Late Winter Storm Hit Hard; Is Spring Here?

Iosco County was still digging out Tuesday after one of the worst snowstorms in about two decades hit Michigan Saturday. All main roads in this area were opened by Sunday afternoon, but county road commission crews and equipment were still plowing side roads Tuesday.

After one of the mildest winters on record, winter returned with a vengeance to sock most of the Lower Peninsula with heavy, wet snow and high winds which brought another onslaught of shoreline flooding.

Most of the flooding was centered in lower Saginaw Bay when eight-foot waves battered the Saginaw and Kawkawlin River areas. Many families were evacuated from the flooded areas and the water abated Sunday.

Sea walls in this area, those which had withstood pounding of storms last fall, were again hit hard Saturday. Lawrence DeBeauvoir, Tawas City businessman, reported Saturday afternoon that an oak seawall which he had constructed five years ago to protect his property and which had survived the heavy pounding last fall, disappeared before his eyes during Saturday morning's violent wave action.

Actually, the Iosco County area was not as hard hit by the storm as the Bay City-Saginaw area. The storm dropped an estimated 25 inches of snow in the Saginaw Valley, but local authorities said the snowfall here measured between 12 and 14 inches.

High winds, however, caused extreme drifting and all through traffic on US-23, M-65 and M-55 came to a standstill before cars could reach this county. Here, local traffic was quite heavy despite the storm.

Snowplow crews of Tawas City and East Tawas worked throughout the storm to keep main roads open, but it was a losing battle as intersections were quickly plugged with snowdrifts.

Automotive accessory firms reported Saturday that they had a "run" on tire chains. Grocery stores reported a brisk business, despite the storm.

A bright sun and rising temperature on Sunday quickly dried hard-surfaced roads which had been plowed and much of Saturday's snow accumulation began to melt and drained off through storm drains which were not plugged.

All schools of the county were closed Monday because of snow-plugged side roads. Classes were resumed Tuesday.

CITY CREWS of East Tawas (above) and Tawas City fought a losing battle Saturday in attempting to keep streets open to traffic. An estimated 12 to 14 inches of snow fell during the day and high winds caused drifting. Crews of both cities worked Sunday to open streets.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas Point Park to Receive Federal Development Grant

Announcement was made Monday by Cong. Philip Ruppe that the United States Department of Interior's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation had approved a $139,420 grant to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to assist in the further development of Tawas Point State Park.

The federal land and water conservation fund grant is to be matched by state funds.

Development will be for recreational facilities, landscaping and site improvement. A Tawas Point State Park spokesman said Monday that final plans for the development had not been received locally as yet, but they have been completed.

Much of the development will center around the day use area between the main parking lot and Lake Huron. A beach house, concession and restroom building is to be constructed there. In addition, capacity of the parking lot is to be doubled, sidewalks are to be constructed, the beach is to be improved and new picnic tables are to be purchased.

Before work can start on the project, however, some provision must be made to protect the Lake Huron shoreline from erosion. Ponds located between the parking lot and shoreline are to be dredged and enlarged. The building is to be constructed on an island in the center of the ponds, according to the most recent plan.

High water and wave action during storms wash over the entire beach area to the parking lot and some type of installation must be made prior to construction to protect against flooding.

Holland Hotel Sold by Bank

Sale of the Holland Hotel at East Tawas to a Saginaw investment group was announced Monday by Peoples State Bank, owner of the building located at the intersection of Newman and Bay Streets.

New owner of the hotel is Hartford International, Incorporated, with Dean A. Parrish of Saginaw as president. According to John D. Lippert, president of the bank, the sale was consummated Friday.

Farrish appeared before the East Tawas Council Monday night with preliminary plans for remodeling the hotel, once a glittering center of community social life and constructed during the tag end of the lumbering days.

Estimated cost of remodeling has not been finalized as yet, but Parrish told city officials that the cost would be in excess of $200,000 and could range to as high as one-half million dollars.

The new owners are adopting a New Orleans Creole motif for remodeling the structure with extensive use of wrought iron to enhance the present brick exterior. Originally, the group had desired to restore the building to its original configuration when constructed in 1891, with its tall tower and piazzas along Bay and Newman Streets. Architects found, however, that it would be practically impossible to restore the building to its former condition as there have been too many basic changes in the structure over the years.

