Allocation Board Receives Budgets

Meeting briefly Monday for its annual re-organization meeting was the Iosco County Tax Allocation Board, which has responsibility for dividing 15 mills of local property taxes between schools, the county and townships.

Ralph Western, who represents the county at large, was elected chairman.

"All budgets were studied briefly and those units found with apparent discrepancies, mainly in townships, have been asked to appear at the next session on May 20," stated Western.

"This first meeting mainly concerns reorganization and it is well that this is the case, in view of the questionable valuation for this county following recommendations of the state tax commission," stated Western.

The chairman said that preliminary discussion on dividing tax millage would be held at the May 20 meeting.

Besides the county budget, printed in this newspaper, 1974-75 operational budgets presented were as follows:

- Hale Area School, $965,000; Tawas Area School, $1,869,734; Oscoda Area School, $4,409,421; Iosco Intermediate School District, $119,650 for special education and $227,099 for a second special education fund. Whittemore-Preseott Area School's allocation is governed by Ogemaw County and it was not necessary to direct a budget to this allocation board.
- Township operational budgets included:
 - Tawas, $26,358.27; Repo, $14,000; AuSable, $82,929; Sherman, $18,635; Plainfield, $99,071.45; Alabaster, $22,482; Baldwin, $76,069; Wüher, $26,250; Grant, $41,150; Burleigh, $24,019; Oscoda, $559,558.

County Red-Lined Budget Requests

Iosco County Board of Commissioners red-lined budget requests from county offices totaling $294,435 since its March meeting to come up with a preliminary budget of $1,139,695 for 1975 operation.

The new budget was presented Monday to the county allocation board, which accepted this budget and those from schools and townships, to be considered in the annual split of the 15-mill tax rate.

The county's new budget is $92,897 higher than the final one of $1,046,798 adopted in October. That latter budget for expenditures during the current year had been upped $20,000 from the April preliminary due to an increase in fees from county offices and the state.

Projected revenue from 1975 includes $262,400 in fees from county offices, $122,000 from state income tax, $19,705 from contingency, leaving $775,000 to be raised by taxes. The county's tax request to the allocation board is $201,496 higher than received during the current year.

Expenses of the various departments projected for 1975 are: Equalization department, $65,150; prosecuting attorney, $29,410; district court, $67,966; probate court, $26,900; cooperative extension, $31,072; treasurer, $39,400; register of deeds, $45,050; circuit court, $34,050; probation officer, $2,756; friend of the court, $11,410; drain commissioner, $300; clerk, $39,250; sheriff's department (includes dog control and marine), $319,888.

Appropriations include: Jury board, $1,000; airport, $11,274; social services, $35,000; planning commission, $2,000; parks and recreation administration, $3,500; airport lease, $9,000; child care, $21,300; Communicable disease, $400; medical examiner, $6,000; plat board, $500; soldier burial, $12,000; retirement-hospitalization (county employees), $63,250; social security, $25,000; veteran's counselor, $1,000; apiary inspector, $280; state institutions, $30,000; allocation board, $600;

Comprehensive health planning, $280; building authority administration, $1,800; department of public works, $1,200; county advertising, $14,500; Northeast Michigan Mental Health, $14,799; elections, $1,000; board of commissioners, $37,000; district health, $60,222; courthouse and grounds, $45,000; library, $18,672.

Included in the cuts from budget requests submitted by county officers was $63,033 from the sheriff's department. The new budget is $68,948 higher than the current year's operating expense.

Purpose of this meeting is to provide for input to an objective re-assessment of the authorized recreational navigation project to either reaffirm the project as authorized or to modify it as required to meet changed conditions. The project was authorized by congress in the 1968 River and Harbor Act. The reassessment, called a Phase I General Design Memorandum, is essentially an updated report that further refines and builds on the planning contained in the authorizing document. Any ideas, suggestions and comments offered will be given careful consideration and become a part of the assessment of the social, economic and environmental effects of this project.

State Recommends Valuation Boost

A whopping $22,576,480 increase in real property valuation has been recommended by the state tax commission as the figure Iosco County should use in equalizing its assessed valuation. This hike, which includes new construction last year, is in all categories of real property.

This was the word Wednesday to county commissioners from William Weryley, tax equalization director, whose surprise over the state's proposed increase was matched only by that of county commissioners.

If there is to be a "surprise" for the public, it will come at tax bill time—but that will depend on action of local governmental units which control spending. In the case of cities, which control their own tax rates, present millages can be cut back with the higher valuation to meet budgets and taxes would not be increased, if budgets are not higher. The same is true for townships and the county—the higher valuation would raise more money than last year, but the allocation board can set millage rates to meet actual budgets—again it would depend on budget increases.

It is a different story for three of Iosco's schools—Tawas Area, Hale Area and Oscoda Area—which already have per pupil valuation totals much higher than the state average. The higher valuations will mean additional losses in state aid and local school districts will be paying an even greater share of operational costs than at the present.

As a means of computing taxes for schools and the county for this year, the state has recommended an equalized base of $151,871,640 for this county, rather than the $129,295,150 valuation brought in by local assessing officers.

