Board-Teachers Ratified Contract

Formal ratification of the salary longevity pay was increased and a portion of a contract with Tawas Area Education Association was given Thursday night by Tawas Area Board of Education. This action followed adoption of the contract last week by teachers. This is the second and final year of the contract which expires June 30, 1976. Only salaries were open to negotiation this term under the agreement signed last year. Under terms of the new contract, the base salary of a teacher with a bachelor degree has been increased from $8,500 to $8,700. Salary of a 10-year teacher holding a bachelor degree was increased from $13,250 to $14,500. Base salary of a teacher with a master degree was increased from $9,025 to $9,300. With 10 years of experience, the salary of a teacher with a master degree has been increased from $14,275 to $15,500. In addition to the above changes, new extra duty schedule was adopted increasing the pay for coaching and other activities. Supt. Robert A. Halle said that the contract settlement would result in added costs of about 8.4 percent of the school district's budget. The agreement had been adopted by a 48-7 vote of the teacher union, represented by Michigan Education Association. A member of TAEA told the Herald that the basic opposition voiced by the seven teachers voting against adoption was that pay to women coaches was lower than the salary schedule for men coaches. It was also learned that the American Federation of Teachers is negotiating with TAEA to become its bargaining agent. The Michigan Education Association has one year remaining in its agreement to represent local teachers in negotiations.

Receive Bids for Gymnasium Roof

Bids are now being received by Tawas Area School to repair the gymnasium roof at the high school building. Supt. Robert A. Halle reported at Thursday night's meeting of the board of education that specifications have been prepared and that two bids had been received. It is expected that a third bid will be received before the board of education takes action.

The superintendent said the project has an estimated cost of $7,000. In other business, the board of education adopted a recommendation from the superintendent increasing the daily hot lunch cost for adults from 55 cents to 65 cents. The cost to students is to remain at 35 cents. No action was taken on a recommendation to increase the cost of lunches served in the vocational training program. Janice McArthur was released from her 1975-76 teaching contract and applications are being taken to fill the vacancy. She had been the high school reading specialist and English teacher, as well as adviser for the yearbook and school newspaper.

Authorization was given for the appointment of two elementary teachers to be in charge of schools during the absence of Prin. Herman Rollin. George Fishel is to have charge at the Tawas City Elementary Unit and Dennis Chandler is to handle the East Tawas Elementary Unit. Additional pay of $350 annually is to be made for this service. Rollin, who had been principal at the Tawas City Unit, was appointed principal for both Tawas City and East Tawas units following the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Cuthbertson, former principal at East Tawas, who returned to classroom teaching.

Low bid of Wilson Dairy was accepted for furnishing dairy products for the hot lunch program. Grocery Baking Company of Grand Rapids submitted the low bid for baked products and received a contract for the 1975-76 school year.

Letters from three gasoline dealers indicated that firm prices could not be guaranteed for the term due to the fluctuating market. A bid of 41.1 cents per gallon, based on the current price, was accepted from Barbier Oil Company.

Houghton Sanitation was low bidder on garbage removal at three school buildings. The cost is to be $100 per month from September through May and $50 per month during June, July and August.

Hospital in Middle of Controversy

Petitions Circulated Asking Doctors to Stay

Tawas Hospital, currently in the middle of one of the most vocal controversies ever to hit this community, will be the scene today of the regular monthly meeting of its board of directors. Robert W. Elliott, board chairman, said the announcement last week that two local physicians would be leaving the community October 15 would be a major item on the board's agenda.

It is expected that petitions circulated in the community last week and signed by local residents will be presented to the hospital's board of directors.

The petition asked Dr. Jose F. Fuertes and Dr. Edmundo O. Sanchez to reconsider their decision to leave the community; the petitions also demanded that the two physicians be allowed to "work out an agreeable alliance" with the hospital administration and board of directors in order that they can remain in the community and practice at the hospital.

When informed August 26 that a number of his patients and other residents were contemplating a petition campaign, Doctor Fuertes told the Herald that it was too late as he had already signed a contract to practice in a hospital at Douglas, a small town near Benton Harbor, and that his associate is scheduled to accompany him there.

