

Bank Shareholders OK Stock Split; Board Re-Elected

Creating a broader financial base and one within reach of more people, shareholders of Peoples State Bank Tuesday authorized splitting the bank's present capitalization of $300,000 by changing the par value of 8,000 outstanding shares of common stock from $100 to $20 each. This action took place at Tuesday morning's annual meeting attended by 54 of the bank's 145 shareholders, said to be the largest representation in the bank's history. The business session was held at the Holland House, East Tawas.

In presenting a comprehensive statement of the bank's assets, liabilities and earnings, John Lippert, president, said that 1973 was a good year for the bank.

He said that there were 48 new shareholders and noted that mortgage loans had increased by two-million dollars, "showing the bank's increased responsibility to the community; savings deposits have increased by one-million dollars, the trust department has more than doubled and the total growth of resources was eight percent.

George B. Martin, the bank's attorney, was present to explain legal ramifications of problem areas encountered during the past two years.

Re-elected to the board of directors were L. G. McKay Jr., John McLoock, William Look Sr., Charles Schreck, Hugo Keiser, Paul Chevis, Lippert and Harold Knight.

McKay was reappointed as chairman of the board.

Units Get Tab for 1973 Loss on Ambulances

Bills totaling $7,217 were sent out this week to participating units of local government by Tawas Hospital's ambulance service to cover an operational loss for the year ending June 30, 1973, and to finance the local share of purchasing a new ambulance.

A report on the annual ambulance service business was given at Monday night's meetings of city councils at East Tawas and Tawas City.

The hospital has made application for a $7,000 federal grant to aid in the purchase of a new ambulance. The local share of purchasing the new ambulance is included in the bills sent to the participating townships and cities.

Each unit's share of the cost, based on a population-valuation formula, is as follows:

Alabaster, $400; Baldwin, $827; Burleigh, $290; Grant, $548; Plainfield, $1,496; Reno, $194; Sherman, $288; Tawas, $594; Wilber, $256; East Tawas, $1,246; Tawas City, $885; Whittemore, $193.

ET Council Had Optimistic HUD Report

An optimistic report on renewal of construction on East Tawas' federal housing project was given Monday night to the East Tawas Council by John C. Elliott, housing administrator.

Elliott reported that the city and federal authorities had agreed to eliminate four single bedroom housing units in order to bring the cost of constructing a high-rise apartment complex within the federal allotment. He said that a complete report would be made at the next meeting of the council.

In other business, Aldermen George Staudacher, Richard Moss and Ralph Western were appointed as a committee to work with Tawas Area Board of Education concerning the latter's proposal to exchange the school-owned athletic field on Newman Street for city-owned property of a like value.

The present athletic field is leased from the board of education for use by the community. Because of its small size, the board of education has deemed it as too small for school use in any long-range school construction program. The board of education has suggested the possibility of trading the property for the city-owned portion of the old fairgrounds property.

Mayor Robert Bolen reported that, following a trip to Lansing with Alderman Western, prospects for recovering the balance of the original federal grant to East Tawas to aid in sewer construction appeared excellent. When the city constructed its new disposal plant and distribution system several years ago, the federal government lacked funds to pay the entire amount of a grant. As a result, the city paid an additional share in the construction. It is believed now that the balance to be paid by the federal government will assist greatly with financing of a secondary sewage treatment plant.

A report given at the meeting indicated that Tawas Township had agreed to participate with East Tawas, Tawas City and Baldwin Township in conducting a long-range study of sewage treatment plant facilities for the entire Tawas area. Word is now awaited from Alabaster Township participation, although authorization had already been given by three units to conduct the study.

First reading of a new ordinance was held by the council. The new ordinance regulates and provides penalties for infractions of disorderly conduct, failure of disorderly persons to disperse, public intoxication, loitering, trespassing, obstructing governmental operations, harassment, menacing, malicious mischief, tampering, indecent exposure, window peeping, accosting and soliciting, prostitution and related offenses, illegal possession of alcoholic liquor, furnishing to minors, rendering false alarms, false reports to law enforcement officials, obstructing a peace officer and resisting arrest.

Council Adopts Recommendations on Water Board Alternate-Appraisal

Recommendations from the water board concerning appointment of an alternate to the joint water board and acceptance of a contract for insurance appraisal were adopted Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

A contract for $690 was awarded to E. C. Deyo Company to conduct an appraisal of various public buildings and equipment for insurance purposes. At its last meeting, the council had tabled action on the contract and was to investigate the possibility of hiring a local person to make the appraisal. The water board pointed out that no one locally was qualified to perform the work of providing a guaranteed insurance appraisal.

The council appointed the water board chairman to serve on the joint water board with East Tawas in the event that any one of Tawas City's three members are absent for a meeting held by that group.

In other business, the council took note of a circuit court damage suit pending against officials and employees of a public institution and authorized purchase of a "wrongful act" insurance policy to cover city employees and city officials. Cost of the insurance is $597.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz is to attend the legislative session of the Michigan Municipal League to be held at Lansing. The city manager and Mayor John Brugger were at Lansing Tuesday with a delegation from the Tawas to witness Governor Milliken's signature on a proclamation renaming the Tawas as Perchville USA during the three-day festival February 15-17. While at Lansing, the city manager and mayor were to meet with representatives of the waterways commission concerning engineering for a proposed harbor and boat launching facility at the river mouth and to obtain information concerning the offer of a bus for area shuttle service.

The mayor reported that numerous complaints have been received concerning dogs running at large and damaging garbage bags before removal by the disposal contractor. Complaint areas were listed by the city manager and have been turned over to the county dog warden.

appeared before the council and asked consideration for establishment of a class C liquor license in Bohl's Lumbermen's Restaurant building on US-23, across from Borosch Real Estate. The restaurant has not been in operation for a number of months.

Krake told councilmen that, with city permission, application would be made to the state liquor control commission for moving a class C liquor license to this city. He was of the opinion that a restaurant business by itself in that location would not be feasible without a license.

It was pointed out that parking near the building was limited. The matter was turned over to the city planning commission for study and recommendation.

Close Call at Ninth Avenue RR Crossing

Although sustaining painful facial lacerations, four area youths Monday afternoon escaped more serious injuries in a possible brush with death when their car rammed a Detroit and Mackinac Railway diesel locomotive at the Ninth Street crossing in Tawas City.

Treated for lacerations and held at Tawas Hospital for observation were David C. Smith, 20, East Tawas; Jack R. Clark, 15, Oscoda; Carol Peters, 17, East Tawas; Edward J. Perry, 17, Tawas City, driver, who sustained a cut lip.

Two ambulances were rushed to the scene to transport the injured victims to the hospital. One ambulance had the wrong accident location and traveled nearly two miles beyond the scene before being recalled by radio to the Ninth Avenue crossing.

Because of extensive bleeding of two victims at the scene, it was first believed that injuries were of a far more serious nature.

Investigating officers from the Iosco Sheriff's Department said that the car operated by Perry and owned by his mother, Mrs. Patricia

Hope to End Controversy and Start Spring Plans Council Expands Snow Removal Along US-23

Amending its recent snow removal policy change, Tawas City councilmen believed Monday night that they had finally hit on a plan which would prove satisfactory in the business area during the remainder of the winter.

The opinion was expressed that, with the possible solution to this problem, councilmen might now be able to devote the time necessary to study upcoming street projects and other necessary city improvements pending for the spring construction season.

In addition, the council authorized the study of prices on special equipment needed to clear sidewalks of snow next winter in other areas of the community. In the meantime, the city is to prohibit business places from pushing large piles of snow on the sidewalk along US-23 and is urging residential property owners in other parts of the community to do the best they can to remove snow from sidewalks during the remainder of the winter.

The city's snow removal policy has been discussed — both commended and criticized — during the past two years. Principal opponent to the policy on the council has been Ald. Robert N. Rollin, who believes that all business places in the community should be given the same consideration for snow removal.

In addition, Rollin has been highly critical of the city snowplows throwing snow and slush on sidewalks between Wheeler Street and the east city limit on US-23, making it nearly impossible for property owners to remove snow from sidewalks and forcing pedestrians to walk on US-23.

One of the problems facing the community is the lack of highway right-of-way in certain areas to store snow removed from sidewalks and streets. While plows operated at a slower speed during last week-end's storm and snow was not thrown from US-23 onto sidewalks, that snow was light and fluffy. In the event of a heavier snow, plows would necessarily have to operate at a higher rate of speed to remove snow from US-23.

Rollin apparently has won support from other councilmen with the city taking the responsibility of removing snow from this sidewalk. The city is to investigate the purchase of a unit equipped with a revolving broom to remove light snow and a plow or blower to remove heavier snow.

In addition, the council is to study removal of snow from other sidewalks in residential areas of the city. One of the main problems to be faced is the narrow width of present sidewalks, unevenness of the sidewalk surface and such obstructions as power poles and water main connections. The council has encouraged construction of new sidewalks through greater city participation, but this may require still greater city participation to see the work accomplished.

