

Band Leaves Thursday on Tour to Philadelphia

After months of fund raising activities by boosters, Tawas Area Symphonic Band leaves Thursday for a seven-day bicentennial tour to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Departure time at the high school is 5:00 a. m.

During the trip, the band will perform at Rootstown, Ohio; Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Carlisle and Wexford, Pennsylvania. Planned stops to visit places of historical interest have been scheduled.

"The tour is an effort to provide the students with an opportunity to experience the past as well as the present history and culture of other states in this, our bicentennial year," states Gene Salamony, director of bands.

While a school approved tour, it is not a school financed trip. Funds for the tour were raised by Tawas Area Band Boosters with the outstanding support of local citizens. Fund raising projects included two dinner dances, Christmas arts and crafts bazaar, calendar sales, bowling night, bumper stickers, ice cream social, after the game parties, Perchville activities, individual and business donations. All helped contribute to the $8,500 needed for the tour. Expenses are to be held to a minimum by the band's overnight stops with four host schools' students.

Chaperones for the tour include parents, teachers, high school administrator, a school board member and doctor. Acting as "parents" of students away from home will be Mrs. Carole Savage, Mrs. Mary Dunham, Mrs. Johanne Grabow, Mrs. Kathie Sheehan, Mrs. Carolyn McDonald, Mrs. Evelyn Tenbusch, Dr. and Mrs. James Jacques, Roger Jackson, John Alexander, Carl Brien and Salamony.

Tawas Area Band has long been considered outstanding and has gained the reputation of being a sound musical organization. In the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association district festivals, the band has received first division ratings for 17 consecutive years. During this same period, the band has received 14 first division ratings in state contests. Although school enrollment classifies the band as a class B organization, the band for the past six years has performed in the A classification.

The band has performed at various conferences including the Midwestern Music Conference at Ann Arbor, has commissioned original band works and has had various guest conductors and soloists including Dr. Donald McCatheren, Duquesne University; Jerry Bilik and H. R. Reynolds, University of Michigan; Kenneth Bloomquist and A. Thad Hegerberg, Michigan State University; Stan Kenton, nationally-known band leader.

Salamony recently received the dual honor of being elected band teacher of the year by MSBOA and selected by Ferris State College as the recipient of its eighth annual conductor's award. Both awards are given as public acknowledgment of continuous high achievement, musicianship and leadership on behalf of the youth in this state. After leaving Thursday morning, the band is scheduled to arrive at Rootstown, Ohio, at 12:30 p. m. The band will perform there at a high school assembly and will meet students for evening dinner and lodging.

On Friday, the band visits Ft.

Pitt Museum, takes an incline ride to Mt. Washington for an overview of Pittsburgh, visits the home of Salamony's parents at Bridgeville, tours the Cyclops Steel Mill and performs in a concert Friday night at Chartiers Valley High School.

On Saturday, the band is to spend the afternoon at the Gettysburg battlefield and is to spend two nights at Philadelphia. The band is to tour the city on Sunday, present a concert in Independence National Historical Park and hold a banquet at the Holiday Inn.

The band is to perform in a high school assembly Monday at Carlisle and visit the United States War College there on Tuesday. The band will share a concert Tuesday night with North Allegheny High School Symphonic Band.

The band leaves Wednesday, April 7, for the return trip home.

Iosco Prosecutor to Resign Friday

Ronald Tyler, who has served as Iosco County prosecuting attorney since January 1, 1973, and has been associated with the office since July 1972, is to resign from office effective Friday, April 2.

A swearing in ceremony is to be held at 4:00 p. m. Friday before Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller at which time Stephen H. Naegele will become prosecuting attorney for the balance of Tyler's term.

Naegele was appointed assistant prosecutor about a month ago.

"I have enjoyed the job as prosecuting attorney of this county—it has been challenging—but after five years in prosecution, both here and in Livingston County, I am looking forward to a new challenge in private civil practice," said Tyler.

Tyler has joined Timothy J. Weaver in the establishment of a new law firm, Weaver and Tyler, with offices located in the Verlac Building, East Tawas.

After serving eight months as assistant prosecutor in Livingston, Tyler came to Iosco County in July 1972 and was appointed assistant prosecutor under Kenneth Myles. When Myles left office for private practice, Tyler became full time prosecutor on January 1, 1973.

A native of Oakland County, he graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1971. He and his wife, Janis, and their three children live on Janet Street, Baldwin Township.

Clues Sought in Oscoda Slaying

Members of the state police crime laboratory from Brighton have joined Oscoda-Ausable Police Department in investigating the slaying Saturday of an Oscoda party store operator.

Mrs. Lorraine J. Kenan, owner of Bob's Party Store, located three miles north of Oscoda on U.S. 23, was found dead in the store Saturday morning. She had been shot several times by .22 caliber slugs.

About $100 was missing from the cash register. There was no sign of a struggle and nothing else was disturbed in the store.

The body was discovered by a customer about 11:18 a. m. The body was taken to Saginaw for an autopsy.

Mrs. Kenan lived approximately two miles west of the store on Cedar Lake Road with her husband, Robert, and two daughters.

Police said Mrs. Kenan had been held up several times during the 15 years she had operated the business, the last time two years ago when two men robbed her at knife-point.

No Injuries in Iosco During Tuesday's Storm

Tornado Roared Along County Line

Ogemaw Hard Hit by Storm; One Dead, Many Injured

A killer tornado roared along the county line between Iosco and Ogemaw Counties Tuesday afternoon, killing one person, injuring many others and leaving a path of destruction, the extent of which was still not fully known locally at 7:00 p. m.

Law enforcement agencies of the two counties received reports from residents of the storm area stating that three and possibly four tornado funnels had been sighted and had touched down in the two counties.

Most of the damage was in Ogemaw County, where roads were blocked by uprooted trees and downed power lines. The Ogemaw County Sheriff's Department sealed the storm area off to all traffic in an effort to prevent looting.

The area hardest hit in Iosco County was at Long Lake, six miles northwest of Hale, and at South Branch on the Iosco-Ogemaw line.

There were no injuries reported in Iosco County.

One fatality on Stylus Lake Road in Ogemaw County was reported, although police agencies said at 6:00 p. m. there was possibly a second fatality. Tol-free Hospital at West Branch was reported to be treating numerous persons from that county injured in the storm.

