Third Millage Try for Hale A. School

Voters of Hale Area School are to be asked Monday, August 26, to approve a special millage proposition to renew 12.5 mills of taxes which expired last term and 2.25 mills of additional taxes for a period of two years.

This action was taken Monday night by the board of education. Two previous millage propositions submitted to voters this year have been defeated.

The above proposal is the same as the first one which was defeated on April 2. A proposal submitted at the annual election in June had asked for the same millage renewal and 1.8 mills of additional taxes, but since then the county tax allocation board took .45 of a mill away from schools and gave it to the county.

Supt. Wayne Case said Tuesday that the 2.5 mills additional would raise the same amount of money as the previous 1.8-mill proposal and the amount lost in allocation. It would also provide some needed funds to cope with increasing costs.

He said that 50 additional students had been projected at the start of the new term, which would require two more teachers, one additional bus run and a new bus. Additional supplies would also be required for the new students.

Because of its high property valuation based on the state formula, Hale Area School will not receive any state membership aid during the coming term. This loss means, too, that the district would not receive any aid for the adult education program, which allows adults to obtain credits for high school graduation.

"Without approval of the millage on August 26, Hale Area School just cannot operate," said Case. He said it would be impossible to cut the budget by 40 percent and operate the school on the 9.25 mills of county allocated taxes. (Turn to page 1, section 2, for related story.)

Must Provide Insurance to Protect School

Use of a school bus to transport a German folk dancing group to the Tawas Area for a program here Thursday, July 18, 8:00 p. m., at the high school auditorium, was approved Monday night, but Tawas Area Board of Education insisted that the sponsoring organizations assume all liability of the group during the trip.

Supt. Edward J. Barry told the board that Tawas Area Promotions, along with Tawas Area Music Boosters and business organizations of the two communities, was sponsoring the visit of the young singers from Erksdorf, Germany. He proposed that the group be picked up at Marlette and then be transported to Saginaw after their appearance here. Cost of the transportation would be paid by the sponsors.

Barry said that the school had encouraged cultural programs of this type. The group of German youngsters performs authentic folk dances and songs, including those that have been handed down in their families from a rural part of Hesse. The program would include polkas, waltzes, quadrills and other German country dances.

The superintendent said that the school has no formal policy concerning use of buses for such trips. Although stating that the program would provide enjoyment for local residents as well as visitors, members of the board of education said they were hesitant about using a school bus for transporting non-residents because of the liability involved. The board's approval of the bus trip is contingent upon the sponsoring organizations obtaining adequate insurance to protect the school.

It was stated that chartering a Greyhound bus for transporting the youngsters would be prohibitive for the sponsoring organizations as there will be no admission charge for the program.

Busy Holiday for State Police

Michigan State Police from East Tawas had a busy Fourth of July holiday and week-end. Five larcenies, one breaking and entering and a personal injury auto accident were investigated.

Larcenies included theft of a 1974 motorcycle owned by Mark Perkins of Royal Oak, which had been locked with a chain on Bamfield Road; an outboard boat and motor owned by Richard Zapke, which had been chained along the AuSable River; an outboard motor owned by Robert Besgrove of Harborview, Ohio, which was stolen at Long Lake; fishing tackle and equipment owned by Robert Barkell, stolen from a boat in Sims Township; ammunition and tools taken from a cabin owned by Florence Larocco of Detroit and located near Glennie.

A quantity of food, cigarettes and watches was stolen July 4 from Marsh's Grocery and Department Store at AuGres.

Five persons were treated at Tawas Hospital July 4 following a two-car crash on Sherman Road. Officers said that Glen R. Alda, 19, East Tawas, was southbound and was making a left turn into a private drive when his car was struck from the rear by a car driven by Howard W. Scholtz Jr., 23, East Tawas. Receiving minor injuries in the Alda car were the driver; Inez Alda, 17, and Gilbert A. Alda, four months of age. Scholtz and a passenger, Sandra Allen, both received minor injuries.

