Smoke Bombs Reveal Only Minor Leaks

Tawas City Department of Public Works is awaiting a written report from its engineering consultant concerning last week's smoke bombing of sanitary sewer mains.

Indications are that the three-block business area along Lake Street is not contributing substantially to infiltration of ground water into the sanitary sewer system.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said Friday that preliminary results of the survey were a surprise to him.

"We had believed that the area from Mathews Street to Wheeler Street was the major cause of ground water infiltration. But we found only a few instances where buildings were in violation of the ordinance which prohibits roof drains from entering sanitary sewer mains," said Bublitz.

In addition, the survey did not disclose any areas where broken sewer mains contributed to infiltration of storm water.

Upon receipt of the report from Edmonds Engineering Company, information compiled during the survey is to be submitted to the state health department.

The city manager said that the state may require additional testing of mains.

The survey came about as a requirement of the health department in order for the city to construct its new force main between the Second Avenue lift station and waste water treatment plants. Because of the large amount of ground water received by the lift station during storms, the state would not approve construction of the force main.

The city manager said that ground water infiltration into the sanitary sewer system would have to be corrected as any excess water would only cause a disposal problem at the waste water treatment plant.

A representative of Edmonds reported last week that the state may require the city to hire a contractor with special television monitoring equipment to make a survey of the sewer system.

In last week's survey, smoke bombs were placed in manholes and air was forced into the mains.

Bublitz said he was pleased with the cooperation shown by property owners in the survey.

Tawas Area Board Pledges Continuance of Conference

Continuation of the Northern B Conference, even if competition is limited to only four schools, appears to be certain.

Upon receipt of letters from Essexville Garber, Carrollton and Oscoda, stating that those schools were pledged to remain in the NBC, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night adopted a resolution firmly stating it would remain in the NBC and gave assurances for continuation of the league.

Four schools, Standish-Sterling, Pinconning, Gladwin and Ogemaw Heights, have adopted resolutions indicating that they will withdraw from the NBC at the end of the 1975-76 term.

According to information at Monday night's meeting, Ogemaw Heights was to reconsider its action announced recently to withdraw from the NBC. Supt. Robert Halle of Tawas Area said, however, that it did not appear likely that Ogemaw Heights would reverse its previous decision.

It was reported that officials of Standish-Sterling, Gladwin, Pinconning and Ogemaw Heights had met with officials of Whittemore-Prescott Area School to discuss a constitution and bylaws for a proposed new conference.

Halle said he had made an effort to arrange a meeting between superintendents of the present NBC member schools concerning possible changes in the constitution. He said that schools leaving the conference had shown no interest in including Oscoda Area School in any plans.

James Papenfus, athletic director at Tawas Area School, said that Gladwin, Pinconning and Standish-Sterling were firmly committed to "get out of the NBC" and he did not believe officials of those schools would change their minds.

A last minute effort to encourage the bolting member schools to remain in the NBC had been made last week by officials of Carrollton, Essexville Garber and Tawas Area. It was the suggestion of those schools that two divisions be formed in class B and C competition, with trophies to be awarded in each division.

Halle felt that this school district should not close the door entirely on the previous invitation to join the proposed new league, should anything happen that the NBC would not be continued.

The NBC was organized in 1962 by class B schools formerly comprising the old Northeastern Michigan Conference. Essexville Garber and Carrollton were later added as members.

School Registration Starts Next Week

Alexander emphasized that students who are out of the community or unable to register on the above dates may do so at any time during week days prior to the start of school.

The new term is scheduled to start for students on Wednesday, September 3. Teachers are to report Tuesday, September 2, the day after Labor Day, for an orientation session.

Issue Warrants on Auto Vandalism

Warrants were issued against two Tawas men Monday in connection with a Sunday night vandalism spree which saw 10 new automobiles damaged and a five-foot by 10-foot plate glass window smashed in a Tawas City business place.

Charged with malicious destruction of property over $100, a felony, were Terry Cowan, 19, and Wayne Evans, 20, both of East Tawas. A third man arrested Sunday night, Mark Wainwright, 20, was not charged, having been held on an out-of-state warrant. He posted bond and is to appear before authorities in the State of Kentucky.

Iosco Sheriff's Department was called to McKay Sales Company's lot in Tawas City at 9:40 p. m. when witnesses observed two persons kicking in the sides of nine automobiles parked in the lot. Before officers arrived, a plate glass window was smashed at Alpena Candy Company and the men drove off in a van type truck.

Officers learned later that a 10th automobile had been vandalized at William Look and Sons, East Tawas.

Three warrants each were issued against Cowan and Evans. Bond for each man totals $4,500 and they are being held at the county jail.

Historical Theme for Parade

THE ANNUAL parade during Sand Lake Summer Festival last Saturday had a bicentennial theme with a number of participants dressed in costumes from the colonial days. The picture at top shows a float with some of this region's original inhabitants. They are American Indians from the Mt. Pleasant Reservation. The women displayed some of their basket work. Parade participants at right portrayed a different era and were wearing bathing suits similar to those worn by early vacationers to the Sand Lake area. The parade featured a number of antique automobiles, modern and old-fashioned fire trucks, the Iosco County Sheriff's Posse and other riding units.—Tawas Herald Photos.

