

COME TO THE FAIR

USHERING in nearly a full month of activities in Iosco County this week is the annual fair at Hale. The program starts Wednesday (today) through Saturday. This event is to be followed by the Michigan Tourist Festival in the Tawas, August 5-12; Grant Township's 105th birthday celebration, August 11-13; Paul Bunyan Festival at Oscoda-AuSable, August 17-20. Tawas Bay Arts and Crafts Festival, which opens the tourist festival, is to be held August 5-6.

Arts-Crafts Show in Final Planning

Plans for the 12th annual Tawas Bay Waterfront Arts and Crafts Show (indoor and outdoor), to be held August 5-6 at the Tawas City Park and Iosco County Building, are moving near completion.

Committee chairmen are meeting today (Wednesday) at the Tawas Chamber of Commerce to complete final details. Co-chairmen are Gerald Reiter of the chamber of commerce and Mrs. Herbert Hertzler of Tawas Bay Artists.

Committee chairmen for this year's event are Mrs. Harold Peterson and Mrs. Martin Fiedler, registration; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peleitero, staging; Mrs. Herbert Blust and members of Tawas Area Keyettes, guides; Mrs. Harold White and Mrs. Ivan O'Farrell, hostesses; Reiter and Bud Fisher, information booth; Gary Nelkie, posters; Mrs. James Race, door prizes; Mrs. Gordon Huck and Mrs. Hertzler, program.

Prof. Guy Palazzola of the University of Michigan's art department is to be judge. In addition to many years of teaching experience, he has judged numerous shows.

Cash prizes donated by local sponsors are to be awarded Sunday afternoon, August 6.

Any person wishing to register for the event should notify Mrs. Carl Eckman, secretary, at the chamber of commerce office. In order to be listed on the program, names should be received by July 28.

This is the first event scheduled in the program for the Michigan Tourist Festival and large crowds are expected to attend and patronize the artists.

Many artists from Michigan and adjoining states will be exhibiting, as well as local artists. There is no admission charge and the public is urged to attend.

Discussion Heard on Locating Halfway House in Iosco to Serve Courts in Four-County Area

Possible location of a halfway house in this county to service a four-county area was discussed Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

Robert Jensen, probation and parole officer for the circuit court, told commissioners that a halfway house is being proposed to serve Iosco, Arenac, Alcona and Oscoda Counties.

He said that 75 percent of the estimated $55,000 cost for operating such a facility would be paid by the federal government. The remaining 25 percent would come from various governmental organizations and would include "in kind" contributions.

As an example of other governmental contributions, Jensen said the Alpena Mental Health Unit had pledged 10 hours a week to assist counseling at the proposed halfway house.

Jensen and Robert Thorne of the East Central Michigan Economic Development District said that an application for federal money to be used in such a project would require the county to act as the funding agency.

Such a facility would be used for rehabilitation of persons presently living in the community, who have been convicted in criminal courts and placed on probation. All persons utilizing such a facility would be in the 17 to 25-year age bracket.

Jensen assured commissioners that if such a facility is located here it would not mean that a lot of dangerous criminals would be brought in.

The probation and parole officer said that present thinking at the state level is to reduce the number of inmates in walled prisons, such as the institution at Jackson. Eventually, these large prisons are to be phased out and replaced with halfway houses or rehabilitation centers. The reason for this is that 65 percent of all parolees never adjust to life outside walls and return to prison. It is believed that small rehabilitation centers would provide a better answer to this problem.

A complete report on the commission's thinking toward establishment of a halfway house here is to be heard at the August meeting.

In other business, the commission concurred with East County's resolution which took an "unyielding stand" in total opposition to "unrealistic, bureaucratic and highly inappropriate proposal by the Michigan Department of Corrections' new rules and regulations concerning jails, lockups and security camps."

The resolution stated the new rules were not practical in economical nor sociological context; were unrealistic and highly unreasonable financial burdens upon counties.

The commission authorized preliminary plans to be developed for changing present living quarters in the county jail for additional office space for the sheriff's department.

A report from Robert J. Russell, inspector for the department of corrections, asked that a study be made toward implementing requirements of the state administrative code. The report said that the county jail had inadequate office space, no attorney's visiting room, poor inmate visiting facilities, no exercise area for inmates, a poor receiving garage and booking area. It was stated, also, that the jail is required to have an emergency power system and an intercom system between cell blocks and office areas.

A proposal from the Iosco County Unit of the American Red Cross asked for county support of the swimming program is to be considered in October. Jerry Norwood, county director, said that the swimming program may have to be discontinued unless some additional assistance is received. Norwood said that community chests of the county had reduced contributions and an additional $600 was needed to carry on the project. Since 1967, the water safety program had grown from 139 children served at Tawas City-East Tawas to 460 children from the Tawas, Hale, Whittemore and Sand Lake in 1972. In addition, 50 to 60 adults participated in swimming instruction during the winter at Oscoda Area High School.

Approval was given by the commission to hire Ron Taylor as the new assistant prosecuting attorney at an annual salary of $12,500. Steven Nagley, who received $8,000 as assistant prosecuting attorney on a part time basis, resigned last week. Pros. Atty. Kenneth Myles told the commission that he planned to resign effective January 1.

Full use of the county building was granted for the Tawas Bay Arts and Crafts Festival to be held August 5-6. Plumbing problems in the county building have been corrected since the last meeting, when it was recommended that only the west corridor and entrance be used for this event.

The commission's social services committee recommended that the Department of Social Services submit its plans and details to the county board of commissioners for any new buildings or proposed construction. It was stated that plans had been submitted to the county building authority without the knowledge of the county commission.

In Sheriff's Opinion Gordon Creek Crowd Down Over Fourth Because Enforcement Was Emphasized

In a report to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell said that the reason the Fourth of July crowd at Gordon Creek was about 30 percent less than on Memorial Day was that young people were advised that laws were going to be enforced.

