

School Voters Fill 7 Board Vacancies

Iosco County school voters elected seven persons to fill vacancies on four boards of education in Monday's annual school election. There was one upset of an incumbent candidate in the election.

Named to four-year terms by Tawas Area School voters were James J. Russo Jr. and Kathryn A. Leitz. Russo was top vote getter in the election with 701 votes. Mrs.

Leitz had 644 ballots in her favor. Other candidates received the following totals: Joseph Reinke Jr., 331; Norma M. King, 322; Dean A. Parrish, 143.

The two new board members will officially take over office effective July 1, succeeding Dr. James E. Jacques and Carl B. Babcock. Jacques has served two four-year terms on the board and is the current president. Babcock served one four-year term and had served as president.

The chief engineer at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Russo served as chairman of the school's citizens' advisory committee during the past year and is the parent of school-aged children. He is also a member of the Tawas City Planning Commission.

Mrs. Leitz, wife of Donald Leitz of Baldwin Township, is a housewife and assists in the operation of the family's business. She and her husband are parents of a daughter, 15, who will be a junior in high school next fall, and two older daughters.

A total of 249 persons voted at Hale Area School in the annual election. Harvey Rasch, incumbent, was returned to a four-year term with 166 votes. Gerald Lewis defeated Audrey Kocher, incumbent, with a 140-125 margin. Election officials said there were scattered write-in votes.

Whittemore-Prescott Area voters re-elected Ilene Phelps to a four-year term with 85 votes. A write-in candidate, Ronald Gawne, received 41 votes. There was one spoiled ballot.

Elected to four-year terms by Oscoda Area School voters were Frank Bissonette Jr. and Adolph Wesselhoft. Bissonette was top vote getter with 871 and Wesselhoft received 858.

Norman C. Olmsted has been named Iosco Intermediate School superintendent to replace John Tafelski, who is to resign at the end of the current school year on June 30. The appointment was made by the intermediate school board of education.

Director of secondary education at Ann Arbor for three years, Olmsted is to take over his new position on July 1. A field of 70 candidates had applied for the job. Olmsted had served as superintendent of Coldwater Community School from 1967 to 1974 and was dean of general studies and charter staff member at Washtenaw Community College from 1964 to 1967.

Tafelski, who had served as intermediate school superintendent since July 1973, has not announced his future plans. Prior to coming here he was superintendent of Merrill Community School. He had taught at Houghton Lake and Pipington before going to Merrill.

Two School Millage Proposals OK'd

Voters of two Iosco County school districts made short work of settling local school financing for the coming term by approving requests for renewal of operational millages.

Tawas Area School electors approved renewal of 12 mills of taxes for one year and Oscoda Area School voters approved renewal of a 10.3-mill tax levy for a period of three years.

Boards of education and administrators of both districts were elated with the results as such elections are expensive. As an example, it was reported last week that the cost for Tawas Area School District's election was estimated at close to $1,000.

Tawas Area School's millage renewal won by an overwhelming 853-337 margin while the vote at Oscoda Area School was slightly closer, 954-694.

Although local school financing is settled for another year, the operational request represents an essential minimum for 1977-78 and is lower than 94 percent of the school districts in the state and lower than practically all local districts.

The total tax levy for Tawas Area School District is 20.3 mills while Oscoda Area School, which receives additional federal funding, has a total levy of 19.6 mills.

One of the contingencies in school financing still facing all school districts of the state is the matter of a state aid bill, which is not expected to be adopted by the legislature until later this summer. The administration and board of education of Tawas Area School District is hoping that the state aid formula will be changed slightly this year to favor this school district.

Supt. Robert A. Halle warned last week that the $1,057,873.48 to be received from the 12-mill renewal, coupled with other local, state and federal revenue, might fall short of the district's budget and the school could operate at a deficit during 1977-78.

The school district is attempting to keep its operational expenses to a minimum, which is reflected by the fact that Tawas spends anywhere from $75 to $33 less per student than any other school district in the region.

School Calendar Set for Next Term

A school calendar approved recently by the staff was adopted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

The calendar calls for teachers to report for the 1977-78 term on September 1 and students are to report on September 6. The last day of school for students is June 8 and the last day for teachers is June 9.

School is to be closed November 15 for deer hunting, the Thanksgiving holiday is November 24-25, Christmas vacation is from December 24 to January 2, spring vacation is from March 24 to April 2 and school will be closed May 29 for Memorial Day.

School will be closed January 20 for teachers' record day, as well as for staff inservice days on October 21 and April 21.

In other business, no official action was taken but it was indicated that expense of Gene Salamony, band director, for attendance at the state band festival would be paid by the district. It was stated that this was the first time that a bill had been submitted for attendance at a state festival and that prior approval had not been given by the administration. Approval was given with the understanding that prior approval would be necessary in the future.