A tentative factor has been determined for each unit to make up this difference between assessed and equalized values, ranging from no increase in Grant Township to a 30 percent hike in Tawas City—highest in the county.

The state has based this new estimated figure on information gained during the current study being conducted here by a tax commission team. Action on the recommendation is to be taken by the county board of commissioners in May, but the actual valuation total will not be known until later this year when the state's study is completed.

Weryley, who has been the county's tax equalization director for only a year, said he has found himself in the middle of what could be a real hassle over valuations. Although not saying as much officially, tax commission men are apparently disputing past sales studies conducted by the local tax equalization department, or at least the inference has been that tax assessing has not kept pace with market values of real property—today and previously.

Henry Oates, county tax equalization director since 1966, died of a heart attack in February 1973. His assistant, Delois "Devey" Durant, died a few months later and Weryley was appointed director in April 1973, after having served on the county board of commissioners.

"The difficulty is that Henry is not here to explain his sales studies to the state," said Weryley. "In researching sales in this county over the past three years, the state apparently is using some which had not been used locally and had been marked off as 'not typical'—there must have been a reason for excluding those sales."

Weryley said that his own three-year sales study, based on past information listed on forms in his office and new sales, indicated that the county was assessing at a figure from 49 to 50 percent of what the state believed the county's valuation to be. However, on appeals brought before the state tax commission during the past year, differences have been found between the sales ratio used by the state and that used locally.

"I have been watching other counties around the state and it seems that this same thing happens every time the state tax commission sends someone in to conduct a study—there has been a substantial increase in valuations," said Weryley. The tax director said he would be unable to determine what differences exist between state and local sales ratios until the tax commission completes its local study. "I have been following their work as closely as possible to determine any patterns which might turn up and the state has promised to cooperate fully to explain methods it is using," said Weryley.

Based on his own department's three-year sales study, the county tax equalization director had recommended an over-all 1.87 percent increase to adjust the county's tax base for 1974. Percentages for each unit varied, based on findings of the three-year sales study.

In December, Weryley suggested a starting base of $126,753,000 assessed valuation on real property or an increase of $2,610,056 over the previous year. This included a $39,641 increase for agricultural and a $52,500 increase for commercial. Both categories excluded any new construction and were recommended increases based on market value.

In addition, Weryley suggested an increase of $244,789 for timber cut-over and a $2,273,651 increase for residential, the latter figure representing skyrocketing residential sales in the county over the past three years.

However, about the time Weryley delivered his report to the county commission, the state tax commission announced it was starting its own study of property sales in this county.

Representatives of the state tax commission, who have been here since January, have said that the study in Iosco was a routine check of sales and a spot check of assessments. Some local officials believed the visit was the result of a large number of appeals by county taxpayers over assessments. Although two townships received factors last year when the state tax department found assessments were too low rather than too high, state tax men have said studies were being made throughout the state and it was Iosco's turn for such a survey.

The immediate effect of the state's current study was that a number of units—including Tawas City and East Tawas—did not adopt increases proposed by Weryley as adjustments to this year's valuations. One of the reasons for delaying any action until completion of the state study was that tax boards of review were in session last month and, in Tawas City's case, officials said that

ET Lions Propose Assistance for Area Recreation Facility

Representatives of the East Tawas Lions Club informed the Tawas City Council Monday night that the organization was prepared to spend approximately $15,000 in a cooperative venture with local government to develop a tennis court-ice skating rink somewhere in the area.

City officials were invited to meet with the Lions' recreational committee to develop plans for a recreational facility to serve the entire Tawas area. A council committee was appointed to work with the city park board and Lions to discuss plans for such a facility on city-owned property north of the city athletic field on First Avenue.

Aldermen appointed to the committee by Mayor John N. Brugger were Robert N. Rollin and William Ezz. City park board members include Gary Stephan, Charles Larson and John McMurray. Representing the Lions will be Martin Eaton, Dr. Edward Phillips and George Robson.

Eaton and Phillips explained to the council that, as it appears now, expansion of present facilities at the Newman Street athletic field, East Tawas, would not be considered unless Tawas Area Board of Education turns ownership of the property over to the City of East Tawas. Eaton said that it appears this will not happen and the club was now looking at various sites where it could spend its money to benefit the entire area.

Eaton said that while the club's money would go toward construction of three to four tennis courts, members were primarily interested in utilization of those courts for an ice skating rink during the winter. The club has sponsored a skating rink for several winters at the Newman Street field and owns a concrete block warming shelter-restroom facility at that location. However, due to the lack of a suitable base, the club was unable to construct a rink there last winter.

Eaton said that both cities were being requested to make propositions to the Lions Club for development of one facility to serve the area. The responsibility of the city would be to construct a warming shelter building with restrooms and to maintain the property.

Mayor Brugger said he would like to see the entire area "get behind the Lions, as recreational development is needed in both communities." He believed, too, that financial assistance for development of tennis courts should come from the adults using those facilities, particularly since the proposed facility would serve surrounding townships as well as the cities.

