Tawas Harbor Breakwater Project Ahead of Completion Date Target

Tawas Bay Harbor project, originally scheduled for completion in August 1978, is running well ahead of schedule and, depending upon the weather, the federal portion of the project may be completed this fall.

Roen Salvage Company of Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, has built more than 850 feet of double steel walls in the 1.8-million-dollar breakwater. The walls have been filled with stone and a precast concrete slab walkway has capped the structure.

By the time work is completed, nearly 41,000 tons of stone and 3,000 steel pilings will have been used. Each of the steel piles weighs about 1,500 pounds and are driven 10 feet into the lake bottom.

Construction of the breakwater is the first step in the total harbor project. Construction of boat slips will be handled by the Michigan

Waterways Commission. The state is expected to spend 1.5-million-dollars on moorings for small boats and a fishing pier.

The new breakwater is an extension of the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock, which was completed at East Tawas in 1955. Plans for the extension were prepared by the United States Army Corps of Engineers, which is supervising construction on the project.

The state project, to be spread over the next three years, is to include construction of 120 boat wells on the interior of the breakwater, along with onshore facilities which include restrooms, shower facilities, a boat launching ramp and parking lot.

The four-section breakwater being constructed by the federal government is to serve as a harbor of refuge for recreational craft and sport fishermen.

Officials Discuss Consolidation, but Reserve Judgment for Now

Although stating they felt it would be inappropriate at this time to announce any opinion, members of the Tawas City Council, city planning commission and a businessmen's association committee discussed the upcoming consolidation hearings for the Tawasites at a special joint meeting last week.

Two public hearings are to be held on the consolidation proposal, one at the East Tawas Elementary School gymnasium on Tuesday, August 2, and the second at the American Legion Hall in Tawas City on Wednesday, August 3. The hearings, being conducted by the State Boundary Commission, are to start at 7:30 p. m.

During discussion at Thursday night's joint meeting, it was agreed that consolidation would probably increase the cost of city operation. It was the feeling of those attending that the boundaries of the proposed city should be expanded to include property in outlying townships which presently utilize city services, including sewer, water, fire department and recreational facilities.

Brent Babcock, Tawas City attorney who headed up the petition drive leading to the consolidation hearings, presented a map of the proposed city which is to be presented at the public hearings. Included in the boundaries are portions of Baldwin, Tawas and Alabaster Townships.

In other matters discussed at the meeting, two representatives of the city's planning consultant firm were on hand to present a new zoning map. The firm is to bring back details on updating the city's zoning ordinance.

In addition the planning firm is to assist with plans for a proposed new city hall, along with upgrading the commercial block between Mathews and Whittemore Streets.

After studying a request from

Wilton, Finley of Lansing since March in regard to changing zoning of a lot at the corner of Court Street and M-55, the planning commission advised the council that it did not feel the zoning should be changed from multiple housing. The planning commission, on advice of its planning consultant, felt that housing in that block was substantial and a requested change to commercial would reduce the quality of the homes. It also stated the proposed change would cause congestion in that not enough parking was provided on the property.

Big B Builders was granted a permit to place a modular home on the former McKay Sales Company lot for temporary display purposes.

A request from Surfside Motel to place a travel trailer lot on its property was tabled due to the lack of information. No site plan was included and the state health department had not been contacted.

The planning commission accepted the resignation of Hugo J. Keiser, who is a candidate for election to the city council.