Although persons circulating the petitions were made aware of Fuertes' statement, the opinion was expressed that the campaign would proceed in order to indicate to the two physicians that they were much appreciated and supported by the community and that the signers were upset with the hospital's policy.

After searching for a surgeon for a number of years, the hospital encouraged Fuertes to locate here two years ago. About a year later, Fuertes asked Doctor Sanchez to come here to assist him in surgery. Both physicians are natives of the Philippines and were classmates at the University of St. Thomas, Manila. Fuertes interned in New York City, New York, and both were in general surgery residence there. Fuertes was later assistant surgeon at Brigham Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, and then returned to Queens Hospital in New York City.

Since coming to the Tawas area, Fuertes established his general practice in an office on M-55 and has specialized in surgery at the hospital. The only physician in the community specializing in surgery, he has been on probation at the hospital for a period of two years. Although licensed to practice in Michigan, Sanchez has not been allowed to practice at the hospital. M. Jerry Norwood, hospital administrator, said that the credentials of Sanchez were still under investigation by the medical staff, the board of trustees and an outside specialist.

After receipt of Fuertes' resignation last week, Dr. Norman Payea, hospital chief of staff, told the Herald that the medical staff was of the opinion that a two-year probationary period was not excessive for a new physician coming to the community to practice surgery. He said that other hospitals in the state had similar policies designed for the protection of the general public.

In the case of Sanchez, the chief of staff said that an investigation of that physician's credentials had indicated that he had not completed his rotating internship, which would prevent his practice as a staff member, although his general practice outside the hospital was permissible under his state license.

When informed of the citizens' petition campaign, Payea said he would be the first person to sign one, although he felt some problems should be resolved. "The more people we can get here, the better," he said, referring to physicians coming into the community, "but everyone must undergo a certain type of scrutiny when the public health is at stake.

"It is unfortunate for the community that we are losing any doctors and every effort should be made by local doctors to provide care for those people who are without a doctor," said Payea.

Norwood said the hospital hated to lose the two doctors, but "they apparently feel that they can do better elsewhere."

About 2½ months ago, a rumor circulated in the community to the effect that Fuertes was not being treated fairly by the hospital. The hospital administrator and chairman of the board of directors told a representative of the Herald at the time that the problem was an "internal" one at the hospital and both believed the problem had been solved.

Norwood said that Fuertes was behind in filling out certain patient reports that are required of an attending physician to comply with regulations. He said that Fuertes had been suspended from practice earlier for a short period of time in order to complete the required paper work, but believed in late June that everything was in order. Norwood said last week that a new problem had arisen recently when Fuertes performed an operation at the hospital without the proper "backup" personnel to assist in the operating room.

Fuertes said last week that he would make no statement which would "incriminate anyone at the hospital." He said he was resigning for personal reasons and he "just wanted to leave in peace."

In an interview with the Herald, Fuertes said that he loved the people here and hated to leave, "but conditions at the hospital have been frustrating." He indicated that he may prepare a written statement for the hospital's board of trustees before leaving.

Residents of the community telephoning the Herald office Wednesday and Thursday expressed frustration over the announcement that the two physicians were leaving.

Deep resentment was expressed in particular by patients of the two doctors, who had only the highest praise for the two men, both in their general practice, as fine individuals and, in Fuertes' case, as a surgeon.

Some persons claimed that professional jealousy was involved, while several patients of the two men, along with one employee of the hospital who telephoned the Herald, charged that Fuertes had been "snubbed" on numerous occasions at the hospital cafeteria by members of the medical staff.

Many callers expressed the view that they would now be without the services of a physician, claiming that some local doctors had informed them previously that they could not accept new patients because of their present work load and had referred them to Fuertes.

The two new physicians have built up a large practice in the area, as evidenced by the fact that the two physicians were still in their office treating patients at 7:00 p. m. Thursday and were unavailable for a further interview with the Herald.

Petitions are known to have been circulated in the Tawas, Whittemore and National City area. Members of the hospital auxiliary reportedly started a letter writing campaign in a protest to members of the hospital board, congressman, state lawmakers, state and national medical association officials.