The mayor said that the park board had been considering development of tennis facilities for a number of months. He pointed out that

ET Council OK's Scenic Bus Route

Operation of a scenic bus between the East Tawas City Park and Lumbermen's Monument as a summer attraction was approved Monday night by the East Tawas Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Karicofe, who are summer residents of the Loud Drive area, Oscoda, had submitted a letter to the city requesting a permit and appeared at Monday night's meeting.

Karicofe told councilmen that, with city approval, it was his intention to convert a school bus into a scenic cruiser. He said that the bus would have the proper safety checks and be licensed by the state.

Permission was given to establish a loading and unloading area at the foot of Newman Street near the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock.

In other business, Harris Barkman, president of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, was present to outline the role of the chamber of commerce and he outlined accomplishments during the past year. A special meeting is to be arranged between a council committee, the chamber of commerce and Tawas Area Promotions, Incorporated, to discuss this year's program. The

Turbulent Air Caused Storms Around Iosco

Turbulent spring weather caused concern to Iosco residents over the week-end following three tornado watches announced for Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings by the weather bureau at Alpena.

Only one tornado touched down briefly Friday night south of the county line near Prescott. A sighting reported Sunday evening by a Townline Road resident was unconfirmed, according to state police from East Tawas.

A barn demolished by Friday night's twister was at the farm of Mrs. Edgar Lentner of Sage Lake Road, south of Prescott. Debris from the 40 by 80-foot structure was scattered along a path for three-quarters of a mile to the east of its foundation.

Flying debris broke windows and caused damage to siding of the Lentner home.

The funnel cloud was spawned by one of several thunderstorms which swept swiftly in and out of Lower Michigan.

High wind, although said to have not been a twister, damaged numerous trees in the area.

council on ministry; Myron Trafeleh, church lay leader; the Rev. Kenneth Toussley, pastor; Brian Norton, who represented the Sunday School. Construction on the $340,000 church is to start as soon as weather permits and is to be completed in about a year.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Health Sanitarian Endorses City's Move to Construct Sanitary Sewers

A letter from James W. Hasty, chief sanitarian, indicates that District Health Department No. 2 has gone on record supporting Tawas City's sanitary sewer project.

"Our department toured the areas along Margo and River Streets to view the topographical features, vegetation and water table elevations," said Hasty.

"It was noted that a large segment of the lots the city intends to serve with sanitary sewers were either ponded with water or support vegetation that thrives in soil with a high ground water table."

From supporting investigation by Charles Lightfoot, soil conservation service technician, describing the soil conditions, "it is rather evident that most of the lots in the districts are not suitable for supporting on-site sewage disposal systems," said Hasty.

The health department's chief sanitarian said he had been informed that residents living along the River Street area were not being served with municipal water, but with private wells. He said that these lots were somewhat small compared to today's standards and an over-abundance of septic tanks and tile field could possibly contaminate the ground water supply.

"We would like to go on record as endorsing your proposed sewer project in an attempt to enable the city to provide a facility that will promote growth and a healthier environment in your community," said Hasty.

Following months of study and public hearings, the council completed legal steps in early March to establish three special assessment tax districts to finance construction

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Ephesians 4:25-32)
He becometh poor that dealeth with a slack hand; but the hand of the diligent maketh rich. (Proverbs 10:4)

It is good that we should have to labor. If God were to do it all, we should probably leave Him to do it, not bothering to cooperate in the cultivation of the field or labor in other areas of endeavor.

We are called on to labor, working that we may have something to give to the person that is in need. The Bible insists that the rich hand shall empty itself into the empty hand of the poor. One becomes rich in giving—perhaps not rich in land and money, but rich in spiritual graces.

Some of those persons who dropped out from the plastic city life to walk in woods, muse and meditate under the stars had a good idea. But before long such a life became to pall; and they took to wood-carving, raising their own food, building cabins. They found that idleness was very dull, that life on the land in communion with nature was rich and rewarding only as they worked hand in hand with nature. Commendably, they have not sought to be rich materially, but they did feel poor spiritually as long as they were idle.

PRAYER

Lord, show us how to work diligently on our daily bread and in serving Thee, Amen.

May Qualify for Benefits Under SS

Question: My son-in-law and daughter were killed in an automobile accident nearly five years ago. Since then, I have fully supported my granddaughter, who is now 11. I am retiring in June and I will start getting social security checks. Can my granddaughter get monthly checks, too?

Answer: Since her parents are dead and she is dependent on you, your granddaughter may be able to get monthly checks based on your work record. When you apply for your retirement checks, you should also apply for payments for her.

Question: I am going to college and getting social security student checks. Next semester, I will have to cut down my class attendance to part time and also get a part-time job. Will my checks continue if I keep my earnings below $2,400 for the year?

Answer: Although your earnings would not be high enough to stop your monthly checks, your part-time class attendance could. To get monthly student checks, you must be going to college full time.

Question: I heard that a disabled person no longer has to wait six months to start getting social security checks. Since my husband became severely disabled last month and immediately applied for monthly payments, does this mean his checks will start right away?

Answer: No. While it is true that the waiting period is no longer six months, it has not been eliminated. Congress reduced the waiting period by one month to five months. This means the first month for which a check can be paid is the sixth month after the disabling condition began instead of the seventh month.