Telephone lines at the Iosco County Sheriff's Office in Tawas City were jammed following the first sighting of a tornado at 2:45 p. m. Officers on duty said that the first notification here came through a telephone call from Probate Judge William McCready, who had been talking by telephone with Richard Dodge, principal of Hale Area School.

While Dodge was talking on the telephone with Judge McCready, the Hale principal received a second call from his wife at Little Long Lake stating that a tornado had just passed through that area and was possibly headed for Hale.

Emergency storm measures were taken immediately by school officials at Hale and all students were instructed to sit down in building corridors. They remained there until the all clear was issued by the United States Weather Bureau at 4:30 p. m.

The sheriff's department said that the tornado first touched down near Prescott in Ogemaw County, although not much damage was reported at that point. From there it followed in a northerly direction along Sage Lake Road, touching down at Sage Lake and Stylus Lake. The twister then veered to the northeast to hit in Iosco County at Long Lake, South Branch, Jose Lake and then to the Glennie area where the funnel disappeared.

Trees were uprooted in the Long Lake area, a boat house was turned into kindling and it was reported that one trailer home was picked up and moved about one-half mile away from its foundation, although officers said that no confirmation had been received as yet. One resident of Long Lake, "Butch" Pierce, reported he had spotted three tornado funnels crossing the lake.

At 6:00 p. m., Undersheriff Basil Odell, who had returned from the storm area, said he was unable to determine the exact duration of the storm, but believed that there were several twisters involved. He said there were a number of instances where twisters had skipped through the area west of Hale.

Citizens of the Hale area were called upon to assist in removing downed trees which had blocked roads west of the community and the Hale Fire Department was alerted as a standby measure. Tawas Hospital's ambulance stationed at Hale was sent into Ogemaw County to assist in removing accident victims to the hospital at West Branch.

Dornace Bellville, Tawas Herald correspondent who operates a farm south of Whittemore, said late Tuesday afternoon that he heard the roar of the tornado as it passed through the area. He immediately drove to the M-55-M-65 intersection and then headed seven miles west on M-55 where he found the Logan Township Hall in Ogemaw County had been demolished. Only the basement steps remained on the site.

Bellville said numerous homes were flattened or damaged in the area near Logan Township Hall and one road in that vicinity was blocked by trees. Law enforcement officers were searching the wreck-

14 Persons Known Injured in Storm

Michigan State Police reported at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday that one person was known to be dead and 14 persons were injured in Ogemaw County during Tuesday's storm.

A spokesman for the state police said the casualty list possibly would be revised upward Tuesday night as crews continue to search wrecked homes.

An aerial survey by a state police plane indicated tornado touchdowns at the following locations: 1-75 at Greenwood Road, one mile north of Arenac County in Ogemaw County; one mile north of M-55 and east of West Branch; six miles north of the Arenac County line near Cedar Lake, Ogemaw County; M-55 at Sage Lake Road and one touchdown near South Branch.

Tuesday's storm was the most devastating to hit this region since the June 1953 twister which roared through the east side of Plainfield, Wilber and Ausable Townships, killing four persons and injuring nine. That storm left an 18-mile path of destruction with most of the property damage at Indian Lake and in Wilber Township.

School Bond Proposal Lost in Record Vote

Voters of Tawas Area School District showed up in a record number Monday to turn thumbs down on a proposed $2,060,000 addition to the high school-middle school on M-55. With 2,689 voters going to the polls, the proposition was defeated, 1,678-1,011.

Monday's voter turnout was the largest in the history of Tawas Area School District, slipping past the previous high cast on May 17, 1955, when 2,544 voters went to the polls to approve bonding for the present building on M-55. That election, however, climaxed several years of controversy in the district which contributed to the high number of ballots cast.

Carl Babcock, president of the board of education, said following Monday night's ballot count that members of the board had made the commitment previously that they were not satisfied with the existing one-half day sessions in high school and middle school grades.

"With assistance from administrators and members of the citizens bond committee, the board of education intends to continue to pursue the return to a normal classroom day and a proposition will again be placed before voters this year," said Babcock.

The board president said that such a vote may come as early as the annual election in June, but he said he had no prediction as to when a proposition would actually be submitted to voters.

Dr. Robert Halle, superintendent of schools, said that the 1,011 ballots in favor of the proposal indicated that there was a large number of voters in the school district who were not satisfied with the half-day sessions for children.

"We cannot overstate the fine efforts played by the citizens bond committee in informing the public on this proposal," said the superintendent. He thanked members of the committee for their hard work, regardless of the final outcome of the election. He gave personal recognition to the Rev. Kenneth Tousley and Mrs. Thomas Huck, co-chairmen of the committee, and Mrs. John Oberlies, committee member.

The last bonding proposition in Tawas Area School District was on May 14, 1973, when 2,081 voters went to the polls to defeat a 5.365-million-dollar bonding proposition for construction of a new high school, 1,369-712.

In past recent elections, the 1,000 voter mark usually proved to be the magic number required for approval of a local school proposition. This was not to be the case Monday, despite the fact that there was no organized opposition to the proposal.

The outcome of Monday's voting probably will be viewed as a general opposition by citizens to increased taxes at a time of uncertain national economy and a time when payment of property taxes is much in the minds of many local property owners.

In addition, increased property valuations brought on by state tax commission factoring, coupled with an extremely high delinquent property tax total in this county during the past two or three years, had an effect in Monday's voting.

The proposition brought by the board of education was actually minimal and was designed primarily to remove Tawas Area from among only five percent of the state's 530 districts which utilize a split session due to overcrowded conditions.

It was also designed to remedy some space problems which created defects in the curriculum and resulted in removal three years ago of Tawas Area School from the state's accredited list.

D&M Had First Run to Gaylord

The Detroit and Mackinac Railway ran its new trackage between Gaylord and Cheboygan and the first trip from Cheboygan to Mackinac City was run on Tuesday.

This trackage is included in the recent purchase whereby the D&M bought outright two sections of the bankrupt Penn Central System in Northern Michigan and incorporated it into its own successful operation between Cheboygan and Bay City. The other section purchased is from Bay City to Linwood.

