July Fourth Program Was Success

Despite rain during much of last week which caused programs to be moved indoors, perfect weather conditions over the week-end saw the Tawas area jammed with several thousand persons to witness and take part in the bicentennial observance.

Along with the holiday atmosphere, parks, beaches and resort accommodations were packed and "no vacancy" signs were prevalent.

"I am thrilled over the many kind comments which we have received concerning the program," said Mrs. James Machleit, program chairman for the Tawas Area Bicentennial Committee.

Sunday, July 4, was a special day full of "Yankee Doodle" style patriotism. Church bells and fire sirens heralded the nation's 200th birthday at 2:00 p. m., followed by the largest parade in the community's history.

Old-timers viewing the parade made a comparison with the Tawas City centennial parade in 1954, Iosco County centennial in 1957 and East Tawas centennial in 1962 and believed that, while there were fewer horses in Sunday's parade, more people participated in marching units and decorated floats were in greater number than in any previous parade.

Sunday morning's re-enactment of the 1876 centennial program in the Tawas City Park brought high praise to Mrs. Machleit and her committee. Six speakers gave addresses that were full of unabashed patriotism and all drew a parallel between changing times since 1876.

The program opened with group singing of the national anthem led by T. D. Haskins, the pledge of allegiance led by Arthur DeLage of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, followed by presentation of a new state flag by State Rep. George A. Prescott. Participating in a flag raising ceremony were Iosco Post No. 5678, Veterans of Foreign Wars, along with Audie Johnson Post No. 211, American Legion.

Speakers on the platform near the bandstand included Mayor Herbert Cholger of Tawas City and Robert Bolen of East Tawas, both of whom spoke on the challenges of today and the future for the communities; Probate Judge William McCready, who researched county records to develop a speech similar to one delivered by James O. Whittemore, the county's first probate judge; Mrs. M. V. Bramer, whose patriotic address concerned the ringing of church bells and flying the national standard on July 4.

Principal speaker of the morning was Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller, who read portions of the Declaration of Independence and told of events leading up to the day that it was signed 200 years ago.

Throughout the ceremony, persons in attendance filed into the bandstand and signed a "declaration of independence" which was later sealed in a time capsule by the East Tawas Lions Club.

Climax to the ceremony was an outstanding program by the Tawas United Methodist Church Choir, which presented several patriotic selections including the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

An authentic replica of a Revolutionary War cannon was fired by Alan Siegrist of Whittemore to close the program.

Along the route of the parade, which was chaired by Larry Wingrove and Mrs. Warren Kehoe, spectators lined Newman Street at East Tawas and most of US-23 to Tawas City.

One of the outstanding programs during the observance was the re-enactment of public exercises of 1876 held Friday night at the East Tawas Elementary Unit. Amy Savage read the "Centennial Hymn" which was composed for the 1876 program, David Kennedy and Hugh Luedtke read quotations from presidents and Jane Mooney presented a history of the flag and displayed different flags which have served as the national standard. Bonnie Wilson accompanied at the piano.

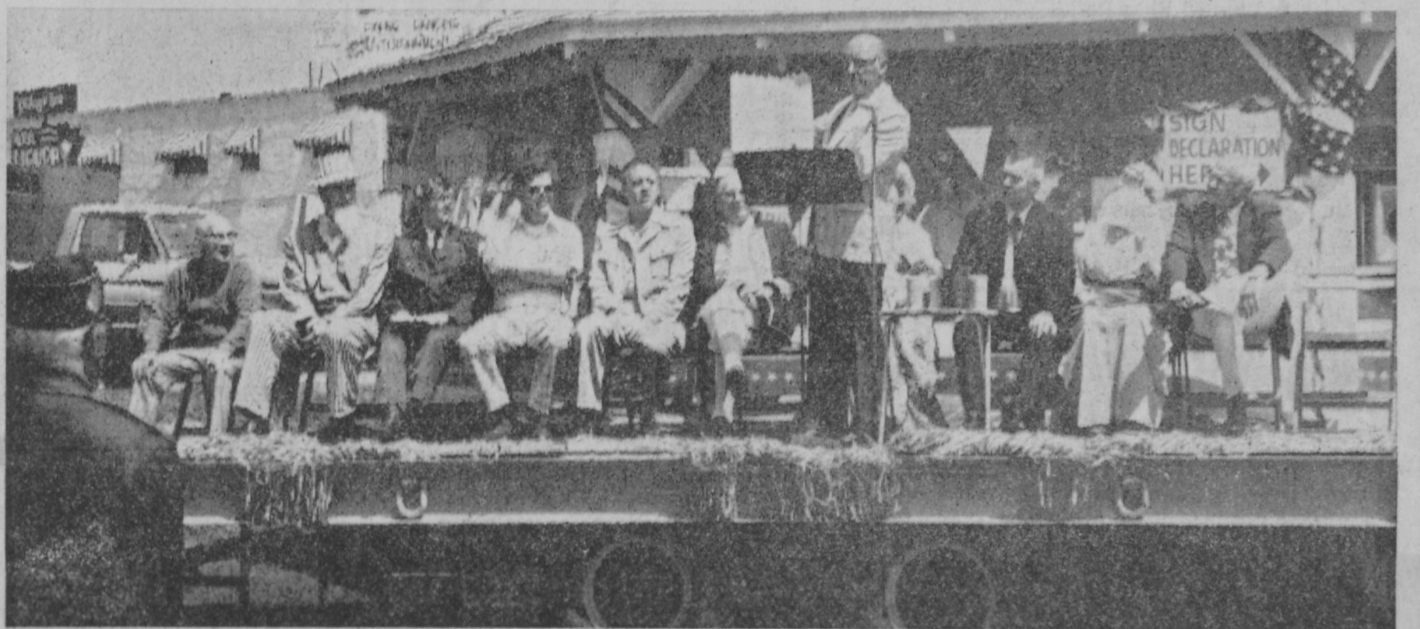

Winning essays from a contest conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary were read by Beckie Burghy, first place, and Shellee Hamm, second place.