"On July 1, we had reason to believe that the crowd was not going to be as large as the previous holiday. However, many mothers of teenagers, businessmen, city councils and service clubs were concerned after the mess we had on Memorial Day.

"Petitions were circulated and taken to Washington, D. C., in an attempt to close the Huron National Forest. This was impossible and the next best thing to do was to try and control the situation locally," said the sheriff.

O'Farrell said that he and his officers were greeted with obscene language when they checked Silver Valley and he decided not to go into the camps unless felonies were committed.

"When these people came on the highway, we enforced the laws of the state. There were 54 jailed for such offenses as drunkenness, obscene conduct, drunk driving, reckless driving, possession of drugs and assault. There were 78 summonses issued for traffic violations and drinking on the highway, making a total of 132 arrests," said O'Farrell.

"These people and their friends stated that they were never coming up here again. They were amazed that they could not do as they pleased," commented the sheriff.

O'Farrell said his report had been delayed in order to evaluate and weigh results of the increased enforcement during the four-day holiday.

"I firmly believe we have the situation well in hand and under control at the present time. I noticed that on the week-end of July 15-16, family groups and travel trailers were once again coming to Silver Valley and Gordon Creek and that the motorcycle gangs were small; we plan on keeping conditions that way," he stated.

The United States Department of Agriculture is reimbursing the county for added patrols in Huron National Forest, including patrols at Rollway Campground, Monument Campground, Sand Lake picnic area, Round Lake, Silver Valley and Gordon Creek.

"The county board of commissioners has been very cooperative and understanding with this department," said O'Farrell. He said that Robert Foster, head of the commission's law enforcement committee, had been exceptionally cooperative "as he has been through some of these same problems."

The sheriff's posse and six special deputies assisted over the four-day holiday. Six cars were manned with three men assigned to a car.

Iosco Considering Buying Computer

Computerization of Iosco County's tax equalization department, under study for several months by the county board of commissioners and Henry Oates, tax equalization director, may see the purchase of a $19,000 computing machine.

Because of frequent breakdowns and occasional errors in present tax billing equipment used by the department, the county had discussed data processing with three different service companies.

Such a system would eliminate present Addressograph equipment owned by the county and the service company would prepare all assessment rolls, tax rolls and tax bills. In addition, it was proposed that the

IF ONE has not visited Tawas Point State Park recently, he may not realize that it is the site of an "international airport." There is no deafening roar of jet exhaust to trouble the neighborhood and all passengers are their own pilots. Many stop at Tawas Point to and from wintering areas in Central and South America. The sign above, constructed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, lists more than 100 species of birds that visit Tawas

Point. "Flight service" ranges from the barn swallow and the common nighthawk, which winter in Argentina, to the ruby-throated hummingbird which spends its winters in the Yucatan. Listed in between is a variety of other birds calling Tawas Point State Park home during the summer. Human visitors to Tawas Point State Park get a great deal of enjoyment studying the habits of these feathered world travelers.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Oscoda Park Work Delayed for Decision

Awaiting legislative action on a $40,000 request for state recreational fund aid, work on development of a park in Oscoda Township has been delayed until at least September.

Local funds totaling $10,000 are being used to develop the 40-acre park. The state grant has been approved by the house of representatives, but the senate did not act on the proposal before adjournment. The legislature is scheduled to reconvene in September.

The park will include ball diamonds, volleyball and basketball courts to be used as a hockey rink during the winter), senior citizens area, picnic areas, shuffleboards and a general purpose building.

TA Leases Used Relocatable Classrooms; Space Problem

As a means of providing a temporary solution to overcrowded classrooms, as well as to improve the school's curriculum, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night authorized leasing of three relocatable classroom units.

One of the 20 by 40-foot relocatable classrooms is to be located at the Tawas City Elementary Unit and will house the third and fourth grades, presently utilizing facilities at Zion Lutheran Church School.

The two other units are to be located at the high school and will house junior high school students.

Supt. Edward J. Barry emphasized that utilization of the relocatable classrooms is a temporary measure. The units were used by another school system last year and are to be moved here. Two of the relocatable classrooms will be leased for three years at a cost of $1,834 a year. The third unit will cost $1,940 a year under the same lease arrangement.

Upon completion of the three years, Tawas Area School would assume ownership of the units.

Barry said that the public school presently pays $1,500 annually for utilizing the parochial school's facilities.

Barry said that the administration is now in the process of restructuring the junior high school curriculum. It is hoped that changing teaching assignments will save enough money to finance leasing the relocatable units, as well as improving the curriculum. It is expected that classroom sizes will be reduced from an average of 38 students to about 27 students.

One of the improvements anticipated will be elimination of social mixing of junior high and high school students in the large study hall. In addition, the additional classroom space will provide more flexibility in the high school curriculum through freeing of classrooms presently utilized by junior high school grades.

In other business conducted Monday night, Richard Look, who served last year as assistant varsity football coach, was named head football coach. He succeeds Ted Guthard, who resigned earlier this month to accept a new position elsewhere.

Hiring of 16 new teachers was authorized by the board of education as follows:

Martha Lyons, kindergarten, East Tawas; Nancy Inglis, second grade, East Tawas; Donna Wilson, third grade, East Tawas; Donald Barnes, elementary vocal music; Michael Carter, first grade, East Tawas; Linda Bero, second grade, East Tawas.

Wendy LaVoie, second grade, Tawas City; Elizabeth Jacob, fifth grade mathematics, Tawas City; Carol Wellington, fifth grade language arts, Tawas City; Susan Makrainis, fifth grade reading, Tawas City; George Fishel, sixth grade social studies.

Marsha Stanzio, high school girls' physical education; Kathleen Cox, high school English; Judy Loper, high school speech-English; Laura Mahoski, seventh grade mathematics; George Jonatis, physical education.

John Walton was named freshman basketball coach.