One of the major objections voiced by Rollin to the city snow removal policy, however, has been in the business district. Because of the traffic hazard involved, the state pays approximately $6,000 annually to remove snow cleared from sidewalks in front of business places from Mathews Street to First Street. In some years of heavy snowfall, the state has paid above the $6,000 figure for removal of snow in the above area.

Rollin has been of the opinion that all business places should be treated equally regardless of location. At its last meeting, the council voted, four to three, to prohibit business places from pushing snow onto Lake Street (US-23) in the above area for pickup by the city crew.

Following a meeting with Hugo Keiser and a delegation of businessmen Monday night, the council again changed its snow removal policy. In the future, those business places which do not have adequate storage area for snow removed from sidewalks and parking areas and push snow into piles will receive a city pickup. Spelled in capital letters, however, is that snow would be removed where necessary through judgment of the city manager.

The council again urged business places to push snow from the front property line toward the rear of the property, particularly along the lake side of US-23.

Keiser told councilmen that he was shocked by council action at its last meeting, followed by letters sent to only certain business places informing them of the prohibition of pushing snow into piles for city removal. He felt that the action was ill-advised.

Keiser pointed out that he clears his parking area after each storm and there is no possible way to get rid of the snow without removal by trucks. He said the parking area which he constructed was used by persons going to the nearby doctors' office, as well as the general public.

In addition, Keiser pointed out that the central business district designated by the state and the city from Mathews Street to First Street had a state equalized valuation of $1,270,000, had a personal property valuation of $353,200 and the two-block area had an annual payroll of $1,000,000, excluding the sheriff's department and county building. As a comparison, he said that the area from Mathews Street to the west city limit had a state equalized property valuation of $289,000 and personal property valuation of $29,600.

Keiser felt that from the figures he had presented, the central business district deserved something extra and that other communities give special consideration to central business districts. He pointed out, too, that he personally plows the city-owned parking lot at the rear of stores, along with the 18-foot alley easement. He said that a number of wrecked cars blocked the city-owned alley easement which makes plowing difficult and believed the problem should be corrected.

"I am not complaining about cleaning, but it ruffles me when I am told not to do it," said Keiser.

Roger McIntosh of McKay Sales Company said that 25 percent of the annual payroll in the central business district was employed by that firm. He said he had no objection to the city snow removal policy except when a storm occasionally hits every two days. Because of the lack of storage space there, he believed the city should remove large piles of snow along US-23 following a storm.

(Read 2 Timothy 1:5-12)
I know whom I have believed. (2 Timothy 1:12)

This is a majestic declaration, full of sustaining power for him who uttered it and for all Christian believers who treasure it. It is not a sudden outburst of an impulsive enthusiast, but the mature acknowledgment of a master in religious thinking, bent on finding an adequate faith.

The great apostle had established a foundation which he could trust. He had determined a fixed starting point for his survey in the realm of Christian belief. Should doubt as to his course ever come upon him, he had a fixed star from which he could take his bearings anew.

This knowledge, this knowing Jesus Christ, was indispensable to Paul. He took seriously his responsibility, as a man called of God, to proclaim, promote and establish the gospel of Jesus Christ. Conscientious, deep-souled, master-minded, he put the measure of this responsibility at the limits of his capability.

Whatever Paul may have learned in the schools, he came to mastery only as he learned Christ. Paul knew Him—His will, His attitude, His mind, His method, His program, His power. Paul walked with Him.

Do we know Christ? Are we walking with Him?

PRAYER

Our Father, grant unto us the blessed assurance and comforting certitude which make for discipleship in times like these. Amen.

Braves Lost Saturday to Saginaw St. Stephens

Tawas Area Braves, plagued by 27 fouls during the night, were flat in their return engagement Saturday night with Saginaw St. Stephens. The Saints gained revenge for an earlier loss to the Braves by turning back the visiting Tawas Area five, 77-58.

Both ends of the double header went to the Saginaw school as the Junior Braves lost the preliminary in overtime, 70-65.

Tom Gallant, sharpshooting Saginaw player who missed the first encounter between these two teams earlier in the season, demonstrated some outstanding outside shooting with 12 buckets and 12 charity tosses for 36 points.

The Braves had their worst first quarter showing of the season as they were down, 23-9, at the first buzzer. The Braves came back with a 19-15 margin in the second quarter to cut the Saginaw team's lead to 38-28 at intermission.

St. Stephens took up where it left off in the first quarter by outscoring the Braves, 24-14, in the third quarter and went away as Tawas Area could muster only a one-point advantage, 16-15, in the final quarter.

Both Steve Cline and Larry Nichols were chased from the floor with five fouls and Nichols, top scorer for the Braves, had only one point during the night. Terry Nichols, Mickey Haglund and Mike Mooney each had four fouls.

Top scoring effort for the Braves was turned in by Terry Nichols, who had 15 points on six goals and three foul shots. Mooney turned in 13 points on five and three.

The Braves returned to NBC action this week by meeting Standish-Sterling Central last night on the latter's home floor and are to play host Friday night to Ogemaw Heights.

Plans Ready for CF 50-Mile 'Run for Life'

Plans are now complete for the second annual 50-mile snowmobile "run for life" to be sponsored Saturday, February 16, by the Michigan Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Perchville USA Festival committee.

The course is to be laid out from the Newman Street athletic field at East Tawas to the Oscoda Sportsmen's Club on River Road and back. Snowmobiles will run through state and federal forest land, making use of fire trails through wooded areas and minimal use of highways or county roads.

Trail bosses are to be on hand for the event, which will help give the breath of life to thousands of Michigan children suffering from serious lung-damaging diseases.

Timothy O'Connor, local race chairman, said that area residents with snowmobiles are urgently needed to transport visiting members of the press along the race course. Among members of the press planning to attend include Otis Washington, Mark Wesley and Jim Peyton of WNEM-TV, Bay City; Robert Scott and Luke Choate of WJRT-TV, Flint; Richard Fabin and James Brandstetter of WEYI-TV, Saginaw; Wally Kennedy, WTRK-Radio, Flint. O'Connor said that gasoline would be furnished to persons bringing their machines to transport the visitors.

To enter the snowmobile safari, it is necessary for each driver to obtain advance sponsorship, supporting the drive for a minimum contribution of 20 cents per mile ($10 minimum for the 50-mile course). Because the entire proceeds go to CF, it is hoped that entrants will obtain pledges of 50 cents and over per mile.

The total amount of the pledge based on completion of the 50 miles must be paid in advance upon registration. Should a driver not complete the entire course, each sponsor may apply for a proportionate refund.

Official CF patches are to be awarded to all registered participants and individual trophies are to be presented to the top three snowmobiles bringing in the most sponsorship money. The CF world championship snowmobile cup is to be presented to the snowmobile club with the highest total. The trophy is presently held by the Greenbush Snowmobile Club. Second and third place trophies will also be awarded.

Registration begins at 8:30 a. m. February 16 and continues until 11:30 a. m. Advance registrations may be made by contacting O'Connor.

Miss Esther Look Elevated by Bank

Miss Esther Look, an employee of Peoples State Bank of East Tawas since August 1930, has been promoted from assistant cashier to assistant vice president and branch manager. The promotion was effective Tuesday, according to an announcement by the bank's board of directors.

When Miss Look began her duties with the bank nearly 44 years ago, the total staff consisted of Lloyd G. McKay Sr. and Grant Shattuck, both of whom are now deceased.

She started as clerk in the building now housing the law offices of Michael Freel and Thomas Huck and recalls that when that office was rebuilt around 1935, the bank office was set up temporarily in the building on Newman Street now occupied by the Western Auto Store. She remembers carrying the bank's cash to and from that location each morning and evening.

"The bank is extremely fortunate to have a professional such as Esther working for it and to have such loyalty and dedication among the staff," said John Lippert, president, in announcing the promotion on behalf of the board of directors.

Contacted at the Tawas City branch office, Miss Look said that opportunities for women in banking today have never been better.

"More women are sharing the role of management of banks today than in any other business," she stated.

lowing consecutive storms. Clement Stephan of Rainbow Service pointed out that both he and Lansky's Standard Service push snow from in front of their stations to the curbed area off US-23, that it was not a hazard and that they were actually removing snow from in front of their stations which had been pushed there by city snowplows. He said that once or twice a winter, the city front end loader pushes this snow over the bank to make room for snow in later storms. He believed that snow should be removed from sidewalks along US-23 from Wheeler Street to the east city limit to allow use by pedestrians. "It is no asset for the city to have a tussle over snow removal—the city council can work this out," said Stephan.

Paul Chevis said that although he was not directly involved in the snow removal problem, he believed there would be a duplication of the equipment if businessmen in the central business area were forced to hire trucks to remove snow. He said that such a policy detracts from the growth of the community, that it sounded "Mickey Mouse" and that the city should encourage growth instead of putting up barriers. "I think the whole matter is picayune—the city has been doing a good job, as a whole, and there are so many important projects which need time I can't see why the council is spending so much time on this matter," said Chevis. He was of the opinion that city ordinances controlling storage of junk cars in the business area should be enforced immediately.

Mayor John N. Brugger believed that some discussion on the council's action may have been distorted, that it was not meant that the city would not pick up snow in hazardous areas—"we have to hit a happy medium on both sides of the fence," stated Brugger.

