

Preliminary Investigation by State in Tawas C. Election

Findings of an election special- ists, concerning a charge of ir- regularities in the November 4 State's office are to be turned over to Bernard Apol, director of elec-submitted shortly to the city council and those making the charges by the election commission.

Thomas Bradford of the election division told the Herald Monday morning that he had made a preliminary investigation last Wednesday but, due to a limited amount of time, was unable to complete interviews with all persons signing a letter of complaint to the state.

He said that Robert Jorgenson of Gaylord, district director of elections for the department of state, was on vacation last week and probably would be called upon to conduct further investigation.

In the meantime, a letter of resignation submitted last Tuesday by City Clerk-Treasurer Mary Byrd was not accepted by City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz and she has continued at her position. Bublitz, who appoints the clerk-treasurer under terms of the city charter, said the resignation was in the form of an office memo.

Bublitz said Friday that Mrs. Byrd was "extremely upset" following last Monday night's council meeting.

Requesting the investigation were Robert N. Rollin, councilman; Herbert W. Cholger, mayor-elect; Lyle Healey, defeated candidate for councilman; Joseph VanDette, president of Tawas Concerned Taxpayers; Jerry Snoblen, a registered voter.

The letter to the secretary of state's office charged that no ready access was given the public after closing of the polls and that counting of ballots in the mayor's race was finished before the public was allowed in the city hall.

The letter also objected to "an unreasonable barrier" distance separating the public from counting of ballots in one room which was not visible to the public.

The letter claimed that a verbal agreement regarding challengers had been given candidates, but the city clerk said that no such verbal agreement had been made. According to state election law, organizations or committees interested in establishing challengers must file a statement with the city clerk not less than 10 days prior to an election.

Prior to the closing of the polls election night, a large number of persons entered the polling place shortly before 8 o'clock and Roy Bergeron, election board chairman, asked those not waiting in line to vote to leave the building until the polls officially closed.

The city clerk has stated that the front door of the fire hall, which serves as the polling place, was not locked at any time.

Because of space limitations at the city hall, counting of ballots in one precinct is held in the city manager's office, although election inspectors canvassing ballots are visible to the public through an

Deny Fed. Funds for Ambulance

An application submitted to the Michigan Department of State Police, office of highway safety planning, for an ambulance grant to Tawas Hospital has been disapproved.

Reason for disapproval was a drastically reduced budget for this fiscal year in the emergency medical service area and an abundance of applications for federal funds.

Based on this nonavailability of federal funds, Tawas Hospital has requested the 12 municipalities involved in this ambulance agreement to submit payment on assessments as soon as possible. The funds are required to purchase an ambulance to replace a 1969 vehicle presently in use.

"Providing efficient and dependable ambulance service to the citizens of the community is partially dependent upon reliable equipment," stated Donald Miner, assistant hospital administrator.

"We believe that a six-year-old ambulance averaging 50 miles per run and 170 runs per year under other than normal driving conditions is not the type of equipment that will enable us to continue to provide dependable service," he stated.

Check Computer Work for Errors

Prepare Tax Statements for Mailing

Iosco County property owners are scheduled to receive their annual pre-Christmas letters from local governments on December 1. Recipients will agree that the envelopes do not contain greetings from Santa Claus, but would admit that messages contained within are necessary to finance operation of county and township governments, along with local schools, during the coming year.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie and John Rose, county tax equalization director, unloaded 700 pounds of tax statements and tax rolls Wednesday at the county building. The printed materials were prepared by a Midland computer firm under contract with the county board of commissioners.

Approximately 27,000 statements of taxes totaling more than six million-dollars are to be in the mail by the first Monday of December, but considerable work remains before statements are received by property owners.

The tax statements have been turned over to assessing officers of each local unit of government. Township and city treasurers are to check computations on each statement before mailing and the individual assessing officers are to sign affidavits stating that tax rolls are correct.

This is no small job and it is an important one, according to the county treasurer. Individual units of government are responsible for correctness of tax statements and a lot of problems can be avoided later by insuring accuracy of property ownership, millage rates and the actual amount of taxes to be paid before statements reach the hands of taxpayers.

