

Lansky, Keiser, Ezo Win Council Seats

In Tuesday's odd year general election, Tawas City voters elected the three candidates who were top vote getters in the August 30 primary election.

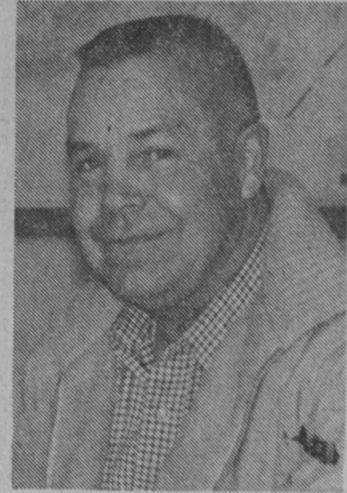

Returned to four-year terms were James J. Lansky and William Ezo. Elected to fill the seat of William L. Groff when his term expires December 31 will be Hugo J. Keiser.

Lansky was the top vote getter among candidates for the council with 233 votes, winning in all three precincts. Keiser and Ezo ran neck-and-neck with 166 and 162 votes, respectively, but a fourth candidate lacked only four votes from pulling off an upset.

That fourth candidate was Arlene J. Dillon, who received 158 votes. Keiser won in the First and Third Precincts, Ezo won in the First and Second Precincts, while Mrs. Dillon won in the Second and Third Precincts.

Filling out the six-person slate for three council seats were Lyle E. Healey, who had 91 votes, and Jerry J. Snoblen, with 83 votes, and Herbert W. Cholger, unopposed.

for re-election to his second term as mayor, received 241 votes. A total of 339 voters went to the polls out of 1,035 persons registered. This represents a turnout of 32.75 percent of the total number of registered voters in the city.

MAYOR Herbert Cholger was re-elected without opposition.

TC Seeks River Mouth Finances

Efforts are now being made to make application for state and federal funds to aid in the development of the east side of the mouth of the Tawas River, recently purchased by the City of Tawas.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz reported to the city council Monday night that he had made an appointment to meet with Michigan Department of Natural Resources personnel at Lansing later in the month to discuss utilization of submerged lands as well as a discussion on possible financial help for a harbor project.

Bublitz said he had contacted the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission concerning its participation and had received application from the United States Army Corps of Engineers for a 10-year dredging permit at the river mouth.

The city manager reported that final payment of $27,000 owed to the Lubaway family on the original $35,000 purchase price for the property had been made. The balance included $15,000 from federal revenue funds provided by the county board of commissioners and $12,000 in revenue sharing funds from the city.

On recommendation of Councilman James Lansky, owners of old commercial fishing boats stored on the former Lubaway property at the river mouth are being notified to remove the boats or the city will take action before spring.

Martin O'Driscoll, who had served as chairman of the river mouth harbor committee, submitted his resignation due to ill health. A letter of appreciation for his service to the city is to be sent to him by the council.

TC Council Approves Boost in Pay for Garbage Contractor

A $4,680 increase in the contract with Hager Sanitation Company for picking up garbage in Tawas City was authorized Monday night by the city council.

This action followed discussion at two meetings concerning the matter. The contractor said he could not perform the work for less than $16,920 annually, which the council authorized Monday night.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that $15,700 had been budgeted for the service and federal anti-recessionary money could be used to finance the additional $1,220.

James A. Hager, owner of Hager Sanitation, which took over the contract last year when Houghton Sanitation went out of business, told the council his business could not survive on the old rate due to inflation. He felt the new rate was more realistic and believed future contracts should have provisions for a cost of living increase.

At its first meeting in January, the council is to start discussion on establishing rules for picking up garbage and refuse. The contractor complained that about 12 commercial pickups required green boxes due to the large amount of refuse.

It was pointed out by the council that the commercial pickup originated on a trial basis several years ago and the opinion was expressed that, if the city is to continue this service, users would have to comply with rules. It was also stated that the council was in no position to discontinue the commercial service at the present time, due to the fact that the tax rate had been established for the year.

Among discussion points in January will be a limit on the amount of garbage and refuse to be picked up and with only one pickup a week. During the peak of the tourist season last summer, the contractor made two pickups a week at resorts, but received no additional funds for the extra service.

The contractor felt the problem could be solved by having the resorts utilize green boxes, which would also eliminate the eyesore of having garbage and refuse piled along the street. Cost to the individual owner for a three-yard box is $350.

It was suggested that the matter be discussed by the businessmen's association prior to the council discussion in January.

Garbage Truck Ticketed by Police

Enforcement of a traffic law may result in higher cost of garbage pickups at East Tawas. On the other hand, enforcement of the law may improve traffic safety.

This was the dilemma faced Monday night by the East Tawas Council when it instructed its street committee to investigate the legality of permitting the city sanitation contractor to drive on the "wrong" side of the street to make garbage pickups.

