

THIS PEACEFUL SETTING at Tawas Point State Park was snapped late Sunday afternoon. Like all parks in the area, the state facility was jammed to capacity early Saturday. The number of young campers at the park was unusually high this year, according to park personnel, but only minor difficulty was encountered in handling the large crowd.—Tawas Herald Photo.

VETERANS ORGANIZATIONS of the county conducted services at cemeteries Monday morning. This picture was snapped at Memory Gardens Cemetery, Tawas City, during the service conducted by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans. Participating in a parade on US-23 was Tawas Area High School Marching Band. The program had a large attendance.—Tawas Herald Photo.

MORNING AFTER—Thousands of empty beer cans, along with an accumulation of debris which included two stripped and abandoned junker automobiles, littered the Gordon Creek Campground Tuesday morning following the Memorial Day week-end. Forest service personnel inspecting the site said the trash may be left on the grounds for the remainder of the summer, although ownership of the abandoned cars is being traced to force removal. Personnel of the Tawas Ranger District had fertilized the grounds and planted grass seed last fall to improve camping. An overhanging porch on one of only two restrooms at the campground had been removed for firewood. The grounds continue to "expand" each year as green trees are cut down by campers and used for firewood.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Memorial Day Week-End Was No Holiday for Police Officers

Area police agencies breathed a sigh of relief Tuesday morning after one of the most hectic holiday week-ends in local history; for public park operators, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the United States Forest Service, a gigantic cleanup operation was to start after camping facilities were jammed to capacity, which included an overflow crowd of approximately 2,500 to 3,000 persons at Gordon Creek.

Most of the problems for area police and forest service originated at Gordon Creek, site of the former Silver Creek CCC camp, which was packed with downstate young people. Included in that assemblage were 11 motorcycle clubs and some 600 motorcyclists from the Flint and Detroit area, according to police.

"It was the most uncontrollable crowd in the county's history," said Undersheriff Basil Odell, who was watching traffic pour southward along US-23 through the Tawas late Monday evening. "Because of the number of people concentrated in the small area of Gordon Creek, Monument Road was blocked to through traffic Saturday night and the sheriff's department concentrated its patrols in the local area to prevent any harassment of local citizens."

Odell said that the sheriff's department was at full strength for the week-end, which included six auxiliary members who assisted at the jail by handling radio traffic. "We tried to keep Monument Road open for emergency vehicles, but had to give up when patrol cars and officers were stoned after being stopped at Gordon Creek."

As an example of the week-end work load, the sheriff's department handled 216 complaints from 6:00 p. m. Friday through 6:00 p. m. Monday. The Michigan State Police Post at East Tawas was equally busy and Tawas Hospital handled 165 emergency cases.

Police agencies handled a large number of drug overdose cases in which young people were dropped off by friends at Tawas Hospital, or were found wandering along Monument Road by patrol cars. Odell said that personal injury accidents involving motorbikes "were a dime a dozen" and there were numerous complaints concerning customers at local business places walking off without paying bills. There was also a high number of drunk driver complaints.

The forest service faced a gigantic cleanup operation Tuesday morning at all of its camps in Huron National Forest, but the worst situation was at Gordon Creek. This area, which lacks proper sanitation facilities, has been designated for concentrated use following three straight years of uncontrollable crowds. The grounds there are littered with debris and forest service personnel will use a front-end loading tractor to assist in the cleanup. It is estimated that the annual cost of cleaning up Gordon Creek is $4,000.

Tawas Point State Park reported Sunday afternoon that its facilities had been jammed to capacity since early Saturday and an unusual number of young campers were camping there. The usual complaint that noncampers were using shower and restroom facilities was heard.

Joseph Badalucco, manager of the East Tawas City Park, reported an overflow crowd Friday night.

The United States Forest Service had its entire crew on call in Huron National Forest over the week-end. Only one brush fire had been reported by Monday afternoon, but numerous campfires were still burning in the dry woodlands. Forest service and Consumers Power Company personnel joined forces Sunday to prevent heavy foot traffic on the high banks of the Ausable River near Lumbermen's Monument. Continued heavy concentration of visitors to that area is causing serious erosion problems.

W-P Seniors March May 31 In Graduation

Seventy graduating seniors of Whittemore-Prescott Area High School will march down the aisle to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," traditional music for graduation exercises, at the Friday, May 31, commencement program.

To be held at the high school auditorium at 8:00 p. m., the band will be under the direction of William Gardner.

Principal speaker for the program will be Dr. W. L. Austin, superintendent of Muskegon Schools. A well-known Michigan educator, he is past president of both the American Association of School Administrators and Michigan Association of School Administrators. He is past president of the board of directors of the Lenawee County Youth Center.

A new tradition will be inaugurated during the program when an award will be made to the outstanding member of the graduation class.

The valedictory will be delivered by Miss Leona Peters and Miss Terri Partlo will present the salutatory address.

Supt. Raymond Kesler and A. Emil Sztanyo, president of the board of education, will present diplomas.

The Rev. Merle Nichols, pastor of the United Methodist Churches of Whittemore and Prescott, will deliver the invocation and benediction.

Not Signed Yet

A Herald news story last week incorrectly quoted Supt. Edward J. Barry concerning contract negotiations between Tawas Area Education Association and Tawas Area Board of Education. A contract has not been signed, but negotiators for both sides indicated Friday that contract talks were proceeding smoothly and teachers are to vote soon on a proposed 1974-1975 pact. The Herald editor regrets the error.