The mayor felt that there had been some carelessness in pushing snow from in front of business places onto the street. He felt the problem could be cured by a matter of good judgment on the part of all concerned.

In defending his part, Alderman Rollin said "I did not do this for Bob Rollin." He said that he believed the snow removal policy of the past 18 years needed revision, although he believed that areas lacking snow storage, such as the doctor's office and the Clark station, should receive a pickup. "I only asked that business places push their snow from the front of the property line to the rear—what is good for one area is good for another. If I have erred, I am sorry—but I am not convinced I have erred. I think that you people coming down tonight have done more good than anyone else could have done," said Rollin.

As a result of the discussion, a motion by Ald. James Lansky and seconded by Rollin reconsidered action taken previously on snow removal. The city is to return to its former policy of picking up snow in the central business area where storage is lacking and, at city expense, is to pick up piles of snow in front of business places which lack storage space—at the discretion of the city manager.

The motion was adopted unanimously by the council. Building applications approved during the past two weeks by the Tawas City Department of Public Works are as follows:

Delores Sieloff, 927 Harris Avenue, repairs, $200; Robert Williams, 624 West Lake Street, remodel front of Dutch Kitchen Restaurant, $2,000; Consumers Power Company, construct electrical substation on Cedar Street, $12,000.

Iosco Chapter, OES, Meets Feb. 7

Monthly meeting of Iosco Chapter No. 71, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held Thursday, February 7, 8:00 p. m., at the Masonic Temple, Tawas City.

Photos of Monday's Car-Train Crash

Accident

Perry, 323 Seventh Avenue, was headed in a southerly direction on Ninth Avenue. Perry swerved his vehicle to the right at the last instant to avoid a collision with the locomotive and train just as it entered the slightly elevated crossing.

The car struck the footboard on the front of the locomotive and spun around in the middle of the street. Had the car struck the rear of the locomotive or one of the cars in the train, the accident could have been more serious. In such cases, the vehicle usually becomes entangled in the wheels of the train and is dragged along the tracks.

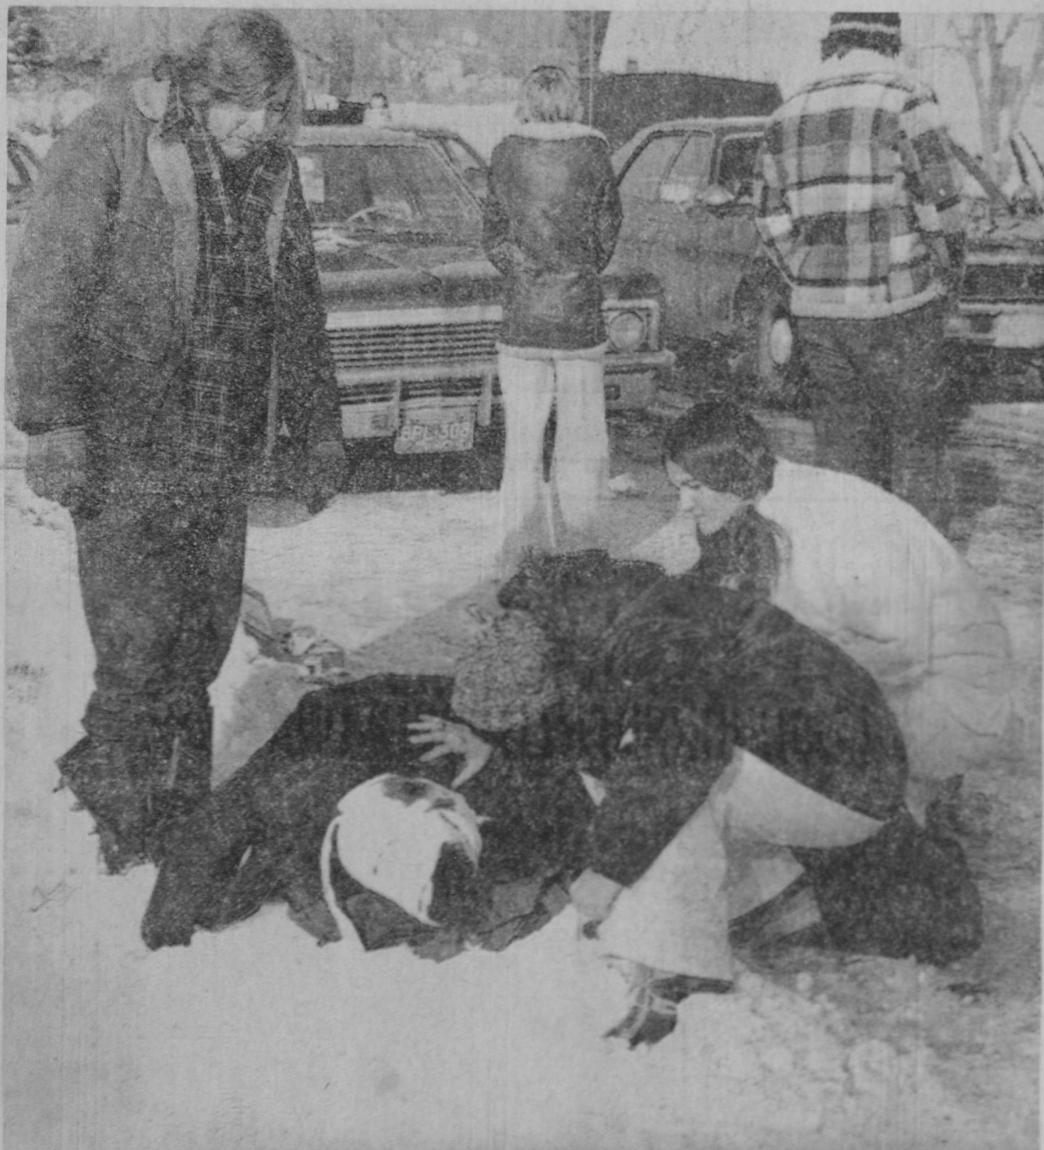

John A. Nowak, Alpena, veteran D&M engineer, told officers the train was traveling at 15 miles per hour and he brought it to a stop within 240 feet from the point of impact after crossing the intersection.

Investigating officers said that the train engineer had apparently sounded the locomotive's horn for the crossing, but that the driver had either not heard it or attempted to get across the tracks before the train reached the intersection.

