

Governor's Visit

Iosco County residents extend a welcome Thursday to Gov. William G. Milliken, who is to stop in the Tawas on his speaking tour throughout Northern Michigan. It is expected that the governor's visit here will be brief. He will leave Alpena and land at the Iosco County Airport around 2:30 p. m.

After being greeted by local officials, he will tour the Tawas Area Industrial Park and will then inspect construction on new Tawas Harbor facilities. The governor will take part in a ribbon cutting ceremony at the East Tawas water filtration plant to mark the start of construction on the area's water expansion project. He will speak briefly at the East Tawas Community Building.

Officials Throw Rocks to Start Tawas Harbor Construction

Friday's program marking the official start of the Tawas Bay Harbor Improvement Project dispensed with tradition—instead of the usual chrome plated shovel used on such occasions, participants tossed pieces of rock into the double-walled breakwater now jutting out from the end of the present Michigan Waterways Commission Dock at East Tawas.

The ceremony marked the culmination of years of efforts on the part of many persons at the local, state and national level to see a federal harbor of refuge constructed on Tawas Bay.

"Thanks to the dedication of many people—local residents who never gave up on the project, political representatives at Washington, D. C., and Keith Wilson of the Michigan Waterways Commission—this project will provide a welcome addition to the area," said Mayor Robert Bolen, who tossed the first rock into the breakwater. "As the result of those actions, everyone in this area will benefit."

Wilson, who was on hand for the event, paid particular tribute to Elmer Werth of East Tawas, former mayor and a member of the Tawas Harbor Commission, who played an active role in achieving this project.

"Up until now we have been talking about something we could not see—now we can see the progress," said Wilson, who tossed the second rock into the breakwater.

Col. Melvin Remus, Detroit District director for the United States Army Corps of Engineers, who had charge of the ceremony, outlined the historical chain of events leading up to Friday's program. He tossed the third rock into the breakwater.

Colonel Remus said that the project actually harked back to the time before VE Day ending World War II, when the federal government began looking at the Lake Huron shoreline to select future harbors of refuge.

"It took a long time to get to Tawas Bay," said Remus, who took over direction of this district last August, "but, in 1966, an interim report recommended to congress that the federal government assist in the harbor of refuge in Tawas Bay."

Congress authorized the Tawas Harbor project in 1967, but it was not until 1974 that authorization was given to begin design work and preparation of an environmental impact statement. A hearing was held that year at East Tawas and plans were commenced.

A construction contract was finally let in November 1976 to Roen Salvage Company of Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, on its low bid of $1,743,063.

Construction on the federal portion of the project is tentatively scheduled for completion by August 1978. Capt. Al Krause is the on-site project manager for the corps of engineers.

"I am very grateful for all the help on this project which we have received from community and state officials," stated Colonel Remus.

The Michigan Waterways Commission is sponsor of the project and will spend another 1.75-million-dollars once the federal portion is completed.

"Our job is just beginning," said the waterways commission director. "The boat dockage and launching facilities should be well along in design by next spring."

Engineering, to include a decision on possibly renovating the present dock or removal, is to be completed this summer. Actual work is to be spread over the next three years. The state is to construct 120 boat wells on the interior of the breakwater, along with on-shore facilities which include restrooms, shower facilities, a boat launching ramp and parking lot.

The four-section breakwater being constructed by the federal government is an extension of the present state-owned pier and will serve as a harbor of refuge for recreational craft and recreational fishermen.

The breakwater is being constructed of double-walled steel sheet piling filled with stones and capped with precast concrete slab. Safety ladders are to be built on each side of the breakwater. Sloping walks will enable the handicapped to use the facilities.

The Tawas Bay Harbor Improvement Project is an example of federal, state and local planning and cooperation. The project is being funded 50 percent by the federal government and 50 percent by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The City of East Tawas, as the local sponsor, has agreed to provide and maintain mooring facilities and a service area, including a public landing for the sale of motor fuel, lubricants and potable water.