Tawas Area Band Boosters submitted a request to the board of education to establish a definite dollar amount for the instrumental music department's budget, rather than to allocate money from the general fund. The booster organization reported it had raised $8,018 during the year with expenses of $6,255, leaving a $1,762 balance.

No action was taken on the above request as it was pointed out that funding for the instrumental music department, athletics and choir was handled by general fund budgeting.

The board of education adopted its revised policies and printed copies are to be available at the reorganizational meeting on July 11. Drafts of the policies are available at the administration office.

The board of education authorized advertising for bids for the sale of three 1970 Dodge school buses with a minimum bid of $1,000. A 1968 bus is also available with no minimum bid. Three new buses are scheduled to arrive in July.

In lieu of salary increases, the board of education authorized an income protection insurance program for five administrators, Herman Rollin, Jerry Youngs, Gene Gerber, Robert McDonald and John Alexander. The plan will cost the district an additional $1,976.10 annually.

The board of education also authorized purchase of one year of service time toward retirement of the superintendent. His base salary is to remain at $28,000.

With adoption of the millage proposal Monday, the board of education authorized re-hiring of 10 teachers who were "pink slipped" on March 14 due to undetermined finances at that time. Hiring of Sally Wangberg as an English teacher for the first semester of 1977-78 was authorized. She had been employed during the second semester of the past term to fill a vacancy.

Trustees Willard Dillon and Robert Curry were appointed as a committee to study leasing of a school vehicle.

Boat Thefts Topped Iosco Complaints

Eight larcenies involving boats, outboard motors and boating equipment were investigated last week by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Six larcenies were reported at Long Lake, Plainfield Township. Owners of stolen boats and motors included Bernie E. Callahan, George J. Kramer, Alfred E. Schultz, Robert Cook. Theodore Creeger reported a stolen motor and fuel tank, while Mrs. Doris Gurdyko reported a stolen canoe.

L. J. Trinklein of Tawas City reported the theft of a fuel tank and Gary Thornton, Tawas City, reported the theft of a boat.

Other larcenies investigated included John Worden, Whittemore, a bicycle; Thomas Dawson, Tawas City, theft of two water sprinklers and two hoses; Tawas Drive-In Theatre, theft of plastic letters from a sign.

Vandalism complaints included destruction of mail boxes owned by Melvin Atkins, A. Brown, F. Netsche, all of South Branch; John H. Ellis, Tawas City. Iosco County Road Commission reported vandalism to signs on Chain Lake Road.

Scott M. Wright, 17, East Tawas, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after his car ran off US-23 at the Aulerich Road intersection and hit several trees.

TEN YOUNGSTERS in the 14-21-year-old age group are participating in the summer work experience program in Tawas City provided by Region 7-B Employment and Training Consortium. More than 700 young people at 180 work sites in Arenac, Clare, Gladwin, Gratiot, Iosco, Isabella, Midland, Ogemaw and Roscommon Counties are receiving their first work experience. The 10-week program is being funded by CETA, Title III, amounting to $842,796 in the entire region. Youths receive a minimum wage of $2.30 per hour for a 25 to 40-hour week, depending upon age. Here in Tawas City, the program includes stream bank improvement along the Tawas River and improvements to a new park along Dead Creek off Fourth Street. The program here is being directed by Thomas Jacques, the city's forestry consultant.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Hale Football Field Proposed as Memorial to Wm. Wereley

Routine business was handled at Monday night's regular meeting by Hale Area Board of Education. A special meeting is to be held Monday, June 27, for year end bills and adoption of board policies.

A request from Hale Area Eagles Club to name the football field in memory of William Wereley was tabled for further information. Wereley had been active in the club, was a former member of the board of education and was a county commissioner when he died earlier this year.

Bids on sand and gravel for the bus garage, a new fence, roof on the administration building and double doors at the elementary school were accepted and tabled for review.

Supt. Wayne Case reported that the district had saved $1,677 through bulk purchase of gasoline during the past year and that the saving would pay one-third of the $4,200 cost for purchase and installation of a 12,000-gallon storage tank.

Permission was granted to Trio Council on Aging to utilize the school building, the fair board was authorized to use school property for a helicopter landing strip during the 1977 fair and the Hale Area Eagles Club was granted permission to use the school building this summer.

Plainfield Township and the board of education are currently planning to construct two softball fields on the west side of the high school property and approval was given to the township to use the new facilities when completed.

Sue Kerle, third grade teacher for the past three years, submitted her resignation.

IMPROVEMENT to the banks of the Tawas River near the Mathews Street bridge and First Street bridge are included in the summer program.

This is a continuation of work accomplished last summer and work during the past spring by CETA employees.—Tawas Herald Photo.

State Gives OK on School Borrowing of $800,000

A special meeting of Tawas Area Board of Education is to be held Tuesday, July 5, to authorize borrowing against anticipated taxes for financing school operation for 1977-78.