Question: I will be retiring soon and I want to apply for monthly social security payments for my disabled daughter. She is 25 and has been completely disabled since birth. What information should I bring along to apply for payments for her?

Answer: You will need proof of her age and her relationship to you—both of these are usually shown on a birth certificate. You will also need to identify a medical source from whom social security can get information about your daughter's medical condition.

If you have a question about social security, contact the Social Security Office at 1009 North Madison, Bay City, Michigan 48706, or telephone 892-3555.

Gill Net Ban Necessary

We are constantly dismayed by the action or inaction of Michigan's legislature.

Our latest dismay, chagrin or call it what you may, came on the recent narrow, 52-50, defeat of a senate resolution by the house of representatives which would have permitted commercial fishermen in Michigan to continue using large mesh, killer-type gill nets.

A change of only three votes could have nullified all the work by the DNR in restocking fish in the Great Lakes and the work of nature in "healing" and renewing other species of native fish after years of over-exploitation by commercial fishermen.

The issue of whether or not Michigan's commercial fishing industry could continue to use the non-selective type of gear has been bitterly fought in the Natural Resources Commission and in the state legislature since last July.

Sportsmen, who have expressed overwhelming support for a ban of the nets, sent thousands of letters and telegrams to the legislature and then saw their hopes dashed in recent administrative rules committee hearings and on the floor of the Michigan Senate when the proposed rules were defeated at both levels.

However, the house of representatives took the matter under careful consideration and, after 1½ hours of debate on the last day of this session, this issue was put to a vote and the resources won—by only three votes.

The nation is rightfully concerned about conservation of its natural resources—energy, fuel, timber, land, etc.—but 50 members of the house of representatives turned their backs on conserving another natural resource—fish.

Here, along Saginaw Bay, residents have good reason to feel that killer-type gill nets be banned. After years of over-exploitation by gill netters, the yellow perch are coming back since those non-selective nets have been banned from these waters.

It seems strange that 160 licensed commercial fishermen fishing the Great Lakes in Michigan water have so much political influence. Apparently, the state's greatest interest is revenue, so some facts should be weighed: Revenue from commercial licenses amounts to approximately $28,000 annually, while it takes about $400,000 annually to administer the commercial fishing program. The difference is made up by 313,480 sports fishermen, who contribute $1,435,000 annually by purchasing licenses. For another comparison, the commercial fishing industry spent approximately $3,400,000 in 1972—sports fishermen spent approximately $34,000,000 in pursuit of their sport in Michigan.

But, finances should not be of prime consideration in this question—conservation and best use of a natural resource should be uppermost in the minds of everyone. The commercial fishing industry has spent much time and money attempting to influence legislators to see things their way. For our own part, we are going to ask our legislators how they voted—how about you?

PROGRESS on Tawas Point State Park's new building to house offices, shop and garage is pictured above. Under construction since shortly after Christmas, the new facility will not be completed until next year. Exterior of the 30 by 103-foot building is constructed of inverted plywood to simulate the appearance of vertical rough-sawn lumber. The exterior is to be stained this spring and work completed on a concrete floor. Following preliminary landscaping, the park crew is to turn its complete attention to preparations for the summer season. Bids are to be opened Thursday of this week for construction in the day use area. This would include a parking lot extension along the shore of Lake Huron along with construction of a building complex to house a picnic shelter, toilet building and showers, as well as a picnic area. It is expected that the park will be busy this week-end opening facilities for smelt fishermen. Over the same week-end last year, 160 camp sites were occupied.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Motorbike Crash Hurt Two Riders

A motorbike operator and his passenger received minor injuries Saturday in a crash in Oscoda Township.

Treated at Tawas Hospital were David G. Heydlauff, 20, Chelsea, operator, and Donald Ward, 20, Oscoda. Investigating state police said that the operator lost control of his machine when it dropped off the backstop on Rhea Road.

Five breakings and enterings are under investigation by state police from East Tawas.

V. A. Steele of Saginaw reported that 30 feet of plastic sewer pipe and fittings had been stolen from the crawl space under his cabin on Benson Road.

Ecil Minard, owner of Singing Bridge Grocery, reported Saturday that a 12-volt battery had been stolen from his automobile sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning. Approximately two dozen smelt nets and a dozen paper kites were stolen from the store's basement.

of 10,400 feet of sanitary sewers. The project has proceeded to the point where application is to be made to the Municipal Finance Commission for permission to sell special assessment and general obligation bonds to finance the project.

Since then, however, several property owners have voiced objections to the estimated $19-per-front-foot cost in special assessment districts. Under procedures governed by the city's special assessment district ordinance, bills were mailed to property owners according to the estimated cost, even though the city as yet has not advertised for bids on the construction.

Engineers have estimated that total cost to property owners would be $244,121.68 and the city's share would be $60,878.12. Any cost above the $19 per foot to property owners in the special assessment district would be paid by the city within limitations of the ordinance.

Several property owners in the Birch Street area informed the council after public hearings had been completed that they did not want the sanitary sewer due to the cost. It was reported Monday that other property owners in the US-23-Margo Street district were circulating a petition opposing cost of the project.