Discussion was held on school policy concerning planning and studying the educational needs of the school system. No action was taken by the board of education concerning adoption of such policy, although discussion and study is to continue for formal action at a future date.

Cong. Ruppe Speaks Thurs. At Luncheon

Cong. Philip E. Ruppe of Michigan's Eleventh Congressional District, is to be featured speaker at the Thursday noon luncheon of the East Tawas Retail Merchants Association. Members of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association have been invited to attend the meeting scheduled at Lixey's Restaurant.

Ruppe became Iosco County's new congressman earlier this year as the result of state reapportionment by a federal judge. This county, along with Alcona, Oscoda, parts of Crawford and Antrim Counties were added to Ruppe's district.

Ruppe is to be guest of the Iosco County Republican Committee during a trip on the AuSable River Queen No. Two, Oscoda.

Area Enforcement Agencies Check Burglary Leads

Arenac and Iosco County authorities are cooperating with state police from West Branch in investigating a series of breakings and enterings in the three-county area.

State police obtained a search warrant this week for a house in the Turner area and a number of stolen articles were recovered. It is believed that further investigation will clear a number of recent breakings and enterings in Western Iosco County.

To The People of Iosco County

Well it is almost election time again, and as usual the Sheriff's race is very interesting and important.

For the past several months, numerous supporters and friends have come to me and said, "Ivan who will we support, who are you supporting and voting for." This has placed me in a awkward position, with several from my own department running for the office. I have tried to explain to them that I did not want to create discord in the department, that I wanted my last year in office to be as smooth and perfect as possible, and get a good job done.

As there are six men running on the Republican ticket, and as all of them are very dedicated men, and some of them have had plenty of police, as well as business and administration experience, it does probably make a problem for the voter who to support.

Several things have to be taken into consideration, such as the above stated qualities, as well as reputation and character. Will the new Sheriff be a 40-hour a week man? If so, he had better give up the idea of being Sheriff.

Will he be a country club and coffee shop Sheriff, a politician who will try and cancel traffic tickets and other arrests to enhance his own political future?

Will he attempt to do the job that the people elected him to do and back up his deputies if they are in the right?

If his campaign expenses are excessive, inquire as to where the money is coming from—Certain interests and factions may put the squeeze on him after election.

Is he making promises to people that he can not keep, such as Deputy Sheriff appointments, etc. And will he dismiss a large portion of the present staff for political reasons? Many, many things have to be taken into consideration. It is up to the people to decide.

Two men on the ticket interest me above all of the others. One of them is Donald Docking, Police Chief of East Tawas, who many times has proven his courage and honesty.

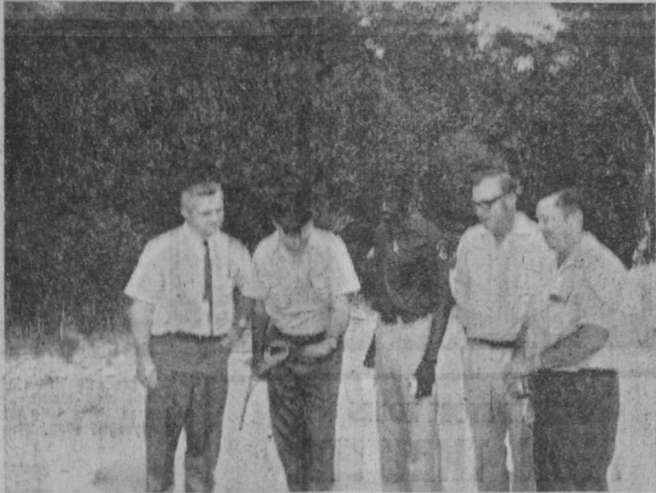

The other one is Dale Snyder, of Burleigh Township, Whittemore, Michigan, who has done a great job since he joined this department 2½ years ago, has attended many police schools, exceptional knowledge on narcotics and drugs. Young people like him.

My wife and I are both going to vote for Dale Snyder for sheriff of Iosco County.

Respectfully,

IVAN O'FARRELL
IOSCO COUNTY SHERIFF
Tawas City, Michigan.

IOSCO SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT is cooperating with the county planning commission in providing soil information to be used in an over-all comprehensive plan for this county. Watching two soil scientists, Sheldon Holcomb and William Bowman, both of Grayling, demonstrate techniques are Raymond Jurczyk, left, county sanitarian; Harry Krueger, second from right, chairman of the soil conservation district, and W. C. Roach, chairman, county planning commission. Due to the lack of manpower to provide a comprehensive soil survey map for the county, the soil conservation district is preparing a reconnaissance survey of about 33,000 acres of critical expansion areas of Iosco. This includes the Tawas, Hale, Long Lake, Sand Lake and the M-55 corridor. Such information is necessary to develop building codes, zoning and regulations for septic tank fields.

Indies Won Over Prescott, 7-6, in 13-Inning Marathon

An infield error and a triple by Gene Jordan brought in the winning run Sunday as the Tawas City Indies downed Prescott, 7-6, in 13 innings.

After trailing during the middle innings, Tawas City tied the game in the bottom of the ninth inning on Ron Leslie's double and back-to-back singles by Chris Herjiman and Chuck Petersen.

Randy Potts started on the mound for the winners and pitched until the eighth inning. He struck out six batters, allowed four hits and five runs. Potts had a two-hitter going until the seventh inning when Kaiser blasted a three-run homer.

Petersen pitched the last six innings, giving up one run and six hits. Top batter for the winners was Gene Jordan with a triple and a single. Busha and Leslie each had two hits.

McCord, losing pitcher, was nipped for 11 hits by the locals. He walked only two batters during the long afternoon.

Refreshing California Salad

The recipe for tempting "Golden Bartlett Pear Salad" calls for making only one orange gelatin mold to serve six persons. But the photo shows twin molds—simply a matter of doubling the amount of ingredients and using two molds, or one large mold, if you prefer, to serve 12 persons at a big company dinner.

