Mrs. Baker purchased the spinning wheel a number of years ago and the mannequin was once perched on a snowmobile display at Hale Hardware. TA Officials Take Close Look at Bus Problems

With only three buses in its 21-unit fleet passing the state police safety inspection, school administrators told Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night that they were going to "take a closer look" at the problem.

Robert H. Crawford, transportation director, reported that eight of the school district's buses were "red-lined" this week for major problems and had to be corrected before they could be placed back in service. Minor corrections were made on some buses and were approved.

The major problem, said Crawford, is broken springs. "It seems that in the past two weeks, we have broken more springs than at any time in the past," he stated.

The reason for the broken springs, said Crawford, was that buses were wearing out more rapidly because of the large number of miles driven under the split school session, plus the extremely cold weather during the past month which causes a weak spring to snap.

"So far, we have had no buses turned down for defective safety equipment, such as brakes, exhaust, headlights, flashing lights, steering, etc.," said Crawford.

He said, however, that some older buses have wiring problems with clearance lights and horns. He was at a loss to explain why some minor problems which would catch the immediate attention of bus inspectors were not reported to his office prior to the inspection in order that corrections could be made.

Dr. Robert A. Halle, superintendent, stated that a report from state police inspectors indicated that maintenance of Tawas' bus fleet did not compare favorably with other districts in the state. He felt this was due to excessive miles being driven and the lack of an adequate maintenance program.

The superintendent felt the transportation director's report was timely: "We must use these vehicles to safely transport students," he declared. Since changing from the regular school day schedule three years ago, mileage traveled by buses jumped from 190,000 annually to 308,000 miles last year. Crawford said that buses traveled 140,529 miles during the first semester of the current term, but believed that the annual total would be approximately 281,000 miles, due to a change in several bus runs.

Crawford said that the district had purchased three buses annually from 1967 to 1971, then dropped to one bus in 1972 and two buses each during the next three years. The reason for dropping the purchase of one bus was due to economics. Five years ago, buses could be purchased for $7,000 each, while cost last fall was more than double that amount and the cost next term will jump to over $16,000 each.

While four or five buses should be purchased, Crawford recommended the purchase of three buses. However, Halle said that the budget would allow for the purchase of only two buses, which he recommended.

Impressive Program Slated for 26th Perchville Festival

Depending on weather conditions this week-end, the crowd attending the 26th annual Perchville U. S. A. Festival could surpass any on record, according to Ronald Featheringill, festival chairman.

Although dates were accidentally selected to conflict with the Grant Township Winter Festival, Featheringill said that committees for both festivals had cooperated in order to lessen conflicting features.

As an example, the highly popular demolition derby will be held Saturday afternoon at Sand Lake and a similar event will be limited to Sunday afternoon on Tawas Bay. There will be hockey matches during both programs.

Featheringill said Friday night that only 74 accommodations remained in the area at 6 o'clock that evening. Reservations had been made for 220 visitors by that time.

"It looks as though parking lots to be set up on the ice of Tawas Bay will be jammed to capacity over the week-end and I would advise local residents to park their cars on side streets and walk to the festival area as a means of assisting visitors in finding parking," said Featheringill.

Headquarters for the festival will be the ice of Tawas Bay near the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock at East Tawas. Concession stands are to be set up on the shoreline and in the East Tawas Community Building.

Four major events over the week-end are expected to draw large crowds. Included is a manhunt Saturday afternoon on Tawas Bay, a snowmobile rally in Huron National Forest, a basketball game Saturday night between members of the Detroit Lions Football team and the East Tawas Lions and polar bear swims both Saturday and Sunday.

Reginald Look, chairman of the manhunt, reports that the winner of this event could win a cash prize ranging up to $2,000. Persons entering should be registered by 1:00 p. m. Saturday. Each contestant is to receive a packet of clues, a boundary map and is to search the fishing area of Perchville for the "wanted man." According to a spokesman for Tawas Area Promotions, Incorporated, only two people know the identity of the subject of the search—the committee chairman and the wanted person.

The 30-mile snowmobile rally, to start at Whispering Pines and end on the ice of Tawas Bay, is to be conducted similarly to a sports car rally. The route, not to be made public until Saturday, is to be through the national forest, state land, private property and a portion of the Tuttle Marsh. There will be 150 trail markers along the route along with safety teams equipped with citizen band radios. All machines must be registered for the event and the sound level on machines is not to be above 85 decibels, according to forest service specifications.

Each contestant should have a compass and maps are to be furnished. The program is being sponsored by Huron Shores Jaycees.

Saturday night's basketball game with the Detroit Lions football team starts at 7 o'clock at Tawas Area High School Gymnasium. The Lions always stage an outstanding show and will autograph programs following the game.

Richard Bergeron, 18, of Tawas City, a student at Tawas Area High School, will be attempting to break his endurance record of 40 minutes in the water of Tawas Bay during polar bear events on Saturday and Sunday. This program is being sponsored by TAPS and 15 or more members of the local polar bear group are expected to participate each day.

Festival promoters are hoping that perch will cooperate in the program as a number of outstanding prizes are to be awarded in the fishing contest. John McMurray is chairman and the official weighing station will be at his bait shop on US-23.

The United States Coast Guard is cooperating with the Iosco Sportsmen's Club in placing shanties on the ice and a 12-foot snowdrift blocking the entrance to Perchville on Tawas Bay was removed last week. Heavy snow conditions could have an effect on fishing conditions as well as the accessibility of the area to fishermen. Veteran fishermen say there are plenty of perch in Tawas Bay, but the heavy snow covering the ice could limit success.

The program opens officially at 6:00 p. m. Friday when fire sirens of the Tawas are to kick off the event. A stag fish fry is to be held at the East Tawas Community Building and doe fish fry at Lixey's Restaurant, both starting at 6:30 p. m.

Saturday's program starts with flag raising at 9:30 a. m. and opening of concession stands. Bingo games start at 10:00 a. m. at the community building. A hockey game starts at 10:00 a. m., followed by games and competitive events for school age participation at 11:00 a. m.

Following the start of the snowmobile rally at 11:00 a. m., there will be the manhunt starting at 1:00 p. m., a polar bear swim at 2:00 p. m. and crowning of a polar bear king and queen at 2:30 p. m. Judging of ice sculptures under sponsorship of Tawas Area Bicentennial Committee will be at 3:30 p. m. Following the basketball game, there will be a dance for young people at the high school at 9:00 p. m. A band is to provide music.

Sunday's program starts with flag raising at 9:00 a. m., followed by opening of a chili kitchen in the community building at 10:30 a. m. Bingo games are to start at 12 o'clock noon. The polar bear swim is to be held at 1:00 p. m., followed by a demolition derby at 2:00 p. m. Judging of the fishing contest is to be held at 3:30 p. m., presentation of awards beginning at 4:00 p. m. and the grand prize drawing will be held at 4:30 p. m.

The Tawas Herald will hold a hospitality day Saturday, 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. Stop at the office—warm up with a free cup of coffee and cookies. Free memo pads, ball point pens and 1976 bicentennial state road maps will be given away. Hundreds of pictures appearing in past years will be up for grabs, proceeds going to Tawas Area Band's bicentennial tour fund. See page 2, section 2.