McKay Starts Construction on New Sales-Service Bldg.

Construction started Friday on a new 26,000-square-foot building to house McKay Sales Company. Presently located on Lake Street in Tawas City, the new building is to be located one mile east of the East Tawas city limit at Baldwin Center on US-23.

L. G. McKay, president of McKay Sales Company, said it is hoped the building will be ready for occupancy by January 11, 1976, which will mark the date when the firm was established 60 years ago by the late L. G. McKay Sr. McKay said, however, that the entire one-half-million-dollar project probably would not be completed until March.

Contractor for the work is Davison and Son Builders, Tawas City. The 150 by 180-foot metal building is to have a brick and stone exterior with asphalt paved drives. It is to be located on five acres of land.

The interior is to have a 60 by 80-foot show room capable of displaying six cars, a 40 by 60-foot service reception area which will include drive-in facilities for estimates, a 120 by 150-foot service area with body and paint shop, along with parts department, all under one roof.

The firm is dealer for Chevrolet and Cadillac automobiles.

DISPLAYING some of the equipment with which he has transmitted and received code and voice signals over the past 55 years as an amateur radio operator is Albert H. Buch of Tawas City. He noted that the equipment has become more compact and more efficient over the years, comparing the spark transmitter at right with the modern transmitter and receiver at left.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Ham Operator Ends 55th Year at Same Location

A bit of local history was in the making two weeks ago in an old two-story frame home on Sixth Avenue in Tawas City, but few people were aware of it—unless they were amateur radio operators.

On Christmas Day, 1919, an empty oatmeal box wrapped with copper wire served as the receiving apparatus for the first wireless telegraphy contact ever received in the community. The young man who was thrilled by that first radio contact 55 years ago sent his last transmission from that location at 6:08 p. m., Thursday, July 31.

The "ham" radio operator was Albert H. Buch, retired register of deeds, who has had the call, 8AMS, for nearly as long as he has been interested in radio. The final transmission only involved a distance of three miles between the two points, but it actually involved a change from 200 meters to two meters in the ham radio operator's equipment.

"I became interested in wireless radio telegraphy from articles in the newspaper during the Titanic disaster in 1912. While attending Tawas City High School, I read all the books available on wireless telegraphy and, with only two books on the subject in the library, the information was meager," said Buch.

No receiving and transmitting was allowed during World War I and, effective October 1, 1918, all restrictions on amateurs and amateur radio stations were removed. In the summer of 1919, J. William Anderson of East Tawas, who had served in the navy as a radio electrician visited the Buch Market in Tawas City and introduced himself to the junior partner, whom he had learned was interested in radio.

Manufactured wireless radio equipment was unavailable in local stores and the two men began to build their own equipment. There were no vacuum tubes in those days and a Model T Ford spark coil came in handy for a spark transmitter. Copper wire was wrapped around an empty oatmeal box for a receiver and homemade Marconi inverted L aerials were installed at the homes of the two men.

"After saving our money and making our own gear, we made our first wireless contact on Christmas Day, 1919," recalled Buch. "It really was a thrill to hear someone answering our call. Anderson used the call, SMN, and I used the call, TAB, both self assigned as one did not need a call given by the department of commerce unless there was interference with a government or commercial radio station."

The nearest government station was at Alpena and the only commercial station in this region was at Rogers City.

Later, both of the men acquired one-half kilowatt spark transmitter. (See BUCH, page 6.)

Investigate Five Personal Injury Accidents Over Week-End

Iosco County Sheriff's Department investigated five personal injury accidents and three larcenies last week.

Larceny complaints were registered by Harry Beland, Oscoda, who reported the theft of fishing equipment from his garage; Edward Barrett, theft of an outboard motor at Long Lake; Ronald Timreck, Tawas City, theft of tools.

Passengers riding in two cars were injured Sunday afternoon in a three-vehicle crash on Lake Street in front of the county jail. Officers said that a car driven by Clarence G. King, 86, Comins, attempted to make a left hand turn before traffic had cleared. King's car was struck from the rear by one driven by Esther D. Elliott, Flint. The Elliott car was struck in the rear by a motorbike driven by Dennis G. Scholtz, 26, Tawas City.

Mary J. King, wife of the first driver, was treated at Tawas Hospital. Lauren Elliott, 66, a passenger in the second car, received minor injuries. The motor bike rider escaped injuries.

Edward Sisco, 21, Saginaw, was treated Friday at Tawas Hospital after the car in which he was riding rolled over on M-65, one-half mile south of Kokosing Road, Plainfield Township. Officers said that the car was driven by James E. Thorne, 16, Saginaw.

Janet K. Salgat, 22, was treated for injuries Saturday when her motorbike went out of control on Seven Mile Hill west of Oscoda.

Michael Lorimer, 12, Birmingham, was treated Wednesday at Tawas Hospital when he lost his balance while operating a minibike on Douglas Drive, Alabaster Township.

John R. Brooky, 22, Rochester, was treated Thursday at Tawas Hospital when he drove into a ditch along Long Lake Road. The driver told officers he ran off the road to avoid a dog.