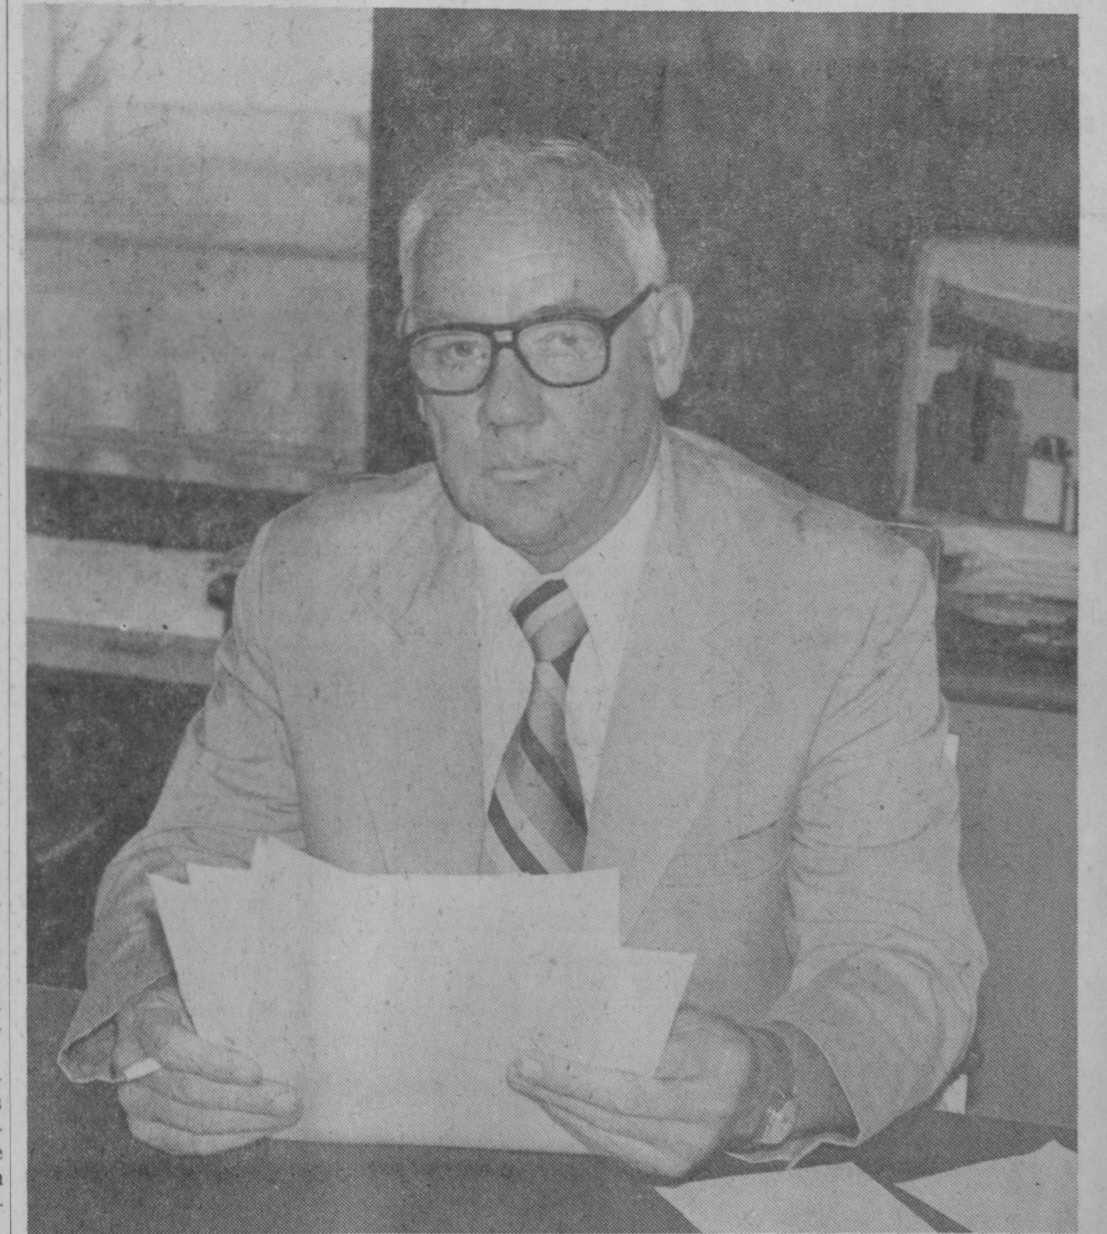

Donald H. MacLeod is D&M's New VP and General Manager

Donald H. MacLeod, 53, is the new vice president and general manager of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company, having served in that capacity for the past two months.

A seasoned railroadman, MacLeod spent 20 years with the Southern Railway, where he rose to vice president of operations at Washington, D. C. He also spent four years as vice president and general manager of the Western Pacific Rail-roadway at San Francisco, California. He traveled throughout the world during the past 2½ years as vice president of marketing for Computer Identec of Westwood, Massachusetts, a firm owned by the Pullman Company. He also spent one year in 1969 as a consultant for the Federal Railroad Administration.

MacLeod and his wife, Martha, will make their home at 963 Nanette, Tawas City.

Three Persons Hurt in Iosco Accidents

Two persons were injured on motor bikes and one person was injured in another vehicular accident last week in Iosco County. All accidents were investigated by the sheriff's department.

David Raica, 12, Oscoda, was treated Thursday at Tawas Hospital after his motorcycle went out of control on private property. Rollie K. Hottos, 22, Whittemore, was treated Sunday at Tawas Hospital after he lost control of his motorcycle on M-65.

Teresa M. Rutledge, 14, Greenbush, was treated July 18 at Tawas Hospital after she fell out of a pickup truck. Officers said that she was a passenger in a truck driven by Carolyn A. Burkhart of Greenbush.

Board of Education Continues Discussion on 1977-78 Budget

Tawas Area Board of Education continued its discussion Monday night on an operational budget for the 1977-78 school year.

In previous years, school budgets were prepared in spring for submission to the county allocation board. The practice of adopting a preliminary budget by schools, township and the county was discontinued this year when the people pegged the millage at the 1976 tax rate.

Supt. Robert Halle reports that the tentative budget for the next term is approximately $2,250,000, up $100,000 or six percent over the previous year's budget.

Through adoption of a new state aid bill, Tawas Area School will receive approximately $106,000 in membership aid this year, as compared to $85,000 last year. In addition, the budget increase caused by inflation will also be balanced by an increase in the school district's valuation.

The board of education reviewed proposed expenditures for the next term and gave tentative approval of an energy study for the district. Due to the severe cold weather last winter, the district spent $35,000 to heat its three buildings, which was $8,000 more than budgeted. That same figure is being used for the coming term, along with $40,000 as the anticipated cost for electrical service.

The superintendent said that school custodians had conducted a weatherstripping program during the summer at the two elementary units and that a study would be made on means of conserving energy at the high school.

Permission was given to Kirtland Community College to rent two classrooms during the evening for its local education program. The administration is to contact Delta College and Alpena Community College to determine if those two institutions are interested in conducting evening programs here.

Two surplus school buses were sold last week to a Baptist Church in Indiana.

TAPS President Applauds Tourney Committee Work

Dennis H. Cholger, president of Tawas Area Promotions, Monday congratulated individuals who donated their time over the week-end to work on the Tawas Bay Invitational Softball Tournament for an outstanding job.

Cholger said the TAPS board of directors especially singled out Ron Leslie and Michael Mason "for organizing a great tournament that was enjoyed by the 40 teams of ball players from across the state, as well as a lot of local citizens who turned out to follow their favorite team through the tournament."

Cholger said that local business reaped many benefits from the tournament as well as to allow local citizens a chance to "watch some fantastic softball."

The TAPS president now enlists the support of local citizens in the second annual Tawas Bay Tug of War on August 13. "No matter how small a contribution one can make in time to helping put on these events, TAPS will appreciate your help and we want to do more for the community than ever before."

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Psalm 63:1-8)

"Set your mind on God's kingdom and his justice before everything else, and all the rest will come to you as well." (Matthew 6:33 NEB)

A couple who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary were asked what they considered most important to a happy home. The husband replied, "When we were first married, we dedicated our home to God. As our children came along, we made a practice of starting and ending the day with prayer. We taught our children always to put God first and somehow other things have always worked out well for us."

