Councils Discuss Area Police Force

City councils of East Tawas and Tawas City are to appoint three-man committees at next Monday night's meetings to study the feasibility of forming an inter-municipal police force commission to provide police protection for both communities.

This was the result of a special meeting held between the two councils Monday night to discuss mutual problems of sanitary sewer disposal and water distribution.

Mayor Robert Bolen of East Tawas said that the proposed area police force was in the talking stage. He said that establishment of such a commission had a legal basis, according to City Atty. Michael Freel, who was present at the meeting.

Tawas City has been without the services of a police chief since December, when Dennis Frank, acting chief, resigned to accept a new position with the sheriff's department.

The possibility of having the county sheriff's department provide police protection for the city has been

Max Waterbury, Former Trooper Here, Dead

Det. Sgt. Max G. Waterbury, 46, of the Michigan State Police, Pontiac, died of a heart attack Saturday, January 6, at his home at Clarkston.

Waterbury served 10 years at the East Tawas post, from June 20, 1949, to September 14, 1959, before being transferred to Flat Rock. He came here after attending recruit school at East Lansing.

He is survived by his wife, Arrol, and three children, two sons, Mark and Scott, and a daughter, Toni.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, January 9, at Clarkston United Methodist Church. Burial was at Ottawa Park Cemetery, Clarkston.

Original Developers Say Lakewood to be Completed

According to an account in a Detroit newspaper Sunday, present owners of Lakewood Shores, "one of the plush developments spawned by the northern land boom" and located north of Oscoda, claim there is no reason that any of the 1,653 people who have bought lots in the development should fear the complex will not be finished or that they might suffer financial loss.

Lakewood Shores is in serious financial trouble and is scheduled to be taken over by a new developer.

Bill E. Cottrill, who, with Carl A. Brownell Jr., both of Oscoda, developed the resort facility, told the Detroit Free Press that "the only losers are ourselves."

Cottrill attributed the setback to three factors. He said that when the development was begun, there were perhaps a dozen major developers in Michigan. Now, there are about 50 and it is simply more difficult to sell lots.

Secondly, he said that he and Brownell built such facilities as a large clubhouse and a golf course first, then began their major attempt to sell lots. The two hoped, he said, that sales would be spurred when prospective customers saw these recreational facilities. He said the two hoped that if normal sales volume would be doubled.

Instead, he said, there was no excitement about future facilities. Buyers seemed somewhat jaded, he said, and the expedited growth did not come.

Cottrill also told the Detroit newspaper that sales were delayed by new state regulations on developments and by stories of suspected fraud in some northern sales.

Cottrill was quoted as saying that delays caused by new inspection regulations from the state health department cost the developers $1,500,000, thus forcing them to close sales offices in about a half dozen Michigan

Glum Over Prospects for Sewer Aid

"If the water resources commission would allocate just 10 percent of its 168 million dollars in pollution abatement funds toward projects of a million dollars or less, outstate Michigan communities would receive some much needed financial assistance in meeting new regulations under the pure water act."

Speaking was Mayor Robert Bolen of East Tawas at a special joint meeting Monday night between city councils of Tawas City and East Tawas. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing possible local cooperation in constructing a secondary sewerage treatment plant to serve both communities.

Mayor Bolen's above thought is probably only wishful thinking as no one is expecting any change in attitude from the state. The meeting, however, did serve as a common ground for an expression of cooperation between both communities and the door was left open to future talks.

Although discussion between city engineers and councilmen left them disillusioned with the present method of allocating federal money to assist communities with expensive sewer projects, members of both councils did pledge that they would again meet to discuss a joint secondary treatment plant—when and if federal funds again become available.

Reviewing the present status of East Tawas' application for federal funds to help finance its secondary treatment plant and to meet phosphate removal regulations, Otto Schiesswohl of Spicer Engineering, Saginaw, East Tawas' consultant, said that East Tawas had dropped from a position of 56th to 188th on the priority list of 352 applications for federal funds. He said the prospect now for receiving any federal funds does not look promising "this year, next year or in the future."

Harry Bacon of Edmunds Engineering Company, Bay City, Tawas City's consulting firm, agreed, but was a little more optimistic that there could be a "break" in funds when the federal budget is adopted in April.

"No one can predict with accuracy as to what will happen after the federal budget is approved; federal money is tight at this minute, but things might loosen after April," he stated.

Mayor Bolen said that applications from Northern Michigan communities were moving downward on the priority list and that the major share of federal funds was being allocated to the Detroit area. It was stated that Detroit does not even furnish primary sewage treatment.)

"When the Tawas River gets as bad as the River Rouge, you will get funds. But, this is ridiculous; wouldn't it be logical to save the Tawas River now?" asked Schiesswohl.

It was pointed out that the two communities holding top priorities were new applicants and that they would finance construction of sanitary sewer distribution systems, which heretofore have not been financed with federal funds. Engineers present at the meeting believed that this was unfair to those communities which financed their own distribution systems. It was also pointed out that the above two communities held the third and fourth priorities and were to finance waste water treatment plants.