DESPITE A FINISH LINE SPILL in the final race Sunday which sent one rider to the hospital and scraped legs and arms for two other racers, visiting bicyclists had only words of praise for the handling of bicycle events staged here during the annual Michigan Tourist Festival. Sanctioned racing started Friday evening drew large crowds of spectators to the courses set up on streets at East Tawas. The top picture shows the starting field for the 62½-mile Tour of Lumbermen's Monument which started at 10:00 a. m. Sunday and finished about 2½ hours later. The bottom picture shows the long string of cyclists pedaling around the course at East Tawas before setting out on the trip along Monument Road, River Road and back to East Tawas by way of Wilber Road. Robin Copland, center right, of Haslett crossed the finish line first and was followed closely by Tom Schuler, second place winner. The next three bicyclists were involved in a collision at the finish line and Wolfram Meisingast of Grosse Pointe is shown on the street before being taken to Tawas Hospital for treatment of injuries. Others involved in the collision were Chris Meisingast and Tim Onthank of Holland. Cooperating with Tawas Area Promotions in handling the events were representatives of the Wolverine Cycle Club of Detroit.—Tawas Herald Photos.

OK Use of School As Storm Shelter

Authorization to use the basement of the East Tawas Elementary Unit as a storm shelter was given Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

This action followed a request from the East Tawas Police Department after last Wednesday night's "take cover" tornado alert broadcast by an area television station.

Police said that extreme panic reigned among campers at the East Tawas City Park following notification of the alert. It was requested that the police department be furnished with a key to the elementary building for use as a shelter for campers. This is one of the few buildings in the entire community designated as a civil defense shelter.

It was reported that the "take cover" alert had been mistakenly broadcast. The broadcast said that a tornado had touched down in Ogemaw County and was headed for Tawas City along M-55 at a speed of over 40 miles an hour. Later investigation indicated that the report was false, although conditions were apparently right for a tornado.

One of the most severe thunderstorms in recent history hit the area early Wednesday morning. One house and several trees were hit by lightning. The storm continued Wednesday night and many residents watching television took to the basements of homes when the "take cover" alert was broadcast.

East Tawas Police said that many campers, particularly elderly persons, were extremely alarmed over the report after being advised to get into their cars and fasten seat belts.

Oscoda Boy Killed Sunday On Motorbike

Charles K. Larson, 16, of Oscoda was pronounced dead at the scene of a motorbike-car collision Sunday afternoon at King's Corner and Alvin Road, seven miles northwest of Oscoda.

Oscoda Township Police said the youth died of multiple injuries. He would have been a junior this fall at Oscoda Area High School.

Larson's motorbike and a car driven by Mark A. Miller, 17, Mikado, collided at the intersection. The crash remains under investigation.

The boy's death was the fifth in Iosco County traffic this year.

The victim was the son of Charles L. Larson, a custodian at Oscoda Area School.

Iosco May Provide Own Mental Health Services

Iosco County Board of Commissioners has taken under advisement a resolution from the county mental health board which proposes that Iosco provide its own mental health services for residents.

Robert Foster, chairman of the county commission, is to attend a meeting at Lansing this Thursday which has been called to discuss establishment of mental health boards under Public Act 54.

Foster said last week that one of the main questions to be answered is the extent of administration cost required for operation of a mental health center.

In its formal resolution, the Iosco Mental Health Advisory Board, which presently cooperates in a seven-county regional concept operating out of Alpena County, said it appeared to be economically feasible for Iosco to establish its own board and become self sufficient in providing mental health services.

"It is becoming ever more apparent that the needs of our county are increasingly different from the needs and problems of the other counties in the present seven-county area," stated the resolution.

A mental health center presently established at Tawas City provides all services with the exception of in-patient care. It was stated that the services of Alpena General Hospital would still be available on a contractual basis.

In other business, the county board of commissioners adopted a resolution encouraging and supporting Iosco Intermediate School District in its plans for a vocational skill center.

On September 9, voters of the county will be asked to approve a 1.98-mill tax levy for operating the proposed vocational skill center and the intermediate school district will also seek approval to borrow up to 1.1 million dollars for paying part of the cost of site purchase, construction and equipping a building.

It was reported at the meeting that the state department of education would reimburse part of the cost and there is a possibility of a one-quarter-million dollar grant from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

A resolution from the intermediate board of education said that Iosco County needs a facility to train young people who do not intend to pursue a college career, as well as to retrain individuals already in the county for jobs.

Information presented by the intermediate school district indicated that the proposed center would create stronger curriculums for present high schools within the county to better meet the needs of students and would offer programs in adult education.

Some 18 or more skill areas would be included in the proposed center's curriculum and about 20 vocationally certified teachers would be employed.