Often parents become so involved with work and social affairs that they fail to leave time for prayer and for teaching their children about Jesus Christ. If God is put first and these things are planned for, it is surprising the way other things get done as well. A family that loves God and loves each other finds the secret for a happy home.

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus told the people not to be concerned about material things. When we put God first, He will bless all our efforts—and our needs will be taken care of.

PRAYER

Dear God, we thank Thee for Thy love and guidance so freely given. Help us to realize the most important thing in life is putting Thy kingdom first. Help and bless all homes and families everywhere. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

AN OUTDOOR BARBECUE GRILL tipped over Monday evening and caused a fire which completely destroyed a mobile home at 109 West M-55, Tawas Township. Connie Zaharias told Tawas City firemen that the charcoal grill overturned and hot coals went under the trailer, owned by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Zaharias of Wisconsin. The fire was completely out of control when Tawas City firemen arrived. The East Tawas Volunteer Fire Department sent a 5,000-gallon water tanker to aid in fighting the blaze. A quantity of building materials stored next to the trailer was damaged. Firemen recovered $150 of $500 in currency which Miss Zaharias left in her bedroom. She had planned to make the final payment on her car with the money the next morning.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Forest fires hurt us all!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the patients at the Iosco County Medical Care Facility, I am writing to you for help.

After living in the hospital for 11 months, in various nursing homes for 17 years and at this facility more than eight years, I feel capable of making a knowledgeable judgment regarding Provincial House taking over the operation of this facility.

When you are admitted to a nursing home you are just supposed to vegetate—in body and spirit—aren't you? At this facility, no one is expected to vegetate. We are kept busy from early morning. Most of the patients take physical therapy, others do craft work, etc. We have special large print books, every kind of magazine, the daily Free Press and both our local papers.

Provincial House is determined to covet our reputation. This has caused the patients and staff to be disturbed and upset.

When this facility was dedicated in 1966, everyone in the county was proud of it. We are still proud of it! When we had the five and 10-year service awards and open houses people were obviously proud of the place from the large crowds we had. I was one asking them to sign our guest register.

Following are some of the advantages of the IMCF:

1. The facility furnishes us with wheelchairs (keeping them repaired) along with canes, walkers and crutches.
2. Free beauty aids such as haircuts, shaves (if we are unable to shave ourselves), hairsets for the ladies and manicures.
3. Free personal laundry, clothing repairs and alterations.
4. Free transportation to eye doctors and dental appointments.
5. Not only physical therapy but diversional therapy also fills many empty hours for all the patients.
6. Coffee and fruit juices are available throughout the day and evening nourishments are provided according to your diet.

Diversional therapy each week plans special events including birthday parties; cookouts and melon parties during the summer, popcorn and cooking events all encouraging patient participation according to our abilities.

We know all these services are not provided by nursing homes. Most of the services I have mentioned are separate charges to the patient in a nursing home. When is Provincial House going to detail to the public what they provide to the patient for $27.00 a day?

What advantage would there be to patients and staff of IMCF by Provincial House taking over? We do not believe from the publicity presented so far by Provincial House that they can provide the complete treatment we patients receive here at the Iosco Medical Care Facility. When we have a good thing, why change it?

The community, too, has shown interest in us. Young people from churches and special groups come to sing and dance. Pastors of the various denominations provide Sunday services. Ladies church groups have provided items like our color television set and organ through their special projects.

It is my belief that if all the people knew the full story they would not consider changing to Provincial House administration. It is possible many of you will be in our position one day.

I close with a prayer that the commissioners will search their hearts and be guided to the right decision.

Yours truly,
Chester Denstedt

Executive director of the Michigan Republican Party, Jerry Roe, will be touring four area counties on July 28 and 29. The tour will include Iosco, Alpena, Cheboygan and Otsego.

Roe will be meeting with Republican officials and party members to discuss organization for 1978 elections. Topics will include the structure and function of the county organization, candidate recruitment fund raising and Michigan's new campaign spending law.

Roe's trip follows close on the heels of a similar trip to 11 Upper Peninsula counties by two other top party officials last week. The GOP is making a concerted effort to strengthen its local organizations in the northern half of the state in preparation for the 1978 campaign.

Before we could raise the flag, we had to raise the money.

And it wasn't because Betsy Ross charged too much. Building an independent nation cost plenty. In lives, in property, and yes, in money. So, our Founding Fathers asked their fellow Americans to take stock in their country. And we did. To the tune of $27,000,000. With that kind of support, it's no wonder that, after the smoke cleared, the star-spangled banner kept waving. Yes, folks really took stock in their country back then. And you still can by buying United States Savings Bonds. Because when you join the Payroll Savings Plan at work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you save, you're investing in a brighter future for you and for America. So buy United States Savings Bonds. They're a great way to raise the flag. Or a family.

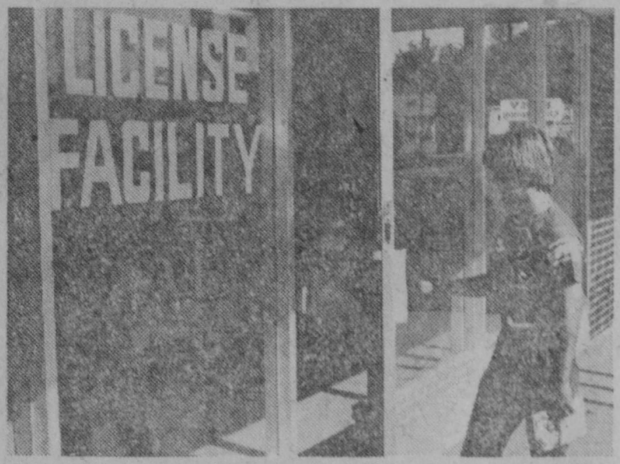

Take stock in America.