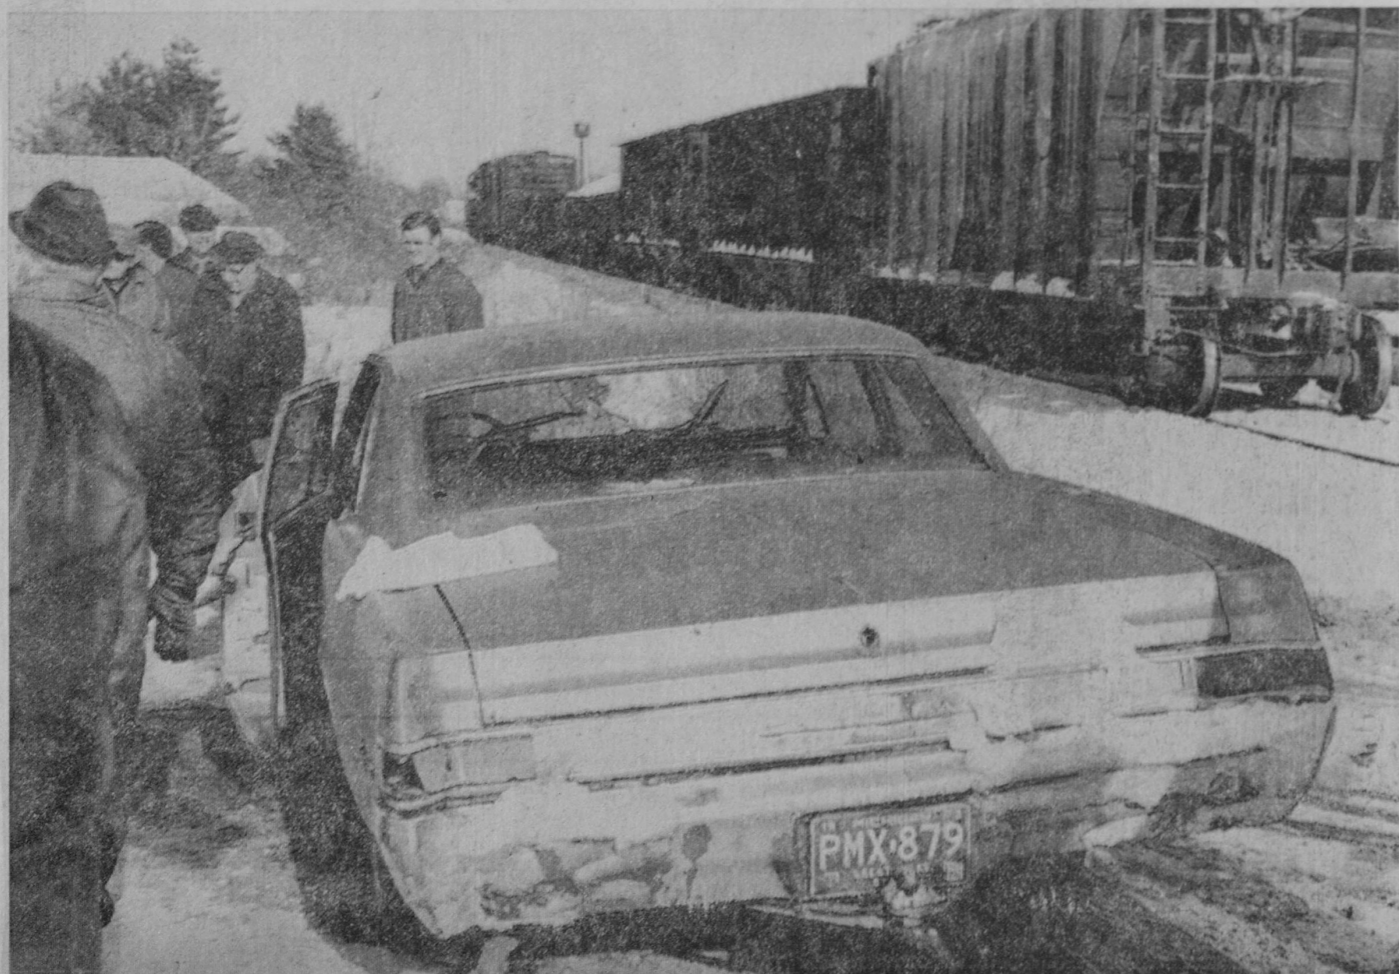

Occupants of a second car following the Perry vehicle were questioned by officers at the scene regarding the accident.

Investigation continues into a report from the engineer that a red Gremlin model car, traveling ahead of the Perry vehicle, barely made it over the crossing prior to the collision. The driver of that vehicle, as yet, has not been identified by authorities.

The Ninth Avenue crossing has not had a serious car-train accident since a double fatal accident occurred there about 25 years ago.

AMBULANCE ATTENDANTS administer to one of the injured victims.

FOLLOWING the crash, the car spun around in the middle of Ninth Avenue.

Airman Call Completes Course

Amn. Steven E. Call, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Call, East Tawas, has graduated at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, from the United States Air Force heating systems specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command (ATC).

Airman Call, who was trained to repair and maintain fuel burning and hot water systems, is being assigned to Laughlin Air Force Base, Texas, with a unit of ATC.

The airman graduated last year from Tawas Area High School.

Two Young Men Apprehended in Act of Burglary

Two young men from the Tawas were bound over to circuit court Monday morning on charges of breaking and entering after being arraigned before Dist. Judge J. Richard Ernst.

Waiving preliminary examination were James R. Thunberg, 18, East Tawas, and Anthony C. Palumbo, 17, Tawas City.

The pair was apprehended early Monday morning by two alert officers from the East Tawas Police Department, Joseph Mitchell and David Zielinski.

While on patrol at 2:50 o'clock, the officers noticed a car drive out of the west end of the city park. The driver, whose name is being withheld pending further investigation, told officers that he was "just driving around."

Mitchell and Zielinski inspected the park and found footprints leading to the open door of a trailer. The door closed while they were watching and the officers arrested Thunberg and Palumbo, who were hiding in the bathroom.

HIGH POINT of the winter season for Tawas cub scouts is the annual pinewood derby and the event was held Wednesday night at the East Tawas Elementary Unit. More than 40 miniature racing cars (weight not exceeding five ounces) handcrafted by cub scouts and their dads were entered in competition. A new six-lane track constructed by James Hill, cub master, was used for the first time. The track featured an automatic scoreboard to signal winners. Materials were donated by Schaaf Lumber Company. Official starters for the race were James Mark and Dwayne Anderson. — Tawas Herald Photos.

WINNING qualifying races in the dens were, from left, James Alexander, Scott Collins and Keith Hill. At right is William Rowland, whose car was judged to have the best design.

FINISHING PLACES were recorded on an electrical scoreboard at the finish line.

By HELEN B. MEACH
 Extension Home Economist

Some folks say household occupants are not so important in the total energy picture, but household energy use has been rising at a faster rate than industry or commercial use. In the past years in Michigan, residential use has increased by 35 percent or more than one-third. Surely there must be some opportunities here for reducing waste and conserving.

Heating of space in our homes consumes the greatest single amount of energy, water heating is second. So anything we can do to reduce the amount of space or water we heat will help save fuel. Think about your use of energy at home. There is something you can do without too great a change in your life style and it will also save you money.

Heating: You will save money and energy if you lower the thermostat a few degrees and wear heavier clothing, close the draperies at night, keep the fireplace damper closed, do not heat empty rooms, keep your furnace in good condition, fix leaky faucets, prevent drafts from open windows and attic doors.

Appliances: Do not run items such as dishwashers or clothes dryers during the peak load time if you can avoid it and fill them up before you use them. Unplug the instant-on TV sets, wash dishes and clothes in warm water, do not leave the radio or TV on when you are not listening.

Think about energy when you are shopping. Do not buy more than you need and look for energy-efficient products. Avoid buying too large an item, such as a refrigerator or air conditioner, if you will not use it to capacity.

Think about energy efficiency in the things you purchase, such as refrigerators (the frost-free models are big energy consumers). You will save with fluorescent lights. Improve insulation in your home and save on the fuel bill.

Buy to conserve! Self-cleaning ovens and crushed-ice dispensers in refrigerators, for example, waste more energy. If you do not need accessories, do not buy them.

Encourage others to think about energy conservation and talk about it. Your friends may not have the money-saving information you do. Urge others to avoid energy-wasting practices. You are practicing individual citizen action for conservation of precious energy.

Topical Fluoride Program Again Slated in Tawas

Topical applications of fluoride will again be offered to Tawas area children this summer according to Mrs. Estelle Kuntz, chairman of the Tawas Area Newcomers Club topical fluoride committee.

The fluoride program, which is supervised by the Michigan Department of Public Health, will be made available to preschoolers, second, fifth and eighth graders and to special cases referred by dentists. According to Mrs. Kuntz, the procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic. The child's teeth are cleaned on the first visit and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. Only the fluoride application is repeated during the three succeeding visits. This technique has been shown to reduce tooth decay by about 40 percent compared to the 60-65 percent reduction obtained with fluoridated water.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offers a valuable dental experience for children with no discomfort. Dental health education by the clinic personnel, including instruction in the proper method of brushing teeth, is an important part of the program. Parents of eligible children will be notified at a later date and be given an opportunity to enroll their children in the program.

Missiles Being Assigned to Wurtsmith

15 Years Ago—

February 5, 1959—Wurtsmith Air Force Base has been selected for the construction of support facilities for the "Hound Dog" air-to-surface missile and the "Quail" decoy missile, designed to provide the nation's strategic bomber force with an increased capability to penetrate heavily defended areas.

Directors of Tawas Chamber of Commerce approved the hiring of the Rev. O. James Crews, director of the Chapel Lake Indian Ceremonials, to promote and launch a membership campaign. The proposal passed by an eight to four roll call vote and Cecil Cabbie, chamber president, believed that the matter should be given more consideration before any final action is taken.

Differences between the Silver Valley Winter Sports Committee and the United States Forestry Service were settled for the present at a joint meeting Thursday night. Two weeks ago, the forest service informed the committee that its contract for operating the winter sports area in Huron National Forest would not be renewed in 1961 "because of the continued inability of this group to operate in a manner consistent with good safety and sanitation standards."

Jack Graham's 20-point total was tops as the Whittemore-Prescott Area Cardinals defeated the Oscoda Owls, 61-56. Keith Charters meshed 15 points for the winners while Senter had 15 points for the losers.

25 Years Ago—

February 4, 1949—Isosco delegates to the state Republican convention were instructed to support Steven Nisbet as a candidate for member of the state board of education. A well-known Michigan educator, Nisbet is a former Tawas City resident.

A sea scout organization is in the process of being established in the Tawas. Boys interested should contact Reginald Barnett, prosecuting attorney.

Establishment of retail merchant associations for each of the two cities, along with a resort division, to work under the chamber of commerce is being proposed for the Tawas.

The army is making it tougher for American GIs to marry German Frauen. In the first place, many army authorities and chaplains suspect too many German girls are using marriage as an excuse to escape to the United States from the hard life of occupied Germany. There is also an apparent desire to protect young draftees expected to start arriving soon in Germany.

35 Years Ago—

February 10, 1939—As a result of the two recent party conventions, there are two nominees for the office of county school commissioner. Miss Margaret E. Worden, Republican and present incumbent, was highly endorsed and unanimously nominated last Saturday by the Democratic convention. The Republicans nominated Russell A. Rollin of Tawas City, a teacher in the Plainfield Schools, as a candidate for that office. Republican delegates gave Rollin 28 votes and Miss Worden received 20 votes. A recent change in the election law placed nominations for the school commissioner before the county convention. The nominations had been filled by primary elections since 1911.