Site of this new construction has long been used for harbor facilities, first for the loading of locally manufactured lumber onto sailing schooners dating back to the 1860s and later as a state recreational pier. Improvements to the dock were made in the early 1920s, 1930s and in 1942, followed by general reconstruction as the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock and dedicated by Gov. G. Mennen Williams during the summer of 1955.

FOREST FIRE DANGER in Northern Michigan is extremely high and several grass and brush fires hit this area over the week-end. A member

Fire Skipped Through Brush Sunday; Danger Still High

Fanned by a strong north wind, fire in grass and hardwood brush Sunday afternoon blackened more than 120 acres of land 1½ miles northeast of Whittemore and burned dangerously close to a privately-owned pine plantation and dwellings.

Fortunately, the blaze was confined before there was any serious damage, although an old cabin was destroyed and a small portion of a tree plantation was damaged.

Direction of the wind and prompt work by the combined action of three fire departments, fire fighters from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and volunteers saved a large tree plantation owned by Ivan O'Farrell.

The blaze, which started around noon and was finally contained around 3:30 p. m., came within 600 feet of several homes on Ranger Road and missed O'Farrell's plantation by one-quarter mile. O'Farrell was out of town at the time of the blaze.

Firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blaze, but it could have been caused by an unattended fire left by several campers who were seen in that area on Saturday.

Whittemore Fire Department sent its trucks and crew to the scene, along with water tankers and men from Plainfield Township Fire Department and Grant Township Fire Department. The DNR sent three tractor-plovers to the blaze and the crew stayed at the scene until 7:00 p. m. Grant Township Fire Department was later called to fight a blaze near Bass Lake.

The fire, which was sent jumping and skipping trail roads southwest of the M-55-M-65 intersection by 20-mile-per-hour winds, has been attributed to extremely dry conditions throughout the region. More than 30 fires were reported in Northern Michigan over the week-end.

Could Benefit Rehabilitation-Development

Industrial Property Exemption Plan Under Motion by Council

An incentive plan for local industrial development and rehabilitation of present industrial plants through a state law providing a "tax break" for approved programs is under motion in Tawas City.

At Monday night's special meeting, the city council authorized Harold Knight as its official representative to confer with City Atty. Kenneth Myles for legal advice in adopting the program.

Earlier this year, the council asked Knight to study the feasibility of utilizing provisions of a 1974 state act to encourage industrial development and industrial rehabilitation in this community. Knight is owner of Tawas Plating, Incorporated, and a certified public accountant.

Knight told councilmen that he had met with Michigan Department of Commerce officials at Lansing and believed that the measure would be beneficial to the general welfare of the community.

Under state law, city councils and township boards are empowered to establish both industrial development and industrial rehabilitation districts. In the case of new construction, the state permits an exemption of one-half of the tax on a building and equipment for a period of 12 years.

In facilities to be renovated, the city council would make a determination if 50 percent of a plant was obsolete. If the owner desired, the plant could be renovated through reconstruction or purchase of new equipment and the property would not be taxed for a period of 12 years.

As industry looks to expansion, many cities are getting involved in this program. In 1974, there were only four applications but there were 118 applications in 1975 and 118 by October of last year, with another 75 applications pending.

Capital outlay for the above applications amounted to $852,000,000, with 28,000 jobs retained and 18,000 additional jobs created.

Knight recommended that the council consider establishment of specific industrial rehabilitation areas for present plants, but advised against establishing land specifically intended for industrial development. He said that the city would retain close control over industrial development through this method and, if someone wished to construct an industrial plant here using this incentive, a specific area could be designated. In this manner, the city could control the type of industry to be located here.

More than one industrial district can be designated and, in the case of present industrial operations, a single plant or portion of a plant could be designated as a rehabilitation district. Only that portion of a plant rehabilitated would be exempt from taxes for a period of 12 years.

Total exempted industrial property cannot exceed five percent of the city's valuation for both real and personal property, so as not to impair the community's taxing ability. With a valuation of $22,000,000, the limit for Tawas City would be $1,000,000.

The city would be required to hold a public hearing for all local taxing units, including schools and the county, to hear objections.

The council would make a decision within 60 days after the hearing and, if desired, the application would then go to the tax commission for review. If approved at the state level, an exemption certificate would be issued.