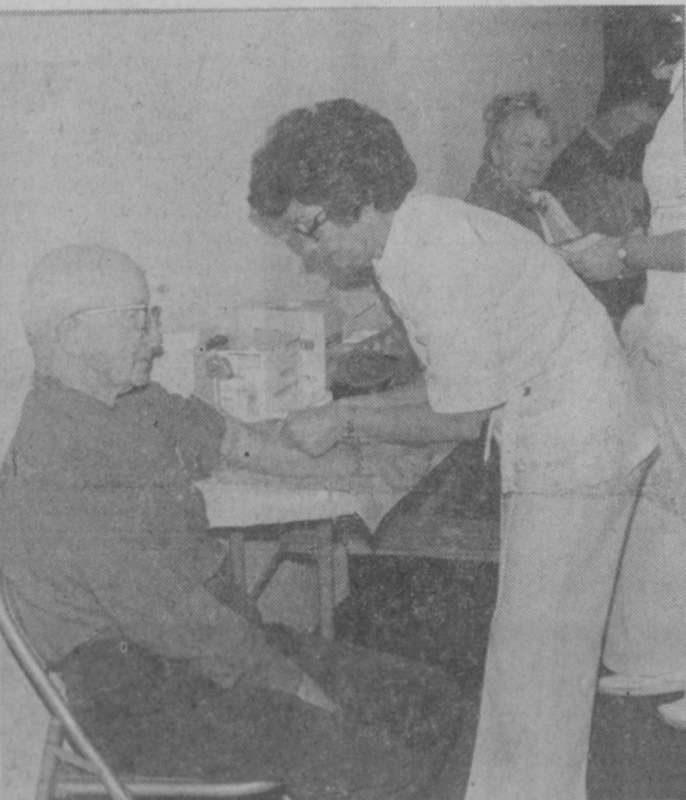

Until last week, Hager Sanitation Company crossed from one side of the street to the other to make garbage pickups. Last week,

City Police Chief Donald Docking ticketed one of the drivers on complaint of a resident.

Docking cited a state law which makes it illegal to drive on the left side of the street against traffic.

According to James Hager, who appeared at Monday night's meeting, unless his trucks are permitted to operate on the "wrong" side of the street, he would have to charge more for his service.

He said additional time would be required to travel down one side of a street and then return from the opposite direction on the same street so as to avoid moving against the traffic.

Diabetes Testing Is Free

DIABETES WEEK is being observed November 6-12 at Tawas Hospital and free diabetes testing started Monday morning and is to continue through Friday. In 1976, 438 area residents were tested for diabetes in the form of a simple blood test. Out of the 438 people tested, 19 new cases of diabetes mellitus were discovered. No appointment is necessary for the test, but interested persons should check last week's issue of this newspaper for instructions. The best way to protect oneself and family is to be tested in this program, sponsored by the hospital in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association. The pictures here were snapped Monday morning as the program opened.—Tawas Herald Photos.

'Appreciates' Commission's Interest, but

Social Welfare Dept. Controls Facility

Iosco County Board of Commissioners is arranging a meeting with the Iosco County Board of Social Services to discuss responsibility for operation and maintenance of the county medical care facility building.

Recently, the commission was approached by a firm which had contacted the social services board concerning a roofing material for use on the medical care facility. The county commission understood that the social services department had referred the agent to the commission for action.

The commission then requested assistance from Francis J. Block, director of county building and safety inspection, who inspected the roof of the medical care facility. The commission checked prices and found it could obtain a similar roof coating material locally and purchased a quantity of it for the medical care facility.

Last week, the commission received a letter from Joan Case, chairman of the Iosco County Board of Social Services, stating the board appreciated "your concern for the operation of our building."

The letter stated, however, that county medical care facilities established by law "are legal entities separate both from the state department of social services and from the county board of supervisors (now commissioners) and are to be considered political subdivisions."

The chairman said the board "appreciated any suggestions in relation to our building, but would like to remind you that it is the responsibility of the social services board to maintain the Iosco Medical Care Facility."

Carlton Merschel, chairman of the county board of commissioners, said a misunderstanding had arisen and his board apparently assumed it was responsible for repairing the roof at the medical care facility.

Earlier this year, the county commission transferred anti-recessionary money into a special account for capital improvements at the medical care facility. Funds which had been expended for operation of the facility.

In addition, Provincial House, Incorporated, proposed earlier this year to operate the county medical care facility, indicating it could do so at a saving of tax money. The firm is presently constructing a nursing facility in Tawas City. Nothing further has been heard on this proposal in recent weeks.

East Tawas Council Approves New Zoning for Multiple Housing District

A proposed zoning change to permit construction of multiple housing was approved Monday night by the East Tawas Council.

The area finally approved by the council is a scaled-down version of the original presentation last month and was further reduced in size Monday night.

The council approved changing the zoning of a five-block area bounded by Emery, Franklin and Westover to Residential C to permit multiple housing. An objection was heard to including an area west of Newman Street and it was removed from the proposal.

In addition, the council approved changing zoning to Commercial A on the southeast side of US-23, 500 feet deep, from Herrick Plumbing to the city limit.

On recommendation of Thomas Merschel, parking meters on Newman Street are to be removed for the winter months and replaced in the spring. Members of the council pointed out that employees and businessmen should not park on Newman Street, but should use the parking lot provided across from Christ Episcopal Church.

On recommendation of Walter Poyet of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, blacktopping and a toilet building have been eliminated from construction plans for the new boat launching ramp facility to be constructed next year. The project in 1978 would construct the ramps, provide approach roads and a gravel parking lot, with blacktop and toilet building to be constructed at a later time.

Poyet said that elimination of the two items was necessary in order to stay within the budget of federal BOR funds.

The city is to ask the county parks and recreation commission for financial assistance with the project.