Tawas Area Board Leases Car for New Superintendent

Leasing of an automobile for use of the superintendent on school business was authorized Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

A leasing proposal from Barbier Motor Sales was accepted by the board of education. The arrangement calls for leasing a four-door sedan for 24 months at a cost of $157 per month. Barbier would furnish oil, grease and tuneups for the car.

According to the arrangement with Dr. Robert Halle, the superintendent would pay any cost of insurance not covered by the school's policy and would pay for gasoline used within the confines of the district's 167 square miles.

Gasoline used for his attendance at meetings outside of the district would be paid by the school.

Carl Babcock, president of the board of education, said that the vehicle would be used strictly for job related duties of the superintendent.

"We are not starting a motor pool situation and it is not intended to have the car used by every administrator," said Babcock.

The last car purchased for the use of a superintendent was in 1967. The vehicle, a station wagon, was later used for other school transportation and is now used to transport hot lunches.

In other business, the superintendent, Prin. John Alexander, Trustee David Kennedy and Babcock were named to a committee to review and update present operating procedures and policies of the board of education. The remainder of the board of education is to study presented printed policies and advise of past changes.

It was stated that operating procedures and policies of the board of education had not been updated in about five years. A number of questions concerning use of school facilities have been received by the new superintendent and the printed operating procedures and policies do not indicate changes over the past four or five years.

A state aid payment of $38,800 was received on August 4. The board of education is to meet with officials of Peoples State Bank concerning investment of the $662,390.63 received August 11 in the school's tax anticipation notes and interest accrued while the money was held by Michigan National Bank of Saginaw, low bidder on furnishing the money.

The next regular meeting of the board of education is to be held Thursday, August 28, rather than on Monday, August 25.

Payment of drivers' salaries for five buses used to transport participants in the junior baseball program to Tiger Stadium is to be paid out of the community education fund.

The board of education is to advertise for bids on furnishing dairy products and bread for the school's lunch program.

A request for leave of absence by Steven Hitch, auto shop teacher, was denied by the superintendent. Hitch had requested the leave of absence after accepting a position elsewhere.

Two Trees Planted Aug. 11 in East Tawas Memorial Strip

Two flowering crab trees were planted August 11 in memory of Mrs. Lottie Valentine and Mrs. Eva McMahon, deceased members of the East Tawas Garden Club. A total of 24 trees have been planted since 1952 in the memorial strip between US-23 and Bay Street at East Tawas.

In charge of the dedication ceremony were Mrs. Frank Wilkusi and Mrs. Erma Wolf.

During the program, an historical review of the project was presented. In June 1950, the late Mrs. L. G. McKay Sr. was the first chairman of the project. The strip was cleaned, raked and low areas filled. Tulip bulbs were planted in the fall.

The following year, the Detroit and Mackinac Railway donated five carloads of black dirt to the project. The Iosco County Road Commission leveled the dirt and provided fertilizer, while the City of East Tawas and State Highway Department provided labor and grass seed.

Petunias were planted in June 1951 and the first grass was cut by Elmer Werth and his son, Robert.

In 1961, the railroad donated ties from which planter boxes were constructed. These boxes are planted each summer by members of Tawas Area High School's Keyette Chapter.

It was announced that the September meeting will be guest night with a catered dinner and a panel on wine making.

Luth-Brindley Marriage Vows Solemnized at Hale

Arrangements of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the altar of St. Pius X Catholic Church, Hale, for the marriage Saturday, August 9, of Lucia M. Brindley and Dale R. Luth.

The Rev. Fr. John Tupper performed the double ring, 2 o'clock service. Keven Ball, organist, accompanied the soloist, Sister Mary Rose Edward, C. S. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Brindley of Hale. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Luth of Zilwaukee are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of organza sheer over taffeta complemented with imported Venice lace. Lace motifs enhanced the capelet sleeves, V neckline and deep flounced floor length skirt, which spread to a graceful chapel train. Her matching lace-edged veil of silk mist bridal illusion was secured by a beaded Juliet head-dress and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Rhonda Sika of Zilwaukee with Mrs. Barbara Martin of Hale and Mrs. Joan Wisniewski of Freeland, bridesmaids. Lisa Wisniewski was flower girl. The couple will reside on County Line Road, Hale, upon their return from a Northern Michigan wedding trip.

The bride, a graduate of Hale Area High School and Delta College, was honored with showers given by Mrs. Wisniewski, Miss Sika and Mrs. Martin. The bridegroom graduated from Saginaw Arthur Hill High School and is now engaged in farming.

ters and improved receiving equipment. In June 1920, Anderson was assigned the call, 8QU, and Buch received the call, 8AMS, in October of 1920.

As vacuum tubes became available, Anderson assembled a tube transmitter where both voice and code could be used. Before broadcasting regulations were in effect, he would place a microphone in front of a phonograph and broadcast music, but this was soon outlawed as too many amateurs were broadcasting.

"My first radio equipment was located on a shelf in my bedroom. When more radio gear was purchased, my bed had to come out of the room," recalled Buch.

The only code received by the amateur radio operators was commercial ship-to-shore traffic on the Great Lakes, along with coastal stations along the Atlantic.

