

Commission Makes 3 New CETA Slots

Three additional CETA slots have been created in Iosco County under $23,274 in reallocated Title VI funds, according to a report Wednesday to the county board of commissioners by Nancy Wade, CETA administrator.

The commission approved a position for Tawas Area Community Education requested by Gene Gerber, a maintenance position at Lumbermen's Monument requested by the Tawas Ranger District and a custodian requested by Iosco-Ogemaw Mental Health.

A fourth job slot has been made available since Reno Township discontinued one position. This position is to remain open with the possibility that it could be filled with a custodian at Iosco Medical Care Facility.

Roy Bergstrom, director of the facility, appeared before the commission and stated that the custodian position had been deleted from the budget in order to save money. The director was asked to supply a copy of the budget showing there was no provision for a custodian, due to the fact that the county would have to return the money if local funds were available.

Establishment of a law clerk position under CETA requested by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller was discussed. The CETA director said the position could not be filled under CETA as the applicant was ineligible.

In other business last Wednesday, the commission continued discussion on the F-41 road construction project from Oscoda to Wurtsmith Air Force Base. This 1.3-million-dollar project would widen the route to four lanes and construct a new bridge over the Au-Sable River.

The road commission had requested $68,000 in federal revenue sharing money as the county's portion, or about five percent of the total project. Commissioners appeared to be favorable to the allocation, although it was pointed out a study should be made of the availability of funds for constructing the proposed addition to the county building.

BAGGING his first buck last week was LeRoy VanAuken, 14, a student at Whittemore-PreScott Area School. He shot this nice four-point buck Wednesday on his grandfather's property on Townline Road. He took his hunter safety training at school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard VanAuken of 6255 M-55, Reno Township. —Tawas Herald Photo.

Commission Wants Meeting on Reimbursement Program

Iosco County Board of Commissioners is to hold a meeting with Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller and the State Office of Central Registry concerning a new program authorized by the county.

During discussion on a cooperative reimbursement program with the state, which received approval of the county commission, it was reported by Edward Seifert Jr., friend of the court, that Judge Miller would not honor any order which will increase returns to the county general fund.

The friend of the court said that activities of his department toward collecting support payments from ADC parents was taking place only after other work had been completed, on order of the judge.

Recently, Judge Miller leveled a verbal barrage at the county commission for not increasing his salary and that of the district court judge and prosecuting attorney. He expressed the opinion that incentive money collected by the friend of the court should have gone to paying salaries rather than to be placed in the general fund. At the same time, Judge Miller was highly critical of the county commission for its not approving a new contract with the state in a cooperative reimbursement program for collecting support money. During discussion, Chairman Carlton Merschel pointed out that a previous board of commissioners had approved the cooperative reimbursement program in 1974 and asked why nothing had been done at that time to implement the program.

Seifert said that state funds had been depleted at the time and, when the application was later submitted, the prosecuting attorney's office would not participate.

Discussion was also held by the commission on placing the friend of the court on a salary rather than paying for his services on a per diem basis.

YACC Program Starts Next Month

The United States Forest Service announced today that the Young Adult Conservation Corps (YACC) Program will begin in the Tawas District in early December. The primary purpose of the program is to provide full time employment to young men and women in Iosco County who would not otherwise be productively employed. The program will concentrate on a variety of conservation projects and aid in completing current ongoing projects of a public nature.

Calvin Norton, district ranger, stated that this program is being conducted in cooperation with the Department of Labor under Title VIII of the CETA Act. A minimum of 16 positions in the district are planned and will extend through September 1978. Applicants must be between 16 and 23 years of age, be in good physical health and have an interest in out of doors work. Applications for the YACC positions will be accepted only at the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESCC) office, 362-6226, in Tawas City until Friday, December 2. Interviews with the forest service will be conducted after that date and selections made for the positions.

Aside from the obvious benefits to the natural resources the young men and women in this program will produce certain other personal gains which can be expected. Norton continued, the 12-month tour will, with satisfactory performance, provide the employee an opportunity to develop a good job reference in the local area, improve working habits and additional personal funds to continue education, if desired. For further information, contact the Tawas Ranger District, East Tawas.

State Scraps Plans for New Highway Work; Includes US-23

Scrapping plans for three new major north-south highways in Northern Lower Michigan, including US-23 through Iosco County, was announced last Wednesday by John P. Woodford, director of the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Once known for its aggressive roadbuilding plans, Michigan has shifted its priorities from building new roadways to keeping its present ones in good running order.

The trunkline plan adopted alters and updates a blueprint for highway development that the commission approved three years ago.

The improvements in Northern Michigan would have paralleled existing alignments for US-31 from Ludington north to Mackinac City, US-131 from Cadillac to Petoskey and US-23 from Standish to Alpena.

Proponents of the three projects, including Tawas Chamber of Commerce, said the new highways would have boosted tourist dollars to resort areas of the state by allowing easy access to them. However, opponents warned of congestion and environmental damage, said the highway department.

Woodford said that the changes do not mean that construction plans have been scrapped altogether.

"What it means is that the decisions on location and type of highway will await detailed studies still to be completed, studies that will take into account social, economic and environmental impacts," he said.

Other highway department officials have denied that the revised plan represents a turnaround in state policy, but only a more practical approach.

"This is a plan that more realistically addresses both our capacity to finish certain improvements and is an indication that we are not going to prejudice results of certain studies we are going to conduct," said Charles Carroll, assistant deputy director of the department's Bureau of Transportation Planning.

He said the state is not going out of the road-building business, that it does not have the appearance of a pullback, but it does represent a more conservative approach.