GOLDEN BARTLETT PEAR SALAD

- 1 package (3 oz.) orange gelatin
- 1 Dash salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon sliced orange rind
- 3/4 cup orange juice
- 2 fresh California Bartlett pears
- 1/4 cup sliced celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper (optional)
- Western Iceberg lettuce

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Stir in orange rind and juice. Chill 1/2 cup gelatin mixture until slightly thickened. Pare, halve and slice pears. Arrange part of slices against sides of 3 or 4-cup mold. Pour thickened gelatin carefully around pear slices. Chill until almost firm. Chill remaining gelatin until it mounds on spoon. Dice remaining pears and fold into gelatin with celery and green pepper. Turn into mold over chilled gelatin and sliced pears. Chill several hours until firm. To serve, dip mold into warm water a few seconds and invert onto lettuce-garnished serving platter. Cut into slices. Makes 6 servings.

Four-Day Iosco County Fair Opens Wednesday at Hale

It's county fair time at Hale. After months of work arranging the program, preparation of a premium list and making a last minute cleanup of buildings, the Iosco County Agricultural Society is ready to welcome visitors to the fair starting today (Wednesday) and continuing through Saturday.

Both Samson and Gerald Bellen, president of the fair board, said that while improvements are made each year to facilities and the program, it is the support and participation by the people of Iosco County which is so necessary for a successful fair program. "The fair program is designed to provide fun for families and an outlet for persons interested in exhibiting farm crops, farm animals, homemade items or displays of antiques—but, in order to call this fair a success, we need the attendance and interest of everyone in the county," said Samson.

Among the new features added to the fair this year is an "Old MacDonald Farm." This is a grouping of small farm buildings and live farm animals which should prove to be a big hit with children, particularly those living in urban areas where petting a live farm animal is somewhat of a novelty.

And all of the traditional features of a county fair program are there—from livestock judging, harness racing, a big midway, to a parade and games for kids.

Of particular interest to many will be the arts and crafts exhibit building, where displays of paintings, baked goods and handicraft will be exhibited. In addition, this building houses the antique display area with its store front booths offering protection to valuable family heirlooms.

The big midway of Cooke Amusement Company is scheduled to open at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday and that event, in itself, is of major interest to area children. A field, which was covered by hay only last week, has been converted into a magic land of thrilling rides and exciting games. Carnival barkers add their voices to the midway noises and kids will simply have a great time for four big days.

Starting this morning at 9 o'clock, assembling of exhibits takes place in the Plainfield Township Hall and the several buildings located at the fairgrounds. Judging of 4-H displays takes place Wednesday night.

Fair activities move into high gear Thursday with judging of all 4-H livestock, except horses, at 9:00 a. m. Judging of open class horses starts at 1:00 p. m.

Thursday's program also ushers in the big three-day program of harness racing, always a favorite of county fairs and a traditional event of long standing. Thursday's program offers three purses of $1,000 to winners in pacing and trotting events.

Friday is the big day for 4-H Club youngsters around the county with judging of horses. This is always a major attraction at the fair and new facilities were added last year to make the program more interesting for spectators and participants.

Friday is another big day in harness racing with two trots and a pace offering prize money of $3,000. Saturday, July 29, is the big day again in the fair program. Games and contests for all ages start at 10:00 a. m., a parade gets underway at 12:30 p. m., three paces and a trot are scheduled in harness racing with prize money of $4,000. Two of the races are for non-winners of $35,000 and $20,000, which gives some idea of the caliber of horses which will be entered.

Saturday's parade will again offer colorful floats, marching bands, many horses and antique automobiles.

Department superintendents for this year's fair include George Erickson, livestock; Perry Shellenbarger, poultry; John Dooley, farm produce; Ann Strickler, flowers and plants; Mrs. Sherry Calvert, home economics; Mrs. Gerald Ruckle, domestic arts; Mrs. Adele Brown, antiques; Mrs. Louis Gilles, art, hobbies and handicraft; Elwood Ruckle, games and contests; Val Samson and Adolph Siegrist, youth division; Robert Ruckle, harness racing.

Perch Return?

Area Hopes It's True!

ONE OF THE area's biggest tourist attractions — perch fishing on Tawas Bay—is having a comeback. After years of having a summer drought insofar as Tawas Bay perch have been concerned, hook and line fishermen have been taking these finny friends from the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock, Tawas City Park Dock and the mouth of the Tawas River. In addition, party boats which had a tough time finding any fish since the early 1960s, are now "back in business" again and are enjoying the best season in years. Get up early any morning and you will find fishermen on both docks—similar to conditions in the early 1950s. Many believe that strict state controls on commercial fishing through prohibition of non-selective gill nets may be responsible for the return of the yellow perch to Saginaw and Tawas Bays. In any event, visitors and local residents are happy, for the tasty perch are good eating at any time of the year. And businessmen, who depended heavily on visitors coming here for perch, are smiling again—and keeping their fingers crossed that the perch are here to stay. Residents of the area, as well as businessmen, should drop a line to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' fish division and let them know what the return of perch means to this area. Hook and line fishing once was one of the prime attractions of the multi-million-dollar tourist and resort business along the Lake Huron shore.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Last summer Lester Gladhand was accused of being antisocial.

Now he has a Gas grill.

Lester's really a warmhearted fellow, but whenever the Gladhands had friends over for a barbecue, Lester was busy. Busy with the briquets. Busy with the starter fluid. Busy keeping the fire going. Busy trying to keep clean. Just too busy to be social.

Now Lester has a Gas grill. He lifts the cover and lights the grill. And he becomes the life of the party.

Since you're going to cook anyway, why not cook the fun way—on an outdoor Gas grill. And enjoy the party!

See the Gas grills on display at Gas appliance dealers and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms.