Susan Stevenson Picked for Queen

Susan Stevenson of East Tawas, a senior at Tawas Area High School, was selected Sunday by a three-member panel of judges to reign over the 26th annual Perchville USA Festival.

Twelve girls from the area, all sponsored by local businesses, entered the judging held at Lixey's Restaurant. The event was attended by 50 persons.

Judging was based on general appearance, speaking and a personal interview. Judges were Thomas Jacques of Tawas City, Col. William Kleisert of Wurtsmith Air Force Base and Mrs. Ann Reasner, a member of Tawas Area School faculty.

First runnerup in the contest was Margaret Carroll, sponsored by King's Market, and the second runner up was Linda Felcyn, sponsored by the Holland House. Miss Stevenson was sponsored by Moon-ey's Ben Franklin.

In her presentation Sunday, Miss Stevenson outlined the past history of Perchville. Several other contestants used a historical approach in their presentation based on the bicentennial.

Contestants included Vicki Vogel, sponsored by Keiser's Drug Store; Deborah Shaw, sponsored by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway; Eve Mandrey, sponsored by Bayside Beauty Salon; Debra Anschutz, sponsored by Carol's Curl Corner; Nadene Dotson, sponsored by Brugger's Foodland; Susan Erickson, sponsored by Lixey's Restaurant; Amy Savage, sponsored by Loeffler's Service Center; Faye Yanna, sponsored by Bay House Restaurant; Barbara Rowland, sponsored by Paradise Beach Cottages.

Miss Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roach of East Tawas, is to receive her crown Friday night during the doe night event at Lixey's Restaurant. All girls are to participate in various segments of the program over the week-end.

Building Trades House Sold

Sale of the building trades house at East Tawas completed last term by vocational students at Tawas Area High School was approved Monday night by the board of education.

The house was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas R. Jackson at a cash price of $27,400.

In other business, it was announced that an election is to be held by the school's professional teaching staff concerning its continued affiliation with the Michigan Education Association, or to leave that group and affiliate with the Michigan Chapter of the American Federation of Teachers.

Judges Had Difficult Job

JUDGES for the queen's contest had a difficult time in making a final selection and these young beauties were among the contestants. Seated from left are Eve Mandrey, Vicki Vogel, and Nadene Dotson. State Approves TA Bond Vote

Michigan Department of Education has given its preliminary qualification to Tawas Area School District to hold a special election asking voters to approve issuance of $2,060,000 in general obligation bonds for a proposed addition to the school building on M-55.

As a result of this approval, the board of education formally established Monday, March 29, as the date for the bonding election. Holding the election on that date received approval of the county clerks' office, which coordinates all elections.

Last day for voters to register with individual township and city clerks to be eligible to vote in the election is Monday, March 1.

Three Schools Involved In Land Transfers

Resolutions from boards of education of three school districts in the county asked the Iosco Intermediate School District to conduct public hearing on proposed transfers of property to straighten boundary lines between the districts.

A petition from four families in Reno Township asking that their properties be transferred from Whittemore-Prescott School District to the Hale School District was rejected recently by the intermediate school district, "with the understanding that the boundary line between these two districts at this area be straightened."

As a result of this action, straightening of the boundary line between Tawas Area School District and Hale Area School District in Grant Township is also to be considered.

A resolution adopted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education asked that the property of Eugene C. Kaiser, Section 18 of Grant Township, be detached from that school district and transferred to the Hale Area School District. Property of J. Palek in Section 19 of Grant Township, currently a part of Hale Area School District, would be transferred to Tawas Area School District.

No students would be involved in the proposed change.

In addition to adopting a similar resolution, Hale Area Board of Education Monday night adopted a resolution asking that Miller Road east of M-65 be established as the new boundary line between that district and Whittemore-Prescott Area School District. About 10 families would be involved in the transfer, with five families in each district.

Following a determination by the intermediate district on the above proposals, a public hearing would be held.

The board of education is proposing the addition of 11 classrooms, expansion of library facilities, construction of an auditorium-teaching station for instructional and community use in music and drama. A gymnasium seating 1,500 persons would also be constructed.

Three portable classrooms would continue in use for the next several years, or until lowering enrollment allows discontinuance of those facilities.

Everything possible is being done to continue the separation of middle school students from high school students, although there would be some sharing of facilities in the cafeteria and library. The present gymnasium would be used by the middle school and the new gymnasium would be for the high school.

The proposition would require a tax levy of 1.85 mills for the first year of the 20-year bond issue. It is expected the tax rate would be lowered in future years as the valuation increases.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

Aged Alabaster Man Died Friday in Home Blaze

Charles H. Groff, 84, died Friday morning in a fire at his home in Alabaster Township.

Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers reported that a passing motorist noticed the smoke and called the department at 9:15 o'clock. The motorist hailed a passing sheriff's patrol car and an attempt was made to enter the burning building, but the officer was forced back by the extreme heat.

Tawas City firemen said that flames were concentrated in the living room, where Mr. Groff's body was found on a couch. Funeral services were conducted Monday, February 9, from Emanuel Lutheran Church in Tawas City. The Rev. James Rockhoff officiated and burial was in Emanuel Lutheran Cemetery.

Mr. Groff was born May 21, 1891, in Tawas City.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,
It is alarming to watch what was once an entertaining and healthy sport turn into a race to see who will become permanently disabled first.

Have you, Perchville Committee, ever seen the effects caused by extreme over-exposure to cold water?

It kills brain cells much faster than does prolonged overexposure to alcohol; in men it causes impotency or even the loss of reproductive organs—in many cases, death. In mild doses, it is very healthy, stimulating, good for well being and muscle tone.

But gentlemen, with your promotion of setting a world record for endurance in this sport, only to draw a larger crowd, you are turning what was once a healthy sport into disability guaranteed.

We would have enjoyed attending and participating in your Perchville polar bear swim this year and we do sincerely wish you success in your efforts. We just ask that you think of what you are doing before someone is hurt.

Sincerely,
Robert Jones

TA's Inservice Program First in History

First inservice program in the history of Tawas Area School is to be held Friday, February 20. The entire faculty of the school, bus drivers, custodians, aides and secretaries are to participate.

Among speakers during the day long session will be Dr. Robert A. Halle, superintendent, and a representative of Central Michigan University, who will speak on public relations.

Group sessions will be held during the afternoon for teachers concerning readability testing, individual survey testing; discussions with probate court and truant officers; a program by Bay-Arenac School District.

Robert H. Crawford, transportation director, is to have a session with bus drivers.

mended, but, if money becomes available, an additional bus would be purchased.

New regulations are causing problems on some 1971 models, where heat shields between the exhaust pipe and gasoline tank must be extended, and new regulations are expected to add further problems in the future.

At the present time, the school district receives no reimbursement from the state for its four 1968 models and it is the last year for reimbursement on three 1969 models.

Hockey Program Planned

Amateur hockey will be featured in programs during the Grant Township Winter Carnival and the Perchville USA Festival to be held this week-end.

