, do not write, the Michigan Department of Agriculture so that their inspectors can find
