

TA School Bus Expense to Exceed Budget by Spring

Despite the elimination of seven bus runs from its daily schedule, the higher cost of gasoline to operate buses during the current energy crunch is expected to cause a transportation budget deficiency of $50,000 for Tawas Area School at the end of the 1973-74 term.

Supt. Edward J. Barry told members of the board of education Monday night that the higher gasoline cost and resulting budget deficiency does not leave adequate funds to purchase new school buses under the replacement schedule.

As the result of this new development, bus bids now being considered by the board of education have been tabled for further study and the board's transportation committee will study the possibility of a bus-leasing program.

In addition, the board of education will study performance by buses to determine maintenance expenses of each brand in the present fleet before making any decision. Depending on the outcome of that study, it could mean that the low bidder would not be awarded a contract for new buses.

When bus bids were opened in December, several firms listed leasing plans as a possible alternate to purchase by the school. Several school districts now lease buses because of a savings in maintenance costs and an earlier bus replacement schedule.

Barry said that the cost of gasoline to the school had increased from 14.1 cents per gallon last year to 32.1 cents at the present time. He said that the federal government seemed reluctant to get involved in gasoline price control and "all indications point to another jump in the price next month."

The superintendent said that billing for gasoline appeared to be on a regional or state level rather than at the local level. He said that of five invoices for gasoline received on the same day, four listed the cost at 32.1 cents per gallon while the cost listed on the fifth invoice was 24.8 cents per gallon.

Barry said it was a strange turn of events—just a year ago, several firms were bidding for our gasoline business—now we are at their mercy." He said that the local distributor cannot be blamed as prices are set by the oil companies.

Four Injured When Trucks Hit on US-23

A 29-year-old Tawas City man remained in critical condition at Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital following a two-truck crash Friday morning on US-23 near the Keystone Road intersection, Alabaster Township.

Sustaining multiple head and chest injuries in the crash was L. Ronald Souts of 415 Wilber Road, an employee of Alpena Candy and Cigar Company, Tawas City.

Admitted to Tawas Hospital with injuries sustained in the collision were John E. Herrick, 51, East Tawas; his wife, Betty, 49, and their daughter, Deborah, nine years of age.

Investigating Michigan State Police from East Tawas said that Souts apparently lost control of a panel truck and skidded across the center line to collide with a south-bound pickup truck being driven by Herrick.

Fred Kaiser Injured When Truck Hit Bridge

Fred Kaiser of North Kobs Road, Tawas City, sustained severe facial lacerations and leg injuries Saturday night when he lost control of his pickup truck and crashed into a concrete abutment at the Tawas River bridge, Bridge Street, East Tawas.

Investigating city police officers said that Kaiser was alone in the truck when the accident occurred. The truck apparently ran off the right side of the road before striking the bridge.

Kaiser was treated at Tawas Hospital and then transferred to St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw.

Joint Sewer Project Proposed

Sewer Feasibility Study Seems Certain

Representatives of three local units of government—East Tawas, Tawas City and Baldwin Township—indicated Thursday night that they planned to go ahead with a feasibility study concerning a proposed joint waste water treatment facility for the area.

Tawas and Alabaster Township representatives attending the meeting said that a decision on possible participation by those two units could not be made until meetings of township boards in early February.

The study and report will cost $6,000, which would be pro-rated among participating units of government on the basis of population to be served. A tentative split of the cost called for $2,000 assessments for East Tawas and Tawas City, $1,000 for Baldwin Township and $500 each for Alabaster and Tawas Townships.

Spicer Engineering would assume responsibility for East Tawas' portion of the project and Edmands Engineering, consultant for Tawas City and Baldwin Township, would assume responsibility for the balance of the study and report in cooperation with Spicer.

Content of the study would include a determination of the service area and design population, an update of existing reports for Tawas City and East Tawas, determination of the feasibility of combining treatment between the two cities and adding certain portions of adjacent townships into the program which show development tendencies. The report would include cost estimates, an outline of methods to finance the total cost, an outline of methods for collecting and transporting waste water to a treatment facility and recommendation on common operating authority or agency.