Around 80 high school boys and young men from the area have been participating in practice sessions during recent weeks and have organized four teams: Sand Lake Flames, Tawas Bay Bombers, Oscoda Maple Leafs and East Tawas Warriors.

Michael Reed of Tawas City, a former amateur hockey player, has been assisting in organizing a league and said Sunday that representatives of the Flint Generals and Michigan Hockey Association would visit the area in March to help establish an organization. Boys interested in hockey have been playing for the past three years at Sand Lake and have scoured the area for equipment. Slow puck hockey rules are used which prohibit body checking along with other rules to promote safety in the sport.

Saturday's program will find a game slated from 10:00 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. on the ice of Tawas Bay during the Perchville USA Festival and from 3:00 to 5:00 p. m. during the Grant Township Winter Festival. The latter event will be held at the Sand Lake Heights Community Center, the only rink in the area equipped with sideboards.

Reed said that a number of the boys had amateur hockey experience in other areas of the state. Heading the program at Sand Lake have been Steven Boshaw and Mark Lenczewski.

West Branch Church Scene of Prescott-Nakkula Vows

St. Joseph's Catholic Church, West Branch, was the scene Saturday, February 7, for the marriage of Nancy Ann Nakkula and Davey G. Prescott. The Rev. Fr. Hale A. High School Receives Accreditation From U of M

Culminating a five-year effort by the district to improve its educational program, Hale Area School has been placed on the list of secondary schools fully accredited by the University of Michigan. The action came as a result of an October visitation by a consultant of the university's bureau of school services and final action by the bureau's accreditation advisory committee.

1. Policies, objectives and philosophy.
2. Curriculum, total program.
3. General school organization.
4. Library media center.
5. Guidance, counseling and testing programs.
6. Staff organization and qualifications.
7. Organization of school day, week and year.
8. Salaries.
9. School facilities.
10. School records.
11. Financial status of school district.
12. Graduates—what happens to them.
13. General tone of the school-atmosphere for learning.

The Hale community and school district received special commendation for the design and construction of the new junior and senior high school building as well as its attractive appearance and effective utilization.

The report stated that achieving accreditation requirements "reflects great credit on the community, board of education, staff and students" and that "the new school and its programs provide greatly increased opportunity to the youth of Hale." The board of education and administration were also cited for a "fine job of preparation for accreditation."

The report noted the limited offerings available to Hale students in vocational education and recommended the district make attempts to join other schools in the area in forming a centrally located skills center as one solution to greater vocational opportunities for its students.

Richard Dodge, high school principal, said that the achievement was one that "everyone in the Hale Area School District benefits from and can be proud of."

Commendations from the evaluation report were as follows:

"The Hale community and school district are commended for the design and construction of the new Hale High School. The school was planned to offer present programs in better facilities and new programs in facilities and rooms not available previously. The building does both things very well. The library-media center, for example, has a warm, friendly atmosphere for research, study and browsing. The new specialized classrooms are well equipped and attractively furnished. The industrial arts programs are in a new adjacent building separated by a court area.

"The new school is located well off the road in a rolling, wooded site that lends itself to the nature of the Hale area and is most attractive. The small garden-like structure in front of the school is a very pretty memorial and a focal point for the whole school plant.

"The school itself meets or exceeds the accreditation standards in 13 different areas:

1866 Diary Identifies... 'SOLITARY HUNTER'

One of the enigmas confronting those interested in the history of the Tawas Bay area prior to the arrival of the Whittemores in 1854 have been the words: "One solitary hunter, Simeon A., with his wife lived at the mouth of the Tawas River..."

The above quotation from the "History of the Lake Huron Shore," published in 1883 and the only comprehensive history ever written, was penned by James O. Whittemore in his "early history" of Tawas City.

Persons delving into the early settlement here have presumed that Simeon A.—"either left the area before the arrival of the Whittemores, or that his last name was forgotten during the intervening 29 years before publication of the book.

The riddle of the "solitary hunter's" last name may have been solved, however, and by none other than James O. Whittemore, who has been dead for many years. A recently acquired typewritten copy of the personal diary of J. O. Whittemore, for the year 1866, was studied during preparation of notes for this featurette.

The eldest son of the county's founder, he was born in 1828 at Pontiac, was a graduate of the University of Michigan and taught school before coming to Tawas City. He was the first postmaster, register of deeds and clerk of this county. He served as judge of probate from 1876 to 1885, studied law and was admitted to the Iosco County Bar.

A notation in his diary for March 15, 1866, concerned an explanation of the sale of some property handled in the register of deeds office. Another notation that day stated: "Peter Hart was the pioneer of Tawas, a little dried up old man, active and extremely voluble; talking to you long after he had passed you. His family and connections were the first settlers. Simeon Andrews was his nephew. Andrews first came here to fish with Alonzo Arnold, a son-in-law of Hart..."

The reason why Whittemore omitted Andrews' last name in the 1883 history cannot be fully understood. It is difficult to believe he would have forgotten the name.

According to the 1866 diary, "Mrs. Wheeler, a daughter of Hart, married Sherman Wheeler, the lighthouse keeper, when I came here in 1854; his niece, Abby, married my brother, Charles."

A question is brought to mind immediately by another conflicting statement: Was the man identified as Andrews a hunter, as related in the "History of the Lake Huron Shore," or was he a fisherman, as mentioned in the 1866 diary?

Whittemore wrote in 1883 that Sim's Creek, which empties into Tawas Lake, was named in memory of "that first hunter," who divided his time between the river mouth and Tawas Lake. (Adding to this confusion is the fact that a family by the name of Sims has long resided in the vicinity of Tawas Lake.)

"He was one of those men to whom civilization is a bane," said Whittemore. "His natural home was the wildest and loneliest places and he was feared and hated by the Indians, who always gave the one-eyed 'Chemokemon' a wide berth."

"This was not the fault of his character, however, for he was kind, honest and honorable. His wife possessed of fine intelligence and natural grace of form and manners and with civilization would have adorned any society.

"This solitary life, however, had no charms for her and after a year or two, she left for 'white country,' taking her infant daughter, the first recorded white child born in Tawas City. She was soon followed by her husband."

The author briefly mentions Hart in the 1883 book, but his background is easier to trace because of his daughter's marriage to the lighthouse keeper, who later served as Alabaster Township treasurer. Mrs. Wheeler lived to an old age and was later a resident of Tawas City. Wheeler Street memorializes the family name.

According to the "History of the Lake Huron Shore," Hart was a commercial fisherman and, with his brother, came to Tawas Bay in 1849. That year, Mrs. Wheeler visited her father living at the mouth of the Tawas River. Although there were no docking facilities on Tawas Bay at that time and there would be none for another five or more years, she was quoted in another local history as saying she traveled here by sailboat and waited for one full month for a south-bound boat to enter the bay, so that she could make the return trip home to Macomb County.

Whittemore wrote in 1883 that Hart died suddenly—he did not list the date—and was buried at his daughter's home in Alabaster. The date of his death is not recorded in the county clerk's office.

"A few scattered stones in the old garden on the west side of the Tawas River mark the spot where Hart placed his hearthstone and reared his log dwelling; the first in Tawas City," said Whittemore in 1883.

