

Study Ways to Hike Revenue Sharing Money

City officials of Tawas City are to investigate the possibility of incorporating a radical change in the financing of some services handled by the city in order to develop added revenue sharing funds from the federal government.

Because of the fact that Tawas City presently levies 16 mills for city operation, which includes four mills temporarily for paying the cost of constructing two bridges, the city receives a per capita allowance of $21 on federal revenue sharing funds. This amount is higher than communities assessing a lower operational millage.

At the suggestion of Mayor John Brugger, investigation is now being made to determine the actual formula used by the federal government in returning money to cities. It is the mayor's thinking that the city should investigate the possibility of changing the present basic water and sewer minimum billing to a specified amount of millage to be assessed on the city at large. Other services, such as garbage collection, might be included.

Such a move would increase the total millage above the present 16-mill levy, thus increasing the actual return of federal revenue sharing funds, if present thinking is correct.

It is believed that such a move would not result in any additional cost to individual taxpayers as the higher millage would be balanced by the elimination of the present billing on basic minimum cost to water and sewer users. However, the end result would be that the city might receive additional money through federal revenue sharing.

It was stressed Monday night that considerable study would have to be made before any action could be taken on changing to this different method of financing. The city is awaiting information this week on the federal revenue sharing formula and a special meeting is to be held Wednesday night to discuss all aspects of the suggestion.

In other business Monday night, the city attorney gave an opinion by letter that the city could use perpetual care funds for maintaining cemetery lots for the purchase of property deemed necessary for future expansion of the cemetery. At the present time, $13,500 in perpetual care funds is invested by the city. A meeting is to be called with the cemetery board to discuss possible future expansion of the cemetery.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz reported on a recent meeting held at Delta College between area governmental units, the United States Army Corps of Engineers and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The corps of engineers has been asked to conduct a survey here to determine the feasibility of constructing flood abatement structures to prevent erosion of land near a city water main.

The city council adopted a resolution requesting the county board of commissioners to provide for the administration and operation of a county-wide sanitary landfill. A second resolution, to be presented at Wednesday's session of the board of commissioners, asks the county to assume the responsibility of local governmental units in the joint operation of the ambulance with Tawas Hospital. It was stated that the annual deficit of the ambulance operation had been reduced considerably since administration by the hospital, but that a depreciation fund should be established for the purchase of ambulance replacements. Other local governmental units involved in the operation are to present similar resolutions to the county.

Del Myles was appointed to the joint East Tawas-Tawas City Water Board, which determines policy for operation of East Tawas' water filtration plant. He replaces City Manager Bublitz.

TA Board Proposes New High School

Following a three-month study by citizens' advisory committees, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night reached the conclusion that a new high school building is needed to resolve overcrowding and educational problems of the district. The board unanimously proposed to ask voters to bond the district to build a new facility.

Immediate steps were taken to obtain preliminary forms from the department of education to determine the district's qualifications for issuing general obligation bonds. It is expected that from three to five weeks would be required to initiate the preliminary program by hiring an architect, establishing finances and to set a bond schedule.

Supt. Edward J. Barry said Tuesday that if there are no delays in any of the necessary preliminary steps, the proposed bond issue could go before the people by the middle of April. If the proposal should meet voter approval, bonds could be sold, construction bids taken and ground could be broken by next fall with an optimistic completion date by the fall of 1974.

Although the result of Monday night's meeting appears to be a rapid turn of events, concern has long been expressed over overcrowded conditions in school district facilities. The first step toward a possible solution was reached last October when Barry asked the board to appoint various committees to study seven areas of concern for the district. The action was approved and the seven committees began to hold meetings.

Areas of concern included present and future finances, curriculum, year around school, vocational education, grade structures, enrollment projections and present facilities. Reports from the various committees have been made to the board of education over the past several weeks and a general review of information contained in those reports was given Monday night by Superintendent Barry.

The underlying question of all committee reports touched on the present inadequate facilities of the school district. All committees felt, too, that vocational education should be expanded and improved, that the present buildings were inadequate and that all buildings were not being maintained properly.

A survey generated by the year around school committee found that the majority of those persons returning the forms believed that construction of a new high school building would solve much of the district's present and future problems. A preliminary meeting was held Saturday by the board of education to develop possible long range needs of the district, looking at reports on school facilities and the inadequacies of those facilities.

As a result, the board of education determined that construction of a new high school would be the proper step to answer the district's problems. The present junior and senior high school building, in use for the past 16 years, would be converted into a middle school for grades five, six, seven and eight.

In reaching this conclusion, the board of education determined that remodeling the present building for high school use would not be feasible. The school, presently lacking state accreditation, would require new quarters for science, foreign languages, library, physical education, industrial arts and band.

As an example, the library would require an addition requiring four times the present space devoted to library facilities, the present gymnasium-auditorium is inadequate for physical education. Science laboratories were designed more than 15 years ago for classes numbering 12 to 15 students. At the present time, science classes must be split and one-half of the class not in the classroom must return to the commons area.

It was also felt that a separate auditorium should be included in design of the new building to meet school as well as community needs. The auditorium would provide much-needed facilities for band performances and drama, as well as being utilized as a multiple-use classroom during the day.

"The board of education came to the conclusion that it would be desirable to build a new high school building. (See SCHOOL, page 3.)