It was rumored late last week that the hospital was to be picketed to protest the losing of the two physicians. Protests were heard from a number of residents Saturday over a "town hall" forum conducted by one of the local radio stations.

The 7:30 p. m. meeting will be conducted at the Hale High School in Hale, east of the flicker light and on the north side of the road.

3-3 Tie Vote by Board on Move to Disassociate TA from NBC

Although a move to have Tawas Area School join a new conference was stalled by a tie vote of the board of education Thursday night, it appears the Northern B Conference will die in 1976 and this school district will become the sixth member of a new conference.

A recommendation by Supt. Robert A. Halle, other administrators and the school's coaching staff to disassociate itself with the NBC and join the new conference was stymied temporarily.

It is expected the matter will be placed on the agenda for the September 8, meeting for final action.

Voting in favor of joining the new league were Trustees David Kennedy, Clare Herriman and Dr. James Jacques. Opposing the move were Trustees Helen Payea, Earl Davis and Willard Dillon. Carl Babcock, president, was not in attendance at the meeting.

Board members voting "no" expressed the opinion that one last effort should be made to save the NBC before the school joins a new conference. School administrators here have been unsuccessful in past efforts to convince bolting schools to reconsider action on leaving the NBC next year.

Prior to the vote, Halle reported that a meeting had been held between administrators of this school district and Ogemaw Heights School. Local school officials were informed that Ogemaw, along with Pinconning, Standish-Sterling and Gladwin, were definitely pulling out of the NBC and, in fact, those four schools had met with Whittemore-Prescott Area School to form a new conference.

Halle expressed the opinion that the Ogemaw representatives that Tawas Area School wanted Oscoda Area School included in any talks on forming a new league. "We were told that we would have a better chance of including Oscoda in the new league if we joined immediately," said Halle. He said that Ogemaw would support Tawas in any effort Oscoda might make to join the new league.

Following the meeting, administrators of this school met with members of the coaching staff and the Tawas Braves Booster Club. The coaching staff felt that the school should join the new league, but there was a division among members of the booster club, many of whom felt that one last effort should be made to retain the NBC.

Halle said his recommendation to disassociate Tawas Area with the NBC was also based on the fact that one of the three other remaining schools in the NBC had made overtures to join a different league. At the present time, only Tawas Area, Oscoda, Essexville Garber and Carrollton remain in the NBC for next year.

Officials of the above schools had sent letters to Tawas Area pleading that the NBC would be retained. As a result, the board of education at its last meeting made the same pledge and rescinded its previous action in May which authorized the school to join the new league after exhausting all efforts to retain the NBC.

The superintendent expressed the belief that it would be a "waste of time" for any further effort to keep the NBC intact next year.

John Alexander, high school principal, expressed the opinion that nothing would be gained by waiting until September 8 to join as the last member of the new league. "It would have been great to keep the NBC alive, but this will be the last year of that conference," he stated.

James Papenfus, the school's athletic director, expressed the opinion that Tawas Area School must now look out for itself and rationalized that the school should join the new league. Despite the fact that Oscoda, Garber and Carrollton would no longer be league members, he said those schools would be included in this school's scheduling.

Tawas Area Braves open the 1975 football season Friday night by playing host to Petoskey in a nonconference game. This will be the first meeting between the two schools on the gridiron. The game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Bicycle Paths Lack Lines

On recommendation of Trustee Willard Dillon, Tawas Area Board of Education is to ask state and county highway authorities to paint lines on M-55 and Nunn Road to designate bicycle paths constructed during the past year.

Dillon pointed out that a dangerous condition exists at present on both M-55 and Nunn Road as motorists use the bicycle paths for outside vehicular passing lanes.

Shoulders of the two roads were paved with asphalt during recent months for the use of bicycles.

FIVE NEW TEACHERS were introduced during Tuesday morning's staff breakfast at Tawas Area School. From left are Gary Packard, fifth grade social studies, Western Michigan University; Gail Forbrig, elementary learning disabilities, Central Michigan University; Paul Becker, drafting and building trades, Central Michigan University; Alan Ackerman, automotive shop, Central Michigan University; Lucky Kostko, wood shop, Central Michigan University. Edward J. Barry, former superintendent, is the new health education and boys' physical education instructor in the middle school.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Appraisal Discussion Meeting Planned

A meeting to discuss participation of local units with the county in a complete reappraisal of property for taxing purposes is to be held next month under sponsorship of the Iosco County Townships Association.