TAWAS RIVER continued to hold steady at an extremely high level Tuesday morning following a light rain Monday night. For the first time in many years, the river has overflowed its banks at a number of spots in the Tawas, particularly near the East Tawas bridge (above) and in the area south of the M-55 bridge. The picture looks northeast from the Nunn Road-Monument Road intersection and the house being threatened by high water is owned by Donald Docking, East Tawas police chief, located on the north side of Bridge Street. The high water is expected to remain for several days due to the extremely high water in the river's drainage system. Dead Creek has dropped to its normal level during spring, as is the case for most other streams in the county. Water level of the Ausable River is extremely high.—Tawas Herald Photo.

(Read Psalm 34:1-10)
Deliver me, O Lord, from lying lips, (Psalm 120:2, RSV)

Crash! Jimmy stood amid the ruins of my favorite potted geranium plant. "It was an accident, Mom," he sobbed. "I did not mean to break it, honest to God!"

Honest to God. The words echoed in my ears. They had come from 10-year-old Jimmy's heart, but how many times had I heard the same expression—when it was just a casual phrase! Are any of us ever really honest to God?

When we have committed a wrong, are we praying because we are sorry, or are we saying, "Make things all right again so I do not suffer the consequences?" Do we rationalize God's word? Do we deceive ourselves by our busy-ness rather than living as disciples? In seeking specific blessings, do we pray "gimme" prayers, or are we genuinely prepared to accept God's will?

It is perilously easy to fall into the dishonesty trap—to deceive ourselves and others. But Jimmy's assertion of good faith had recalled a truth. There is One who reads our innermost thoughts and rationalizations, who knows our deceptions even better than we do. God will never deceive us, but are we honest with Him?

PRAYER

O God, show us the dishonesty in our lives and lead us into Your truth. Amen.

Students Work on Birdhouses for Contest

For the past several weeks, seventh and eighth grade students of Tawas, Oscoda and Hale schools have been working on their entries for the third annual Isosco County Birdhouse Contest sponsored by the Isosco Audubon Society. The judging will take place April 3 and winners will receive their prizes at the regular scheduled meeting of the Audubon Society April 8. The houses will be judged on utility, workmanship and design. Contestants entered in one of three categories, bluebird house, wren house or robin nesting shelf.

The society hopes, by means of the contest, to foster knowledge and appreciation of some of the common birds of our area among school students. Although the monetary prizes for winning entries may be an incentive for participation in the contest, a far greater reward will be the satisfaction of building a birdhouse or nesting shelf and seeing it being utilized later by a wren, bluebird or robin or some equally fascinating species.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting Thursday, April 8, 7:30 p. m., in the Oscoda High School Library. In addition to the presentation of awards to the birdhouse contest winners, Bonnie McCauley will present a program on bird anatomy.

age of one dwelling for possible storm victims.

Bellville said that one family had sought safety in an underground dugout and had seen four tornados pass through the area. He said the twisters apparently skipped around in a northerly direction, demolish- ing some structures but leaving others untouched. One couple was in the process of constructing a new home and garage. The struc- ture was completely flattened by the storm, but the twister did not touch the old residence which was being occupied during the con- struction.

Iosco County Civilian Defense was mobilized by Harold Schmedt- ke, director. The sheriff's depart- ment sent three cars to the Hale area, Michigan State Police from the West Branch State Police and Ogemaw Sheriff's Department.

State Police from Bay City and Bay County Civilian Defense per- sonnel were rushed into Ogemaw County to assist police agencies.

The area through which the storm passed contains a large num- ber of summer cottages, as well as year around homes. Authorities will be searching the wreckage during the night for possible ac- cident victims.

Students Prepare for Iosco Contest

For the past four weeks, students in grades kindergarten through eight in all county school districts have been busily writing and illus- trating stories, poems and essays for the county-wide writing contest.

This is the second year the writ- ing contest has been sponsored by the Iosco Intermediate School Dis- trict. Last year, 550 students in grades K-12 wrote entries.

This year, in anticipation of even more entries, the contest has been divided into two separate contests. One is entitled, "Young Authors- Illustrators Contest" for grades K-8 and the other is entitled, "Crea- tive Writing Contest" for grades 9-12.

Screened student writings in grades K-8 have just been sub- mitted to the county level for final judging. In all, over 1,400 students completed writings for the Young Authors Contest. Of this number, 200 entries were screened in the local school districts and sent to the county level for final judging.

Approximately 400 students in grades 9-12 will be submitting en- tries for final judging in the Crea- tive Writing Contest on March 19. Students have the choice of writing in one of four categories: Fiction, nonfiction, drama or poetry.

Each entry at the county level will be judged by three separate judges from outside its respective school district. Two people from each of the four school districts have been recruited to judge en- tries from outside their districts. Judging will be based on original- ity, language proficiency, general appearance and sequence of thought.

Iosco Intermediate School Dis- trict is planning an awards night to honor participants and present awards to winners. Presentation of awards to students in grades K-8 is scheduled Thursday, April 8, at Tawas Area High School. The week of May 3 will see presenta- tion of awards to winners of the creative writing contest for grades 9-12. Students, parents, teachers and the public are invited to attend both nights. A speaker is planned for both sessions.

Allan Charette and Judith Loper, Iosco Intermediate School District reading consultants, are coordina- tors of the contest.

IISD CRACKER BOX—

Attendance Enforced by New Officer

By JOHN TAFELSKI

Iosco Intermediate School Superintendent

One of the responsibilities of the intermediate school district is enforcement of state law requiring compulsory attendance of children in school.

The new attendance officer for IISD is James Pehrson, a former policeman, who resides in the Tawas area. His job is to work with building principals, parents and, most of all, the students.

The attendance officer's main responsibility is to help the student stay in school.

The legal procedures involving the job will usually see a form sent to the intermediate district from a school building principal giving the name of the student and the number of days missed from school.

The first step is for the attendance officer to send a copy of the law, along with the student's attendance record, to the parents. Pehrson then visits the student and tries to solve the problem. If this fails, the parents are then contacted, the purpose being to try and solve the problem.

If this final step does not work, then the child and parents may have to face the court.

The attendance officer has all the powers of a deputy sheriff and carries credentials thereof. The attendance area for Iosco Intermediate School District includes Whittemore-Prescott Area School, Hale Area School, Tawas Area School and Oscoda Area School.