4-H's Get Head Start On Wheels

CHICAGO Getting a driver's license is a big step in the life of any teenager. And 4-H Wheels can help make that step a lot easier to take. The Wheels pre-driver education course is part of the national 4-H automotive program, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company. Up to twelve Wheels sessions give young people 14-16 intensive instruction in all aspects of driving except actual behind-the-wheel training. The course now reaches 43,000 youths annually.

Wheels participants learn about their responsibilities as drivers, how using the family car will affect their parents' insurance rates, and what makes an automobile run. Their instructors are community volunteers—businessmen, safety officials and mechanics. "Classrooms" may be garages, auto dealerships, tire centers, police stations or anywhere the automotive action is. Several states offer 4-H Wheels in the schools.

Practical and technical know-how are stressed in all 4-H automotive projects and activities. 4-H members learn-by-doing about highway safety, traffic and motor vehicle laws, basic auto maintenance, and the economics of buying and operating a car. 4-H'ers also explore vocational opportunities in automotive engineering, design, assembly and sales.

Getting a driver's license is a big step for any teenager. Young people 14-16 can get a head start on driving in the 4-H Wheels course, part of the national 4-H automotive program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company. Wheels offers instruction in all aspects of driving except actual behind-the-wheel training.

Automotive program members can earn awards donated by Firestone and arranged by National 4-H Council. Recognition includes eight national scholarships of $1,000 each, an expense-paid trip to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1 for one member per state, and four medals of honor in each county.

Up to 10 certificates per state are awarded to clubs or counties that report outstanding over-all 4-H automotive programs. As many as two clubs or counties per state can win plaques of honor for outstanding automotive driving events. Winning clubs, counties and individuals are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Firestone also sponsors automotive safety and care events at the Western U.S. 4-H Engineering Event in Omaha Sept. 22-24, and the Eastern Event in Richmond Sept. 26-28. For the first time this year, top individuals in the automotive events will receive shares of stock in the company.

More information on the 4-H automotive program and the Wheels course is available from county extension agents.

Oscoda Swimmers Dominated Meet at Ogemaw Heights

Oscoda entrants made nearly a clean sweep in the 1977 Northeastern Regional Olympics held last week at Ogemaw Heights High School pool, but youngsters from Tawas area, who do not have the benefit of an indoor pool, captured nine places in the meet.

Under tutelage of Ruth Armstrong of Tawas, who coached both Iosco County teams, Tawas had six places in the 10 years and under division and three places in the 13-14-year division.

In 10 years and under competition, Paige Wentworth won a second in the 25-yard freestyle and a second in the 25-yard back stroke; Kathleen Ryan won third in the 25-yard freestyle and third in the 25-yard back stroke; David Wentworth won first in the 50-yard freestyle and first in the 25-yard breast stroke.

Throw Another Log On the Fire —They Are Free!

The snow is four feet high. Outside, the temperature is 10 degrees and the wind-chill is 32 below. A perfect day for staying indoors. Yes, just grab a good book and curl up near the forced-air heating duct. Heating duct? What happened to the traditional fireplace?

For many Michigan families, especially those in the downstate areas, sitting around a cozy fireplace has become a thing of the past due to the lack of or expense of firewood. And it is a shame. Heating ducts are nice, but they are not all that exciting to watch—especially in the dark. Not only that, it is really difficult to properly roast a marshmallow over a heating duct.

Well, do not despair! Under a program offered by the United States Forest Service, individuals can cut firewood, for their own use, in designated areas of forest lands. The best part of the program is that the wood is absolutely free (unless you plan to sell it and then it costs you). And right now is the prime time for cutting next winter's firewood. Green wood gathered now will have ample time to season (dry) before it is needed in the cold weather months.

Contrary to popular belief, collecting firewood is not all that difficult. One does not need a blue ox or even a plaid shirt. There are some procedures to follow, however.

Now that one can no longer resist this new adventure into the forest, the next step is to obtain a free cutting permit from one of the seven ranger stations nearest the area in which one would like to cut. The ranger station in this area is located in the Federal Building, East Tawas.

After selecting a cutting area, from perhaps several that are available, one can obtain the permit, directions on how to get to the area and other information regarding fire prevention and safety from the ranger's office.

Gathering one's own wood has a dual value—it saves energy while providing healthy exercise at the same time. Downstaters can make a great family vacation out of a "woodchopping week-end." But remember, safety always comes first!

Proper training in the operation of a chain saw, axe or driving wedge is a must. Always follow the manufacturer's instructions in operating any wood-cutting tool. Very seldom do manufacturers recommend sawing one's shoe in half.

For the most part, though, collecting firewood is relatively simple and safe if one uses common sense.

FRONT of the Bay House Restaurant at 821 West Bay Street (US-23), East Tawas, has been completely remodeled. Windows in the building overlooking the highway have been closed and the front has an attractive new color scheme.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Social Security Help Is Free of Charge

People can get help, free of charge, in getting information from their social security record, according to social security officials here.

"Some private organizations are charging fees to help people get information from Government records," a spokesman said. "But you don't have to pay anyone to help you get information from your social security record. Any social security office will be glad to help you without charge."

Under the law, people generally can get information that's under their name and social security number in records kept by the Social Security Administration.

"You must specify which system of records the information is in," the spokesman said. "But people at any social security office will help you determine where the record you want is located. They'll also tell you how to ask for the information you want."

Copies of information that can be photo copied from social security records are free up to $25 worth—generally 250 pages. "Over that amount," the spokesman said, "photo copies cost 10 cents a page. Copies of information that can't be photo-copied are furnished at cost."

People can find out how to get information from their social security record by calling, writing, or visiting any social security office. "Request for specific information must be made by a letter over your notarized signature—or in person after you've proved your identity," the spokesman said.