Along with the New Orleans Creole theme, Parrish asked the council Monday night if the city would have any objection to construction of canopies over sidewalks in front of the building, to be supported by posts located about one foot from the edge of curbs. The council indicated that it would cooperate with the new owner and said that a decision would be made once final plans are received.

In addition, the hotel owner asked that parking be removed on Bay Street for an unloading zone.

The main entrance of the building is to be moved from its present location on Newman Street to the point at the Bay and Newman Street intersection, the exact location of the entrance when the building was constructed more than 80 years ago.

The entrance would be on two levels with shops located on both Bay and Newman Streets.

It was reported that Rontalunay "Pat" DeMartel of Oscoda would be manager of the business.

The entire dining area and cocktail lounge would be refurbished. The second floor would be remodeled into two-room suites to be available on a permanent basis.

The hotel has been closed since the failure of National Electronics Transmission Service, former owner of the building. Several lawsuits are pending over the hotel liquor license and with the federal government.

Only One PI Accident During Saturday Storm

One minor personal injury accident was investigated Saturday by Iosco Sheriff's Department.

Debbie Bacon, 19, East Tawas, a passenger in a car driven by Cathy M. Mills, 20, Tawas City, was treated at Tawas Hospital following a two-car crash on US-23, Baldwin Township.

Officers said that a car driven by Benny L. Neville, 26, Delaware, Ohio, had turned into a snowbank to avoid an oncoming car which was traveling in the wrong lane. The Mills car struck the Neville car in the rear.

Vandals Damaged Heavy Equipment

Iosco Sheriff's Department officers are investigating a vandalism complaint at Whittemore which saw damage to three pieces of heavy equipment.

The equipment, owned by Clark Equipment Company, Oscoda, was being used to demolish the old Whittemore High School building on M-65. Crank cases on each unit had been filled with an unidentified compound.

Old First Street Bridge Removed; State to Fund Two More Catwalks

Work commenced Thursday on removal of the old First Street bridge in Tawas City and, by Monday, the ironwork of the half-century-old structure no longer spanned the stream.

Installation of a new wooden bridge is to start this week, to be followed in about 45 days by removal of an old iron structure and installation of a new wooden bridge on Mathews Street.

At Monday night's meeting of the Tawas City Council, authorization was given to purchase a triangular piece of property located at the southeast corner of the bridge from Milton Barkman of Flint.

The city had considered purchase of the entire parcel of property along First Street on which the old Barkman warehouse is located, but an arrangement was made whereby the city acquired only the property it needed for a wider bridge.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz stated that the bridge could be constructed on the existing street right-of-way, but believed the added property was needed for maintenance purposes.

Purchase price of the triangular parcel was $750.

In other matters concerning the new bridges, the city received notification Friday from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that the state was interested in participating in financing the cost of bridge catwalks.

This announcement came as a pleasant surprise to city officials. When bridges were first being considered last year, an application for funds to assist with construction of catwalks was not allowed by the state. It was the city's thinking that the additional width to the bridge would provide excellent facilities for fishermen during coho and perch runs.

As a result, the city planned only one catwalk on each bridge. With an allocation of $5,400 from the DNR, one additional catwalk is to be ordered for each bridge.

It was indicated Monday night that the additional catwalks would not be received for another 30 days. Provision is to be made on the First Street bridge for installing the second catwalk and delivery is expected on the second catwalk for the Mathews Street bridge before construction starts at that location.

In other matters concerning spring construction, the city manager reported that street engineering plans had not been received as yet from Edmands Engineering Company of Bay City, which has been involved with a project to design flood control measures in the Lower Saginaw Bay area.

Bublitz said he had been assured that plans would be in the city's hands by next week and a special meeting of the council is to be held March 27 to make plans for summer street work costing in excess of $60,000.

Considerable preliminary planning must be accomplished by the city before work begins on preparing major streets for a cap of plant mix blacktop. In addition, sewer work and ramps to bridges must be coordinated into the street construction program.

Parking Meter Rate Hiked by East Tawas Council

Effective soon, the price of parking on Newman Street at East Tawas is to be advanced to five cents for one-half hour and 10 cents per hour, rather than 10 cents for two hours.

This action was taken Monday night by the East Tawas Council when authorization was given to purchase 100 new parking meters at a cost of $5,200.