The council approved sending a letter to Col. Melvin D. Remus, district engineer for the United States Army Corps of Engineers, expressing official city appreciation for the outstanding job of construction on Tawas Harbor. The council commended Capt. Albert J. Kraus and Robert N. Linton, project engineer, along with Roen Salvage Company, contractor, who completed the federal share of the project "without creating even a whisper of a problem in the community."

Discussion continued on possible acquisition of the former county garage for city purposes. The road commission has offered to sell the building to the city, but a title search is now being made of the property and indications are that the building is located on city property and that streets running through the site were never vacated.

An agreement was reached with Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Gollinger for their lease of land at the city park on which is located the Log Cabin Bait Shop. The agreement calls for $600 per year plus one percent of gross sales for 1978 and $600 plus two percent of gross sales in 1979.

The council rejected a proposal from the county road commission for the city to take over maintenance of Cranberry Pike in exchange for the county to take over Tawas Beach Road. The council instructed the city superintendent to make an offer to handle Cranberry Pike on a cost basis. It was stated that a bulldozer is usually required during winter months to remove snow on that road.

Water Board Not Receptive to Well

Tawas City Water Board has indicated it is not receptive to a proposed water service arrangement for the Iosco Medical Care Facility as outlined by a recent letter.

A report to the city council Monday night by City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz indicated that Roy Bergstrom, director of the medical care facility, had proposed that the municipal water service be used as a backup to a proposed new private well drilled at the facility.

Bublitz said that a cross connection would be required by the health department and the same ready to serve charge by the city would still be required. The facility is also served by city sewer.

As part of a general increase in water rates to help finance expansion of the water system, all public buildings are being assessed a 100 percent surcharge in lieu of taxes. The medical care facility is located in Tawas Township.

It was also indicated that the water board had voted to remove the old water tower behind the city hall as soon as practical after the new water tower on Sixth Street is completed. The city manager felt that no action should be taken until at least a year after the new tank is completed.

CREW of the Tawas City Department of Public Works was working in a trench about 17 feet deep Tuesday afternoon when this picture was snapped. A 32-inch concrete main is being lowered into place on North Street where a storm sewer has been under construction for the past month.—Tawas Herald Photo.

CETA Workers Break Tools, TC Adopts Disciplinary Policy

Due to an ever increasing amount of damage to equipment, the city council authorized Thomas Jacques, forestry consultant, to give time off to CETA personnel who damage equipment.

In a report to the council, Jacques said that some of the CETA workers "have a tendency to not use their heads when working with different equipment." Until Monday night, the city had no policy to reprimand CETA workers.

As supervisor of the program, he was given permission to give from one to three days off at a time for offenders and, if the situation is not corrected, firing of the individual would be necessary.

Jacques said the reprimand would not be based on what was broken, but how many times each individual neglects the tools used. The CETA program is financed by the federal government and is designed to train disadvantaged and unemployed individuals for jobs. The city presently has three full time and two part-time workers under the program.

With a larger force during the past summer, the program provided $22,538 for a variety of resource development projects in the city. Included was $14,917 for summer youth labor, $5,241 for supervision and $2,380 for administration.

More than 1,000 hours of labor were provided for such projects as installing a ceiling in the bath house, sodding, erosion control, park cleanup, river cleanup, brushing, road cleanup, painting, a survey, preparing guard rails, brush-burning.

In addition, the council authorized a recommended accident re-

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to the Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce advertisement in a recent edition of the Herald in which a statement was made that its budget deficiency was due, in part, to the Iosco County Board of Commissioners "abandoning" it. This implies that the county is somehow responsible for keeping the organization afloat and is now derelict in its duty. Let it be known that the county commissioners have made such extensive contributions over the years to the various chambers of commerce in Iosco County, including the Tawas Chamber, that it now appears that we may be spending a little too much of public money promoting business and industry in respect to providing necessary services to the people of the county.

Let us just consider what our board of commissioners has done recently and is doing presently for the Tawas area:

1. In January 1974, the board gave the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce and the Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce, jointly, $10,000 cash to finance a plan that was to make the two chambers self-sufficient and to make it unnecessary for them ever again to come to the county for money. This was the agreement at the time. It seems that some memories are pretty short.

2. The county is supplying a CETA employee for the Tawas Chamber of Commerce to provide one of its most important services, that of keeping its door open, handling correspondence, etc. The cost to the taxpayers for this is approximately $7,000 per year. Does this look like "abandonment"?

3. We have during 1977 purchased the McKay building at East Tawas for a county museum. We contributed toward the purchase and development of the Dewey Durant park in East Tawas and the Tawas River mouth property in Tawas City. The commission contributed funds to the Tawas Industrial Park in Baldwin Township to make possible the Tawas-Baldwin water system.

4. The commission paid upwards of $3,000 for the printing of a brochure for a consortium of chambers of commerce in Iosco County, including the Tawas Chamber of Commerce. The above contributions add up very quickly to over $100,000 so far in 1977.

In addition to all of this, the board has made extensive contributions to other industrial parks in the county with the aim of providing jobs and business for all of our people. We feel a keen responsibility in this matter. And let us not forget the hundreds of thousands of dollars that the board has been putting into the economy of Iosco County through such facilities as Old Orchard Park, AuSable River Park and others. And while we are at it, let us not overlook county financial support of other organizations like the county fair board at Hale, the snowmobile organization and other hard working groups of people which make life a little richer for residents and tourists alike.