People can get a report of earnings credited to their social security number, free of charge, by filling out and mailing a "Request for Statement of Earnings" form that is available at any social security office.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Grounds Ready for Today's Opening of Iosco County Fair

Grounds at Hale are spic and span today (Wednesday) for the opening of the Iosco County Fair. Members of the Iosco County Agricultural Society held a final work bee there last Wednesday in preparation for the opening. Preparations for today have been going on for months under the direction of Richard Samson, Reno Township, secretary-manager of the fair.

IOSCO 4-H CLUB MEMBERS, their leaders and parents turned out for a recent work bee to paint the fence at the horse arena at Hale. The arena was constructed last year and a new practice arena was constructed this year.—Tawas Herald Photo.

A new office building has been constructed along with a practice ring located near the horse arena. More than 40 members of 4-H Clubs, leaders and parents were on hand July 16 to paint the fence around the arena, which was constructed last year.

Assembling of exhibits opened this morning at the Plainfield Township Hall plus other buildings on the fairgrounds. A big midway is to open at 1:00 p. m. and there will be a pony pull, first event on the fair program, at 7:00 p. m.

The pony pull, for Michigan teams only, is for both lightweights and heavyweights. Prize money, ranging from $60 to $30, will be paid through 20 places in each division.

Thursday is a big day in the fair with judging of all 4-H exhibits except horses. Judging of open class horses is to be held in the afternoon.

Thursday afternoon also marks the start of three big days of harness racing. The first race will be a trot for non-winners of $2,000, six years and under, with a purse of $1,200; the second race will be a pace for non-winners of $3,000, six years and under, and a purse of $1,200. The final race Thursday will be a pace for non-winners of $10,000 and the purse will be $800.

Three races Friday have similar purses and four races Saturday include a trot and pace for non-winners of $5,000, along with a trot and pace for non-winners of $20,000.

Judging of 4-H horses starts at 9:00 a. m. Friday. This event, to be held at the horse arena, is one of the principal attractions of the county fair and brings youngsters from other areas of the state to compete with Iosco 4-Hers in fitting and showmanship, halter class, pleasure class and horsemanship. Presentation of ribbons in 18 classifications for ponies and 29 classifications for horses is to be made.

Friday is senior citizens day and all senior citizens are to be admitted free of charge. There will be a jamboree of retiree kitchen bands at 2:00 p. m. and crowning of retiree king and queen at 4:00 p. m.

Saturday is another big day at the fair with games and contests for all ages starting at 10:00 a. m. A parade is to be held starting at 12:30 p. m.

A youth fat steer sale is to be held at the arena at 1:30 p. m. This is always an exciting event and all bidders are welcome. The 1977 program will end with fireworks at 10:00 p. m.

Throughout the four days, buildings on the fairgrounds will house exhibits of poultry, farm produce, flowers, plants, baked goods, canning, domestic arts, antiques, artwork, handicraft and hobbies. Exhibits may be viewed until 9:00 p. m. Saturday.

"We keep emphasizing that this is a county event for family fun and enjoyment," states the secretary-manager. "We are hoping that there will be a good representation from every area of Iosco, not only as participants but as spectators."

1944-County Fair Time-1977

Thirty-three years ago, a group of 40 rural people from this county organized the Iosco County Agricultural Society and held the first two-day fair at the Plainfield Township Hall. Today, this same organization opens its 33rd annual event at Hale.

Much has happened in Iosco County since that first event in October 1944. Farming had enjoyed a resurgence in the county during World War II and the fair traced its actual beginning to 1943, when 100 4-H Club members held an exhibit day at the Iosco County garage at East Tawas.

An achievement night was held in October 1943 at the Plainfield Township Hall and plans developed out of that meeting to again have a county fair. Iosco had been without a fair since the mid-1930s, when the economic depression wrote finis to the original fair which began in the Tawas in 1875.

Following two meetings of the agricultural society at the Plainfield Township Hall in the summer of 1944, a board of directors and officers were elected for 1944-45 and this annual event was under way.

Fair association officers included Mrs. T. G. Scofield, Plainfield Township, president; Wilton Finley, county extension agent, Tawas City, vice president; Harold F. Black, Reno Township, secretary; Mrs. Mabel Scarlett, Grant Township, treasurer.

The 1944 fair began with assembling of exhibits in the forenoon, judging and a livestock parade in the afternoon. The evening program was in charge of the Pamona Grange and featured state grange and department of agriculture speakers.

Program for the second day included a horse pulling contest, a clown parade and a baked goods sale.

Committees were selected to solicit exhibits from all parts of the county and to further encourage participation in the fall fair.

The general committee for the home economics department included Mrs. Fred Pfahl of Grant Township, Mrs. Mae Putnam of Hale, Mrs. Harold Black and Mrs. Alex Robinson, both of Reno Township.

A general committee in charge of livestock, poultry and produce included Roy Sims of Wilber Township, Ed Teall of Plainfield Township and Theodore Bellville of Burleigh Township.

Community committeemen included Mrs. Scarlett, Mrs. Anna Bills of Plainfield, Mrs. Caroline Siegrist of Burleigh, Mrs. Phoebe Robinson of Reno, Mrs. Sarah Johnson of Plainfield, Mrs. Margaret St. James of Tawas, Mrs. Irene Lorenz of Tawas, Mrs. Marie Webb of Plainfield, Mrs. Joy Bellen of Burleigh, Mrs. Sarah Londo of Hale, Earl Thompson of Plainfield, N. O. Sibley of Taft, Octave St. James of Burleigh, Frank Gardner of Hale, Margaret O'Farrell of Whittemore.

The fair board ordered 100 first, second and third place ribbons for the 1944 event and the first premium list payments amounted to $399.87. Livestock was housed in the county garage.