Whitney Residents Seek Curb on Smelt Dippers

Whitney Township residents are calling for a midnight or 1:00 a. m. curfew on smelt fishing, along with a clampdown on illegal bonfires, trespassing, littering and illegal parking.

Kenneth Fox, township supervisor, has written letters to the governor and various state agencies blasting the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for not assuming a larger responsibility for policing the Whitney Drain and the Saginaw Bay shoreline.

The township supervisor suggested that National Guard troops be used if necessary to bolster law enforcement agencies during the annual smelt dipping season. He estimated the influx on several week-ends was between 15,000 and 20,000 persons.

There were reports that fishermen had stolen woodpiles, smashed lawn furniture and dug up trees for bonfires. Property was damaged and some residents complained of having to clean up human waste on lawns. Fox said it was necessary for property owners to patrol their land from sunset to sunrise.

FIVE PERSONS were injured early Saturday morning in the head-on collision between these two cars on US-23 south of Tawas City, Alabaster Township. The car at left drove over the centerline and into the path of the car at right. One pedestrian was killed in another accident and there was a large number of motorcycle accidents reported in the county over the week-end.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Dearborn Woman Killed Walking Along Monument Rd.

Despite the record holiday crowd in the area, only one fatality was reported by area police agencies. There were no serious boating accidents as cold weather put a damper on water fun.

Diana Leigh Becker, 25, Dearborn, was fatally injured Saturday night when she was walking along Monument Road near Gordon Creek, Huron National Forest.

Investigating Iosco Sheriff's Department officers said that Miss Becker, who was wearing dark clothing, was struck by a car driven by Gary Lee Nelson, 18, Tawas City. The driver was not held.

Miss Becker was not identified for nearly 20 hours after the accident. The sheriff's department said the victim was wearing a blue varsity sweater, upon which was embroidered the name of her brother. A Thumb area police agency monitoring local radio traffic overheard the brother's name and he was located at Vassar. Friends of Miss Becker at Gordon Creek reported her missing at about the same time.

The second most serious accident was reported at 3:00 a. m. Saturday when two cars struck head-on on US-23 south of Tawas City, Alabaster Township. Five persons injured included Kurt D. Kloha, 18, Saginaw, and David C. Tait, 22, Detroit, drivers of the two cars involved. Passengers in the Tait vehicle injured included Robert A. Munz, 19; Shelly LaCroix, 18; Sue Deneau, 17, all of the Detroit area.

Investigating sheriff's department officers said that Kloha's southbound auto swerved on the highway into the northbound lane and struck the Tait vehicle.

One accident investigated Thursday on Townline Road where Victor D. Gregory, 10, drove his bicycle out of the driveway of his home and was struck by a car driven by Jerry Joe Freel, 17, Tawas City. The boy was treated for a mild concussion at Tawas Hospital.

Kirk D. Jones, 20, Detroit, was treated Friday at Tawas Hospital after he struck a hole in the road in Wilber Township and was thrown over the handlebars of his motorbike. The machine rolled on top of him.

Another accident investigated Thursday saw David Harrell, 27, Mt. Morris, treated at Tawas Hospital after being injured when he lost control of his motorbike on a trail east of Glennie.

Personal injury accidents investigated Sunday included two at a motorcycle field event held near Oscoda. Injured were Arthur J. Campbell, 28, Fairgrove, and James Walter, 14, Alpena. Both were treated at Tawas Hospital.

Two persons riding a motorbike were treated at Tawas Hospital Sunday after being struck by a car on M-65 at Whittemore. Sheriff's department officers said that Mina B. Bellville, 50, Whittemore, pulled onto M-65 from East State Street and collided with a motorbike operated by James B. Berkey, 19, Mt. Clemens. Both Berkey and his passenger, Edward J. Balduet, 21, were rushed to Tawas Hospital by ambulance.

John J. Girolamo, 16, Dearborn, was treated Sunday at Tawas Hospital after he lost control of his motorbike on West County Line Road, Plainfield Township. Injured Monday and treated at Tawas Hospital was Diana M. Brown, 23, Sherman Township, who lost control of the motorbike which she was operating and crashed north of National City. Joseph Muckenthaler, 15, Whittemore, was treated at Tawas Hospital Sunday after he fell off his motorbike near Big Dipper Lake. Burglaries investigated Sunday by the sheriff's department included one reported by Harold Moeller, owner of a self-serve laundry in Tawas City. A window was broken out of the west side of the building and $60 in change was stolen from the office.

Several house trailers on Imperial Drive were vandalized sometime last week. Officers responded to a call Friday from John Show, Flint, 311 South Imperial Drive, where chairs and tables had been thrown through the windows of his house trailer. Other furniture was destroyed and holes were smashed in the walls. The house trailer of B. W. Burke of Flint, 313 South Imperial Drive, was ransacked and completely destroyed on the interior.

Claude McGuire reported the breaking and entering of his cabin on Indian Lake Road on Saturday. A wood stove, gasoline lantern, food and a quantity of liquor were stolen.

Jerry Snoblen of Tawas Motel, Tawas City, reported Sunday that a battery had been stolen from his station wagon. A Detroit man reported Sunday that his cabin at Indian Lake had been burglarized. Personal injury accidents investigated by Michigan State Police were as follows:

Terry N. Tillinger, 19, Ossineke, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after his motorbike crashed into a car at Gordon Creek.