The middle school chorus under direction of Daniel Bergh presented several selections and was accompanied by Lynn Look. Members of the chorus included Debbie Holmes, Lynn Zollner, Tricia Spain, Laura Blackmore, Dawn Allen, Lauren Babcock, Jeri Sheridan and Anthony Thomas.

Saturday's program included a crafts and skills demonstration, along with an antique and hobby show held at the East Tawas Elementary Unit under sponsorship of Tawas Bay Arts Council.

Sunday's program concluded with a frog jumping contest for children at the Tawas City Park, along with costume and beard judging, all in keeping with the re-enactment of the 1876 program.

The grand finale for the long week of festivities was a fireworks display at the Tawas City Park.

Ready for Boundary Commission

Maps-Petitions Prepared for Tawas Consolidation Vote

Petitions and maps have been prepared and signatures are now being taken to request the Michigan Boundary Commission to place the question of consolidating Tawas City and East Tawas as a home rule city.

This announcement was made Thursday at the noon luncheon of Tawas City Businessmen's Association by Brent R. Babcock who, with fellow attorney, James Shotwell, are spearheading the petition drive.

"As soon as we obtain the requisite number of signatures on the petitions, we will submit the proposal to the boundary commission," said Babcock.

The Tawas had an official 1970 census count of 4,038 residents—1,666 in Tawas City and 2,372 in East Tawas—and the campaign seeks 300 signatures, providing a "cushion" representing a population of approximately 6,000 persons.

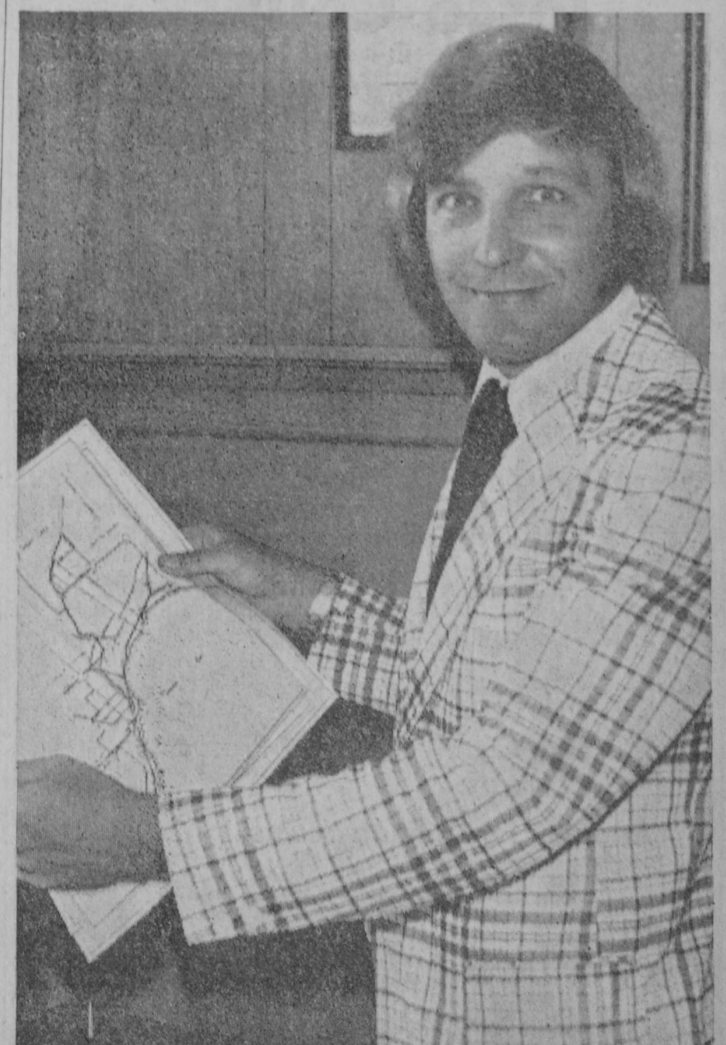

The petition represents that the proposed consolidation is necessary or desirable at the time for the following reasons:

1. To politically unite an area that is already substantially united in feelings, ideas and through its history;
2. To streamline, economize and strengthen the work of the government.

After filing the petitions, the next step would be up to the state boundary commission, which would make a determination as to the validity of the signatures and possibly hold a public hearing.

If the proposed boundary change is acceptable to the state, the question would be put to voters and approval of the merger would require a majority vote of approval in each community.