Buch's equipment received the time and weather every night which was broadcast from a naval station at Arlington, Virginia. Two commercial stations, KDKA at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and WWJ at Detroit, began experimenting with voice in the spring of 1920 and a government station was established with voice at Dayton, Ohio.

"When I would tell customers in my father's store that I heard someone talk on my radio, they believed I was ready to be sent to Traverse City," laughed Buch. "Things have really changed in the past 55 years and, since television came into being, we can hear and see things in any part of the world—even from the moon."

To remain on the 200-meter wavelength to which they were assigned, Anderson and Buch pooled their resources and purchased an Amrad absorption type wavemeter, which is still around but not used as amateurs were assigned more and higher frequencies.

Radio engineers, at that time believed that higher frequencies were not good for transmission of radio signals and aerials had to be from one to two miles in length for overseas transmission. Today, amateurs talk all over the world with an aerial only 25 feet in length.

One of Buch's personal highlights in amateur radio was when he heard voice signals of the Chicago Tribune-McMillan Expedition to Greenland. "I heard the voices of the Eskimos talking and singing to the accompaniment of a one-stringed instrument, which sounded weird."

Radio in the early 1920s was a "cut and try" proposition, according to Buch. "We just did not know what to expect when we changed aerials or tried a different receiver hookup."

Buch read a magazine article concerning a new type of single wire aerial and, together with Alan Prescott, W8DL, of Tawas City, built one of the new aerials and put it into operation. "In one hour, we worked both coasts and the Gulf of Mexico. About six weeks later, I received a card from a British general who heard my signals in Africa."

The last transmission from Buch's home two weeks ago was with John Alexander, W8GZF, at East Tawas, only five blocks away from Anderson's home, site of the first transmission in that community.

"During 55 years, I have transmitted and received from 200 to two meters in the same location. If we look into the future, what will happen in the next 55 years," Buch wonders.

2 Burglaries Investigated by State Police

Two breakings and enterings, one larceny, a vandalism complaint and a personal injury accident were investigated last week by Michigan State Police.

Approximately $50 in currency was stolen Wednesday at Bill's Sport Center, 724 East Bay Street, East Tawas. Entry into the building was made by kicking a panel out of the garage door.

A quantity of antique furniture and household items was stolen from a cabin owned by Leon Yoder, Oscoda.

Robert Rosenow, manager of Mackinac Land and Cattle Company, Burleigh Township, reported that a 1,500-pound bull had been shot and killed in a field near the intersection of Mill Station and Prescott Roads. The animal was valued at $900.

Theodore Germain of Mayville reported Friday that five 10-speed bicycles had been stolen from a cabin at Sand Lake. Germain said he was in charge of a group of 10 boys vacationing at Sand Lake. The bicycles had been chained together Thursday night and five bicycles were missing the next morning.

Charles C. Hayes, 26, Tawas City, was treated early Sunday morning at Tawas Hospital. Officers said that Hayes was headed west on M-55 and drove off the road to avoid hitting a motorbike which stopped suddenly in his path. Three passengers in the car escaped injury.

Tawas Indies Lost, 10-1, to Barton City

Barton City scored eight runs in the ninth inning Sunday to down the Tawas Indies, 10-1. Included in the rally was a two-run homer by Nahgahgwon, winning pitcher.

The two teams had battled on even terms until that time. Tawas scored one run in the top of the fifth inning when Rick Youngs singled to score Gene Jordan.

Barton City scored two runs in the last of the fifth inning on a single by Dehnke, a walk to Karsbe and a single by Thompson.

Clarence Jordan, losing pitcher, was shelled for 14 hits during the day. He walked two batters in the big eighth inning.

Tawas batters collected seven hits during the day. Pat and Gene Jordan were batting leaders with two hits each. T. Katona was top hitter for the winners with a double and two singles.

Expect Competition Between Facilities for Iosco's Patients

Iosco County Medical Care Facility can expect competition for patients during the first year of operation of a new private long term care facility, but statistics indicate the need for additional beds to care for elderly patients in the area and both institutions eventually should be filled to capacity.

This was the word Wednesday from representatives of Provincial Homes, Incorporated, Lansing which has announced that it will construct a new private facility northeast of the Fifth Avenue-M-55 intersection.

Appearing before the July meeting of the county board of commissioners, Jeffrey Poorman and Dennis Sherman of Provincial Homes said that construction of the 117-bed facility would start in the spring of 1976, with completion anticipated in 1977.

The firm's proposal to construct a private institution here was recently given approval by the Michigan Health Department's Division of Health Facility and Construction.

An application by the administrator of the county's medical care facility for a 70-bed addition had been withdrawn last month after the county was notified by the state that the proposed addition would not be approved. Federal regulations require prior state approval of such capital cost projects and are handled by the state health department.

Poorman emphasized that Provincial Homes had nothing to do with the denial of Iosco's application. "We are not afraid to compete for patients and our policy is that competition improves care for patients," he stated.

Roy Bergstrom, director of the county medical care facility, appeared before the board of commissioners last month and pointed out that the facility is presently operating at its lowest efficiency and should be expanded to 100 or 125 beds in order to become self sustaining. The county's facility has 64 beds and the 70-bed addition had an estimated cost of $1,250,000. Due to the high cost and lack of financing indicated on the application, the state said it would deny this county's application.