Connie Stewart, 30, Saginaw, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after she fell off the trunk lid of a vehicle traveling along a sand trail in Wilber Township.

Outdoor Commencement Sunday at Tawas A. School

Jack D. Seibold, associate director of admissions and scholarships at Michigan State University, will be the principal speaker at outdoor commencement exercises Sunday, June 2, 3:30 p. m., at the high school athletic field.

Prin. John Alexander said this week that the graduation ceremony would be held outdoors, weather permitting. In the event of rain, it would be held in the high school auditorium.

Seibold has been associate director of admissions and scholarships at MSU since 1968. Prior to that, he had served as admissions counselor. He was director of housing at Ferris State College, Big Rapids, from 1963 to 1966. He held the position of assistant director of housing at MSU from 1959 to 1963.

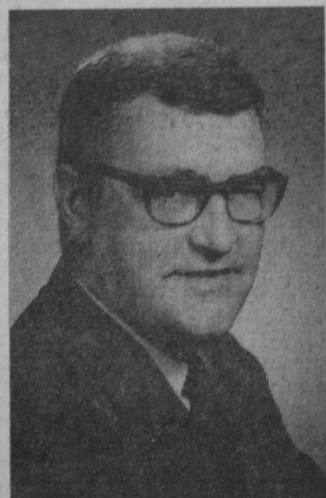

He received his bachelor of art degree from MSU in 1950 and master of art degree in 1966. The program opens with the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," by Tawas Area Band, under direction of Gene Salamony. Invocation will be given by Jo-Ann J. Hatcher, president of the National Honor Society. Giving the benediction will be Christy Anne Eaton, secretary-treasurer of the National Honor Society.

The salutatory will be given by Mary Thornton and Jackie McKinney will deliver the valedictory. Robert W. Elliott, president of the board of education, and Dr. James Jacques, trustee, are to present diplomas.

The class of 1974 chose red and white carnations as the class flower, with class colors of red and white.

Members of the graduating class who are members of the National Honor Society are Frederick R. Bonds Jr., Debra M. Butler, Miss Eaton, Al W. Fisher, Miss Hatcher, Lynn M. Krebs, Janet A. Lixey, Joyce I. Lixey, Miss McKinney, David L. Mielock, Catherine A. Moss, Emily M. Nelkie, Deborah A. Plumley, Randall J. Reed, Joanne K. Revord, Robert C. Sariki, Peter A. Sutton, Miss Thornton and Steven G. Wegner.

(Read Matthew 7:7-11)
 Everyone who asks will receive, and he who seeks will find, and the door will be opened to him who knocks. (Matthew 7:8)

Every now and then our five-year-old son will come in and say, "I want to ask you for something, but I know you are going to say no."

How often we pray without having faith or expecting to receive what we ask. Do we expect to receive something which we have not opened ourselves up to receive?

Jesus and His disciples tell us to pray, having faith that we will receive what we ask for. God's promises are sure and His Word is true. He allows us freedom to choose and will not enter where we do not want Him. But He answers our prayers as we have faith and allow Him to enter our lives.

Therefore, when we pray, let us open ourselves to God in truth, knowing that God answers every prayer. Praise God!

PRAYER
 Our Father, we thank You for Your graciousness in love and Your promise to provide all we need and ask. Help us to pray in faith and love for the blessings which You freely bestow on all who believe. In the name of Jesus. Amen.

Never a different vegetable for your table? Yes, there is. Green soybeans can make a great addition to the list of vegetables enjoyed by families.

First grown in this country as a forage-crop, soybeans are now coming into use as a valuable addition to our list of vegetables for the table. The green shelled beans of the garden varieties now being developed have a richer, more nutty flavor than some of our other common legumes.

When the beans have reached nearly full size but are still green and tender, they make a tasty and nutritious vegetable, either shelled or cooked in the pods. The secret is to pick them when young and tender.

To shell the green beans, boil in the pods first for three to five minutes. Then, the shelled beans may be steamed or boiled in lightly salted water. The time of cooking depends on the variety. Some cook as quickly as green peas; others more like lima beans. However, the best varieties of green soybeans when done are not mealy. They have a very pleasant firm texture and nutty flavor. Because they are so rich, they need only simple seasoning with salt and pepper to taste and a little melted butter or crispy fried bacon or salt pork.

The cooked green beans make a good scalloped dish when mixed with tomato or white sauce, covered with buttered bread crumbs and baked in a moderate oven until the beans are heated through and the crumbs are brown. When cold, the cooked green beans are excellent in vegetable salads.

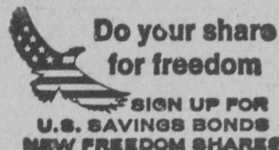

Green soybeans are sometimes cooked and served in the pods and eaten with the fingers after being dipped in melted butter, seasoned with soy sauce. The pods need thorough washing to free them from grit that may lodge in the fuzzy surface. After washing, drop the pods into boiling water to cover and cook until the beans are tender when slipped out by pressing the pods between thumb and finger.

Tawas City's Sewer Grant Is Confirmed

15 Years Ago—

May 28, 1959—Confirmation has been received that a $36,420 federal grant for sewer improvement has been received by Tawas City. A $111,620.15 construction contract has been awarded and the next step will be to sell general obligation bonds in the amount of $130,000. Bids are to be opened on construction of 4,587 feet of sewer mains in Huron Gardens and North Park Acres Subdivisions. This construction is to be paid by owners of the subdivisions.