Although the feasibility study would not be started for another 30 days and probably would not be completed until late summer, officials attending the session held at the East Tawas City Hall were generally favorable toward formation of a sewer authority. It would develop joint sewage treatment facilities to serve the East Tawas, Tawas City and Baldwin areas, as well as adjoining portions of Tawas and Alabaster Townships.

A number of points were discussed which stressed the need for community-wide planning in sewage treatment, as well as possibly taking a look at future expansion of water service.

One of the major reasons favoring an area project was summed up by engineering consultants attending the meeting, who said that the area would be in a better position to obtain federal financial aid with one joint project rather than with several smaller projects.

"My experience has been that federal and state agencies look most favorably on establishment of such joint facilities," stated Otto Schiesswohl of Spicer Engineering. Harry Bacon of Edmands Engineering agreed and said that federal agencies, in recent years, had placed more and more emphasis on combining projects where practical.

Harry Rapson, Alabaster Township supervisor, and LaVerne Koepke, Tawas Township supervisor, felt that it would be some years before those two townships would be faced with the necessity of sanitary sewer disposal. Both believed, however, that the area approach being considered was the proper way to plan for the future.

Richter Lixey, Baldwin Township supervisor, said it was Baldwin's position to cooperate in the study, especially since that unit had already expended money in engineering and legal fees in an attempt to obtain federal funds to assist with construction of a sewer extension to serve the industrial park.

Although all portions of the adjoining townships would not be benefited immediately by joint sanitary sewer facilities due to the wide expanse of area to be served, it was stressed that industrial development, which has taken place here in the past three to four years, is important to these units as well as to other areas of the county because of the employment furnished at the Tawas Area Industrial Development Corporation's industrial park in Baldwin Township and the industrial park in Tawas City.

Mayor John Brugger emphasized that recent development of industry was a community-wide benefit and that sanitary sewer service was necessary for continued development of industrial parks in the area. He said the "door was being opened" through this proposal to development of the entire area.

Mayor Robert Bolen said that while participation in the feasibility study would not commit any unit to the joint undertaking, he felt that the ultimate goal was to establish an authority to handle needs of the entire area, not only for sewer service but for water, too. "We are definitely going ahead with the feasibility study," said Bolen. "The question is who is going with us."

Wilbur C. Roach, chairman of the county planning commission, said that development of a sanitary sewer system to serve the entire area was important because of inadequate drainage throughout the area. He said the health department had denied septic tanks in several sections of the county and an adequate sewer system was important to future development.

Brent Babcock Named Asst. Prosecutor

Brent R. Babcock, a native of Tawas City, was appointed Monday as assistant prosecuting attorney for Iosco County. The appointment was made by Ronald Tyler, prosecuting attorney, and the oath of office was administered by Circuit Judge Alan C. Miller.

Babcock succeeds Timothy K. Weaver, who had held the position since December 12 and resigned to return to private practice with Kenneth Myles, Tawas City attorney.

Both men were admitted to practice law on December 12 after successfully passing the Michigan Bar examination.

School Studying Data Furnished by State Assessment Test Program

Administrators and teachers of Tawas Area School are now studying results of the Michigan assessment testing program for 1973-74, which is given to all fourth and seventh graders in the state's public schools.

Paul Hay, counselor, reported to the board of education Monday night that tests have been corrected and data processed by the department of education.

This testing program has often proven controversial in past years when results were announced in daily newspapers and school districts were compared under a percentile rating. Test results were abused by school districts, in some cases, when data was used as a measuring weapon in comparison of achievement of students.

Since all districts of the state are different in financial and social economic structures, comparing districts was a dangerous and often unfair practice, said Hay.

This year, percentiles formerly listed as the measurement for data gained in the testing have been replaced by "performance objectives." Instead of testing skills for an entire subject, students are now tested in 45 basic skills of mathematics and 23 skills in reading.