Knight said that industrial development which had taken place within a period of two years prior to approval by the state could be eligible under either program. Under rehabilitation, the area renovated must comprise 10 percent or more of the total value of the plant.

As an industrialist, Knight said he would certainly make application for the tax exemption if contemplating rehabilitation of his plant on Industrial Avenue. No other units of the county have made application to the state under this program, but three townships have contacted Knight to learn more about his findings.

Ronald Turner, city assessor, reported that a legislative committee is currently considering a similar tax exemption bill to benefit commercial property. He said that 532 bills had been introduced into the legislature during the past year and there was nothing definite as to this proposal. The council went

One-Year Millage Proposal Going to TA School Voters

Tawas Area School voters will be asked to approve a one-year operational tax proposal at the annual election on Monday, June 13.

When the board of education decided two weeks ago to ask for renewal of 12 mills of taxes, action was delayed until Monday night to make a decision on the length of time for the proposal.

Since that meeting, board of education members have met with various groups and conducted an independent survey to determine the thinking of area residents concerning the length of time for the proposal.

At a meeting two weeks ago, it was the general consensus of Tawas City Businessmen's Association that a one-year proposal should be placed before voters due to the uncertainty of school financing at this date. Adoption of a final state aid bill usually does not take place before the start of the fall school term.

The district's proposed budget for 1977-78 shows a 2.78 percent increase over the current year and projected expenditures are $15,000 to $18,000 higher than anticipated revenue. Under the current Bursley state aid bill, this school district would have a deficit of $30, 000 to $40,000 for 1977-78 school operation, but the local board of education has hope that an alternate bill being considered by the legislature will be adopted. That bill would provide a balanced budget.

In addition to the millage proposal and filling two vacancies on the board of education, voters will be asked to increase the per diem paid to board of education members. At the time of reorganization of area schools in 1953, the rate was established at $5 per meeting.

A resolution Monday night by the board of education directed that a referendum be held June 13 seeking voter approval of a $10 rate to be paid board members for each meeting attended.

The resolution was adopted by a four to one roll call vote. In favor were Clare Herriman, Randall DeWyse, Willard Dillon and Robert Curry. The no vote was cast by David Kennedy. Abstaining from voting were Dr. James Jacques and Carl Babcock, who retire from the board this year.

Area School pays its members $120 per year for two meetings each month.

In other business, the board of education authorized legal steps to secure an $800,000 loan on anticipated taxes to finance school district operation until after December, when local tax payments are received.

The board rejected an advisory arbitration opinion concerning a grievance filed by Robert C. Reaser seeking added pay for services.

An $18,000 budget for the athletic department was approved by the board of education. Gate receipts during the current year amounted to $10,270 and receipts anticipated for the next term total $9,900, due to the fact that there will be fewer home games next year.

James Papenfus, athletic director, said that the board allocated $7,000 from the general fund last year to meet the budget and a $1,000 increase was granted for 1977-78 by the board of education.

The board of education authorized use of three buses to transport youngsters to the Oscoda High School pool this summer for swimming instruction provided by the American Red Cross.

Port Huron Firm Low Bidder on Tawas City Fishing Pier

K. G. Marks, Incorporated, Port Huron, was low bidder on proposed improvements to the public fishing pier at the Tawas City Park.

At a special meeting Monday night, the Port Huron firm entered a bid of $110,656.30. Other bids included DeRosia Dock and Dredge Company, Cheboygan, $111,863; Roen Salvage Company, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, $113,000; Peter M. Hamar Contracting, Bay City, $116,386; Gilliland Construction Company, Alpena, $122,454; E. C. Korneffel Company, Trenton, $161,441.

The bids are to be reviewed by Edmonds Engineering Company of Bay City and are submitted to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

City Mgr. Reginald Blubitz said that the DNR had allocated $77,000 for this work, but had authorized additions last fall. He said he would check with DNR concerning the proposals.

Work is to include installation of $5,780 square feet of sheet steel piling, headwalls, culvert extensions, 630 square yards of bituminous walkways, 1,000 lineal feet of rail fence, 23 benches, seeding topsoil, fertilizing, concourse lighting and rework of existing steel sheet piling.