At the present time, the city is considering the purchase of the parking lot to the rear of business places on the west side of Newman Street, between Bay and Westover Streets. This project has been under consideration for about two years and, if approved by owners of business places in a proposed special assessment district, meters in a parking lot behind Mooney's Ben Franklin Store would be moved to the new parking lot.

If the special assessment district is not approved, said councilmen, the city would purchase an additional 61 parking meters for installation on side streets. The 44 meters in the parking lot behind Mooney's would be removed and placed along street curbs.

In other business, the council approved a five-year franchise with General Cable Television. The firm had sought a 15-year franchise with the city, similar to the one adopted with Tawas City, but this was denied by the council. The new franchise includes a five-year option clause.

Following the third reading of the city's proposed hunting ordinance, the ordinance was adopted by the city council.

The council adopted a resolution to sell a land-locked parcel of land to Consumers Power Company located near its substation in Tawas City. The property has been owned by the City of East Tawas and is not on the Tawas City tax roll. Sale price of the property is to be $1,000.

The council authorized receiving bids for the purchase of a typewriter and calculator for the city clerk.

A memorial resolution was adopted for the late E. D. "Dewey" Durant, former city tax assessor and active for many years in civic affairs.

Public Hearing Set by TC Council on Zoning Change

Authorization was given Monday night by the Tawas City Council to hold a public hearing on rezoning of Block 12 of Wheeler's Second Addition.

This block, fronting US-23, is bounded on the west by River Street, on the East by North Street and the north by Court Street.

The public hearing is to be held Monday, April 16, 7:30 p. m., at the city hall.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that the block is now zoned for multiple family use. A petition presented to the council was said to have been signed by all property owners in the block.

In other business, the council authorized an allocation of $200 to Tawas Chamber of Commerce as the city's share of fireworks for July 4 and the Michigan Tourist Festival.

Notification has been received from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that the city's application for a grant to assist in construction of a breakwall along the Tawas River on Ninth Avenue had been approved. The city is to receive $3,000 from the state for this project.

A complaint from David Lesinski and Edward Hill concerning abusive language used by a city police officer during issuance of traffic violations to them is to be investigated by Alderman William Groff and James Lansky, along with City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz. The two young men appeared before the council.

A meeting is to be held Thursday, March 22, 7:30 p. m., between city officials and officials of Tawas and Alabaster Townships to review and renegotiate a fire protection agreement. It was stated that payment to the city by the township is based on a unit property valuation and incidence of fire calls formula. It is the feeling of the council that fire protection offered is on a standby basis and the number of fire calls should have no bearing on the cost to each unit.

During discussion Monday night, it was pointed out that the city would soon have to start planning remodeling of the city hall for office use, or to possibly use the entire building for a fire hall. It was suggested by Alderman Lansky that the council study the possibility of purchasing the present post office building for use as a city hall, once a new post office is constructed. Other councilmen pointed out that there could be a parking problem at that location for city use.

It was stated at the meeting that all fire equipment should be housed in one building. At the present time, two fire trucks are located at the city hall and one at the city garage on Fourth Street. It was said, too, that present quarters lacked room for drying hose and to house additional equipment for the department.

The city manager reported he was to make application to the Isoco Civilian Defense director for a supply of sand bags, now being distributed to lake shore property owners by the federal government. Bublitz stated that the sand bags could be filled and used as a means of providing temporary protection to the city sewer on the lake side of US-23 extending south from Mathews Street. The sewer is presently endangered by high water and erosion action by waves.

Places Rubble Along Shore, Oscoda Man Cited by DNR

A district court hearing is to be held April 24 in Tawas City for an Oscoda man charged with littering and dumping without a permit on submerged lands.

Richard E. McKnight, who attempted to control erosion by dumping rubble from a factory fire on his Lake Huron shoreline property, has pleaded innocent to charges brought by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The rubble contained metal strips and steel pieces from the Rolled Products Division plant destroyed by fire.

Neighbors complained about the dumping of rubble and the DNR cited McKnight.

WINTER WONDERLAND AGAIN—Eastern Michigan residents, who have enjoyed mild weather for several weeks, were looking forward to an early spring. Then came Saturday and "Old Man Winter" dished out one of the worst storms in about two decades, leaving 12 to 14 inches of snow in this area. By Tuesday, officially the first day of spring, the snow was melting rapidly and residents were still dreaming of an early spring.—Tawas Herald Photo.