As the result of this change, a comparison between schools in different areas of the state is almost an impossibility. However, schools so desiring may communicate with each other in order to make comparisons and make an analysis of programs in order to determine what factors lead to higher test scores in different districts.

Master lists of the results of the testing programs are made available to administrators and teachers. Individual reports will be given to seventh grade students to take home to parents and a copy will be placed in each student's file. Results of fourth grade pupils are to be retained by the school.

Hay said that the purpose of the testing program was for schools to seek out and correct individual and curriculum deficiencies. "It should also help parents to more accurately measure expectation levels for their children," he stated.

In other business Monday night, Robert McDonald, middle school principal, announced that a total of 41 subjects was now being offered to grades six through eight during the second semester.

As a comparison of the curriculum change since adoption of the split session last fall, only 12 subjects were being offered during 1972-73 when junior high school students attended classes at the same time as the high school.

At the start of the split session program in the fall of 1973, when grades six through eight were combined into a middle school with afternoon classes, a total of 25 subjects were offered due to the increase in available facilities.

McDonald commented that students and teachers were pleased with the improved curriculum. The latest expansion includes offerings in advanced classes.

John Alexander, high school principal, announced that the Northern B Conference was considering an increase in ticket costs for athletic events from $1.25 to $1.50 for adults. The current 75-cent ticket charge

TA Board Decides Against Later Starting Time

Feeling that the only alternatives open would actually cause further complications to its already tight bus schedule, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night decided it would not change the starting time for classes—despite several protests received from parents, who complained of the safety factor involved in having elementary students walking along highways before daylight.

With national adoption of daylight savings time, coupled with the split session adopted here at the start of the 1973-74 term as a means of relieving overcrowded conditions, both secondary and elementary students arrive at school before daylight.

According to a six-week schedule provided by a federal agency, under daylight savings time sunrise on January 7 was 9:10 a. m. On February 25, the sunrise will be at 8:19 a. m.

Several parents recommended that the school start an hour later but, due to the fact that the high school starts classes at 6:45 a. m., there would be a one-hour layover for 11 bus drivers if the elementary program started one hour later at 9:45 a. m.

With the middle school being dismissed at 5:15 p. m., it is necessary that elementary grades be dismissed one hour and 30 minutes before that time to allow buses to return for middle school transportation. Administrators say that 3:45 p. m. would be the absolute latest time that elementary grades could be released.

Complicating all of the scheduling is the fact that the state requires 900 hours of instruction per term. This would mean that the latest that classes could start in the morning would be 9:15 a. m. and still retain bus schedules. Kindergarten children return home with the high school and a 9:15 a. m. starting time would shorten the day too much, unless a separate bus run was adopted for the kindergarten.

The only other alternative would be to move all school starting times one hour later. This schedule would cause some conflict with the athletic program and adult education.

Trustee Carl B. Babcock Jr. commented that changing school starting times would "goof up the schedule" of working mothers and many more complaints would probably be received.

The board of education felt that moving the starting time to one-half hour later for elementary grades would hardly prove worthwhile inasmuch as the time for sunrise will correct the problem in six weeks.

AN ADULT CROSSING GUARD assists children to board a waiting bus at Tawas City Elementary Unit. Mrs. Norma Worsham, transportation director, right, said that every effort was being

being unloaded at the school. Several complaints have been received by the board of education concerning children walking to school in the dark.—Tawas Herald Photo.

TODAYS Meditation

The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

(Read Ephesians 1:3-10)

Remember that you were slaves in Egypt and the Lord your God redeemed you. (Deuteronomy 15:15)

The Bible word, redeemed, has the meaning of a slave serving someone not his legal master. It implies, however, that his real master buys him back at great personal cost.