Other changes in the proposal include eliminating the Northwestern Highway project in Oakland County and an east-west freeway running through Southern Michigan south of Interstate 94. The commission earlier canceled the extension of M-275 from I-96 north to I-75 near Clarkston.

Council Had Report on Industrial Dist.

Topics at Monday night's meeting of the Tawas City Council included a discussion on adoption of a plant rehabilitation and industrial development district under state law.

Kenneth Myles, city attorney, reported to the council that the 12-year tax exemption period is mandatory under the law and could only be altered if the city passed a resolution requesting the state tax commission to revoke the industrial facilities exemption certificate.

Myles said that a certificate of exemption from the council would require:

1. Start of the restoration, replacement or construction of an industrial facility not earlier than 12 months before filing the application for the industrial facilities exemption certificate.
2. The application relates to a construction, restoration or replacement program which, when completed, constitutes a new or replacement facility.

3. Completion of the facility is calculated to create employment, retain employment, or prevent loss of employment in the community.

4. Completion of the proposed facility shall not result in the transfer of employment from one local governmental unit of the state to the local governmental unit in which the facility is to be located.

5. Completion of the facility does not constitute merely the addition of machinery and equipment for the purpose of increasing productive capacity, but rather is primarily for the purpose and will primarily have the effect of restoration, replacement or updating the technology of obsolete industrial property.

Unknown Hunter Fired Rifle at Car

An unknown hunter shot a VW car on the second day of the deer hunting season, but officers have been unable to locate the sandy-haired man who fired the shot—they would like to arrest him on a charge of felonious assault with a deadly weapon.

Walter J. Lamoria and his wife were driving on 820 Towerline Road, one-quarter mile west of McArdle Road, when they heard a thud in the car and a rifle discharge. Mrs. Lamoria turned to see a man run into the woods. He was described as being five feet, nine-inches in height, and was wearing a gray shirt and dark pants.

A bullet hole in the right front fender of the Lamoria vehicle came from the direction of the man seen by Mrs. Lamoria. Part of the bullet was found in the trunk of the vehicle.

AuGres Man Arrested on Larceny Charge

James D. Streeter, AuGres, was arrested early Thursday morning by Iosco County Sheriff's Department and Michigan State Police officers from Bay City and charged with larceny.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Lunquist of the sheriff's department received an alert from the state police to watch for a dark colored van towing a boat and trailer. The boat and trailer had been stolen at Greenbush.

At 3:45 a. m., the officer observed the vehicle southbound on US-23 near the United States Gypsum quarry, Alabaster Township. He followed the car into Arenac County until joined by the state police car to make the arrest.

Tawas Braves Honored at Annual Football Banquet

Honored Friday night at Tawas Area High School's annual football banquet were members of the Tawas Area Braves, coaches and cheerleaders. Attending the affair held at the high school commons were parents, members of the Braves Booster Club and fans.

Trophies won by the team and individuals were on display, including the championship trophy received by the Braves for winning the Northeastern Michigan Conference. This trophy had been presented at a dinner two weeks ago held at Gladwin.

Tawas had a season record of seven wins and two losses and was undefeated in five conference games.

Master of ceremonies for the program was James Papefus, school athletic director. The Rev. Fr. Lawrence Boks of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church delivered the invocation and benediction.

Jerry Gracik, senior halfback, received the most valuable player award, as well as the Douglas A. Evans memorial and with Shawn Hunt was named team captain for 1977.

Other awards went to Jerry Lauwers, most improved player; Larry Hughes, gas can award; Mark Barry, R. E. Mick scholastic award, maintaining a 3.8 grade point average, highest in the history of the award.

Donald Mooney, representing businessmen of the area, presented a picture plaque to each member of the team. All conference players introduced included Bill King and Hughes, defense; Andy Mayer, Gracik and Hunt, offensive. Receiving honorable mention were Gary Birkenbach, Bill Gracik, Lauwers and Brian Norton.

John Sheehan and Dan Barry were managers. Special recognition went to Mayer and Jerry Gracik for winning Golden Helmet awards during the year. The WIOS award was presented to the Braves by Louis Pfeiffer.

Special recognition went to Norma King, Leslie Lauwers, Mary Dunham, Carol Perkins and Millie Bloomer for their efforts with the banquet.

Thirteen students have been placed in Tawas Area School's cooperative education program thus far this term and Raymond VanHorn, director, expects that total will increase in a few weeks.

This cooperative program between the high school, students, employers and parents is designed to provide high school credit to the student as well as to receive on-the-job training. The program also provides employers with the opportunity to evaluate students as prospective employees.

VanHorn said that placements thus far included one each at a bank, fast food service, insurance office, retail sales, dental clinic receptionist, teller at a credit union, retail bookkeeper, bookkeeper in an industry, a retail employee at Whittemore and two employees at a radio station.

This training is part of the school's vocational program. To be eligible, a student must be 16 years of age and in the junior or senior year.

Holiday Trees Make Good Eating

Cookie trees make a delightful holiday centerpiece and are easy to construct. This pair of green frosted sugar cookie trees provides the background for purchased straw angels. Artificial snow adds a wintery atmosphere.