Ex-Banker Pleads Guilty to False Entries

Richard L. Harwood, 46, former president of Peoples State Bank of East Tawas, pleaded guilty Monday in federal court at Detroit to charges of making false entries in bank records.

United States Dist. Judge Thomas P. Thornton set no sentencing date on the guilty pleas, which could carry a maximum of 15 years in prison and $15,000 in fines.

Harwood pleaded guilty to three counts of a 36-count indictment. It is expected that the other 33 counts will be dropped.

He pleaded guilty of understating the amount the bank owed holders of certificates of deposit, by about $284,000; of stating that one company, of which Harwood was an officer, National Electronics Transmission Service, owed the bank nothing when it owed $182,000, and of stating that another company, Osceola Estates, owed the bank $150,000 when it owed the bank nothing.

Use of Drugs Investigated at TA School

Investigation by local authorities into the use of drugs by Tawas Area School students continues this week. Although no warrants have been issued, school authorities said that the Iosco Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation and that action may be taken against five "sellers."

Supt. Edward J. Barry reports that the school's drug problem came to a head two weeks ago when it was learned that a number of students were involved in taking pills containing drugs, both on and off school property.

During a shakedown of students and search of lockers, a quantity of pills and marijuana was confiscated. Barry said that administrators discovered that several students were "freaked out" during a basketball game through the use of drugs. One seventh grade girl, who has since returned to school, was hospitalized for an overdose of drugs.

The superintendent said that the investigation would continue and a report is to be made to the board of education at its next meeting.

New Garbage Pact Adopted by City; Protests Registered

A garbage-refuse contract excluding commercial users from the city pickup was adopted Monday night by the Tawas City Council and Leon Houghton, the city's new contractor. The new service is to become effective Wednesday, February 14, and only residential dwellings will receive the service.

The pickup day for residences has been changed from Mondays and Tuesdays to Wednesdays, and there will be a maximum limit of seven plastic bags to be picked up by the contractor. Remaining in force will be maximum weight limitations of 50 pounds for garbage cans and 25 pounds for plastic bags.

The garbage-refuse contract has been under discussion for several months as the city council developed plans to comply with new state regulations which became effective in January.

One of the requirements under new state health department regulations is that a compact truck be utilized for all garbage-refuse pickups. James Quarters, who has provided the contractual service to the city for many years, indicated to the council that he was not interested in the purchase of such a truck and did not enter a proposal to the city.

Cost of the service for providing the residential garbage-refuse pickup will be $5,600 annually. Houghton's original bid was $5,300 for 619 homes, but following lengthy discussion at Monday night's meeting, 40 additional residential pickups were added.

Overlooked in the original discussion was the fact that apartments and the residences of motel owners, as well as other business places where the owner resides on the premises, had been excluded from the estimated 619 pickups.

A group of motel owners appeared before the council Monday night and protested the fact that motel pickups were being excluded under the new contract. Motel owners said they had received this service in the past, believed that their taxes paid to the city entitled them to at least one pickup a week and that such an exclusion would be a step backward in the general cleanliness of the city.

Several motel owners pointed out that their units were occupied by families for nearly 10 months a year and believed that some consideration should be given to that fact. Motel owners said they believed they should be included in the residential pickup during the off season and that they could handle their own disposal during the peak months of the summer tourist season. One owner expressed the thought that the city should handle the commercial contract, billing owners for the service, to avoid excess traffic to the sanitary landfill and to eliminate the possibility of scattering refuse along the highways.

The old contract with Quarters for garbage-refuse pickups, which included motels, cost the city nearly $9,000 a year. Heated discussions have resulted at council meetings over the years and, last summer, councilmen expressed the opinion that if motels were included in the contractual service, then all commercial users should be included.

The program for the colorful and sparkling new school was attended by a good representation from all sections of the school district and the county.—Tawas Herald Photo.

New Hale Area School Building Dedicated to Students-Community

"A new building does not make for a better education, as the community, teachers and students are the elements necessary for a good educational program; but we now have the physical facilities with which to carry out this community's commitment of providing a good educational program in order that our youngsters may play a meaningful role in society."

These were the words Sunday of Prin. Richard Dodge as he accepted keys of the sparkling new junior and senior high school facilities provided by voters of Hale Area School District.

Throughout Sunday's program of dedication, speakers stressed the important role played by taxpayers in providing the necessary finances for construction and operation of the new school.

Supt. Paul Keene told the audience of more than 600 persons that there had been many anxious moments during construction of the building, "but the school is here and we dedicate it today to the total community." He congratulated everyone who played a part in making the facilities available to the youngsters.

State Sen. Robert Richardson of Saginaw called the school a "super modern" facility, one which would give every opportunity to students to reap the greatest possible benefits. He said it was the best possible educational layout and believed it would become one of the busiest educational centers in Northern Michigan.

Richardson pointed out that the new facilities would give each succeeding generation a better chance to cope with technology of the future. "This commitment of Hale Area School District is not only for the 1970s and 1980s, but well into the next century," said Richardson. He reminded taxpayers that they were helping to pay the way for providing a balanced education for their children, their grandchildren and their children's children.

State Sen. Robert Davis, whose 37th District is to include a portion of Iosco County in two years, congratulated taxpayers for their willingness to support construction of a new school as well as to presently provide 2 1/2 mills of taxes to operate it.