The above description, coupled with another statement in Whittemore's 1866 diary, indicated that Hart "built a house on the west side of Tawas River, south of our mill site." The Whittemore mill was located west of the Lake Street-Mathews Street intersection. Because of the fact that the railroad tracks parallel the meandering river at this point, it is difficult to picture the exact location of Hart's garden, although it would be a good bet that it was just south of Dead Creek on property owned by the railroad company since the 1890s.

Additional information concerning Hart is contained in still another notation in Whittemore's 1866 diary. "Mrs. Wheeler was telling me about the first settlers at Tawas Bay. She said that her father, Peter Hart, came from St. Clair with his two sons, James and Roy, to fish in the bay and was the first white man who built a house on the bay. They fished awhile with Stockman and Sons." (Horace D. Stockman, a commercial fisherman, came to AuSable in 1848.)

"They (the Harts) had a small boat and lived on board. They would take the fishing boats out to the fishing grounds, tow them in and clean their fish in the bay. James Hart's wife was the first woman who lived on the bay."

According to the diary, the Harts had a house half way between East Tawas and the point. "Mrs. Hart lived there in the winter of 1845-46. After that, Isaac Wilson built a house about one-half mile north of the lighthouse, which was standing dilapidated and half tipped over when I came here; the sand having blown away from

Consider Expansion of Trail

A meeting was held Wednesday noon at Colonial Inn, Hale, to consider expansion of Huron Snowmobile Association trails into the Whittemore area.

Attending the meeting were chamber of commerce representatives of the Tawas, Hale and Oscoda, along with representatives of the county board of commissioners, city officials and businessmen from the Whittemore area.

The proposal being considered would establish snowmobile trails in Reno and Burleigh Townships, although it is not known at present if the trails could be connected with the present trail extending into Plainfield Township. Crossing M-55 and private property would be required for the connection.

If the proposal is accepted, trail grooming equipment would be utilized. At the present time, the snowmobile association maintains 75 miles of trails in the county.

BILLING INFORMATION

This utility is required by the MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION, Lansing, Michigan.

When preparing an evaluation of this bill, we have used an estimation of your meter reading and meter status for the month of February.

This bill includes a full rate actual meter reading for the month of February.

A rate of $0.000000 is equal to one cent of one dollar.

A rate of $0.000000 is equal to one cent of one dollar.

UNFRIENDLY PET

METER READER ILL

NO ONE HOME

EE

An EE on your bill indicates that your electric usage for the month has been estimated.

Why estimated bills? There are several reasons. On occasion, our meter reader is unable to read your meter. It may be because no one is at home or the meter is inaccessible due to a locked door or gate. When this is a continuing situation, we suggest you request from us special postpaid, pre-addressed postcards so that you can report your own meter reading. Or, better yet, provide our meter reading department with a key to your property. Tight security and many years of earned customer confidence have made the "key" plan the most popular method.

Sometimes storms or impassable roads may prevent the reader from following through on prescheduled duties. On some occasions, your meter reader may be ill. Or, it may be that a family pet doesn't like meter readers. In this case, you are asked to help us by confining the pet so as to allow the meter reader access to the meter. At your request, we would be happy to supply you with the scheduled reading dates for your meter.

Where meter readings have been estimated for six consecutive months, we are willing to schedule appointments to obtain actual readings. The bill then is adjusted, automatically, with the actual reading. We assure you that we encourage every alternative before estimating. Despite the high degree of accuracy of estimated billing, there is no substitute for a meter reading. It saves you the trouble of inquiring about an estimated bill, and, frankly, it saves us time and trouble in handling your account.

The 911 System—

Consideration should be given by local city, township and county governments to future establishment of a 911 system to serve all communities of Iosco County.

This program was initiated in 1967 by the president's commission on law enforcement and administration of justice to create a single emergency number. In 1968, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company advised that it would make available the digits, 911, for this purpose.

When an emergency occurs, the first step taken by a person seeking help is to telephone for quick assistance by an ambulance, the police or fire department. In terms of valuable and, perhaps, lifesaving minutes, this first step can be very costly if the person needing help has to stop and decide whom to call and then look up the number in the phone book or is confronted with a confusing list of emergency phone numbers from which to choose.

Should this person also be hurt, frightened or hysterical, the problem of getting help quickly is made only more confusing and difficult.

The benefits of a 911 system are that it is a single emergency number, is easy to remember and to dial. It also insures travelers and new residents of being able to get help quickly in a strange locale. In addition, it provides that all calls will be answered by personnel trained in receiving emergency calls and able to dispatch the necessary assistance.

The planning of a 911 system by a community or county requires consideration of the area to be served, the number, type and resources of all existing emergency systems and the location of a central 911 answering and dispatching center. Installation would involve certain modifications in existing equipment as well as additional trunk lines so that exchanges would accept a 911 code and route calls to the emergency switchboard.

In operation, a 911 switchboard would receive an emergency call and dispatch the appropriate vehicle or switch through to the proper agency. Generally, the 911 switchboard is combined with a central operation of serving the police, ambulance and fire departments making routine of the call and dispatching the vehicle in a relatively simple manner.

Here in Iosco County, a step in this direction was taken last year by the City of East Tawas when it purchased new radio equipment on the emergency high band. Grant Township presently has high band receivers and the City of Tawas City authorized purchase of new radios on this band for the volunteer fire department.

When correctly implemented, the 911 system represents a very desirable refinement of existing emergency services. It would be well to have all law enforcement agencies, fire departments and ambulance services in Iosco County coordinated through a single system with one emergency number. Some problems would be encountered, but it seems that any obstacle could be overcome.

After all, the response time in an emergency only too often is the silent factor between life and death.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Exodus 33:12-14 and II Corinthians 4:7-15)

"My presence will go with you, and I will give you rest." (Exodus 33:14, RSV)

As we go along a mountain highway, we see signs saying, "Beware of falling rocks." It makes no difference whether you are a good driver or a careless one, the hazard is the same. It is typical of those things in life we cannot control. What shall be our attitude toward these things? Christ said, "In the world you have tribulation." But He did not stop there. He added, "But be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

The Christian's reaction to trouble is beautifully illustrated by the oyster. Into its shell a tiny grain of sand comes. Slowly and patiently, with infinite care, it builds upon the grain of sand layer upon layer of a milky substance which covers every sharp corner of the sand. Gradually a pearl is made—a thing of wondrous beauty wrapped around trouble.

Amid the falling rocks of life we, like Paul, can discover, "My grace is all you need." With God's help we can turn grains of sand into pearls.

PRAYER

Our Father, grant us the awareness of Your grace, that we may live victoriously through any trial. In Jesus' name. Amen.

'Time To Run' to be Shown at Baptist Church

"Time To Run," a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at First Baptist Church, Fourth Avenue and Second Street, Tawas City, on Sunday, February 15, 7:00 p. m. The feature, filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, will be shown once that evening.