Seniors of Hale High School celebrated their return home by shooting fireworks purchased on their trip to Mammoth Cave.

35 Years Ago—

May 26, 1939—A demonstration of two new glockenspiels will feature Tawas City High School Band's jamboree to be held at the school house. The band now has 42 members and is growing fast.

During the World War, anxious Great Britain enlisted Arab aid with a hasty, ill-reasoned promise of independence in Palestine. Britain also enlisted Jewish funds by promising to make Palestine a homeland for Jews. Twenty years after Versailles, the bloody "holy war" which has kept British troops busy in Palestine shows no sign of abating. Last winter, an Arab-Jewish conference in London failed because delegates refused to sit at the same table. Confronted with more pressing crises in Europe, Britain finally decided to dictate a settlement.

Howard Atkinson, Porter Sabin and Arley Robinson of Hale left Friday evening for the Canadian wilds and have promised all their friends a real supper on their return. Be careful, boys, as a bear likes meat for supper, too.

Typing classes of Tawas City High School have completed their project of compiling a history of Tawas Township and Tawas City from the book, "History of the Lake Huron Shore."

The United States has ignored Japan's demands for a greater measure of control in the Shanghai area's political and economic life, demanding instead that Japan return to the settlement land lying north of Shanghai's Sookchow Creek.

The Old Age Assistance Bureau has established an office in the bank building, Tawas City.

Medicare Ins. Helps to Pay Emergencies

Question: I am 67 and I recently fell and put a deep gash in my arm. I was treated in the emergency room at the hospital, but I did not stay overnight. Are these services covered under my medicare medical insurance?

Answer: Yes. Medicare medical insurance helps pay for emergency room service.

Question: I pay premiums for both the hospital insurance part and the medical insurance part of medicare. Can I drop one part and still keep the other?

Answer: You can drop the hospital insurance part and keep your medical insurance coverage, but you cannot drop medical insurance and keep your hospital insurance. To get medicare hospital insurance by paying monthly premiums, you must also have the medical insurance.

Questions: I have been retired since 1968, but I have always worked at part time jobs throughout the year. I know the amount I can earn in a year and still get my full social security benefits was raised to $2,400 this year. Is there any chance that this amount will go even higher in the future?

Answer: Yes. As future earnings levels rise, the amount you can earn and still get social security benefits will also rise.

Question: I will be 72 in June. Even though I am still working, I know I will get a social security check for the month of June, regardless of how much I earn. What about the first five months of this year? Can I get any checks for these months?

Answer: If you cannot earn more than $2,400 before June, you will get checks for the first five months, too. If you make over $2,400 before June, $1 will be withheld for each $2 over $2,400. And no matter how much you earn, you can be paid your full social security benefit for any month you earn $200 or less and do not do substantial work in your own business.

If you have any questions regarding social security, contact the Bay City Social Security Office at 1009 North Madison, Bay City, or phone 893-9579.

DNR to Inspect City Dock for Possible State Money

A representative of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' fisheries division is to inspect the Tawas City Park pier within the next week to determine engineering necessary for state and federal assistance to upgrade fishing and boating facilities.

This was the word last week from Mayor John N. Brugger of Tawas City, who met with officials of various state agencies at Lansing. Accompanying Brugger were Harris Barkman, president of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, and Timothy O'Connor, a member of the chamber's board of directors.

Making the on site inspection will be Donald Reynolds of the DNR.

Brugger was told that $15,000 in federal funds had been specified for the improvement project for the solid fill pier. No state commitment has been received as yet,

Urges Return to May 30 for Memorial Day Holiday

In his Memorial Day address Monday, Hugh Prescott, commander of Jesse C. Hodder Post No. 189, American Legion, Tawas City, stated he hoped that the original date of Memorial Day on May 30 would be restored.

Stating that it was a matter of record that the annual date of Memorial Day had been established more than 100 years ago, he said he hoped that it "will again retain its place as one of the treasured holidays in our nation's history."

He proposed that veterans organizations and citizens submit a joint resolution to congress to enact legislation returning the holiday to its traditional date.

He said the purpose of the holiday ought not to be lessened by becoming just another long weekend for people.

but the city is to have a program formulated to present to the DNR.

This project has been under consideration for the past year. High water and wave action has eroded the pier to such an extent that much of the fill has been lost.

A meeting with highway department officials indicated that the state has funded a bicycle path from the US-23 intersection to Tawas Area School along M-55. Officials are now to investigate the possibility of a bicycle path from the south city limit to the Tawas River bridge on US-23.

Highway representatives reported that it would not be until the late 1980s when US-23 would be considered for a freeway project.

As a means of promoting an earlier date for such modernization, area police agencies are being asked to compile a comprehensive report on US-23 traffic, listing the number of persons hospitalized through accidents on US-23.

Meetings between representatives from the Tawas and state officials were arranged by State Sen. Robert Davis of Gaylord.

Robert J. Shar, 20, and Claudia Shar, 20, both of Detroit, were treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital when their motorbike crashed into a car at Gordon Creek.

Jerry L. Alexander, 22; Anthony Marchio; Daniel Smith, 22, all of Detroit, received minor injuries and were treated at Tawas Hospital Saturday when a car driven by Alexander ran off a curve on Rollway Road, Plainfield Township.