BY MONDAY AFTERNOON, the First Street bridge had been removed and the contractor for the City of Tawas City was busy using a dragline to remove a concrete retaining wall. Work is expected to start this week on driving piling into the river bottom for the new bridge.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Eagles Lost to Beal City

Tournament Trail Ends for Hale

"March madness" came to an end for Hale Area School basketball fans Thursday night when the Eagles lost to Beal City, 54-49, in regional tournament play at Central Michigan University.

What's The First Question?

It's likely to be one word... "Insurance"

More important than just having insurance are the questions: "what kind" and "how much." Have you neglected to change your policy to keep up with changes in your home? Now you can streamline your insurance with a tailor-made "package policy." Call us this week for details.

Tawas Bay Agency, Inc. - Insurance

EAST TAWAS
 Phone 362-3409

This was the third meeting between these two schools in recent years in the regional tournament and the Eagles again came out on the short end of the score. The Eagles have never won a game in regional tournament play.

Hale Area fans, who have watched their team win conference and district tournament trophies this season, again had an outstanding representation at the Central Michigan field-house.

The Eagles started off fast with an 8-1 lead before the Aggies hit their first fielder. A minute later, Hale's lead was cut to 11-7 and it looked as though the Eagles would be in for a rough night when Greg Pickett picked up his third personal foul.

The Beal City boys played a ball control game, waiting to get off a good shot before committing themselves. That strategy, which has paid off so well for the Aggies throughout the season, coupled with some costly Hale turnovers, found the Eagles suddenly trailing, 16-11.

The Eagles were down by seven points, 20-13, at the end of the first quarter and then trailed, 32-21, at intermission.

Mid way in the third quarter, the Eagles were trailing, 37-24, but began to hit the bucket and showed four points off this big lead to be down by only seven points, 39-32, at the three-quarter mark.

The Eagles then made their bid for a win as Keyno Shellenbarger drove in for a layup and Steve Den-stedt followed with another bucket. Shellenbarger and Pickett each tallied two pointers, while holding the Aggies to only one field goal. Suddenly, the Eagles were back in the ball game and trailed by only one point, 41-40.

Mark Clare hit a couple of two-pointers for Beal City while Pickett did the same for the Eagles, who were trying desperately to get that extra basket to put them in the lead.

Hale Area's chances faded as the Aggies continued to take all the time they could to get off a shot and the Eagles' only chance to get the ball was on a rebound. The Eagles trailed, 51-45, then cut the margin down to four points, 51-47, but time ran out with the Eagles on the short end of the score.

Smith led the scoring with 19 points for the winners. Jeff Miller and Pickett led the Eagles with 17 and 16, respectively.

"We ran up against a well disciplined ball club that stayed with its style of play, despite the fact that we took the early lead. We missed some easy layups, had some costly turnovers, made only seven of 18 foul shots and never could quite get over the hump after we fell behind," commented Dale Purkey, Hale Area coach, following the game.

"That game ended the 1972-1973 season for the Eagles, but we started work Friday morning for next season," he stated.

Carelessness is a national disgrace tool

Iosco Co. to be Represented at 69th Audubon Convention

"A Better World for People to Live In" is the theme of the 69th Annual Convention of the Michigan Audubon Society as several hundred people concerned about conservation and the environment are expected to flock to Western Michigan University's Student Center in Kalamazoo on March 23-25. The 12,000 member society has planned a full week-end of programs of across-the-board interest, with participation by the 26 local chapters around the state.

Featured speaker at the banquet Saturday evening, March 24, will be Charles H. Callison, executive vice president of the National Audubon Society.

Conference participants will be welcomed Friday evening by James Caplinger, city manager of Kalamazoo, and local society members. A new film, "Downstream," from the Missouri Department of Natural Resources and produced by Charles Schwartz, illustrator of "Sand County Almanac," will be shown.

Attendance at these events is not limited to MAS members. The public is welcomed and interested persons may register at the door. However, prior registration is necessary for the luncheon and dinner.

The Path Of Least Disturbance

In the past few years, the United States has embarked on a new era of environmental concern that has altered our outlook about a number of things.