Filed on location in the Southern California area, "Time To Run" stars Edward Nelson, Randall Carver, Barbara Sigel, Joan Winnill and Gordon Bigsby. Nelson plays Warren Cole, a hard-driving, success-oriented industrial and scientific engineer, who because of over-involvement with work, has failed to communicate with his wife, Fran, or their son, Jeff.

"Time To Run" allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of the three different levels. It is a film that can help strengthen love relationships between people and a film that was made for families to attend—together.

TAX EQUALIZATION DIRECTOR John D. Rose has requested the county to hire four appraisers for his department to aid in the tax equalization program.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tax Equalization Director Requests Expansion of Staff

John D. Rose, director of the county's tax equalization department, has recommended to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners that his department be authorized to hire four full time appraisers.

He said Wednesday that the recommendation came after carefully weighing the functions being performed by the equalization department and with careful consideration of the statutes in regards to the responsibility of the department.

Rose also recommended that Polaroid cameras and film be purchased for the use of the new department appraisers.

"With the increase of qualified appraisal personnel, the department would be able to initiate a program of assistance with the local unit assessors and, over a period of time, alleviate the gross inequity which has been occurring under our current program," said Rose.

With equality being of the utmost importance and factual information a necessity to insure equality in the assessing of property, Rose pointed out that more personnel are needed to gather this information and make the appraisals.

Rose said the four proposed appraisers would aid unit assessors and initiate a reappraisal at the local level. "Thus, we will be insuring equality in the assessing and increasing the values which are low and decreasing the properties which are too high," he stated.

The director said affirmative action would allow the department to become an equalization aid and eliminate equalization factors at the county and state levels "which only increase any inequity that exists in the assessing process." Rose said that photographs were essential and of great aid to the appraiser, assessor, board of review and the public and should be attached to all appraisal cards which have a structure.

"With the increase in qualified appraisal personnel and the photographs as an aid and with the help of the unit assessors, over a period of the next three years we hopefully would eliminate equalization factors and be able to insure equity in the assessments within all our units and to the taxpayers of our county," said Rose.

Forest Money Distributed in Iosco County

Iosco County treasurer's office disbursed $12,606.02 in forest reserve fund money to schools, townships and the county in January.

The county has 23,346 acres of state owned forest reserve lands. The county and townships receive payments based on 17 cents per acre and schools receive 20 cents per acre.

The total amount paid to townships was $3,968.85, including $582.38 to Alabaster Township, 34 cents to AuSable Township, $94.66 to Burleigh Township, 58 cents to Grant Township, $659.32 to Sherman Township and $2,631.57 to Oscoda Township, which had the largest area of 15,479 acres.

Payments to schools included $444.78 to Whittemore-Prescott Area, $1,128.08 to Tawas Area and $3,096.37 to Oscoda Area. The county general fund received $3,968.84.

Test Hale Area HS Students for Occupational Potential

Hale Area High School students will have an opportunity to discover their occupational potential through an aptitude testing program to be conducted by the military services at the school February 19, according to SIC Jerry Luczak, East Tawas army recruit center.

The services are offering Hale students the Armed Services Vocational Battery (ASVAB), a comprehensive aptitude test battery developed by the Department of Defense for the military services.

Although ASVAB was developed to predict a person's ability to complete training for military jobs, it is quite useful for helping a student select a civilian occupation since both require essentially the same basic skills.

The program is gaining wide acceptance among secondary school officials who view it as a valuable, free counseling tool.

ASVAB seems to be equally popular with the nearly two-million students who will take the test across the country this year. It allows a student and his guidance counselor to compare the student's aptitude against the requirements for hundreds of different civilian and military occupations that the student otherwise might not have considered.

Hale students who take the test next week incur no cost or obligation to any of the services.

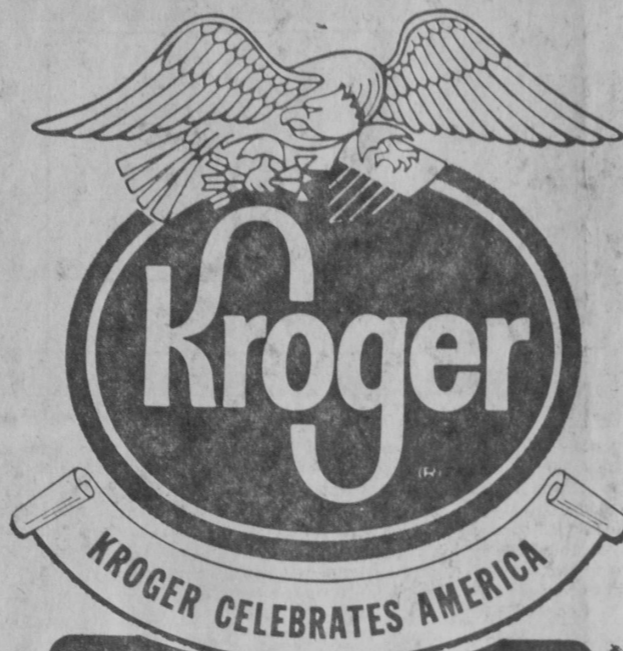

Mrs. Bernard Heads Hale Bicentennial Committee

Mrs. Berkley Bernard has been named chairman of the Plainfield Township Bicentennial Committee. She is being assisted by members of the Hale area retired citizens group.

Tentative plans for the observance July 3-4 call for a crafts and antiques exhibit at the township hall.

Discussion on the program now concerns a pot-luck dinner, involvement of school children, an ox roast, parade and possible staging of an outdoor pageant.

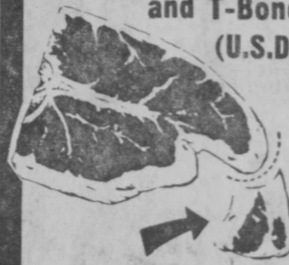

"The committee is looking for ideas and persons who would be willing to help with the program," said Mrs. Bernard.

Question: My uncle has worked all his life as a painter. I know he is not making what he used to and I think he might be eligible for supplemental security income payments. Can you tell me what the requirements are?
 Answer: The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled. People with some other income may be eligible for reduced payments. Your uncle can get information about applying for supplemental security income payments by calling or writing any social security office.

Question: I rent a small apartment and I have very little income. The only things I own are my household goods and a car. Would my car make me ineligible for supplemental security income?
 Answer: Under the supplemental security income program, a car is not counted if its retail value is $1,200 or less, or if it is used for transportation to a job or to a place for regular treatment of a specific medical problem. Even if the value of your car is more than $1,200, you may still be eligible if your total resources do not exceed $1,500.

Question: I am going to take my 65-year-old aunt and uncle to apply for supplemental security income payments. What documents should they take with them?
 Answer: They should take their birth or baptismal certificates, checkbooks, savings account books, stocks and bonds, life insurance policies, auto registration cards, latest real estate tax statement, last year's income tax returns and W-2 forms, evidence of all other income and their social security cards. If they have any questions about any of these documents they should call the social security office first.

For answers to questions regarding social security or supplemental security income, contact the Social Security office at 1009 North Madison Avenue, Bay City, or phone 892-3554.

Starboard Industries Employs 200 Persons in Three Tawas Area Plants

The three local plants of Starboard Industries, Incorporated, were recently featured in the trade publication, "Steel Horizons," published by Allegheny Ludlum.