A preliminary session was held Wednesday between supervisors of five townships and members of the county board of commissioners, but nothing was resolved as it was the feeling that all units of government should be represented in any discussions.

Appearing before Wednesday's meeting was Glen Mask, owner of Gem Surveys, St. Clair, who had proposed the reappraisal two weeks ago before the county commission. This firm conducted a property appraisal in Iosco County 10 years ago.

The opinion was expressed at both meetings that the appraisal cards prepared 10 years ago were now out of date and some saving in the total cost of a new appraisal could be made by updating this information.

About 1 1/2 years of work would be required and the cost would be approximately $200,000, or nearly double the amount of the original survey.

Members of the board of commissioners expressed the opinion that representatives of all local units of government should enter into discussion on the proposal as a sharing in cost would be required.

CETA Money to be Discussed

A meeting is to be held tonight (Wednesday) at the Iosco County Building by representatives of the nine member counties comprising the Region 7-B Manpower Consortium Board, which is headquarters at Mid-Michigan College, Harrison.

The board meets monthly to discuss expenditures of CETA title one money received from the federal government and expended in the nine counties.

Goodman Takes Over as Head of State's Intercity Passenger Transportation Div.

Edward V. Goodman, a veteran of 35 years of supervising and managing railroad operations in the Midwest and eastern states was appointed Wednesday by the state highway commission to develop and direct railroad intercity passenger service in Michigan.

Goodman, 55, of 585 Janet Street, East Tawas, has been president of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway for the last five years. He joined the D&M 11 years ago, after 25 years with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, serving in managerial assignments in several eastern states.

A native of Renovo, Pennsylvania, Goodman graduated from Pennsylvania State University in railroad engineering and completed post graduate courses in human relations, public relations, cost control and railroad piggy-back service.

"As president of the D&M, Goodman established a record of good maintenance practices and profitability, highly regarded throughout the railroad industry," said Peter B. Fletcher of Ypsilanti, commission chairman.

He is a member of the American Shortline Railroad Association and for the past seven years has served as a director of the association. He also is a member of the American Association of Railroad's committee for car service, Michigan Railroad Association and a past member of the American Railroad Superintendents Association.

Fletcher noted that the Department of State Highways and Transportation's role in public transportation has expanded tremendously in the past two years. "The department will become increasingly involved in the upgrading of all railroad systems, operations and maintenance," said Fletcher. "It is critical that the department have top level competence and expertise in the area of railroads."

"We believe Goodman has the competence and experience in every facet of the railroad industry, which will prove invaluable to improved railroad passenger service in Michigan."

Goodman and his wife are parents of three daughters and one son, plan to move to Lansing in the immediate future. He assumes his new position this week as head of the Intercity Passenger Transport Division in the department's Bureau of Urban and Public Transportation.

Graduates as Registered Nurse

Thomas Humphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Humphrey of Hale, has graduated with Eastern Michigan University's first class of registered nurses, 25 students who have completed three years of intensive study in an accelerated baccalaureate program designed with a community focus.

The graduating class comprised of 23 women and two men, received their bachelor of science in nursing pins at a recent commencement ceremony held in Pease Auditorium on the EMU campus.

Administered through the college of human service, the three-year-old department of nursing education is already a popular one at EMU. Each year, since its inception, some 300 prospective students have applied, but annual enrollment is limited to about 60 students due to availability of clinical facilities and other considerations.

Nurses are trained with a greater emphasis on community rather than institutional nursing. They get clinical practice not only in hospitals, but in clinics and nursing homes. The students also make home visits to patients and families.

"Nursing is much more than just taking a patient's blood pressure or interacting with him," says Mrs. Edith Raleigh, program coordinator. "It requires a great deal of knowledge of the sciences, problem-solving and interpreting signs and symptoms, so one is doing more than just what the doctor told you to do."

Humphrey is a graduate of Hale Area High School.