At Monday night's regular meeting of the board of education, Supt. Robert A. Halle said that the Municipal Finance Commission had authorized borrowing up to $665,000 in anticipated taxes rather than the $800,000 requested by the board of education.

Following Monday's approval of voted millage, the state approved borrowing against the full $800,000. The money is necessary to finance school operation until receipt of property taxes.

Public Hearing on Regional Sewer

A public hearing is to be held Thursday, June 23, 7:30 p. m., at the city hall in Tawas City to hear comments and views of interested persons concerning a study made on a regional sanitary sewer facility plan and alternatives.

Governmental units involved include the Cities of Tawas City and East Tawas, along with the Townships of Alabaster, Baldwin and Tawas.

A step one federal planning grant was received for this project with the City of Tawas City as the initiating agency.

Nine alternatives listed in the study include subregional mechanical secondary plants at Tawas City and East Tawas, subregional aerated lagoon secondary plants at Tawas City and East Tawas, expansion of the existing East Tawas plant to a regional mechanical secondary plant, mechanical secondary plant at Tawas City and abandon existing East Tawas plant, a regional aerated lagoon secondary facility with separate primary facilities for Tawas City and East Tawas, regional aerated lagoons for pretreatment with land disposal via seepage beds, treatment and reuse of wastewater, various methods of sludge disposal or no action.

Each treatment alternate includes, in addition to city sewage treatment facilities, sanitary sewer construction in the three townships.

Written or oral comments concerning the proposals are to be entered into the public hearing record.

SCHOOL CLOSED for the summer vacation Friday afternoon and students of Tawas City Elementary Unit are shown lining up for buses before returning home. Youngsters cleaned out lockers of an assortment of books and other articles which had accumulated since last September, as evidenced by the load being carried by the student at right.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Report Acreage Before Harvest

Anticipating changes in farm legislation, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is requiring Iosco County farmers to report wheat, corn, barley and sorghum acreage before harvest.

According to Harold Cholger, chairman, ASCS county committee, both congressional agriculture committees have reported out farm bills which provide that if a set-aside is implemented for 1978 crops, the acreage required to be set-aside may be based on a percentage of the acreage planted for harvest in 1977. Neither version of the bill proposes to use acreage planted in 1977 as a basis for establishing acreage allotments, however.

Farmers will have until August 15 to report their acreage for corn, spring barley and sorghum. Wheat and barley acreage seeded in fall of 1976 must be reported prior to harvest.

Farmers who fail to report planted acreage will be considered to have no planted acreage and may be ineligible for program benefits next year, Cholger said. ASCS employees will make spot checks of farms to assure that acreage reports are accurate.

The county ASCS office began accepting acreage report June 1.

Participated in NATO Exercise

USAF SSgt. Richard W. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Moore of Brooklyn, New York, recently participated in "Dawn Patro 77," a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) exercise involving the air, land, naval and amphibious forces of seven NATO nations.

Sergeant Moore is an avionic instrument systems technician at Bentwaters RAF Station, England, with the 81st Tactical Fighter Wing.

Armed forces from the United Kingdom, Italy, Turkey, the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany and the United States participated in the operation which was designed to exercise and improve NATO's readiness and deter aggression along its southern flank.

NATO also exercised its capability to control the sea lanes in the Mediterranean and moved men and material through them to reinforce land-based forces. Dawn Patrol also allowed the United States Air Force to exercise and evaluate its collateral mission of sea surveillance and interdiction.

The sergeant is a 1963 graduate of South Courtwright (New York) High School. His wife, Joan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rouiller of East Tawas.

People Aren't Singled Out For SSI Investigation

People getting supplemental security income payments (SSI) shouldn't feel they're being singled out for investigation when they're contacted during the year by social security representatives, according to social security officials here.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. "The law requires that eligibility for SSI and the amount of the monthly payments be redetermined periodically for everyone getting payments," a spokesman said. "It's a routine procedure.

"The Social Security Administration gets in touch with people to get information about income, living arrangements, and other factors that might affect their eligibility for SSI and their payment amounts," he said. "This may be done by a questionnaire in the mail or by personal interview in the home or social security office."

Social security representatives are glad to identify themselves, according to the spokesman. "They never ask you to give them money to have something done," he said. "It's their duty to help people—in any way they can."

People can get information about SSI payments by calling, visiting, or writing any social security office. The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Public Hearing Today on Iosco Co's. Revenue Sharing Budget

A public hearing on the county's revenue sharing budget is being held this morning (Wednesday) by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners. Under discussion was expenditure of federal revenue sharing money to be received this year as well as making tentative plans for spending about $800,000 to be received through September 30, 1980.

Carlton Merschel, acting chairman of the commission, said Thursday that the present board of commissioners could not commit future boards to actual spending of funds to be received, but he felt it would be well to have a program in mind.

He pointed out that there were a number of uncertainties concerning future expenditures, particularly in the cost of operating the county's landfill, future expansion of the county airport and future operation of the county transit system.