"Unless something is changed in the method of distributing federal funds, Tawas City and East Tawas will never have secondary sewage treatment—the people just cannot afford to pay the entire shot," said Bolen. He said that if the two communities went on their own to finance the construction, monthly sewer bills would cost as much as monthly heating bills and the people just could not stand that.

Schiesswohl pointed out that the state was not obtaining any more court orders to force communities to comply with pollution abatement regulations. In the past, when the state took court action, the offending community received a higher priority for federal funds.

This fact led to a question with those attending the meeting as to what the state was going to do concerning its present regulation that communities furnish phosphate removal by 1977. The question apparently is in limbo and is to remain unanswered for the time being.

Schiesswohl said that in original planning for East Tawas' secondary treatment plant, consideration had been given to possibly serving Tawas City with the same plant. He said that the cost of such a combined plant and force main was estimated three years ago at $210,000. He said that the plant ultimately developed, which made modifications on the present primary plant and was large enough to serve East Tawas, would cost only $130,000. He felt that the $80,000 saving to East Tawas should be a consideration in any future planning.

Engineers for both communities believed that if a secondary treatment plant was ever developed to serve both communities, it would be wise for each community to operate its present primary treatment plants. Schiesswohl pointed out that East Tawas is "uphill" from Tawas City and that affluent from Tawas City's primary plant would have to be pumped to a secondary treatment plant.

It was also pointed out by engineers that plans approved by the health department and other state agencies three years ago may need revisiting at some later date. It was stated that a number of new regulations have been developed concerning pollution abatement.

One of the principal reasons for a joint secondary treatment plant, said Mayor John Brugger of Tawas City, was a possible saving in operation. Engineers and councilmen were unanimous in the opinion that both cities should contact state and federal agencies in an effort to encourage a change in priorities for allocating federal money in this state, particularly since outstate Michigan was to receive little benefit under the present plan.

Bolen said he had nothing new to report on a joint application filed by East Tawas, Tawas City and Baldwin Township for federal funds to assist in a regional water-sewer development plan. He said that the communities would have to take a second look at the future should federal funds not be available.

"I am afraid we are going to have to live with what we have for a few more years," stated Mayor Bolen.

East Tawas' engineer stated that both communities would have to consider additional water storage facilities. He said that regardless of a proposed 12-inch main to connect Tawas City with East Tawas' water filtration plant, provisions of additional water storage in both communities would be necessary.

'Not Guilty' Plea Entered by Judge

Harwood 'Stands Mute' in Federal Court at Detroit

Richard Harwood, 46, former president of Peoples State Bank of East Tawas, stood mute Monday when appearing before Fed. Judge Thomas P. Thornton at Detroit and a not guilty plea was entered for him on a 36-count indictment charging him with embezzlement and misapplication of funds while he was president of the local bank.

Judge Thornton set a personal bond of $25,000 for Harwood, who was represented at the hearing by Atty. George E. Woods.

During the proceedings, Harwood signed an acknowledgement of receipt of the indictments, returned last week by a federal grand jury, showing what the penalty could be if convicted. A spokesman in the district attorney's office at Bay City said that the penalty under conviction could be a fine of $5,000 and/or five years imprisonment on each count.

Representing the federal government was John Hausner, chief of the United States District Attorney's criminal division at Detroit.

The hearing had originally been scheduled for Tuesday, but was moved up one day in order to meet schedules of the various parties.

Harwood, who was granted an indefinite leave of absence from the bank after losses were discovered last year by examiners, was accused of taking or misapplying more than one million dollars.

The indictment returned by the federal grand jury included three counts of embezzlement, misapplication of bank funds and false entry of loans, deposits and indebtedness to the bank by two firms in which Harwood had an interest.

The companies were the National Cable Casting Service and the National Electronic Transmission Service, Incorporated. Both firms were formerly located at the Holland House at East Tawas, but are no longer in business.

Harwood was arraigned last August on two other embezzlement charges involving the two companies. He currently is out on $25,000 bond, awaiting trial on the earlier charges.

Investigation at the bank was started last February. Most of the charges involved a period from August 1971 to February 1972.

The bank, which was founded in 1927, has assets of more than 21 million dollars and has continued to operate without interruption.

Information Sought On 'Lost' Dogs

"Dognappers," who plagued the area about a year ago, are apparently again at work in Iosco County.

Terri Whitford of 2835 South National City Road, Sherman Township, writes that a light green car stopped in front of the house on New Year's Day.

"I paid little attention, even when the man attempted to coax the dogs into the car; I refused to believe that they were being stolen. The car left and when I walked outside, the dogs greeted me with bounds, licks and wagging tails, so the incident was forgotten for a day or so," states a letter this week to the Herald.

Two days later, the two dogs did not greet the Whitford car upon returning home from work. Close neighbors, the news media, area business places and complete strangers were contacted, but all in vain—the dogs are still missing.