Bergstrom said last month that the per patient day cost had risen in the county facility to $35 and the county could end up paying $85,000 for annual operation, or it could be faced with cutting back personnel and services. The facility has operated for 8 1/2 years without operational cost to Iosco, but the higher cost of operation has changed the financial picture this year.

Sherman, who is project and operations director for the Lansing firm, said that Provincial's top daily rate for skilled care would be $24. The average cost per patient would be $23 daily.

The new long term care facility will be competing with the county for medicare and medicaid patients. The top reimbursement for a medicaid patient is $21.35 daily for skilled medical care and $19.70 for basic patient care.

In making its decision to establish a facility here, Poorman said that the firm had made extensive use of federal census statistics for Iosco County and the surrounding region. He said those statistics indicated the area presently needs 130 beds and that need would grow to 150 beds in a short time. By 1980, 200 beds would be required.

Poorman said that from 25 to 50 patients from this area were presently receiving care in other parts of the state. He said that quality of care for a patient suffers when a person is forced to leave his home area, pointing out that visits by a family member are important to the recovery and rehabilitation of patients. He said that facilities should have a convenient location and should not be more than a 20-minute drive from the family's home.

Poorman said that Provincial had been in the nursing home business since 1968 and presently operates 14 facilities in Michigan as well as a hospital and a day care school. The firm also manages the Battle Creek American Legion Home.

He said that all but one of the long term care facilities owned by the firm had 98 percent occupancy. About 60 percent of the counties in which Provincial operates long term care facilities have publicly-operated facilities.

Last week, members of the county board of commissioners visited one of Provincial Homes facilities at Alpena.

"We want to come here to serve and be a part of the community; if we are not wanted, we do not wish to be here," said Poorman. "We have designed a quality facility, will provide quality nursing care and want to serve the Tawas area."

Poorman said that Provincial had made an agreement with Edward Davison Jr. to purchase 4 1/2 acres of land northeast of the Fifth Avenue-M-55 intersection for the site of the new facility. At one time, Davison was job foreman for Provincial in construction of the facility at Alpena and at other locations.

Poorman said the firm was primarily in construction, but its

Iosco Sheriff Wants His Department Relieved of Animal Control Function

No action was taken Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners on a request by Sheriff George Westcott to have his department relieved of its present animal control function.

Westcott stated that he felt that animal control was not a proper responsibility of his department, pointing out that state law provides the county board of commissioners may hire an animal control officer.

The sheriff stated there are many counties where animal control is not a function of the sheriff's department. He proposed that an ordinance be adopted by the county which would create a separate animal control department.

As an alternative, he said he would be willing to have animal control officers operate under his supervision if appointed by the board of commissioners.

Westcott said he was tired of having members of his department picking up dogs and, after the animals are released, receiving a call to pick up the same dogs. He believed a county ordinance was necessary and recommended that an officer be hired by the commission. He said he wished to avoid hard feelings in his appointment of an animal control officer.

At one time, the position of dog warden was on a contractual basis in this county. During the administration of the previous sheriff, an additional deputy sheriff was needed and the contractual dog warden position was abolished, with the work being handled by the sheriff's department. Later, a deputy sheriff was designated as animal control officer.

In other business, James Steck, owner of Van Air Aviation and a retired air force officer, requested that he be appointed fixed base operator at the Iosco County Airport.

Steck said he had been appointed assistant airport manager last October by W. C. Roach, present airport manager. He was recently released from that $50-a-month position and the former assistant manager was re-hired.

Steck proposed that a full time airport manager be appointed at the same salary as Roach is presently receiving, $4,500 a year. He claimed that the present manager was spending only a few hours each week at the position.

He said that fees and rentals were not adequate for the fixed base operator and expressed the opinion that the airport needs a thorough cleaning, along with repairs to equipment.

The commission recommended that Steck submit a specific proposal for a fixed base operator, outlining fees and rental charges.

Robert Foster, commission chairman, said he was opposed to subsidizing a fixed base operator, inasmuch as expansion of the airport is currently pending. He expressed the opinion that a fixed base operator could not survive at the county airport.

James Klinger was hired as the new county building custodian, replacing Lionel Butler, who retired last month. Salary for the position is $7,280 annually, with the same fringe benefits received by existing employees with similar work. The 90-day probationary period was waived due to Klinger's previous CETA employment at the sheriff's department.

Following a 90-day probationary period, Francis J. Block was appointed administrator of the county's building and safety inspection department. The annual salary is $10,000.

Edward Sterling's position as an inspector with the above department was made permanent at a salary of $140 per week.

Authorization was given to pay the United States Postal Service $4,500 in back rent for the cooperative extension department's office in the Federal Building, East Tawas. Rent was for the period July 1, 1974, through June 30, 1975. It was recommended that the future monthly rent of $375 be paid upon presentation of an invoice.

The commission authorized hiring a plumbing inspector at a weekly rate of $162, subject to a 20 percent reduction for a 90-day probationary period. The position is to receive the same fringe benefits as other employees with like positions.