22nd Annual Tawas River Canoe Race Sept. 13 - 14

Running of the 22nd annual Chief Tawas River Canoe Race is to be held September 13-14. The two-day event will provide the best of competition, as well as additional exciting events for spectators.

The starting and finish line is at the Ninth Avenue boat launching ramp, located upstream from the US-23 bridge, Tawas City. Providing a food concession stand for spectators will be Tawas Rotary Club.

The races and concession stands will benefit children at the Bright Horizons Learning Center.

Saturday, September 13, will start with a canoe parade. Canoes are to be decorated as floats representing businesses and organizations.

The race, one of the oldest on the circuit, will again present three race courses. Spectators will witness two and three races running at the same time. The action never stops for spectator enjoyment for the two days.

Hand crafted trophies representing Chief Tawas will be presented to the Olympic style athletes in remembrance of the Chippewa Indians, who first inhabited this area. The Chippewa Indian reservation at Mt. Pleasant has been invited to lend additional heritage to events.

The Tawas River Canoe Race, noted as the highest paid race per mile paddled, will run the professional paddlers for 10 miles this year, as well as the only women's professional race.

The canoe race has passed many milestones in the last three years of its running. The race three years ago presented a senior canoe race which is a combination of 80 years of age between the two contestants. This provides retired paddlers an opportunity to return to action.

Spectators will observe the past and present with local athletes paddling one of the oldest canoes, still in competition, as well as the first fiberglass canoe, plus the newly designed helium canoe. An additional attraction will be the 1929 Model A Ford, which was the official press car for races in the early 1950s.

Canoe jousting will provide additional laughter for spectators. A war canoe division will have four-man teams competing for top honors and there will be a little professional race for seven-year-olds or younger paddling with their professional parents. Every child is a winner in the event.

The event calendar for this race is the largest in the Michigan Canoe Race Association circuit. It is a part of boat race week in the Tawas, which concludes September 20-21 with the second annual Griffin Memorial Cup Regatta for power boats.

Citizens Upset

Judging from the response to the announcement in last week's Herald that two local physicians are leaving the area, many residents and hospital employees, too, are upset over their departure. The Herald's telephone rang constantly for information concerning a petition which was said to be circulating asking the two physicians to remain in the community.

Dissatisfaction has been expressed by residents of the community for several weeks concerning the length of time Dr. Jose F. Fuertes has been on probation as a surgeon at the hospital, as well as the length of time required to investigate the credentials of Dr. Edmundo U. Sanchez to allow him to practice there.

A layman's cursory review of Doctor Fuertes' brief biography published two years ago when he came to this community indicates that he has an outstanding background in surgery, particularly the fact that he served as assistant surgeon at Brigham Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, and Queen's Hospital, New York, in thoracic-cardiovascular surgery before coming here. Brigham just happens to be one of the outstanding hospitals in the Eastern United States.

It must be remembered, too, that the hospital administration went to great lengths to find a surgeon to locate here and the hospital announced with pride in November of 1973 that Doctor Fuertes had outstanding qualifications and was locating in our community.

It would be impossible for an uninformed layman to comment on the advisability of a two-year probationary period for a person of Doctor Fuertes' caliber. It is understandable that a probationary period is necessary when a new person comes to the community and is dealing with the lives of people. The same is true in Doctor Sanchez's case; to the layman, however, it seems that nearly a year of investigation is more than adequate to review a physician's credentials allowing him to practice at the hospital.

What bothers the publishers and a large segment of the community most of all, however, are statements by hospital employees and patients that the two doctors have been "snubbed" by their contemporaries at the hospital. It is difficult to believe this statement and the hospital administration has denied it, but the rumor persists.

There are two sides to every coin and every controversy and we are certain that everyone involved in this situation will admit this, along with the fact that certain internal problems at the hospital involving the participants are fact and have not been made public.

It would seem that all problems can be resolved and it is just too bad that the situation has reached the present point where the community served by Tawas Hospital is losing two much needed physicians; just ask anyone who has had to sit in line to wait their turn to see a physician.

The real problem, however, is of even greater concern: Two physicians are leaving the area because of dissatisfaction, not with the community, as their practice has been successful and their patients are pleased with them, but with the hospital.