Merschel said that the county was currently paying $75,000 annually for operation of the sanitary landfill and it is expected that the expense will increase over the next three years.

"We must be thinking, too, about acquiring additional property at the county building because all offices in the building are suffering a squeeze," he stated.

The acting chairman said that if a federal-state-local plan to expand the county airport does not materialize, the county is faced with resurfacing the present runway, an expenditure estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

CHECKING over returns in the Hale Area Chamber of Commerce's membership drive are Mrs. Louis Bissonnette, left, president, and Abbie Spaulding, office manager. The organization has 40 paid up members and expects another 40 by September 1. Among programs to be sponsored by the chamber this year are dances at the township hall on July 2 and September 3 and a fashion show in November. Plans are being made for the second annual winter carnival January 13, 14 and 15.—Tawas Herald Photo.

"We really do not know what we are going to run into on the new county transit system which is to be expanded later this year," said Merschel. The first year of operation is to be completely funded by the federal government, but it is expected that the county will be required to pick up a $65,000 operational cost starting the second year.

The commission has definitely committed $12,000 from federal revenue sharing funds this year for repair and maintenance to the Iosco-Arenac Regional Library headquarters at Alabaster.

Another $30,000 has been earmarked for purchase of the former McKay residence on Bay Street at East Tawas. This would be a cooperative program with the city where the county would own the residence and front court for a museum and the city would acquire lake frontage for expansion of the city park.

An estimated $37,000 has been earmarked for Tawas Area Industrial Development Corporation's share of the water assessment to serve the industrial park on Aulerich Road.

The county commission has given consideration to an allocation of $150,000 for job promotional activities in Iosco County. This would be similar to the assistance given to the Tawas Area IDC.

"In the next five years, Wurtsmith Air Force Base may again be up for closing and it is our duty to be prepared for the day when that happens," said Merschel. He said the county would have to do its part in promoting jobs in this county to replace jobs lost by eventual closure of the base.

"The things we have talked about could well exceed the $800,000 available through federal sharing funds through 1980," said Merschel. "We are holding this hearing to receive public input concerning future expenditures, but we feel we can map out only a tentative program as thinking of future boards may change and there may be new problems to be met."

The county chairman said that present indications are that the Carter administration may take a different attitude toward another extension of federal revenue sharing when the present program runs out in September 1980.

Answers to

'PLAY BALL'

This team, the Mutuals, won a famous game in 1875 and was awarded the rosewood bat below.

Amateur baseball may not be what it used to be—the young man of today has a variety of activities to fill his leisure hours and most would prefer to tinker with or drive his automobile, accompanied by his girl friend, rather than become involved in a sport which, of necessity, demands much practice time as well as devoting an entire Sunday afternoon the day of a game—but the old Northeastern Michigan Baseball League keeps rolling along.

This federation of amateur baseball teams comprising communities from Arenac County to Alcona County observed its 61st anniversary when the 1977 season opened in May. With the exception of two interruptions caused by World Wars I and II, the organization has never missed a year in bringing action to devotees of sand lot baseball and today it is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, amateur baseball organization in the state.

During most of its long history, one or more Iosco County communities have been represented in the NEM. The few exceptions have been when local teams were entered in short-lived "splinter" leagues. The Tawasites have fielded one or two teams in the NEM each year since the league was organized in the spring of 1916. In addition, other Iosco communities have been represented in the league including Alabaster, Hale, Whittemore, Oscoda, Wurtsmith Air Force Base and National City.

The 1977 season is no exception—a combined team from the Tawasites plays games each Sunday and utilizes the Tawas City diamond for its home park. The only blot on the local record came in the mid-1960s when Tawas City did not field a team for one year.

The first mention of an organized league for the region is recorded in the March 10, 1916, issue of The Tawas Herald. A meeting of the baseball enthusiasts of Tawas City was held over Ferguson's Store to lay plans for the forthcoming season.

"A movement is on foot to form an amateur league taking in the towns of Tawas City, Turner, Omer, Standish, Pinconning, Gladwin and West Branch," reported the Herald.

The subject was broached at the meeting Saturday night and a committee of L. J. Patterson, Burrely Wilson and Carl Samuel was appointed to attend a meeting to be held at Standish in the near future to consider the league formation," stated the newspaper.

It was reported that a proposition was being made locally to sell stock in the amount of $5 per share to equip the Tawas City team, fence the grounds and "otherwise put them on their feet."

Naturally, the "national pastime" has a long history in the local area which extends earlier than the formation of the NEM League. Baseball was being played here in the early lumbering days, when a broken peavy or canthook handle served as a baseball bat and cotton twine was fashioned into a ball for games played in mill yards or on some vacant field.