How anybody could, or would, state publicly that our board had "abandoned" the Tawas Chamber of Commerce seems to me to be an unfair, low blow and entirely irresponsible. Let us hope that such unfortunate thinking can be straightened out. There have been over the years a great many good people who have worked long and hard to build up a chamber of commerce and to promote business and job-related activities in the Tawas area. I feel that the work of these people and the chamber in general has suffered inestimable damage in this matter and some level heads are now needed to correct it. Let us hope this happens—and soon.

Carlton Merschel, chairman
Iosco County Board of Commissioners

TODAYS Meditation

from
The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

(Read Mark 10:17-27)

"Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." (Matthew 7:14)

After leaving a "spaghetti bowl" intersection recently, we found ourselves on the wrong road. For 12 miles we had to whiz along, knowing we were on the wrong road but unable to get on the correct road. A 24-mile penalty for just one small error in sign reading! It reminded us of today's verse.

I got a good lesson, and a chuckle, some time ago when a friend shared with me his realistic, mental image of "the narrow way." "You know that little white line running down the middle of the highway," he said. "That's the 'narrow way' for the Christian. And to make matters even worse, it's going in the opposite direction!"

You know what? I think my friend is right. The Christian life is not easy, nor protected, nor meandering alongside a babbling brook. It is sometimes difficult, under constant scrutiny by other travelers, and in some areas of the world definitely dangerous. We need stamina and strength that only the Lord can give. Let us encourage one another along the way.

PRAYER

Lord, thank You for being a constant source of strength and a faithful guide along the road of life. Amen.

Literary Club Hosted Luncheon

Ladies Literary Club of East Tawas hosted the annual luncheon meeting of Federated Women's Clubs of Iosco County Monday, November 7, at Tawas Golf and Country Club. Invocation was given by the Rev. Kenneth Tousley. Present from the host club, Whittemore Women's Club and Twentieth Century Club were 65 representatives.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Donald Snyder, administrator of Tawas Hospital, who spoke on plans for an addition to the hospital with space for advanced X-ray and cardiac treatment facilities.

A memorial service in poetry and song was presented by Mrs. William Lyon, assisted by Mrs. Herbert Hertzler in the musical selections. Past presidents were honored and presented with red carnations.

Mrs. T. K. Coffin Jr. entertained with a flute selection from Mozart and was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Alden Phelps. Mrs. Daniel Cater was chairman of the event.

An invitation by Twentieth Century Club to host the 1978 meeting was accepted. Mrs. W. S. Bennett closed the meeting with prayer.

You don't like the shape America's in? O.K. change it.

America's got too many poor people, right? And there's plenty of other problems too. Take our cities. The shape of some of them is enough to make you cry. And waste and ignorance, the cycle of poverty that traps one generation after another because they're too busy just holding on to get ahead. The ravages of hunger and disease. Education that's either too little or none. Skills that are lacking, and the means to get them also. It could go on and on, and it will unless you do something. And not the you standing behind you either, but you. You believe something can be done.

O.K. now's the time for action... join VISTA: Volunteers in Service to America. If you're eighteen or eighty—great, we want you. We want you to organize in your community, or someone else's. Helping miners in Appalachia learn a new skill. Or migrant farm workers' children to read. We want you to organize a clinic in Watts. Or fight poverty around the corner. We don't care how much you can give now, only how much you can give now. We're greedy in VISTA; we want all you've got.

You'll be working long and hard. And the pay is nothing to write home about either. But there's one thing we can promise you, there will be plenty to write home about.

About the things you've learned while working with others. And the progress you've made. And that feeling deep inside you, knowing that you've returned the favor America gave you. O.K. you know what's wrong, right? Now go ahead, change it. In VISTA. Call VISTA toll free: 800-424-8580. Or write VISTA: Box A, Washington, D.C. 20525. VISTA is alive and well. Come alive with us.

A survival kit in a car's trunk could be a lifesaver for motorists trapped on the road by a blizzard this winter. The 16 items displayed by Automobile Club of Michigan employee Phyllis Crowley cost $60 or less and require only a corner of the trunk for storage. Emergency heat can be obtained from a coffee-can furnace which radiates warmth from a lighted candle inside. Newspapers make great insulation when placed next to the skin under clothing and the carpet strips provide traction under drive wheels. Other survival items displayed are a blanket, shovel, flashlight, jumper cables, tire chains, boots, flares, reflectors, tools, first aid kit, sand, a scraper-brush and food. Motorists should remain with a stranded vehicle and wait for rescue rather than risking lives through exposure or becoming lost in a blizzard while walking for help.

They were accompanied by John Coy of Swartz Creek.

Funeral Held for Mae S. Jerrell

Funeral services for Mae S. Jerrell of East Tawas, who died Sunday, November 6, at Tawas Hospital, will be conducted Wednesday (today), November 9, 1:00 p. m., from Christ Episcopal Church, East Tawas. Burial will be in Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Cemetery, Whittemore. The Rev. Alfred Saulsbury will officiate.

Born May 27, 1897, in Tawas Township, she was past president of Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary No. 552 and American Legion Auxiliary No. 67, Lincoln Park, and member of Tawas Bay Chapter No. 130, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary.