In 1945, the fair program was expanded to three days and $1,200 was offered in premiums for exhibits. Featured attractions included an amateur talent program, baby contest, an evening concert by the East Tawas High School Band. Charles H. Lee of Bay City brought his merry-go-round to the fair and fair goers were treated to airplane rides. John Dooley's heavy weight team won the horse pulling contest and more than 5,000 persons attended the event.

There were 201 exhibitors at the 1946 fair and attendance rose to 8,000 persons as all travel restrictions were dropped at the end of World War II.

The one event which created more interest than any other single part of the three-day activity was the drawing for a 600-pound baby beef. T. G. Scofield was the lucky winner and he gave the calf to the Hale High School Band. Auctioneer Black was called to the stand and he auctioned the beef off to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ulrich of East Tawas for $160. A team of Belgian geldings owned by James Mielock won the heavyweight pulling contest.

The fair was expanded in 1949 under Thurman Scofield, secretary-manager. The Taulker property was purchased for $3,500 and a race track was constructed, along with bleachers. An old CCC barn was moved to the site to house race horses. Board members cut and hauled logs and had them sawed at Delbert Hewitt's mill to build a new horse barn. Members donated trucks, tractors, saws and labor.

The program that year included a parade for the first time and featured $1,000,000 worth of farm equipment and livestock.

Horse racing was inaugurated on the new track in 1950, along with a (See FAIR HISTORY, page 4.)

Good Photos Help Tell 4-H Story

Carol Simpson North Carolina

Karla Peterson Wisconsin

Good composition means arranging things in a picture so they look pleasing and tell the story better. The above photos taken by 4-H members were displayed at the National 4-H Photo Exhibition during the 55th National 4-H Congress. 4-H'ers 9-19 can learn practical camera skills in the 4-H photography program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Eastman Kodak Company.

CHICAGO—Good photographic composition means arranging things in a picture so they look pleasing and tell the story better. A lot depends on choosing the right camera angle and placement of the subject.
Background is also important. A simple background makes the subject stand out. A light-colored background is best for dark subjects; a dark background for light-colored subjects.

The photographer should move in as close to the subject as possible to eliminate distracting background elements. Or, shoot from a high or low camera angle.
4-H photography projects and activities, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, are fun and educational. As they learn-by-doing to take and use pictures, 4-H members 9-19 begin to appreciate photography as an art, a science and a communications tool.
Kodak offers recognition to program members at all levels of participation: six $1,000 scholarships nationally, expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress for one member per state, and four medals of honor in each county. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service and awards arranged by National 4-H Council.

4-H'ers can share their best photographs with others in the fourth National 4-H Photo Exhibition Nov. 26-Dec. 1 during the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago. This noncompetitive show features single photos or picture stories of typical 4-H activities. Each state may select up to four photos for the exhibit on the basis of county and state fair submissions. 4-H'ers need not be photography program members to participate.
More information is available from county extension agents.

Fair History

In 1958, fire destroyed the Plainfield Township Hall just as preparations were being made for the annual fair. Exhibits were assembled at the county garage at Hale and the program was held as usual.

The present Plainfield Township Hall was first used as an exhibit center for the fair in 1961. In 1962, a 40-foot by 100-foot livestock exhibit barn was erected and, in 1963, another 30-foot by 120-foot barn was constructed. In 1965, a 26-foot by 48-foot poultry building was added.

Modernization of the fairgrounds continued when exhibit buildings were remodeled and new horse barns were constructed in 1967. In 1968, booths were constructed for displays and nearly $3,000 was paid in premiums to local exhibitors that year. A new horse ring was constructed about three years ago and a new office building was constructed this spring.

Fewer people are involved in farming today in Iosco County than when the fair started back in 1944, although agricultural pursuits still provide an important part of Iosco's economy. Emphasis has been placed on family fun at the county fair during this change and it has provided one of the county's top summer attractions as well as the largest single annual event in Western Iosco County.

Importance of the county fair is expected to increase in future years through expansion of 4-H and youth horsemanship programs. Harness racing is still an important part of the fair and adds greatly to the excitement at the annual event.

With modification of the township hall grounds during the past year, it is expected that the agricultural society will turn its attention to expansion of facilities on its property. This can only take place, however, with continued interest of residents from all sections of the county.

Fair managers over the years have been Ralph Bohl, Thurman Scofield, Earl Lackie, Robert Ruckle and Richard Samson. Following Mrs. Scofield as president of the Iosco County Agricultural Society were Bohl, 1947; Harold Clark, 1948; Lloyd Newvine, 1953. Gerald Bellen has served as president since 1955.

Wurtsmith Sets Open House

This year's annual open house at Wurtsmith Air Force Base will be held Thursday, August 18.

As in past years, the public is invited to attend free of charge and tour the numerous exhibits and activities planned for the occasion. As an added attraction, the 1977 open house has been scheduled to coincide with the opening day of Oscoda's Paul Bunyan Festival, August 18-21.

During the open house there will be static displays of a variety of aircraft, including B-52 bombers and KC-135 tankers; demonstrations by security police sentry dog teams, displays of air force equipment, fire fighting demonstrations, special exhibits by the air force recruiting service, refreshment booth and free parking.

Base gates are to open at 10:00 a. m. A flag lowering ceremony, designating the termination of the day's events, is planned for 5:00 p. m.

"JINGLES," the 4-H clown, will be at the Iosco County Fair on Thursday from 9:00 a. m. until 9:00 p. m., passing out free balloons and candy as well as information about 4-H. Known to all Iosco County school children, "Jingles" will make her appearance through the cooperation of the 4-H Leaders Council and will be signing up children in the 4-H program for the fall. She will also be available all day for pictures.

What's Cooking in Michigan—

Pack A Lunch and Go On Drive in the Countryside

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

There is nothing more fun, in my mind, than to pack a little lunch and go for a week-end drive through Michigan's countryside. My wife and I have a book of county maps and just wander aimlessly on back roads, admiring the neat farm fields making up Michigan's second largest industry.