Starboard, which has its executive offices at Birmingham, is a primary supplier of interior trim assemblies and parts to the automotive industry. Its plants are located at Tawas Area Industrial Park, Baldwin Center and Tawas City.

The company was named in 1968 by one of its principals, Robert Truesdell. His partner has been William Nienstedt. Both men grew up in the automotive field, Truesdell with a parts division and Nienstedt with a major parts supply firm.

"They learned their Detroit lessons well, particularly as salesmen devoted to meeting customer needs," stated the article. "Sharing the same market savvy and service convictions, they founded Starboard Industries, Incorporated, and were its first stockholders."

The stockholder list has since lengthened considerably and will continue to grow. Starboard Industries was one of the first manufacturing companies to be sanctioned by the Internal Revenue Service under the new ESOP (Employee Stock Ownership Plan) regulations. In a few years, under this program, Starboard will actually be owned by its employees.

What employees will own will be facilities equipped with presses and special design setups to roll form, crimp, laminate and join precision rolled stainless steel strip. The firm also stamps parts and assembles anti-window rattler assemblies for various automotive firms.

In marketing Starboard products, its technical representatives work closely with automotive engineers, stylists and production people on a years-ahead basis, a very competitive field.

Much of Starboard's output is for the Fisher Body Division of General Motors, but some also goes to Ford Motor Company and its divisions. Very little production goes outside automotive circles, except on an experimental basis.

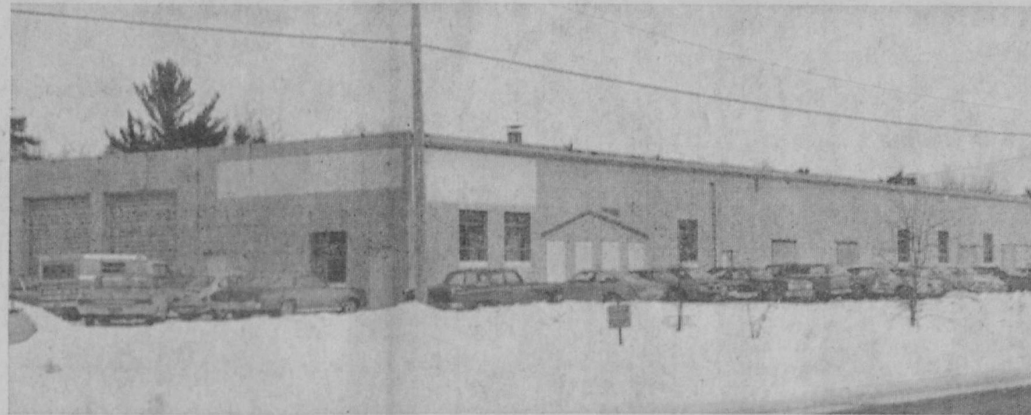

A good percentage of Starboard's 200 people are from the area surrounding the Tawas; "others are 'refugees' from the big city woes," stated the article.

"Many employees have been with Starboard since its beginning; it is obvious to any observer that they enjoy their work and take pride in what they are doing," stated the article.

The organization is a little different, to say the least, stated the article. Starboard Industries operates without a general manager or even a plant manager. It is a group-type administration—a production planning man, a quality control man and a manufacturing man.

"The plan works and smoothly; after all, the employees practically own the place," stated the article.

A SECOND PLANT is located on US-23, Baldwin Center.

NINTH AVENUE in Tawas City is the site of a third plant.

Gas-Power Bills Being Estimated

More customers than usual will receive estimated gas and electric bills this month, said Ralph Hahn, division manager of Consumers Power Company's Northeast Division.

"I do not have to remind anyone how much snow we have had and how deep it has piled up," Hahn said. "One result of this unusual amount of snow is that our meter readers find it harder to complete their routes.

"Our policy is to attempt to read every meter every month," Hahn said. "But when it is impossible to read the meter, the company estimates the bill based on an 18-month history of the customer's usage and weather data based on 18 months of actual daily temperatures."

These records show the company the customer's pattern of use and a modern computer system calculates a billing estimate with a high degree of accuracy.

"For customers who receive estimated bills this month, EE or GE will be printed at the bottom of the service code column. It should be noted that this estimate will be adjusted after the next actual meter reading, so that the customer will not pay for more—or less—energy than actually used," Hahn said.

The company much prefers to read the meters rather than to estimate usage. But Old Man Winter has made it more difficult in many cases for Consumers Power's meter readers to reach some meters, even in the southern part of the Lower Peninsula, where snowfall usually does not create too big an obstacle.

The above statements penned in 1866 add further confusion to the 1883 version by Whittemore concerning the first settler and where and when his dwelling was constructed.

While Whittemore's diary may have provided the last name of "the solitary hunter" at Tawas, it has raised numerous other questions concerning the area's history because of conflicting dates and statements.

Commission Lets Contracts on New Central Garage-Office

Contracts for construction of a new $900,000 central garage and office complex for the Iosco County Road Commission were awarded Thursday.

Thunder Bay Construction of Alpena was awarded the general contract; Hubers, Incorporated, Midland, received the mechanical contract, and Franklin Electric of Flint received the electrical contract.

The complex is to replace present garages at East Tawas, Whittemore and Hale. The garage at Oscoda is to remain in use.

This project is being financed through motor vehicle highway fund bonds and is being financed under a five percent loan for 25 years by Farmers Home Administration.

Plans were prepared by the R. S. Scott Engineering Company of Alpena.

James Delahanty, engineer-manager of the road commission, said that construction would start in early spring with an estimated completion in the spring of 1977. He said, however, that the facility is expected to be in use by the fall of this year.

Second Honor Received by TA Director

William Root, director of bands at Ferris State College, announced this week that Gene Salamony, band director at Tawas Area School, has been selected as the recipient of the eighth annual conductors award. This recognition is bestowed upon a leading high school band director of Michigan, who has consistently achieved superior music achievements in school music.

In awarding this honor to Salamony, Root stated the award "represents public acknowledgement of your continuous high achievement, musicianship and leadership on behalf of youth in the State of Michigan."

Salamony will be publicly honored at the Ferris State College May Festival on Wednesday, May 5. He will conduct a combined band rehearsal and concert of approximately 300 students.

This is the second honor bestowed on Salamony in the past two weeks, having recently been named band teacher of the year by the 1,200-member Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Grant Township Winter Festival Saturday Features Varied Program

Grant Township's winter festival does not have a program as extensive as previous years, but the sponsoring Sand Lake Heights Men's Association promises that there will be "fun for all" on Saturday, February 14.

Due to the fact that the association had devoted much of its time to a dedication program last November at the community center, plus the fact that the Perchville USA Festival falls on the same week-end, association officials have limited the program to one day.

The program opens at noon Saturday with games at the community center. A powder puff demolition derby is to be held at 1:00 p. m., followed by the men's demolition derby at 2:30 p. m.

One of the highlights of the program will be a hockey game between teams from the Tawas and Grant Township, to be held at 3:00 p. m. This event should provide some exciting action for spectators as the two teams have held extensive practice sessions during the past several weeks.