COOKIE TREE CENTERPIECE

- Materials Needed for Two Trees:
- 1 roll refrigerated sugar slice and bake cookies
  - 4-inch, 3-inch and 2-inch star shaped cookie cutters or patterns cut from paper
  - Butter cream frosting, tinted green (about 1 cup)
  - "Red hots" or other decorator candies
  - 2 round styrofoam bases, each 1-1/2 inch thick and 4-inches in diameter
  - 2/3 yard 1-inch satin ribbon (to trim base)
  - 2 8-inch bamboo skewers (from a craft shop)
  - 3 packages Life Savers® candies
  - 2 large gumdrops for top stars

TO MAKE THE TREES:

1. Soften cookie dough at room temperature. (For easiest handling, roll out half the dough at a time.) On lightly floured surface or between wax paper, roll dough 1/4-inch thick. For each tree cut out three 4-inch stars, three 3-inch stars and two 2-inch stars. (If dough becomes too soft to handle, refrigerate for a few minutes.) Place stars on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 8 to 10 minutes, until light golden brown around edges. (Do not over-bake.) Cool completely on rack.
2. Frost stars with green frosting and decorate with "red hots." (For added stability, or if humidity is high, cookies can be glued to cardboard.)
3. Roll out each gumdrop about 1/4-inch thick. Cut one small star from each gumdrop.
4. Carefully make a small hole in center of each star cookie with toothpick.
5. Pin ribbon around edge of each styrofoam base. Insert skewer in center of base for "trunk" of tree.
6. Assemble tree by alternating each star with two Life Savers® on bamboo skewer, starting with 4-inch star. Top tree with gumdrop star.

NEWS Of Girl Scouts

WORLDS TO EXPLORE

MORE THAN two million girls ages 6 through 11 belong to the Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts.

The first major program changes in Girl Scouting since 1963, for girls ages 6 through 11, are encompassed in "Worlds to Explore," a new combined handbook for Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts.

"Worlds to Explore" was published by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. with an initial printing of one and a half million copies. While it contains activities for today's and tomorrow's world, it also retains much that is familiar and traditional in Girl Scouting. The chief innovations within the handbook's 400 profusely illustrated pages, are projects for youngsters in the fields of science and technology, and the treatment of a career, as well as the home, as a natural part of a woman's life.

The new combined handbook has six sections: an introduction to Girl Scouting, and five "Worlds to Explore"—World of Well-Being, World of People, World of Today and Tomorrow, World of the Arts and World of the Out-of-Doors. Each illustrated chapter, including many pieces of how-to art, offers a broad range of activities. Unlike with the previous separate handbooks, girls can choose projects according to interests and abilities rather than age level.

The World of the Out-of-Doors section expands on the traditional Girl Scouting involvement with camping, nature, and conservation. There is greater emphasis on ecology and understanding of the environment—the living space that surrounds one—whether it's on a farm.

in an urban apartment, a suburban house or mobile home.

In the World of Today and Tomorrow chapter, the youngsters are introduced to carpentry, to simple scientific experiments, and insights into what the future can hold for them as working women. World of the Arts includes activities in the whole range of arts, visual, performing and literary.

Activities in the World of Well-Being chapter highlight health, nutrition, the home, safety, and consumer awareness among other topics. In the World of People section, projects are geared to developing appreciation of differing cultures and building pride in one's heritage.

Incorporated throughout the new handbook's five worlds are certain basics that have made Girl Scouting unique and that have stood the test of time, such as the principles embodied in the Promise and Law, the concept of service and international friendship.

FREE MATERIALS ON SAVING ENERGY

There's good news for homeowners concerned about rising utility bills and future fuel shortages.

Annual energy consumption in U.S. homes can be reduced by 40 percent without a noticeable effect on life-style, according to an estimate published by the National Association of Realtors.

Here are some of the ways to do it, from the association's experts:

- Install at least six inches of effective ceiling insulation in attic floors. (This measure can cut heating bills by as much as 25 percent, Realtors say.)

- Substitute fluorescent lights for incandescent lighting wherever possible to save as much as 75 percent of power consumed for lighting purposes.

- Use drapes and blinds as insulating tools. Close them at night to reduce heat loss through windows by 30 percent, and leave open in daytime to admit natural light and heat from the sun. In summer, close drapes and blinds to reduce heat gain through windows by 50 percent.

These tips are from materials the association offers free as part of its nationwide energy conservation

FREE BOOKLETS on energy-saving tips for homeowners.

The association points out that more and more Americans are interested in finding ways to save energy. Statistics show that about 2 million homeowners during the first half of 1977 were installing or upgrading insulation in their homes, compared with an average rate for the past three years of 2.7 million homeowners over the entire year.

Essential Insurance Short of Demand

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

Many consumers are shocked when their insurance company refuses to renew their policy or cancels the insurance on their home or automobile, but they should not automatically brand themselves as uninsurable. Not only do some insurance companies specialize in high-risk auto policies, the state also sponsors two special programs for consumers who have been denied home or auto insurance by private companies.

Auto and home insurance are often referred to as essential because consumers usually do not have the option of going without them. While state law requires auto- mobile insurance, many mort- gage lenders refuse to grant mort- gages unless the home and title are insured.

The supply of essential insur- ance, however, often falls short of the demand because insurance companies sometimes refuse to ac- cept an applicant due to high risk factors. For example, an 18-year- old person with a new sports car and a bad driving record might have a difficult time finding auto insurance.

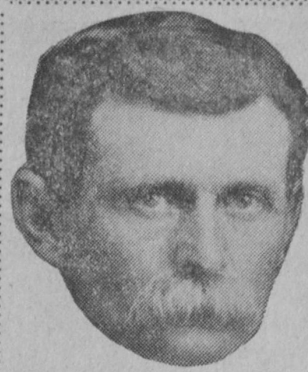

Although some automobile insur- ance companies advertise for high-risk customers, a person should expect to pay more through a high- risk specialist than through a regu- lar insurance company.