He said that it was encouraging and significant that the younger generation of today is concerned with the world about them, particularly with the environment, and that "we get out of life exactly what we put into it." He said, too, that young people, now that they have reached the age of majority at 18 years, will have to take the lead in solving the problems of pollution, land use and over-population and they would have to play "catch up" to avert serious problems remaining from today and 25 years ago.

Davis touched briefly on state finances, stating he felt it was good news that Michigan would end its fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus of 200 million dollars. He believed the legislature would have to reach a compromise on granting some relief on property taxes, but that the state should still carry on all its necessary programs and allow adequate funding for all schools.

Gordon Stow of Warren Holmes Company, architect of the new school, said the new facility was a tool which the community could use.

CLIFFORD ANSCHUETZ

Wow! Two from Area Strike It Rich

The odds for this area ever again having two winners or even one super winner in the state lottery are extremely long, but Clifford Anschuetz of East Tawas and Mrs. Elmer Squires of the Singing Bridge area are happy with the checks they received Thursday at Port Austin.

Anschuetz won the big prize of $200,000 and Mrs. Squires was one of three persons winning $50,000. When she learned two weeks ago that her number qualified her for the super drawing and that she was assured of at least a $10,000 prize, Mrs. Squires retired from her job at Tawas Hospital. Anschuetz, too, has notified Starboard Industries at East Tawas that he has retired as a diemaker.

A veteran of World War II, Anschuetz had to wait one extra week to take part in the drawing because of a mixup here in submitting his ticket verification. Needless to say, he felt the wait was worth all the anxiety.

"If Cliff Anschuetz can win, then anyone can win," he stated last Friday when he and his wife were on their way to the bank to deposit two $10,000 checks. They are to receive $20,000 a year for the next nine years.

After the drawing at Eagle Marina, Port Austin, Mrs. Squires told the audience of about 500 persons that she and her husband really did not have any plans made yet for spending the bonanza. "When you get to be our age, you do not need so many things any more," she stated. As for Anschuetz, he and his wife said Friday that they were looking for property in the area. His winnings will be used to finance his long-sought-after dream of establishing a light manufacturing industry with a sales outlet.

"It is the first time in my life that I do not have to worry about anything, to hurry some place or to rush back to work. I am going to take my time in deciding what to do with the money and how best to use it," he stated.

One of the first things the couple did on returning home Thursday afternoon was to pick up Anschuetz's mother, Mrs. Walter Anschuetz of Tawas City, and take her out for dinner. Their two sons, Craig, 21, who returned in September from Korea, and Kim, 19, a student at Alpena Community College, were unable to join the celebration.

Upstaging publicity for the two local winners in the super drawing was a ticket presented by a Detroit man. The man's ticket failed to pass a validation test and was withdrawn from the super drawing. State authorities were satisfied with the man's story that he had found the ticket in a waste basket and that he was not responsible for altering the numbers.

The state has been averaging a little over three million tickets sold during each week of the lottery. For each million tickets sold, there are two tickets qualifying for the super drawing. In several instances, winning numbers were in the hands of dealers but were not sold.

Up to last week, there was only one other ticket holder qualifying from Northern Michigan for the super drawing. Then came last week with its exciting conclusion at Port Austin.

According to the two winners, the Tawas area is to be the site of a state lottery drawing this summer.

Council On Aging Stresses Good Nutrition

The chicken and the pig were invited to a community breakfast. The chicken suggested that the two of them bring bacon and eggs to the breakfast. However, the pig objected to this proposal on the grounds that for the chicken it was merely involvement, but to the pig it was total commitment.

The success of the 14-county Northeast Regional Council on Aging, Incorporated, is the result of an enthusiastic combination of both involvement and commitment from each of the 14 counties, senior citizen clubs and concerned citizens at large. One of its objectives is to help establish a unanimous awareness of the nutritional needs of the aged and to awaken, quicken and create a receptive impulse to explore solutions to this problem. Assistance will also be given by the council to individual counties to help implement local county councils. The most essential goal is to help discover and utilize private and public funds for the implementation of various services to help enhance the lives of our older generation.

Council On Aging Stresses Study Career Education at Workshop

Isosco Intermediate School District, through the office of career education, hosted a one-day workshop Wednesday, January 31, for representatives of surrounding schools. Coordinator for the workshop was Bruce Vickey, career education director for Isosco County Schools. Directors for the workshop were Berger Anderson and John Marshall, Capital Area Career Center.

Purpose of the workshop was to provide inservice training to counselors and other personnel using materials from Vital Information for Education and Work (VIEW).

The VIEW program consists of approximately 320 occupational descriptions of a noncollege nature. Each occupation has a five-page description of the occupation contained on a two-square-inch slip of microfilm.

Occupational descriptions include information relating to job duties, requirements and qualifications; schooling and its costs; future job outlook, as well as job locations, part-time job information, working conditions, wages and hours, fringe benefits, advancement opportunities, disadvantages, related occupations and where to go to get additional information.

The VIEW program requires a microfilm reader. Funds for implementing the program have been provided by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

The program will provide counselors and teachers with an additional tool with which to assist the non-college bound student. The equipment is available in each high school in the county. It is for the use of all junior and senior high school teachers, counselors and students.

Elementary schools may schedule the use of VIEW equipment by calling Mr. Vickey at 362-2461.