"I rent a farmhouse. It is not elegant, but it is in the country and my horse has room to run and the dogs are happy here, too. My dog is a 10-month-old Norwegian Elkhound named 'Stoney,' and she is usually in the company of a four-month-old basset puppy named 'Sneeziks.' They love the countryside and they love the horse, so it was not unusual for those passing by to stop and watch the dogs stealing grain from the horse's mouth or sleeping beneath him, as he finished up whatever ration they saw fit to leave him," states the letter.

"We hope that whomever has the dogs might read this and realize that the dogs still have a home and the owners are anxiously awaiting their return," states the letter.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Terri Whitford, 2835 South National City Road, Turner, Michigan 48765, or telephone 756-3114 after 5:00 p. m.

Students Miss Classes; New Attendance Rules Adopted

A new school attendance procedure for the second semester is to become effective January 22 at Tawas Area School for junior and senior high school students.

Robert McDonald, assistant principal, told members of the board of education Monday night that an estimated 90 percent of the high school students missed at least one class four times during the past semester.

He said that the high incidence of absences could be attributed to a number of factors, including split sessions which allows students to leave schools at three one-hour intervals each afternoon. In addition, he said that no roll was taken in the commons area and that keeping track of attendance for 1,100 students was a real problem for one secretary and himself.

The new policy will place responsibility for attending classes on both the student and the parent, with the idea being that school attendance is beneficial to the student.

In the future, it will not be necessary for the student to bring an excuse from home or get an admittance slip from the office for returning to a class. The student may return directly to the class. It was stated that possibly 30 percent of the present excuses being handed into the office were forged.

However, when a student has been absent four times from a class in one semester, the instructor is to report that fact to the office. The guidance office is to then notify the home of the absences by letter and report any pertinent information back to the teacher.

When a student has been absent eight times from a class in one semester, the instructor again reports to the guidance office, which will notify the assistant principal. The home is to be notified by letter and that particular class will be closed to the student until a conference is held with the student, parent, assistant principal and guidance counselor.

If a student continues to be absent 12 times in a semester, a decision would be made if the student would continue this education in that class.

*Four tardy marks would constitute one absence for a class.

In other business conducted Monday night, the board of education denied a request from Tawas Area Athletic Booster Club to allow establishment of a smoking room for adults during basketball games.

The board of education accepted the low bid of Inglis Ford Sales for furnishing two bus chassis and the low bid of Blue Bird for two bus bodies.

The board of education authorized replacement of exterior doors according to finances available in the budget. It was stated that 11 door windows were replaced in the school last year. Door windows are to be smaller in order to reduce the chance of breakage. Cost of each door was estimated at $170.

Authorization was given to advertise for bids on the purchase of portable bleachers for the stage.

Flint Man Critically Hurt in Collision Died Monday Night

A 26-year-old Flint man, who stopped his car Saturday night on US-23 to assist a motorist, died Monday night at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital after being pinned between two cars in a collision near Point Lookout.

Injured and given emergency treatment at Tawas Hospital before being transferred to Saginaw was James E. Webber. He sustained serious head lacerations and leg injuries.

State police from East Tawas said that Webber stopped his car to assist a motorist, Patricia A. Bartreau, 18, Alpena, who was having trouble with her vehicle. Webber pulled his car in front of the Bartreau vehicle, which was parked on the shoulder next to the northbound lane, in order that the light on his auto could shine under the hood of the other car.

Webber was standing between the two cars with his head under the hood of the disabled vehicle when the Bartreau vehicle was struck from the rear by a car driven by Eva M. Fisher, 20, Haslett.

State police said that the impact slammed the parked cars together, with Webber pinned between the two front bumpers. The Fisher car then swung around the Bartreau car and struck Webber's auto.

Beverly Kay Walker, 27, Flint, a passenger in Webber's car who was standing next to the two parked vehicles, received serious injuries, as did Miss Bartreau, who was in her car. The driver of the third car received minor injuries as did a passenger, Tim Lickfelt, 20, Haslett.

City to Use Revenue Sharing for Streets

The City of Tawas City will use its initial federal revenue sharing funds allocated in 1972 for a comprehensive construction program on its major streets.

Under terms of the act establishing the revenue sharing program, the city has notified the federal government of its intended street construction, scheduled during the period from January 1 through June 30.

At the last meeting of the council on December 18, City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz submitted a list of major streets along with estimated costs of street preparation for blacktopping.

Included among major streets are Ninth Avenue, Mathews Street, Fifth Avenue, First Street, Harris Avenue, First Avenue, Fourth Street, Bay Drive and Seventh Avenue off Fourth Street. Major streets are those thoroughfares connecting commercial and industrial areas with state trunk lines and so designated by the state.

The council is now studying Bublitz's recommendations in order to develop a street construction program this summer. Some streets will need complete repaving, including drainage, while others will only require work on shoulders and a blacktop cap.

Bublitz states that an asphalt plant mix operation is to be located in the area this summer and cost of blacktop would be lower than usual due to the reduction in transportation cost.

Total cost of the project will not be known until the council makes a decision on its plans for the 1973 program. The city received its first revenue sharing check of $17,640 in December and is to receive an identical check this month, representing the $36,280 total to be received for the 1972 payment.