With the many roadside parks available, stopping to eat is no problem and if you are out picking fresh fruits and vegetables, a number of pick-your-own farms have picnic facilities.

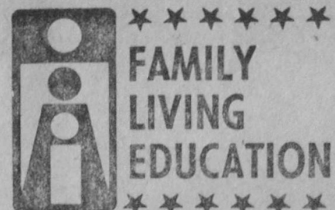

A favorite "take-along lunch" we prepare is lemoned chicken breasts, which have a marvelous tart taste and are great when chilled for a picnic.

Beat an egg until fluffy and add two tablespoons of lemon juice. Soak boned chicken breasts in the egg and lemon overnight in the refrigerator. If you are in a hurry, you can pound the breasts flat between layers of waxed paper and soak for only 30 minutes.

Roll the meat in finely ground dry bread crumbs and fry in shallow oil until golden and tender. Remove from the frying pan and salt lightly while they are draining on paper towels. They can be eaten hot or cold and should be served with lemon wedges.

According to latest Michigan Department of Agriculture statistics, farmers raise over four-million chickens annually valued at over 1½-million dollars. Visions of a flock of chickens in a farmer's backyard disappear when you see the almost factory-like buildings where chickens are raised. Most of Michigan's production comes from Allegan, Huron, Kent, Oscoda and Ottawa Counties and, if you are traveling, a number of the "chicken factories" offer tours to the public.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY IMPORTANT FOR CHILD'S DEVELOPMENT

As a parent, you are eager to help your children learn to read, write and spell. But do not overlook another very important aspect in the total development, namely physical activity. Summer is a good time to begin activities that help children in this area.

The ability to move efficiently is essential to the well-being of children. Physical activity is important in the maintenance and growth of bones, muscles and nerve tissues. Sound physical and mental health also are related to good activity patterns. Movement helps children release their mental tensions and begin to relax.

Many long-term benefits can be derived from fitness activities. These include maintaining desirable weight and improving posture. A healthy body can help ward off viruses and bacteria. Studies indicate that a systematic program of moderate exercise throughout a lifetime will delay tissue degeneration, especially in the heart and vascular system.

Movement and play are important in helping a child develop socially. Most of the social contacts and interactions of children occur in a motor skill setting. Through play, children learn about cooperation, fairness, tolerance, courtesy, respect, modesty and dependability.

Skill is very important in gaining peer acceptance. Early in life, children who do not move well are ostracized by their peers. These children get the idea that they are clumsy and begin to feel inferior.

All the fundamental motor skills, running, throwing, catching, hopping, skipping, jumping and kicking should be well established in normal children by the time they are five years old. However, children must receive instruction in motor skill development, just as in reading and writing, if they are to perform well. Parents have an important role in helping their children develop motor skills.

Studies from the 1930s and '40s indicate that children then were more adept in performing the fundamental motor skills than today's children. Sedentary lifestyles, including many hours of television viewing, may have contributed to the relatively poor motor skill development of children in the 1970s. Children who come from homes where the whole family is involved in physical activities are more skilled in movement techniques. Therefore, it is very important for parents to get involved in their children's play period. Children love to imitate their parents, so parents who are physically active will encourage their children to move well at an early age. Playing "can you do this" with children is an excellent form of guiding them through the various motor skills.

Expensive equipment is not necessary for helping your children develop motor skills. First determine the skill to be learned and then find equipment to fit that skill. Many skills require no equipment in such activities as jumping, hopping, skipping, rolling, running, etc. Drawing a hopscotch on sidewalk does not cost a thing and yet it is a great exercise. So is leaping over logs.

Climbing bars is good, but swings, merry-go-rounds, slides and teeterotters do not do much for improving a child's motor skills. Playing with balls of different sizes and clapping, marching and tapping feet in time to music help develop eye-hand-foot coordination.

Revenue Sharing Funds Commissioners Tour County to Inspect Proposed Projects

An on site inspection of projects nominated by local units to receive a portion of Isosco County's revenue sharing money is being held today (Wednesday) by the Isosco County Board of Commissioners.

However, commissioners pointed out at last Wednesday's meeting that the exact amount of federal revenue sharing money to be received by the county was not known at that time and a vital county project may utilize all available funds.

That one project uppermost in the thinking of commissioners is expansion of vault and office space at the county building and commissioners authorized John Dye, architect, to prepare preliminary plans on how facilities could be expanded.

Today's inspection tour, scheduled to start at 9:00 a. m., is to visit the Dewey Durant Park at East Tawas, the county airport, the AuSable-Oscoda Industrial Park, Old Orchard Park, Plainfield, Sherman and Grant Townships.

Proposals were made by various units June 15 and included a request of $55,000 for the park at East Tawas, $50,000 to aid in development of the industrial park, $7,000 to aid in purchase of a building for a museum at Hale and $30,000 to assist in a swimming pool complex in Plainfield Township, plus assistance to construct new bridges in Sherman and Grant Townships.

Projects were also presented for the airport and by the county parks and recreation commission at Old Orchard Park and Tawas City which would swell valuation of the projects to more than $250,000.

It is expected that the county will receive $800,000 in federal revenue sharing money between now and September 1980, but the commission has emphasized that only 1977 funding could be considered as future boards could not be committed to expenditures.

When projects were nominated a month ago, County Treas. Edward Nelkie appeared before the commission and pointed out the need for additional office and vault space for the county clerk, county treasurer and register of deeds.

Due to the expanded business of the county during the past 10 years, space is at a minimum and overcrowded vaults are being used for office purposes.

The Oscoda architect inspected the county building last Wednesday and told commissioners that a juggling of offices may be required in order to build a new vault addition between the county building and jail. It appeared as though the vault presently used by the county treasurer would be turned over to the clerk and the treasurer and register of deeds would share vault space in the new addition.