Competition between communities was complex due to the lack of transportation—a sand road was the only thoroughfare and a horse and buggy made slow time on it. Teams of AuSable-Oscoda and the Tawasites did make use of passenger boats which operated between the two communities, making it possible for a team to leave either community in the morning, play an afternoon game and then return home in the evening. The local newspaper reported that one of the Tawas players fell off the ship on one return trip and was drowned.

A trophy from those primitive days of baseball has survived and may one day be exhibited in the county's new museum which is presently being considered. It is a beautifully polished rosewood bat in a velvet-lined black walnut case which was presented to the winner of a baseball game between AuSable and Tawas in the summer of 1875.

The Mutuals, representing the Tawasites, won the game and the beautiful bat, but the final score of the game has been lost in passage of time. Names of the south-enders are recorded in the book, "Sawdust Days," written by the late Edna Otis, but no mention is made of the names of players on the AuSable-Oscoda team.

Baseball continued to be played on an unorganized basis during the days of steamboat transportation, but competition between communities improved with the advent of the railroad in 1883-84. It was not until 1892, when the Detroit and Mackinac changed the route of rails to reach Bay City via Omer, that baseball was changed from strictly in-county competition to a sport involving teams from other counties.

Brief mention is made in columns of the Herald concerning games played between teams from the Tawasites and Harrisville in the 1890s and a Tawas City team known as the Dutch Outlaws once entertained a professional woman's team known as the Bloomer Girls, as well as hosting teams from Bay City. No real organization, however, provided competition on a league basis.

One editorial in a 1902 issue of the Herald noted that "the efforts of some of our citizens in knocking the local ball team is but a sample of their 'progressiveness.' They never have a good word for the town or any enterprise that may be attempted to advance the best interest of our town or citizens."

Proposed organization of the NEM was met with considerable enthusiasm by Tawas City residents in 1916, but the Herald noted on April 14, 1916, that "it is proposed to try and obtain a weekday date for the home games if the businessmen of the city would consent to close their places of business on the afternoon when games were played."

The Tawasites had no Sunday "blue law" in those days, but there was much opposition locally to games being played on the Sabbath. As a result, games at home were usually scheduled for Wednesday afternoon and most businessmen closed their doors in order for employees to enjoy games played at Shien Park, located near the present day site of Inglis Ford Sales.

Peter E. Shien, a Civil War veteran and former sheriff, gave title to the property to the new baseball association with the provision that the property would revert to him if abandoned or used for any purpose other than for a baseball field.

Willard J. Robinson was elected manager of the Tawas City team for the 1916 season. Special passenger fare rates to attend NEM games were offered by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. One fare was charged for the round trip when 10 or more tickets were sold.

On May 12, 1916, the Herald announced that the Northeastern Michigan League had been organized at Standish. A delegation from Tawas City attending the meeting included Patterson, Robinson, Charles Moeller and Fred Swartz. Accompanying the official delegation was P. N. Thornton of the Herald.

CHARTER PROVISION

A brief explanation might be in order to explain the thinking of the Tawas City Charter Commission during its deliberations six years ago which led to a charter provision which prohibits elected city officials from being paid city funds for work other than for which they were elected.

This provision came under discussion during a recent meeting of the city council, just as it had been debated for several weeks by the charter commission in 1970-71.

On the surface, the charter provision may seem inconsequential to some citizens; to others, it is particularly offensive. For the charter commission of six years ago, its adoption was truly one of its most innovative acts toward providing guidelines for operation of a government—it attempted to remove the possibility of "cliques" in city hall.

The editor was a member of the charter commission, but he cannot recall at this late date who is responsible for this unique idea. During discussion, it was pointed out that many actions of the city government were not being discussed in the council chambers. Many issues, it was stated, were being resolved at times other than during council meetings and votes on important questions were merely routine—having already been decided!

A councilman had approached a charter commission member and that, at one time, one entire side of the council table (three members), plus the mayor, city superintendent and police chief were all active members of the volunteer fire department. The charter commission member voiced the opinion that city council matters were actually being decided at informal meetings, when other councilmen were not present.

The charter commission member expressed the belief that small towns had enough problems in obtaining citizens to run for public office and that such "cliques" could be eliminated by a charter provision.

The matter was debated at great length, for members did not wish to offend members of the volunteer fire department. Action on this provision was delayed at each weekly meeting for several months in order for individual charter commission members to explain the proposed provision and get the thinking of other citizens of the community.

The real problem came in the summer of 1971. One week after the charter commission completed its work—which had required one year and eight days after being elected—and had submitted the new 20-page home rule charter to Governor Milliken's office for approval, Ald. Howard Hutton died of injuries.

James Lansky was appointed Third Ward alderman to replace Hutton. Lansky had served on the fire department since 1949 and was the current fire chief.

Under terms of the city charter, approved by an overwhelming 391-57 vote on November 2, 1971, the new councilman had to resign his fire chief's position when the new charter became effective January 1, 1972. Although stating he would miss his association with the fire department, Lansky abided by the charter provision and submitted his resignation as fire chief.