During the 30-year history of blacktopped streets in Tawas City, sealcoating with tar and chips has been the method used since 1942 for street construction. This will be the first program to use plant mix blacktop, which has a longer life and is more costly.

In other business conducted Tuesday, January 2, proposals were heard from two contractors interested in providing garbage and trash removal service. Proposals were presented by Del Hoedeman of South Branch and Leon Houghton of Tawas City-Sand Lake, both of whom are equipped with packer trucks now required by the state.

The city manager reports that cost will be a big factor in the type of service to be adopted by the city. Proposals on various types of services to be offered were presented, ranging from a low of $10,000 to a high of $32,000 annually.

Proposals range from providing pickup service only to dwellings to combining the service to include commercial. Another variation would use the present municipal sanitary landfill facility to having the contractor provide dumping service.

No decision was made by the council and it hoped that a definite conclusion as to the type of service to be adopted may be reached this month.

John Hosbach was appointed to a three-year term as a member of the board of review.

Whittemore Drivers Post Two Wins

Two Whittemore drivers walked off with first prize money and trophies in two classes in the grand prix endurance class races held Sunday at Standish and sanctioned by the Michigan International Snowmobile Association.

Fred Hasty, owner-driver, won the AA division in his 290 EXT. He covered the endurance run in three hours and had only two pit stops of one minute, 18 seconds.

Roger Britt won the BB class in his 340 El Tigre, completing the 135 miles in three hours. He used six gallons of gasoline, averaged 22.5 miles per gallon and had a top speed of 87 miles per hour. He had two, two-second pit stops.

This was the first sanctioned race of the season to be held in this region. The winning machines were sponsored by The Cat Shack of Whittemore.

TA Board Denies Two Grievances of Teachers

Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night denied two grievances filed by Tawas Area Education Association. Twenty-six teachers attended the board's regular meeting.

The first grievance was filed for a teacher who had signed a letter of intent on June 14 to teach at Tawas Area, but was found to be ill when she took a school-required physical examination in August. Because of surgery, she was unable to report for work until October 2 and then under a new contract with the board of education effective October 6.

Spokesmen for TAEA were of the opinion that the teacher had started to work for the district through preparation of lesson plans and that the master contract allowed for borrowing 10 days of sick leave. It was TAEA's opinion that writing a new contract on October 6 was in violation of the master contract, which designates TAEA as the bargaining agent.

In denying the grievance, the board of education took the position that the teacher was not on the payroll as she was required to have a physical examination before starting employment.

The second grievance involved replacement of a teacher's car window. Larry Larson, president of TAEA, contended that an article in the contract stated that the board of education would reimburse a teacher in an amount not to exceed $100 in any school year for loss or destruction, while on duty in the school, of personal property of a kind normally worn or brought into school, when the teacher has not been negligent to the extent that such loss is not covered by insurance.

Larson said his car window was broken November 1 in the school parking lot while he was working at coaching duties.

It was the position of the board of education that the contract provision was not intended to cover automobiles and was to cover only those articles taken into the school building.

The hearing was held according to grievance procedures. No indication was given by TAEA if the matter would be appealed to advisory arbitration.

Braves Lost Overtime Game to Standish-Sterling, 53-49

Turning in another good defensive game, but unable to find the range at the hoops, Tawas Area Braves became unglued and kicked away a lead they held for three quarters to lose in overtime Friday night to Standish-Sterling Panthers, 53-49.

It was a night of frustration for both teams. The Braves and Panthers just could not hit the easy shots from the floor and found the baskets on charity tosses in the first half to be elusive targets.

Standish-Sterling did not have a charity toss during the entire third quarter, but the Panthers suddenly found their shooting eyes from the foul line in the final stanza and in the three-minute overtime.

The hometown Panthers meshed 10 of 15 foul shots during regulation time in the fourth quarter, then cooled off by sinking only five of 11 charity throws in the three-minute overtime required to decide the winner.

Fouls proved to be most costly for the Braves during the night, both at the line and on the bench. Tawas Area could mesh only 50 percent of its charity tosses during the night, 11 of 22, and the entire "first string" was waved to the sidelines with five fouls each before the game's final whistle.

The Panthers took an early lead in the first quarter, but Tawas Area crept out in front, 11-7, at the first buzzer. Both teams continued to be cold on shooting from the floor in the second quarter and the Braves held a 21-16 margin at intermission.

Both teams turned in good defenses in the first half. Standish-Sterling controlled the offensive backboards, but Terry and Larry Nichols were effective in blocking Panther shots under the basket. Tawas found it self in foul trouble in the first half and this was to prove to be a major factor in the final outcome, even though the Panthers could hit on only six of 15 charity tosses during the entire first half.

The Braves continued to hold a slim lead in the third quarter and held a nine to eight scoring edge.

All of the fireworks were saved for the final quarter when the Panthers outscored Tawas Area, 18-12. The Braves meshed only four of 11 charity tosses during the quarter while the Panthers were deadly with 10 of 15 charity tosses. With nine seconds to go in the game and the score tied at 42-42, Standish-Sterling had one chance to put the game away, but the Braves held on defense to send the game into overtime.