 The council approved a replat of Block 12 of Porterfield's Addition requested by Robert Buffmeyer, owner. At the present time, the lots are 50 feet wide and are to be expanded to 62 feet in width. All of the lots are vacant at the present time.

 Councilman Robert Rollin requested that the city garage and property on Fourth Street be cleaned up to make a more presentable appearance. He suggested that the industrial park be utilized for storage of some bulk items. A fence around the property removed by a contractor during construction of water mains is to be replaced by the contractor.

A Public Service of this newspaper & The Advertising Council

David Nairne counted on us.

When David had open heart surgery not long ago, he needed six vital units of blood, type O Neg. All of it was obtained, processed and provided by the Red Cross blood center.

We're not the heroes of this lifesaving story (the six wonderful blood donors should get the medals). But we (and other voluntary blood centers) do need your continued support. Blood, you know, doesn't grow on trees. It comes from donors. Like you. And we need more people like you. Call your Red Cross or other voluntary blood center soon. Please.

We're counting on you.

Fryinger, Oscoda, are undergoing training in the Indian Ocean. They are serving as crewmembers aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Midway, homeported in Yokosuka, Japan.

The ship has joined with six other ships from the United States Seventh Fleet to form a carrier task force group. Training during the eight-week cruise will center on under way replenishment, plus engineering and communication drills. Additionally, they will have the opportunity to visit various Indian Ocean ports.

The task group is commanded by Navy RADM. P. A. Peck. Peck and his staff are embarked aboard the Midway.

Both 1976 graduates of Oscoda Area High School, Fryinger joined the navy in December 1976 and Jackson in February 1976.

investigated 13 car-deer accidents and participated in the search for a lost person.

Two persons were arrested and another three persons were apprehended at Saginaw following a breaking and entering November 1 at Londo Lake. A resident, Jerry A. Lewis, was notified by his daughter that a suspicious car pulled into her driveway several times.

Lewis investigated and met two men walking down the road carrying items stolen from two burglaries. He apprehended them at gunpoint and took them to a neighbor's house where the sheriff's department was notified. Two other adults and a juvenile involved made their escape but were arrested by Saginaw authorities.

Other burglaries were reported by Willis D. Bigham, Long Lake, rifle, two shotguns, a chain saw, circular saw, fishing tackle and ammunition stolen from cabin; Thaddeus Pernak, Whittemore, burglary at mobile home; Dennis Guiser, Hale, two television sets and household items stolen from residence.

Larcenies were reported by Earl J. Burl, Hale, fishing equipment stolen from vehicle parked at Foote Dam; Michael McIntosh, 778 Monument Road, tape player stolen from vehicle; Dorothy Banks, Tawas City, wheel cover stolen from automobile; John W. Elmy, Long Lake, two snowmobiles and trailer stolen; Walter H. Miller, Miller Road, quantity of tools stolen from workshop; McIntosh-McKay Chevrolet Sales, Baldwin Centre, battery stolen from truck; Brooks Auto Parts, Tawas City, theft of motorcycle; Wayne Rumbel, Long Lake, larceny of a citizens band radio and gasoline from automobile.

Ross Mitchell, 77, Pine Acres,

Glennie, was found November 1 after he had spent the night in a wooded area. He had wandered away from his home the afternoon of October 31. Michigan State Police from Alpena sent a trooper and a tracking dog to the scene. Assisting the search were the Hale Citizens Patrol, Glennie CB Watch and other citizens.

WINTER starts

1 TURN OFF ELECTRICAL ACCESSORIES...
2 DEPRESS GAS PEDAL ONCE AND RELEASE SLOWLY...
3 START THE ENGINE...

OFF HEATER DEFROSTER RADIO, ETC.

IGNITION 3 GAS PEDAL 2

Michigan's Winter Wonderland is paradise for skiers, but the accompanying cold weather will make the going all downhill for motorists with car-starting problems. Engines that are "ice cold" usually are difficult to start. Automobile Club of Michigan estimates eight percent of winter road service calls come from motorists who fail to use the proper car-starting technique. For added ease in winter starting, Auto Club suggests this simple 1-2-3 method: (1) With the transmission in park, turn off electrical accessories so there is no extra strain on the battery. (2) Push the gas pedal to the floor and let up slowly to set the automatic choke. The accelerator should not be pumped since this will flood the engine. (3) Engage the starter for 10 seconds. Should the engine fail to start, repeat steps 1 and 2. If you flood the engine, depress the gas pedal to the floor, hold and engage the starter. The accelerator should be kept down until the engine starts. Motorists should keep their fuel tank full to avoid fuel line freezing and follow their owner's manual for winter maintenance schedules.

TA Braves Lost Final Game to Carrollton, 27-6

Tawas Area Braves, 1977 champion of the Northeastern Michigan Conference, finished the season on a losing note. Playing host to Carrollton on parents' night, the Braves were upended by a strong Cavalier squad, 27-6.

The Braves finished the season with a record of seven wins and two losses. They had not lost since the season opener when Sanford-Meridian turned the trick, 14-7, followed by wins over Boyne City and Whittemore-Prescott.

Friday night's game came as an anticlimax for the Braves, who had been "up" since September 30 when they upset Pinconning for their third straight win, then won over Ogemaw, Gladwin, Standish and Oscoda.

It was a different story Friday night as the Cavaliers dominated the game from the opening kickoff and held a 21-0 lead at halftime.