Announce

Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hayes announce the December marriage of their daughter, Geraldine, to John Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ryan of Prescott.

The Rev. Walter Buck performed the single ring ceremony. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. James Deibler of Hale.

A small reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

"not only for the education of children, but for the benefit of the entire community." He said the facilities could be the key to unlock opportunities in the years ahead.

Leland Dane, president of Hale Area Board of Education, called construction of the school a community project which required four different votes. He congratulated Hale Area League for Education for the role it played in successful millage and bond votes, as well as commending the teaching staff and administration for the long hours spent in planning the school and developing a modular educational concept to make the best use of facilities.

In accepting the key from Dane, Superintendent Keene promised the people of the district that he would do everything in his power to assure youngsters that they need not be ashamed of the education they receive. He then turned the key to the school over to Principal Dodge and Peter M. Holley, elementary principal.

Dodge said that the new building was a "dream come true" for the people of the community, who wished to do something to provide for a lasting education for children. As a result, Dodge said that an entirely new educational concept has been provided for the district. He acknowledged the faith and involvement of people of the community, as well as recognizing the role played by the 21-member teaching staff, who helped plan the facilities and the program.

Following the dedication, visitors toured the colorful school. Some of the particularly impressive features include two large classrooms which can be converted into eight separate classrooms through movable and soundproof walls, a modern library with individual study carousels, the cafeteria with stage backed conveniently by the music room. Modern classrooms are provided for natural science, chemistry, typing, homemaking, arts and crafts.

Projects manufactured by woodshop students were on display in the new shop building adjoining the main building. Visitors were invited to inspect a new home being constructed by students in the building and trades class.

ET Council

department to purchase 200 feet of 1½-inch fire hose and 500 feet of 2½-inch fire hose.

On motion of Ald. George Staudacher, the city is to utilize $18,000 from the general fund for local street construction this summer. No federal revenue sharing money is involved.

The council directed that a resolution be sent to the county board of commissioners asking that the county establish a sanitary landfill under its operation and supervision.

The city's annual audit presented two weeks ago by Harold Knight was adopted.

Possibility of establishing a city assessor's plat near the junction of US-23 and Tawas Point Road to correct a number of property descriptions was discussed. The matter was referred to committee to make a determination if such a plat should be established.

The council authorized purchase of a new typewriter and calculator for the city clerk.

A report on the ambulance service operated jointly by Tawas Hospital and local units of government was read by Mayor Robert Bolen.

Garbage

As a result, proposals were asked from contractors for residential dwellings alone, with an alternate bid on commercial pickups.

Ald. Edward Savage pointed out that the alternate proposal to include a commercial pickup would cost the city another $8,000 annually and he believed this was unfair to residential users, who pay two-thirds of the total city operational tax. Savage said that no other commercial users receive a free pickup from the city and believed that it would be unfair to include motels in the new contract. He said, too, that a 10 percent annual cost increase is written into the new contract and that the total cost to the city would become prohibitive if a commercial pickup is included.

It was stated that Tawas City and East Tawas are the only communities of similar size in this area of Michigan which provide garbage-refuse pickup service. In other communities surveyed, both residential and commercial users make their own negotiations with private contractors for pickups.

The council indicated that there would be a pickup made at the dwellings of motel owners, but this would not include a pickup for rental motel units. It was stated that it would be difficult to enforce such a regulation but motel owners would be "held on their honor" to abide by it. In any event, no more than seven plastic bags are to be picked up at the residence of each owner.

As of February 1, the lock on the East Tawas-Tawas City landfill in Huron National Forest has been changed to eliminate the use of keys presently in the hands of commercial and industrial users. This has inconvenienced some users, but action was necessary to comply with an order from the district health department.

Last week, the health department stated that outstanding keys allowed use of the dump on days when an attendant was not present. As a result, this unauthorized use did not provide for daily compacting and backfilling, that fires resulted at the dump, all in violation of health department regulations.

The two cities are adhering strictly to the health department's order and no variations have been allowed. The sanitary landfill is open Monday and Wednesday afternoons, as well as all day Saturday to 6:00 p. m., for the use of those persons from the two communities desiring to dispose of garbage and refuse.

The council said that it would review operations of the new garbage-refuse contract before the end of the city's fiscal year on June 30 to determine if any changes should be made.

Oscoda Park

Receives Grant

Cong. Philip Ruppe announced January 31 that the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, United States Department of Interior, has approved a $23,675 land and water conservation grant to assist Oscoda Township in the further development of an existing park area.

The park is located on Adams Road, approximately two miles west of Oscoda and US-23. Improvements will include one lighted ball field, two unlighted ball fields, a toilet-concession building, parking and utilities.

The State of Michigan will contribute $13,673 to the project and the township will provide $10,002 in local funds.

Robert J. Leslie

Leslie of Whittemore, 56, had succumbed upon admission to Tawas Hospital Wednesday, January 31, after suffering a heart attack at Tawas Industries, Incorporated, where he had been employed as a machinist for 26 years. School

Barry said he believes that the new building would be "in reach financially" from an operational standpoint. He said that present mixed scheduling with early hour classes does not allow desirable utilization of present teacher manpower. Through the addition of only six or seven more teachers, he believes that present classroom loads could be reduced to a ratio of 26 or 27 students to one teacher, without a great increase in operational mileage.