Last year, an unavoidable delay in receipt of tax statements resulted in a rush to meet the December 1 deadline. As a result, treasurers in a number of local units did not check tax statements before mailing.

Nelkie said Thursday that this resulted in mailing numerous incorrect tax statements to property owners and considerable confusion and ill will was the result.

"We found that at least eight units had errors on tax statements which had been carried over from the previous year," said Nelkie. The tax equalization department and the county treasurer's office has worked with local units of government during the past year to correct those errors, but human and electronic mistakes are still possible.

Tax rolls are permanently recorded in the county treasurer's office and are correct as of tax day. Alterations may be made by the assessor only after being approved by the board of review at a special meeting which may be held on December 9.

In addition to collecting taxes, treasurers of the local units sell dog licenses. Dogs six months or older must be licensed and charges are male, $3; female, $5; unsexed, $3.

Taxes More Than $6-Million

Tax statements totaling $6,064,328.94 are to be mailed to Iosco County property owners on December 1, according to a report Thursday by County Treas. Edward Nelkie. Of the total amount, $4,197,314.99 will go to schools.

The total tax bill to be borne by Iosco taxpayers is $740,031.65 higher than last year. Earlier this year, Nelkie reported that of the 1974 total tax of $5,324,297.20, local treasurers returned $929,865.08 as delinquent.

The county's state equalized valuation for 1975 is $188,862,260, as compared to $164,812,182 for 1974. The county had equalized at $172,041,197 in May of this year, but the report was rejected by the state tax commission and the total was increased by approximately 10 percent. The new SEV has been appealed to the state tax tribunal, but no action is expected until there is a ruling by the supreme court on the tax tribunal's qualification to hear appeals from counties.

The allocated tax rate for Iosco County includes 4.54 mills for county operation, .15 of a mill for county debt retirement, .26 of a mill for intermediate school, .90 of a mill for township operation, 9.30 mills for school operation.

The intermediate school district receives .75 of a mill special voted taxes, while townships have special voted millages and schools have varied millages for operation and debt retirement. Five townships have special assessment districts.

Townships with special voted millage rates include: Alabaster, .75 of a mill for fire protection and .75 of a mill for landfill; AuSable, 1.70 mills for fire protection, 1.70 mills for police, 1.20 mills for street lights; Baldwin, one mill for fire protection; Grant, .50 of a mill for fire protection, .75 of a mill for police, .25 for debt retirement and .50 of a mill for landfill; Plainfield, one mill for roads and .20 of a mill for debt retirement; Wilber, one mill for roads.

Oscoda Township has nine special assessment districts for sewer and one special assessment district for off street parking. Plainfield Township has special assessment districts for street lights, sewer and Long Lake Dam. AuSable Township has a special assessment district for water, while Alabaster and Grant Townships have special assessment districts for street lights.

Special voted school millage rates include: Tawas Area, 11 mills for operation; Oscoda Area, 10.30 mills for operation and one mill for debt retirement; Whittemore-Prescott Area, 15.50 mills for school operation and two mills for debt retirement; Hale Area, 14.75 mills for operation and five mills for debt retirement.

Total tax bills to be mailed to property owners in the various units are as follows:

Alabaster, tax rate of 28.40 mills, $263,876.94; AuSable, tax rate of 31.80 mills, $478,685.45; Baldwin, tax rate of 27.90 mills, $480,139.55; Burleigh, tax rate of 33.60 mills, $139,302.88;

Grant, tax rate of 28.90 for property within Tawas Area School District and 37.65 in Hale Area School District, for a total of $348,738.89; Oscoda, tax rate of 32.20, $1,708,460.99 and special assessments of $148,625.42 for a total tax bill of $1,857,086.41; Plainfield, tax rate of 36.85, $1,115,934.36, plus special assessments of $8,515.01 for a total of $1,124,449.37;

Reno, tax rate of 33.60 in Whittemore-Prescott Area School District, $134,940.31; Sherman, tax rate of 33.60 mills in Whittemore-Prescott Area School District and 26.90 in Tawas Area School District, $161,287.30; Tawas Township, tax rate of 26.90 mills, $195,122.75; Wilber Township, tax rate of 27.90 mills in Tawas Area School District and 28.20 mills in Oscoda Area School District, $152,794.68;

East Tawas, tax rate of 26 mills, $384,625.50; Tawas City, tax rate of 26 mills, $276,240.74; Whittemore, tax rate of 40.70, $60,807.51.