Who is responsible to see that children through the age of 16 years attend school? Here is the state law in regard to the matter: Section 740. In case any person,

4,000 Men Turned Out for ROAD BEE

One of the most remarkable epochs in the history of Northeastern Michigan took place on Monday, June 9, 1913. On that day, more than 4,000 men turned out to build a highway from Bay City to Cheboygan—in a single day! The route later became the first state trunkline through the region and was later called US-23 before being replaced by today's Huron Shore Route.

This gigantic undertaking could be traced directly to the result of work done by the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau, forerunner of today's East Michigan Tourist Association. But terming this new route a "road" in the modern sense of the word would be laughable—it followed section lines and, consequently, had 45 degree turns at intersections; ditching along each side was minimal and the surface lacked gravel, but it was a highway in 1913 and better than anything known previously in the region.

The plan to build a highway from Bay City to Cheboygan in a day received the united support of every city, village, township and county through which the road was to pass. On the appointed day, men and hundreds of teams of horses turned out all along the line and devoted a day's work to improve the roadway.

State Highway Commissioner Rogers made an inspection trip over the proposed route the week previous to the road bee day and gave his approval for the project to receive state reward money. The route passed across Iosco County from Prescott to Whittemore, then north to the Hemlock Road (M-55), east to Tawas City and East Tawas, then through Wilber Township to AuSable and on to Mikado in Alcona County.

"Hundreds of miles of roads which were before well nigh impassable are now in shape to be used and, though the work accomplished will not be lasting without further improvement in the shape of gravel or stone, the results are well worth the labor and time expended," stated the Tawas Herald. "It is a good highway, in condition for any vehicle to drive with speed, safety and comfort."

Construction of a road between the Tawas and the Saginaw Valley had been one of the prime objects of businessmen for many years. The cost of such an undertaking was overwhelming in the region's early days as no help could be expected from the state. The constitution of 1850 prohibited the state from engaging in any works of internal improvement and, by interpretation, this restriction was held to mean that the state could not build roads.

Another obstacle to a Saginaw-Tawas route was the vast AuGres swamp, which has been discussed in an earlier bicentennial featurette.

One of the first improved roads in the county was the Plank Road, which was surveyed and brushed out in 1866 by the Whittemores and constructed a year later in a westerly direction from Tawas City to meet the State Road in Grant Township. This eventually became a part of the Tawas, Houghton Lake and Manistee State Road, which opened in the winter of 1878-79. This east-west route was important to Michigan's lumbering industry, but it still did not connect the shore region with the cities of the Saginaw Valley and the main traffic to this day is still north and south.

Very little was done to improve overland transportation until this cut-over pine region began to be settled by farmers, starting in the late 1870s and continuing until after the turn of the century. Improved roads were an absolute necessity for farmers to haul their produce to market, but it was difficult to convince conservative rural residents to spend tax money on road construction. As a result, improvement to existing roads depended on the whim of township residents and officials—if a stretch of road proved to be troublesome for local horse and wagon traffic in the spring, the township pathmaster would establish a road bee day and all able bodied men were expected to be on hand to perform the work.

It can be seen that, under this system, road construction was a rather hit and miss proposition, despite the good intentions and practical training received by pathmasters. It must be remembered, however, that local roads in the era prior to 1900 were of importance only to local residents—outside of the settlers moving into the region by overland routes, most persons traveling into this region came by railroad after 1884; prior to that, transportation was furnished by passenger ships and stage coaches.

"Good roads will do more for the advancement of a community than any other one thing and the quicker we can get a system of good roads throughout the state the sooner we will be able to reap the benefits which they bring," editorialized the Herald.

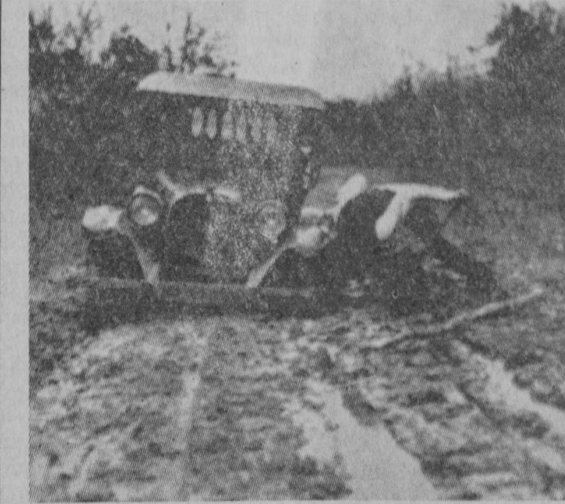

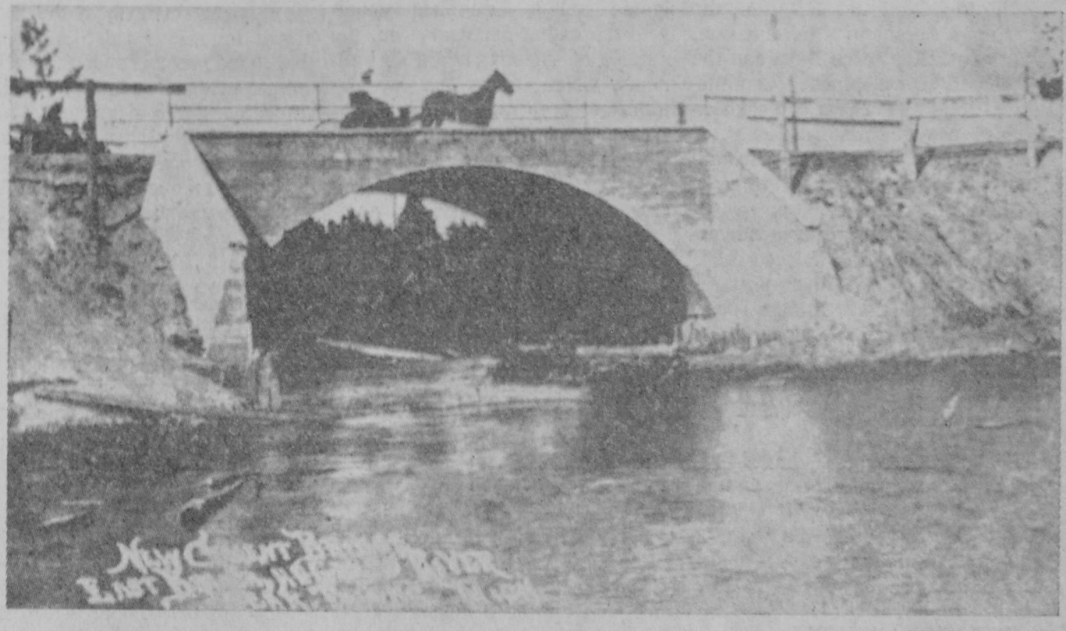

The need for an improved road system in Michigan became evident to the legislature and a state reward system was adopted to assist local governments in road construction. The county road system was adopted by Iosco in 1900, whereby county road work became the responsibility of three road commissioners, one being elected every three years for a term of six