Inflated? ... No Way! ... 4-H /s Growing

SPECIAL — It's no secret...4-H is growing...And it's growing in many directions including into America's largest cities. A record five million young people are participating in some phase of the 4-H program. They come from all segments of society including urban centers as well as America's farms. Neither their economic and cultural backgrounds nor their place of residence provide barriers to learning in the informal 4-H youth education program. Three of 10 4-H members reside on farms, 43 percent live in rural towns and communities and the remaining 24 percent come from cities and suburbs.

Volunteers Assist

Behind the five million 4-H'ers and lending their valued assistance are more than 500,000 volunteer adult and junior leaders. And coordinating the many and varied educational offerings are professional staff members of the Cooperative Extension Service which conducts the 4-H program nationwide. Another organization which for the 51st year is contributing mightily to 4-H is the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. The non-profit, educational organization supported by some 55 corporations and foundations, has budgeted nearly $3 million for 4-H member incentives and recognition, leader training, educational aids and other services during the current year. Scholarships, Trips Offered

More than 245 educational scholarship grants valued at nearly $172,000 are to be awarded through the Committee at the 1972 National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30. Some 1,600 teens are expected to participate in that event. Among the National Committee's prestigious list of donors are five corporations which have supported 4-H programs for more than four decades. These include International Harvester Company;

Montgomery Ward; Wilson & Co., Inc.; Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp.; and Armour and Company. Four railway companies which have been supporting 4-H for a similar period are the Burlington Northern; Chicago and North Western; The Milwaukee Road and the Santa Fe. Donors of awards and other 4-H support for 30 or more years are Westinghouse Electric Corp., Coats & Clark Inc. and The Conrad Hilton Hotel. Supporting 4-H for 25-30 years are General Motors, Carnation Company, American Oil Foundation, The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, Ford Motor Company Fund, Allis-Chalmers and Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc. With incentives and other assistance being provided 4-H by America's private sector the informal youth education program is reaching increased numbers of young people everywhere. For information about 4-H opportunities in your area, call or visit the county extension offices.

The season of poison ivy, oak and sumac is here. Anyone who has ever suffered from any of these allergens knows what misery it can be. Some persons have even been hospitalized for severe cases. And surprisingly, people seemingly unaffected by contact at one time can later develop an allergic reaction.

Along lines of prevention, learn to recognize the offending plants growing in your area and stay away from them. Poison ivy is the most common. Remember the old rule, "Leaflets three let it be." It grows prolifically in every state except California and Nevada and is as likely to be found in your own backyard as in wooded areas. The vine creeps along walls, fences, walls, telephone poles, rock gardens—almost anywhere.

Within a few hours and up to two days after contact, the reaction may show up. The extent of skin eruptions, reddening and blistering depends on the amount of plant material deposited on the skin, the degree of sensitivity of the affected person and how long plant material is left on the skin before washing with soap.

Contrary to popular belief, the blister fluid does not cause spreading of the dermatitis. Areas of greater contact with the plant will react earlier. Blisters can become infected and transferred to other skin sites causing additional problems.

The American Medical Association reports that the single most important treatment is washing thoroughly with soap and water as soon after contact as possible. Soap is effective because it destroys the allergen. The sooner the skin is washed after exposure, the less likely a dermatitis will develop, or at least the seriousness will be lessened. This is especially true for the hands where delay in destroying the allergen can result in spreading the problem.

Since it is often difficult to know when children have come in contact with such plants in their various hikes, picnics and general warm weather play, a good soaping down when they come in is more than a cleanliness measure; it is preventive medicine. Washing all possibly contacted parts of the body is essential for protection against continued exposure to the plant material. Clothes, garden implements, bikes, baseball gloves, etc., which may have plant residue ready and waiting to be transferred to skin at a later date should also be soap scrubbed.

After the initial scrubdown, cold water compresses on affected areas will provide some relief from itching and inflammation. Regular bathing or showering should be continued.

For skin lesions in areas difficult to treat with cold wet dressings, tepid baths are useful in relieving discomfort. Then apply calamine lotion to hasten drying of small blisters. For more severe eruptions or subsequent infection, consult a physician.

Great care should be taken when destroying poison ivy plants. Wear protective clothing and gloves that can be washed separately in hot soaps. To make sure all residue is gone, run the automatic washer through its complete cycle with soap or detergent and no laundry.

Early spring and late fall are good times to grub plants out by hand. Be sure that the soil is very wet. Otherwise, the roots may break off and live to sprout more vigorously.

Bury or destroy roots and stems removed in grubbing, because the dry material is almost as poisonous as the fresh. It is important to know that smoke from burning poison ivy plants, or even contaminated fabrics, may produce reactions. Avoid inhalation or contact of smoke with skin or clothing. In some areas, it is illegal to burn poison ivy. It is best to check with town or city ordinances first. Aside from hand pulling, the only other really effective means of getting rid of poison ivy is by use of herbicides. Follow package directions carefully and store out of the reach of children.

Social Security Gives Facts On Benefits

Question: I am a 48-year-old widower and I have never worked under social security. Recently, I started caring for three preschoolers in my home while their parents work. I will earn about $2,500 this year. Should the parents of these children report my earnings and pay the social security contributions?

Answer: No. You are self-employed. If your net profit is $400 or more this year, you must report this income as self-employment and pay your own social security contributions.