David C. Stephens, 19, Madison Heights, was treated at Tawas Hospital Sunday after his motorbike crashed into a car driven by Bruce A. McGraw, 19, Grosse Pointe Woods. Officers said that McGraw made a U turn in front of Stephens on Monument Road.

Motorbike accidents Monday included one involving Clarence H. King, 26, Fenton, who was treated at Tawas Hospital after losing control of his machine on a sand trail in Plainfield Township. Ricky A. Nash, 19, Detroit, and Christopher A. Mazzola, 20, Detroit, were treated at Tawas Hospital after their motorbikes collided headon on Monument Road.

Trend Could See Welfare Costing More Than Education

State officials agree it is a disturbing thought but if the present trend in welfare costs continues, it will not be long before Michigan taxpayers will be paying more for welfare than for education.

Welfare costs already far outstrip the state's cost of supporting its institutions of higher learning and officials fear it may not be long before they will exceed state support of public schools, which this year is about 1.2-billion dollars.

Looking at it another way, within the near future fiscal experts expect the state to be paying about one-billion dollars a year for welfare. Just 20 years ago, this would have covered all state government costs — including welfare, education, highways, parks, corrections and all other state services.

The disturbing news comes from the January social services statistics published by the state department of social services.

The sharply rising cost of welfare in recent months results primarily from two things, increased unemployment and increased cost of living for welfare cases.

The January report shows that in the last five months, the caseload has increased by 2,310 families a month compared with the five-month average increase of 811 families a month.

The total caseload could exceed 200,000 a month shortly if that present rate of increase continues. Such a caseload would put the annual welfare expenditures in Michigan to 1.3-billion dollars or almost three times the present state support of higher education.

Figures are not yet tabulated for April but social services officials are expecting that between 1,800 and 2,000 new cases were added last month.

The money being spent on families with dependent children and children of unemployed could finance all of the state's colleges for four years or pay for the operation of all except one of the state's 19 departments for a year.

When the proposed state budget for the next fiscal year starting

July 1 was prepared, the governor included 572.6-million dollars in state funds for welfare, but state officials are certain that this will be greatly exceeded before the next fiscal year ends.

At the present rate of increase, the new fiscal year will open with 187,700 cases on the rolls compared with the average of 184,000 anticipated in the governor's proposed budget.

The rate of increase has risen almost 400 percent since 1968-69, when the average monthly increase was only 496 new cases.

It is interesting to note that average Medicaid payments in January increased more than 20 percent over December and more than 46 percent over the average of just one year ago.

The next few months of legislative deliberation on the Department of Social Services budget bill hopefully will bring about a reasonable budget expenditure and a more accountable approach to the welfare system in Michigan.

Memories of Robinson's Mill

By EDNA OTIS
 This is a story of the days that are gone and the memory of the dead. It is a story of life that cannot be repeated, for pioneers do not reproduce.
 Earl Daugharty of Reno Township was the narrator. He is 68 years old and lived, as a boy, at the Sam Robinson Mill in Eastern Ogemaw County. He moved from the camp to Reno Township in 1912.
 To be exact, Robinson's Mill was four miles from South Branch in Iosco County. It operated until 1917, when it was moved to Oscoda. South Branch was a typical junction town for lumberjacks—the beginning of the lumber woods for some crews, the end of it for others, who were returning to home and civilization.

 But Robinson's Mill was a boy's paradise. True, there was a school there and one was forced to attend, but the extra curricular subjects were so exciting, much more so than having to wear a dunce cap. Where else could one scramble up a railroad engine and fraternize with the engineer? Where else could a boy of five years hang around grown men without being told to "begone" as he was in the way? Imagine a boy of tender years able to play the mouth organ so well that he was in demand for the lumberjacks' dances. He demonstrated for us that he can still play rollicking strains of "Turkey in the Straw," as well as the more classic and refined tunes of "Red Wing." Where else but in a lumber camp would anyone trust a boy (under supervision, of course) to assist in the operation of the big saw, to "stick" the pig at butchering time, to look after the oxen which were still used as motive power? Where else but in a lumber camp could you ring the bell or toot the whistle on the railroad locomotive, with the engineer's guidance?

Daugharty recalls one season when he joined his father in a hunting trip. They found a honey bee tree—an old pine stump. Wash tubs and all other kinds of receptacles were needed to use in saving the honey. Looking back on it now, he thinks they must have found at least 400 pounds of honey.

The railroad engine and cars that ran into Robinson's Mill were privately owned. At South Branch, cars, engines, etc., were owned by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. The conductor on that branch was Johnny McRae and poor in memories, indeed, is the man or woman who did not know Johnny McRae. Boys thought nothing of riding with the engineer. As for collecting a fare for a child, that was forgotten. Adults were always charged. Following South Branch, other stops made on the road were: Long Lake, Hale, Taft, Cooper's Crossing (a regular flag stop), Hemlock Crossing (on M-55), Emery Junction. The end of the run was East Tawas. The train bore the name of "Cannonball."

Those delightful days at Robinson's Mill were filled with wonders. The first automobiles in the country were being put on the market. Sam Robinson had the first Model T touring car and Frank Gordon, the blacksmith at the mill, had the first runabout. But up to this time, oxen were used as motive power. Fred Quigley had a team, so did Jim Dunham; the latter used to hitch them to his democrat buggy.

Boys earned spending money in ingenious ways. A lucrative sideline was old bottles. You were paid three and five cents each for them. They were plentiful, too, for a lumberjack without a bottle-well, there were none.