When the original announcement was made two weeks ago, Babcock said it is hoped that necessary legal work by the commission can be completed in time to put the proposition before the people at the November election.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Galatians 5:1-6, RSV)

"In Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love." (Galatians 5:6) My friend had a beautiful, new and roomy car. When he was on a trip, the car failed him. He had to stop far from any town or village because there was no more gasoline in the tank.

Many people fail in their trip of life because they are short of spiritual gasoline. They are orthodox in their faith and they believe all the fundamentals of the Bible, but their faith fails them because it has no love in it. They become fanatics. They love only their own denomination.

Spiritually, people are perishing around us. The Christian must go among them, witnessing his faith and his love. This is the whole Gospel. Love's energy must move us to act, otherwise faith is useless.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for the living God we have in Thee and for the salvation we have in Jesus Christ. Forgive us for being short in love. Fill us with Thy love that we may be able to love others. Amen.

LAFAYETTE HAS BEEN HELPING CITIZENS "BAND TOGETHER" SINCE CITIZENS BAND BEGAN.

In 1958, the year that CB became available to the public, Lafayette made available a line of CB radios that were to set CB standards for years to come. And in the years that came, Lafayette kept raising those standards thru research, testing and the electronics know-how that only 55 years in the electronics field can bring. Exterior styling became cleaner. Functionality replaced frills. Interior design became more dependable, because unlike many of our top competitors, we felt solid-state circuitry was just that; solid. So when we speak of experience, we don't just mean passing the time. We mean starting each day with the desire and the knowledge to be the best at what we do. And when we do it the best, where does that leave everybody else?

RETIRING Friday at Tawas Hospital was Mrs. Margaret W. Shawl, who had served as financial controller since 1967. Mrs. Shawl joined the hospital's bookkeeping department in 1961 and was promoted to business manager in 1965. She has worked under four different administrators since 1961 and has seen financing of operations increase from several hundred thousand dollars annually to more than $3,000,000 in 1976. The staff has grown from about 75 employees to 213 persons. Mrs. Shawl was honored during a luncheon at the cafeteria attended by 75 persons. Her husband, George, who retired 12 years ago, is an avid fisherman and Mrs. Shawl plans to "catch up on some of her fishing" during retirement. Pauline Stock Retires from Bell Pauline Stock and Michigan Bell practically grew up together. Pauline was 14 when she started working for the telephone company in 1926, two years after the company's name was changed from the Michigan State Telephone Company to Michigan Bell. On Thursday, July 1, she celebrated her 50th anniversary with the company at a luncheon at the Holland House. Miss Stock will be retiring from Michigan Bell at the end of August.

Among those participating in the anniversary - retirement ceremonies were Dan F. Smith, Michigan Bell vice president-operations, and Warren B. Alexander, northern area general manager. One of the gifts presented to her in honor of her half-century of service to the telephone company was a special diamond watch.

Miss Stock said her first contact with the telephone business was in 1919 when her mother was named chief operator of an independent telephone company's office in Reese. She was seven years old then.

"I was fascinated by the old-fashioned manual switchboard which dominated our living room," she said, explaining that she, her mother, sister and two brothers lived in the telephone company office.

"I wasn't allowed near the switchboard until I was about 12 years old," she remembered. By that time the Reese office had become part of Michigan Bell and there was enough business in the city to warrant another telephone operator.

"But before mother would let me help out in the office by operating the switchboard, I had to prove I could handle it and act and sound like a lady," said Miss Stock. "I had to pass mother's test."

"Before long," she noted, "mother began giving my sister and me a choice after dinner—do the dishes or operate the switchboard. I chose the switchboard. I hated doing dishes and besides, I was older than my sister so she didn't have any choice. But I was not put on the payroll until 1926 when I was 14 years old. I remember I was paid 15 cents an hour to work evenings after school and on week-ends."

When she graduated from Reese High School in 1929, Miss Stock wanted to go to college to become a school teacher.

"I wanted to teach elementary school," she said, "but times were rough then and I had to choose between college and a job . . . I thought a job was more important." Miss Stock earned $35 a month when she went to work for Michigan Bell full time. "My job was to operate the switchboard," she said, "but back then we did whatever had to be done—including fixing a phone once in a while even though we weren't supposed to." She remembered the amazement of a customer whose magneto (hand-crank) phone she fixed. "He didn't think a slip of a girl could do it," she said. "But I did it—with a nail file yet."

Those were exciting times in the business, Miss Stock noted. An operator in a small town got to know everyone, it was easy then. An operator had to know where to locate a doctor or a policeman or a fireman at all hours of the day. "In an emergency, I'd start calling around town to find the doctor or whomever was needed," she said. "Then, operators were like secretaries or answering services when needed . . . it was part of the job."

Miss Stock worked as an operator in Reese for six years and in Oscoda for 17 years before she took a job as an operator in East Tawas in 1952. Eight years later, she transferred to her present position as a test center clerk.

The test center office, she explained, handles the paperwork to get customers back in service when their phones go out for some reason.

Affectionately known as "Ma Bell" to her East Tawas co-workers, the silver-haired woman said, "when you've been on a job this long, the years seem to blend into one big impression. I remember the early years distinctly, but after that all I remember is missing the friendliness of a manual switchboard. There was something different happening all the time."

She does not have many immediate post-retirement plans, but will make a few family visits and devote more time to reading and sewing, her favorite hobbies.