He stressed that the new high school would be designed as a multi-use facility and would have quarters for community activities. It would be designed for year around use, although this would not necessarily mean that it would be completely air conditioned.

"The board of education is committed to a neighborhood school system for the elementary grades and construction of a new high school, along with conversion of the present building into a middle school, would reduce overcrowding in the two elementary units," said Barry.

The superintendent said that many specific questions concerning the proposal would have to be answered in a very short time and one of the first steps for the board of education to take would be selection of an architect.

LEAPING HIGH to score a two-pointer for the Tawas Area Braves is Terry Nichols, who was the leading scorer in Friday night's game with Pinconning.—Tawas Herald Photo.

TA Braves Post 75-51 Victory Over Spartans

After holding their own during the first half of Friday night's game, Pinconning Spartans were rattled by a good half-court press thrown up by the Tawas Area Braves and the Braves went on to win going away, 75-51.

The Braves fell behind early in the first quarter when Pinconning turned in a good passing attack, but Tawas Area quickly regained its composure to hold a 16-13 edge at the end of the first eight minutes.

Pinconning made the first and last baskets of the second quarter, but the Braves increased their lead to 10 points with a 21-14 scoring margin.

The big story of the game came in the third quarter as the Braves really began to hit from all angles. The Tawas twins, Terry and Larry Nichols, led the scoring rampage as the Braves meshed 20 points and effectively blocked most of Pinconning's shooting from the inside to limit the Spartans to 12 points.

Tawas Area regulars continued to hit in the fourth quarter to outscore the Spartans, 18-12. Every player on the team saw action during the last minutes of the game.

The Braves' passing attack led by Steve Janego and Wayne Etue easily broke a press defense thrown up by the Spartans and the Nichols twins controlled the backboards most of the night.

The Braves had four players in double figures, led by Terry Nichols' 21 points. Larry Nichols was next in line with 17 points, followed by Janego's 15 points and Etue meshed 12.

Pickvet led the Spartans in a losing cause with 18 points, followed by 10 points meshed by Vagts.

Cards Won Two Games Over Hillman

Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals got back on the winning track January 30 with a double win over Hillman. The varsity won, 66-41, and the Junior Varsity walloped its opponents, 58-24.

The varsity victory snapped a long, seven-game losing streak. Coach Reed's boys led all the way in this one, with a good height advantage under the boards helping the cause. The Cards enjoyed a nine-point lead at intermission, then doubled this at the three-quarter mark to win easily.

Howard Barriger led all the scoring with 32 points, the only Card to hit double figures. Sheldon led the losers with 13.

Eagles Play Best Game of Season to Beat AuGres

Playing their best 32 minutes of basketball thus far this season, the Hale Area Eagles made a complete turnaround after losing to Arenac Eastern last week to down visiting AuGres, 76-64, in North Star League action Friday night.

Still smarting from the loss to Eastern which ended their string of eight league victories, the Eagles turned in an outstanding team effort Friday night and it was needed as AuGres is one of the most underrated squads in the league.

The two teams played toe-to-toe basketball in the first quarter and Hale Area held a slim, 13-16, edge at the end of the first eight minutes of play. The Eagles upped their margin in the second quarter with a 20-14 scoring effort.

The Eagles cooled offensively in the third quarter, but still outscored AuGres, 16-15, and then followed with a 22-19 margin over the visitors in the final quarter.

Greg Pickett pulled in 18 rebounds during the night and received added help from Keyno Shellenbarger, who had 12 rebounds, and Ernie Maas, who had nine. This was the real key to the win as AuGres could get only one shot at the basket and, if missed, Hale controlled the ball. The Eagles were effective, too, on their own backboards and controlled the offensive rebounds.

The Eagles continued to be in foul trouble during this game as Keyno Shellenbarger and Pickett both left the floor via the five-foul route. Jeff Miller, hampered by close-guarding tactics of Arenac Eastern a week ago, did not leave the floor in spite of having four fouls charged against him.

Miller, who set a scoring record for Hale three weeks ago and then had a disappointing night against Arenac Eastern, led the Eagles' offensive attack with 34 points on 14 field goals and six charity tosses. A change in Hale Area's offense saw Miller being moved under the basket to allow Keyno and Tyson Shellenbarger to bring the ball down court.

Two other Hale Area players hit in double figures as Pickett meshed seven field goals and Keyno Shellenbarger hit for 12 points. Miller's six charity tosses were the only successful completions from the free throw line for the Eagles.

AuGres had three players scoring in double figures, led by Mike Fitzgerald's 24. Randy Miller had 16 points and Walt Selle counted 12.

Undefeated Junior Braves Beat Pinny

Tawas Area Junior Braves continued to roll on toward a possible undefeated season Friday night by defeating the Pinconning Junior Varsity, 86-50.

With five starters hitting in double figures during the night, the Junior Braves jumped off to a 21-17 margin at the end of the first quarter. The Tawas team upped the margin in the second quarter by doubling Pinconning's scoring effort, 20-10.

The scoring pace slowed somewhat in the third quarter, but Tawas still held a scoring edge, 15-14. The Junior Braves had one of their best scoring quarters of the season in the final when they outscored the Little Spartans, 30-19.