There was no such thing as privacy in mail services. Brought to Robinson's Mill in a canvas bag, it was dumped into a box near the general store and everybody went over and looked over the mail, taking his own from the pile. There were lots of post cards—they were only one cent each—and the curious had plenty of opportunity to read the cards while distributing mail and hoping to find some addressed to himself. Did complaints to Washington finally rid the mill of this abuse and daily pleasure?

Earl remembers an accident that would have cost the mill company a piece of money to replace a plate glass window in the store. A slingshot that he was manufacturing backfired and damaged the glass. No one knew the particulars but himself and he would not tell. It still remains, one of the deep, dark secrets of life at Robinson's Mill.

There is always a bully, a man to be feared, at every lumber camp. As far as Earl was concerned, that man at the Robinson Mill was David R. Root. He was somewhat of a character but Earl had steered clear of him until the fateful day, when the men in camp egged him on to say something disrespectful to the old chap. His backing made him brave for the time being, but the man's threat to cut his ear off had the desired effect. Fear lurked everywhere;

Root even carried a wicked looking knife to support his statement. Cornered at last, Earl blurted out an apology. And the ogre that Root seemed to be, why, he patted the boy on the shoulder, gave him 25 cents—a magnificent sum of money in those days—and a boy relieved of fears was again monarch of all he surveyed.

Perhaps the most thrilling experience of life at the mill came the day they left to make their home at Taft. Earl's mother, his two sisters and himself had ridden in the engine until they reached the washout. There had been no accident, but the only course left was for the "passengers" to get out of the locomotive and walk around the washout when they would reboard the engine. Backing an estimated distance, throttle open and full speed ahead, the engineer and his fireman made the dash to get over the quarter of a mile of submerged track and the water running across the tracks. It all turned out as planned and almost in less time than it takes to write it. Passengers were again bound for South Branch in the camp locomotive and would soon take the D&M there for Taft.

The eras of lumbering and railroading have closed. Only memories remain and the friendship of years.

Morris Heads Speedway; Had Lived at Hale

William Morris, a former resident of Hale, has been hired by the Whittemore Racing Association as speedway manager. The track opened its gates for the 26th season on May 25.

For the past five years, Morris has handled the press and public relations for the Owosso Speedway and is serving as secretary-treasurer for the newly-formed Michigan Speedway Promoters Association. Whittemore Speedway has joined with 19 other Michigan speedways as part of the MSPA "Carling Circuit of Champions" and on July 2 is to host this event. This statewide circuit brings some of the very best cars and drivers to local tracks as they compete for points toward a season championship that will pay the top 20 drivers over $10,000 in point money at the end of the season.

Cheerleader Coach Signed at TA School

Cheerleading sponsor and coach at Tawas Area School next term will be Mrs. Sue Dalbeck, who has college cheerleading and high school cheerleading sponsorship.

Mrs. Dalbeck will conduct the training during the remainder of the present term and next summer of the following squads: Freshmen, junior varsity, varsity, girls' basketball.

Each of the four squads will have six members and no alternates. There will be one squad in each of the above cases and will operate the year around. There will be no separate squad for boys' football and basketball as Mrs. Dalbeck felt it would not be worthwhile to train someone for only eight games.

Iosco School Electors to Name Trustees, Decide on Millages

Annual elections to select board of education trustees are to be held by Iosco County's four school districts on Monday, June 10. All registered voters are eligible to receive a ballot and are urged to participate in this elective process which names the local citizens responsible for adopting school policies to guide functions of each school district for the next four years.

In addition to naming trustees, voters in each school district are to decide the fate of special tax rate proposals which boards of education are proposing for school operation during the upcoming 1974-75 term.

These millage elections are unique in the operation of tax supported functions in that it is one of the few times a resident "has the say" if he is willing to support school operation with additional tax money. Until a few years ago, a decision on raising taxes was limited only to taxpayers, but a court decision gave the right to each registered elector to receive a millage proposal ballot, regardless of property ownership.

Until the mid-1960s, millage proposals for school operation were unknown in Iosco County. Because of its favorable position of having an extremely high tax base, Iosco traditionally had granted a larger slice of the 15-mill tax pie split by the county tax allocation board than the majority of the state's school districts.

Despite increasing cost of local governmental and school operation each year, Iosco was still able to finance cost of operating schools, the county and townships through the 15 mills of taxes split annually by the allocation board. There were controversies each spring at tax allocation time concerning budget needs, but increased state aid payments always seemed to "bail" schools out of financial trouble.

In 1965, the picture for most of Iosco's schools suddenly changed as a new state aid formula was adopted which benefited school districts with a low valuation. The formula that year decreed that those districts with less than $13,000 per child in local valuation would receive up to $380 per pupil if the district levied 14.5 mills in school operational taxes. Because of its $16,363 valuation behind each child, Tawas Area School District received $179.73 per child that year, which actually amounted to an increase over the previous year.

With each succeeding year, the state has increased its minimum requirement for local operation to receive full state aid. The county allocation board reached the point where budgets could not be met with the 15 mills of taxes under its control. Despite the fact that schools received 8½ mills of taxes in 1967, a one-half mill increase over the previous year, Tawas Area School had its first millage vote in August of 1967. Voters approved that 1½-mill proposition.