The formal program will conclude with awarding of prizes at 5:00 p. m.

There will be concession stands throughout the day on community center property. Entertainment is to be provided for both young and old.

The new community center will be the featured attraction during the festival. This outstanding facility, built at a cost of $80,000, is one of the most outstanding developments in the county for social and community activities.

Hale Man Works on Construction of 798-Mile Trans Alaska Pipeline

James Mann of Hale expects that the weather will soon moderate and he will be able to go back to work.

The former owner of an earth moving business at Hale said that the sub-zero temperatures last week in Michigan were rather mild compared to the winter weather which he had just experienced in Alaska.

"I came home after being laid off the job—the temperature five miles north of the Yukon River ranged from 20 to 50 degrees below zero and it was just too cold for the welders," he stated.

Mann had been working for the contractor building the Trans-Alaska pipeline, which is to be completed in the summer of 1977. The 48-inch pipeline will move crude oil from Prudhoe Bay on the Arctic Ocean, 798 miles south of Valdez on Prince William Sound, an inlet of the Gulf of Alaska. From there the crude will be shipped by tanker to the mainland United States.

The former Plainfield Township fire chief said he had always dreamed about going to Alaska, "but I never thought I would have the opportunity." About a year ago, he decided he would take a chance on finding a job in the far North. It was a rather difficult decision, as he had to leave his wife and family behind at Hale.

"I could not find a job there for about 17 days and there were no openings for a heavy equipment operator. I finally found a job as a mechanic on a hovercraft which tows barges across the Yukon River," he stated.

A bridge was opened across the river on October 14 and Mann will be heading back soon for a new job. His wife, Mary Lou, and their family will be joining him in July.

Mann said the most attractive thing about his job was the $13.43 hourly rate of pay with time and one-half for overtime. The company furnishes room and board in a small community of portable buildings built on the pipeline route, called Five Mile Camp.

"We work 12 hours a day for 63 straight days, then have two weeks off for rest and recuperation," said Mann. He returned to his home at Hale during each R&R by commercial air transportation. He telephoned home several times a week to keep in touch with his family.

"It is really a great place to work, but finding a job is not all that easy," advised Mann. "I was lucky to find a job in 17 days as the inflation is something fantastic in that part of Alaska. A hamburger in a restaurant costs $2.75, but the price is about one-half that amount in established towns. When one gets away from the influence of the pipeline, the economy is more basic."

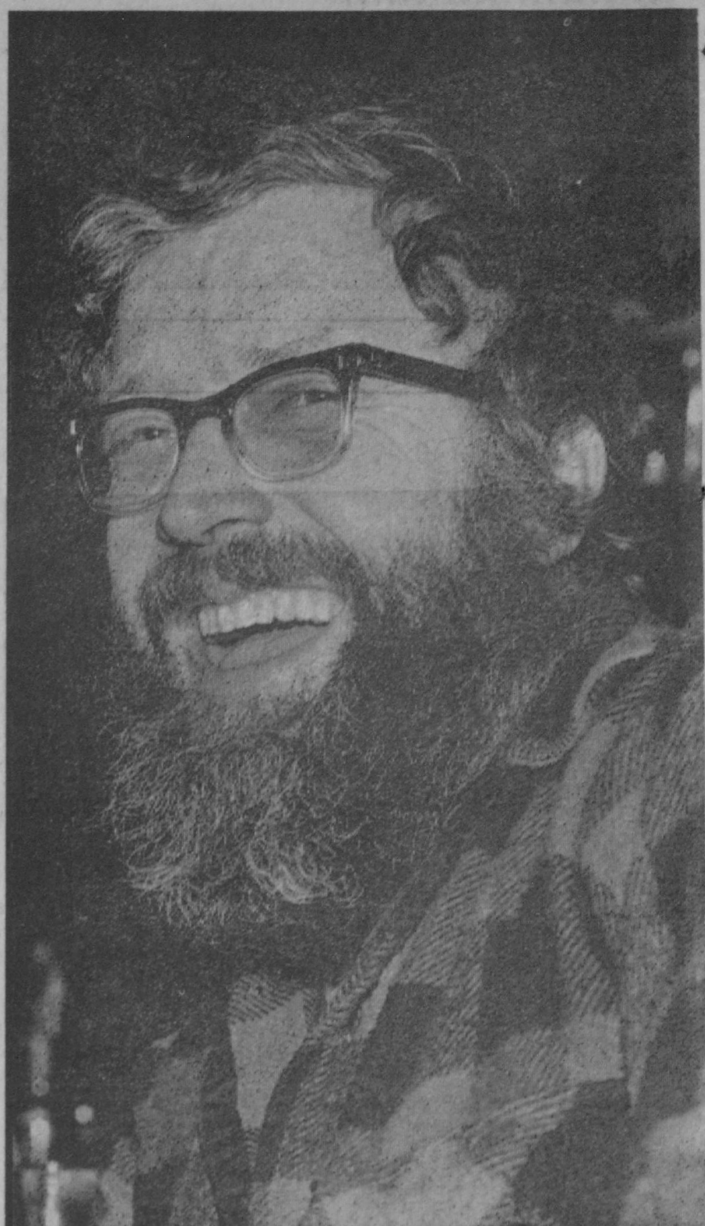

Except for the black flies and huge mosquitoes, Mann found the Alaskan summer to his liking. "I must have caught a thousand pounds of salmon," he stated. "The fact that there is no real darkness after June 21 was a little disconcerting and there are only three hours of a "dusky" daylight during winter."

"Working in Alaska has been a real education for me. There is a wide range of temperatures and the weather in some parts of the state is similar to that found the year around in Washington and Oregon."

With only three major highways, air travel predominates in Alaska. "At Point Barrow, the local high school basketball team travels by airplane to play its games," he stated.

Mann said he would be heading back to his job in Alaska at the end of March—a place where his dreams have come true. It is a rather important job, too, from the standpoint that the pipeline he is helping to build will soon be furnishing crude oil to the rest of the country.

VERSATILE BEANS

Do you know that dried beans are an excellent source of protein? Perhaps not, as Americans have been slow to see beans as anything but a cheap food for use in humble dishes like baked beans or chili.

Other countries have traditionally made use of beans in some of their most well-known dishes. The French bake beans along with meats and vegetables in the hearty cassoulet. Brazilians mix beans with beef and rice for the traditional feijoada. In North Africa, they are combined with meat, vegetables and grains in couscous. And in the Middle East, they are mixed with vegetables and sesame seeds to make deep-fried falafel.

The flavor of dried beans is pleasant and sufficiently bland so they mix well with other foods. They store easily without refrigeration for long periods of time and can be wonderful budget stretchers in this time of high food costs.

When buying beans, look them over carefully. They should have bright, uniform color. Faded beans are less fresh, take longer to cook and will not be as flavorful when cooked. Look for uniform size, also. Beans of different size require different cooking times. If cooked all together, the larger sizes may be raw while smaller sizes are overdone. Finally, look for visible defects: Cracked coating, discolorations and pinholes (from insects).