Once, when we saw a smokestack topped by full plume of black smoke, we thought of men working, of things being produced. Now we think of the air being polluted.

Once, when we saw a parking lot full of automobiles, we marveled at our nation's prosperity. Now we think of oil being consumed and noxious gases spewed from exhaust pipes, of acres of land given over to highways.

Yet America can't reverse the tide of industrial progress—not if our present standard of living is to be maintained. So ways must be found to strike a balance—to conserve natural resources and obtain maximum production of goods and services with minimum environmental damage.

For some industries, the answers may be long and hard in coming. In the transportation industry—important to all other industries—we are lucky. We have the railroads.

Today, railroads haul more freight than the trucks and water carriers and airlines combined. And railroads are easy on the environment. Water carriers and pipelines are relatively easy on the environment, too, but water carriers are limited geographically, and pipelines are limited as to the commodities they can move.

Railroads and trucks are the two modes which have the greatest geographic range and can carry the widest range of products.

Of the two, railroads get the nod, environmentally speaking.

They use a right-of-way that occupies far less land—and can carry far more traffic—than the highways.

The diesel engine used in both railroad locomotives and trucks is a cleaner engine, in terms of polluting emissions, than the gasoline-burning engines used in most automobiles. But less energy is required to roll a metal wheel over a metal rail than is required to roll a rubber tire over a highway, and most studies have concluded that railroads put out about one-third the emissions of diesel trucks, per net ton-mile.

An even more direct result of the physical efficiency of railroads relates to fuel. The energy shortage of this winter drove home with brutal force the message that the nation's reserves of fuel are not inexhaustible.

Railroads and diesel trucks use the same kind of fuel oil. But, in 1971, railroads bought only about half the amount of fuel oil that was bought for use in highway diesel vehicles—of which trucks make up the greatest percentage by far. In the same year, railroads carried nearly twice the ton-miles carried by intercity trucks.

The point of all this is not to suggest that the use of highway trucks be discontinued in favor of railroads. The nation needs all her transportation modes—and that need is increasing.

But without railroads, that could mean an unacceptable increase in environmental damage and in consumption of natural resources.

With railroads, we can breathe a little easier.

Missionary to Speak at Hale Church

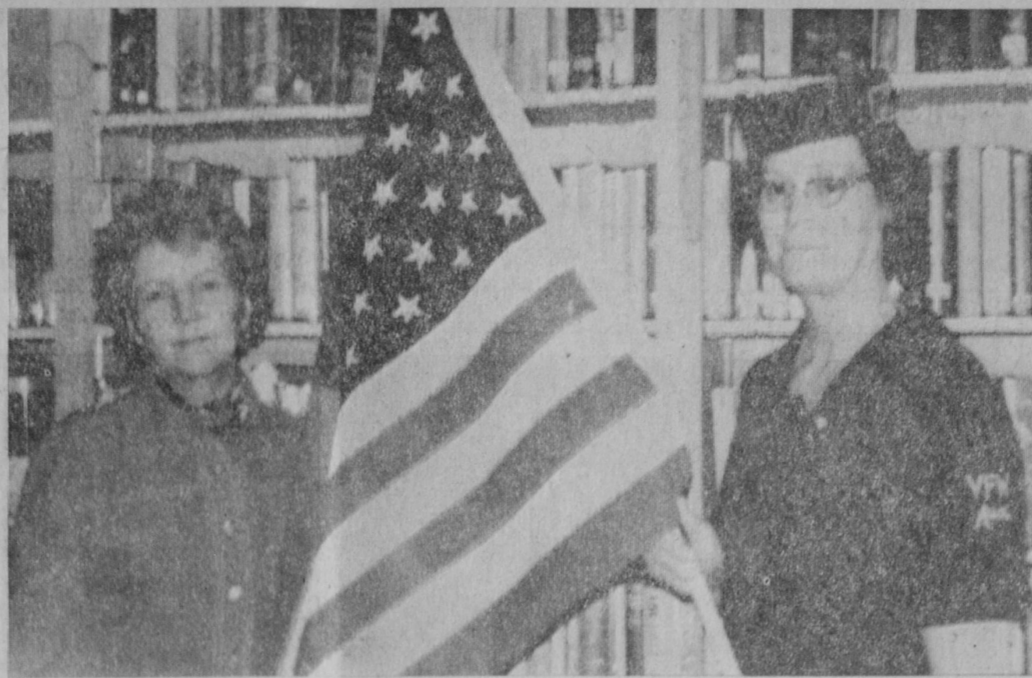

Helen E. Fehr, a United Methodist missionary who has been engaged in village education work in India and Pakistan for more than 40 years, will speak at the Hale United Methodist Church Thursday, March 29, at 2:30 p. m.