A bid of Inglis Ford Sales, Tawas City, was accepted for purchase of an unmarked car by the sheriff's department. Inglis' bid of $4,529.75 was the only one received. A 1972 Dodge being replaced is to be sold to the highest bidder or transferred to another department.

Authorization was given to the clerk and treasurer to disburse funds upon authorization of the prosecuting attorney for transportation of witnesses required in a pending circuit court case. One $549 check was issued Thursday to transport a witness here from California.

Shoreline Players' Melodrama Set for Oscoda's Festival

Shoreline Players, Iosco County's little theatre group, will present a one-act melodrama during the Paul Bunyan Festival at the downtown Oscoda festival grounds. Admission will be free and performances are to be held nightly at 8:00 p. m., August 14-17, with a 2:00 p. m. matinee on Sunday, August 17.

The play, entitled "He Ain't Done Right by Nell," is being jointly sponsored by the Players and the Paul Bunyan Festival Committee. According to producer, Jeriahne Hayslett, it offers the old fashioned melodrama theme popular in the Gay Nineties.

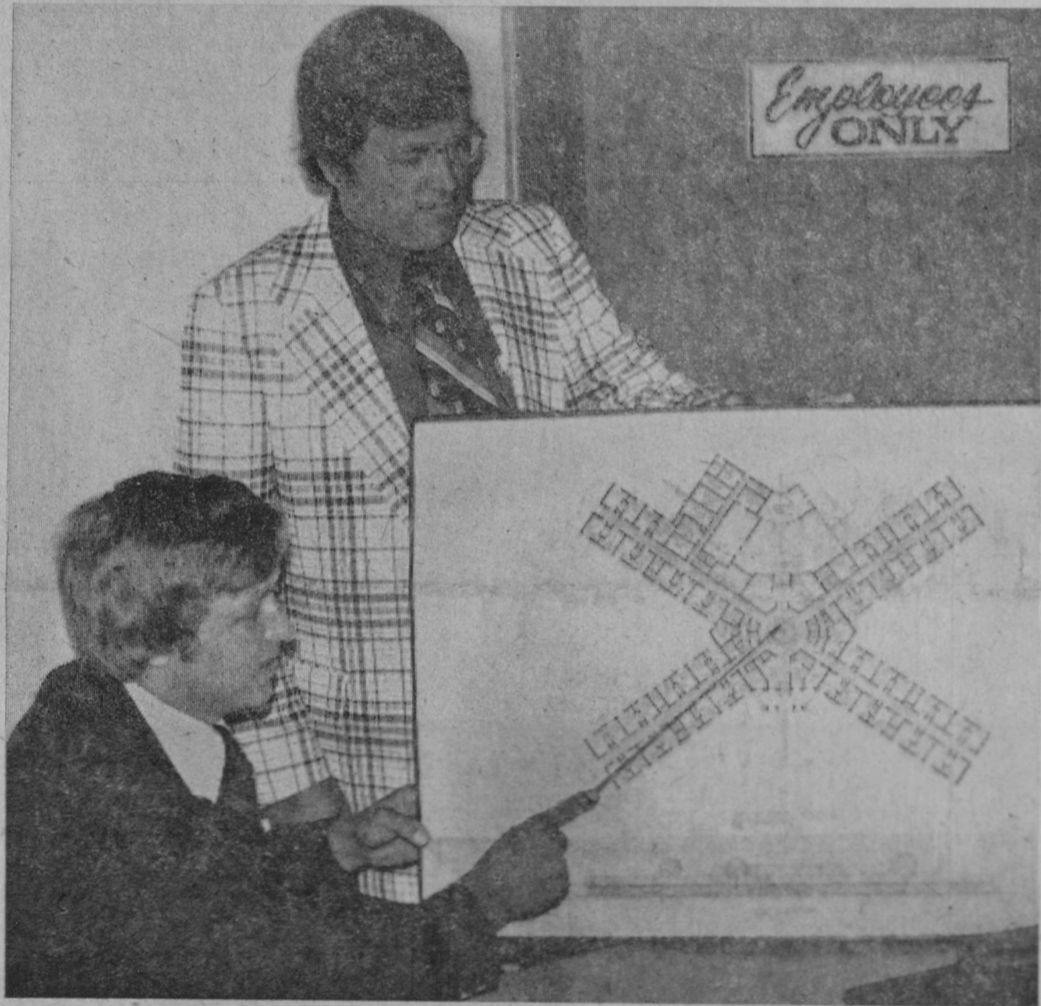

The scene, appropriate for the festival, is set in a mountain lumber mill community. Little Nell Perkins, sweet young heroine, is played by Brenda Ingman, returning for her second appearance with the Players. Debbie Schultz, a youthful newcomer, is cast in the challenging role of Granny Perkins, who carries a well guarded secret.

The classic villain is Hilton Hays and is played by Dana Pellerin, while Rachael Brown portrays the part of Lolly Wilkins, the town's old maid and friend of the Perkins.

Adding to the action are Natalie Rogers as Vera Carleton and Rick Johnson as Jack Logan. Vera is the city bred daughter of the wealthy sawmill owner, while Jack is the manly hero struggling against the greed of the villain. Elmer Strom, veteran of many past Shoreline productions, returns to the stage as Burkett Carleton, Vera's father.