Top scorer of the night was Randy Scales, who meshed 18 points on nine field goals. Following closely behind was Mike Mooney, who had 16 points on eight buckets. Mark Elliott had 15 points, Jeff Hemphill hit the hoops for seven field goals and Mickey Haglund had three field goals and five charity tosses for 11 points.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Matthew 26:20-29)

(Jesus) took a loaf and after the blessing he broke it... He also took a cup, and after thanking God he gave it to them (the disciples). (Matthew 26:26-27, Moffatt)

Jesus thanked God for everything, especially for two blessings we often forget. He thanked God for a loaf of bread and for the cup.

When vicious Hurricane Camille hit the Gulf Coast in 1969 and the terrible typhoons hit East Pakistan in 1970, the people of the devastated areas knew the value of a loaf of bread or a glass of water.

We take so many daily blessings such as these for granted. We take the ordinary blessings of health, sunshine, safety, freedom and home for granted. Hence we often forget to thank God for them. How often have you thanked God for the fresh air, the smile of a baby, the song of a bird or the faithful partner?

Thanks for ordinary things transforms them into divine blessings. In suffering, we can be thankful for the discipline. If we offer our suffering to God, it can become redemptive. Our lives become brighter and more helpful by thanksgiving.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank You for life with its opportunities and challenges. We are grateful for the bitter cups as well as for the sweet ones. Above all, we thank You for the unspeakable gift of Your Son, Amen.

Improve Deer Range With Tree Cutting

The winter deer ranges on two areas of the Huron National Forest are being revitalized as the result of a cooperative project now under way by the United States Forest Service (USFS) and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). This is being accomplished by the cutting of stands of non-merchantable trees. These stands have been located and marked by USFS foresters and DNR biologists. The areas are then cut by DNR crews using tractor mounted tree cutting blades and shears.

One of these winter deer ranges is near Tuttle Marsh, Iosco County, where some 80 acres of selected stands are being cut. The other winter range is in the Pine River area of Alcona County, where some 200 acres are being felled.

The felling of these trees provides immediate browse for deer during the current winter but more important than this is the browse that will be produced over the next several years from the sprouts and seedlings that will come as a result of the opening of these stands by the cutting. It is part of the plan for these winter deer ranges to make additional commercial or non-commercial cuts every few years in these areas to sustain good winter food conditions for deer.

Deer are not the only wildlife species that benefit from tree cutting. Snowshoe hare, woodcock and ruffed grouse broods also utilize areas of new forest growth for food and cover. There are also many non-game animals and song birds that use the young forests for part or all of their habitat needs.

Although tree cutting, whether it be commercial logging or by such non-commercial methods as this, may appear to most people as unsightly, the adverse visual impact is not long-lasting and the new forest soon presents a different type of beauty on the landscape. When such treatments of the forest are planned and coordinated with the needs of wildlife, timber and the many other facets of forest resource management, the forest will provide a greater variety and abundance of goods and services for people.

THE BASSETT FAMILY of Bay City will be at the Free Methodist Church, Hale, Saturday, February 10, 7:30 p. m. The group will present a varied program of music and stories. There are 10 singing children. Three members of the group, pictured above, are ventriloquists, Dwane E. Bassett, the father, presents stories with scene-o-felt pictures, while Mrs. Bassett plays the accordion and piano. There is no admission charge.

Cannot start your car? Battery run down? Nothing to it—just use jumper cables and a friend's battery. It is a simple but potentially dangerous practice. Several injuries have resulted from this practice.

Hydrogen, a highly-explosive gas given off by a battery taking a charge, and pressure may build inside the battery and cause an explosion. It is a good practice to remove the caps on both batteries before attaching jumper cables. Lay a cloth over the open vents of each battery. Be sure the cars do not touch each other at this time as this could establish a ground connection. When connecting cables to start an engine, connect to the fully charged battery last and make the final connection to the grounded terminal. Reverse the procedure when removing the cables and reinstalling the caps. Throw the cloths away as they may have corrosive acid on them.

Always jump batteries outdoors or in an open garage to reduce possibility of hydrogen gas buildup. Always connect positive to positive and negative to negative when using jumper cables. This prevents damage to the diodes in the alternator.

Never use matches and be very careful when making a connection so that a spark is not given off, which could ignite hydrogen being given off.

Rep. Prescott Raps Selection Of Chairmen

State Rep. George A. Prescott of Tawas City commented bitingly on committee appointments for the next two years in the Michigan House of Representatives.

"Of the 33 committee chairmanships," Prescott said, "18 are from the Detroit area and 11 from Detroit suburbs. That leaves four chairmen from outstate! No one needs to guess what part of the state will receive all the consideration and attention."

Prescott said two of the outstate chairmanships went to Southwest Michigan, the two other to Representatives O'Neil of Saginaw and J. Robert Traxler of Bay City. "Detroit will get what Detroit wants," Prescott concluded, "and there are still only 12 of us, democrats and republicans, representing two-thirds of the land area of Michigan north of Townline 16, the line roughly from Bay City west to Muskegon. That makes the one-man, one-vote odds 98 to 12."