Miss Fehr has returned to the United States for a pre-retirement furlough.

In India, Miss Fehr was occupied with the supervision of village schools and training of teachers. She was instrumental in the establishment of lay leaders' training courses. Most of her time was devoted to the development of adult literacy primers and the promotion of literacy classes in short-term schools for rural people.

After coming to Pakistan, Miss Fehr was again active in literacy work. In cooperation with the West Pakistan Christian Council Committee on Adult Literacy, she has been developing literacy materials and courses of study for the training of literacy teachers and supervisors. As director of the Village Education Service, she served 33 village schools.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, Miss Fehr was graduated from DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, and holds a master degree in religious education from Northwestern University, Evanston and Chicago, Illinois.

A NEW UNITED STATES FLAG was recently presented to the Tawas City branch of Iosco-Arenac Regional Library by Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Iosco Post No. 5678. Accepting the flag which is now on display at the library was Mrs. Winifred Hatton, left, branch librarian. Making the presentation on behalf of the auxiliary was Mrs. Mabel Smith, Americanism and loyalty chairman.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Deuteronomy 2:1-7; Mark 9:1-9)

"You have been going about this mountain country long enough." (Deuteronomy 2:2, RSV)

Preparation, careful preparation, is essential in any important undertaking. It can be tragic to be unprepared. At the same time, it is possible to delay, using a prolonged period of getting ready as an excuse for inaction. We can spend a lifetime marching around the same mountain, getting nowhere. This is a major, yet subtle danger in Christian discipleship.

For 40 years, the Hebrews had been preparing to enter Canaan. Now, it was time to march. The Hebrews might easily have settled down in the wilderness, content. They could have salvaged their consciences by insisting that further maturing was necessary. Gradually, the Promised Land would have been forgotten.

But God is forever calling His people to move and He does not want us to settle down in comfortable stagnation. Discipleship means decisive, carefully planned action.

PRAYER

Thou God of great causes, call us to venture into new, thrilling experiences in the Christian life. Keep us from living on a treadmill, getting nowhere. Help us not to lose sight of promised lands. We pray in the name of Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
The time for Christian action is now!—W. Thomas Smith, College Park, Georgia.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We are again being faced with the proposition of fluoridating our water supply for the reason of protecting our teeth. This program has been carried out in many areas of the state and country with great success in preventing and reducing tooth decay.

This is probably one of the best and least expensive ways of caring for our teeth.

When fluoride is added to our water in the prescribed amounts, it is harmless.

We feel that fluoridating our water would be very beneficial to the dental health and therefore the general health of all the people in the community.

We, therefore, join with the dentists in our area and heartily endorse the program to fluoridate our water.

Sincerely,

The Medical Staff of Tawas Hospital

Careless Burning Brings Warning On Grass Fires

The first forest and grass fires of the year in the northern Lower Peninsula touched off a warning against the careless burning of debris.

The fires broke out in the Gaylord and Cadillac districts in early March and were caused by people who failed to observe precautions while burning debris.

This is the single-most common cause of Michigan's fire losses, according to Charles Bomaster Sr.,

Roscommon, regional fire supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

He pointed out that a burning permit is required for all burning except that which is done in approved containers. These are barrels having holes in the side no larger than one-half inch in diameter. The barrels must be covered by screens with mesh no larger than one-half inch.

Burning permits may be obtained by contacting any DNR district or field office. The permits are issued only when proper weather conditions for burning prevail.

The public can help hold fire losses to a minimum by obtaining burning permits and by exercising care in all burning operations, Bomaster said.

Family Living Education

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

How do you stretch it? That is the question on most everyone's mind when we shop for meat these days.