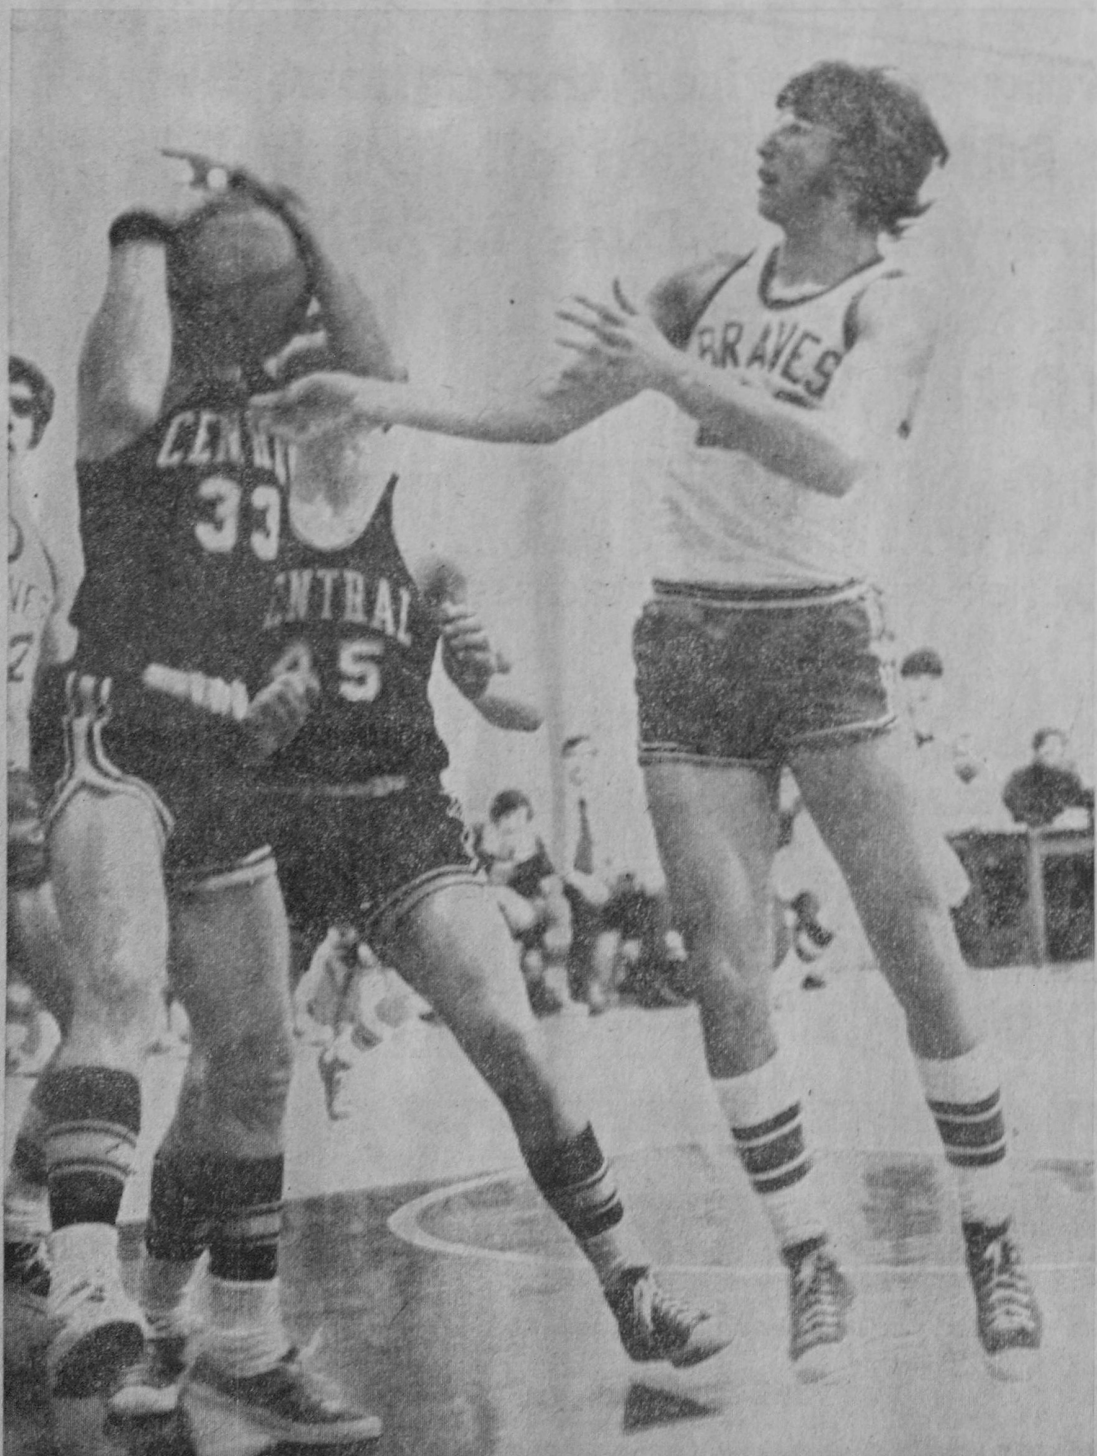

Time was running out on the Braves, however, as officials continued to toot their whistles in the final three minutes of the game. Wayne Etue, Chuck Saunders, Steve Janego and the Nichols brothers, Tawas' starting five, were all sidelined with five fouls each and watched as substitutes fell before an 11-7 scoring edge by the Panthers. Jim Hintz scored one of Tawas' field goals during overtime with a nice hook shot while Steve Cline contributed a field goal to match Larry Nichols' fielder before being sidelined.