1/2 lb. margarine 2 cups grated Swiss or Cheddar cheese
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1 cup coarsely chopped California walnuts
1/3 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Combine margarine, flour, sugar, and salt; blend until particles are very fine. Add cheese, and mix well with a fork. Add chopped walnuts, and press dough together to make a ball. Chill. Roll thin and cut with floured cutter. Place on baking sheets about one-inch apart. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, just until edges are lightly browned. Makes 5 to 6 dozen cookies. For alternate ways, shape dough into a long roll, wrap in waxed paper, and chill thoroughly. Slice about 1/8-inch thick. Or, omit walnuts from dough. Chop walnuts finely. Shape dough into tiny balls, and roll each in walnuts. Place on baking sheets, and flatten with bottom of glass dipped into flour.

Ask the Lindsay Lady

Q. Is it true what they say about soft water—that it saves several weeks of housecleaning time a year?

A. Yes, it's a fact, researched and proved by Ohio State University. With soft water, homemakers were able to cut the average time of each housecleaning by one hour and 39 minutes. This gave them a saving of over 10 eight hour work days per year!

Q. I have a Lindsay Imperial water softener. It has a number of extra controls that are quite important to me. Why not tell your readers, Lindsay Lady?

A. These extra controls are quite simple: they help make your life softer and save money, too. For example, the "Salt Saver" eliminates over-salting during regeneration and saves you money. Once you have set it properly, don't touch it again. Another control, "Extra Softening Cycle" gives immediate regeneration to solve unexpected regeneration needs, like a house full of guests. And, a "By-Pass Valve" control actually disconnects the softener. This can save expensive plumbing and be very useful when you water the lawn or wash the car from an outside faucet.

Q. I know I have hard water, but how hard is it really?

A. The only way you'll know for sure is to have it tested.

The Lindsay Division offers a direct-by-mail hard water test for only a dollar. Just send me your home address and a dollar. I'll send you a plastic bottle with a mailing box and simple instructions. Fill it and return to me and I'll give you a written report from our laboratory.

Q. What does the Lindsay Imperial softener look like?

A. Here it is. Sleek and handsome. It measures 45" high, 14" wide and 24" deep. A hard working beauty.

Other questions? Ask the Lindsay Lady. You'll find her at your nearby Lindsay dealer. See the Yellow Pages.

Golf On Ice

by BILL THOMAS

It was difficult to distinguish the chatter of teeth from the swoosh of a driving iron on the last half of Frostbite 18, but the players in golfdom's most unusual tournament would have you believe it's great fun. The Polar Ice-Cap Golf Tournament is an annual event played on the ice of Spring Lake near Grand Haven, Mich., and although no pros have mustered the courage to enter, it creates practically as much interest as a PGA event.

The mercury hovered at 10 below when the first golfers teed off on the ice at 8:30 a.m. to initiate the second annual Polar Ice Cap Tournament. The skies were blue and the brilliant rays of the February sun were deceiving. In protected places, it even felt warm but upon rounding the point for the third hole, the brisk winter wind swept full force across the ice, cutting to the bone. Indeed, one golfer remarked, "It takes an unusual character to play in this tournament—either you have to be a fool-hardy outdoorsman or you have to be nuts."

Winter golf does attract a rare breed, but most of the shock of playing the game in winter is the mere fact that it's rarely done. Golf, being associated with spring or with mild climates, was never considered a winter sport. Yet it requires no more stamina or courage to play this game in sub-zero temperatures and snow than it does to ski, go bobsledding, ice skating or snowmobiling. And if you like to play golf, who says you can't do it in winter?

The players in the Polar Ice Cap tourney use colored golf balls — and the color preferred is left up to the individual player—in order that they could be located in the snow and much easier than the white ones. Some golfers, such as James Slabbekoorn of Grand Rapids, Mich., used black, others used orange or blue or green and one gent from Texas used a polka-dotted ball.

Most of the entries came from Michigan; however, interest was voiced from the nearby states of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The number of entries in the first tourney held here totaled 100 and it didn't vary much on the second one, either. Although cold, the weather was ideal on the second and members of the tourney committee expected there would be more than at the first when the elements were near unruly, making the handling of a club unwieldy.

There were other differences in the two tourneys as well, for the first included only nine holes of play. It was doubled only after several entries in 1970 complained because they couldn't play a full 18 holes. Competitors in the 1971 tourney were given the choice of playing either nine or 18 holes on a par-3 course. Most of them chose the latter. And some—playing beyond the tourney requirements—went another nine holes after finishing.

"Golfers are a hardy bunch," said Paul Helmer, manager of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce. "You can't out-do them. They get a golf club in their hand and even the devil couldn't stop them."

About the same time as the Grand Haven tourney, golfers 500 miles east were teeing off in another tourney—at Lake George, N.Y., where another Polar Ice Cap Open has become an annual event. As many as 500 golfers participate in that one where temperatures have been registered as far as 30 below zero.

The nine-hole par-3 course there was first laid out by Bob Scherer, manager of the Glens Falls, N.Y. golf course. Scherer also provided the golf clubs—five, seven and nine irons and putters—and golf balls colored with orange fluorescent paint. The balls were heated, for committee members reasoned that a frozen ball would shatter or break upon contact with the club. The committee at Grand Haven had advised golfers accordingly also, but no balls were heated and shattering did not prove to be one of their problems.

At each hole both at Lake George and at Spring Lake, players tee off from small mats similar to "welcome" mats used on porches; the holes ranged from 40 to 150 yards. And winter rules were in effect. Players were permitted to tee up anywhere on the course. Some preferred to build little mounds of snow from which to tee off, rather than use the mats.