A missionary story beautifully illustrates the cost to God of our personal redemption. During the regrettable days of the slave trade, a translator was told that the only equivalent for the word redeemed in a native language was the phrase "took his neck out." This was meaningless until he was told that it came from occasions when long lines of persons to be enslaved were being marched to the coast for transportation overseas. Each one had his neck placed in a yoke of restraint. If, in passing through some village, a slave found a relative or friend who would pay the going price, that slave could be freed and "his neck taken out."

How this graphic picture depicts the narrow escape all believers are granted as faith in Christ "takes their neck out" from the yoke of sin and death!

PRAYER

Our Father and our God, forgive us for our forgetfulness. Remind us of the wonder of our faith, the great cost of our redemption. Amen.

The new Bibles that don't look much like Bibles: They're made of denim, feature photos . . . and appeal to youth.

You Can't Always Tell A Bible By It's Cover

By Clarence E. Duncan

People used to buy the Bible in record numbers just because they thought every home ought to have one. Today the best seller is still the Bible, but it's because more people than ever are reading and studying it—especially the young.

A lot of things have been done to improve circulation, from cloaking the Good Book in blue denim to selling it in a variety of flavors—strawberry, licorice, vanilla, etc.—all aimed at reaching the contemporary youth. But the biggest boost has been the by-product of making the Bible easier to understand and to read. In the long run this has attracted by far the largest number of young readers.

Of course, that's what William Tyndale had in mind when he brought out the first printed English New Testament—to make it available to the folks who weren't able to read it. So it's really no coincidence that the fastest selling Bible on the market today—"The Living Bible"—is published by a company called Tyndale House, which recently ran its 12-millionth copy of the press. Thus, while the Thomas Nelson Co. has its slogan "Nelson Bibles are bound to be better," and finds blue denim its hottest cover, Tyndale House has its "Living Bible" listed in Publishers Weekly magazine as the best selling non-fiction book of 1972.

Young people continue to have a lot to do with the rise in Bible sales—up 20 per cent across the board this year. They're starting Bible study groups in ever-increasing numbers and providing the challenge to their elders to follow their lead.

"The Living Bible" is a paraphrased translation which has changed many of the conventional patterns of Bible distribution and reading. Tyndale House maintains, however, that it has taken its share of the Bible market from the mass of people who yearn to understand what the Book is saying to them.

Tyndale puts out a full paperback Bible called "The Way." Each book of this Bible is introduced with contemporary photographs of young people, coupled with relevant comments. For instance, Ecclesiastes is prefaced by a photograph of a young woman standing by a souped-up Volkswagen.

New Testament versions of "The Living Bible" include one for young people called "Reach Out," and one for blacks, called "Soul Food." Each utilizes the photographs and pertinent copy which makes it a book of practical use.

The next market "The Living Bible" will try for is women. Paul Mouw, advertising manager for Tyndale, pointed out that "women control most of the money and they're interested in passing on the faith to their children."

"The Living Bible" got off to a slow start 11 years ago, with practically everybody predicting it wouldn't sell. Then Billy Graham decided to use it on his television show as a free offer. It's been going great ever since, and is a big item in J.C. Penney stores, Macy's and many other secular outlets.

Clarence E. Duncan is Promotion Director of the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission, and is a widely read religion writer.

East Tawas Council Hired Roach as New City Assessor

Wilbur C. Roach was hired as East Tawas' new city assessor at a special meeting of the city council Thursday night. He had been hired earlier in the week as Tawas City's assessing officer.

Roach, active in county affairs as a long-time member of the planning commission and airport manager, has qualified for a class II level certificate with the state tax commission, which is necessary to handle duties of the assessing officer.

The new city assessor for the Tawas will provide service formerly furnished by the county tax equalization department. The two units had contracted with the county to handle this work, but following the deaths of Henry Oates and Deloise (Dewey) Durant of the tax equalization office, the board of commissioners directed that local units provide their own assessing services.

One of Roach's principal duties at East Tawas in the near future will be to handle work on a special assessment district to finance purchase of and development of a city parking lot.