Peggy Strom, director, has mixed a wealth of talent and experience within the cast which, when combined with heroic dialogue and uproarious melodrama, should prove to be a delightful experience for festival goers.

Timber Receipts Drop in Iosco

Receipts to Iosco County from timber sales in Huron-Manistee National Forest will be one-third lower in 1975 than the previous year, according to Kenton P. Clark, forest supervisor.
Last year, Iosco received $10,660.35, which represented 25 percent of all timber sales.
The reduction, according to Clark, is due primarily to lower timber receipts from a depressed timber market. "Hopefully, this situation will improve this fiscal year, along with the nation's economy," said the forest supervisor.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read 2 Corinthians 4:1-6)

The spirit of this world has blinded the minds of those who do not believe, and prevents the light of the glorious gospel of Christ . . . from shining on them. (2 Corinthians 4:4, Phillips)

On that last week-end in September, the Colorado mountains again beckoned the plains-dwellers to see the glory of the golden aspen. As my wife and I drove south-east early in the afternoon, we noticed that on our left the aspen leaves were dull and lifeless, while on the right they shimmered with golden light.

"How dull the leaves look," my wife remarked. Then, the sun rays shone on the leaves and the mystery was solved. "Look!" she exclaimed. "She how they glow when the sun shines through them!"

Beauty of spirit and deed is often found in the world; but the feeding of the hungry, giving refreshment to the thirsty, offering hospitality to a stranger, helping to clothe those in need, comforting the ill or imprisoned—all these acts take on a special, selfless beauty when the light of Christ's love shines through them.

PRAYER

Father, I do try to live in the spirit of Your Son, but sometimes my motives are mixed. Help me to let Christ's light shine through my life and actions so that people may know that it is through Him that light comes. Amen.

New Tax Law Has Many Changes

Legislation currently being considered at Lansing, House Bill 43-03, which would dispose of the state tax sale and replace it with a new method of handling delinquent property taxes, has had 20 amendments proposed, according to the latest count.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie said Thursday that the Michigan Association of County Treasurers has submitted five objections to provisions contained in the proposed bill.

Included in the objections by treasurers is one provision which would require the county treasurer to cause personal service on any occupant or possessor of the parcel of land, who can be found on the premises, rather than by certified mail.

Nelkie said there would be a minimum of 300 descriptions in this county alone on which he would have to notify personally. In Oakland County, which is said to have 20,000 delinquent tax descriptions, the treasurer reported he would need an additional 200 employees to comply with the personal service provision.

Another provision being opposed by county treasurers is one which would require using the last named ownership of delinquent property as recorded in the register of deeds office, rather than the ownership listed on tax roll provided by assessing units.

Nelkie said both of these provisions would greatly increase the work load in treasurer's office throughout the state and would place another burden on taxpayers due to the need for additional personnel.

Treasurers throughout Michigan are still unsure of what is going to happen at tax sale time on Tuesday, October 7. The tax sale was to have been held May-6, but action of the legislature and Governor Milliken delayed the annual sale for six months.

In the future, depending on current legislation, property on which taxes are delinquent and subject to sale would be vested with the state for a period of six months. The owner could reclaim the property during that time, or could choose to receive 90 percent of the sale price of the property when sold by the state.

Presented Lecture Sunday at Christ Episcopal Church

Opening thought to God's power brings "fresh hope and purpose into our lives," Mrs. Barbara Dix Henderson of London, England, told an audience Sunday in East Tawas.

Mrs. Henderson, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, spoke in Christ Episcopal Church.

She held that Christ Jesus' statement, "How blest are those who know their need of God; the kingdom of Heaven is theirs" (New English Bible), is as applicable today as it was 2,000 years ago.

"Jesus obviously thought this moment of knowing our need of God was a pretty important one," she declared. "It's the beginning of a stretching out of thought, a longing for some higher power, an acknowledgement that there is something unseen but surely available that is worth finding."

The lecture was presented under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, East Tawas. Mrs. Henderson was introduced by Earl Hathaway, lecture chairman.

To gain a correct understanding of God we need to yield old concepts and challenge the basis of our most cherished opinions, Mrs. Henderson told her audience.

"This letting go," she said, "is hard and it often hurts—but in the end it heals. With a new, true concept of God, we know that good is present, powerful, active, understood."

The Bible, she continued, contains many examples of those, "whose honest search for God can give us many of the clues we need" in finding a meaningful understanding of God.

Moses' perception of God as a living presence allowed him to accept the challenge of leadership and lead his nation out of Egypt and to within sight of the Promised Land, she explained.

"Whatever our situation is, whatever our race, nationality, color or creed, we can all join in this great Exodus which changes . . . emergency into emergence and aimlessness into purpose."

"Even if we do not know our need of God; He certainly knows our need of Him. He will not allow us to stagnate in a backwater! God had a purpose for Moses—as He has for each one of us."

Mrs. Henderson maintained that God is the only reliable source of good. "God is not some faraway potentate dealing out thunder and lightning and an occasional pat on the back; He is an unflinching source of unflinching good whose law governs us harmoniously."

Everyone's true selfhood, she said, is revealed through spiritual sense or discernment, which gives us unbroken contact with the One Mind, God.