Lions

the city had always cooperated with representatives of Tawas Knothole League in development of baseball facilities on city-owned property near the elementary unit which serves the entire area.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz added that the site on First Avenue was presently served by water, sewer and natural gas. By squaring off the outfield at the baseball diamond, an area with 165 feet frontage on First Avenue and 400 feet deep could be made available for tennis courts, warming shelter and a parking area.

The county parks and recreation commission is presently considering allocations of federal revenue sharing money to communities in the county for development of recreational facilities.

Eaton told councilmen that the Lions Club hopes to make a decision by May 15 as to the location for spending its money. "Although development of tennis courts probably could not be accomplished until late summer, we want to make sure that an ice skating rink is available next winter," said Eaton.

Regardless of the decision by the Lions Club, city officials expect that development of new tennis courts will be undertaken by the city this year. Much will depend on financing, however, as it appears that construction of a minimal facility would cost approximately $15,000.

Council to Act April 29 On Vacancy

Chester Smyczynski, a member of the Tawas City Council since January 1972, submitted his resignation to city hall Monday and asked that it become effective April 15.

Smyczynski's letter said that his resignation was "due to personal reasons." The letter was taken under advisement by the city council and formal action is to be taken at a special meeting April 29, which had been called for a discussion on the city's 1974-75 budget.

According to the city charter, the council has 30 days from the date of acceptance of the resignation to appoint someone to fill the vacancy. The appointee would fill the office until next year's general city election.

Smyczynski was one of three officials taking office in January 1972, effective date of the city's charter.

In other business Monday night, Marlin Eaton, representing Tawas Chamber of Commerce, explained the new role of the chamber in promoting the area, rather than to sponsor "extravaganza" type of events. He said that special events in the Tawas, including the Perchville USA Festival and Michigan Tourist Festival, were being sponsored by Tawas Area Promotions, Incorporated, a non-profit organization.

Eaton said that the chamber has a budget of $19,250 for 1974, of which the $10,000 salary paid to a full time manager to serve the Tawas and Oscoda is being paid by the county. He said that 73 members had paid dues for the remainder of the budget and asked that the city's payment of $400 be considered as dues.

At the time of making the allocation, the council was of the opinion that the $400 was to pay its share of fireworks for chamber-sponsored programs. It was reported Monday night, however, that representatives of Tawas Area Promotions, Incorporated had taken over the fireworks program and would ask the city for a contribution.

The council authorized an expenditure of $175 for purchase of a "green box" trash receptacle to be placed in the city park. Leon Houghton, garbage and trash contractor for the city, has offered to make a weekly pickup at the park at no cost to the city.

Houghton's request to furnish commercial pickups in the city was tabled by the council. City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said his proposal was on the list of possible projects for the city this year and would come up for discussion during budget meetings. A decision on the proposed commercial pickup is to be made within 30 days.

The first of several meetings to develop a budget for 1974-75 is to be held by the council on April 29. Consideration is to be given numerous projects outlined earlier this year by the city manager and others proposed by the council. Included in the discussions would be street construction work during the summer and improvement to the street lighting system. A program was started last year whereby 75 of the older type 2,500-lumen street lights would be replaced by 6,000-lumen mercury vapor lights.

Cleanup days in Tawas City were established for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, May 1, 2 and 3. The program to beautify the city with assistance from property owners has been delayed one week this year due to weather conditions. All trash placed along streets is to be removed by city crews and the contractor.

It was announced that city representatives are to meet with the Department of Natural Resources and local legislators concerning possible funding for repairs to the city pier and possible state participation in development of a boat launching facility at the river mouth.

The council directed that a letter be sent to the DNR asking the state to enforce removal of an old building at Cobo Marina. It was said that the building was about to collapse into the river.

A report was given by the city manager on budget expenditures to date. The current budget for city operation is $159,000 and the city has received $139,000 for the first nine months. It is expected that the balance will be received from final quarter payments of state income tax returns, sales tax and delinquent city taxes.

Ald. Robert N. Rollin expressed the hope that an appropriation could be made this year for construction of new sidewalks in the city and that property owners would be encouraged to participate in new sidewalk construction.

LAST YEAR FOREST FIRES DESTROYED 200 TREES FASTER THAN YOU CAN READ THIS AD.

Unless you're a speed reader, it should take you about 20 seconds to read this ad. Which is about 5 words per second. Forest fire, in that same amount of time, will have ravaged and burned over 200 trees. Which is about 2 trees for every word you read. Or by the time you finish this sentence, 118 trees. And does the damage add up! In a year's time that's over 420 million trees, over 4 million acres burned, and hundreds of thousands of animals left homeless. Not to forget the ecological havoc forest fire will have wreaked where it passed. And it's all such a senseless waste too. Because with only a little time, most man-caused forest fires could be prevented. An extra second to grind out a cigarette. Another minute to pour more water on your fire, scatter the coals, cover it with dirt. A moment to refresh yourself on fire safety. A few extra minutes can save years of growth. And that's time well spent on saving our forests. Just like reading this ad.

PLEASE: HELP PREVENT FOREST FIRES.