The state has established two programs to provide auto and homeowners insurance for those who have been denied insurance elsewhere.

The Michigan Automobile Place- ment Facility will provide auto in- surance to all licensed drivers. Anyone who needs auto insurance can apply to the facility through an insurance agent. The consumer is then assigned to an insurance com- pany which will issue a policy for three years. The company then re- views the policy to see if lower- risk rates will apply.

The Michigan Basic Property In- surance Association is also known as the FAIR (Fair Access to Insur- ance Requirements) Plan. It makes homeowners insurance available to those who cannot buy it from a private company. Unlike the auto facility, which redistrib- utes applicants to private com- panies, the FAIR Plan is a sep- arate company. It inspects prop- erty, issues policies and settles claims. The plan provides the standard Michigan fire insurance, along with vandalism and other ex- tended coverage. An applicant can (See INSURANCE, page 4.)

PIONEER

OIL DISTRIBUTOR

One of the "new" businesses of the twentieth century in Iosco County and throughout the country was that of the oil company agent or distributor. Long before the automobile became popular, kerosene and lubricants were being distributed door-to-door in rural areas.

Development of products utiliz- ing crude petroleum first discov- ered in Pennsylvania during the middle of the nineteenth century was a lengthy process. The Indians had used the black stuff found ooz- ing out of the ground in their primitive medicinal preparations and the white man's first use of the liquid was in patent nostrums bot- tled for public consumption by quack doctors.

When fractional distilling or "cracking" was developed, the greenish black crude oil yielded such new products as paraffin, kerosene, benzene, naphtha, fuel oil, gasoline and many other useful materials.

It was not long before huge cor- porations were fighting to gain a monopoly in this lucrative field and it was then that a network of dis- tributors was organized across the country. Many organizations rose to prominence before being gob- bled up in the cut-throat competi- tion and one of the strongest firms emerging from that hectic era was the Standard Oil Company. Follow- ing years of unrest, the oil business became "respectable" around the turn of the century.

The pioneer dealer in petroleum products in Iosco County was Robert McElheron of East Tawas, who became agent on June 30, 1903, for the Standard Oil Company (Indi- ana) and served until May 1925.

McElheron's son, Earl, took over the business that year and operat- ed it until March 1959, before his retirement removed the name of McElheron, which had emblazoned Standard Oil tank wagons and trucks here for 56 continuous years.

On his retirement in 1925, Robert recalled that when he accepted his position, the only equipment neces- sary to service the territory sur- rounding East Tawas was a team of horses and a tank wagon. At that time, kerosene was practically the only petroleum product mar- keted in any quantity.

There were no gasoline stations as the automobile was still only an experimental toy, but kerosene was used in kitchen stoves for cooking, small space heaters and for starting fires in coal stoves. Kerosene was dispensed at local grocery and hardware stores, a practice which continued long after the days of the first gasoline serv- ice stations.

"In those days, delivery of gas- oiline, kerosene and lubricants was made by means of horse-drawn tank wagons and I used to ride on the wagon with my father," re- called Earl, when he retired in 19- 59.

"Shipments of gasoline and kero- sene would come into our bulk plant in East Tawas by railroad tank car and would be emptied by means of a horse-powered pump. We used this system of unloading until the gasoline engines finally came in, which were replaced in later years by electric motors."

Transporting bulk petroleum products has progressed a great deal since 1903, when the McElher- ons emptied the tank wagon by means of buckets. There were no rubber hoses to transfer gasoline or kerosene from one tank to another and it was all moved by hand.

In 1917, the senior McElheron purchased a new Republic truck and Earl stayed on with his father, who felt he was too old to learn to drive a motor vehicle.

By that time, a rapid transition was taking place in the oil business: New products were coming on the market; the motor car was coming into its own and created a rapidly expanding market for pe- troleum products; new methods of transporting bulk products were being developed. (In 1977, Mich- igan is attempting to cope with a problem created by the growth of the oil industry—the danger of dou- ble bottom tankers on the state highways.)

CLIMBING down from his truck for the last time in 1959, Earl McElheron is shown on the day of his retirement. Now 80 years of age, the former city councilman is still a resident of East Tawas.—Tawas Herald Photo.

By the time of the senior McEl- heron's retirement in 1925, the automobile had become the most im- portant means of transportation in the country and the sale and dis- tribution of gasoline occupied much of his time. McElheron, who was 73 years of age, died July 18, 1926, at East Tawas. He had been a re- sident of the community for 53 years.

When Earl took over in 1925, an- other phase of the business was starting—use of fuel oil in home heating. Prior to this, the oil busi- ness slacked off in the winter time as motorists usually put their au- tomobiles up on blocks until spring. With the arrival of fuel oil, deliv- eries of this product during the fall and winter months practically out- stripped the summer gasoline business.

In order for the automobile to de- velop early in this century, along with service stations and other businesses allied with this new form of transportation, improve- ment to roads and highways was a necessity. An amazing network of roads has been under construction and maintenance since then, an- other giant industry which has de- veloped during the age of gasoline.

When he retired in 1959, Earl wondered how many local resi- dents could recall the old "rut roads" of the early days of the mo- tor car.

"I can remember when I had to walk ahead of the truck in the (See McELHERON, page 4.)

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Last week, I was informed that Old State Road was open and ready for me to travel upon with my school bus. I have a student pick-up off Old State Road three quarters of a mile up National City Road which is merely a glorified trail. When I reach the home of this student, I must make a turn around and come back out the same way. The turn around was a narrow pie-shaped trail with a tree right in the center of it which made this turn around a sight to behold; in the winter months it would be almost impossible.