It was announced Thursday night that the special assessment roll for the district is now on display at the city clerk's office and a public hearing is to be held Thursday, February 7, 7:30 p. m., at the East Tawas City Hall.

Mayor Robert Bolen said that the city is to appoint two disinterested persons to serve on the special assessment board.

Illia Laidlaw, Retired OA Teacher, Dies

A retired Oscoda Area School teacher, Illia B. Laidlaw of Tawas Township, 65, was dead on arrival at Tawas Hospital after suffering a heart attack at her home Monday, January 14. The Rev. Kenneth Tousey will officiate at funeral services Thursday, January 17, 2:00 p. m., at Tawas United Methodist Church, East Tawas. Burial will follow in Laidlaw Cemetery, Tawas Township. Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Moffatt-Kobs Funeral Home, East Tawas.

The former Illia Carter was born November 28, 1908, in Killmaster. She married Walter J. Laidlaw December 3, 1933, in Killmaster. He preceded her in death April 12, 1973. She had also been a teacher and principal at the Glennie School until its consolidation with Oscoda. She was a member of Twentieth Century Club and Tawas City Chapter No. 303, Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Latham (Brenda) Redding of Detroit and Mrs. Thomas (Nancy) Huck of Tawas City; three sons, Dr. William Laidlaw of Grand Rapids, Richard Laidlaw of East Tawas and Dr. James Laidlaw of Winchester, Virginia; 11 grandchildren; four sisters, Vera Johnson of Saginaw, Mary Rossow of Marine City, Ruth Adams and Ida Koenig of New Baltimore.

'Zero Draft' Saw Boards Registering Young Men

During 1973, the first full year of a "zero draft," Michigan's local boards registered 81,998 young men, according to Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director. The tentative registration totals for 1973 compare favorably with the 88,211 men registered in 1972 when selective service was supplying inductees to the armed forces. Men who have served in the armed forces are not now required to register.

Colonel Holmes commended the 720 volunteer registrars in Michigan schools and colleges who helped local boards register young men at age 18. While no inductions occurred in 1973, congress requires selective service to continue registration and classification and to maintain a standby operation capable of immediate operation in a national emergency.

Michigan registrants in the armed forces at the end of 1973 totaled 41,842, compared with 51,703 a year ago.

Initial enlistment of Michigan registrants also declined during the past year. Selective service records indicated 13,626 Michigan registrants enlisted in the armed forces in 1973 compared with 19,688 in 1972.

Selective service law requires that all males must register for the draft on their 18th birthday or within 30 days before or after that date. In addition, they must keep their draft boards informed of any changes in mailing addresses and must carry their draft cards with them until their liability expires, which for most men is at age 26.

Four Civil Suits

Seek $1,411,220

Four civil suits filed in Iosco Circuit Court seek combined damages totaling $1,411,220.

Elayne S. Bennett of Grose Pointe Park asks damages of $500,000 against the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. The plaintiff's claim is based on injuries sustained December 24, 1970, when she allegedly was struck by the electrically-operated front door of the store at East Tawas.

William J. Umphrey of Alcona County seeks damages of $541,000 against Tawas Hospital, a registered nurse, a manufacturer of hospital supplies and a hospital supply distributor. On May 8, 1973, Umphrey was admitted to the hospital's emergency room suffering from possible mushroom poisoning. There, he received an intravenous injection administered by Shirley Lustig, a registered nurse. The plaintiff claims that part of the needle broke off and remained in the vein of his right forearm, being removed later at St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw.

Herman L. Levi of Oscoda has filed an auto negligence suit against Kharla R. Houser and Robert S. Houser and asks a judgment of $20,000. Levi sustained injuries when struck from the rear by the Houser automobile on September 2, 1972, on Newman Street, East Tawas.

Duane Freel has filed an auto negligence suit against Harold D. Kern asking damages of $350,000. An employee of the Veterans Administration, Freel was a passenger in another car which was involved in a collision with the Kern vehicle when the latter backed from a private drive onto M-55 near the Plank Road intersection. The collision took place on January 17, 1971. The Veterans Administration seeks a judgment of $220 against Kern for medical and hospital treatment received by Freel.