The accepted method is to make the pieces smaller with less actual meat in a serving. We often combine meat with some other food to make up the difference. This is a time to think positively and to suggest to the family, "Your plate is half full," rather than "Your plate is half empty because we have to stretch our food dollars." But when you stretch meat in combination with some other food, you are using the meat for flavor rather than for the only source of protein. Then, you must be sure that you supplement the protein requirement in other meats with eggs, milk, cheese, fish, poultry, nuts, beans or cereals.

That we practice meat-stretching is evidenced by the tremendous popularity of the "helpers," tuna, hamburger, chicken, sea food, etc. These are among the fastest moving items in the store today. Along with the "stretch" idea is the fact that most of the dishes can be prepared in one pan on top of the stove. No one likes to wash dishes or clean an oven. Most of this group of packaged foods provide a means of stretching meat but they can hardly be considered economical. We are paying a very high price for the convenience of having the "stretcher" and the spices and thickener measured out for us. Potatoes and vegetables are the old standby nutrition stretchers. The bacon bits, hamburger or left-overs, along with the brown in the pan become the gravy or sauce to give an illusion of meat on the table, just as does a bit of ham in the scalloped potatoes.

Soups and stews make the most of vegetables to stretch the meat portion.

When depending on cereals for stretchers, be sure to get the greatest food value for your dollar. How? Well, whole grain or enriched products are the most nutritious forms of cereal. Sugar coating or fancy shapes add only to the cost, not to the food value. There are rules for getting the most for your money when you buy rice. Rice comes in many forms, short and long grain, polished, instant or minute, converted, brown and wild. The cheapest rice is short grain white rice. It works out fine for soups, puddings, etc. Polished rice has the least food value of the various forms. Long grain white rice is more expensive but furnishes no more food value. It is not quite so apt to turn mushy when overcooked. Instant rice is really cooked and dried out again. It is the most expensive and usually the least nutritious. It does save time.

Wild rice is not rice at all, just a marsh grass seed. It is exceedingly high in price and used primarily for gourmet cooking. Macaroni products that are made from hard wheat or semolina and enriched are the best nutritional buys in pasta. Wheat has the greater food value of the two. Most macaroni products are made from the same dough. The fancy shapes add to the cost but not to the nutritive value. Both rice and macaroni make excellent stretchers for meat, fish and poultry.

Another method of stretching meat is the use of cereals in meat loaves, croquettes, meat balls, etc. They extend as well as bind the meat together. Oatmeal, wheat germ, bread and cracker crumbs are popular choices. Did you ever try stuffing bread or seasoned croutons in the meat loaf? Some of us could "extend" the meat we buy if we used every bit of it including the "brown-in-the-pan." That is where the flavor is. It is a shame to use it to flavor dish water.

One final reminder. If you are a meat stretcher, be sure you include other sources of protein in your menus.

To help you in making the most of your meal money, write or call your county extension office and request the bulletin, "Your Meal Money." There is no charge for this publication which contains three "Money Magic Menus," 13 "Thrifty Food Trades" and seven money saving recipes.

SS Requires Information to Speed Checks

Question: My uncle applied for monthly social security retirement payments last summer and his checks started about six weeks after he applied. However, my father, who applied last November, had to wait nearly three months before his first check came. Why is there such a difference in how long it takes for the first check to arrive?

Answer: One possible explanation is that your father did not have the necessary papers ready when he applied for benefits. Application for retirement payments are processed faster if the applicant has complete information, such as proof of his age and a record of his most recent earnings, when he first applies. A birth or baptismal certificate recorded before age five, a school record, an old insurance policy or the birth certificate of a child that shows the applicant's age are acceptable age proofs. A record, such as a W-2, check stubs or a tax return, is also acceptable proof of recent earnings. These proofs help start payments sooner.

told me he thought I should find out about childhood disability benefits for my son. Since my son already gets a check, what would be the point in applying for another benefit?

Answer: There are two reasons you might want to consider. Your son's checks will stop at 18 unless he is a full time student. However, if he qualifies for childhood disability benefits, he can get checks as long as he is disabled. And if your son is found disabled and gets childhood disability benefits, he will also be eligible for medicare benefits after he has been receiving the disability benefits for two years.

Question: My father will soon be 65 and he is trying to decide whether he wants medical insurance coverage under medicare. Would medical insurance help pay for medical services he might receive in a hospital even though he was not admitted to the hospital as a bed patient?