Your contributions will build important protection for you if you should become severely disabled and be unable to work for a year or longer. If you die prematurely, your family can get social security survivors benefits. Social security also pays monthly retirement benefits. Medicare protection begins at 65. If

Question: I am 63 and I am getting married in two months to a man who is getting monthly disability checks from social security. Does this mean I will also receive a check as his wife after we get married? Answer: Probably, but not immediately. A woman usually must wait one year after her marriage to become entitled to wife's checks. Question: Is everyone who gets monthly social security payments eligible for medicare? Answer: No. You must be 65. If you are 65 or over and are entitled to monthly social security benefits, you are automatically eligible for medicare's hospital insurance. Almost everyone now reaching 65 can sign up for the medical insurance part of medicare. If you have a question about social security, contact your district office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, Michigan 48706; telephone, 893-9579. For your convenience, a social security representative will be at the Isoco County Building, Tawas City, every Thursday from 9:45 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Instant Hit With The Kids

Tawas City moved its final two concrete animals into the city park Wednesday and they were an instant hit with kids. Before workmen had the heavy animals set into place, kids were swarming through and over the new playground facilities. Schaaf Lumber Company furnished equipment to transport the animals from Gordon Clute's shop on Ninth Avenue, where fabrication was completed several weeks ago. The park now has four of these giant animals, a castle and a shoe, some of which are provided with steel slides. Purchase of the concrete playground items was aided by a recreational grant from the state.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Dog Bites Seem More of A Concern During Summer, but Danger is Year Around

This is the season of the year in which people become concerned about animal bites and rabies. Actually, this is a year around threat but it becomes of more concern during the summer months due to the greater mobility of the human and animal population.

Rabies is present in the wild animal reservoir, primarily fox, skunk and racoon, many of which act as carriers without actually succumbing to the disease. A domestic animal bitten by a carrier can become infected with rabies, and, in turn, transmit it to humans through a bite or similar wound.

To avoid exposure to rabies:

(1) Make sure that the family pet (dog or cat) has had rabies vaccine, repeated at two to three year intervals;

(2) Report all stray dogs to the proper enforcement agency so that they may be collected;

(3) Never pick up, touch, pet or play with a wild or stray animal, no matter how tame it appears;

(4) If it does become necessary to handle a wild or stray animal, make sure that you are properly protected with heavy gloves and clothing to avoid being bitten or scratched.

If a person is bitten or severely scratched by a suspect animal.

(1) Seek medical attention at once;

(2) Report the incident to law enforcement and/or to the health department;

(3) If the animal is available, make sure it is confined for observation for at least 10 days;

(4) If it becomes necessary to destroy the animal, do not injure the head, which must be salvaged for fresh brain analysis at Michigan Department of Public Health Laboratory, Lansing.

(5) Follow your physicians advice relative to the need for anti-rabies treatment.

THE TAWAS HERALD

SECTION THREE

WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1972

LETTER to the EDITOR:

July 21, 1972

Dear Editor:
If sheriff's candidate, James Finley, has the "answer to the drug problem" like he states in his political announcement in The Tawas Herald, why doesn't he give out his solution rather than saving it and using it as a "political device."
Doesn't he realize how many lives could be saved between now and election time?
A concerned parent and citizen,
Johanne Grabow

Artrain to Make Stop at Oscoda

Area residents will have a unique opportunity to see original works of art when the Michigan Artrain makes a six-day stop at Oscoda.

The train will be here from August 6-11 and will be parked on a railroad siding off River Road, near Mill Street. Its visit is being sponsored by the Oscoda Artists' Co-op and the Oscoda Chamber of Commerce.

Exhibits in the train's three gallery cars cover 3,000 years and include sculpture, paintings, slides and films. Original works by such artists as Renoir, Matisse and VanGogh are featured.

Guides will be available to take visitors through the first two cars while the third will be open for browsing. A fourth car is an artists' workshop and visitors will be able to watch local and state artists at work.

The Artrain will be open from 1:00 to 8:00 p. m. daily during its stay here. There is no admission fee but donations will be accepted to help offset expenses incurred in operating the exhibit.

Artrain is a product of the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Guests From Six Chapters Attend Meeting

Fifty-two members and guests were present from the Wyandotte, Pontiac, Davison, Detroit, Saline and Oscoda Chapters to enjoy a pot-luck dinner before the regular meeting Tuesday, July 18, of Tawas City Chapter No. 303, Order of the Eastern Star. Opal Ferrebee, worthy matron of Pine Tree Chapter No. 264, Oscoda, and Gail Warner, mother advisor of Rainbow Girls No. 81, Mark Sexson Society, were introduced.

An invitation was received to attend the Masonic family picnic Sunday, August 20, 2:00 p. m., at the Willis Croninger cottage south of Alpena. The picnic is sponsored by Iosco Chapter No. 71, OES, and the Thunder Bay Chapter of Royal Arch Masons.

Plans were discussed in regard to initiation, to take place at the regular meeting Tuesday, August 15. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Sprucing Up Fairgrounds

LWML Selects Six Mission Projects

Six new mission projects totaling $45,900 were chosen July 18-20 by 412 voting delegates attending the 14th biennial convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML), Michigan District.

Mrs. Arnold Guilford of Tawas City and Mrs. Floyd Janowiak of East Tawas attended the two-day convention as delegates with Mrs. Leonard Hensley of Tawas City, chairman of the local LWML of Zion Lutheran Church, Tawas City.

The projects were selected from a list of approved requests ranging from $2,000 to $14,000. Project funds are derived from 75 percent of mission "Mite Box" offerings of the league membership throughout the State of Michigan. Twenty-five percent is sent to the International League for its goals.

Lake Huron Boy Scout Council Makes Plans

The first planning meeting in the Lake Huron Area Council was held last week to plan for the 1973 National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America. Russell A. Slade Jr., chairman of the council activities committee, has appointed John Witherridge, Saginaw, as general chairman.

For the first time, two jamborees will be held almost simultaneously. National Jamboree-West will take place at Farragut State Park, Idaho, August 1-7. National Jamboree-East will be held at Moraine State Park, Pennsylvania, August 3-9.

Chairman of Jamboree-East will be Charles G. Schmitt, Midland, who attended a national jamboree at Valley Forge in 1957 and was an assistant scoutmaster for a world jamboree in England that same year.

Dr. W. J. Knowles, St. Louis, chairman of Jamboree-West likewise is a veteran of several national scout camping events and the 1971 world jamboree in Japan.