Valuation

The old valuation could be used for computing tax bills. City councils adopt their own millage rates to meet annual budgets and officials believed a confusing situation would result if the county's recommended increase was adopted, only to be followed by another valuation increase from the state.

The county tax director said last week that those units which adopted the valuation increase proposed by the local department were being given credit for those increases in the state's new recommended valuation totals.

Iosco's three cities have been hit the hardest by the state's proposed new valuation. Rather than a 4.03 percent increase as recommended by Werley, the state tax commission has recommended a 30 percent valuation increase for Tawas City. This factor would bring the city's total equalized real valuation to $9,205,577, rather than $7,056,200 as assessed last month.

The City of Whittemore would receive a factor of 29 percent, raising its valuation from $903,070 to $1,163,424. East Tawas' factor is 26 percent, making up the difference between the assessed valuation of $10,355,000 and the state suggested figure of $13,047,975.

Included in the above totals, as well as for townships, is a $4,500,000 increase which represents new construction in the county last year.

Township figures were as follows: Alabaster Township, factor of 10 percent to increase its valuation from $5,968,700 as assessed to an equalized valuation of $6,466,386; Au-Sable Township, factor of 10 percent, making up the difference between an assessed valuation of $11,024,730 and equalized valuation of $12,093,767; Baldwin Township, 15 percent increase, raising its valuation from $11,332,315 as assessed to an equalized figure of $12,974,283; Burleigh Township, 25 percent, to make up the difference between an assessed valuation of $2,590,630 to the recommended equalized valuation of $3,226,336;

Oscoda Township, 20 percent factor, to make up the difference between an assessed valuation of $39,118,965 and equalized valuation of $46,791,665; Plainfield Township, 22 percent increase, raising its valuation of $19,641,085 as assessed to an equalized valuation of $23,977,158; Reno Township, five percent factor, to make up the difference between an assessed valuation of $2,210,065 and recommended equalized valuation of $2,324,729; Sherman Township, seven percent factor, with an assessed valuation of $2,561,330 and recommended equalized valuation of $2,738,821; Tawas Township, 15 percent increase, from $4,487,380 to $5,136,969; Wilber Township, 17 percent increase, from $3,349,800 to $3,921,194.

Grant Township was the lone unit not receiving a factor based on state tax commission recommendations. Following local tax appeals last year, it was found that assessments were too low and the valuation was increased by $729,320 to bring the assessment ratio from 44.67 percent to 49.13 percent of the equalized valuation.

Oscoda School Millage Lost by Wide Margin

An operational millage request submitted April 9 to voters of Oscoda Area School District was rejected, 1,889 to 1,354, after weeks of spirited campaigning by the board of education and those opposing the proposal.

The board of education had asked voters to approve a tax rate of 7.3 mills for 1974-75 operation. Last fall, a millage proposal presented to voters of that district ended in a tie vote and was defeated. As a result, the school cut out its extra curricular offerings during the current year, including inter-scholastic athletics.

Poll books were turned over Friday to the Iosco County Clerk's office. Because of the wide margin of defeat, there would be no need for a recount. The November 5 millage election won by two votes on election night, but a later recount changed the total to a tie.

Charge Three With School Burglary

Three persons are charged with a breaking and entering early Thursday morning at Tawas Area High School.

Iosco Sheriff's Department deputies made an inspection of the school at 1:30 a. m. and saw someone inside the building near the administration office. When the subject escaped through a side door, officers called for assistance from other area police agencies.

Two persons, Stanley J. Stephens and Carla Raye Adcock, were arrested by officers in their car a short distance from the school. Larry Lee Gaddy was implicated in the burglary and was arrested later at East Tawas.

Investigating officers said that a glass window in the main administration office had been broken open and change amounting to $15 to $20 had been taken. Entry into the building was made by forcing a door on the school shop.

Preliminary examination on the charge has been set for April 22.

The sheriff's department handled two stolen vehicle complaints Friday and Saturday. In both instances, the vehicles were recovered later after being abandoned.

Wilfred Holzeuber of Hale Hardware reported that he had parked a pickup truck near the side door of the hardware Saturday morning. When he returned to the vehicle at noon, it was missing. The truck was found Sunday at Brighton.

James Zalewski reported Friday that he had parked his automobile for five to 10 minutes at 1065 South US-23, Tawas City, and left the engine running. When he went to get into his car, it was missing. The car was found Saturday abandoned in a ditch on Meadow Road.

Judith E. Hollen, Oscoda, reported Sunday that two wheel covers from her car had been stolen while it was parked at the Tawas City Park.

Eight tires valued at $300 were stolen sometime Friday night or early Saturday morning at Kolt's Tire Center, 1731 East US-23, East Tawas. A back door to the building had been forced open.

Theft of a 24-horsepower outboard motor was reported Thursday by Brooks Auto Parts, Tawas City. The front door of the office had been forced open.

Vandalism of a cabin owned by Russell Marker, Chain Lake Road, was investigated Thursday. Interior of the building was found to be in shambles. Salt, coffee, baking powder and sugar had been thrown about the building and furniture was smashed.

Two motorbike accidents investigated by the sheriff's department saw two persons treated for injuries at Tawas Hospital.