Answer: Yes. Medical insurance helps pay for outpatients' hospital services such as laboratory and other diagnostic services, X-ray and other radiology services, emergency room services and medical supplies such as splints and casts.

If your father wants any more information about medicare, he should call, write or visit any social security office.

If you have a question about social security, contact your district office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, Michigan 49706; telephone, 893-9579. For your convenience, a social security representative will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, on every Thursday of each week from 9:45 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Food Stamps for Families; Not Welfare

Walter K. Maser, officer in charge of the Traverse City Field Office, Food and Nutrition Service, United States Department of Agriculture, reports that the food stamp program is a family feeding program and not considered to be a comprehensive public welfare program. The purpose of the food stamp program is to safeguard the health of the nation's low-income families by giving them additional buying power for more nutritious foods. Any foods for human consumption, except imported items, may be purchased with food coupons.

Non-food items such as soap and paper products, tobacco products, alcoholic beverages, drug items and pet foods may not be purchased with food coupons. Coupons may not be accepted for deposits on bottles or other containers and they may never be exchanged for cash.

Violation of the above rules constitutes misuse of the food coupons and is considered as a fraudulent act against the United States Government.

Conviction of violations may result in severe penalties which include possible monetary fines of amounts up to $10,000 and/or prison sentence for periods up to five years. The retailer may also face disqualification for a period not to exceed three years.

Any person observing violations of the food stamp program regulations may report such violations to the Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, 311 East Front Street, Traverse City, Michigan 49684; telephone number (616) 946-2110.

The area served by the Traverse City Field Office includes the northern 27 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Iosco Senior Citizens Council Appoints Woman as Director

Iosco County Senior Citizens Council, at its meeting last Wednesday, appointed a director to administer its service program for aging people in the county.

In addition to its dinners-to-doors program already in operation and which has delivered 1,391 hot meals during the period from November 6 to March 12, the new service center program, funded by the Michigan Commission on Aging, will provide for the creation and administration of activity and service centers in the four main population centers of the county—Hale, Tawas, Oscoda and Whittemore.

The new director is Mrs. Lesella M. Stringer, who leaves her administrative position with the Rachel Sovereign Memorial Home, Bay City, to join the Iosco group. She, her two children and her mother will live at Oscoda.

"Mrs. Stringer impressed the council with her accomplishments, training and experience in service to aging people; her understanding of their problems and her over-all concern for those people," states Clyde L. Soper, president of the senior citizens council.

She assumes her new position April 1 and the program will start in earnest with a meeting at the Plainfield Township Hall on Thursday.

No Work Restriction For Students Under GI Bill

Question: If I go to school full time under the GI Bill, can I work in my spare time and still receive my monthly educational allowance?

Answer: There is no restriction that prevents you from working while attending school full time, nor does it affect your monthly entitlement.

Question: Can you tell me how much the Veterans Administration has to pay for those television advertisements and radio spots we hear?

Answer: VA pays nothing as these are public service announcements donated by the media in the interest of keeping veterans informed of their benefits under the GI Bill.

Question: My son is a recent veteran and is addicted to drugs. He claims that he wants to kick the habit. Can the VA help him?

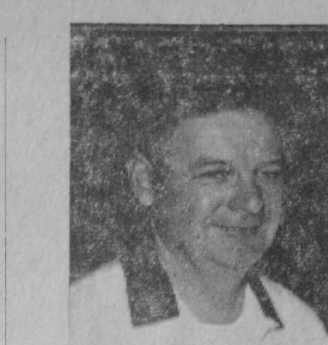

Answer: If your son will visit the nearest Veterans Administration hospital or outpatient clinic, he will receive immediate assistance. If none are near him, telephone the nearest VA office to find out where he can receive this assistance.

Question: How much of the money VA spends goes to Vietnam era veterans?

Answer: About one-fourth of the VA budget, currently $2.4 billion dollars, goes to direct payments such as compensation and GI Bill and for medical care for Vietnam veterans, who now make up about one-fifth of the living veteran population.

Question: How many Vietnam veterans is VA hiring? How many have been hired "on the spot" by VA without having to process through the usual time-consuming procedures?

Answer: More than half the men hired by VA for full-time paying jobs in recent months have been Vietnam era veterans. More than 12,000 Vietnam era veterans have been hired "on the spot" by VA under veterans readjustment appointments since these were begun in April 1970.