Charlie Gehring of Detroit Tiger baseball fame will crown the Silver Valley winter sports queen. According to Victor Marzinski, winter sports chairman, other dignitaries coming from Detroit for the annual carnival include Jimmie Stevenson of WJR, Gordon Castle of CKLW and a group known as the "Belly Floppers."

The county's delinquent tax list will include 1,058 descriptions at the May tax sale. Descriptions on the list will be for 1936 and prior taxes.

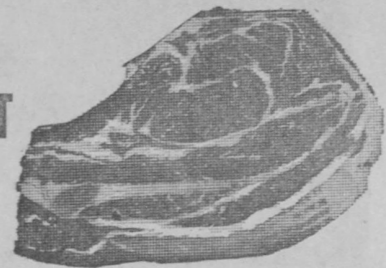

Tawas Bay Yacht Club has outlined a definite program of activities which will result in the construction of a clubhouse on a full time operating basis. Reorganized last summer for the purpose of developing the annual regatta to the extent that class racing should prevail, the club since that time has been preparing the course it is ready to follow. Realizing the value of its annual regatta to the growth of this area as the ideal vacation land, the club has decided to gain recognition for Tawas Bay through development of the National One Design class, which is fast proving to be the ideal type of sailboat for these waters. The first step in this

Open congressional revolt is expected against secret alliances, against favoritism in military exports and against President Roosevelt's defense program following the crash of a bomber in California, which bounced out a representative of the French air ministry whose presence in the United States had been kept secret. It was later revealed that the president had approved the sale of war planes to France. Practically every Republican senator and congressman, plus a formidable block of insurance Democrats, believe that Europe's affairs are no business of ours and favor a strict policy of neutrality and isolation. The president believes that if the institution of democracy is worth saving, this country must join other nations in aggressive combat against dictators—even though short of war.

Hale Area School Voters Get Millage Proposal on April 2

Faced with the squeeze of inflation and loss of about one-half of its state aid, Hale Area School is asking district voters to approve an additional 2.5 mills for school operation for the years 1974-75 and 1975-76. A special election is to be held Tuesday, April 2.

If approved by voters, it would mean that the district would levy 15 extra voted mills, plus 9.7 mills allocated, for a total of 24.7 mills for school operation. This would represent an operational tax of $24.70 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

Because of its high property valuation of 30-million dollars and 810 students ($37,037 of state equalized valuation behind each child), the district received only $80,000 in state aid toward its current $830,000 operational budget.

Under the three-year school financing program adopted last fall by the legislature, coupled with removal this year of the "grandfather clause," the district will lose $41,000 in state aid for 1974-75. As a result, the school would receive only $39,000 in state aid based on $1.96 per child—if the additional 2.5 mills are approved by voters. If not approved, state aid would be reduced still further.

In addition, the district is losing $12,000 in federal Emergency Employment Act money as EEA is being phased out after being in operation for two years.

"Our total loss in revenue, despite an increase in local property valuation, for 1974-75 will be $53,000," states Supl. Paul Keene. "When one adds up all of the additional expense caused by inflation, it can be seen that the school will be in serious financial trouble without additional support from local people."

As an example of rising expenses, Keene said that hiring of four additional teachers in the system would cost an extra $37,000. The gasoline price squeeze has hit schools as hard as it has hit private individuals. Last year, the school purchased gasoline at 14.3 cents per gallon and the price now stands at 32 cents per gallon.

"We have had to add one new bus route during each of the past two terms because of new families moving into the area and we will be forced to add another new route next year. This will mean the hiring of another new bus driver, plus the purchase of three replacement buses at approximately $11,000 each."

"The cost of heating the old building has doubled as the cost of fuel oil has risen from 13.7 cents per gallon to the present price of 26.9 cents per gallon. The cost of electrical service has increased eight to 10 percent, a ream of paper which we had purchased for 82 cents now costs $1.55, while textbooks and other teaching materials are rapidly increasing in price."

"Taking all of the increases, plus wages, which represent 80 to 82 percent of the total budget, we will have an extremely tight budget—even with the additional 2.5 mills," stated Keene.

The superintendent said that he and the board of education were extremely proud of the fact that the school had operated under a balanced budget during the past two years.

"This school has undergone a complete curriculum change and youngsters now leaving our school system are able to compete with other students in schools of higher learning and in the world of work. We still have a long way to go but, because of the upgrading of our curriculum, Hale Area School has received many favorable comments from educators from other parts of the state who have visited this school.

"While 97 percent of our operational funds must be supplied locally, due to the state aid formula which favors low valuation districts, we do have one of the better systems in Northern Michigan for schools of this size.

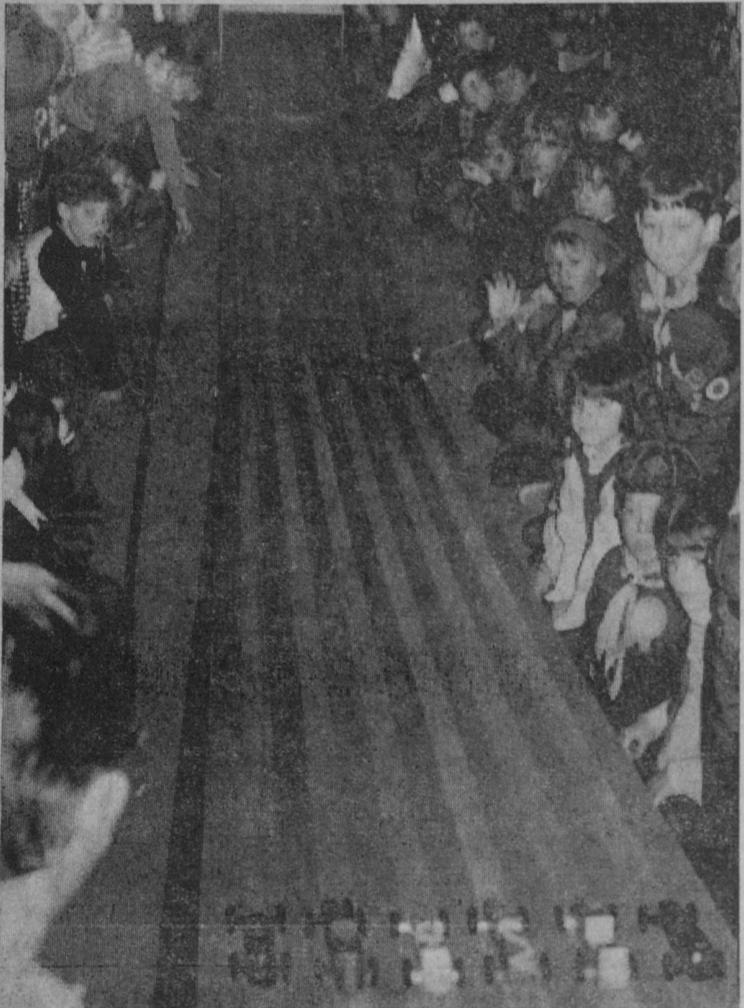

"Good things have been happening in our school system and we are on the right track—we are not asking for any more money than we absolutely need to operate this school," said Keene.

If approved, the total of the school's operational millage would still be three-tenths of one mill below the minimum of 25 mills required for full state aid participation. However, in Hale Area School's case, full state aid participation means little as the district pays nearly the entire shot of educating its youngsters.

This situation results from the current high valuation placed on recreational and inland lake property contained within district boundaries. Despite being benefited by taxes paid by nonresident property owners, the average annual income of district residents is well below the state average.

First $84 on Hospital Bill Goes to Patient

The deductible for medicare hospital insurance is $84 starting January 1, according to John J. Carr, social security district manager in Bay City.

"This means that a medicare patient admitted to a hospital after December 31 will be responsible for at least the first $84 of the hospital bill," Carr said.

The 1973 deductible was $72. Under the medicare law, the amount has been increased to keep it in line with the average cost of one day's stay in the hospital.

"The $12 increase to $84 is a result of a review of the hospital costs during 1973," Carr said.

If a person is hospitalized and starts a benefit period in 1973, he will be responsible for the first $72 of the hospital bill even if his hospitalization extends into 1974, he said.

Under the law, the increases in the hospital insurance deductible causes increases in three other amounts patients pay for covered care under the medicare program.

Starting January 1, for hospital stays of more than 60 days, the medicare patient pays $21 a day (up from $18) for covered services furnished on the 61st through the 90th day.

For a post-hospital stay of more than 90 days of extended care in a skilled nursing facility, the patient pays $10.50 a day (up from $9) for the 21st through the 100th day.

For "lifetime reserve" days over 90 days of hospital care in a benefit period, the patient pays $42 a day (up from $36).

Medicare hospital insurance helps pay the hospital bills of almost everyone 65 and over, of disabled people under 65 who have been getting social security disability benefits for two years or more and of eligible people who need kidney transplants or dialysis for kidney disease.

TO THE ELECTRIC CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY NOTICE OF HEARING ON EMERGENCY ELECTRICAL PROCEDURES

On November 21, 1973, Consumers Power Company (Consumers Power) and The Detroit Edison Company (Detroit Edison) filed a joint application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (Commission) for approval of certain emergency procedures to be invoked in the event of shortages of electrical power within the service areas of Consumers Power and Detroit Edison (the Consumers-Edison Area), or in the service areas of other interconnected electric utilities.