The architect pointed out that a study would have to be made of the possible effect an addition would have on shutting off of the air flow to the west wing of the building. He said that air conditioning may be required in several offices if windows are closed off by the vault and office addition.

Peace Corps Farmers are Needed for Philippines

Almost half of the 44-million people of the Republic of the Philippines are under age 16. Philippines Agricultural Extension Service is organizing a new program to involve rural young people through projects similar to 4-H Clubs.

The county has requested 10 Peace Corps volunteers with 4-H Club experiences to assist in the program. Volunteers are due in-country by September 30. Home gardens, handicraft fund raising, reforestation, nutrition, sewing and home poultry production are the project areas to be assigned. To qualify for the program, at least four consecutive years of 4-H Club work are needed. There is no upper age limit for volunteers. Currently, more than 300 volunteers over age 50 are serving in the corps.

Peace Corps provides transportation to and from the host country, medical care, living expenses and 48 days of earned vacation. A $3,000 stipend is given upon completion of two years of volunteer service. Any individual interested in this program may contact Peace Corps Farmers, One North Wacker Drive, Room 322, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

Tax Revolving Fund Again Under Study by Treasurer

Establishment of a tax revolving fund to eliminate financial problems for schools and local units of government caused by delinquent property taxes is to be studied by the county treasurer for possible utilization by Isosco.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie reported to the county commission Wednesday that he was to meet with an attorney specializing in establishment of such funds. That meeting is to take place during the state convention of treasurers in August.

Nelkie told the commission that delinquent taxes had risen from $400,000 less than 10 years ago to $1,500,000 in 1976. Under the plan, the county would borrow or bond for one and one-half million dollars to establish the tax revolving fund.

Money in that fund would be used to pay delinquent taxes owed to schools and townships.

The treasurer said that schools had requested such a fund several years ago, but no action was taken by the commission. Since the state increased the penalty on delinquent taxes from six to nine percent, plus a four percent collection fee, Nelkie believed the county could establish the fund and make it pay its own way within three years. He said that the interest rate on borrowing money, around 3.5 percent, is the lowest in years.

The treasurer said the tax revolving fund would also provide additional benefits in that five to six days of work each month, presently required in his office for keeping books on delinquent taxes owed local units, would be eliminated.

He is to report to the board of commissioners later on his recommendation. Approval would be required by the commission as well as the municipal finance commission for borrowing money.

In other business, it was reported that Roy Berstrom, director of the county medical care facility, had requested a meeting with the county commission to discuss a proposal from Provincial House, Incorporated, to operate the county facility. That meeting is to be called as soon as a draft proposal is received from the Lansing-based firm, which is currently building a new private nursing home in Tawas City and stated two weeks ago that it could also operate the county facility at a tax saving.

Authorization was given to pay a $242 penalty owed to the Internal Revenue Service since January 1. During a change of administrations in the county's CETA office last December, W2 forms were not sent to IRS, which resulted in the above penalty.

An allocation of $1,638 from federal revenue sharing money authorized a year ago was made to Tawas Township.

Approval was given to utilize $2,000 in anti recession money for the county law library.

Warren B. Oakley of Plainfield Township was appointed member at large on the Isosco County Department of Public Works. He succeeds Harry Samotis of Oscoda, who has become a full time employee of the DPW.

4-H's Accident-Proof Their Homes

CHICAGO—Because more people are hurt at home than anywhere else, home safety is a year-round emphasis in the national 4-H safety program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by General Motors.

To accident-proof their homes, boys and girls enrolled in 4-H safety projects and activities learn to:

- Store all medicines, household cleaning products and bug sprays out of the reach of small children.
- Keep stairways and heavy traffic areas well-

- lighted and free of clutter.
- In the kitchen, avoid wearing loose-fitting or flimsy clothing near stove. Wipe up spills right away.
- Use sturdy step stool or ladder for climbing. Wear shoes that give good support and traction.
- Have faulty electrical or heating equipment repaired immediately.
- Make a family fire escape plan and practice it.

In the home, on the farm, on the highway, in the community and during recreation, 4-H members 9-19 learn-by-doing to think and practice safety at all times. They learn to identify hazards, correct them and educate others to become more safety conscious.

The 4-H safety program encourages a variety of practical activities, including workshops, contests, films, skits, slide and puppet shows, home inspections and community safety campaigns. The program reaches out to new audiences; Navajos in a reservation school, and Vietnamese youth and adults who are recent immigrants to the United States.

4-H members, clubs and counties can earn awards for their accomplishments in the program. Recognition for members includes eight $1,000 scholarships at the national level, an expense-paid trip to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1 for one member per state, and four medals of honor in each county.

Four clubs per county and ten clubs per state can win certificates of recognition for outstanding community and local safety programs. And a $25 cash award goes to the one county in each state conducting the best safety program.

Awards are donated by General Motors and arranged by National 4-H Council. Winning members, clubs and counties are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

More information is available from county extension agents.

Medicines, household cleaning products and insecticides should be stored out of the reach of small children. Because more people are hurt at home than anywhere else, home safety is a year-round emphasis in the national 4-H safety program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by General Motors.

Day, August 12, and during the festival.

Condolences are extended to the family of Clyde Hunter.

At the conclusion of the pinochle tournament recently, winners were Alfred Schulz, John Massman and Joan Skrocki.

Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade and family of Flint visited his parents, the Vincent Wades, and then proceeded to Old Orchard Park where they camped for several days.

Softball Tournament

MORE THAN 40 teams participated in the Tawas Bay invitational softball tournament held Saturday and Sunday under sponsorship of Tawas Area Promotions. About 1,000 persons participated in the tournament, either as members of teams or families accompanying players to the Tawas. In spite of rain Sunday morning, dedicated fans were on hand to watch a game at the high school, shown in the top picture. There was plenty of action on the five fields during the two days.—Tawas Herald Photos.