Since then, operational costs of both county government and schools have continued to skyrocket; at the same time, growth of the county saw the valuation behind each child grow to a point where local school districts were penalized under the state aid formula. That valuation growth has now reached the point where

Hale Area School's valuation behind each child has exceeded the state's maximum allowance and it will receive no state aid membership in 1974-75; during the current year, it received $86,000 in state aid payments.

With more than $34,000 in valuation behind each child, Tawas Area School District is rapidly approaching the $39,000 cutoff for state aid. The result has been that taxpayers in these school districts are paying a larger share of school operation costs. State aid money formerly received by the district is going to other school districts in the state with a less favorable valuation position.

The local problem has been compounded by the fact that county operational costs, too, have increased due to inflation. Only last week, the county allocation board in its preliminary tax split decided that it would cut the school's share of taxes by .6 of a mill and county operation was increased by the same amount. As it now stands, unless a change is made in the final order next week, schools are to receive 9.1 mills of taxes and the county is to receive 4.6 mills.

No answer is now available on how schools are to make up this operational deficiency, unless programs are cut back, as operational millage rates have already been established for submitting to school electors on Monday, June 10.

TAWAS AREA SCHOOL

Voters of Tawas Area School District will name a trustee to fill one vacancy and will decide the fate of a special operational tax proposal which seeks renewal of nine mills of taxes, which expired at the end of the term, and two mills additional to meet inflation. The school's operational budget for 1974-75 is $1,869,734.

Only one candidate filed nominating petitions for the trustee vacancy on the board of education, caused by the decision of Robert W. Elliott to retire at the end of his present term. That candidate is David C. Kennedy, bakery owner at East Tawas and a resident of Tawas City.

HALE AREA SCHOOL

Voters of Hale Area School District will select two candidates out of a slate of three persons to fill two vacancies on the board of education, as well as deciding on a millage proposal.

The operational tax proposal calls for renewal of 12.5 mills for two years, plus 1.8 mills of additional operational taxes. Voters there rejected a 2.5-mill additional tax proposal in April. Because of the district's valuation increase, the amount necessary to balance the budget in additional taxes was lowered to 1.8 mills.

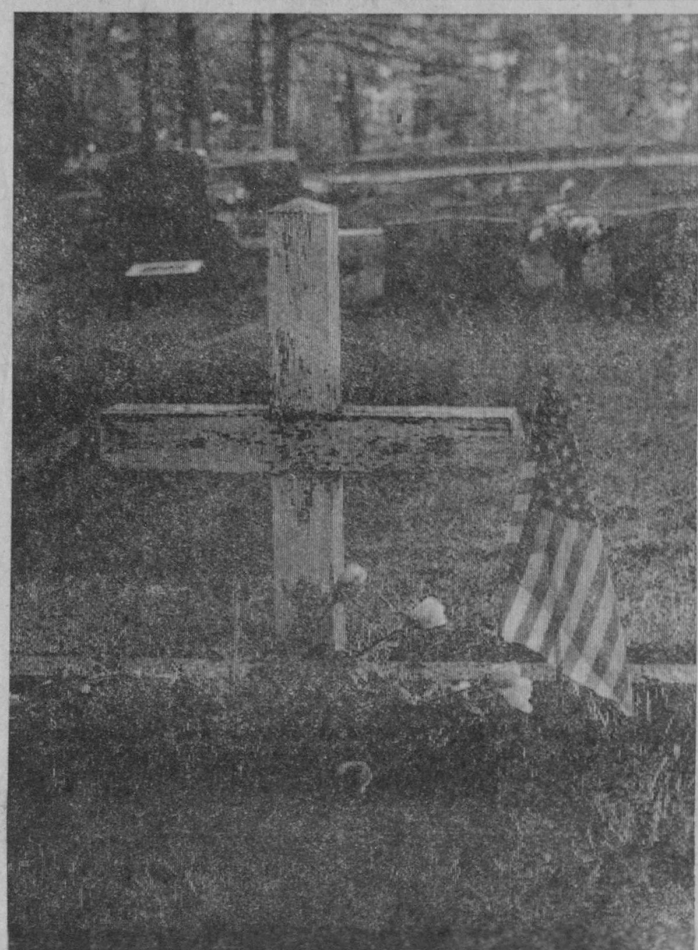

Seeking re-election are two veteran members of the board of education, Ellsworth Bernard and Leiland Dahne. Mrs. Grace Smith of Little Long Lake is the third candidate. Mrs. Smith and her husband, Edward, retired to the Hale area three years ago, after maintaining a summer residence there for 13 years. A retired school teacher, Mrs. Smith received a bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University and taught school at Richmond, Elkton and Syracuse, New York, before teaching at Saginaw for 25 years. She is a life member of the Michigan Education Association, a member of the National Education Association and a member of the Retired Teachers Association.

WHITTEMORE-PRESCOTT AREA

Voters of Whittemore - Prescott Area School District will receive but one ballot in the Monday, June 10, election. District voters adopted a 12½-mill proposition for two years in 1973 and the district's allocation is pegged at 9½ mills by Ogemaw County. The district has an operational budget of $1,200,000 for 1974-75.

Five candidates will vie for two positions as trustee on the board of education. Candidates include two incumbents, A. Emil Sztanyo, currently serving as president, and Mrs. Lillian Smith. The three new candidates are Ronald Horn, businessman; Robert N. Dickson, a grocery store operator, and John Lehner, a railroad employee.