On January 28, 1974, the Commission issued an Order in Case No. U-4128 adopting, on an interim basis, the following Emergency Electrical Procedures:

EMERGENCY ELECTRICAL PROCEDURES

Emergency procedures may be necessary due to a shortage in available electrical energy generating capacity necessary to meet the demand of Applicants' customers caused by shortage or interruption of supply of fuels for electrical energy generation, unavailability of firm or stand-by power from interconnected electrical networks, short-term shortages of generating capacity caused by temporary equipment failure, anticipated excessive peak demand or severe weather occurrences, long-term outages or reduction in actual operating levels of generating capacity caused by equipment failure, or short-term excessive peak demand caused by extended weather excesses.

Shortages may be short-term in duration (a few hours) or long-term in duration (more than a few hours). Appropriate procedures shall be implemented depending upon the nature and duration of the shortage.

Emergency procedures shall not apply, unless absolutely necessary, to essential health and safety services such as law enforcement agencies, fire stations, hospitals, essential home-life support equipment, water pumping plants, sewage treatment and disposal facilities and mass communication media services.

In all circumstances requiring the implementation of emergency procedures, the public shall be immediately advised through the appropriate media sources.

In addition to daily reports to the Commission covering estimated and actual peak demand, reserve capacity and fuel status, when it is determined that there will exist for the next following day a predicted net reserve for the Michigan electric coordinated systems of less than 500 megawatts, Consumers Power and Detroit Edison shall by noon of the day of determination confer by telephone with the Commission Staff. In addition, Consumers Power and Detroit Edison shall immediately advise the Commission of the nature, time and duration of all implemented emergency action and shall advise the Commission concurrent with the termination of all emergency conditions and procedures. The Commission may order the implementation of additional procedures or the termination of the procedures previously employed when circumstances so require.

As may be appropriate in accordance with the nature of the occurring emergency, Detroit Edison and Consumers Power shall initiate the following procedures:

1. Sudden or Unanticipated Short-Term Capacity Shortages in Edison-Consumers Service Area:

In the event of a sudden decline of the frequency on the ECAR system or a sudden breakup which isolates all or parts of the Consumers-Edison Area from other electric systems with which it is interconnected and which results in the area so isolated being deficient in electric generation, with consequent rapid decline in frequency:

- Automatic load shedding will take place if the decline in frequency is of a magnitude such as to jeopardize the entire Consumers-Edison Area. Ten percent of the area load will be shed automatically at a frequency of 59.3 hertz, followed by an additional fifteen percent of the area load at a frequency of 58.9 hertz as set forth in ECAR Document No. 3 dated October 31, 1968:
- Service so interrupted shall be of selected distribution feeders throughout the Consumers-Edison Area. Such interruptions shall be, where practicable, for short periods of time.
- Insofar as the situation permits, service interruptions shall be in accordance with priority classifications, with interruptions to least essential loads occurring first; every reasonable effort will be made to provide continuous service to essential public facilities such as police stations, fire stations, hospitals, and plants for water pumping, sewerage treatment and sewerage disposal.
- If necessary to resynchronize the isolated area or to curtail the decline in frequency, the following steps will be taken in the order noted:
- Service will be interrupted to controlled service loads and to loads rendered service under interruptible tariffs.

(ii) Voltage will be reduced not more than six percent.

(iii) Manual load shedding of firm customer service loads and to loads rendered service under interruptible tariffs.

2. Anticipated or Predictable Short-Term Capacity Shortages in Edison-Consumers Service Area:

In the event of an emergency condition of short-term duration which can be anticipated or is predictable in nature and which cannot be relieved by sources of generation within or outside the Consumers-Edison Area, the following steps will be taken in the order noted:

- The internal demand of generating plants and other premises owned by Consumers Power Company and The Detroit Edison Company will be reduced to the largest extent consistent with the maintenance of service.
- Service will be interrupted to controlled service loads and to loads rendered service under interruptible tariffs.
- Voltage will be reduced not more than six percent.
- Voluntary load reductions will be requested of large commercial and industrial customers.
- Voluntary load reductions will be requested of all other customers.
- Manual load shedding of firm customer loads will be initiated. Service so interrupted shall be of selected distribution feeders throughout the Consumers-Edison Area. Such interruptions shall be consistent with the criteria of Item 1.(a) (ii) and shall, insofar as practicable, be alternated among circuits. Records will be maintained to insure that during subsequent capacity shortages service interruptions may be rotated throughout the Consumers-Edison Area in an equitable manner.

3. Capacity Shortages in Neighboring Control Areas:

- Firm service to customers in the Consumers-Edison Area shall not be interrupted in order to provide emergency service to suppliers of electric energy in neighboring interconnected control areas outside the State of Michigan. Emergency assistance to such suppliers shall be limited to the following steps in the order noted and no such assistance will be given unless agreed to be provided on a reciprocal basis by such supplier to Consumers Power Company and The Detroit Edison Company:
- Provide emergency assistance from idle or spinning reserve capacity in the Consumers-Edison Area, provided that the neighboring control area has, as nearly as practicable, utilized its own idle or spinning reserve capacity.
- Interrupt service to controlled service loads and to loads in the Consumers-Edison Area being rendered service under interruptible tariffs; provided, that the neighboring control area seeking assistance has already ceased service to its controlled service and interruptible loads.
- Reduce voltage within the Consumers-Edison Area not more than six percent; provided the neighboring control area seeking assistance has already exhausted all available supportive resources, including interruption of controlled service and interruptible loads and voltage reduction.
- The neighboring control area seeking assistance shall be requested to reduce its takings of electric energy if such takings endanger the reliability of bulk power supply in the Consumers-Edison Area. If such neighboring control area fails to reduce its takings and the reliability of bulk power supply in the Consumers-Edison Area is endangered, steps shall be taken to open appropriate interconnections to relieve the burden on the Consumers-Edison Area.

Anticipated, Predictable or Actual Long-Term Capacity Shortages in Edison-Consumers Service Areas:

In the event of emergency conditions of long-term duration caused by fuel shortages or long-term outages of major generation units which cannot be relieved by sources of generation within or outside of the Edison-Consumers Service Area, the following steps shall be implemented in the order noted. In all circumstances requiring the implementation of these procedures the public shall be immediately advised through the appropriate media sources. These actions shall be implemented until it is determined by Detroit Edison and Consumers Power and confirmed by the Commission Staff that any or all actions may be terminated.

(a) Company Curtailment

Implement procedures for mandatory curtailment of nonessential energy usage on premises controlled by Consumers Power and Detroit Edison including all parking and large area lighting and reduced interior lighting levels and other uses of energy both during and outside normal business hours.

(b) Governmental Curtailment

Implement procedures for mandatory curtailment of nonessential energy usage on premises controlled by governmental units.

(c) Voluntary Conservation

Request voluntary energy conservation of all customers by:

- Direct contact of customers with an electric demand of 500 kW or higher and request them to implement their voluntary electric energy conservation programs.
 - Appeal to all other customers by mass communications media.
 - Mandatory Lighting Curtailment
- Implement procedures for mandatory curtailment of lighting by all commercial and industrial customers as follows:
- At least half of parking or large area lighting while open to the public and all such lighting at other times.
 - All lighting for the purpose of attracting the public's attention or for the purpose of decorating a premise except for limited customer identification during after-dark business hours.
 - All display lighting used to illuminate goods, products and services except during after-dark business hours.

Lack of compliance by a customer to these mandatory curtailments is just cause for a total discontinuance of his service.

(e) Nonresidential Curtailment

Implement procedures for mandatory curtailment of electric service to all nonresidential customers to a level specified by the Company, such level to be not less than 90 percent of the customer's monthly base period use, which is defined to be the customer's usage during the corresponding monthly billing cycle of the twelve-month billing period ended December 31, 1973. Customers served under rate schedules with capacity charge provisions shall also reduce their billing demands to the specified level in accordance with the above mandatory curtailment provision. Kilowatt-hour usage in excess of the specified level will be subject to an excess use charge of ten cents per kilowatt-hour in addition to the regular rate under which service is supplied. Billing demands in excess of the specified level will be subject to an excess use charge of $10.00 per kilowatt in addition to the regular rate under which service is supplied.

(f) Interruption of Selected Distribution Circuits Including Residential Service

Implement procedures for interruption of selected distribution circuits on a rotational basis in accordance with specified load reduction amounts minimizing interruption to facilities which are essential to the public health and safety. Interruption shall not occur on any selected circuit for more than 4 hours in any 24-hour period without prior notification to the Commission.

(g) Voltage Reduction

Reduce voltage by 6 percent during peak load periods if generating capacity is a factor in the emergency. Detroit Edison and Consumers Power upon implementation of Part 4 of these procedures may reduce voltage at the appropriate time in accordance with this section when necessary to maintain the integrity of the generation system.