Some discussion has been heard concerning the provision and, last week, Councilman Robert N. Kollin asked the council to consider a charter amendment at the next meeting. Such an amendment would require a vote of the people and there would be time to place the question on the November election ballot.

At least one question should be asked by citizens of the community before any action is taken on amending the provision—have "cliques" been eliminated in city government? In the opinion of the writer, the provision has helped to keep city matters on the council table and personalities were not involved when the provision was included in the final charter.

There may have been other reasons for this specific provision and anyone wishing to learn about the original thinking of the former charter commission may contact other members—Lawrence DeBeau, James Dillon, John Hosbach, Arnold Hosbach, George Myles, Hugo Keiser, Jerry Cotter and John Brueger

The provision should be discussed thoroughly before any change is made.

15 Years Ago—June 13, 1962—Walter Niles, veteran member of Tawas Area Board of Education, was returned to office Monday for a four-year term by district voters. Niles defeated Merton Kiley by a 417-246 margin.

Michigan Indians will open their summer schedule of daily powwows Saturday at the Indian Museum, located two miles south of Tawas City.

A busy summer schedule during June and July is planned for Tawas Area High School Band, according to Edward J. Rima, director. The band is to participate in a Bob-Lo Island trip, present a centennial concert at East Tawas, to welcome the USS Amherst to East Tawas, participate in the East Tawas Centennial parade, present three concerts at local parks and will participate in the Iosco County Fair parade at Hale.

First Baptist Church of Tawas City will observe its 75th anniversary and conduct a service of dedication Sunday, June 17, for its new educational building.

Mrs. Dan Cater submitted her resignation as office secretary of Tawas Area High School. She is to become office secretary to William Tracy, new Iosco County school superintendent.

Parlor Car No. 100 made its last trip over tracks of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Friday. Originally purchased by the D&M in 1905, the car had not seen service for many years. It will be on display at the National Museum of Steam Propulsion at Boyne City.

25 Years Ago—June 13, 1952—Gov. G. Mennen Williams has congratulated area residents who have worked so hard to make construction of Tawas Hospital possible. "Laying of the cornerstone for this hospital on June 7 was an event of real significance, not only to the people who will be served by the hospital, but also to the people of the state," said the governor.

Burleigh Township Agricultural School District will vote on a $90,000 bond issue for the purpose of constructing a new elementary school building.

The new Tawas Drive-In Theatre located on US-23 north of East Tawas is nearing completion and a tentative opening has been set for June 30.

The largest boat ever constructed in the Tawas area was launched last Wednesday afternoon at the Tawas River bridge. The "Captain Mac," owned by Gordon MacAndrew of East Tawas, will be used for Saginaw Bay fishing excursions.

Under sponsorship of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, next week will be "Courtesy Week" in business places of the Tawasites.

Work has resumed on 6,859 miles of bituminous aggregate surface on M-55 west from Tawas City. Wright Contracting Company is the contractor at a price of $118,850.

35 Years Ago—June 12, 1942—The Tawasites will soon have a second plant helping in the defense industry. The Detroit and Mackinac Railway shop has been producing material for the Defoe Boat Works for some time and this week the Rowley Assembly Company leased a portion of the ground floor of the Orville Leslie Ford Sales building for work on gas mask assembly. O. W. Rowley is in charge. Nathan Barkman reports that the organization is now working to secure small plants and subcontracts for this locality.

Operators of small boats in the Saginaw Bay area have been warned to be on the lookout for practice gun fire from naval vessels firing approximately six miles south of Tawas Point. Although fall of shot will be within sight of the firing vessels, the coast guard warning urged all ships to be on the lookout while in that vicinity. The firing is being done intermittently to test war craft being constructed by the Defoe Shipbuilding Company.

T5 Leonard Hosbach reports he is enjoying the "splendid" weather at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana. He is living in a tent during army training. "When we returned last night it started raining and I can truthfully say I have never seen such a rain in all my life. I thought surely the tent would cave in," said Hosbach in a letter to the Herald.

An amusement hall for the young folks has been established by Roy's Lunch at the former GHQ, Tawas City.

Summoned To Unite in Prayer

Christian Scientists from around the world have been summoned to unite in good, strong prayer and to do a better job of responding to mankind's needs.

David E. Sleeper, chairman of the Christian Science board of directors, told church members recently that it was time "to discard every thought that would turn us away from our conviction that God is as supreme on earth as He is in heaven."

A Texan, who has been a member of the denomination's governing body since 1969, Sleeper said the example of Jesus is as relevant today as it was centuries ago. He said the key to that example was a willingness to read the signs of the times spiritually—according to divine guidance.

Several thousand members, representing Christian Science congregations in the United States, Canada and overseas, attended the 82nd annual meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Boston, Massachusetts, June 6. Church officers reported on the denomination's healing ministry, its reading room and publishing activities and the work of its branch congregations.