After picking up the student Monday morning, I called the Iosco County Road Commission and reported the situation to them.

When I returned to this stop Monday afternoon, I found my turn around completely cleared of all obstacles and large enough to safely turn my bus around with no effort at all.

I think the county road commission should be commended on the fast action they took where our school children are concerned, and also our costly school buses.

IN AN EMOTIONALLY-CHARGED scene from "Shiokari Pass," Nabuo tries in desperation to operate a broken emergency brake on a runaway passenger railroad car. This film will be shown at Tawas United Methodist Church Sunday, November 27, 7:00 p. m.

Japanese Film Set for Showing Nov. 27

"Shiokari Pass," a new film from the producers of "The Hiding Place," will be shown at Tawas United Methodist Church, 20 East M-55, Tawas City, on Sunday, November 27. The one hour color release from World Wide Pictures will be shown once beginning at 7:00 p. m.

Although it has an English soundtrack, it was originally produced for showing to Japanese audiences. It was filmed entirely in Japan with a Japanese cast and crew and depicts the delicate beauty of that country.

A true story, "Shiokari Pass" is based on the international best seller by Ayako Miura. Nearly two million readers have been touched by this story of the abiding love of a young couple at the turn of the century.

Credited with creating a deeper understanding of the Christian faith among the Japanese people, the film tells of the love of Nabuo for Fujiko and of his willingness to be guided by his personal faith, no matter how great the cost of commitment.

From its gentle opening to its gripping, unexpected conclusion, the film is a profound demonstration of the power of love in one life.

The Rev. Kenneth Tousey, pastor of Tawas United Methodist Church, extends an invitation to each member of the community to attend this special showing and added, "It is the kind of film that will be enjoyed and remembered by the entire family."

There will be no admission charge for the film program.

TODAY'S Meditation
from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Psalm 92:1-4)

"Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving." (Psalm 95:2)

One morning, I sat by the window typing letters to relatives and friends. Suddenly, I became aware of a strange feeling—one I could not remember having before. Because of a deformed hip and resulting physical problems all of my life, I was never without pain somewhere in my body.

I glanced out at the murky day and wondered what had happened. Instinctively, I exclaimed, "I feel fine! I can't believe it—I don't hurt at all!" But it was true and I realized God had created a miracle. In awe and gratefulness, I thanked God for the wonderful thing he had done.

As I resumed my letter writing, I related what had just occurred and how I had thanked God for the moment of respite from pain. It was a brief respite, for soon arthritic pains began once more; but I kept on typing and thanking God for one short instant. It has not been repeated, but like the psalmist and the Apostle Paul, I praise God in spite of adversities.

Each of us should be thankful for everything—large or small—that God has given to us.

PRAYER

Dear Father, for each blessing You send, small or large, we are grateful. We thank You in Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Praise God for everything.—Ethel Bretches (Independence, Kansas)

TURKEY: BEFORE AND AFTER

Before: Carving the Bird
 Even first-timers can carve the holiday turkey quite simply. Tools of the trade call for a sharp knife with a curved blade about eight or nine inches long, a matching fork and a steel.

But before carving even begins, one should be thoroughly acquainted with the bone and muscle structure of the bird. A careful examination before roasting will help to know the structure.

Plan the roasting time so the turkey can stand 20 to 30 minutes before carving. Remove the skin from the carcass. Remove wings and legs from the body of the turkey. Separate thigh and drumstick. Cut off slices of dark meat from the large muscle. Separate the breast from the back. Set the breast on a flat surface and loosen the breast muscle by slipping the knife between bone and meat. The white meat can then be eased and lifted away from each side in a whole piece.

Place the breast muscle on a carving surface and slice the white meat, holding the knife at a 45-degree angle and be sure to carve enough for seconds!

After: Good to the Very Last Soup
 Looking for ways to save money on holiday meals? Then buy a turkey big enough for several meals. The larger the turkey, the less the cost per serving. A family of four can have five or six meals from a 12 1/2 pound turkey.

Think the family will get tired of eating turkey? No problem. Simply separate the meat from the bones. Place meal-sized portions of sliced or diced turkey in moisture vapor-proof packages and freeze. These will keep for a month. If the cooked turkey is covered with a broth or gravy, it will keep well for six months in a freezer.

Freeze several packages of three cups diced turkey. Each package will be enough for a meal such as turkey tetrazzini, turkey casserole, etc. Try making "turkey supreme" by layering cooked noodles, broccoli and turkey, cover with a can of cream of mushroom soup; heat.

For turkey club sandwiches, place sliced turkey, lettuce, tomato and mayonnaise on toast. For a different treat, make a turkey pinwheel by mixing finely chopped turkey with chopped celery and onions. Spread evenly over biscuit dough rolled like a jelly roll. Cut into slices and bake for 20 minutes in a 450-degree Fahrenheit oven.

Give turkey salad a little something extra by adding grapes, pineapple chunks and apple wedges. Blend with salad dressing. Serve on lettuce and top with almonds.

Change from pilgrim to oriental by making sweet and sour turkey or turkey chop suey. Turkey a la king, turkey pie and turkey souffle will add some variety.

To make turkey turnovers, mix chopped onions, chopped parsley, chopped turkey and cream of chicken soup. Pour onto uncooked pastries, cut into circles. Then fold the pastries in half and bake at 425 degrees Fahrenheit for 40 minutes.

The last of the roast turkey makes excellent soup. Use turkey bones and meat to make a broth; add rice or noodles.

spring of the year in order to pick out the right rut in which to drive so the truck would not become stuck in the mud. Many times, a farmer would lend assistance with a team of horses over a particularly bad spot."