The proposed center would be located in the Sand Lake area, the approximate geographic center of the county. If approved, the intermediate district hopes to have the center in operation within 1½ years with about 657 students involved.

A resolution adopted by the board of commissioners stated that as business grows and expands, more services must be supplied to the general population and that an increase in trained personnel to fill service positions would become of prime concern to the county.

The county commission accepted a bid from the Vivian Corporation, Gaylord, of $40,880 for purchase of a new compactor to be used at Multi-County Sanitary Landfill, which has been contracted to provide dump service to the entire county. The purchase was made (See COMMISSION, page 6.)

New Factory Being Located At Hale

A new $100,000 plant for the manufacture of polyethylene specialty packaging bags is to be constructed at Hale and is to be in production within 18 months. About 12 to 20 workers would be employed.

An expansion project of Carroll Products of Fraser, a sales office is under construction and work on the factory is expected in the fall or early spring. It is to be located on the site of the mill formerly owned by Kenneth Salisbury. The old building being razed was once the railroad depot at Hale.

The sales office is to open this month with one sales person from the Detroit area to service industrial and retail packaging companies around Bay City, Saginaw and Alpena.

The sales office at Hale will cover 1,400 square feet and the plant will require about 10,000 feet. The firm plans to establish a similar installation at Cleveland, Ohio.

Authorize Borrowing Against School's Anticipated State Aid

Authorization to borrow against anticipated state aid to operate Tawas Area School until the receipt of property taxes in December was given Monday night by the board of education.

At its last meeting, the board of education authorized legal steps be taken to make application to the Municipal Finance Commission for borrowing $550,000 in anticipated property taxes.

Originally, the school had desired to borrow against the full amount of property taxes, but learned that state law prohibits borrowing against the full levy.

As a result, the school is to borrow against anticipated state aid in order to meet summer payrolls. Barry said that he estimated Tawas Area School's state aid for 1974-75 would be $279,415. A telephone call to Lansing this week indicated that the school's state aid would be $415,342. Barry believed the state's figure was in error and that the district's new property valuation total had not been taken into consideration.

The board of education authorized borrowing against the full amount of $415,342.

In other business, a letter was read from Hale Area Board of Education supporting the local board in its legal efforts challenging the seating of the Oscoda Township supervisor on the county tax allocation board.

Approval to cooperate in the state's "right to read program" was authorized. It was stated that there is a 10 percent illiteracy rate in this state and that the program had received federal funds to provide schools with special materials. Robert H. Crawford is to direct the local program.

Three staff resignations were accepted as follows: Lana Nye, elementary special education; Mary Ann DeGood, sixth grade English; Thad A. Stender, marching and junior band. A request from Mrs. Doris Wetzel for a one-year leave of absence was approved.

The board voted to table a bill from Hale Area School for participation of Tawas Area School students in a nursing program presented at Hale under last year's cooperative education program. Tawas Area School is to determine the cost of providing auto mechanics instruction to students of Hale Area.

At the request of Mrs. Charles Schreck, newly-elected president of the board of education, members are to prepare a set of goals for the administration to follow during the next school year. Administrators are to review last year's goals of the board and school accomplishments during 1973-74.

The board designated the second Monday of each month as the regular meeting and special meetings are held on fourth Mondays, to be called when necessary.

A preliminary discussion on the school calendar for the new term indicates that teachers are to report for orientation on Monday, August 26, and students are to report to classrooms on Tuesday, August 27.

The superintendent said the above starting date would mean (See SCHOOL, page 4.)

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Matthew 6:25-34) "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness." (Matthew 6:33)

A popular magazine gave a profile of a businessman. "I put God first in my life," he declared in the interview. He said that he had always practiced the principles of success contained in the Bible and he attributed his wealth and fame to the fact.

I know of another man who put the kingdom of God first, but he had poor business instincts and went bankrupt in middle life. Although he worked hard to the day of his death, he died penniless and his widow had to earn her own way.

Living a Godly life does not necessarily mean that we will become "successful" in our business ventures. Some may break God's law and still grow rich; a just and Godly person may fail in business through circumstances beyond his control.

Christ never throws blame on those who have failed. His way is to give them a helping hand and help bring spiritual victory. He salvages persons who are wrecks and failures in the eyes of the world, giving them back their self-respect and offering them a second chance in life.

PRAYER Lord, uplift those who work hard at doing their best. Help all who are discouraged to look to You for strength and new hope. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY Having the keys to the kingdom does not necessarily unlock the doors to success.—Florence Julien, Adamsville, Quebec, Canada.