Millage rates for Tawas City and East Tawas do not include city operational taxes, which are assessed in the summer. Whittemore's city operational tax rate is included in the December statement.

When comparing millage rates for different townships in the same school district, it should be noted that variances are due to the different tax rates for township operation.

School taxes to be collected by townships include: Tawas Area, $1,524,776.28; Oscoda Area School, $1,426,938.04; Hale Area, $927,735.22; Whittemore-Prescott Area, $317,865.45.

Tawas C. Planners Recommend New Parking Lot Study

Tawas City Planning Commission adopted a resolution Thursday night recommending that the city council authorize a complete engineering and cost study for a much discussed parking lot west of the county building.

In addition, the planning commission recommended that the city pursue various methods of meeting costs of developing Court Street which would provide access to the parking lot from First Street.

A general discussion was held with citizens present concerning development of parking along Lake Street between Whittemore Street and the county building.

Included in the proposed engineering would be a cost estimate to each individual property owner benefited.

Mayor John Brugger reported that he attended a meeting recently comprised of citizens from surrounding communities interested in pressing the state for construction of a freeway through North-eastern Michigan. He felt that the best this area could hope for in the future would be the widening of US-23.

The planning commission also recommended that the city council approach the Lubaway family concerning possible acquisition of property on the east side of the Tawas River mouth for harbor development.

Water Line Break Repaired Monday Morning

A break in a four-inch cast iron water main was repaired Monday morning by the Tawas City Department of Public Works. The break was located at the intersection of Court and Wheeler Streets.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that it was the first water line break at that location in history. He believed that street and railroad traffic may have been the cause.

(Read Psalm 42)

Be still, and know that I am God. (Psalm 46:10)

It is a wonderful response to praise God. It is a basic ingredient in a Christian's faith. Sometimes, however, I am troubled with the way it is used or misused. I am sure we have all heard someone say "praise God" after some successful event. Usually, it is heard in regard to receiving some sort of prosperity. Often, there appears to be a strong element of bragging involved—"Look what God did for me."

The psalmist also praised God. However, his praise had two specific elements to it. First, he praised God in all things, both in success and failure. Second, his praise was not one with overtones of magic in which a person prays to God to readjust the situation to suit his personal desires and then in turn thanks God. Instead, God is seen as having set the situation and we are called upon to change. We must open our eyes to the situation already in operation and merge with God's rhythm. Out of this relationship comes a grateful praise.

PRAYER

Dear Father, help me trust You because You first trusted me. Then, help me so live that my belief bears fruit that shows I am in rhythm with Your will. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If occasions arise when I cannot praise God, I can say with the psalmist, "I shall again praise him."—Edwin S. Stefan, Findley, Ohio.

Smith-Norwood Marriage Vows Exchanged Nov. 22

Baskets of white gladioli, pink chrysanthemums and boxwood formed a floral background in Tawas United Methodist Church for the marriage Saturday, November 22, of Lisa Beth Norwood and James L. Smith Jr.

The Rev. Kenneth Tousey officiated at the double ring service. Mrs. Harold Knight, vocalist, was accompanied by Miss Melanie Werth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Norwood of East Tawas. James L. Smith Sr. of Tawas City and Mrs. Joseph Rickrod of Oscoda are parents of the bridegroom.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a sheer sata pea gown with Chantilly lace and pearl inset bib front. Ruffled pleated ruching bordered the bouffant hemline, sweeping back into a cascade of ruffles on the cathedral length train. Her three-tier fingertip style veil with lace edging was attached to a camelot headpiece with pearl accents. She carried a cascade bouquet of white fuji chrysanthemums, variegated carnations and baby's breath with a shower of Stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Dennis Sullivan was matron of honor and Miss Karen Norwood, maid of honor. Mrs. Randy Norwood, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Donna Harsch were bridesmaids. Miss Denise Sharon acted as flower girl.