'Dick' Berube Made Special Contribution to Bicentennial

Richard Berube, a graduate of Tawas City High School, has made a special contribution to Michigan's bicentennial year: He designed the state's red, white and blue 1976 license plate.

Here is how it developed: Berube, a senior commercial artist in General Motors' technical information department at Rochester, does occasional freelance work for an advertising agency. About a year and a half ago, the secretary of state's office asked the firm to design the plate and it, in turn, relayed the job to Berube.

After several months and several layouts, Berube came up with a design which met with approval. As most motorists know by now, the tri-colored plate features: Four stars running vertically along the left border, symbolizing the four flags that have flown over Michigan—French, British, Spanish and American.

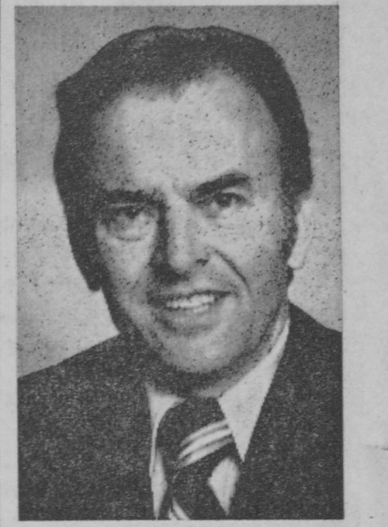

Two wavy lines along the bottom representing Michigan's vast highway and waterway systems, as well as the stripes of the American flag.

The most difficult part of the assignment, Berube relates, was getting the design to go along with the state's mechanical means of producing it. It had to be adapted to the state's production methods.

That he succeeded in satisfying the state was evident in a thank you letter from Sec. of State Richard H. Austin, who said: "Your assignment was exceptionally challenging because Michigan had never before been able to use a three-color plate; and I am proud to say that your efforts have helped create the most outstanding design not only for Michigan, but for the entire nation."

As a youngster, "Dick's" talents as a budding commercial artist were recognized by his teachers in the Tawas City Public School. As a third grader, a poster which he designed for the Christmas Seal campaign was a prize winner and, throughout his school days, he was called upon to design posters and was artist for the high school year book. He later attended art school and was hired by General Motors.

His three sisters residing in Iosco County include Mrs. James P. (Fern) Clark of Tawas City, Mrs. Douglas (Helen) Ferguson of East Tawas and Mrs. Melvin (Ruth) Groff of Oscoda.

CETA Job Slots to be Filled Today

Filling five more CETA positions under remaining Title Two federal funds is to be handled this morning (Wednesday) by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

Although all Title Six CETA positions were vacated effective June 30, expiration date for funding under that entitlement, the county has $181,000 remaining in current Title Two funding and expects another $49,000 in October. This money will finance 28 positions until expiration of the Title Two program in January and 12 of those jobs have been filled officially. Another 16 positions remain open, but the board of commissioners had tentatively approved 11 of the slots.

Of the 12 positions already filled, seven are for the Trio Council on Aging, the director of the CETA program and one utility worker each for the Iosco County Road Commission, Plainfield Township, City of Whittemore and City of Tawas City.

The 11 positions tentatively filled include three matron-clerks for the sheriff's department, two clerk's in the equalization department.

IN THE 1870s, TAWAS HAD

FEVER!

The Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company, which observes its centennial in two years, owes its origination to a water crisis caused by freak atmospheric conditions in the mid-1870s.

Ice bound during the long winter months, cut off from communications with other areas of the state due to the lack of roads leading into the interior, residents of the Lake Huron shore region turned their combined efforts to formation of a railroad.

Although this initial effort toward solving the area's transportation problem proved to be a financial disaster, particularly for residents of the Tawasites, it was the initial stepping stone toward establishment of a real railroad avenue in the region.

In the spring of 1878, travel between the shore towns of Northeastern Michigan and the outside world had shown little change since 1854 when the lumbering community bearing the name of Tawas had been hacked out of the wilderness along Saginaw Bay. Sailboats and steamers plying the Lake Huron waterway provided the major form of transportation for 30 years.

Every winter, when ice choked Tawas Bay and Lake Huron, commerce with the outside came to a standstill. A rudimentary passenger service was provided by stagecoach, but transportation of freight was limited to the summer months, due to the dependency on water.