Beans require time to cook but very little effort. To prepare for cooking, place in a colander, wash briefly and pick over beans for rejects. Pour into a large pot and cover with plenty of water—at least twice as much as beans. Soak overnight or all day and they are ready to cook.

A faster way to ready dried beans for the pot is to wash and sort and boil in water for two minutes. Remove from heat and let soak in the same water for an hour and they are ready to cook.

While cooking beans, let them simmer or they will foam up. Stir gently to avoid breaking the skins. Cook until tender—usually 1½ to two hours.

In the dining rooms of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, bean soup has been a tradition for almost 75 years. Each dining room has its own special recipe. The following recipe is the one served in the senate.

SENATE BEAN SOUP

Take two pounds of small navy beans, wash and run through hot water until beans are white again. Put on range with four quarts of hot water. Take 1½ pounds of smoked ham hocks; boil slowly for approximately three hours in covered pot. Braise one chopped onion in a little butter and when light brown put in soup. Season with salt and pepper and serve. Do not add salt until ready to serve. Makes eight servings.

George F. Lange Died February 4

After suffering a long illness, George F. Lange of Roscommon died Wednesday, February 4. The former Iosco County resident was born September 3, 1906. He worked as a forester in the 1930s and married Josephine Adams in 1937. He then moved to Rochester where he worked as a mechanic and carpenter. Retiring in 1968, he made his home in Roscommon.

Services were held Saturday, February 7, from Voorhees Siple Funeral Home, Pontiac, with the Rev. Herman Christiansen officiating. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Besides his wife, Mr. Lange is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Evelyn) Beckman; three grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

In view of the coming appraisals to be made by Gem Survey, I would like every property owner to be aware of the procedures that are to be used and to be concerned enough to check for and ask corrections if inequities seem to be evident in one's neighborhood, because fairness of appraisals is everybody's business.

Every municipality levies an ad valorem tax on real property within its jurisdiction, except on specifically exempted non-profit properties. Ad valorem simply means according to value. State law requires an assessment of 50 percent of its true cash value; in other words, one-half of the usual or current selling price at the time of the appraisal, or the price that could be obtained therefore at private sale and not what could be realized in a forced or auction sale. (Act 206 of 1893, as amended). The law requires annual assessment on taxable properties. This 50 percent of cash value is the assessed value.

When all properties have been assessed, this assessment roll is submitted for review to insure that all properties are assessed equally and uniformly by adding or deducting an equalizing factor. The state tax commission then reviews the county values and fixes the state equalized valuation which is the final figure to which the local municipal council applies its tax rate to determine how much money it will get in from property taxes.

Tax rate limit for home rule cities is 20 mills—the statutory maximum. A mill is $1 for each $1,000 of assessed values. Municipalities are permitted to levy above 20

Turner Man on Dean's List

A total of 689 students achieved placement on the fall quarter dean's list at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, by earning a 3.5 grade point average or better. Harold Meese, dean of students, reported that 164 students earned 4.0 average which is a straight A tabulation of grades.

Included from this area is Walter L. Selle, a junior majoring in electrical engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Selle of Turner.

mills by two mills for garbage pickup and disposal.

Hypothetically, the possibility of error in appraising does exist, so we have a board of review for property owners to appeal contested assessments set by the assessors. It is there to use; use it.

Let us cooperate with the men from Gem Survey so they will be better able to do an appraisal that will be fair and equitable in every respect.

Sincerely,
Herbert Cholger

Iosco Schools Get Fourth Aid Check

Three Iosco County schools received $485,957 in the fourth payment of state aid funds, according to a report last week by State Sen. Robert M. Davis.

These funds, Davis explained, are taken from state tax revenues and are based on a formula which, "on the average, enables each school district to provide equal educational opportunities for all of the school children throughout the state."

The payment included $260,540 to Oscoda Area School, plus $43,642 in Title One money; $42,264 to Tawas Area School, plus $5,000 in Title One money; $183,153 to Whittemore-Prescott Area School, plus $24,793 in Title One money.

Due to its high valuation behind each child based under the state aid formula, no state aid money was received by Hale Area School.

Three Sentenced in Circuit Court

Three persons were sentenced February 3 in Iosco County Circuit Court.

Joseph P. Karner and William A. Cleary of Oscoda, who entered guilty pleas to larceny in an unoccupied building, received one-year delayed sentences with the provision that each engage in some community service for five hours a week. Each defendant was assessed costs of $100.

Everett R. Beebe, Hale, entered a guilty plea to breaking and entering an unoccupied building. He was placed on two years probation and assessed costs of $50.

A jury trial was set for March 3, 9:00 a. m., for Robert V. DeWilde, Oscoda, who is charged with arson of an automobile.

Richard Lee Upton, National City, stood mute to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon without intending to commit murder or inflict bodily harm less than murder. Pretrial was set for February 23, 10:00 a. m.

Braves Defeated Gladwin; Lost to BC All Saints

Tawas Area Braves put it all together Friday night to defeat visiting Gladwin, 67-60, but then fell Saturday night before the onslaught of Bay City All Saints, 82-54.

Gladwin jumped to a 16-14 lead over the Braves in the first quarter, but Tawas came back to tie the game in the second quarter. Mike Harvey tied the game with seven minutes, 13 seconds, gone in the quarter and Earl Parsons meshed a two-pointer to put the Braves out in front to stay.

The Braves dominated the second quarter with a 21-8 margin and that proved to be the winning move as each team made 18 points in the third quarter and Gladwin held an 18-14 edge in the final.

Playing without the services of Brad Potts, who has been sidelined with a back injury, the Braves were led in scoring by Parsons, who had 18 points on eight field goals and two foul shots. Tom Mooney pumped in 17 points and Jeff Tousley meshed 10 points. Brent Benmark topped Gladwin with 16 points.

The preliminary contest went to Tawas, 44-42, as the Junior Braves jumped off to a commanding, 18-9, lead in the first quarter and coasted to victory after being outscored in the next three quarters.

Top scorer for Tawas was Gracik, who had 16 points on five field goals and six foul shots. Klenow had seven points and Reinholm had six points.

Tawas was outclassed Saturday night at Bay City by the red hot shooting of Jeff Szczepanski and Mark Holka, who had 37 points between them to give All Saints a 49-24 halftime margin over the Braves.

The Cougars, now 14-1 for the season, had little trouble with the Braves during the second half.

Harvey had a 20-point night and Mooney scored 16 points as the only other Tawas player to reach double figures.

The Braves were scheduled to play at Pinconning Tuesday night and are to host Carrollton Friday night.

1770: The street fight of the century.

It isn't just taxes that rile us. We hate seeing British soldiers in our streets, our public buildings, even our homes. We haven't rebelled, and we don't need soldiers to watch us. Our townspeople can't hold their tongues any longer. We jeer the soldiers. Call them "lobster backs." Get the ruffians confused. One March day, we get them too confused. They fire on a Boston crowd, kill five of us and wound several more. Sam Adams calls it the "Boston Massacre" and makes martyrs of the victims. We arrest the soldiers and try them for murder. But more important, we get the regiments out of town. ☺