BRIDGING STREAMS has always been a major undertaking in road construction. The primitive log bridge in the above picture spanned the East Branch of the AuGres River for many years before being replaced by this concrete arch in 1909. The latter bridge was constructed by Grant Township under the state reward system and was in place when the new road from Bay City to Cheboygan was mapped out and improved during the 1913 road bee day. The bridge was not replaced until 1954.

INCREASING TRAFFIC of automobiles on state roads led to a "Good Roads Movement" shortly after 1900. The need for improved roads is evidenced in these two pictures. The motorist at left is bogged down in the soup of a clay road and it will take a team of horses to extract him.—Michigan Historical Commission.

Pursuant to published schedule, the Iosco County Board of Commissioners was called to order at 9:30 a. m. by Chairman Foster and the roll called.

Present: Foster (district 1), Griffin (district 2), Burdett (district 3), Fox (district 4) and Wereley (district 5)
Absent: None

Chairman Foster reviewed the agenda for the day and the business before the board, following which the clerk reported briefly on the following matters:

*A billing received from the Michigan Employment Security Commission in the amount of $4,834.50 covering unemployment benefits paid for 1975, advising that of the total, $1,428.00 applies to benefits paid to former CETA employees and that the CETA program administrator has been billed and requested to furnish this amount to the clerk before payment is effected.

*A letter received from Attorney Robert Hummel under date of February 24, 1976, giving notice that Helen A. Loud, of Oscoda, sustained injuries in a collision with the Detroit and Mackinac train at the railroad grade crossing on County Line Road, one-half mile west of the intersection with Cedar Lake Road, on January 9, 1976, and intends to hold Iosco County liable for said injuries and damage sustained.

*The receipt of $456.25 from the U. S. Postal Service covering February rent on the Myles Building for the Tawas City Post Office.

*A letter received from the Michigan Department of Social Services in reference to the utilities and maintenance expense reported by the clerk for the county facility for the last half of 1975, indicating that $556.17 has been applied against the overpayment to the county, leaving a balance of $7,863.34 still owing to the state department.

*A statement received from the W. S. Bennett Funeral Home under date of February 25, 1976, in the amount of $295.00 covering ambulance service for Kevin Joseph Ashley on July 7, 1973, which the family refuses to pay.

*A letter dated February 25, 1976, from Thomas Roser, acting treasurer of the Iosco County Bicentennial Steering Committee, requesting payment of a bill in the amount of $223.48 from the Oscoda Press for Iosco County Bicentennial buttons.

*A report prepared on behalf of the Iosco Circuit Court for the state court administrator, indicating $10,100.05 was paid to court-appointed counsel for 71 indigent cases during 1975.

The communications were received by the clerk's office and referred to the chairman for assignment to committees.

Commissioner Fox reported on the meeting of the aeronautics committee held on March 2, 1976, with officials of the F. A. A., the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, Wurtsmith Air Force Base and the Economic Development Commission; Robert Peckham of Peckham Engineering; James Delahanty, of the County Road Commission, and the county prosecuting attorney, with regard to the proposed expansion of the county airport, indicating that the county will need more letters from prospective users of the facility demonstrating a need for longer runways to support the request that has been made for grant funds. The matter was thereupon discussed at some length by the board members.

At 10:20 a. m., the board recessed for committee work and a discussion with Sheriff George Westcott concerning the animal shelter, to stand in recess until 1:30 p. m., on order of the chairman.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Upon call to order at 1:30 p. m., the roll was taken, all commissioners being present.

Attorney Kenneth Myles appeared before the board to request the adoption of a resolution to authorize the issuance of bonds in the amount of $585,000.00 to finance a sewage disposal system for the City of East Tawas through the County Department of Public Works, explaining that the full faith and credit of the county is pledged to guarantee payment in the event the city should default, the county obligation being secondary to that of the city. Myles further advised that the bond issue would apply against the statutory limit 10% of state equalized valuation for county indebtedness.

It was thereupon moved by Burdett and supported by Wereley that the following bond resolution be adopted, motion prevailing on the following roll call: Ayes: Foster, Griffin, Burdett, Fox and Wereley. Nays: None.

Whereas, the County of Iosco, Michigan, acting by and through its board of commissioners and pursuant to the authority conferred upon it by Act 185, Public Acts of Michigan, 1957, as amended, did by resolution duly adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members-elect of said board of commissioners, establish a department of public works in and for the County of Iosco for the administration of the powers conferred upon the county by said act; and

If it becomes necessary for the county to so advance any such moneys, it shall be entitled to reimbursement from any surplus from time to time existing in the fund from which said principal and interest are primarily liable, or from any other legally available source. /s/ D. Keith Papas
County Clerk

At a regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of Iosco County, Michigan, held in the county building located in said county, on March 3, 1976, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., Eastern Time.

Present: Commissioners Foster, Griffin, Burdett, Fox and Wereley
Absent: None

The attached resolution was offered by Commissioner Burdett and supported by Commissioner Wereley, and adopted by the following roll call vote: Yeas: Commissioners Foster, Griffin, Burdett, Fox and Wereley. Nays: None.

Chairman Foster reported on a recent meeting held by the Northern Michigan Counties Association concerning the Bursley School Aid Bill and thereupon introduced Oscoda Area School's Acting Superintendent Robert Hodges, whom he invited to discuss and explain the ramifications of the bill.