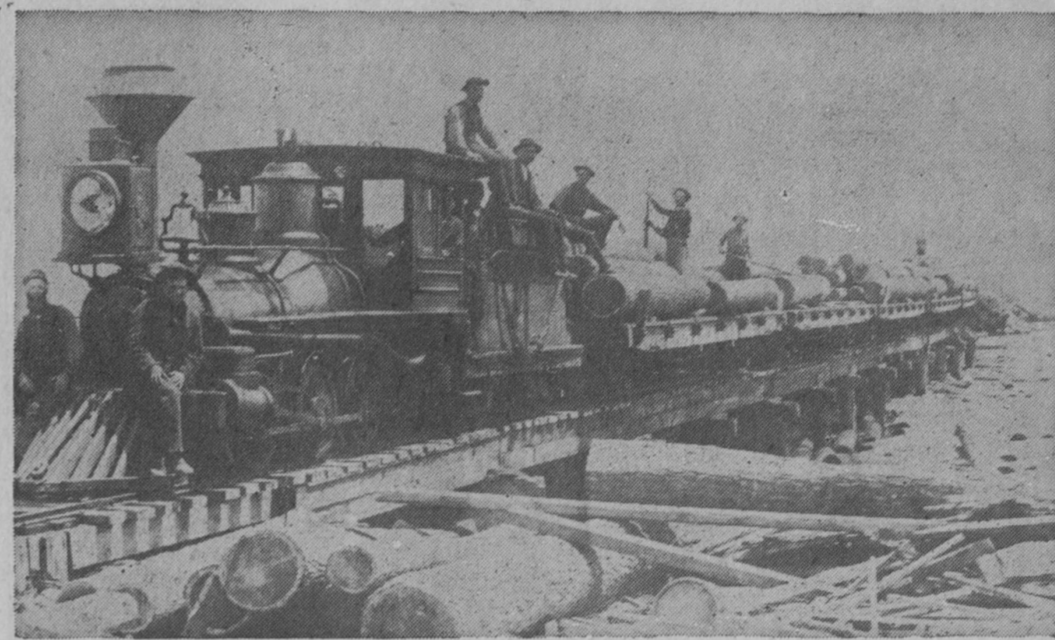

There were exceptions to the rule, however, as noted in the 1866 diary of James O. Whittemore. Whittemore noted that winter that a long procession of sleighs were being drawn through Tawas City bound for AuSable. The sleighs were loaded down with heavy equipment to be used in the construction of H. N. Loud's new sawmill.

Freak atmospheric conditions during the mid-1870's emphasized the need for a different form of transportation and the businessmen of the Tawasites—lumbermen and store keepers—turned their thoughts to formation of the railroad. The talk turned into a "fever," as unusually mild weather during two consecutive winters failed to produce adequate snow upon which lumbermen relied to haul white pine logs to streams for transportation in the spring to mill towns.

Recognizing the advantage of year around transportation for the area's major industry, lumbermen of Alcona County established the first railroad line in Northeastern Michigan. But water transportation still provided the vital link as the narrow gauge lines led from the inland pineries to the shore of Lake Huron, where logs were rafted at Black River and towed to Saginaw River mills.

The railroad fever proved to be contagious and into the quest for a better way of transporting logs to mills on Tawas Bay stepped Charles D. Hale. With his uncle, Sylvester, Hale had constructed a large mill at the mouth of the Tawas River in 1868.

In 1878, the Hales owned extensive pine lands in Western Iosco County, holding an estimated 200,000,000 feet of timber. They had a short, makeshift railroad of some 3 1/2 miles in successful operation located in T21N, R4E, which extended from their sideways to the AuGres River.

On March 21, 1878, a meeting was held at the courthouse in Tawas City to consider the possibility of constructing a narrow gauge railroad from Tawas Bay into the pine districts of the Rifle and AuGres Rivers—about 24 miles distant. Hale told businessmen attending that it had been demonstrated in various parts of the state that logs could be hauled over such a railroad to mills at much less expense than by the conventional water routes.

Besides the many benefits to be derived locally through improved transportation for the lumbering interests, Hale emphasized the benefits which would result for the shore towns through opening the cutover region to agriculture and the eventual extension of tracks to connect with the Michigan Central Railroad.

Plans for the proposed railroad moved rapidly and it was announced on April 11, 1878, that organization of the Lake Huron and Southwestern Railway has been completed. Unable to secure enough capital locally, Hale had interested C. H. Prescott and other Bay City lumbermen in the project and enough stock was sold in the company to assure its organization. Prescott was named as the railroad's first president on May 16, 1878.

The railroad was constructed within a period of three months but, despite the enthusiasm generated by the new railroad, many business failures in the Tawasites could be traced directly to the inability of lumbering interests to secure enough logs the previous winter to operate mills.

The railroad, too, was having serious difficulties due to the rough and primitive grades, as well as lacking experienced railroad personnel. Frequent smash-ups and derailments resulted in four railroad employees being killed and others injured during the fall of 1878.

The crowning blow for the fledgling railroad came that winter when weather conditions returned to normal. An early blizzard effectively blocked use of the railroad and, while the snow was adequate for skidding logs to streams, the AuGres River still lacked water the following spring upon which to move logs to mills.

As a result, creditors of the railroad and its stockholders—which included nearly every businessman in the Tawasites—moved in and demanded payment. Short term financing at a 20 percent interest rate proved disastrous for the LH&SW projectors. The Hales lost their mill at the mouth of the Tawas River, plus vast timber holdings and practically every firm doing business in the Tawasites toppled into bankruptcy.

On October 2, 1878, the railroad, with rolling stock and entire equipment, was sold to Prescott at the bargain price of $17,000. Cost of constructing and operating the railroad for only a year was $103,- 500 and the earnings during that time amounted to $31,000.

In bankruptcy court, Prescott then purchased the Cameron Mill, located east of the Tawas City Park, and operated the railroad alone for several months. He then reorganized it under the name of Tawas and Bay County Railroad and extended the tracks to East Tawas.

Financial times changed for the better and, in April 1883 the railroad was sold to Gen. Russell A. Alger, whose base of lumbering operations was located at Black River in Alcona County and included a narrow gauge railroad line. The railroad was pushed up the shore to AuSable and Oscoda, later reaching Alpena, while the western end was extended to connect with the Michigan Central Railroad at Alger.