The above work would connect with sheet piling installed and financed by the city, which was completed last year.

Michigan Week goals were and are to give Michigan citizens a greater knowledge and appreciation of their state, to expound the state's assets and resources, to foster a spirit of cooperation among all communities and people. No special programs have been announced for Iosco County this year, but each citizen is asked to look around at all the good things we have going for us during Michigan appreciation week. Themes of the special days include: Community Pride Day, Saturday, May 14; Heritage Day, Sunday, May 15; Government Day, Monday, May 16; World Trade Day, Tuesday, May 17; Livelihood Day, Wednesday, May 18; Education Day, Thursday, May 19; Hospitality Day, Friday, May 20; Youth Day, Saturday, May 21.

(Read Matthew 18:21-35) "When you stand praying, if you have a grievance against anyone, forgive him, so that your Father in heaven may forgive you the wrongs you have done." (Mark 11:25)

"I suppose careful, painstaking nursing can cure almost anything," said a patient to a nurse. The nurse quipped, "Yes, almost anything except a grudge!" Prayer will not work in an unforgiving heart. If we are holding a grudge against another, we block God's action. He may desire to fulfill our wishes, but His hands are tied because of our unforgiveness.

In the midst of suffering, Jesus forgave the very ones who nailed Him to the cross. Joseph forgave his brothers who sold him into slavery. They meant evil against him, but God worked it out for their good. Do not worry about retribution or vengeance when you have been wronged by someone. Simply forgive and God will do the rest.

If we let a root of bitterness grow, our prayer life will be choked. Our prayers will never reach beyond ourselves until we learn to forgive, no matter what the circumstances may be. We must not allow a grudge nor a spark of revenge to gain even the tiniest foothold in our hearts.

PRAYER

Dear heavenly Father, help us this day to live so close to Thee that when others wrong us we will react as Jesus did. In His name. Amen.

TC Returns Tax Rate to Current 15.35 Level

At a special meeting Monday night, Tawas City Council directed that the proposed tax rate for 1977-78 operation be reduced by .20 of a mill to bring it in line with the 15.35 millage rate assessed during the current year.

The tentative tax rate discussed in April called for a levy of 15.55 mills, but councilmen were of the opinion that the rate should be brought in line with the current year.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that the reduction could be accomplished by lowering fire improvements and equipment improvements by .05 of a mill and lowering debt retirement by .10 of a mill. The general fund rate remains at 9.35 mills. Adjusted rates would see .85 for fire improvements, .85 for equipment improvements, three mills for major and local street funds and 1.30 for debt retirement.

The city manager said that proposed millage rates would meet anticipated expenditures.

The preliminary budget presented in April called for total expenditures of $349,524, which includes $225,910 for general operating, $10,000 for fire improvements, $10,000 for equipment improvements, $87,400 for streets and $16,214 for debt retirement.

The general fund operating budget is $17,327 higher than the current year.

A public hearing on the proposed budget is to be held next Monday night and the council is expected to adopt a final budget at the conclusion of that hearing.

Wetlands Are Precious

"Progress" carries a heavy environmental price tag if it means draining and filling our wetlands areas, the Department of Natural Resources cautions. Every time a wetlands area is lost, our environment is deprived of an essential breeding ground and food source for commercial and sport fish and shellfish; a vital feeding and nesting area for waterfowl; an important filter system for lakes and streams; and a natural treatment area for waterborne and airborne pollution; a buffer zone protecting inland areas from floods and severe storms; and a prime recreation area for fishermen, hunters, birdwatchers, and boating enthusiasts. The state's waterfowl hunting stamp is expected to raise more than $200,000 this year and that could generate up to $600,000 more in federal funds. As a top priority item, the DNR hopes to purchase the 3,100-acre St. John Marsh near Algonic which is the largest shoreline wetland area on the United States side of Lake St. Clair, a key waterfowl habitat.