Mr. Hodges presented and proceeded to explain reports he prepared for the Oscoda Area School District for the period from 1960 to 1976, showing that from 1968 to the present, state aid has remained almost the same, while local participation for school financing has increased approximately 500%. He further pointed out the increase in valuation per student shown by the report, from $8,079.00 in 1968 to $24,753.00 at present, explaining the formula whereby state aid decreases proportionately with the increase in valuation and is further governed by the number of mills levied for local aid. Continuing, Hodges discussed special school programs mandated by the state for which no extra funding is provided, and alternate methods of school financing such as an income tax based on ability to pay, expressing antipathy to total state financing as resulting in the loss of all local control. In further discussion, Hodges answered questions of the board, advising that the Bursley bill expires June 30, but that he expects the same philosophy to continue. Following discussion in regard to state monies provided for categorical grants as opposed to member aid, he agreed to secure for the board information as to total state financing provided, both in member aid and categorical grants, now and before the Bursley bill, to ascertain if there has been any reduction in state spending for schools. The matters of a tax revolving fund, a summer levy for school tax, and the impact of a vocational education facility were also raised and discussed at some length.

Intermediate School District Superintendent John Tafelski, who was also in attendance and participated in the discussion of the school aid bill, reported that there are to be six meetings in the spring dealing with federal legislation and the writing of federal grants, advising that the cost is $100 per person for the six meetings and inviting the board to participate. He further reported in reference to a Title IX "Fair Employment Practice" one day seminar to be held, indicating he will inform the board of the date, so that a representative might attend.

Probate Judge William McCready appeared before the board to discuss budgetary problems arising as a result of the new mental health code and commitment procedures pursuant thereto, thereupon explaining the new regulations and provisions which require that counsel be appointed immediately for any person alleged to be mentally incompetent and that such person shall have a hearing within five days of admission to a mental health facility, which the Probate Judge and Prosecuting Attorney must attend, and which further provides for several more hearings, and a jury trial if requested. Continuing, McCready explained that hearings may either be held at the location of the facility, or the person returned to the county court, the former requiring the expenditure of funds for the prosecutor and himself, and any witnesses, to travel to the facility, and the latter requiring two deputies to make two trips to pick up and return the subject. In connection, therewith, McCready inquired of the board as to their wishes regarding his appointment of local attorneys, who must travel to the facility, or the appointment of attorneys residing at the location of the facility, stating that past experience indicates that the cost has been less for local attorneys. He further proposed that perhaps they should try having the subject picked up at the state hospital and brought here for the next hearing to ascertain the costs for a comparison, which would require the state psychiatrist to travel here from the facility and thus might lead to more voluntary admissions. In the matter of the board's preference as to the appointment of counsel, Finance Chairman Griffin responded that they naturally favored the method which would result in the least cost to the county, but proposed that the matter be left to the judge's discretion. In the matter of the location of the hearings, it was the consensus of the members that a future hearing should be held locally to ascertain costs and results.

In further discussion, Neil Thornton, of The Tawas Herald, queried Judge McCready on the new mental health code, whereupon the judge responded that the new code went into effect last July and November and that he has held five hearings at state facilities since its inception, further advising in response to questions, that any hospital may accept mentally incompetent patients if there is a psychiatrist available and that hearings could be held at the local hospital if this were the case, that, however, only state hospitals must accept them.

Friend of the Court Edward Siert appeared before the board to seek approval for a part-time employee to conduct home investigations for his office, indicating he was requested to do so by Circuit Judge Allan Miller and expressing the opinion that it would not require any increase in budget, as compensation would be provided from monies allocated for his per diem and travel. Following a discussion wherein it was suggested that perhaps there is some duplication of record keeping in the clerk's and friend of the court's offices, the matter was taken under advisement.

At 3:50 p. m., the board recessed for committee work on order of the chairman.

Upon call to order at 4:40 p. m., Commissioner Wereley reported in reference to the letter received from Attorney Hummel in regard to the accident of Helen Loud on the D & M crossing in Oscoda Township, advising that he consulted with the prosecutor and that the matter has been referred to the county road commission.

Continuing, Wereley presented the following resolution and moved its adoption, the motion being supported by Griffin and carried.

RESOLUTION

Whereas the State of Michigan by statute has mandated its local units of government to conduct in May 1976 a presidential preferential primary election; and

Whereas the costs to local units of government required to conduct such elections are estimated in excess of $3,000,000; and

Whereas the statute which mandates local units of government to conduct such primaries fails to provide for state funding of the costs of conducting the elections at the local level; and

Whereas precedent has determined not only in Michigan but throughout the nation that the current plan of preferential primary choice of candidates is even less responsive to popular will than the caucus-convention system; and

Whereas it is demonstrably apparent that the cost of conducting such an election far exceeds any benefit which might accrue to voter choice;

Be It Therefore Resolved The Iosco County Board of Commissioners calls upon the governor and legislature of the State of Michigan to: A. Repeal the public act which mandates local units of government