The board of education gave its approval to purchase of a 16-station weight lifting machine for the physical education program. This machine will reduce the hazard to participants in weight lifting programs. It was stated that the unit will fit into the total community recreational program. Cost of the equipment is $3,161 and administrators are to contact organizations for possible donations to aid in the purchase.

A report on the school's expanded vocational curriculum was given by Mrs. Helen Payea, trustee. It was reported that six or eight committees are presently being formed to utilize citizen volunteers to give advice and direction in the training program.

The board of education granted leaves of absence to Mary Ann De-good, effective January 11, and to Mrs. Edith Earl, effective March 1. The former is the sixth grade language arts instructor and Mrs. Earl is a secretary. The board granted a two-week leave extension to Jeanne Reed, without pay. She is the new high school librarian and is presently hospitalized. She is to return to school on January 28.

The board of education continued its contract with Thomas Basil as the school's negotiator. Bargaining sessions with Tawas Area Education Association are to commence in February.

Supt. Edward J. Barry recommended that the board of education commence negotiations with the City of East Tawas for trading the school-owned athletic field on Newman Street to the city. It has been suggested that that portion of the former fairgrounds presently owned by the city be traded to the school in exchange for the athletic field.

Ernest Benedict, WWI Veteran, Died Jan. 14

Mr. Benedict was born December 10, 1890, in Baldwin Township. He retired as a farmer. He was a member of Andrew P. Klinger Barracks, World War I Veterans.

Surviving are his daughter, Mrs. Lois Hubbard of Tawas City; two grandchildren; a brother, Temple Benedict of Tawas City; two sisters, Mrs. May McKnight and Mrs. Laura Champlin, both of Tawas City.

Michigan State Police from East Tawas report that from 200 to 300 gallons of gasoline were stolen Thursday night or early Friday morning from a storage tank owned by VanNess Pipeline Company, located on First Street, Tawas City.

Under proposed Rule 13, the Company would construct single phase overhead distribution line extensions for permanent year-round dwellings at its own cost for a distance of 1,000 feet, of which no more than 250 feet is a lateral extension from the main line distribution feeder. Under present Rule 13, the Company will construct such extensions at its own cost for a distance of 2,400 feet. Under proposed Rule 13, the Company would construct single phase overhead distribution line extensions for permanent seasonal dwellings a distance of 200 feet, of which no more than 100 feet is a lateral extension from the main line distribution feeder. Under present Rule 13, the Company will construct such extensions at its own cost for a distance of 300 feet for permanent seasonal dwellings. Under proposed Rule 13, electric overhead distribution line extensions in excess of the proposed free allowances would require an advance deposit of $1.30 per lineal foot, plus a nonrefundable contribution for estimated tree trimming costs for such excess footage. Presently, Rule 13 requires an advance deposit of 40 cents per lineal foot for electric overhead distribution line extensions in excess of the free footage extension and does not require a contribution for tree trimming costs.

Under present Rule 13, the Company would construct single phase overhead electric distribution line extensions for commercial and industrial customers at the Company's own cost where the length of such an extension does not exceed five lineal feet of distribution line for each dollar of estimated annual revenue to be received from the customer or customers to be served. Rule 13 presently provides that extensions made beyond this free footage allowance require a deposit, in advance of construction, of 40 cents per lineal foot. Under proposed Rule 13, the Company would make such extensions without customer deposit when the cost thereof does not exceed three times the amount of estimated annual revenue to be received from the customer or customers to be immediately served when the extension is completed. Extensions in excess of this free allowance would require an advance deposit in the amount by which the estimated construction costs exceed the free allowance.

The Company proposes no change in the present treatment of overhead electric three phase extensions and primary extensions.

The Company also proposes to amend Rule 14(D), relating to its electric underground distribution extension policy.