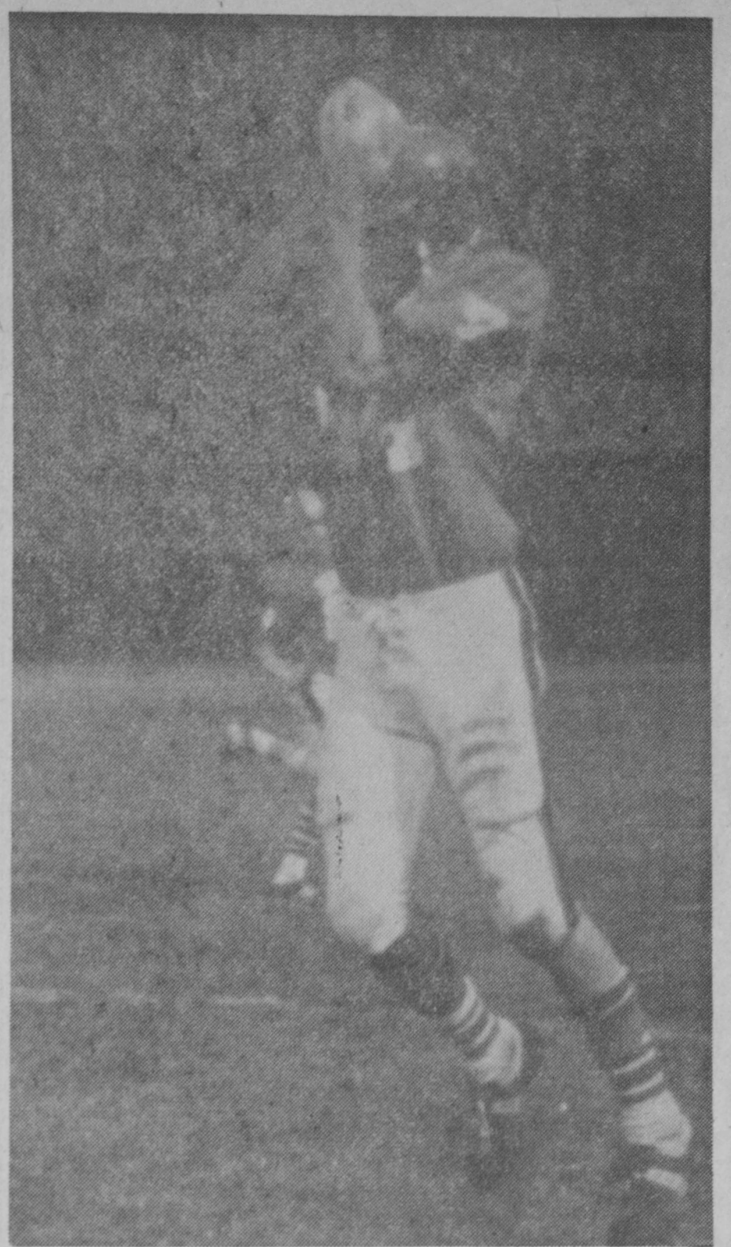

Marlin Brady scored on a two-yard run and caught a six-yard touchdown pass from Dean Kuschinsky to lead the way.

With nine minutes, three seconds left on the clock in the third period, Tawas finally reached the scoreboard on a 13-yard pass from Bill King to Gary Birkenbach to cap a 63-yard drive.

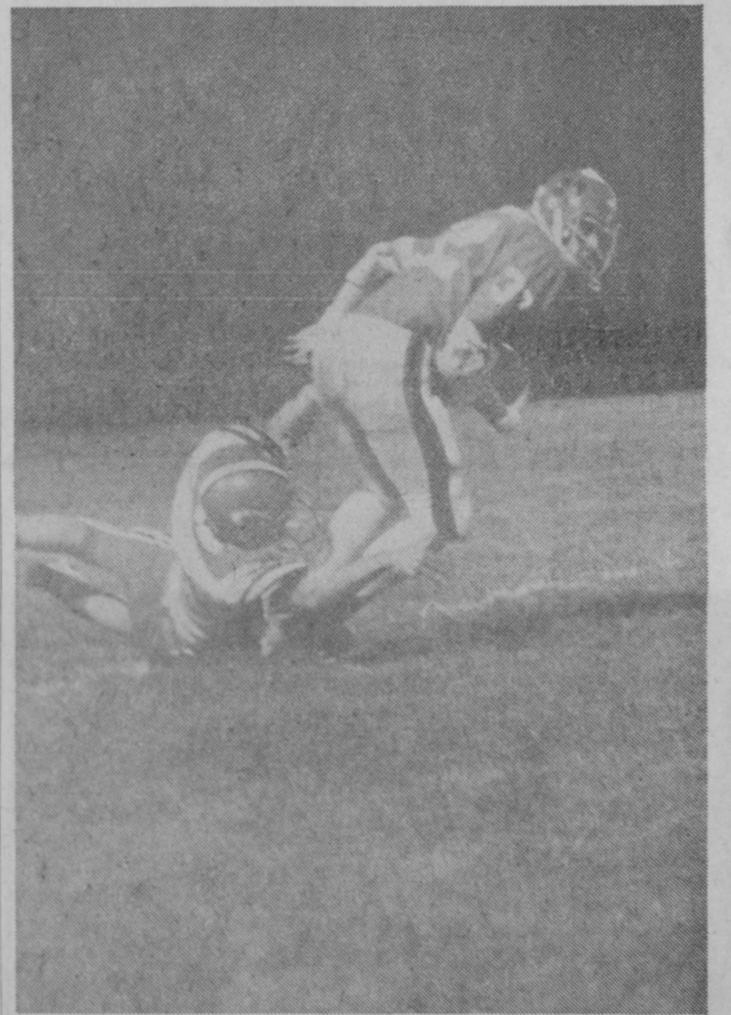

The Cavaliers rushed for 321 yards and picked up 19 yards on passing. Tawas had only 89 yards on the ground and picked up 25 yards on passing.