Boston is the home of the denomination's international headquarters. The church was founded there in 1879 by American religious leader, Mary Baker Eddy.

Named to the annual presidency of the church was James Spencer, Birmingham, a Christian Science lecturer.

Mrs. Ellen Wayne, a member of the local Christian Science church, was among those who attended the meeting.

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Ephesians 4:11-16)

"We are to grow up in every way into him who is the head, into Christ." (Ephesians 4:15 RSV)

Near our home, in California, several neighbors had tall redwood trees in their yards. Some of our most exciting boyish adventures involved climbing to the tops of those trees.

One particular tree nearly reached the sky. My little brother and I started climbing it one day and as we approached the top it started swaying. I climbed on but he became less adventurous. To try to coax him on, I called out, "Come on up. Boy, you can really see far up here. I can even see Japan!"

It was a childish imagination and I have since matured, I trust. I no longer climb trees nor do I pretend to be able to see around the circumference of the earth.

But sometimes I wonder just how mature I have actually become. When I look at Christ and then consider my own life, I see how far I have yet to go. I am still struggling to conquer my pride, my fear of rejection, my selfish ambitions. But I have not given up. I am still trying. And one day, praise God, I shall reach the full stature of Jesus Christ and become one with God.

PRAYER
Help me, O God, to put away my childish ways. May I seek to grow up in every way into Christ my Lord. Ever keep before me that goal of maturity in Christ. In His name. Amen.

A new optional telephone service that will enable East Tawas-Tawas City residence customers to make short-haul long distance calls at a discount rate is now available.

The new offering, named Circle Calling, has been developed by Michigan Bell for residence customers who make a substantial number of calls outside their local calling area.

Circle Calling provides discounts for dialed calls within a 30-mile radius of the exchange building. "This new offering gives those who have such calling needs a plan they may subscribe to, and those who do not have such needs do not have to pay for such service," Haight said.

Circle Calling discounts apply at all times except from 7:00 a. m. to noon Mondays through Fridays.

Howard Haight, Community Relations Manager, East Tawas, reminds you:
"How and When you call Long Distance can make a big difference in savings..."
Be sure you know all the ways you can save on long distance. Most people already save by dialing direct, instead of going through the operator. And, on calls within Michigan, you can save most by calling weekdays after 5 p.m. or on weekends till 5 p.m. Sunday. You save when you dial direct on out-of-state calls, too. Check the front pages of your telephone directory for the best times.
When you want to dial direct, but don't know the number, you can receive long distance directory assistance by dialing 1, plus the area code of the city you want to reach, plus 555-1212. You'll find a listing of some distant city area codes in the front of your directory. If you have any questions, just call your local Michigan Bell business office, also listed in the front of your telephone book. We're ready to help.

Motor News Features Saginaw Bay Perch

Revitalized perch fishing in the Saginaw-Tawas Bay area is highlighted as a family fun sport in the June Motor News magazine, Automobile Club of Michigan Saginaw Mgr. Michael Malott reports.

"Public piers and boat livers are expected to be crowded this summer and fall with thousands of persons coming after perch with everything from simple handlines to exotic fishing outfits," auto club's 1.2-million reader-members are told in an article entitled, "The Perch are Running."

"Even the once-depleted Lake Huron party boat industry is enjoying a renaissance," Motor News states. "Fishermen with children or those preferring boat fishing can choose from at least five now operating in the Saginaw-Tawas Bay area."

Over the last two years, anglers in such famous perch areas as Tawas Bay have been boating buckets of jumbo perch up to 14 inches long, some challenging the state record of three pounds, 12 ounces set in 1977, the article continues.

The low point in perch availability experienced by Michigan anglers in recent years has been due to several factors, according to biologists of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The alewife became the perch's chief competitor for food and intense gill netting further cut the resident perch population, Motor News points out. But gill netting for perch has been banned along Michigan shores and salmon are helping to control alewives.

Those factors have helped replenish the once-large schools of perch that roamed Lakes Michigan and Huron, the article notes.

Lakes Erie and St. Clair also hold good schools of perch, with seven to nine-inch fish prevalent.

Baseball

First officers included Roy Eymmer, president, Turner; William Trask, vice president, Pinconning; Asa Whiting, secretary, Standish; Mr. Bacon, treasurer, Sterling. F. J. Perlberg of Standish was later elected secretary and served for more than 50 years.

"Much enthusiasm seems to be apparent in the various towns forming the league and the prospects are good for some fine entertainment in the line of baseball this summer," commented the Herald.

League representatives met at Tawas City (traveling here by railroad) to arrange a 20-game league schedule between Pinconning, Omer, Turner, Sterling, Standish and Tawas City.

Communities entered in the league have changed over the years—games are no longer played locally on Wednesdays and teams travel by automobile rather than in railroad passenger cars—but the old NEM League continues to provide "some fine entertainment in the line of baseball," as the Herald stated in 1916.