In its Order issued January 28, 1974, in Case No. U-4128, the Commission also directed that Consumers Power, Detroit Edison and all other interested parties shall show cause at 9:30 AM on February 21, 1974 in the offices of the Commission, 5th Floor, Law Building—corner of Ottawa and Pine Streets, Lansing, Michigan—48913, and at such times subsequent thereto as the Commission may deem necessary, why the Emergency Electrical Procedures described above should not be permanently adopted.

An abandoned farmhouse by Richard Rumppe

It's predicted that by 1980 only 8.8 per cent of Wisconsin's total population will be farmers. This is difficult to realize when we think of Wisconsin's traditional agricultural reputation.

It's not known why this home was abandoned. The possibilities are many. A crop failure many years ago may have caused the farmer to pack up and leave. He might have become too old to do the hard work required by the farming profession. Whatever the reason, the people that lived here picked up and left taking only their personal possessions.

We get the feeling that the former owners had a modest elaborateness about them. This is suggested by the design in the old door handle.

One's imagination can run wild while walking through the house. Why did the lady of the house not take the mop with her when she left? It seems good enough to use yet.

Why was the frying pan left? Was it worn out? Or was it just forgotten? We wonder if the man of the house hated to give up the old shoe when worn, knowing it was just becoming comfortable.

The people who lived here probably homesteaded this farm after coming over from the old country as this is how most of the farms in western Wisconsin were settled. It is likely that the wood cut, while clearing the land, was used to build the house. Yes, there are many questions I would like to ask the old farmhouse, if it could only talk. But it can't so I'll never know the answers to my questions.

It's sad to see Wisconsin's small farms failing. But I think I see one of the overlooked reasons for it. The cities have better careers to offer the farm-raised young people. After all, farm work has long hours, hard work and poor pay.

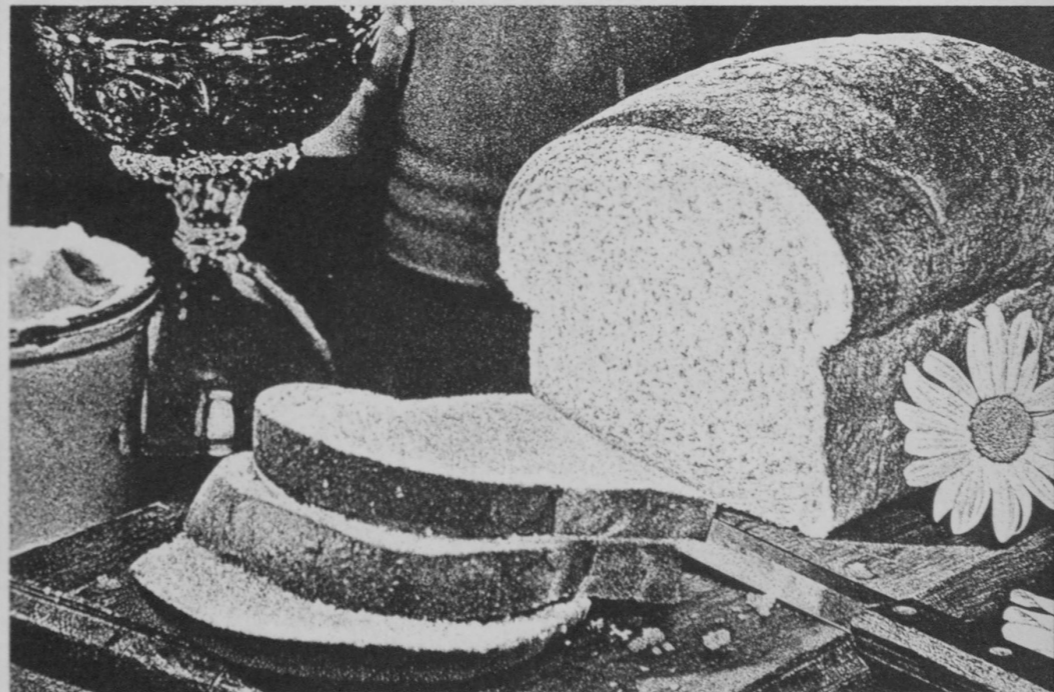

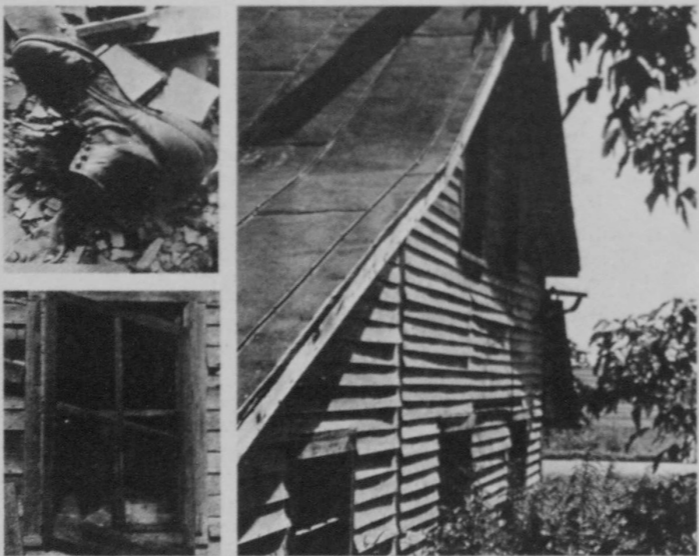

The counties of Dane, Milwaukee, and Racine have all gained population in recent years, while basically farming counties such as Richland and Monroe have lost people. This seems to point to the fact that the young people are leaving the farm and moving to the urban areas.

I see myself as an example of this. Even if a young person wants to start farming, if he wasn't raised on a farm, he can't afford to get started. The money needed to buy the modern machinery needed for present day agricultural methods is too much for a young person to lay his hands on.

The only hope the small farm system has in the State of Wisconsin is in the farm-raised youth who choose to stay on the farms their fathers and grandfathers have already established.

It's economical!

Our Sunbeam Cook 'n' Clean Cradle.

We put it underneath for one of the reasons we put Teflon II inside.

You know how Teflon II keeps food and grease from sticking when you cook on it. So it washes clean and fast, easily.

But what about the underside of your frypan? It's not protected at all. So the grease and food spatter gets baked-on. More and more every time you use it.

That's why Sunbeam has introduced the Cook 'n' Clean Cradle. A metal shield that helps keep the grease from baking on, because it's enamel coated. So your frypan washes clean and fast, even in the dishwasher.

Test fry the Sunbeam Frypan. In overall Avocado, Harvest Gold or Red porcelain finish. All with Teflon II inside and the Cook 'n' Clean Cradle underneath. Only Sunbeam has it.

Sunday Suppers

by Sherry Onken

Great Grandmother's heavy iron soup pot atop her black wood-fired stove meant there'd be a fine kettle of soup for supper. On fall and wintry days what could be more welcome!

Don't underestimate the compatibility of a "Souper" Sunday Supper featuring a meal-in-one soup accompanied by flakey, crisp crackers or hot breads. Soup and hot breads are still the happiest partners in creation. And, a hearty feast like this means a partial kitchen holiday for the chief cook and bottle washer.

Soup, a natural show-off, is as elegant as its service — and ladled from a handsome tureen, it provides the spark for Sunday suppers. Paired with crackers and hot breads, this supper requires only a simple salad and dessert to entice the entire family.

Who's Chilly? Winter Ice

By Wally E. Schulz

Wayne Byars, in charge of the sheriff's department recovery team, is often called upon to recover bodies lost under the ice

Carol Jacobsen of Lake Geneva and Bill Ehrhardt, Jr., of Elkhorn, Wisconsin are both certified instructors in the sport of scuba diving. They enjoy diving through the ice during the long, cold winter months, too.

In fact, they have found it exciting and rewarding in locating lost snowmobiles, cars, boats, motors and other treasures from the depths of the ice covered lakes in the area.

"We wear neoprene suits with thermal underwear beneath which gives us the same weight as a suit of clothes," said Carol. "But we feel more restricted in them. We wear weights on a waist belt of from four to 15 pounds. There is also a buoyancy safety vest which allows a person to float on the surface should he run out of air."

Diving equipment usually costs $125, but can reach $600 easily for those who use an underwater sled. Strapped to a diver's back are 35 pound cylinders of compressed air which last between 15 and 20 minutes, depending upon how hard a person is working in the water.

In descents in area lakes, especially during the winter, anchor lines are used between the point of entry and the bottom. Attached to it are the safety lines connected to the divers.

"It becomes very dark and even with a waterproof auto headlight on a 150 foot cord, the illumination is only some six or seven feet ahead."

HOE BETWEEN PLANTS AND ROWS... no more back breaking labor... self-propelled hoeing machine... depth adjustable... thousands in use... year warranty. Factory discount... month trial... time payments. FREE literature. AUTO HOE, INC., De Pere 20 Wis. 54115.

In trying to locate an object, full circles are made at 10 foot intervals until a radius of 100 feet has been investigated. Hand signals are used to communicate between divers.

All the divers admitted that it's dark and eerie down in the water, and it's no place for anyone easily frightened. They say the fish seem to adopt them in the water and often swim nearby apparently unafraid. They become magnified down in the water and look larger than they are.