Naming New Middle School Principal Was Controversial

Naming Gary Humphrey of Garden City as middle school principal at Ogemaw Heights has been side-tracked. At a special meeting of the board of education, Supt. Bill McIntosh withdrew Humphrey's name.

On June 24, a controversy erupted in the school system when McIntosh announced that he had hired Humphrey for the new position. A few weeks earlier, the board had authorized the superintendent to pursue the matter of hiring a middle school principal.

A group of elementary principals charged school officials with filling a position before it existed since the people of the district had not yet decided to build a middle school.

Although stating that the superintendent has the right to recommend administrators, McIntosh told the board of education that the issue was his bad timing in filling the position and that he was unhappy with himself for creating a problem. Attorneys for the school also indicated that the board of education must ratify all contracts.

Humphrey, a former resident of the Tawas, presently serves as a teacher and head football coach at Garden City.

Wayne Case Takes Over as Hale A. Superintendent

Hale Area School District's new superintendent, Wayne Case, assumed his position as chief administrator of the school on July 1, but he has a problem or two carried over from the past term.

He will try to meet his most pressing problem — financing school operation for the 1974-1975 term — by getting out into the community to meet as many residents as possible between now and the next millage election in August.

Case has not only taken over his first job as superintendent and in a different district, but a district in which voters have rejected two millage proposals since April. As he explained last week, the school district just cannot operate next term without renewal of special operating taxes which expired at the end of the last term and a slight increase to meet inflation.

It will be his job to explain to voters the need for support of the board of education's new millage proposal to be presented in August. It will be the last opportunity for a vote prior to the start of the school term and he has a little more than a month to accomplish this, as well as working at his regular duties as superintendent. One of his duties will be to finalize contract negotiations with the staff.

Since the end of the 1973-1974 term and until July 1, Case had worked with Paul Keene, former superintendent, who announced his resignation in April.

Case comes to Hale Area School with excellent credentials to handle his new position. He was lauded by the board of education of Oscoda Area Schools for his work there during the past three years as business manager of that school. One board member at Oscoda said that Case's tenure had "been rewarding both in professional growth and through friendships in the community."

The 41-year-old native of Jackson completed his educational specialist degree in administration in 1972. He received his bachelor of science degree in 1955 and three graduate degrees from Michigan State University. He spent two years as a graduate assistant at MSU while earning his master degree in physical education and earned his second master degree in secondary and central office administration in 1967.

During the interim, he taught and coached at Jackson St. Mary School, taught mathematics and was a coach at Grand Rapids Catholic Central and spent three years at Rochester as a mathematics teacher, coach, counselor and assistant principal before moving to Oscoda in September 1971.

A member of the Rotary Club at Oscoda and moderator at Sacred Heart Church, he and his wife, Joan, are parents of four children.

Herman Maas, president of Hale Area Board of Education, said last week that he and his fellow board members were pleased that Case's experience in both the business end of education and public relations should prove to be an asset to the district.

But time is short between now and the next millage vote in August and Case will be out visiting with district residents to explain that the school just cannot operate next year on allocated operational millage alone and that was actually reduced from last year by recent action of the county tax allocation board.

He must explain to voters, too, how the state aid bill does not benefit such high valuation districts as Hale Area and that the school will not receive a cent of state membership aid during the coming term. Although Hale Area School's example is one of the most dramatic due to the complete shutoff of state funds, other schools of Northern Michigan are in the same position.

The job of public relations will not be a small one.

Patricia Groff Received BS Degree

Jerry Norwood, administrator, announces that Tawas Hospital, Tawas City, has made arrangements with Community, Family and Children Services of Alpena for the provision of professional social work services for its patients. The agreement is indicative of the hospital's commitment to the provision of a full range of human services and the agency's commitment to expanding and innovative services to the Iosco County community. Recognition of the emotional component of human illness is one of the important factors which has led to this development. It is not unusual for emotional difficulties to become apparent within the context of medical treatment. Often the stress of a medical problem leads patients to seek counseling regarding problematic issues in their lives. The hospital anticipates more thorough follow-up on difficult cases as a result of this arrangement. Services will be available to respond to a wide variety of problems. Counseling is available to couples experiencing difficulty in their marital relationship. Parent-child problems often call for professional intervention. Persons adjusting to altered life situations frequently need assistance or counseling to help them better understand their own personality and circumstances. Families who are experiencing serious economic difficulties can be assisted by professional referral to appropriate private or public agencies which respond to such needs. Situations and difficulties unique to the elderly may call for professional involvement. The medical setting is particularly appropriate for services to unmarried parents. Michael C. Hardy and James L. Gritter are the social workers providing the services to hospital patients. Hardy is the eastern district director of Community, Family and Children Services. He earned a master degree in social work from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and has experience in The Family Life Practice Center of Saginaw, an agency for the instruction of resident doctors. Gritter, a caseworker with the agency, has a master degree in social work from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, and has experience in the Children's Psychiatric Unit of Pine Rest Christian Hospital, Grand Rapids. The social workers will be available Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