Boating-Fishing Regulated During

AXIS SABOTAGE THREAT

During wartime emergencies, governments often impose severe restrictions upon civilians which are ill advised, cumbersome to enforce and, in some cases, almost laughable. A case in point is the fishermen's registration regulation enacted by the federal government in the spring of 1942.

This story deals with measures taken by local civic leaders to lessen a proposed wartime fishing regulation on Tawas Bay. Local residents did not feel they were being unpatriotic when they insisted that it was entirely unnecessary for sport fishermen to carry an FBI photo identification card.

Thirty-five years ago, America was tightening its belt as its military forces were finally brunting the thrust of the Japanese invasion into the Southwestern Pacific. Gen. Douglas MacArthur had just made his dramatic 2,000-mile flight from the Bataan Peninsula in the Philippine Islands to Australia, where he assumed supreme United Nations command in that region.

In order to improve the war spirit of the people, generally, President Roosevelt said that he would like to see more military parades.

"It is time to wave the flag," declared the president.

To gird for war, which was then six months after Pearl Harbor, draft boards from coast to coast began the task of classifying and calling up 9,000,000 men, during the third draft lottery; competitive bidding on war production work was ended by the federal government and small plants not engaged in war work were drawn into the war picture.

Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, called for a general doubling of income taxes, averaging slightly more than $175 for every man, woman and child in the nation, to raise 23 1/2-billion dollars for defense.

This unified concentration on the war effort filtered right down to the smallest communities in rural America. Here in Iosco County, The Tawas Herald reported that meetings were held in April 1942 to discuss the Food for Freedom campaign and how Iosco County farmers could best exceed government goals on production of beans, potatoes and other commodities. School children were mobilized for farm work through the 4-H Victory Program.

The Herald reported that women were planting victory gardens and knitting scarves or sweaters for men in military service, children were immunized against the dangers of wartime epidemics, rationing of sugar commenced, civil defense councils were organized, tons of scrap rubber, paper and metal were collected by children for national defense.

New federal bureaus and agencies were organized to bring the war home to Americans. The emergency was real for it was still difficult to convince civilians of the need for wartime regulations, despite the rapid depletion of the population caused by young men and women entering military service.

Included in the barrage of new regulations handed down by the federal government was one aimed at tightening security around coast guard installations along the Great Lakes. Because of the need for an uninterrupted flow of raw materials from Northern Michigan mines to defense plants by lake carriers, coast guard stations were placed on a wartime basis to prevent sabotage by enemy agents.

Strictly interpreted, according to Capt. William Ludwig of the Tawas Point Coast Guard Station, the new regulation provided that every person fishing from the waters or docks of the Great Lakes or navigable streams entering the lakes would be required to be registered with the coast guard.

"Each applicant must present proper identification, birth certificate, if possible, and each applicant must be endorsed by a responsible citizen," stated the regulation. Fingerprints were taken and the application, together with photograph, was sent to the FBI for registration. The card was then returned and was to be carried by the individual.

Faced with an unpredictable re-

DUE TO THE WARTIME THREAT of enemy sabotage, strict regulations were enforced in early 1942 curtailing sport fishing activities on the Great Lakes. All fishermen were required to have a photo identification card from the FBI and the applicant was required to have a sponsor. The act also applied to connecting waters and would have eliminated the region's resort business had steps not been taken to lessen restrictions.—Tawas Herald Photo.

sort season due to wartime travel restriction, local businessmen and boat livery operators believed they had a legitimate protest against the ruling by the federal government requiring that every person operating any kind of boat on the Great Lakes be registered with the FBI.

A committee composed of Fred J. Adams, W. D. Nunn and Gordon MacAndrew, representing the East Tawas Chamber of Commerce, set out to lessen the restriction.

Local businessmen were not in disagreement with the principle of the restriction, but rather with the necessary difficulties which registration of summer visitors entailed. The local coast guard station did not have authority to grant applications immediately, but could only fill out the necessary forms and send them on to district headquarters at Detroit. As a result, this meant a delay of a week to 10 days and meant that, in most cases, there would be little or no fishing.

One boat liveryman at East Tawas estimated that strict enforcement of the regulation would cost him at least $1,000 in lost business during the season. That amount would be multiplied many times over in Michigan if the regulation was enforced rigidly.