VETERANS ORGANIZATIONS in various Iosco County communities conducted services Monday at cemeteries to honor the nation's war dead. Graves of deceased servicemen were decorated with wreaths and American flags.—Tawas Herald Photo.

LARGE Canadian geese recently released on Tawas Lake are traveling downstream to "visit" home owners along the Tawas River. Wings of the geese have been clipped to prevent the birds from flying, the idea being that the geese will nest and establish a flock on Tawas Lake. David Lamb
Received
EMU Degree

David C. Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lamb of Tawas City, was awarded his bachelor of business administration degree at commencement exercises recently held on the Eastern Michigan University campus, Ypsilanti. Lamb, a major in accounting in the college of business, will begin work with Plante Moran of Southfield on June 1. Plante Moran is a public accounting firm.

Lamb was on the dean's list while at Eastern, graduating in the top 10 percent of his class in the college of business with a 3.31 grade point average out of a 4.00, the highest attainable.

Lamb graduated from Meadville (Pennsylvania) Senior High School and attended Washtenaw County Community College prior to enlisting in the navy for three years.

He and his wife, Beverly, and two children currently live at 535 Skydale Drive, Ann Arbor.

Sand Lake

Last Saturday evening, 61 persons attended a mother-daughter dinner at the fire hall. Following the meal, readings and recitations were presented by Teresa Davis, Peggy Ponke, Connie Davis, Heleine Smith. A trio of girls, Julie and Katie Davis and Kathy Triplet, sang for the group. Floral pieces were presented to Mrs. Ross Butler, oldest mother present; Christine Cordner, largest family; Carol Hofacer, youngest mother, and Lee Kalafut won a door prize.

Mrs. Samuel Cowgill is a patient at Tawas Hospital.

The conclusion of the Monday afternoon euchre tournament for the retirees found Hazel Buzzard in first place; Valdean Musk, second; John Skrocki, third, and Joan Skrocki, fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Stearl Herbert toured to Mackinaw City where they spent the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fleming and family of Pontiac enjoyed the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Gladys Lane.

At a banquet attended by members of the Sunday night pool league and their wives at Skidway Lake last Sunday, the Sand Bar and its team members received inscribed trophies for being league champions.

Harold Curtis had as house-guests for a few days his mother, Mrs. Emily Curtis, and sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whiting, all of Haslett, and his son, Jack Curtis of Springport.

Troop No. 922, Sand Lake, along with several hundred other boy scouts held a spring camporee at Wurtsmith Air Force Base last week-end. Competition centered around first aid. The boys, with their leader, William Armstrong, scoutmaster, and assistants, Thomas Schultz, Mark LaPalme and Thomas Cordner, were escorted on a tour of the base. Four local scouts, Thomas Schultz, Kenneth Krumm, Mark Cordner and Anthony Sutton, were tapped out for the Order of the Arrow.

—Editorial—

Financing Landfill Operation With Federal Money Poses Problem

Iosco County Board of Commissioners should be wary about committing federal revenue sharing funds for operation of a county sanitary landfill facility. The taxpayers, as well as city and township officials, should be aware, too, of the possible pitfalls connected with the use of short-term funds for a long-term operation.

Next month, county commissioners are expected to take action on a proposed contract with Multi-County Landfill west of the Tawas on Monument Road to provide service to the entire county at a rate of $75,000 annually. As part of the contract, the county would purchase a piece of equipment at $40,000 and turn it over to the landfill contractor, the cost to be reimbursed to the county from annual contractual payments over a period of five years.

Even though we do not believe the county should be in the equipment financing business, this editorial is not intended to be critical of Multi-County Landfill. At the present time, this private firm serves East Tawas, Tawas City and Grant Township and no complaint has been heard by this newspaper relative to the operation or to the contracts; in fact, only praise has been heard of the operation.

What is of concern, however, is that the county commission is considering the use of federal revenue sharing money to enter into an annual contract for serving the entire county. When the idea of returning federal funds to local areas was discussed several years ago, it was emphasized that the program would be funded for at least five years—at the end of that time, the entire concept could be scrapped. The third entitlement period starts in July of this year.

Of importance, however, was the original concept of the program. Emphasis was placed on the fact that such funds should not be used to reduce operational taxes, but should primarily be used for long-range capital outlay programs. (Admittedly, there is a clause in the regulations allowing an expenditure of federal revenue sharing funds in the case of public health, etc.)

Should federal revenue sharing funds suddenly "dry up" through a change in policy, Iosco's general fund would be saddled with an annual expense of $75,000. The only alternative to financing, for that sum of money would not be available in the county general fund, would be to ask voters to adopt millage for an ongoing operation.

But the whole point gets back to the use of the county's federal revenue sharing money to lower operational expenses for townships and cities. There are a number of capital outlay projects that the county has financed with federal revenue sharing money. Another possible project would be a bridge replacement program and there are others. Townships and cities receive federal revenue sharing funds, too, and an example of excellent utilization of that money was in construction of plant mix blacktop streets in Tawas City and East Tawas—the construction actually should reduce maintenance for many years.

Operation of a sanitary landfill is a costly proposition, but from this point of view it should be financed by the local units and not with county revenue sharing funds. A private contractor is presently operating and meeting state regulations. If the "air was cleared" on this matter, perhaps those units which do not have an approved landfill could adopt the necessary tax rate and make arrangements with that contractor. Should federal revenue sharing be stopped, millage would be the only answer for operation, anyway.