Tawas Area had two players scoring in double figures with Larry Nichols leading the way with 15 points, followed by Janego's 12 points. Bell was the big man in the Panther attack with 17 points, meshing 11 of 16 charity tosses during the night.

Hale Eagles Overcome Bad First Half to Defeat Atlanta

Hale Area Eagles played catch up ball in the second half of Friday night's game to defeat Atlanta, 59-57, to preserve their perfect record in North Star League competition. The Eagles have won four games in league play and lost one game to Alcona, a nonconference opponent.

The Eagles were to host Mio last night (Tuesday) at Hale Area School's sparkling new gymnasium. Bleachers were installed last Friday and the Eagles practiced on the floor for the first time on Sunday.

"We expect to have the largest crowd for a basketball game in school history for this opening game," stated Coach Dale Purkey.

The Eagles play at Hillman this Friday night, then return home for eight straight games.

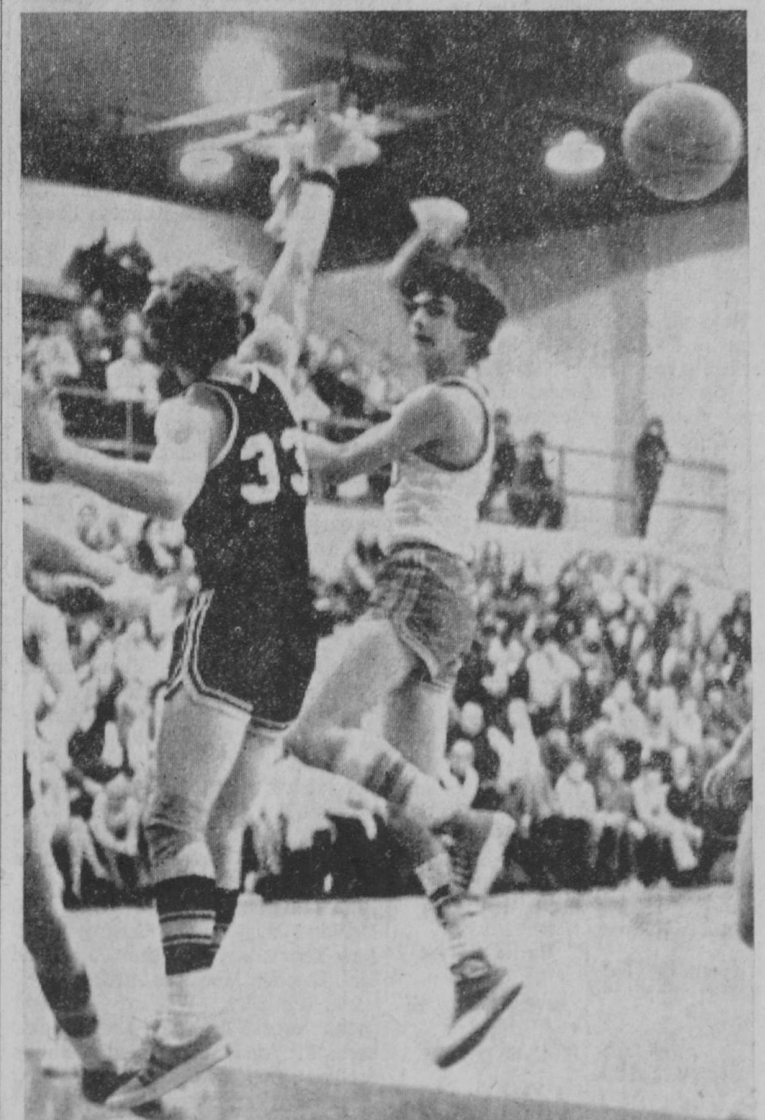

The Eagles were unable to move the ball as a team in the first half Friday night and quickly fell behind Atlanta. The Atlanta five held a commanding 16-9 margin at the end of the first quarter and were on top, 33-25, at intermission.

Cutting that margin proved to be a tough job for the Eagles as Atlanta's deliberate passing attack gave the Hale team limited chances to get the ball. The Eagles made good use of every opportunity and closed the gap to 47-44 at the end of the third quarter.

The Eagles roared out in the fourth quarter to outscore the home team Atlanta squad, 15-10, to hold on to their first place edge in NSL standings.

Top scorer of the night was Jeff Miller, who had 11 field goals and a foul shot for 23 points. Next in line was Greg Pickett's 21 points on nine and three. Mike Suiter led the losers with 17 points.