Chairman Witherridge has served on all national jamboree committees since 1953. He has appointed others to his 1973 jamboree committees as follows: Vibert H. Davis, Saginaw, to chair the equipment and uniform committee; Charles E. Schroeder, Saginaw, training; W. Victor Bielinski, Midland, manpower qualifying; E. V. Goodman, East Tawas, transportation; Earl G. Clark, Saginaw, promotion, assisted by James F. Mark Jr. of Tawas City, Robert Kieliszewski of Alpena, Francis E. Warner of Sanford and Dr. Robert M. Geer of Midland.

By having two jamborees at the same time, more boys may attend. They may choose either site. Entire chartered troops may attend under their own qualified leadership, subject to approval of the jamboree committee. Any 11-year-old scout, even of tenderfoot rank, may attend if he otherwise qualifies. Explorers may attend by registering with a scout troop.

Details of this camping opportunity are being mailed to every registered troop and post member, and leadership for provision troops is being recruited. There are also 29 positions on the national headquarters staff for which manpower opportunities are being offered. This will include such boys 16 or over, to work in trading posts, as well as physicians, traffic managers, fire and policemen, telephone repairmen, etc.

While these events are entirely self supporting by the boy's fees, they are made possible through the Lake Huron Area Council, which is supported by the various United Funds of the 19-county area and by sustaining memberships.

FRANCIS J. BLOCK FOR SHERIFF

BACKGROUND and EXPERIENCE

17 Years in Police Services—
4 Years with Detroit Police Reserve
13 Years as Deputy Sheriff in Iosco County (Last 3 Years with the Department in Supervisory Capacity)

My record of service to the community includes the training of a thirty man auxiliary police force, the training of various officers in the county in small arms marksmanship, over 200 persons trained in medical self help, more than 500 youngsters trained in hunter safety and safe gun handling, and over 600 persons trained in American Red Cross First Aid. I have also served as Health and Safety Officer for the Paul Bunyan Council, Boy Scouts of America,

I have received certificates from both Michigan State University and the University of Michigan for continuing education in police administration.
During my long association with the Iosco County Sheriff Department I have served in every capacity as deputy sheriff including: Road Patrol, Marine Enforcement, Dog Control, Process Server, Court Officer, Training Officer, Jailer and Turnkey, Public Relations, Investigations and Administration.

With this experience as a background I thoroughly understand and appreciate the problems involved in the management and command of the various units. The word command is defined by Webster as "To direct authoritatively, to order, to have or exercise authority, to govern." The word manage is defined as "To control and direct, to conduct, guide, administer." In the field of personnel management there is a similarity in the exercise of control over the employees of a business establishment and the control of a sheriff over his personnel. In both instances, the degree of success is dependent more on leadership than the amount of command invested in the administrator. Dependence upon power alone to assure efficient operation of any enterprise is a faulty concept. To successfully command, a sheriff must also lead and manage his staff.

TODAYS Meditation
from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Joel 2:23-32)

"In those days, I will pour out my spirit." (Joel 2:29, RSV)

We were a quiet people, an average congregation. People came and went from our midst, our corporate worship, our various gatherings. But something was lacking in our experiences together.

Then one evening, it happened. There were 15 of them, 10 adults and five youths who came to lead us. They were all lay people. They said, "God loves me. God loves you. And I love you." And our lay witness mission began.

The spirit of God was there; He poured out His spirit upon us. Feelings of loneliness, fear, hatred, jealousy, our joys and weaknesses were openly shared. God touched our lives. It was amazing! The promise of the prophet Joel, given some 2,000 years ago, became real: "Whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be delivered."

God is at work in His world still. I am a living witness to this truth. I praise God!

PRAYER
O God, sometimes our hearts are so heavy. We are filled with loneliness, fear, hatred, self-pity. We feel so far away from You, God. But thank You for reminding us through Your witness, Joel, that in such days in hard times as well as in good times, You still pour out Your spirit upon us. Help us to commit ourselves anew to You, in the name of Christ our Savior. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
All who call upon the Lord shall be delivered.—David I. Bradley, Billings, Montana.

National Forests Have Vandalism Problems

Vandalism, property damage, malicious destruction of facilities, theft, drug traffic—the results of a metropolitan crime wave? Possible, yet these are but a few of the acts occurring on national forests around the country.

In Michigan, where the Huron-Manistee National Forests comprise 905,000 acres of federally-owned land, forest service officers point out that vandalism, littering and unauthorized use of campgrounds are major problems. Repair of damaged facilities is estimated at several thousand dollars a year, but this figure does not include manpower and time lost from other projects or the extent of damage done to the environment before repair was made.

Forest Sup. John von Bargen said, "The Huron-Manistee National Forests are faced with increased population and use rates. We are faced with the problem of providing safe and sanitary recreation and other services to ever greater numbers of people in the limited area of the national forest. In 1971, recreation use on the Huron and Manistee Forests exceeded 1,664,000 visitor days of use. More people and more use means more problems and conflicts on national forest lands."

The increased crime rate, loss of public respect for the forest rangers' authority and a shortage of forest staff has led the forest service to form programs around the 1968 Magistrate's Act and the 1971 Cooperative Law Enforcement Act. These programs are designed to make the national forests a safer place for visitors, as well as provide positive action in enforcing both state and federal laws on national forest lands.

A nationwide system of magistrates was created by the 1968 Magistrate's Act. The goals of the system are to provide expedient justice, something crowded court calendars often prevented, at a nominal cost.

When a rule or regulation is broken on a violation notice is issued, and the violator is requested to appear before the local magistrate or, depending upon the seriousness of the violation, agree to pay a collateral forfeiture. Collateral forfeiture is a convenience to the violator. If a visitor admits to having committed an offense that requires payment of a set fine, not to exceed $50, he will mail in the payment and eliminate the need to appear before the magistrate.

Maximum penalties for breaking a federal rule or regulation are a $500 fine or six months in jail.