Still a resident of East Tawas, McElheron has witnessed an amazing transition in the industry. America has used its underground petroleum reserves at such a rapid pace that the nation faces an energy crunch and depends greatly on imported crude oil.

This development has seen the emergence of new political power in the Middle East, while politicians at home are in a quandary over conservation of this country's remaining oil reserves. In 1977, rationing and increased tax on gasoline have been mentioned as two different means of reducing consumption.

That is a far cry from the early days of the century when scientists and engineers were applauded for finding new uses for that useful, black oily substance which the Indians first used in their medicine. Use of petroleum has nearly made a full circle and man is searching for new forms of energy. The fate of mankind rests on those discoveries.

Exciting, Stimulating Reading Program Essential for Schools

"We have an exciting, stimulating reading program in kindergarten—it must be so, for a five-year-old can become bored if he is not highly motivated."

This was the word last week from Cathy Grienke, kindergarten teacher at the Tawas City Elementary Unit. Her thoughts were reinforced by three other elementary teachers, who reported to Tawas Area Board of Education concerning the school's reading program.

Herman Rollin, principal at the school, said that reviewing the three basic responsibilities of a parent, one will notice the initial letters in the key words form the acronym VIP.

"The first responsibility is for parents to help their child VALUE books and reading; second, parents should show INTEREST in the child's reading; finally, parents should PROVIDE basic necessities that are needed for achievement in reading. You are a VIP—a very important person—let us cooperate together to help your child learn to enjoy reading."

Text books used at Tawas Area School are among the best on the market. The Houghton Mifflin reading series is strong in vocabulary and comprehension. Children must use the skills taught them in order to read the book. A workbook also comes with this series and is used to practice reading skills.

"The Dick and Jane type of reading books are long gone," said Rollin. "If one was to compare the vocabulary in the Dick and Jane to Houghton Mifflin, he would be amazed at the progress that has been made over the years."

Mrs. Grienke said that "Getting a Head Start" series used in kindergarten develops a willingness to talk freely with others, extends speaking and listening vocabularies, gains skills in pronouncing and using common words correctly, uses groups of words to form simple sentences, builds on concepts children need but yet do not have and corrects, clarifies and broadens concepts children have but are limited in scope.

This series covers colors, numbers, matching and classification, left and right, shapes, story sequence, days of the week, socialization.

The "Getting Ready to Read" series in kindergarten helps the child to distinguish letter forms, associates each letter with its particular sound, combines the letter-sound concept with pictures beginning with a designated sound. The child also learns to decode printed words and letter-sound associations from spoken context, plus letter-sound association.

A third series used in kindergarten, "Alpha Time," provides visual and auditory discrimination of letters, colors, shapes and sounds. Other concepts include comprehension skills on an oral level by use of storybooks, flat pictures, records, filmstrips, picture books; development of vocabulary through songs, creative dramatics, story telling, conversations and dramatizations; listening and following directions; social living; music and rhythms.

Betty Cross, first grade teacher, said the average child coming into first grade at Tawas knows his letter names and the consonant sounds. When this knowledge has been reviewed and well established, he is ready to proceed with first grade readiness activities.

Five different books are used in first grade. Children learn letter identification, print the letters, review each consonant letter sound, isolate the beginning and ending sounds of words. They learn the basic eight words, blend consonant sounds to make words, use decoding skills to name new words, use short and long vowel sounds, develop skills in phonics through use of workbooks.

Mrs. Cross said that classes are divided into like-ability groups. Not all children complete the five-book series. Progress is based on individual accomplishments of the child.

William Deckett, second grade teacher, presented textbooks and materials used in that grade, along with listening skills, tape recordings and extra reading material.

Deckett said that the basic reading goals were to develop independence in reading, vocabulary, fluency, expression and comprehension and to apply reading skills to current events, creative writing, spelling and science.

Debbie Paulter, sixth grade teacher, said that five textbooks are used ranging from a third grade level to a seventh grade plus level. All students receive a weekly reading assignment sheet of the week's work.

Sixth graders participate in a weekly story with 10 comprehension questions, plus 10 story vocabulary words to be defined from the glossary. Corresponding workbook pages are also assigned. Students meet with the teacher for discussion of the story, vocabulary and skills lesson once a week, plus oral reading about every two weeks.

Activities for sixth graders include letter writing, newspaper reporting, prose and poetry, technical writing, recognizing and understanding similes, metaphors and paragraph topics, punctuation.

A report was given by Robert H. Crawford on reading tests administered to all students the first week of October. The test will be administered again in May for evaluation purposes.

Results of the first test were as follows:

Second grade—120 students, 70 percent at grade level, five percent below, 25 percent above; third grade—92 students, 77 percent at grade level, five percent below, 18 percent above; fourth grade—96 students, 78 percent at grade level, nine percent below, 13 percent above; fifth grade—114 students, 76 percent at grade level, 11 percent below, 13 percent above; sixth grade—112 students, 81 percent at grade level, six percent below and 13 percent above.

"I feel we have made progress in the last four years and can support this with test data," said Rollin. "The teaching staff is working very hard with students and the contact I have had with parents certainly shows that we have many parents who are working well with their children and are interested in their school and teachers."

Rollin said there is a big difference in public schools from one community to another. "Certainly, Tawas Area Elementary School will continue to improve, but I personally feel we are far from the bottom in comparison to some public schools that are depicted on television national news."