Audubon Urges Protection For Mourning Doves

The Iosco Audubon Society (IAS) would like to bring to the public's attention plans to liberalize Section 311.5 of the "Game Laws of 1929" to include the mourning dove (family, Columbidae). The IAS urges that this family remain under the category of non-game birds (Section 311.6).

There are several good reasons for taking this position. Mourning doves have been recorded nesting and raising young as late as September and hunting would jeopardize the incubation and/or raising of the young. Some mourning doves start migrating from the state in September. In order to have any reasonable dates for a mourning dove season, the season should probably start in September. This would place hunters in the field approximately one month before pheasant and ruffed grouse season starts. Besides this leading to game being shot illegally, mid-September and mid-October is the time when other protected birds, such as hawks and blue jays, are migrating through Michigan. It would be nearly impossible for the untrained eye to distinguish between mourning doves and the other birds in a migratory flock.

There are also aesthetic reasons for not hunting mourning doves. Michigan, it has gotten very tame and is not really what could be called a wild game crop. The mourning dove could very well go the way of the passenger pigeon if a hunting season were legalized, the IAS stated.

Any person wishing to express his opinion on this action is urged to write to State Rep. George Prescott and State Sen. Robert Richardson.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Isaiah 43:16-21; Philippians 3:8-14)

Behold, I will do a new thing. (Isaiah 43:19)

Speaking at Oxford, the late Ramsey MacDonald said: "The chief function of religion is to keep alive a springtime freshness in the soul."

God's promise to do a new thing tells us that in spite of our failures and sins there is always a fresh start with God. He is a God of new beginnings.

Revival of faith is a miracle of divine grace. Man does not achieve it alone. God's spirit must be allowed to work through His people. His spirit can enter our hearts with springtime freshness, both in forgiveness and strength, as we open our hearts to Him.

The promise of a "new thing" is also a promise of new help under the most difficult circumstances. When we look, we see His mercies are new every morning. If we obey Him, He opens new paths of opportunity, peace and joy.

PRAYER

Help me to see, Father, that You want to do a new thing in my life. Bring me, through the Holy Spirit, springtime freshness of new life, new hope, new forgiveness, new faith. Forgive the wasted hours and bless what I have sought to do well for You. Make this day the time of new beginnings. Through Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Often the new thing God promises is realized when we take up the old challenge of obedience.—John M. Drescher, Scottsdale, Pennsylvania.

Social Security Improves Records

Question: I am a 68-year-old widow getting social security payments. Recently, I got a form that I am supposed to fill out and return so I can get a social security number. I have always used my husband's social security number with the letter "D" after it. Since I am not planning to go to work, why do I need a number of my own?

Answer: To improve its record keeping, social security is now assigning numbers to all beneficiaries, even those getting payments on someone else's earnings record. The request form you received in the mail is sent to all wives and widows over 64 who are getting monthly payment as dependents.

Question: My doctor has told me I will never be able to work again because of my bad heart. When I applied for monthly social security payments, they told me I would not be paid for the first six months. Will I get paid later on for these months?

Answer: No. There is no payment made for the first six full months of disability. This waiting period is a requirement in the social security law. After January 1, this waiting period changed to five months because of recent changes in the social security law.

Question: I am 66 years old. Before my husband's death last month, we were both getting monthly social security retirement checks on his work record. My payment was always half of his. As a widow, will my payments continue to be the same amount?

Answer: No, your social security payment as a widow will increase to 82½ percent of your late husband's payment. (Because of recent changes in the social security law, your payments increased to a higher percentage of your late husband's payment after January 1.) In addition, you can get a lump-sum death payment to help with the funeral expenses. If you have not done so yet, you should call, write or visit the social security office to report your husband's death.

Question: I signed up for both parts of medicare over a year ago when I became 65. Now my doctor has told me I will need to go to the hospital soon for an operation. Will you mail me a hospital insurance claim form so I will have it when I go to the hospital?

Answer: You will not need a claim form. The hospital will take care of all the paper work for you. Just show your medicare card to the admissions office when you check into the hospital.

When is a bargain a true bargain? When you buy something you need at a price which is lower than the regular quoted price.

If you buy an article just because it has a low price and not because you need it or can use it, it is not a bargain for you. It may cost you more in the long run if it has limited shelf life or if you have limited storage space.

You may expect to find the following good food buys in January: Fresh oranges, frozen concentrated orange juice, cranberry sauce, rice, dry beans and broiler-fryers.

Other bargain buys to watch for include shoes, clothing, white goods (which may mean both colored and patterned sheets, etc.). Watch for possible bargains at store-wide clearance sales. However, it is necessary to know the before sale price in order to know a bargain when you see one.

Bargains in meat are not easy to come by these days, so it is necessary to be an informed shopper.

If you want Michigan standards of fresh skeletal meat with no animal by-products, no water or cereal added, with at least 12 percent protein for your hot dogs and sausages, look for the following sign which your local grocery will soon be displaying. You will find a four by 12-inch sign in red and black stating: Sausage and meat products manufactured by (company name) meet the Michigan Department of Agriculture's high standards for Michigan Grade One. New packaging regulations will be coming up in 1973 which will find bacon packages with a "rear window." This should help you, the consumer, to have an idea of fat content on both sides of bacon slices.