Notify SS of Name Change

An estimated 2.25-million women were or will be married this year, about 280,000 of them in June, and one thing they should all remember is to change their names with social security, according to John Carr, social security district manager in Bay City.

"A bride should give us her new married name to keep her social security card and her earnings record accurate and up-to-date," Carr said. "Then earnings she had both before and after her marriage can be correctly credited to the same record."

A woman's earnings in jobs covered by social security will deter-get her name changed on her record. "Or she can use a form available at any post office and many employer personnel offices," Carr said.

Bay City social security office is at 1009 North Madison. The phone number is 893-9579.

Iosco SCD Offers Conifer Trees-Shrubs

Iosco County Soil Conservation District will be offering conifer trees and shrubbery this September, according to Harry Krueger, district board chairman. There has been a lot of support for switching the present spring planting to the fall season. Many of the same species plus new ones will be offered. Of special note is the limitations of soils accepting trees in the fall.

"On heavier soils, loams and clay loams, heaving of planted trees will result. Caution should be taken to avoid planting on these types of soils," says Franklin Kulanek, soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service. "Technical assistance will be offered for those people who wish to consult on their soil's characteristics for tree planting."

Tentatively, species offered will include red, Austrian and Scotch pine; white and Norway spruce; autumn olive and American beach grass. Other species will be offered if there are enough requests for them.

Orders should be directed to the Soil Conservation District, Federal Building, East Tawas, Michigan 48730, or by calling 362-2591 between 8:00 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Lake Level Hearing Sends Court to Boats

15 Years Ago—

July 9, 1959 — Judge Herman Dehnke, three lawyers and technical experts from the Michigan Department of Conservation took to boating on Tawas Lake Wednesday afternoon. The reason was to clearly define points which were raised during testimony taken during the hearing in Josco Circuit Court which asks for establishment of the legal level of the lake.

Col. Clifford F. Macomber will become the new commander of Wurtsmith Air Force Base in a change of command ceremony July 15. He is to replace Col. Thomas N. Wilson.

Six candidates are seeking three positions on Hale Area Board of Education. Ira Scofield, Perry Shellenbarger, Ernest Herzog and Robert Pember are running for the two three-year terms as trustee. William Wereley and Mrs. Madeline Brindley are candidates for the one two-year term to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Clarence Brindley.

Driver education courses are to be held this summer on an experimental basis at Tawas Area School. This approach to instruction enables the school to make fuller use of facilities and should reduce scheduling difficulties during the regular school year.

25 Years Ago—

July 8, 1949—Ronald E. Eick of Flint has been hired as English and French instructor at Tawas City High School.

Is the postwar buggy ride of consumer demand and increasingly higher wages really over? The Ford Motor Company thinks so and, instead of accepting pay raises, pension, health and welfare plans as drafted by the union, proposes to peg wages where they are for another 18 months.

35 Years Ago—

July 7, 1939—Josco County is among the nine Northern Michigan counties which will receive highway improvement in the state's 1940 program. The improvement will consist of a 40-foot wide concrete pavement through the Tawas.

Joe Dixon hoisted one of Bill Mallon's pitches into the alfalfa field adjoining the Tawas City diamond Sunday to score two runs as the National Division defeated the American Division in the all star game.

While driving home from the Grange party Wednesday evening, Al Groff's car was ticked, Robert Cox was nearly ditched and Charles Brown's car was sideswiped and badly damaged, all by the same car, a load of young folks. "It does seem as though it is not safe to drive on the road," reports the Hemlock Road correspondent.

The nation's defense budget for 1939-40 is $2,861,560,726, as compared to $780,000,000 a mere 10 years ago.