Seniors playing their last game were Jerry Gracik, Andy Mayer, Larry Hughes, Mark Barry, Shawn Hunt, Mike Davis and Jerry Milburn.

Parents of varsity players were introduced during a pre-game ceremony. Tawas Area Marching Band presented an outstanding program at halftime.

4-H Citizenship Means Involvement

CHICAGO—To most young Americans good citizenship means voting, respecting the flag and standing to sing "The Star-Spangled Banner." To 4 million 4-H members citizenship means all these things—and much more.

As participants in the national 4-H citizenship program, these boys and girls are responding to the needs, rights and responsibilities of others as they develop their own citizenship skills. Across the country 4-H members are helping the elderly, working with the handicapped, teaching low-income children, beautifying their communities and becoming involved in local, state and national issues.

4-H members 9-19 are finding solutions to local problems through research into the needs of their communities and then taking action to fulfill those needs. In California, 4-H'ers designed a day camp program for nearly 100 low-income children. A 4-H club in New York carried out a special project for the physically and mentally handicapped. And a group of Florida 4-H members surveyed needs of senior citizens and then planned parties and involved them in a wide variety of recreational activities.

Each year, more than 6,000 boys and girls from across the country meet during the summer in Washington, D.C., at the National 4-H Center for week-long conferences to learn more about

A community cleanup campaign is just one of many ways in which 4-H'ers respond to the needs, rights and responsibilities of others. The national 4-H citizenship program, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by The Coca-Cola Company, encourages young people 9-19 to "learn by doing" about effective citizenship through meaningful involvement in local, state and national issues.

citizenship and their American heritage. They return home to put into practice the skills they learned while in the nation's capital.

4-H citizenship projects and activities are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service. Young people can be recognized for their accomplishments in 4-H citizenship through awards sponsored by The Coca-Cola Company.

The company offers recognition for 4-H'ers at all levels of participation: nine $1,000 scholarships nationally; an all-expense paid trip to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, for one member per state; and four medals of honor in each county.

During the congress two of the nine national citizenship winners, along with their counterparts in the 4-H achievement and leadership programs, are selected to receive Presidential Awards. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service and awards are arranged by National 4-H Council.

More information on the 4-H citizenship program is available from county extension agents.

Hale Eagles Defeated Hillman, 21-18, to Capture NSL Crown

Hale Area Eagles won the North Star League championship Friday night by beating defending Hillman, 21-18. It was the first football championship for the Eagles since 1971.

The Eagles ended the season with a perfect league record with six wins and no losses and an overall record of eight wins and one loss.

The key to Friday night's win for the Eagles was the accurate foot of Mark Braun, who kicked three extra points while Hillman failed to score after its three touchdowns. Hillman reached the scoreboard first when Brad McLaren hit paydirt in the first period on a 10-yard reverse play.

Terry Allen recovered that lost ground for the Eagles when he returned a punt 90 yards for a touchdown. Brown put Hale ahead with his first kick from placement.

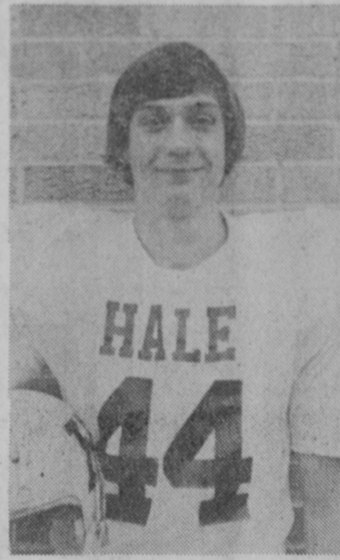

Rick Weaver picked up six points for the Eagles on a three-yard run and Braun split the uprights with another conversion to give Hale a 14-6 edge at intermission.

Hillman roared back to open the second half as Chris Clink connected on a 20-yard pass to Jeff Richards. The try for point after touchdown failed.

Clink and Richards again connected on another 16-yard touchdown pass to give Hillman an 18-14 lead in the fourth period.

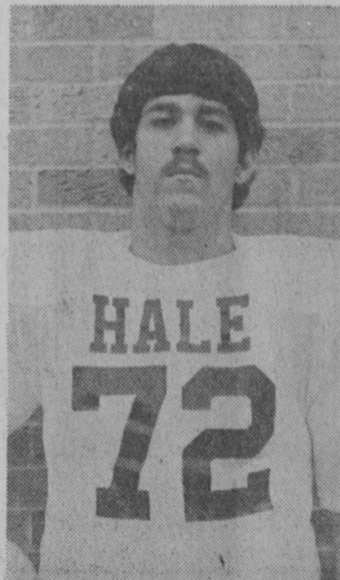

Weaver's second touchdown of the night came on a two-yard run and put Coach Vern Reed's Eagles out in front. Braun again split the uprights with his kick to end the scoring.