The committee pointed out that there was very little of military significance in the Tawas Bay area and that boats such as used by sports perch fishermen were not capable of reaching areas of military importance. Commercial fishermen, whose boats were capable of going anywhere on the lakes, merely shrugged their shoulders and complied with the regulation.

"In view of the fact that the small communities outside of easy distance from industrial centers have been hard hit by families moving away and in view of the added fact that one of the greatest tourist attractions in this area is perch fishing, the committee believes that the effort being made to lessen the restriction is a legitimate one and is one that in no way should be considered as unpatriotic."

The concerted effort by sportsmen and resort communities of the region, working with the Michigan Conservation Department, resulted in lessening the restrictions. P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the conservation department, recommended that the restriction be lifted for boats of 16 feet in length and under. This met with approval of most fishermen and boat livery operators, for few of their boats were larger than that size. As a result of the director's recommendation, perch and smelt fishermen were not required to have the identification cards for fishing from docks in areas not considered vital to defense, or

PUBLIC NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 185
Effective Date: May 12, 1977

AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE EXHIBITION OF OBSCENE PERFORMANCES; TO SPECIFICALLY DEFINE THE CONDUCT HEREIN PROHIBITED; AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

THE CITY OF TAWAS CITY ORDAINS:

Section 1. PRESENTATION OF OBSCENE PERFORMANCE. It shall be unlawful for any person to present, sponsor, procure, direct, act or otherwise participate in, or to assist in the presentation of an obscene performance in the City of Tawas City.

Section 2. DEFINITIONS. The following definitions apply to words as used in this Ordinance.

(a) OBSCENE PERFORMANCE. An obscene performance means a play, motion picture, dance, show, act, rendition, lecture, reading or other presentation, whether pictorial; animated or live, performed before an audience or intended to be performed before an audience and which in whole or in part depicts or reveals nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement or sadomasochistic abuse or which includes obscenities or explicit verbal descriptions or narrative accounts of nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement or sadomasochistic abuse, depicted or described, provided that the average person, applying contemporary community standards in the County of Iosco, would find that the performance taken as a whole appeals to the prurient interest in a patently offensive way and lacks serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value.

(b) NUDITY. Nudity means uncovered, or less than opaquely covered, post-pubertal human genitals, pubic areas, the post-pubertal human female breast below a point immediately above the top of the areola, or the covered human male genitals in a discernibly turgid state. For purposes of this definition, a female breast is considered uncovered if the nipple only or the nipple and the areola only are covered.

...when price is the difference.

Compare these three quality, brand name 8 HP lawn tractors. Wheel Horse. John Deere. And International Harvester. Each is known for its performance and dependability.

Now compare prices.

An independent shopping survey taken in January, 1977, among dealers in over 25 major U.S. cities specifically showed, the average of the actual quoted prices for the John Deere 100 was $1364; the International Harvester Model 81 was $1286; and Wheel Horse A-90 was $1068.

In some instances, I.H. and J.D.'s average actual quoted prices were comparable or lower than Wheel Horse.

Prices do not include local taxes. Some prices were higher, some lower. Check your local Wheel Horse Sales Inc. dealer for his prices. Consistently, Wheel Horse delivers price, performance and dependability that are hard to beat.

Why pay more when you can own a Wheel Horse!

 from the banks of streams.
 The rule requiring that at least one member of a fishing party in a boat have a card was enforced, however. Registrations were made without charge at the Tawas Point Coast Guard Station. Boatwains Mate Frank Morey and several men from the local station spent several weeks at Bay City taking care of registrations in that area.
 If a wartime fishing restriction identification card has survived since 1942, it has escaped the notice of this newspaper. Michigan was later to become the site of several camps to detain enemy prisoners of war and several prisoners made successful escapes from those camps, but no known record exists of enemy sabotage on the Great Lakes during World War II.
 Local businessmen, who declared they were not being unpatriotic when they insisted that a photo identification card was unnecessary for perch fishermen, won one of the few battles with the federal government over wartime restrictions.

Graduates as AF Technician