Montgomery, the man with the radio mind, is a featured attraction at the Jack Kelly Stock Company, which will pay its annual visit to East Tawas starting July 13.

Biggest criticism of the federal housing administration homes is that they cost too much for the small wage earner; likewise, huge metropolitan slum clearance projects merely add to a city's congestion instead of following the future's inevitable trend to decentralization.

A FEATURE of the Michigan Tourist Festival held in the Tawas last week were two tourist bicycle rides on Thursday and Friday. Visitors were joined by local cyclists in pedaling to Foote Dam on the AuSable River. On Friday, riders enjoyed a trip on the AuSable River Queen during the stop at Foote Dam. Effective fly control in your home is important right now.

You may have three main species of flies buzzing around: The house fly, the blow fly and the fruit fly. Not only are these pests annoying, but they can also spread diseases such as typhoid fever, tuberculosis and dysentery.

Sanitation is your first line of defense. You should dry out or do away with breeding places. This is especially important when the effort is directed at the maggots—larvae of the flies.

Get rid of all sewage and garbage regularly, especially in the summer, and keep a tight lid on all garbage cans. Use flytraps, insecticides, number 16 or 18 mesh screens and remember to keep your doors closed.

Sewage and garbage are prime breeding sites for flies. The majority of flies breed only in moist places rich in organic matter; they do not develop in dry situations.

Flytraps can be bought commercially or you can make them yourself. These traps are especially effective when there are large numbers of flies. Place them out of the wind and on the sunny side of your home.

For chemical insect control, learn to use insecticides effectively and safely. You can apply two percent malathion, one percent naled (Dibrom) or two percent ronnel (Korlan) around windows and other areas visited by flies. If you decide to use household sprays or aerosols, use only those especially manufactured for flying insects.

Remember the most important fly control measure is sanitation, but when you do have to use chemical insecticides, include safety measures when using and storing.

SS Explains Eligibility Requirements

Question: Last January, I had a heart attack and retired upon doctor's orders. I am not old enough for social security retirement, so I put in for disability benefits. A few days ago, I received a letter saying that my disability claim was denied. How can social security say I am not disabled when my doctor made me quit working?

Answer: When the laws on disability were written, congress intentionally made the requirements very strict. It was, and still is, the intent of the law to pay on permanent or total disability only. The medical requirements are: A physical or mental impairment which prohibits any substantial work for at least 12 consecutive months. Your doctor probably wanted you to discontinue the strenuous work you were doing. Check with him about doing lighter work.

Question: My application for Supplemental Security Income was denied because I have "excess resources." All I have is about $300 in the bank and my small social security check. Where are the excess resources?

Answer: You also have eight acres of land. Supplemental Security Income is a new program which adds to your current income if you qualify.

One of the requirements is that you have few or no resources to fall back on.

Your eight acres are worth about $6,000, excluding your home and lot. This is well over the resource limit of $1,500 for a single person.

Question: I am a high school student, desperately looking for a summer job. I almost had one at a supermarket until the manager found out that I do not have a social security number. He needed a bag-boy to start right away, but he would not hire me unless I gave him my social security number. Can you help me?

Answer: We mailed you a temporary card to help get that job. It will take about four weeks before you get your number, though. Many employers will not hire without a social security number since they must report your wages by number. A word to the wise: Apply for your social security number at least six weeks before you need it!

Question: I am paraplegic and cannot drive. My daughter usually takes me places I need to go, but your office is pretty far away and I do not want to impose upon my daughter. How can I sign up for social security?

Answer: Most social security business can be handled over the phone, even initial applications.

Golden Eagle Passport Now In Effect

On June 7, Pres. Richard Nixon signed into law a new Golden Eagle Passport Program. This law amends the 1965 Land and Water Conservation Fund relating to collection of recreation use fees at recreation sites.

In accordance with the new law, Forest Sup. Kenton P. Clark stated that the Huron-Manistee National Forests would collect recreation use fees at 25 sites. The new fee program primarily affects the charging of fees at campground and swimming sites on National Forest land. No fees will be charged for scenic drives, picnic areas and boat ramps.

Though the Golden Eagle passport remains invalid at any forest service charge site, Golden Age passport holders will be entitled to 50 percent discount on all federal recreation use fees except where group use fees apply. The Golden Age passport is available at federal recreation areas in the Huron-Manistee National Forests where they may be used.