ment to conduct May presidential primary elections; or B. Reimburse local units of government for the cost of conducting May preferential primary elections as established by legislative precedent in 1972; or C. Give local units of government the option of conducting such a primary election on a local basis and in a manner prescribed by law with the further provision that the necessary funding be part of the local unit's approved budget. Be It Further Resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Governor William G. Milliken, House Speaker Bobby Crim, House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis and Senator Robert Young. Signed: Robert K. Foster, Donald G. Griffin, Mary Jane Burdett, Joseph W. Fox and William G. Wereley. Commissioner Fox presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Griffin and carried. duction or termination prior to payment in full by contract deduction, the parties hereto mutually agree to the following additional language to paragraph 9 herein below designated as paragraph 9A. 9A. Upon completion of the payments for said machine, the same shall become the property of contractor and the county shall transfer title, registration or any other evidence of ownership to contractor; provided that in the event this contract is terminated prior to the completion of said payment in full of said machine, then contractor shall have the option to pay the balance of the amount due and owing on said machine to the county. Upon payment of said balance the county shall then transfer free and clear title to contractor. In the event contractor shall not so elect to purchase said machine, the same shall remain the property of the county and shall not be affected by any of the terms of this contract. This agreement entered into the 3rd day of March, 1976. ROBERT K. FOSTER Chairman, County Board of Commissioners D. KEITH PAPAS Clerk W. C. ROACH President Multi-County Landfill The clerk thereupon reported that while the contract with the Multi-County Landfill provides for the contractor to provide liability and property damage insurance, there is no copy of the policy on file, nor is there anything on file to show that workmen's compensation insurance is being provided for by the contractor. The matter was referred to Commissioner Fox for follow-up and investigation. Commissioner Burdett presented and moved adoption of the following resolution, motion being supported by Wereley and carried. Your public safety committee recommends that the attached evaluation of the current status of our county emergency services program and the proposed program activities of our emergency services coordinator be accepted. Your finance committee recommends that the invoice in the amount of $223.48 from the Oscoda Press for bicentennial buttons be paid from funds budgeted for historical activities. Signed: D. G. Your finance committee recommends that the travel vouchers of Road Commission Members Kiley, Aulerich and Conley, in the amounts of $70.94, $32.25 and $16.80, respectively, be approved for payment from road commission funds. Your public safety and finance committees recommend that the attached voucher for expenses of the emergency services coordinator be paid in the amount of $78.55. Signed: Mary Jane Burdett, D. G. Griffin, W. G. Wereley, Joseph W. Fox Supported by Burdett and carried. The matter of the vacation of the Myles Building by the Tawas City post office effective March 15, 1976, was raised and discussed briefly as to what disposition should be made, the building having initially been leased to house the Cooperative Extension Service and subsequently sub-leased to the postal service for the continued occupancy by the Tawas City post office, whereupon Commissioner Fox was assigned to investigate the matter and report with regard to disposition at the next meeting. Upon motion by Wereley, supported by Fox and prevailing, the minutes of the February 18th meeting were approved as drafted and presented by the clerk. Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor, I would like to compliment the Iosco County Sheriff's Department for looking after our place while we were on vacation this winter. Routine checks were made as to the day and date, even the hour of the day or night, of the premises. Sheriff George Westcott asked the people over the radio to call in and let the department know as to when the home owner was leaving and when the home owner was to return; also, if anyone else would be working about or would have access to the premises during the absence. In case of emergency, the home owner was requested to leave an address or phone number where one could be reached. After our return home, we received in the mail an officer's security check report stating: "Thank you for letting us be of service to you." I would like to say to our sheriff's department, "Thanks for a job well done." Sincerely, Rev. C. H. Symons Tawas City, Michigan

March 29, 1976 Dear Editor: Today is the day voters go to the polls in the special election to decide on the school addition. By the time this is in print, we will all know the outcome. Later today, I will go to the polls to vote in private and how I vote is nobody's business but my own—because that is the way it should be! However, in the past week I received two phone calls, both asking how I was going to vote. One caller kept me on the phone 20 minutes, probing and talking to me as though I was a little child. I had to finally end the conversation by abruptly hanging up! I strongly resent this invasion of my privacy. In future elections or voting, if anyone phones me asking "who or how" I am going to vote, I won't stay on the phone 20 minutes—I will politely hang up the phone. Yes, I am going to vote on the school issue, but where I put my X only I will know! Sincerely, Barbara O'Driscoll Riverside Resort Motel Tawas City, Michigan

MIXED TRAFFIC between automobiles and horse drawn vehicles provided many problems during the early days of this century. Numerous horses ran away at the sight of the smoking monsters moving along the roadways, which did not improve the image of the automobile. A major problem with all vehicles of the era was the narrow tires which cut deep ruts in the roads. Starting in 1903, farmers were urged to use wide tired wheels on heavy wagons.—Michigan Historical Commission.

years. Under the system, the board of supervisors levied a county tax on all the taxable property of the county. Roads not under the county road system remained under the supervision of a township highway commission, being assisted by overseers in repairing and opening new routes.

Under the state reward system, payment was made to the county based on the amount of roads actually constructed according to the following rates: Clay-gravel road, two courses of five inches each, $200 per mile; two courses of gravel, eight inches, $500 per mile; gravel base and macadam, six inches, $1,000 per mile. Roads were to be graded to a width of 18 feet between side ditches, properly drained, given a proper crown with no grade over six percent.

The Michigan State Highway Department was organized in 1905 to compile records of road building materials as to quality and location, to maintain records of roads built under the state reward system, superintend the inspection of state reward roads and prepare plans for roads and bridges. The department also held road institutes throughout the various counties for the purpose of discussing road improvements.

Agitation for good roads was heard throughout Michigan in the early 1900s, including the following editorial comment of The Tawas Herald in 1903: "The time is at hand when the question of better roads is of vital importance to Iosco County. The farmers should realize that good roads mean more to them than anyone else. Good roads not only save horseflesh and vehicles, but increase the amount of produce which the farmer can take to market and increase his prices accordingly."

The year 1903 ushered in a new era in local road usage, although it probably was not realized at the time. Automobiles were beginning to be used for the first time on country roads and an explosion in motor vehicular traffic was not far in the future. Len J. Patterson, editor of the Herald, said in July 1903 that he was seriously considering the advisability of investing in an automobile. "When not in use for pleasure and business, we could utilize it as motor power for our presses. If we invest, of course, we will call and take each of our subscribers for a ride."

Because of the expanding traffic caused by the new automobile industry, local editors became extremely conscious of roads. "The question of road improvement does not rest at the present time nearly so much with the county road commission as with our townships," editorialized the Herald. "The selection of township highway commissioners and pathmasters should receive careful attention from the voters next April and none but careful, competent men should be chosen."

One of the first roads improved by the county road commission was the Whittemore and Tawas Road between the East Branch of the AuGres River and McIvor. In May 1903, Iosco road commissioners adopted the Hemlock County Road, starting at the present intersection of M-55 and Wilber Road and extending west 1 1/2 miles, along with the Wilber County Road, extending one mile north.

By 1909, Iosco County had a total assessed valuation of $1,815,015 and total highway taxes of $14,102.60. This included $4,032.06 in road repair tax, $4,716.14 as highway improvement tax and $5,354.40 as the county road tax.

In 1912, the county board of supervisors voted to spread a tax of $22,000 annually for construction of county roads, but there was extreme dissatisfaction over where roads had been built during the previous eight years. A number of townships, including AuSable, Burleigh, Plainfield and Wilber, along with the four cities, had paid a proportionate share of road taxes without receiving any roads in return.