The bride's attendants were attired in colonial style gowns of yellow printed silk organza over yellow satin background with empire bodice, high neckline and full, cuffed sleeves. The gowns were trimmed with an accenting lace. All carried colonial bouquets of yellow, green and white daisies with baby's breath. The flower girl carried a white basket of rose petals.

Dennis Sullivan was best man with Terrance Sergeant, Richard Bertsch and Randy Norwood as groomsmen. Robert Brugger Jr. was ring bearer. David Lesinski and Mark Jacques seated the guests.

Yellow, green and white streamers and clusters of wedding bells decorated the Tawas Golf and Country Club for the reception and dinner attended by approximately 175 guests from Royal Oak, Flint, Detroit, Bay City and Alpena.

Mrs. Norwood greeted guests in a Dior blue full-length gown of giana polyester, highlighted with beaded midriff and neckline. She wore matching accessories and a lavender orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a forest green, full-length, A-line gown made of lame with gold accessories and a pink orchid corsage.

Following a one-week trip to the Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds will reside at 510 West State Street, East Tawas.

Both bride and bridegroom are 1975 graduates of Tawas Area High School.

Pre-nuptial showers included a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Robert Brugger and a linen and personal shower hosted by Mrs. Sullivan, Miss Karen Norwood and Mrs. Randy Norwood.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
The "city fathers" have pulled another rip-off on property owners who volunteered to have their property frontage improved by a new sidewalk. I shall be glad to give you a good example.
My mother's frontage measures exactly 60 feet. I went to the city hall and vouched to have the sidewalk replaced at a cost of $1.20 per lineal foot or $72. Upon receipt of the bill, there was an additional charge of $9 for the driveway. No one mentioned one word about the need for the driveway being reinforced and I went to the council and protested this bill of 10 feet to no avail.

I paid the $72, held back the $9 and called two widows I know to see if they were told the same thing about sidewalk reinforcement. What I want to know is why were we not informed? One party in particular had a 10-foot drive assessment of $10. These people were not informed, either, and were quite put out about it.
I feel we have 50 feet of sidewalk, 10 feet of driveway, at a cost of $81 and my mother does not own a car or drive. I had a mess to clean up, too; perhaps I should have billed the city as it was on city property.
I would like to know just how many others got this so called deal. I would like to get a few phone calls.
While I was at the council and protesting the $9 additional charge, Mr. Eckstein said it should have been $13. If it should have been then let it be $13, but tell the people.

CETA Program Receives Funds

Additional funds totaling over $285,000 have been made available for CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) programs under Title I in Region 7-B Manpower Consortium, according to Dale LeGarie, consortium administrative director. The funds are to be allocated for various programs recommended by the Region 7-B Manpower Advisory Council and approved by the Region 7-B Administrative Board.
Most CETA Title I programs now in operation are to terminate on June 30, 1976. These Title I programs, including on-the-job training, work experience and classroom training, are to be extended through September 30, 1976.
This extension was necessary because the federal department of labor is changing the dates of its fiscal year from July 1-June 30 to October 1-September 30.
"There is also a possibility that more participants might be included after the present programs are studied and modified," LeGarie pointed out.
CETA funds are channeled through the Michigan Department of Labor, Bureau of Manpower to Region 7-B Manpower Consortium with headquarters at Mid Michigan Community College, Harrison. The funds are then directed into programs planned and submitted by CETA administrators in each of the nine counties of the consortium. A commissioner from each of the nine counties makes up the consortium board of directors with Donald A. Case, Harrison, chairman.
John Benford, director of the Iosco CETA office, said Monday morning that he was unable to determine at this time how the local program might be affected. He said he would be in contact with the Harrison headquarters this week to make a determination.