Betty J. Taubert, 42, Mt. Clemens, was injured Saturday when the machine which she was operating rolled over on Big Island Drive. She received bruises and lacerations to the face, left shoulder and knee.

Jayne Baker, 15, Tawas City, was treated Saturday for injuries which she received to the back of the head when struck by a motorbike which had flipped over. Officers said the girl was a passenger on a motorbike operated by Gary L. Nelson, 18, Tawas City. Nelson said that the machine's throttle stuck on Cooke Dam Road just as it hit a bump in the road. Both of them were thrown off the motorbike.

Iosco Co. Receives State's Designation for Center

The Michigan State Board of Education has designated Iosco Intermediate School District as a secondary area vocational education center.

The designation will permit Iosco Intermediate School District to seek voter approval for funds to build and operate an area secondary vocational education facility.

Voters in 19 of Michigan's 58 intermediate school districts have approved vocational education centers.

The proposed vocational education center in Iosco would serve 658 high school students from four local school districts, Tawas Area, Hale Area, Whittemore-Prescott Area and Oscoda Area.

A study was recently completed by a "Co-Op 5" citizens' committee which recommended making application to the state for designation of this county as the location for a vocational training skill center, similar to the one presently operated by Bay-Arenac School District.

John Tafelski, intermediate school district superintendent, said that boards of education in all four of the county school districts had supported the proposal.

If voters approve the proposal, to be presented later this year, the center would be located in the approximate geographic center of the county. Estimated cost of constructing and equipping the facility would be $2,001,200, of which 50 percent would be reimbursed by the state. Annual operating cost has been estimated at $493,500, with a possible 12 percent reimbursement from the state.

Voters would be asked to approve a levy of 2.95 mills to finance the center, of which .6 of a mill would finance cost of constructing and equipping the facility for 15 years and the remainder would go for annual operation.

Total state equalized valuation for the intermediate district in 1974 was $195,000,000.

During the past two months, students of Iosco County schools have been constructing birdhouses and nesting shelves to enter in the first Iosco County birdhouse contest, sponsored by Iosco Audubon Society.

Winners were honored Thursday night during the society's regular meeting held at the library of Tawas Area High School.

Winners in the junior high level were:

Nesting shelves—Katrina Ketzler, Hale, first; David Rhoads, Oscoda, third.

When houses: Ravin Seaman, Oscoda, third; Cass Leaton, Oscoda, third; Gary Wood, Tawas Area, third.

Bluebird houses—Robert Griese, Mikado, first; Daniel Spearman, Hale, second; Thomas Slagle, Mikado, second; Pamela Allman, Oscoda, third.

Some categories had many entries while others had no entries at all, which is the reason for the lack of a second place in one category and three third places in another category. Some of the birdhouses failed to place due to failure to meet specifications found in the rules of the contest. Some birdhouses were disqualified because of being impractical—no cleanout, no ventilation, no drainage or entrance hole too small.

In addition to practicability, houses were judged on design and quality of workmanship. Students competed at either the senior high or junior high level. Each level had three categories, nesting houses, bluebird houses and nesting shelves. There were three prizes in each category, making nine prizes for the senior high and nine prizes for the junior high. Entry forms, rules and regulations were distributed to schools last January and shop teachers relayed the information to students.

First prize in each case was $10 furnished by the Audubon Society. Second prizes were woodworking tools of at least a $5 value and were furnished by hardware stores and lumber yards of the county. Third prizes were books, "Michigan Wildlife Sketches," furnished by the Iosco Audubon Society.

"Although the number of entries in this first contest was limited," states James Wasylk, contest chairman, "we feel that it was a success. We hope that interest will grow in the future so that we can involve more young people."

"We feel that this contest helps the young people to become aware of nature and encourages them to be creative by making something worthwhile. To see one's birdhouse or nesting shelf actually being used would give the person the greatest satisfaction," he stated.

The winning entries are to be displayed for a week at the following businesses, which furnished prizes: Tawas Hardware, Merschel Hardware, Schreck Lumber Company, Huron Hardware at Oscoda, Hale Hardware, Pearsall Hardware and Bernard Lumber Company of Hale.

Honored at Ferris Sports Banquet

Approximately 104 Ferris State College athletes who took part in seven winter sports activities were honored at the school's annual winter sports banquet Tuesday, April 9. Among them was Myron Trafelet, manager of the junior varsity basketball team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Trafelet of Tawas City.

Field Service Officer Coming

Chalmers LaFray, field service officer of the Disabled American Veterans, will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, Tuesday, April 23, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., to assist veterans and their dependents with Veterans Administration problems.

Both Private and Public

Soil District to Survey Iosco's Outdoor Recreation Facilities

Michigan Soil Conservation Districts, Incorporated, are preparing to conduct a county-by-county inventory of private and semi-private outdoor recreation facilities. This will be part of the first nationwide inventory being conducted by the National Association of Conservation Districts.

"The inventory will provide current and reliable data that can be used by districts, government and others assisting landowners; state, county and municipal governments, and developers of one of the biggest and fastest growing industries in America today," states Gordon Bedell, president of the Michigan Association of Soil Conservation Districts, Incorporated.