With the exception of a few special rules, all USGA rules applied at both tournaments. The special rules include the following: Lost ball—allow 2 minutes searching, one stroke penalty for any ball off the fairway; players allowed to place the ball back on the fairway, but no closer to the hole, suffer a one-stroke penalty. If ball overshoots green, player may replace it same number of paces from green back on fairway with a one-stroke penalty.

Some golfers like Don Buehrle of Muskegon, Mich., found it tough to judge the snow cover and pre-determine what the golf ball would do. Upon several occasions he overshot the green and suffered the penalty. No one could really judge the snow that well, for at places on the ice, the wind had swept the surface nearly clean; at others, the snow had begun to drift. If the ball ran into a drift, it often stopped short, but if the snow were packed, it rolled as well as on the grass in summer, perhaps even more so.

For others, winter golf was nothing new. Norbert Mrozinski and his 14-year-old son, Randy, of Grand Haven make winter golf a regular weekend outing. "We play year-around," the elder Mrozinski said. "Love it as well in winter as in summer." And although he admitted he had few golfing partners after November 1, he says he believes more and more golfers are discovering that winter golf can be great fun... even as much as in any other season.

The ladies weren't missing from the fairways, either. But they were not early arrivals. The first two—Phyllis Smallegan and Louise Edwards, both of Grand Haven—waited until noon to tee off. But they did so with the kind of vigor that made you realize that spring couldn't be more than a few weeks away. In fact, Mrs. Smallegan was a winner, shooting a 37 for first place in the nine-hole women's division.

Capturing first place in the Frostbite 18 division were co-winners George Bitner of Spring Lake and Bob Berkeley of Grand Rapids, both with 66's.

Only the greens were cleared of snow—and those not thoroughly—at the Spring Lake course. In New York, initially, the committee had tried another venture—dyeing the greens green. The ice wouldn't take the dye, however, and it created a motley appearance. They also salted the greens with sawdust to prevent skidding, but a fresh snowfall the night previously rendered that unnecessary, too.

Entry fees at the Spring Lake tournament were $2 for adults; $1.50 for children under 12.

In many ways, as several regular golfers expressed, winter golf tournaments are great. They allow one physical exercise at a time of year when its need is greatest; they provide the golfer with an opportunity to sharpen up his game before the snow melts and the fairways turn green and last, but not least, because it's plain great fun. Mix those ingredients with the additional challenge of playing in a new element and you have a winning combination.

If your hand were designed to brush teeth, it might look like this.

We're not saying you can't do a good job with a hand-powered toothbrush. You can. And according to the experts, there's more than one way to brush.

Here's one way: starting at your gums, brush down on your upper teeth, up on your lower teeth, on the front, back and chewing surfaces, brushing each area at least ten times, making sure to take at least several minutes.

Of course, this isn't the only good choice you've got. Here's another. And this one was specifically, scientifically engineered to brush teeth correctly.

Broxodent. 120 Strokes-per-second. That's how fast the precision brush-head of Broxodent moves. And that's fast. It adds up to 7200 cleaning, polishing strokes a minute. (And that's awfully nice when you're rushing for a morning train or an evening appointment.)

Since Broxodent runs on regular house current, the brush-head gets constant, steady power. There are no batteries to recharge or replace. And of course Broxodent carries the Underwriters' Laboratory Seal.

Clean teeth, fresh breath, a healthy mouth. Clinical studies have shown the value of Broxodent in removing harmful food deposits (or plaque), while maintaining healthy gums.

And if you noticed in the picture that the brush-head of Broxodent looks small, that's because it was designed small. Small to reach hard-to-get-at places, like the backs of your teeth. The thin bristles help get decay-causing particles from between teeth, too. So you end up with clean, bright teeth.

Predictably enough, you also end up with clean, fresh breath.

An answer to the "getting-your-kids-to-brush" problem. You know what a chore it is getting kids to brush. But watching a kid brush with Broxodent is something else.

Kids like snapping their own color-coded brush onto the Broxodent. They like the "tingly" feel of Broxodent.

Luckily, this also applies to kids of thirty-five.

Ask your dentist. By all means, ask your dentist what he thinks of Broxodent. He's the man who knows. And more dentists surveyed recommended Broxodent than all other electric toothbrushes combined. Broxodent.

Picking one up might be the smartest thing your hand ever did for you.

THE BROXODENT POWERED TOOTHBRUSH IS ACCEPTABLE AS AN EFFECTIVE CLEANING DEVICE FOR USE AS PART OF A PROGRAM FOR GOOD ORAL HYGIENE TO SUPPLEMENT THE REGULAR PROFESSIONAL CARE REQUIRED FOR ORAL HEALTH.

You need not be rich, beautiful or college bred to be an interesting conversationalist. Some people possess all three assets and yet are boring conversationalists. Do others seem to enjoy listening to you or do they seem to give you a wide berth? Among the ingredients of the good conversationalist are an easy fluency, stock of interesting information, courtesy, sincerity and the willingness to listen to others.

There are many advantages to being a good conversationalist. Since most people enjoy his company he is likely to be more sought after as a guest. He can also make friends easier. A good conversationalist may so impress his superiors as to advance more quickly in his career. Besides, it caresses one's ego to see others listening absorbed with his conversation.