People of the community are justifiably proud of their hospital and members of the medical staff. It is just too bad that something like this has happened, for it touches the emotions of everyone and the hurts are not easily healed.

Iosco to Submit New Tax Return

An embarrassing position for Iosco County in which federal withholding taxes and social security had been deducted from employees' salaries from one of the county's temporary agencies, but never submitted to the Federal Internal Revenue Service, has apparently been resolved.

A tax lien has been lodged by IRS against the county concerning $4,200 due to the federal government in withholding taxes and social security which had not been paid for employees of the former Iosco County Council on Aging.

This agency was disbanded earlier this year when this county, along with Ogemaw and Roscommon Counties, formed the Trio Council on Aging, which operates senior citizen centers in the county.

The matter has unofficially been resolved with IRS, allowing the county to amend its federal return by eliminating the social security payment which apparently was not legally binding. This deduction has reduced the total lien to $2,000, which is being submitted to IRS to avoid interest and penalties amounting to $250. Money which had been withheld for social security is to be repaid to employees.

Donald Griffin, finance chairman for the county board of commissioners, said last week that the payment to IRS is to be deducted from the $7,500 which the county appropriated earlier this year to the Trio Council on Aging. The matter is complicated by the fact that the three-county configuration was formed after the former Iosco Council on Aging was disbanded.

"The county commission has expressed its great displeasure with representatives of the former Iosco County Council on Aging concerning the embarrassing position in which the county commission has been placed," said Griffin. "It is difficult for us to dismiss this as merely a bookkeeping error."

Griffin said that the county was forced to reduce its appropriation to the Trio Council on Aging as no other funds were available to pay the tax lien to IRS. Earlier this year, it appeared as though the county would be unable to budget the $7,500 requested by the Trio Council on Aging, but the county closed a bridge escrow account which had been idle for a number of years and appropriated the money to the three-county agency.

"We are hoping that we can arrange for employment of CETA personnel to work at senior citizen centers as a means of alleviating any possible budgetary problems that the Trio Council on Aging may encounter," said Griffin.

No Decision Yet on Forest Land Deal

A communication from the Washington, D. C., office of the United States Forest Service indicates that the federal government has not made a decision as yet if it will proceed with actions necessary to purchase land from Consumers Power Company in Iosco and five other area counties.

The letter, forwarded to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners through Sen. Robert P. Griffin's office, indicated the forest service's first task was to "study the offer and weigh the over-all public advantages and disadvantages."

Iosco joined the other counties and the Michigan Association of Counties seeking legislative relief from the state's congressional delegation. The six counties would lose more than $80,000 annually in local tax revenue should the sale be completed.

It was reported in July that negotiations between the power company and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources were nearing consummation. Approximately 25,000 acres each would be taken over by state and federal governments.

The forest service's letter stated that concern over loss of tax base at the state and county levels due to federal ownership of land was recognized by the public land law review commission.

"Federal ownership of land in areas where local tax revenues are adversely affected is a complex matter that extends beyond the effect of the national forest system lands," it was stated. "An acceptable resolution of the situation nationwide may be difficult to obtain."

Results of a study being conducted by the director of Huron-Manistee National Forest are to determine whether the forest service should continue by having an appraisal prepared to see if it is possible to reach an agreement with the company as to value.

"If we can agree on value, the next step will be to include the property in our land and water conservation fund program and recommend funds be approved for its purchase," stated the letter.

Iosco and the other counties are particularly upset over the difference in payments made in lieu of taxes by the state and federal governments. The DNR remits payments at the same rate as a private taxpayer. The only income in lieu of taxes from the federal government, however, will be approximately 10% cents an acre under the stamp tax.

Twenty-five percent of the returns for sale of stumpage is returned to counties, but only two weeks ago, it was announced that timber sales would be one-third lower in 1975 due to the depressed timber market.

The six counties have requested that the federal government invoke relief legislation where local lands are taken off the tax rolls by purchase.

15 Years Ago—

August 31, 1960—Seventy-four persons attended a meeting to discuss plans for Isoosco County's first participation in the American Red Cross blood bank.