Through the formation of the Detroit, Bay City and Alpena Railroad in 1883, the dream of the Hales and other originators of the Lake Huron and Southwestern was finally realized—the shore towns finally had an effective outlet to the south for their forest products and passenger travel.

Ten years later, through another reorganization, the route became known as the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. Today, the D&M continues to serve the industrial transportation needs of the region and expanded its service area during 1976 when it took over ownership of Penn-Central tracks from Gaylord to Cheboygan and north to Mackinaw City, along with leasing the route from Gaylord south to Bay City.

1790: A plan we could bank on.

There's plenty of disagreement in Washington's Cabinet. And out of it, Mr. Hamilton, our Federalist Secretary of the Treasury, is in the throes of creating a financial plan to pay off our war debts and make us look more confident to the rest of the world. He comes up with everything from a tariff to a National Bank, chartered by Congress to be the government's financial agent. Secretary of State Tom Jefferson and his Republicans oppose the bank. After all, he says, chartering a bank is not one of the Constitutional powers given to Congress. After months of debate, Hamilton persuades Washington to sign the bill. But the Republicans stop the bank's recharter twenty years later. We're beginning to learn that the nation's economy doesn't always run smoothly. ☺

Your Social Security

Correct Number Assures Faster Medicare Payments

People covered by Medicare medical insurance can assure faster payment of their claims if they make sure their health insurance number is on the claim form, according to social security officials here.

"About one of every three delays in payment of Medicare medical insurance claims is caused by use of a wrong health insurance number or omission of the number entirely," a spokesman said.

The number identifies a claim for Medicare payment on bills for medical services. "If you put a wrong health insurance number—or don't enter a number—on a Request for Medicare Payment form, a search for your correct number is necessary," the spokesman said. "The search can delay your payment."

If itemized bills are sent in with a claim, the number also should be written on each separate bill, he said.

The health insurance number appears on the health insurance card issued to everyone covered by Medicare. The number has nine digits and a symbol, such as A, B, F2. "The number, including the symbol, should be copied onto the designated blank on the Request for Medicare Payment form," the spokesman said.

"Payment can also be delayed when medical bills are submitted without Request for Medicare Payment forms, or when claims are sent to the wrong address," he said.

The form is available at most doctors' offices and at any social security office. Claims should be sent to the organization that handles Medicare medical insurance payments in this area.

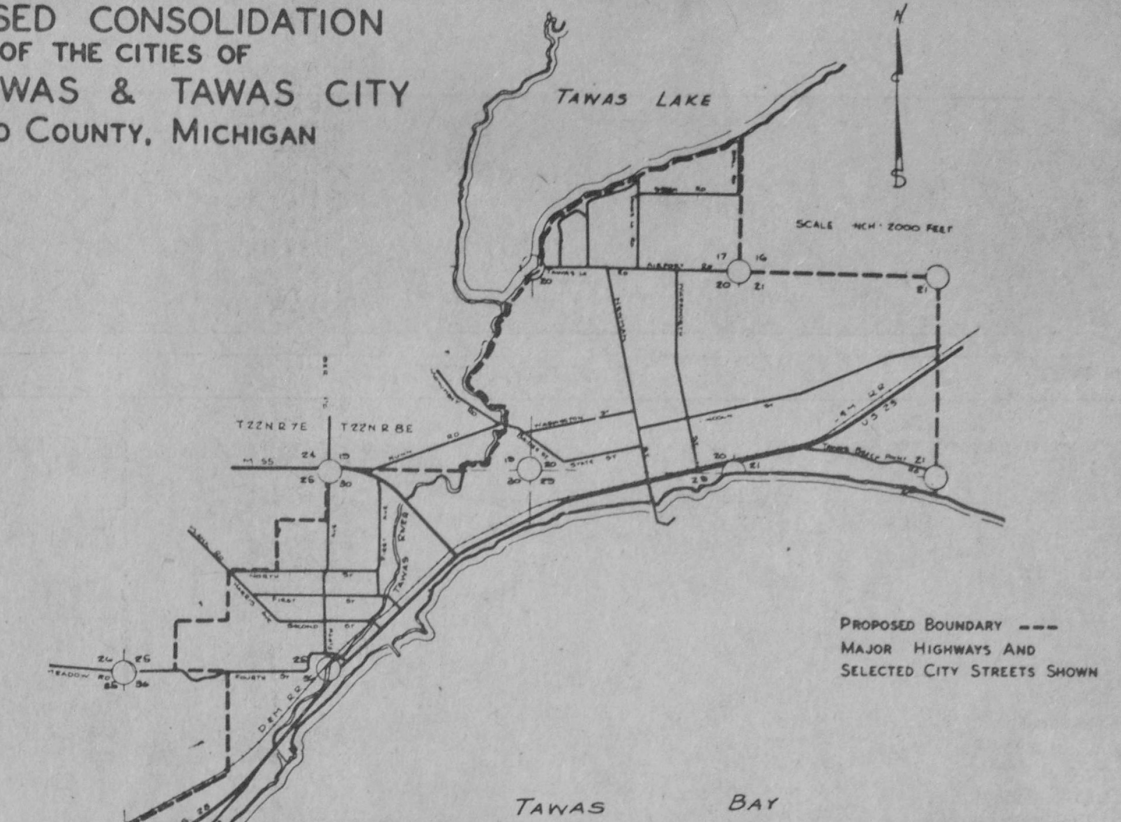

"If a doctor and patient agree," the spokesman said, "the doctor can send the claim in and be paid directly by Medicare. If the patient submits the claim, the Medicare payment goes to the patient."