Finds Truck Driver Guilty of Negligence

Driver of a truck involved in a fatal collision June 16 at the intersection of Lake and Oak Streets has been found guilty of negligent homicide by Circuit Judge Charles M. Forster, Traverse City, who was assigned to this circuit after Judge Allan C. Miller disqualified himself from hearing the case.
The case of Edwin McCain, 33, driver, Mishawaka, Indiana, has been turned over to the Michigan Department of Corrections for a presentence report.
Judge Forster ruled that a vehicle operated by Charles C. Martin, Tawas City, the deceased victim, was lawfully and properly positioned on the highway in preparation to make a left hand turn when struck from the rear by McCain's truck.

The judge noted that testimony had shown there were no skid marks on the pavement, there was no squealing of tires nor sounding of horns prior to the collision.
In his finding of facts, Judge Forster said the defendant admitted at the accident scene that, just prior to the crash, he had been looking for a restaurant and the next thing he knew there was a noise and his vehicle was out of control.
After the impact, Martin's vehicle was propelled forward into the southbound lane of the highway. It crashed into a vehicle operated by Henry Zimmerman, 57, Oscoda, who was injured in the crash. Martin was thrown out of the vehicle.

DURING the second week of November, 33 Iosco County people completed instruction in the transcendental meditation program. Ranging in age from 19 to 62, participants included housewives, businessmen, nurses, doctors, students and career military men. All lectures by Rich Chorley, instructor, were free and open to everyone. The program teaches a simple, natural technique which quickly establishes a physiological state of extremely deep rest and is practiced for 15-20 minutes twice daily in a comfortable sitting position, pictured above. Interest has been so high that Chorley will be returning to Iosco County to give another series of free lectures, including Whittemore Elementary School, Monday, December 1; Oscoda Area High School, Tuesday, December 2; Tawas Area High School, Wednesday, December 3, all programs starting at 7:30 p. m.

Growing Alarm Over Power Outages Caused by Gunfire

It happened in 1975—On January 8, the Freeland Fire Department, the Tri-City Airport near Saginaw, two schools and about 3,700 other customers suddenly lost electric power supplied by Consumers Power Company;

On March 12, Gladwin Hospital, Amble School and the Wolverine Camper Manufacturing Company, as well as 6,420 other customers, suddenly lost electric power;

On March 9, the Village of Stockbridge and Stockbridge High School, along with about 4,210 other customers, were suddenly deprived of power.

Why? Because gunshots had shattered glass or porcelain insulators on poles carrying transmission lines supplying distribution lines to those customers.

The public health and safety was endangered, Consumers Power Company officials note, because a few persons with shotguns or rifles thought insulators would make good targets.

The power company is growing increasingly concerned with this problem, not only because of the health and safety impact, but because of the manpower needed to repair the damage and because of cost, which is ultimately borne by customers.

"Insulator replacement costs due to gunfire amounted to more than $100,000 in 1974," according to Win Chance, senior engineer in the transmission and distribution department of the power company.

A total of 1,536 transmission line insulators had to be replaced after gunfire destroyed them, he said. This was 560 more than in 1973; the trend is up over the period from 1970.

Power failures to customers from insulators hit by gunfire averaged 132 minutes last year for 119 outages, affecting 61,402 customers. This is an increase of approximately 14,000 customers over the number suffering power failures in 1970.

"We would like to get the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, sportsmen's clubs and conservation groups more involved in helping prevent this damage," Chance said. A hunter himself, Chance said he believes hunters are often wrongly blamed for the damage. "The real hunters do not go in for this kind of thing," he said.

Statistics kept by the company show that the hunting months of October and November show the highest number of incidents. Forty-three percent of the cases were during the hunting season last year and 20 percent in deer hunting season alone, company figures show. In 1974, there were 119 cases of gunfire damage to insulators, including distribution lines.

Latest serious outages were the week-end of November 1-2, when two Consumers Power divisions experienced outages from gunfire.

On November 1, in the Kalamazoo Division, 3,540 customers were without power for 50 minutes because of insulators shot out on three poles near Otsego; the next day, 3,151 customers in the Battle Creek Division were without power for 63 minutes because insulators on a pole near Middleville were shot out.

"Here is $100,000 in costs to our customers that vandals are causing," Gordon Huck, manager of the Tawas District said. "More importantly, we cannot estimate the cost of these unnecessary outages in human terms—who suffered what due to the lack of power?"