As an alternative to spreading road construction work over a period of 15 to 20 years, the county road commission, in 1913, proposed to bond the county for $100,000 to finance a complete line of roads in each township and connecting roads as much as possible to make continuous routes of good roads throughout the county. For each mile of roads constructed, the county would receive a reward from the state and this money, totaling $91,000, would be turned over to the townships for additional road construction.

People of Iosco County were not ready to accept the taxes necessary to underwrite the road bonds and the proposition was turned down by an 804-315 majority. Only four townships, Oscoda, AuSable, Alabaster and Reno, favored the proposition, while two cities, AuSable and Whittemore, gave favorable majorities. In the rest of the county, the sentiment was overwhelming against the proposition and it was not again brought forth.

No highway in Northeastern Michigan, before or since, captured the imagination of residents as did this one-day road bee in 1913, held prior to the special bonding election. Although residents were not interested in additional taxes for roads, they cooperated to the fullest extent in the voluntary construction project.

"The benefit to be derived from this enterprise will be vast to each and every community through which it passes," stated the Herald. "Thousands of tourists will pass over this road to reach the summer resorts along the Huron shore and the north; our rich agricultural lands, with beautiful farm homes, will be brought to their notice as never before."

Roads no longer are financed by a direct county tax, although cities and townships have special taxes voted for such purposes. The state motor vehicle tax established in 1909 returns money for local road work to counties and municipalities.

The route constructed in 1913 served Northeastern Michigan until the mid-1930s, when US-23 was finally relocated along its present route. About the time of this last change, township roads went out of existence and townships began disposing of road construction equipment—an era had ended.

1775: The long ride into battle.

We can no longer take the quartering of British troops. We can no longer reason with the rulers. We've stashed our supplies in Concord and are preparing for war. Now, we learn the British are on their way to destroy our supply base. It's the night of April 18th. We send Paul Revere and William Dawes on a gallop toward Lexington to warn our farmers to form ranks. We meet the British early the next morning on the village green. We are ordered to disperse. There are only dozens of us, but we refuse. A shot is fired. Then, a volley that kills eight of our men and wounds ten. We will not give up. We will fight from behind stone walls and apple trees to save our ammunition. From now on we will be ready to fight at a minute's notice. We are the Minute Men. ☞

SNACKING-A MATTER OF MANAGEMENT

Snacking is a major American pastime. We are eating more food between meals than ever before. The average person has six to seven "food contacts" per day—three meals and four snacks. Food contacts can range from 10-12 per day for children to 25-44 for heavy snackers!

Snacking is not always harmful. It can be good for one, if nutritious snacks are eaten and the amount controlled. The trick is to plan meals and snacks with total needs in mind. To get essential nutrients and minimum calories, a variety of foods are needed from the basic four food groups. These groups are milk; vegetable and fruit; meat, fish, poultry or alternatives, includes dry beans, peas, nuts, peanut butter; enriched or whole grain bread and cereal.

Some snacks are high in nutrients in relation to calories; others are high in calories in relation to nutrients. A glass of whole milk has a high nutrient/calories ratio. A soft drink has low nutrient/calorie ratio. One would have less trouble with unwanted pounds if he chose snacks from among the first group. Some additional foods in the high nutrient-calories ratio are nuts, seeds, fresh fruits, raw vegetables, bean dip, ice cream, ice milk, eggs, some fruit juices and enriched or whole grain breads, crackers and cereal.

Try to avoid those foods in the low nutrient/calories ratio if you are concerned about losing weight. Among these foods are soft drinks, alcoholic beverages, sweet rolls, doughnuts, cake, pies, pastry, rich cookies, candy, puffed snacks, chips, popcorn, pretzels.

With careful planning, snack foods can work to replace skipped meals, to control weight, to delay hunger, to supply quick energy and to quench thirst.

In managing snacking, it may be helpful to postpone a salad, beverage, bread or dessert at meal time for use as a snack later on. Try to snack on foods which supply nutrients often short in meals such as vegetables, fruits, dairy foods—all are good sources of vitamins A and C, calcium and riboflavin.

Develop sales resistance and willpower when it comes to purchasing low nutrient/calorie ratio snack foods.

Vehicles Must Stay on Roads in Forest Area

With spring thaws fast approaching, the United States Forest Service has expressed concern over the potential damage that can be done to resources by indiscriminate use of snowmobiles, trail bikes and other off-road type vehicles.

"We are especially concerned about cutbacks and fill slopes along new forest roads and highways," stated Kenton P. Clark, forest supervisor of the Huron-Manistee National Forest. "There were several roads built last year which were sown to grass. Disturbance of these fragile areas after the ground thaws will be very damaging and will prolong the time it takes for the areas to heal over."

Although it is sometimes legal for snowmobiles to use plowed county roads, it is for the use of the plowed area only. Any person using vehicles other than on roads or trails are responsible for any damages resulting from such use. "Under normal frozen conditions, there does not appear to be an excessive amount of damage from use," Clark continued. "When the snow starts to leave and the ground begins to thaw, this is the time to avoid getting off of regularly traveled roads and trails."

The forest service is currently developing an interim plan for the management of off-road vehicles.

Hospital Schedules Childbirth Classes

Tawas Hospital will be sponsoring childbirth education classes for expectant parents beginning April 1. These classes will be held on a continuing basis and will be taught by Mrs. Kathryn Sias, registered nurse, obstetrics supervisor, and Mrs. Rose Blackmore, licensed practical nurse, nursing service coordinator. The classes will be in the evenings, 7:30 o'clock, the place to be announced.

This program, formerly sponsored by District Health Department No. 2, was taught by Mrs. Katherine Montiegel, registered nurse. Due to a cutback in county fund allocations, the health department was unable to continue the program.

To register, call Tawas Hospital at 362-3411, staff development department, extension 25, and leave your name, address, telephone number, doctor's name and expected date of delivery. Instructors will contact prospective class members by phone concerning the starting date and class location.

To attend classes, one must be seven months along in pregnancy and have a signed permission slip from her attending physician to present to the instructor on the first night of class. Register early in pregnancy as classes will be scheduled according to the number of expectant mothers interested and their expected dates of delivery.

Tawas Hospital is providing this service free of charge to the community in the interest of better health care.