Under proposed Rule 14(D), the Company would construct all electric underground distribution line extensions at its own cost when such cost (excluding transformers, services and meters) does not exceed three times the estimated annual revenue to be received from the customer or customers to be served when the extension is complete. Extensions in excess of this free allowance would require an advance deposit in the

Family Living Education

By HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

You have probably heard the story about the husband who was flat broke because his wife "saved" him so much money on "bargains." An old Swedish adage says it this way: "He who buys what he does not need steals from himself."

The point is the same, a bargain is only a bargain if you need the item. The real danger of sales is letting yourself buy something you do not need, will not be able to use or cannot afford right now just because it is "marked down."

One way to look at a "bargain" is to consider why the store is selling it for less. Stores have to clear out one season's merchandise to make room for the next. You end up storing out-of-season things instead of the merchant.

Another reason for sales is to clear out odds and ends. If a line of shoes or pantyhose or sweaters is down to a few sizes and colors, but it happens to be what you need and want, you are in luck.

Stores often mark down shop-worn or damaged merchandise. It is not usually advertised that way, so examine sales items carefully. A sweater faded from a window display may turn out to be no bargain, but a washable blouse with shelf soil may save you enough to be a real buy. Another reason for a sale is often to get you into the store so you may see something else you want.

It pays to be a sales sleuth. If you watch for real bargains, you may save as much as 10 percent on groceries. Because you can wait longer for clothes, you may often save 30 percent on clothing, 10 to 20 percent on appliances and up to 50 percent on seasonal merchandise.

Here are some smart shopper tips used by sales sleuths: You consider the time, energy and money costs of getting to the sale; you shop at the start of the sale for best selection; you are sure that the sale price is an actual reduction from the regular price; you watch for imperfect or damaged articles, usual quality; you will be sure to know if the store has a sale policy of "no refunds, no returns;" you will check styles for articles likely to go out of style which may be poor buys.

A wise shopper plans what she and her family need, stocks away some money in a savings fund and waits for honest-to-goodness bargains.

SCOTT, GRIFFIN, FORD CONFER—Vice Pres. Gerald R. Ford and US Sen. Robert P. Griffin discuss the status of major legislation in the senate with GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. Vice President Ford, in his new role as presiding officer of the senate, meets regularly with senate Democratic and Republican leaders.

Down Pinny, Braves to Meet Carrollton

After a brief warmup period in the opening quarter Friday night, Tawas Area Braves roared past the visiting Pinconning Spartans, 84-43, to continue in a tie with Carrollton for leadership in the Northern B Conference.

The Braves and Cavaliers, both undefeated in conference play, are to meet in a showdown battle this Friday night at Carrollton. The Cavaliers have been picked to repeat as champions in the NBC, but if Tawas can retain the basket marksmanship displayed against Pinny, the defending championship squad could have its hands full when the two teams meet on the hardwood.

Although Pinconning's defense was lacking, the Braves just could not miss from the floor and meshed 13 out of 16 shots in the second quarter to run the visitors off the floor. The Braves even looked good at the charity lane in that quarter, but then fell back to their old ways by completing only 12 out of 29 foul shots during the night. This inability to zero in on the baskets at the foul line proved costly in the loss to Bay City All Saints and the Braves must show improvement in this department to be a real contender against the Cavaliers.

Tawas opened the game by outscoring Pinconning, 19-3, in the first quarter. The 32-9 margin in the second quarter was the clincher and Coach Dick Fairless substituted freely during the remainder of the game. The two teams had 14 points each in the third quarter and Tawas held a 19-17 margin in the final.

Box scores for the game reveal the interesting fact that every player but one from Pinconning figured in the scoring column for the night. Every man in Tawas' 13-player squad made at least one basket and 10 players reached the scoreboard for Pinconning.

Five players scored in double figures for the Braves, paced by Larry Nichols' 17 points. Randy Scales meshed 12 points and Terry Nichols counted 11. Jeff Hemphill and Jim Lansky hit the hoops for 10 points each. Ingle led Pinconning with 14 points.