The company has a reward up to $500 offered for information leading to the conviction of persons who damage company equipment.

One aspect of the gunfire is that poles sometimes are set on fire when the electric line is short circuited.

An energized line falling to the ground could cause a brush fire or seriously injure anyone who comes into contact with it, Huck noted.

Consumers Power is continuing to patrol lines in search of damage before power failures result.

Townships Invited to Join Talk on Property

Formal action was taken Wednesday to turn over to the Iosco County Planning Commission for study of possible public utilization of the former John Rood property.

In making this move, the Iosco County Board of Commissioners emphasized that invitations were being extended to Alabaster and Tawas Townships to have members of township planning commissions and township boards involved in discussions.

Also involved in discussions would be representatives of county 4-H Clubs.

Michigan State University, owner of the 1,400 acres of farm, forest and wild land located in Alabaster and Tawas Townships, is interested in local management of the property.

One of the first steps in the study, according to Robert Foster, commission chairman, would be a thorough research of Mr. Rood's will to determine property utilization according to stipulations.

Initial study of Rood's will two weeks ago indicated he was primarily interested in agricultural research and conservation and, at the suggestion of MSU officials, representatives of county 4-H Clubs have been invited to enter into the discussions.

committee, and her assistant, Larry Wingrove. A week-long celebration is being planned leading up to July 4, 1976.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Discussions of the national bicentennial in 1976 are being prepared for the Tawas area's observance of the national bicentennial in 1976 are moving smoothly, according to Clyde Soper, chairman, following Wednesday night's regular meeting.

Interest shown by committee members in preparing for this event has been surprising to me, personally, and I believe that interest will expand to all segments of the community once the calendar is turned to 1976," said Soper.

A brief report on progress of plans for the week of July 4 were presented by Mrs. Jerry Machleit, program chairman, and her assistant, Larry Wingrove.

L. G. McKay reported that he had contacted officials of Tawas Area School concerning an essay contest for students to be opened early next year. Essays of students would be based on personal interviews with older residents of the community. A meeting is to be held shortly with administrators and teachers to develop details.

Any Savage, representing the student council at Tawas Area High School, said that students had a number of projects in mind for the observance and one which has received the greatest amount of interest is the re-creation of a general store and museum in an old building.

Thomas Roiter reported that entries for an essay contest being sponsored by Iosco Post No. 5678, Veterans of Foreign Wars, would soon close.

Clifford Anschuetz reported that 1,000 bicentennial buttons had been purchased and were being distributed for sale in the Tawas area to aid in financing the program.

The program chairman is to call a meeting of her committee to develop an estimated budget in order to present formal requests for financial assistance from city councils of the two communities.

Communications were read from two organizations indicating participation in the observance. A letter from Tawas Kiwanis Club indicated that group was to renovate the bandstand in the Tawas City Park. The 40-year-old structure is to receive a new roof and will be repainted in April.

The next meeting of the general committee is to be held Wednesday, December 17, 8:00 p. m., at the county building and all interested residents and organizations are invited to attend.

Howard G. Herriman, Sharon A. Frank and Irene L. Goretski of Capital Business Service of Tawas, Incorporated, traveled to the Michigan Inn, Southfield, Monday, November 24, to spend three days. They studied new laws, regulations and rules to be followed in filing federal and state tax returns.

The clinic, conducted by the Independent Accountants Association of Michigan, is expected to attract 400 professional practicing accountants and tax specialists from all points in Michigan.

Herriman, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Goretski and other clinic attenders will study the newly enacted Michigan single business tax. They are also expected to probe problems which surface in preparation of corporate, farm and personal tax returns.

Look is Regional Coach of the Year

Dick Look, head football coach at Tawas Area High School, was named Wednesday as class B "coach of the year" in region three by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association. Look is one of four finalists in the running for class B coach of the year among state schools. Look has been head coach here since 1972 and his teams have had an over-all record of 25 wins and 10 losses during that time. His varsity squad has had an eight and one record for each of the past two seasons. Starting his coaching career in 1969, he spent two years at Ypsilanti St. Johns, was coach at Ann Arbor St. Thomas in 1970 and came here in 1971 as assistant varsity coach.