Hundreds of young men from Northeastern Michigan have competed each Sunday during the summer baseball league and a number have advanced to play in minor leagues. Only one player, Harry Matuzak of Omer, advanced to the "big leagues," having played with the Philadelphia Athletics. Prior to the organization of the NEM, Hazen "Ki" Cuyler of Harrisville was signed and became an outstanding player in the National Baseball League. His name is enshrined in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, New York.

This amateur baseball league's greatest fan is, without a doubt, Mrs. Ida Warren, 76, of AuGres. She has been interested in the league since the very beginning and her late husband, Roscoe, was a member of the Omer team which won the championship in that first year of 1916.

About 10 years ago, Warren was honored at an old-timers' baseball game held at Tawas City. He had played in the NEM for 35 years until he was well over 50 years of age. Another member of the 1916 team honored that day was the late Ray Meade, who had played second base for the 1916 Omer team and later moved to Wilber Township.

"There are still a lot of people around who enjoy the NEM baseball competition and we would like to get them out for an old-timers' game," said Mrs. Warren. The game has been tentatively scheduled for Saturday, July 16, at AuGres. Persons wishing additional information may contact Mrs. Warren at AuGres, telephone 876-6633.

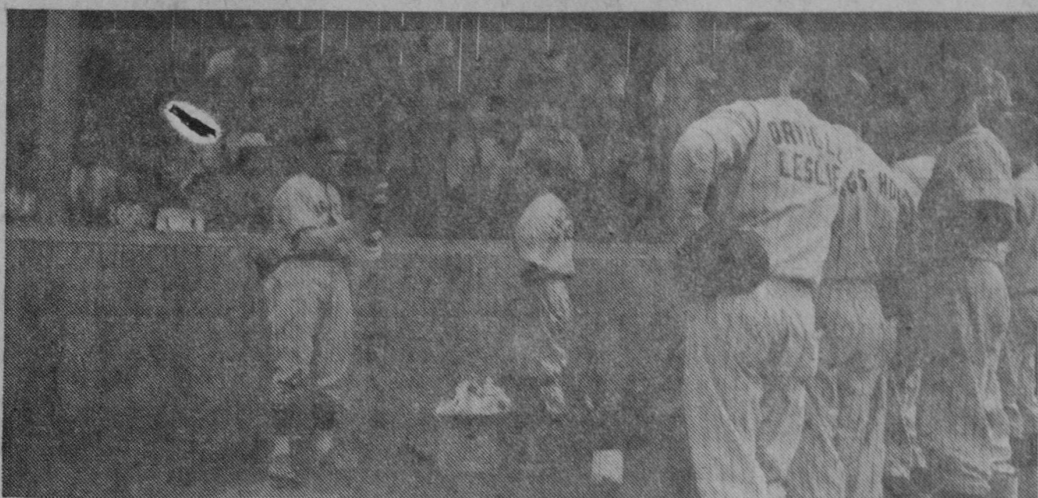

There have been many ups and downs in the NEM League. Some years there were so many teams entered that more than two divisions were required in order to complete competition before cold weather set in and more than a few championship games were played in snow storms.

Alabaster no longer fields a team and the "rhubarbs" between Tawas City and East Tawas nines, or between Tawas City, Twining and the "White City" boys are now but cherished memories recalled by gray haired oldsters. But, on a Sunday afternoon this summer, today's amateur baseball players still answer to the umpire's traditional call of "play ball" and take their places on the clay infield of the old Tawas City diamond and at baseball fields in other towns of Northeastern Michigan.

An East Tawas team from the 1920s.

BASEBALL in the Northeastern Michigan League lost a long-time friend in 1971 when F. E. Perlberg of Standish passed away. He is shown standing fourth from left with the 1920 Standish team, league champion that year. He served as league secretary for more than 50 years.

Alabaster's "White City Boys" always provided plenty of competition in the NEM Baseball League.

Junior benefit dinner Tuesday nite, June 7, at the Masonic Hall. Tickets 25c and 50c. Begins at 5:30.

The children of the Ward School, under the supervision of Mrs. Anschuetz, presented a festival which would have done credit to a privately trained group. The circle which represented the pink rose would not bloom with only "Rain," interpreted by Dorothy McDonald, until "Sunshine," gracefully depicted by Effie Prescott, scattered her beams on the roses.

Merton Leslie and Norma Musolf, out looking for fairies, fell asleep in the woods. They were awakened by the Queen, Patricia Braddock, who touches their eyes with a flower and thus they see the Earth, Rain and Sunshine fairies of her kingdom.

The little Briar Rose is seated in the center of the circle. She cannot be released until Prince Charming, Wilbur Roach, with a gleaming sword daringly cuts the thorns which hold her.

The Peoples State Bank of East Tawas will open next Tuesday for business providing that all other supplies have arrived at that time. The new bank intends to operate for the benefit of the entire county and will be in a position to extend every banking facility.