Medicare medical insurance helps pay for doctor bills and many other medical expenses of almost everyone 65 and over, of disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability payments for 24 consecutive months or more, and of many people who have permanent kidney failure.

Medical insurance is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The Medicare program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

MAKING SUMMER SAFER FOR CHILDREN

This is the time of year when youngsters spend more of their playtime jumping, climbing and running outdoors. All are activities which involve a certain amount of hazard, especially for younger children.

While parents can do little about some of the dangers their children come across during the day, they can eliminate the possibility of a number of preventable accidents.

When a youngster wants to cross the street, teach him to walk, not run. Instruct him never to run from behind parked cars or to get out of an automobile on the street side. Caution him not to ride two on a bicycle built for one, and never, never to "hitch a ride" on the back of a truck or bus. Show him where to put away his bicycle and toys in out-of-the-way spots, so he or his playmates cannot trip over them.

Here are some safety rules for a parent to follow:

When backing your car out of the driveway, always check to make sure that no child is playing or hiding there. Also watch for any potentially dangerous conditions in the yard and play areas.

Keep the garage door closed and make sure that tools and other hazardous equipment as lawnmowers, saws, cans of paints, or poisonous sprays are stored safely away from children's reach.

Outside clotheslines should be strung high so that children cannot run into them.

Teach your children not to taste unidentified plants, fruits, roots or wild mushrooms—which could turn out to be poisonous.

Remove nails, splinters and rough edges from boxes or boards that children might find around your house.

If your child is not old enough to spell his name and remember his address, place a slip of paper with his name, address and telephone number in a pocket. If the child is over three, teach him to enunciate his full name clearly, should he get lost. Also, as soon as he is able, help him to memorize his address and telephone number.

Tawas Voters Reject School Construction

15 Years Ago—
July 12, 1961—Voters of Tawas Area School District turned down a millage proposition for financing construction of needed elementary classrooms on a pay-as-you-go plan. District voters were asked to approve a three-mill tax levy for five years which would have raised approximately $390,000 for the construction. The first proposition asking to raise the district's debt limit lost by only 10 votes, 539-529; a second proposition establishing the three-mill tax levy lost by a margin of six votes, 535-529.

Coast guard dragging operations for Earl "Tiltz" Brown of Tawas City ended Monday evening when it was learned that the supposed "drowning victim" was fishing near Alabaster. Brown had paddled his canoe out to his favorite fishing spot off the Tawas River mouth. Several hours later, it was noticed by other fishermen that the canoe was empty. Several hundred spectators lined the shore watching the dragging operations when Brown made his appearance. He had gone fishing near Alabaster in another boat.

headquarters company, which does most of its "hiking" with trucks.

Four Townships Have Races Slated In Iosco's August Primary Election

AN EXCITED Julie Plumley, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Plumley of East Tawas, is counting the days to July 12. She is scheduled to leave that day from Detroit Metropolitan Airport for 13 months in the Netherlands as an exchange student under the Youth for Understanding program. Miss Plumley, who will be in her junior year, will attend school in the Netherlands. Her foster parents during that time will be Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Haank, who reside with their four children at Risjswijk, located in the central-eastern part of the country. The Haanks' oldest son, Dolf, will be coming to the United States in August in the student exchange program. Miss Plumley is shown above looking at letters and pictures received last week from the Haank family.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Races for political party nominations to township offices in four Iosco County units will feature the August 3 primary election and six townships will have races in the November general election.

A hot campaign is shaping up in Plainfield Township where four candidates seek the nomination as supervisor. The list is headed by Ray Kesler, retired school superintendent, a Republican; Lawrence J. Bleeda and Robert W. Pember seek the Democratic nomination and Rob Holzheuer is a candidate on the American Independent Ticket.

Frances Hansen is Republican candidate for clerk and will be opposed by either Richard F. Dobson or Elizabeth (Betty) Timmer, who seek the Democratic nomination.

Barbara Malcho is unopposed for the Democratic nomination as township treasurer and Lyle Bielby is unopposed as a Republican seeking re-election to a four-year trustee post.

Candidates for the one constable position are Norma J. Dobson, Sharon L. Graves and Leon Brunson, all on the Democratic Ticket.

Republicans are out in force at Oscoda, where three candidates are listed for each office with the exception of trustee. Charles E. Smith, incumbent supervisor, is opposed by Robert K. Foster and Rex E. Walters. Foster presently serves as a county commissioner.

Candidates for township clerk include the incumbent, Harry J. Samotis, along with Karen L. Smith and Edward J. Tate. Florence Krefeld, incumbent treasurer, is opposed by Maxine F. Bissonette and Stanley L. Kowalski.

Two trustees are to be named to four-year terms from the following list: Oscar DiLoreto, William C.

Christman and Charlton Lee. Glenn C. Highfield is unopposed for the two-year term of trustee.