Tawas Braves Open Season Nov. 29; Tall Players to Help on Backboards

Coach Paul Becker of the Tawas Area Braves expects his varsity basketball team will show great improvement on the backboards during the upcoming season, but he said "we will just have to wait and see" as the competition again looks tough this season.

Last year, Tawas had a well-balanced scoring attack with four players averaging 10-12 points a game and the fifth a 9.9 average. The Braves lacked the one big scorer but, more importantly, they could not buy a rebound.

It is still too early to tell about the scoring, but Becker expects the Braves to bring in their share of rebounds with two players standing at six-feet, four-inches, and a third at six-feet, three-inches.

"We are young, but we may have some surprises. These kids are enthusiastic and great to work with," said Becker.

The 13-man roster lists four returning letter-winners, but only one starter from last year. Returning for another go in the red and white is Jerry Gracik, the hard-working guard from last year.

Lee Starling, towering six-foot, four-inch center, showed potential last season and won a letter but he was not a starter.

Moving up from the junior varsity will be Jim Dubovsky, six-foot, three-inch forward, and Bill King, five-foot, 10-inch guard.

As it looks right now the fifth starter will be a sophomore transfer from California, Kevin Grace, who is six-feet, four-inches tall, and shows all the potential of an outstanding player.

Any one of the five positions could be a tossup as battling for a starting position will be Brian Norton, another sophomore who will be coming off an excellent football season where he received honorable mention for all-conference.

Another player expected to figure heavily in action will be Keith LaHaye, a letter winner from last season.

Filling out the roster will be Bill

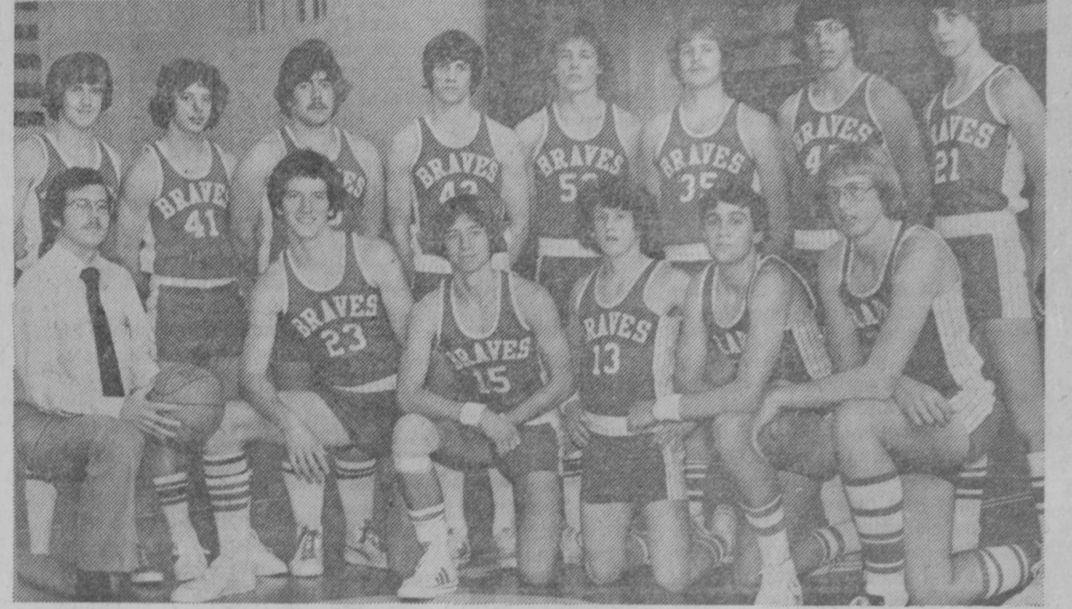

Gracik, Lindsey Bielby, Dennis Libka, Jeff Nichols, Scott Tousley and Kevin Mielock, who was a letter winner last year.

Becker is also high on a couple of more sophomores, Chuck Allen and a new transfer student, Kraig Moffatt, who will remain on the junior varsity to gain experience playing every game, but who may be brought up later in the year.