The meats that find their way to your table can represent 38 foreign countries with Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Denmark and Argentina contributing the greatest percentage.

All meat and poultry exported to the United States must meet the same standards of sanitation and inspection that are applied to such products in the United States.

Are these bargains? You, the buyer, are the only person to decide when a "bargain" is a true bargain. This means some homework in price comparisons for bargain hunters.

Tawas City Pursues Idea of Sheriff Providing Service

Although Tawas City has received at least three applications for its chief of police vacancy, the city council is continuing to pursue the idea of the county sheriff's department providing police protection.

The city council last week directed City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz to again contact Sheriff George Westcott concerning what service the county might provide this community and what might be involved in the change.

At a meeting December 18, Donald Docking, East Tawas police chief, suggested to the East Tawas City Council that a meeting be held with Tawas City to discuss the possibility of having one police department for the two communities. No meeting has been held to date on that proposal.

Tawas City's police chief vacancy was caused last August when Chief Elmer Quandt resigned. In his letter to the council, Quandt said he was "accused of not doing the job two months ago, a charge which has not been proven." Dennis Frank served as acting police chief for three months, then resigned to become a member of the sheriff's department. There, he is working under Sheriff Westcott, who had been Tawas City's police chief from 1965 to 1971.

A work report for 1972 read at the council meeting indicated that the city's small police department had a rather busy year with 462 traffic complaints and 1,463 non-traffic complaints. Fines returned from the district court amounted to $1,162.42.

Tickets listed under traffic included 126 for speeding, one reckless driving, 12 drunk driving, seven for defective equipment, 15 for failure to stop, two for failure to yield right-of-way, 14 for improper driver's license, two for improper lights, 62 parking violations, one for driving left of centerline, three for improper passing, two for "drag" racing, one for improper plate registration, one for careless driving and six for excessive noise. There were 206 verbal warnings issued.

Under non-traffic complaints, 10 persons were arrested for drunk and disorderly, one person was arrested for littering, two for violation of probation, seven for malicious destruction, one for resisting arrest, one for interfering with a police officer, two for assault and battery, three for possession of stolen automobiles.

The department had 31 automobile investigations, investigated 65 different individuals, had 581 property inspections (with 24 business places found open), answered 139 complaints from citizens, had 41 calls to assist other police agencies, assisted 25 motorists, reported 82 street lights out, apprehended six run-aways, investigated three larcenies and had one bad check complaint.

The department had 283 calls, 14 fire calls and escorted 34 funerals. According to the report, total hours for Chief Quandt amounted to 1,119 and total hours for Acting Chief Frank amounted to 1,032. Part time help totaled 1,982 hours.

National Ed. Week on Smoking Now in Progress

National Education Week on Smoking is in progress now through Saturday, January 13. Theme this year is "Yes, there are five things you can do about smoking: Choose cigarettes with less tar and nicotine, smoke less, respect the rights of nonsmokers, help young people not to start smoking and find your way to quit."

One of the health hazards of smoking is lung cancer. American Cancer Society states that lung cancer will claim the lives of approximately 72,000 persons in the United States this year. Approximately 3,200 of those who die will be Michigan residents.

To obtain free literature or see films on this subject, individuals are urged to contact their local unit of the American Cancer Society. In Iosco County, contact Bud Fisher, 1571 M.55, Tawas City; telephone, 362-5565.

Charles Lightfoot was elected president of Iosco Sportsmen's Club at its annual meeting held Wednesday, January 3. Other officers elected were Otto Kobs, vice president; Lloyd Cooper, treasurer, and Arthur Markham, secretary. Each of these officers is to serve one-year terms. In addition, four directors on the governing board were elected to three-year terms. Named were Kobs, Cooper, Markham and Harry Coy.

Dist. Judge J. Richard Ernst and Iosco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller will be two of a list of speakers at the Michigan United Conservation Club's leadership training conference at Higgins Lake. In addition to the local judges, experienced law enforcement personnel will be on hand to discuss the often frustrating problems of law enforcement.

The Michigan Legislature came to a close with what might be remembered in the history books from an environmental standpoint. Among the achievements were:

1. Extending the deer habitat program;
2. Protection of endangered species of wildlife;
3. Creating a wilderness system;
4. Increasing financial allocations to natural resource programs;
5. Establishment of controls on inland lakes and streams;
6. The formulation of a state-wide soil erosion control program.

This establishment of a state-wide soil erosion control program brings in the last perimeter of water quality-silt-under governmental regulation. When spring breakup comes or after a hard rain when the streams become swollen, all too often the water turns brown with silt. In many streams here in Iosco County this has been the case since the area was developed and has been accepted as natural.

This silting of streams during high water is not natural, according to President Lightfoot, who is district conservationist with the soil conservation service. Such measures as fencing cattle from stream banks, planting grass on eroding areas and road sides, as well as protecting developing areas, are a few of the ways to keep silt from streams.