YOU CAN SAVE MONEY ON PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

In spite of the fact that the cost of prescription drugs in the United States has risen slower than the prices of most other consumer goods, Americans paid more than nine-billion-dollars for prescriptions last year. That averages out to $46 per person. Many people, of course, paid much more than that for prescribed medication. A consumer health expert at Michigan State University says the Michigan generic drug law may help individuals find ways to pay less for medicine.

"The new law, in effect since March 31, 1975, may enable many people to pay less for drugs," says Donna Warner, community health associate. "The law makes it possible for pharmacists to substitute less expensive generic drugs for more costly brand names." Many people get confused as soon as you mention generic and brand name drugs, she notes. To explain the difference, she compares buying drugs to buying a can of coffee.

"When you go to the supermarket, your shopping list says only 'coffee,' but you may choose from several brands. Some may be more expensive than others, but all are 'coffee.'"

"With drugs, the generic name is equivalent to 'coffee'—it tells what is in the capsule, pill or syrup. As with coffee, the same product is available under several different brand names. It also may be available under only the generic name."

Quite often, the same drug will vary in price from one brand to another, even if both brands were made by the same company. Under the new law, you have the option to request your pharmacist to dispense a cheaper brand.

The first step in cutting prescription costs occurs in your doctor's office. Ask the physician to prescribe an inexpensive brand of the drug you need or to prescribe it by generic rather than brand name. If he feels you should have a specific brand, he will write D. A. W. (dispense as written) on the prescription form. This is a sign to the pharmacist that no substitutions may be made. If he prescribes the drug by its generic name, however, you can request the lowest cost brand of the drug available.

Lower cost does not automatically mean lower quality. All drugs with the same generic name must be chemically identical. That is, all must contain the same active ingredients in the same proportions.

She notes that, in a few instances, chemically identical drugs by different manufacturers were not equally effective because of differences in the inert ingredients (filler and other substances used in formulating a tablet or capsule other than the actual drug).

"Your physician should be aware of these instances," Warner says. "And he will prescribe medication for you accordingly, using D. A. W. as necessary to be sure you get the best quality drug available."

Tawas Braves Open Season With Saginaw St. Stephens

Coach Dick Fairless is withholding any pre-season assessment on chances of his Tawas Area Braves in the tough Northern B Conference until after scrimmage Tuesday night with Bay City John Glenn.

"After graduating our entire starting five from last season, we will be lacking experience and size," said Fairless. He hastened to say, however, that the Braves have something going for them:

"We have three returning lettermen and five candidates from last year's junior varsity who have shown tremendous improvement—only time will tell," said Fairless.

Missing from the roster will be the five graduating seniors, who had a record of 10 wins and four losses in conference play and appeared to be in a good position to win the championship at one time during the season. Those players include Randy Scales, Mickey Haglund, Mike Mooney, Mark Elliott and Jeff Hemphill.

Moving into starting roles will be Earl Parsons, five-foot, 10-inch senior, who takes to the hardwood after quarterbacking the school's football team to a co-championship during the past season; Mike Harvey, an aggressive six-foot guard; Brad Potts, six-foot, five-inch forward, who set a record during the football season with his pass receptions. Potts played about half-way through the last basketball season before transferring to Caro.

Another probable starter is Tom Mooney, six-foot, three-inch senior, who has shown outstanding ability during practice, but lacks experience as he has not played basketball for two seasons.

Six players moving up from the junior varsity are fighting for the fifth position. Included are Fred Benson, five-foot, 10-inch junior; Dave Gartland, five-foot, 10½-inch senior; Neil Warner, six-foot junior; Butch Duvall, five-foot, nine-inch junior; Mike Lear, five-foot, eight-inch junior; Jeff Tousley, five-foot, 11-inch junior.

Other candidates on the roster include Mark Fisher, five-foot, 10½-inch junior; Harry Haglund, five-foot, eight-inch senior; Norm Tafelski, five-foot, eight-inch junior.