Alabaster Township lists three races for the primary election and will have one race in the November general election. H. Harry Rapson, incumbent supervisor, is opposed by Robert H. Crawford for the Republican nomination. Hope V. Rescoe, incumbent township clerk, is unopposed on the Democratic Ticket but will meet Jeanne L. Fairfield, a Republican, in the general election.

Leona Benson, incumbent treasurer, is being opposed for the Republican nomination by John H. Weible, former supervisor. Fannie M. Walstead, William H. Lingle and Ralph Rohrbach all seek the Republican nomination to one four-year trustee position. Harry Wellna is unopposed for the Democratic nomination as constable.

Reno Township has two races listed in the primary. John D. Webb Jr., incumbent supervisor, is to be opposed for the Republican nomination by James Dobson.

Winona Redmond and Jimmie Kilbourn seek the Republican nomination as treasurer while Laura Kaiser is a Democratic candidate for treasurer. James L. Robinson is unopposed for the four-year term of trustee on the Republican Ticket.

AuSable has one race listed in the primary election on the Republican Ticket. Rhea Matthews, incumbent trustee, is being opposed by Raymond A. Andrus. Unopposed are Terry A. Palmeter, supervisor; Mornelva Snitchler, clerk; Mary Spencer, treasurer. Candidates for two constable positions are Armin H. Godt and Donald J. Marcoullier.

Sherman Township has one race in the election, but will have another contest in the general election. Frederick S. Chapman and Charles H. Wilhelm seek the Republican nomination as constable. Meeting in November will be Harold A. Parent, incumbent clerk, a Democrat, and Mildred V. Letienne, a Republican; Harvey E. Smith, Democrat, was the lone candidate filing for the treasurer's position; Leonard G. Cole is unopposed for the Republican trustee nomination.

Two races are scheduled in Burleigh Township for the November general election. Martin Siegrist, incumbent Republican supervisor, will be opposed by Melvin B. Wrathell, Democrat. Two candidates seek the Republican nomination as trustee, Leona Chipps and Lillian White. The winner will meet Arthur R. Parkin III, Democrat, in November, Darrell Colvin, incumbent clerk, and Peggi Bassi, incumbent treasurer, are unopposed on the Republican Ticket.

Grant Township will have a race in the general election when Olen Herriman, incumbent supervisor, a Democrat, will be opposed by Ronald Ponke, Republican. Unopposed Republican candidates include Lucile Blackmore, clerk, Dale Butzin, treasurer; Edna Anschuetz, trustee.

All Republican incumbents in Baldwin Township are unopposed. Candidates include Richter Lixey, supervisor; Frieda Rempert, clerk; Joyce A. Klenow, treasurer; Allen Anschuetz, trustee; Guy Ramsey, constable.

Attorney General's Opinion Under Question by Iosco Co.

A Wilber Township taxpayer's protest over an alleged conflict of interest involving a township officer and his county job is to be discussed Wednesday morning (today) by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

Kenneth O'Brien of Wilber wrote a letter March 17 to State Sen. Robert Davis claiming that B. William Olsen had conflicting positions as the elected township supervisor and as an "assessor" in the county tax equalization department.

O'Brien asked Davis to request an opinion from State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley concerning the matter. An opinion was given by the attorney general on June 16. Although no official word was received by the county from the attorney general's office, a copy of the opinion and correspondence was obtained through other sources by the county board of commissioners.

Joseph Fox, a member of the county commission, said Thursday that the matter seems to be confused by the fact that both the Wilber taxpayer and the attorney general have misconstrued Olsen's job description in the tax equalization department. He is actually hired as a property appraiser—there is no such position in Michigan as a county assessor, inasmuch as actual tax assessing is still handled by local units of government.

O'Brien's letter to Senator Davis claimed that at the 1975 board of review in Wilber Township, at which he appeared to protest his property assessment, the township supervisor was not clerking the board of review "as prescribed by law. Instead," stated the letter, "he was on his other job—county assessor working out of the county equalization office."

According to state law, if the supervisor is not in attendance at meetings of the board of review, other members can elect a secretary of the meeting among themselves.

In his June 16 opinion, Kelly said that the offices of county assessor and township supervisor are incompatible. Members of the county board of commissioners believe, however, that the attorney general may have addressed himself to the wrong question, inasmuch as there is not a county assessor in the entire state.

"The test of incompatibility," said Kelly, "is the character and relations of the offices; as where one is subordinate to the other and subject to some degree to its supervisory power, or where the functions of the two offices are inherently inconsistent and repugnant."

"The township supervisor by virtue of his office is also the township assessor, a member of the township board and the secretary of the board of review. Accordingly, it is apparent that the two offices are inherently inconsistent and repugnant."

ment, two utility workers at Old Orchard Park, a clerk position for Hale Chamber of Commerce, a clerk at Whittemore-Prescott Area School, a utility worker in Reno Township and a secretary for the substance abuse program at Tawas Hospital.

Five other positions have funding until September 1 when the Title One program expires. Included is a utility worker at the county airport, a utility worker at Old Orchard Park, transportation secretary at Oscoda Area High School, clerk-typist for AuSable Township and clerk for the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

A spokesman for the board of commissioners said that no CETA funds under Title Six would be available until after October 1, when it is expected that congress will consider an appropriation for fiscal 1977. Indications are that the present bill is not acceptable to President Ford and a veto can be expected unless some changes are made.