The Junior Braves had an easy time winning over the Pinconning JV, 58-27. Tawas jumped to a 12-5 lead in the first quarter; outscored the visitors, 17-5, in the second quarter; continued to build up a lead in the third quarter with an 18-8 edge, and finished off the night with an 11-9 mark in the final.

Brad Potts and Mike Harvey led nine players reaching the scoring column with 10 points each.

Farmers and Merchants State Bank Had Record Growth During 1973

A record 22 percent growth in assets was shown last year by Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale, with offices at Hale, Whittemore and Rose City. According to the bank's year-end financial statement, total assets on December 31 amounted to $18,976,975, an increase of $3,410,342.87 over the previous year.

It was reported that all three offices of the bank shared equally in this growth, with the individual totals of each increased by approximately 22 percent. As has been the bank's policy through the years, these deposits are loaned out locally, except for those primary and secondary reserves which are required by the regulatory authorities. At this time, the bank has more than $346,000 of its secondary reserves invested in local municipal bonds, thus further aiding the area by its support. Total loans outstanding amount to $12,313,970.31, representing loans in many different fields, ranging from business and residential real estate mortgages to modernization loans, farm loans for machinery, livestock and land, as well as loans for autos, boats, recreational vehicles, students and for most types of personal needs.

"It is interesting to note that 42 percent of the bank's total loans are in real estate mortgages, an investment in our area's growth, and that 10 percent of the total loans outstanding are to the farming industry—an area of our economy of great importance, but sometimes overlooked," states Richard Parkinson, president.

Parkinson said the bank's service to its customers continues to grow, which includes safety deposit boxes, issuance and redemption of government E bonds, collection of contracts and other personal services. "The bank's staff prides itself on its ready response to locate answers and service for people of our trade area, if they are not already available at our bank," said Parkinson.

"Although our bank must be considered a small one by state standards, it is the bank's goal to provide our communities with complete banking services, even to the point of challenging the major downtown firms. Interest rates paid on all types of savings accounts are in line or above commercial banking rates paid throughout the state," he stated.

As a new service for 1974, Farmers and Merchants has extended its Friday banking hours from 9:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m. to fill the requests of many customers for Friday evening hours. The offices have remained open from 9:00 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon on Saturdays to serve those businesses and individuals finding it inconvenient to utilize the extended Friday hours.

In order to better serve its customers in the Glennie area, the bank has applied for a branch office there and is now awaiting an answer of

Answer Three Questions Concerning Social Security

Question: My wife worked in a department store for nearly four years before she died recently. Our only child has been in a home for the mentally retarded since she was 15. She is now 27. Could our daughter get social security checks on my wife's work record?

Answer: It is quite possible that your daughter can get checks. Call any social security office and explain your particular situation.

Question: I became disabled several years ago, but I did not apply for social security benefits at that time. Could I file for disability benefits now?

Answer: Yes. Regardless of when you became disabled, you can apply for benefits at any time. However, if retroactive benefits are payable, they may be paid only for the 12 months before the date of application.

Reserve Now; Camp Later

This may be the freezin' season, but it's not too early for taking steps to make sure you'll have a campsite at your favorite state park next spring or summer. Within the next May 1 - Sept. 30 period, some 6,000 of the nearly 15,000 state park campsites in Michigan will come under a new, experimental reservation system. The remaining sites in 71 state parks will be available as before—on a first-come, first-served basis. Reservation requests may now be taken or mailed directly to parks where campsites are sought. Each request must cover a $2 reservation fee and include advance payment for camping charges. Application blanks for reservations and free brochures explaining the new system are available at all state parks, DNR regional and district offices, the DNR's Detroit Information Office, and tourism offices. They also may be obtained from the DNR's Parks Division Office in Lansing. During each of the last two seasons, about 60,000 camper families were turned away from state parks for lack of space. That's a good reason for campers to submit their reservation requests early in 1974.