More than 70 Lightning class sailboats have been registered for the International Lightning Championship Regatta to be held September 3-10 on Tawas Bay. Ralph Meyers, commodore of Tawas Bay Yacht Club, reports that more than 500 persons are expected to attend.

Petitions asking the incorporation of portions of Oscoda and AuSable Townships as a home rule city are under study of a board of supervisors' committee.

Earning beginner certificates in the American Red Cross swimming program were Kathy Roach, Mary Roach, Brenda Brugger, Ricky Hoag, Doreen Ledsworth, Diane Schreiber, Carolyn Wendt, Virginia Alexander, Clark Brown, Gene Evans and Len Sarki, all of the Tawas.

DRYING FLOWERS

Bringing a bit of nature indoors may be just the way to spark up your fall and winter decor... a touch of color, a new conversation piece, and the joy of doing it yourself with a minimum of money.

The first frost need not spell the end of the beautiful flowers of summer. A bit of summer can be carried all through the long, gray winter months by picking and preserving flowers now.

A good way to preserve a blossom's shape and color is by drying it.

Flowers like cockscomb (colesia), golden rod, bittersweet, statice, salvia, yarrow and hydrangea respond best to the hanging method of drying.

Pick them just before they reach their prime and strip off any leaves. Tie the flowers in small bunches and hang them head down in a dry, dimly lighted place for two to four weeks.

For flowers like foxglove, peonias, snapdragons, gladioli, lilies, delphinium, coral bells and pansies, the drying mixture method is recommended.

Pick before the flowers have reached maturity. Cover the bottom of the box with one inch of silica gel or borax. Place the flowers in the box and cover them by gently sprinkling additional drying mixture over them. Store the boxes in a cool, dark place for two weeks or until the petals feel crisp.

To preserve foliage, crush or split the ends of the stems and stand the plants in a three to five-inch deep solution of two-thirds glycerin and one-third water. Within a few days to two weeks, tiny beads of moisture will appear on the leaves. This indicates that the foliage is ready to use. It will last indefinitely.

For plants with flat leaves, like ivy or galax, immerse the entire plant in the solution and soak it.

Next-of-Kin May File for State Bonus

Application forms for next-of-kin of deceased Michigan Vietnam Era veterans (Form V-2) were made available Friday, August 29, at all secretary of state branch offices throughout Michigan. Many veterans organizations and agencies throughout Michigan will also have next-of-kin applications and are offering their services to survivors of veterans who may need help or advice in filing their applications. Maj. Gen. John A. Johnston, adjutant general of Michigan and director, Department of Military Affairs, reported that the Michigan Vietnam Veterans Era Bonus Division has established a separate internal section, under the direction of Michael Larkin, to process beneficiary applications. General Johnston further stated that next-of-kin applications will be handled on a first-in first-out basis and processed for payment concurrently with living veteran applications.

The appropriate beneficiary would be eligible to receive the same bonus that the respective deceased veteran or veteran listed as missing-in-action would have been entitled to under the provisions of Public Act 370 of 1974, as amended.

Suit Filed Over Auto Malfunction

A Tawas City woman has filed a $200,000 damage suit in Iosco County Circuit Court over injuries which she received, allegedly due to the malfunction of an automobile.

Bringing the suit is Mrs. Eva Foco of Douglas Drive. Plaintiffs are American Motors Corporation; Pollard Friendly Motor Company, a Colorado corporation, and Ed Bailey American Motors, a Michigan corporation.

The petition submitted by attorneys for Mrs. Foco claims that she purchased a 1972 automobile from the Colorado dealership which did not function properly, in that the engine would not shut off when the ignition switch was turned off. The petition claimed she later took the automobile to Ed Bailey American Motors for similar repair.

The plaintiff claims that on August 7, 1972, she parked the automobile at her home at 1827 Douglas Drive and turned the ignition switch to the off position. It is alleged that she opened the car door and proceeded to alight from the automobile when it malfunctioned, lurching backward and pinning her leg between the car door and a tree causing her serious and permanent injuries.

The plaintiff claims a breach of warranty, negligence, breach of contract and misrepresentations by the defendants.