She added, "We all have this spiritual sense. As we develop and use it, we have access to spiritual power."

To illustrate, the lecturer described a number of incidents of spiritual healing, including the healing of her brother who was considered to be fatally injured in an automobile accident.

"This case was in the British medical journal, 'The Lancet,' as the 'miracle of the year,' and the doctors lovingly acknowledged that only God could have healed this condition," she noted.

This is an age, she said, "when spiritual pioneering is desperately needed . . .

"Spiritual pioneering needs courage and determination and insight. It requires the same dauntless qualities used by every great explorer. Add to these qualities a perception of the Love God has for all of us—a perception that God is Love—then nations and people can be led out of limited, material values to spiritual wealth and divine energy."

Divine Love (God) is the greatest "transforming influence in the world," Mrs. Henderson emphasized.

"Love is a vital life-force . . . When our human concept of Love yields to Love's concept of us, we feel this force."

The title of her lecture was "Use Your Spiritual Power."

Alcona AD Electrocuted in Accident

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday, August 6, at St. Anne's Church, Harrisville, for James L. Emington of Lincoln, who was electrocuted Monday, August 4. Burial was in the church cemetery.

The assistant principal and athletic director at Alcona Community High School, Emington sustained an electrical shock in an accident at his home at Track Lake. Alcona County Sheriff's Department deputies said Emington had a soldering iron plugged into an extension cord running from his house and was attempting to solder a crack in his metal boat, which was partially submerged in water.

Born April 28, 1932, at Erie, Pennsylvania, he was married to the former Joan McMurray of Tawas City on February 13, 1953. Emington joined the school system in Alcona County in 1967, had been a physical education teacher and coached the varsity basketball team. He was named assistant principal in July 1974. Beside his wife, he is survived by four sons, Douglas, Roy, Joseph and John; a daughter, JoAnne; five sisters, and two brothers.

Thomas Shillair Works on MSU Energy Saving Project

Thomas Shillair of Tawas City was among 30 students who worked on Michigan State University's entry in the annual Student Competition on Relevant Engineering (SCORE) being held at Sandia, New Mexico, August 11-16. Shillair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shillair of 1246 South US-23 and a 1972 graduate of Tawas Area High School. He is a MSU senior majoring in electrical engineering. His work on the project was for a class at MSU and he will not be making the trip to New Mexico.

The project's adviser, Dr. H. Roland Zapp, and 15 MSU engineering students left East Lansing August 6 for the trip to New Mexico aboard a converted school bus which is the showcase of their various approaches toward solving the energy crisis.

The bus or "alternative energy mobile home" is equipped with four different solar collectors using the sun's rays to heat water for energy, storage and cooking; two different kinds of windmills for generating electricity; a converted oil drum that turns animal or human waste into methane gas for cooking and heating; a computer that regulates all the energy collection and storage devices so each is used to best advantage.

The MSU team will be competing against entries from 38 other universities for national recognition.

To prepare the entry, more than 30 students exerted a considerable amount of manual labor, including some skillful plumbing, welding, wiring, machining and carpentry, as well as much mental effort.

Work began last fall and last minute details continued until the August 11 completion date.

MAKE DULL VEGETABLES A THING OF THE PAST

Cooked vegetables can be as dull as dishwater or as zippy and exciting as a new dessert. It is all in how they are prepared.

Taking advantage of fresh vegetables can add flavor, texture and nutrients to summer meals. Pick or buy and serve them at their peak of fresh flavor. Try different ways to prepare them.

The most common way to cook vegetables is boiling. The vitamins can be boiled right out of vegetables, however, so use as little water as possible and cook no longer than necessary to get them tender; then serve promptly. Overcooking leaves vegetables limp and unappealing and causes high nutrient loss.

Some nutrients will end up in the cooking liquid, no matter how careful you are. Do not just pour the liquids down the drain. Take the cover off the pan for the last few minutes to evaporate the water and return the nutrients to the vegetables. Or save the liquid for use in gravy, soup or sauces.

To prevent the nutrient loss that can occur with boiled vegetables, try steaming. Place the vegetables on a rack in the bottom of a pan that can be covered tightly. Add enough water to make plenty of steam but not enough to reach up to the vegetables. Cover and let boil vigorously. The steam will cook the vegetables without washing away their nutrients.

Green, okra, cabbage, celery, green beans and young beets can be cooked by braising. Slice, dice or shred the vegetable and remove any midribs or heavy stems. Heat one or two tablespoons of fat in a heavy skillet or saucepan, add the vegetable, toss lightly in the fat and add your own favorite seasonings. Cook over low heat until the vegetables are crisp-tender.

If the oven is on for something else, take advantage of it to try baked vegetables. Potatoes are a stand-by for baking, but you can also bake squash, onions, tomatoes, carrots, beets and turnips, to name a few. Slice or shred the vegetables into a casserole, season and moisten with a small amount of water. Cover tightly and bake until tender.

Pan-fried potatoes are not uncommon, but many people stop short of pan-frying other vegetables. Carrots, parsnips, rutabagas and leftover cooked vegetables of many kinds can also be prepared this way. Try eggplant or summer squash dipped in egg and bread crumbs before frying. For a differ-