As noted above, the Braves will be lacking height when they go up against tough squads to be fielded by Carrollton and Oscoda, particularly the latter, but Fairless is hoping for superior speed and ball handling to make the difference.

"We should have some surprises on the backboards, too, as these kids are jumping higher than any players on teams that I have coached, but only time will tell if they can hold their own against taller and stronger players to be fielded by Oscoda and possibly some other teams," said Fairless.

The Braves open the 1975-76 season Tuesday, December 2, when they host Saginaw St. Stephens in a nonconference game. The Tawas squad is scheduled to open the NBC schedule the following Friday at Ogemaw Heights.

Time seems to have flown by for parents and children of the Tawas Area Cooperative Nursery; new experiences combined with old familiar ones have kept the children interested. The nursery has taken five field trips this year and more are coming up. If the reader has something which would be interesting to three and four-year-old children and would be willing to host a nursery visit, contact Mrs. Gina Durant, 362-5326.

Trips are planned to broaden the child's view of the world and are designed to be fun. The children visited a fire station, where they were impressed with the hats and boots and the "special treat" provided by the captain; they traveled to the teacher's home where they fed geese, ducks and rabbits and walked in the woods. The children especially enjoyed playing on innertubes.

At Larzelere's Orchard, the children saw more chickens than most people see in a lifetime. They saw kittens, the apple orchard and storage house. They were served apples and homemade cider; apples were brought back to school where the children helped make apple sauce.

The most recent trip was to a pumpkin patch, where children picked out their own pumpkins for Halloween jack-o-lanterns. Some of them toasted pumpkin seeds that night.

The most popular trip this year was a visit to watch the Tawas Area High School Marching Band practice music and formations. The children were impressed and, back at the nursery, they made their own instruments. Most parents were probably asked to join a "marching band" that night.

Tawas Area Cooperative Nursery is an organization interested in children and is proud to have the help and interest of high school youths this year. Charles Finley and Dennis Fairbanks of a woodshop class were instrumental in making step stools and a step ladder and textile classes are making doll clothes from material donated by nursery mothers; a home economics class visited nursery sessions to observe the children and the teachers.

THESE three-year-olds are playing with kittens in a barn during a recent trip to Larzelere's Orchard.

ENJOYING a snack in the regular nursery session of Tawas Area Cooperative Nursery are these four-year-olds.

CFSM Office to Locate at Oscoda

Albert L. Kinstrey Jr., administrator of the District Health Department No. 2, and Ross Dodge, director, Child and Family Services of Michigan, Incorporated, (Northeastern Branch) have just announced a cooperative agreement. CFMS will be given the use of office space in the new District Health Department No. 2 offices on South US-23 in Oscoda.

CFSM offers counseling for marriage, families and individuals. Problem pregnancy counseling is also offered along with adoption and foster care services. A newly-created service is a girls group home for delinquent girls referred by the area courts and departments of social services. CFMS is a non-profit, non-sectarian, private agency supported in part by United Fund contributions.

The clinic serves all residents of Iosco, Alcona, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties.

Other services are expectant parents classes and post-natal guidance; immunizations, second Tuesday of every month including polio, measles, mumps, etc.; specialty field clinics, for children; home health services and general health information including environmental health information.

To obtain any of the above services, call District Health Department No. 2, Iosco County office at 739-3281, or Child and Family Services, 356-4567.

resents an incentive program adopted by the state in its Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) disbursements.

Under a new public law, the state department of social services retains 25 percent of court ordered support payments to divorced women on ADC and collected through friend of the court offices.

A portion of the money is returned to county general funds, while ADC recipients receive a separate check of not more than $20 monthly representing a "bonus" over and above collected moneys.

Seifert said the check received Thursday represented the August payment to the county and believed the check next month would be higher.

He said that court ordered support money in 1974 amounted to $291,000 in this county and believed the total would be substantially higher this year due to the new no-fault divorce law.

Records in the friend of the court office indicate that 73 divorce proceedings involving children have been initiated in Iosco during 1975 and Seifert believed the total would be well over 80 for the year.