"Public demand for outdoor recreation opportunities is growing at an unprecedented rate and it is evident that an increasingly large share of the nation's requirements will have to be met with privately-owned facilities," continues Bedell. "Governments cannot and should not be expected to meet all the ever-rising demands through public acquisition and development of outdoor sites and facilities," he concluded. After the inventory is completed, it can be used by public agencies to cut down on competition with private facilities.

"The oncoming inventory for Iosco County will be spearheaded by the local soil conservation district," says Chairman Harry Krueger. Assisting the Iosco County Soil Conservation District with the inventory will be representatives of various federal, state and local agencies and organizations.

Present plans call for the completion of the county inventory by the end of April. "At this time," states Chairman Krueger, "the inventory, along with all other county inventories, will be reviewed by the state coordinating committee prior to forwarding to the Washington Office of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for compiling and computerizing state and national summaries."

In the early 60s, approximately two-thirds of the nation's soil conservation districts participated in a somewhat similar inventory; however, the study was conducted on a district-wide basis so its usefulness was limited. The current county-by-county inventory aims to achieve 100 percent coverage.

According to Chairman Krueger, the inventory should take little effort on the part of most districts as much of the essential information has already been gathered for their long-range plans. "For the most part, the job of the district will be to bring it all together from all responsible sources and compiling it on a form for easy reference, without necessarily engaging in a physical inventory. In essence, it will be putting it all together for the first time ever," concludes Mr. Krueger.

Stan Kenton Coming May 14 to Tawas Area

Stan Kenton, a name synonymous with musical progress, will be appearing Tuesday, May 14, at Tawas Area High School at 7:30 p. m. A pioneer and innovator who has strongly influenced modern American music, Kenton has literally lived music all his life.

He has refused to look back since the year 1941, when he introduced the musical world to the first in a long line of fresh and exciting jazz orchestras. Ever since that debut over 30 years ago in Balboa, California, when the band first played at the Rendezvous Ballroom, Kenton has had little patience with people who go through life looking in the rear view mirror at something that can never be again.

Recording and national tours with this orchestra followed and honors such as Look magazine's "Band of the Year" award and recognition by Downbeat, Metronome and Variety jazz polls were received.

In late 1947, a new 20-piece "Progressive Jazz" orchestra made its debut to a sell-out audience at a Carnegie Hall midnight concert. In the spring of 1949, this orchestra drew 15,000 to the Hollywood Bowl and Variety called this Kenton group "the hottest box office attraction in the country."

At present, Kenton's work is triple-faceted; the orchestra has been making personal appearances "on the road" and recording for two years across the United States and Europe. Clinics are being constantly conducted in music departments of high schools, colleges and universities and Creative World, his own direct mail firm, continues to grow as an outlet for Kenton's recordings.

Tickets are on sale from any band member or the Tawas Chamber of Commerce. Pre-purchase is advised.

Have you heard anything new lately about food? Only the high cost?

Well those folks who heard the talk by Dr. Philip White at Farmers' Week, Michigan State University, learned a lot about how and what foods we eat. Doctor White is director of the Department of Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

I am sharing with you a digest of some important points made by Doctor White. Carbohydrates: Contrary to what certain alarmists have claimed recently, the nation is not suffering from a widespread epidemic of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) due to excessive consumption of carbohydrates. Hypoglycemia is actually quite rare.

Presweetened breakfast cereals do not condition children to prefer sweet flavors. The ability to sense sweetness is inborn. The average per capita consumption of refined sugar in this country is 120 pounds per year. That sugar accounts for about 20 percent of each person's calorie intake. Since sugar contains no nutrients other than calories, Americans must get all their other nutrients from the foods that supply the remaining 80 percent of their calories.

We are more and more becoming interested in just two flavors: Sweet and salty. This should be of concern to us because of obesity, if nothing else, hypertension and dental caries.

The only hope for management of obesity is restriction of calorie intake and increased exercise.

Low-carbohydrate, high-protein diets cause rapid, temporary weight loss early in the diet. This is primarily water loss—the body is in effect suffering from dehydration. As soon as the dietary imbalance is corrected, the weight comes back. Fiber: There is a direct relationship between low fiber intake and a number of ills of the digestive system. Fiber speeds up the passage of material through the bowel and provides for better absorption of nutrients.

"Though fiber is an important part of our nutritional requirements, the public will not be willing to start chewing again unless they are convinced that it really is in their best interests," Doctor White said. He predicts that we will soon see pressure on the food industry either not to remove fiber from foods or to replace it. Protein: Americans get 2 1/2 to three times as much protein as they need. Recently published studies show that excess protein consumption results in a loss of calcium from the body that cannot be corrected by the addition of more calcium. A high-protein, low carbohydrate diet combines with decreasing consumption of dairy products and increasing consumption of foods and soft drinks that contain phosphorus results in serious imbalance of the calcium-phosphorus ratio and loss of calcium from the bones. As much as 50 percent of the calcium may be gone from the bones by late middle age. Next week, we will read about "Megavitaminism," "Food Habits," "Exercise," "Iron" and "Natural Vitamins"—all from Doctor White.