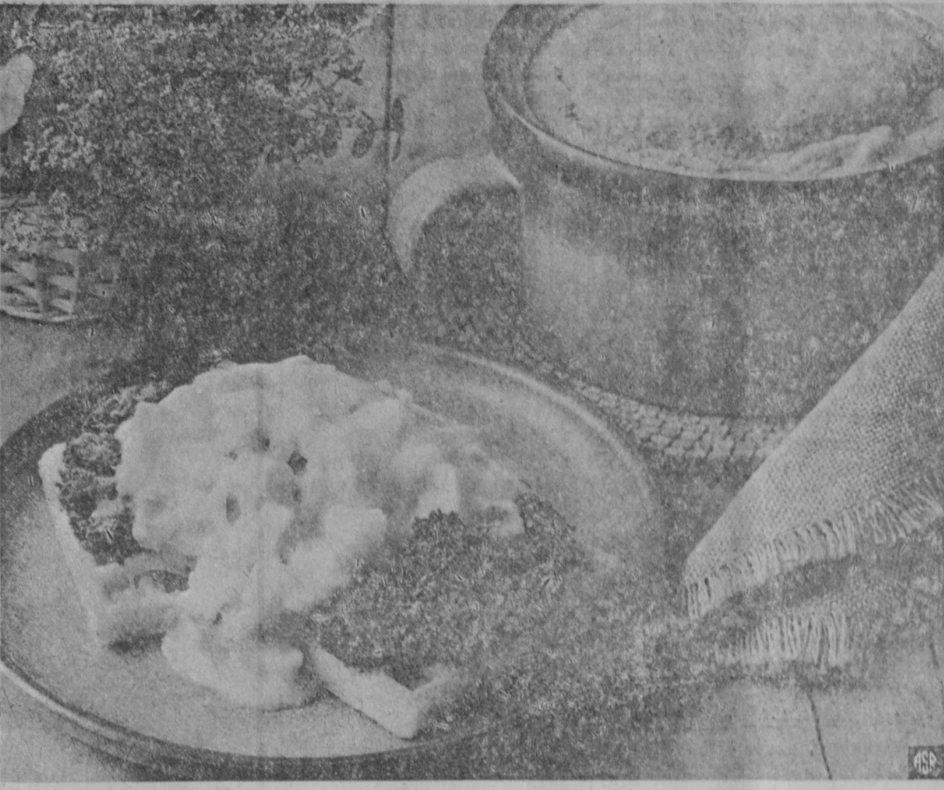

It is expected that Tawas will improve on its seven and 13 record last year, but Becker looks to some tough nights with Carrollton, Bay City All Saints, Essexville Garber, Alpena High and Ogemaw Heights. Besides the regular North-eastern Michigan League teams, Mio and Hemlock have been added to the schedule.

The Braves open the season Tuesday, November 29, at Carrollton and play host Friday, December 2, to the Standish-Sterling Panthers to open the NEM season.

DATE: The day after Thanksgiving.
TIME: Approaching dinnertime.
SETTING: A family heatedly "discussing" the fate of the Thanksgiving leftovers, a familiar drama.

What happens in your house when the turkey has been sliced to the bone and only the pieces remain?

Here are 2 happy new endings for Thanksgiving leftovers. With enough extra turkey you can have Gobbler's Casserole, and Turkey Divan Waffles. Both are deliciously moist main dishes that extend turkey leftovers even further than most might guess.

Delicious corn bread tops off Gobbler's Casserole. Turkey — in the company of frozen mixed vegetables and onion — once again becomes a real treat. Likewise, turkey stars again with convenient frozen waffles (just pop in toaster or oven 'til golden brown and hot). Turkey Divan Waffles combines turkey and cream of chicken soup in a sauce over broccoli and deliciously tender toasted waffle sections. And, the new jumbo size frozen waffles are especially suited to generous servings.

Either one of these recipes is sure to solve the Thanksgiving leftovers debate and save the day — the day after!

TURKEY DIVAN WAFFLES

- 2 cups chopped cooked turkey or chicken
- One 10-3/4-oz. can condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion

- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- One 10-oz. pkg. frozen waffles
- One 10-oz. pkg. frozen broccoli spears, cooked, drained
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese

Combine turkey, soup, milk and onion in medium-sized saucepan.

Cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until heated. Stir in lemon juice; keep warm. Prepare waffles in toaster or oven according to package directions. For each serving, place a few broccoli spears on 2 waffle sections; top with about 3/4 cup turkey mixture and about 1/4 cup cheese. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated hot oven (400°F.) 3 to 4 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings.

GOBBLER'S CASSEROLE

- Filling:
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
  - 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
  - 1-1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
  - 1-1/4 teaspoons salt
  - Dash of cayenne
  - 2-1/2 cups milk
  - 2-1/2 cups chopped cooked turkey or chicken

- One 10-oz. pkg. frozen mixed vegetables or 1-3/4 cups leftover chopped cooked vegetables
- 1 small onion, chopped

For filling, melt butter in 3-qt. saucepan. Blend in flour, poultry seasoning, salt and cayenne. Gradually add milk; cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in turkey, vegetables and onion; heat thoroughly. Pour into 2-qt. casserole.

For topping, combine dry ingredients. Add milk, egg and oil; mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour topping evenly over hot filling. Bake in preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes or until topping is golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Take Stock Of Protection

This is the time of year when many people take stock of their own situation, evaluating the protection they and their families have. And a social security spokesperson suggested today that everyone ought to include social security when the list is drawn up.

There are aspects to social security that people tend to overlook when they think of the protection they have under social security. Most people seem to think that social security is just a retirement program, that it only pays benefits to retired people, she went on. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

A very important part of social security protection is provided to disabled workers and their families and to the survivors of deceased workers. In fact, about 8 1/2 million men, women, and children under age 62 get social security checks every month. About one-third of all the social security benefit dollars go to survivors of deceased workers and disabled workers and their families.

Because of this, the representative continued, social security should play an important part in every family's financial planning for the future. She gave this example of how social security survivor benefits could help a family:

Consider a young worker who dies at age 29, leaving a wife and two young children, ages 4 and 6. Say this worker had median earnings, about $8,800 a year on the average. First, the widow would receive a one-time death payment of $255. The widow and children would receive a monthly benefit totaling about $830 a month, $9,960 a year. Assuming all family members remained eligible, they would receive about $139,000 by the time the youngest child reached 18. And the children could continue receiving benefits until age 22 if they remained unmarried and were full-time students.

These figures are based on benefit rates in effect in 1977 and it is very likely that in years to come the totals will be much higher, since social security benefits are automatically increased each year to take account of changes in the cost of living.

Or, suppose that instead of being killed, this father was disabled within the meaning of the law. The family would also get about $830 a month, which would continue as long as the father's disability kept him from working, the spokesperson added.

And, of course, benefits are payable under similar conditions when a working mother dies or becomes disabled.

Anyone can get free leaflets describing social security survivor and disability protection at any social security office. The address and telephone number can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

If you're working while you get social security checks, be sure to notify a social security office if your earnings go higher than you expected.