According to forest service administrators, prior to the creation of the magistrate system, many cases would never have received a hearing. Magistrates involved in national forest cases on the Huron-Manistee National Forests are Warren F. Krapohl in Flint, who handles cases on the Huron Forest, and Stephen W. Karr in Grand Rapids, who handles cases on the Manistee Forest.

The Cooperative Law Enforcement Act, also known as the Sisk-Johnson Bill, provides a means of enforcing the established federal rules and regulations on national forest lands. It allows local national forest administrators to make cooperative agreements with local law enforcement agencies.

So far in 1972, the Huron-Manistee National Forests have signed agreements with the county sheriffs in Lake, Wexford, Alcona, Iosco and Osceola Counties.

Upon signing the agreement with the national forests in their areas, county sheriffs commit their agency's cooperation in enforcing federal rules and regulations as well as state and local laws on national forest lands. Users of the national forests have always been subject to state, as well as federal regulations; but lack of funds and a shortage of deputies has hindered county law officials in this area of their jurisdiction.

Forest service administrators emphasize the fact that bringing in local law enforcement officials also benefits the community, in that disruptive behavior will be stopped on the national forests before it spreads to the surrounding areas. People who reside on private property within the national forest boundaries, will also gain, because they will receive better protection at no personal expense. These new programs promise increased visitor satisfaction and safety in the national forests.

Bring Residents of District Closer to School, Says Barry

Speaking before Thursday's meeting of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association, Supt. Edward J. Barry of Tawas Area School said his office was always open Saturday mornings in order to meet residents and discuss problems concerning the school system.

"I really want to meet the people of this school district—a lot of new ideas and new approaches to education are in the talking stage here and we must bring residents closer to operation of the school," he stated.

Barry told businessmen that the second meeting of each month is to be held at the various school buildings in order that members can take a first hand look at facilities. He said that agendas of board of education meetings are to be published in advance and additional agendas are to be available at his office.

"We hope we can be as good as you expect us to be—we have problems, the same as you, but we must respond to the community's and public's wishes," he stated.

The superintendent said that the school has a product, just as the businessmen in the audience. He said he hopes to see the school's product — graduating students — become more effective when it comes time for hiring in the local area. As a means toward improving students for utilization by business, Barry said that more classroom emphasis would be placed on turning out better typists, teaching youngsters how to make change and to become better store clerks.

The superintendent said that education was at the crossroads in Michigan in the November general election. He felt that it was necessary to have a "yes" vote on the constitutional amendment concerning a state income tax to finance school operation.

Barry said he was open to discussion and investigation into the year around school concept which has been considered by this school district.

Barry said that as a result of discussion earlier this year, individualized instruction for students is to start this fall, but he said that in no way could there be individualized instruction with 40 youngsters for each teacher. He said there was a tremendous need for enrichment courses in elementary grades and noted there might be a need for extending the school day.

The superintendent pointed out there was a large fluctuation in the student body of Tawas Area School today and that overcrowded facilities last year would be put to a severe test this fall.

He pointed out that the board of education is now commencing study toward development of a master plan for future school needs. He said that members of the school faculty as well as parents, businessmen and industrial leaders would be involved in improving the school's curriculum.

He asked businessmen to participate in a survey now being conducted by Iosco Intermediate School District concerning vocational training.

HELLO, I'M DALE SNYDER:

I'm running for Sheriff of Iosco County, and I would like you to know me better.

I spent most of my summers in the Plainfield and AuSable River areas since childhood. So, though I have only been a resident here for two and a half years, Iosco County has always been a part of my life.

During a trip in the 1950's I met Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell. As I was interested in police work, I asked him about a job. Sheriff O'Farrell had no vacancy in his two-man department at that time, but he suggested that I get experience in my own state and keep in contact with him.

Late in 1969 my family and I bought a home in Whittemore. In March of 1970 Sheriff O'Farrell had an opening for which I applied and was accepted.

Relocating is not an easy task, but the continuing friendship of Sheriff O'Farrell and his wife plus our many new friends have made it a rewarding experience. The O'Farrells have made us feel as though we were part of their family, and they have filled the gap made in our lives when we left our relatives in Ohio.

Concerning my campaign for Sheriff of this county: my funds are very limited. As a family man and career policeman, I am not wealthy. I have accepted little financial help that has been offered as I feel I must enter the office of Sheriff committed or controlled by no one.

Because of my 16 years experience and concern for better law enforcement, I feel eminently qualified to be your Sheriff.

Your vote will be appreciated!

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company Breaks Ground for Office - Service Center

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company broke ground July 19 for its new Tawas area office and service center on US-23 in Baldwin Township.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz of Tawas City, Mayor Robert Bolen of East Tawas, Baldwin Township Sup. Richter Lixey and other dignitaries joined Michigan Consolidated executives for the ceremonies at the building site, about a mile north of East Tawas.

Among the utility company's officials on hand were James C. Preston, general manager of the Northern and Upper Peninsula Districts, and James J. LaHaye, Tawas area manager.

When it is completed early next year, Preston said, the new building will house the Tawas area manager's office, commercial offices, marketing activities, utility services and stock functions.

"This new facility will combine and replace our currently leased facilities which are no longer adequate for our growing operations in the Tawas area," Preston said. The building will include a large conference room that will be made available by the company for public and civic use.

Michigan Consolidated currently leases office space at 106 West Westover in East Tawas and service center facilities at 101 First Street, Tawas City. Company business will continue to be conducted at these locations until the new building is ready for occupancy.

Preston said the new building will be of brick contemporary styling and will cover about 7,175 square feet.

Architect for the building is Barber-McCalpin Associates and the general contractor is Thompson-Pheasant Construction Company, both of Anchorville.

Michigan Consolidated's Tawas area covers 35 cities, villages and townships extending along Lake Huron from Alabaster Township to Lincoln and Harrisville, and west to Rose City and West Branch. The company supplies nearly two billion cubic feet of gas a year to approximately 7,000 customers in the area.