On bright summer days the visibility is much better in the water and they can enjoy the fish and the beauty of the lake bottom to better advantage.

Wayne Byars of Elkhorn is in charge of the sheriff's department recovery team and he often dives with Miss Jacobsen and the Ehrhardts through the ice in winter. He helped to recover six bodies from lakes in the county last year.

"I'll never forget one dead man I located trapped in his car," said Byars. "I had been diving for him and then suddenly in the dark, eerie water my light fell upon the dark object of the car. As I played the light toward the driver's seat, there he sat. His hands were gripping the steering wheel and his head cocked toward me and still in place upon his nose were his glasses."

The sight was one this veteran diver couldn't seem to forget. For three nights he dreamed about that diving operation.

"The water is always dark and eerie when you're searching for a body," said Byars. "It's another world at a time like that."

One winter day they were asked to recover a lost snowmobile in Lake Geneva. The machine went down in one of the deep parts of the lake referred to as "The Narrow." Folks fear that spot and a shroud of mystery clouds it. Some bodies never were recovered from the area.

"We had to make two separate dives to locate it," said Carol. "We finally found it in 85 feet of water. We all experienced trouble with our diving gear icing up."

When the divers come out of the water, the water often freezes to their suits and they have to scrape off the ice. It won't melt when they get into the water again. They have to be careful of breathing in little particles of ice which can cause frost bite of the lungs and put them in a hospital for three weeks.

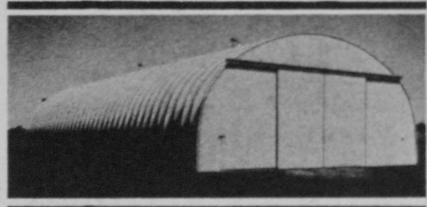

"Each time we cut a hole in the ice and make a dive we put our flag up to indicate there are diving operations in progress," said Carol. "In summer we have many boaters come dangerously close to us at times. They could easily kill a diver in the water nearby. Wisconsin law says they must stay 50 feet away from a diving boat of divers."

The diving flag is red in color with a wide, white diagonal stripe that cuts across it. Many people are unfamiliar with its appearance.

A snowmobile owned by one of the diving members comes in real handy in pulling the sleds laden with diving equipment to the diving area on the lake

Divining

Lake Geneva is the second deepest lake in the State of Wisconsin and the Department of National Resources puts out maps of the lakes which reveal how deep they are at all spots.

An interesting fact that Wisconsin divers learn is that lost articles in the lake are not their legal property. "The open water statute of limitations says the legal ownership goes back to the original owner," said Ehrhardt. "We can charge salvage diving operations, however, which makes our job worthwhile. Diving for lost items through the ice is a thrilling experience."

More than once they've become so chilled in the icy depths of the lake that they've had to return to the heated van to warm up.

Carol Jacobsen and Bill Ehrhardt, Jr. both attended the Loyola Academy of Chicago to become certified instructors. Carol said she had always loved to swim and was a water safety instructor at the UW-River Falls while attending classes. She also worked at the Elkhorn municipal pool and helped coach a city team.

Ehrhardt said his father is a scuba enthusiast and often dives with him in the lakes around the county. He holds a master and certified rating. His young brother Dale, 12, also is a scuba diver with more than 50 dives to his credit.

"Divers from warm climates would find it an exciting experience to dive through the ice covered lakes of the area," said Carol. "Folks look at us mystified in our diving suits as they stand with their teeth chattering. They're dressed in warm snowsuits and they're still cold. They don't see how we can stand the cold winter temperatures in our diving suits. I'll admit, sometimes we get pretty cold, but it's an exciting winter sport, too."

Grassroots Cleanings

The Sibley (Iowa) Gazette says, "If you see good in everybody you may be an optimist . . . then again you may be nuts."

The following is from The Houston (Mo.) Herald:
A mother asked her little daughter what they did at the party. The child replied that they had sung the "refrigerator song."
Puzzled, the mother asked how the song went. Replied the youngster, "Oh, you know, Mother . . . 'Freeze a jolly good fellow!'"

According to The Manning (Iowa) Monitor it isn't the good old days a bachelor fears he'll miss if he marries—it's the good old nights.

The Sisseton (S.D.) Courier says, "There aren't any new sins—the old ones are just getting better coverage."

"Who said the American dollar isn't worth anything anymore?" asks the New Ulm (Minn.) Daily Journal. "It has replaced the old fashioned nickel."

The Sandusky (Mich.) Republican-Tribune says, "One of the first things one notices in a 'backward country' is that children are still obeying their parents."

"All the world loves a lover, except when he is driving a car in heavy traffic," says the Huntingburg (Ind.) Independent.

According to The Colman (S.D.) Argus the worst poverty is not living in a small house; it is living in a small world.

The Colton (S.D.) Courier says, "Some people grow with authority—others just swell."

"An optimist is a middleaged man who thinks the cleaner is shrinking his pants," claims the Winner (S.D.) Advocate.

There was a $3 bill!

by Grover Brinkman

Howard Mayes, a curator at the Docker Historical Museum at Old Shawneetown, Illinois, is holding up a reproduction of several of the old bills distributed by the bank.

As phony as a three dollar bill? You've heard the expression many times. This writer admits to being guilty of using this old cliché as well, dramatizing some bit of action in a story.

This is his solemn promise that it will never happen again!

There was a three dollar bill! A very legitimate one, too!

This odd-denomination currency was issued in southern Illinois, at the First Territorial Bank of Old Shawneetown. Some of the old bills are still in existence, as well. The crumbling building is a ruin near the Ohio River levee, awaiting restoration as a historic landmark.

There was also a four dollar bill, a six, seven, eight and nine dollar bill, unbelievable as it sounds today.

Even our recently-withdrawn two dollar bill is a collectors' item, but how would you like to paw through a billfold containing the above mentioned odd currency in paying a bill at the supermarket or garage?

The forefathers of our present currency system evidently had a far different viewpoint relative to this old-time paper money.

Whenever the question of finances arises in any discussion today, someone is always ready to point out that we have a constantly shrinking dollar, which is true, presenting a problem to the man who brings home his paycheck each fortnight. But this problem recedes quickly when posed against some of the early money problems in pioneer Illinois.

These problems were brought about by several factors, particularly by the absence of "hard money" on the frontier. Silver and gold coins were so hard to come by in these early days that Spanish milled dollars, called Pieces of Eight, were legal tender in many Illinois frontier banks.

As one historian reminds, a southern Illinois bank, lucky enough to obtain two silver dollars during a day of hectic banking, put them on display as curiosities. So rare was the event.

To provide a medium of exchange, for trade or barter, banks had to issue their own currency such as the odd-denomination notes from the bank at Old Shawneetown, mentioned here.

These "shin-plasters" were issued in many denominations no longer in use today. The notes were supposed to be backed by "hard" money, silver or gold, but frequently they were not. Many of these early banks issued as many as four and five times as many notes as they could redeem in hard currency. Some of these beautifully engraved bills also were issued on banks that never even existed, an out-and-out fraud. Today, these "counterfeits" are highly prized by numismatists all over the globe.

Merchants of course were those hardest hit by this type of money. When offered in trade, they could never be sure whether it was the real thing or fictitious. Even some of the legitimate notes had to be discounted.

So bitter became the competition among early banks that one bank would gather all the currency it could on some other nearby bank, then present it in a bundle, in an attempt to "break" the competing institution.

The bank at Old Shawneetown survived several of these "runs" on its currency by one of its rivals, the Bank of Edwardsville, about a hundred miles distant. Later the two banks patched up their differences and began sending each other's notes as far away as possible, in an attempt to stabilize their own economy.

The U. S. Government finally ended this wild-cat currency by issuing a federal bank note, which was slow in being accepted, viewed with suspicion by many, but finally able to stand on its own merits.

In frontier days, the First Territorial Bank of Old Shawneetown issued three, four, six, seven, eight and nine dollar bills. Notice how souvenir hunters have pulled bricks from the walls in the lower right corner of the picture.

"Sure, a water softener saves you money. Ask a Lindsay Lady..."

Joyce Siefering, Home Economist - Homemaker Schools

"I've made this demonstration to homemakers at least 100 times. Try it yourself. Just take a jar of soft water and one of hard water. Add 10 drops of liquid soap to each. Shake and look at the difference! There are absolutely no suds in the jar of hard water. Depending on water hardness, it can take 3 to 9 times more soap to equal the suds in the soft water. Think of the savings on soap alone plus the time it takes to clean soap scum from pans and dishes!"

Ask a Lindsay Lady. For more information on how you save cleaning time, save on detergents and household cleansers and save salt, ask one of the hundreds of thousands of Lindsay Ladies now using a Lindsay softener. Or ask the Lindsay Lady[®] your water conditioning counselor, at your dealer. Look for him in the Yellow Pages.

This is the handsome Lindsay Imperial model. Self-contained, completely automatic. No tanks to be replaced by a service man.

Additional economy. Your Lindsay dealer will "fine-tune" the Salt-Saver[®] control to minimize salt consumption.