Tawas Bravettes split the decisions in two games last week, losing to Whittemore-Prescott, 61-52, on November 1 and winning over Essexville Garber, 51-47, on Thursday night.

The junior varsity won both of its games, taking a 56-24 decision over Whittemore-Prescott and nailing down a 48-46 overtime victory over Garber.

Ronda Hall was top scorer in the game against Whittemore-Prescott with 13 points. Laurel Minard had nine points, while Meg Peterson and Kim McKenzie had eight points each. Giori led the winners with 19 points, followed by 13 points for Erickson. Cindy Wood had 22 points for the junior varsity, followed by 12 points for Jan Johnson.

Kari Allen had 19 points to top Tawas scoring over Garber. McKenzie had 10 points while Peterson and Minard each meshed eight points.

Cindy Wood topped junior varsity players with 16 points followed by 13 points for Johnson.

For 'Kick In the Pants to Judiciary'

Judge Blasts Iosco Commission

Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller unleashed a verbal blast Wednesday against the Iosco County Board of Commissioners for "giving a kick in the pants to the judiciary" in the county's 1978 budget.

Although the cost of civil and criminal justice administration under the county's new budget advanced from $265,485 to $303,107, the commission did not provide supplemental pay increases to the circuit or district judge and did not raise the salary of the prosecutor. The probate judge's salary was reduced at his own request.

Judge Miller said it was an affront to the judicial department—circuit court, district court and prosecuting attorney—that all other departments were given cost of living increases "and we received no raises and no explanation."

Members of the board of commissioners pointed out that all requests of the judiciary had been included in the new budget, with the exception of salary increases for department heads. One commissioner said that the finance committee had taken note of salary increases granted to judges by the state and the commission may have "placed too much emphasis" on that fact.

The circuit judge receives a salary of $29,100 from the state, up $1,000 from the previous year. The county supplements this with a payment of $7,200. Alcona and Oscoda Counties contribute additional supplemental payments to the judge.

The district judge's salary paid by the state is 90 percent of the circuit court judge's salary. Iosco County pays the judge a supplement of $5,056 and he also receives a supplement from Arenac County. Stephen H. Naegele, prosecuting attorney, said he was upset over the fact that other department heads of the county had received a salary increase and he had not received one. He said that work of his office had increased tremendously during the past year.

(Salary of the prosecuting attorney is $25,043. In its new budget, the commission granted a $748 salary increase to the county clerk, treasurer and register of deeds, raising the salaries of those offices from $14,143 to $14,991. Salary of the sheriff was increased from $15,143 to $16,051.)

Forrest R. Whatley, commissioner, pointed out that about $39,000 had been included in salaries for the prosecuting attorney's office, including a new assistant prosecutor and legal services under contract for the county commission. He said it was felt that a salary increase to the prosecutor was not justified as the work load had actually been decreased.

The reply of the prosecuting attorney was that the commission had created a part time position of prosecutor and he felt he should now be permitted to engage in private practice on the side, as the probate judge is permitted to do. The commission thought otherwise.

Judge Miller expressed the opinion that the public safety budget bears a definite relationship to the judicial budget and to the work of the prosecutor's office. He said that the judicial budget is usually equal to and sometimes in excess of the public safety budget, but pointed out that this was not the case in Iosco County.

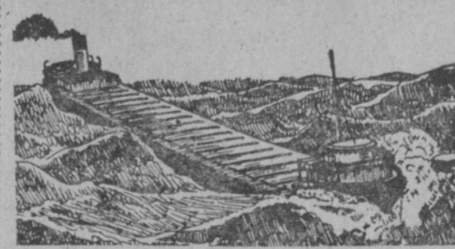

A table prepared by the judge indicated that 30 percent of Iosco's 1978 budget was for public safety, while slightly over 12 percent went to the judiciary. Members of the commission said they would study those figures and would give further consideration on the judiciary budgets. The preliminary indication was that the commission did not agree with the figures as presented.

Judge Miller also accused the board of commissioners of fraud in regard to the fact that $16,376.22 received in state incentive payments by the friend of the court was turned over to the general fund and no consideration was given to appointment of an assistant friend of the court and an assignment clerk.

The judge said the money was meant as an incentive from the state to work harder on collecting court ordered support money from fathers.

He said the friend of the court's office, in cooperation with the court, had innovated collection procedures which have been adopted statewide. "Our department is considered a model in the collection areas, even though we have been denied the monies that were to encourage these efforts. Because of the fact that we recognized the responsibilities before these pro-

One time when Tawas Bay offered no protection!

LAKE HURON CLAIMED 200 SAILORS IN

GREAT STORM

Tawas Bay was known as a sailors' haven on the Great Lakes long before there was any settlement on its shores. But, in the great storm of 1913, it could offer no protection to the three score ships trapped on Lake Huron which were battered by a gale of hurricane force.

Lake Huron claimed the heaviest toll of human life in that storm, called the greatest disaster in the history of the Great Lakes. Eight of the 12 ships which disappeared with their entire crews on the Great Lakes were lost on Lake Huron. Another 10 ships were stranded along the shore between Port Austin and Harbor Beach.

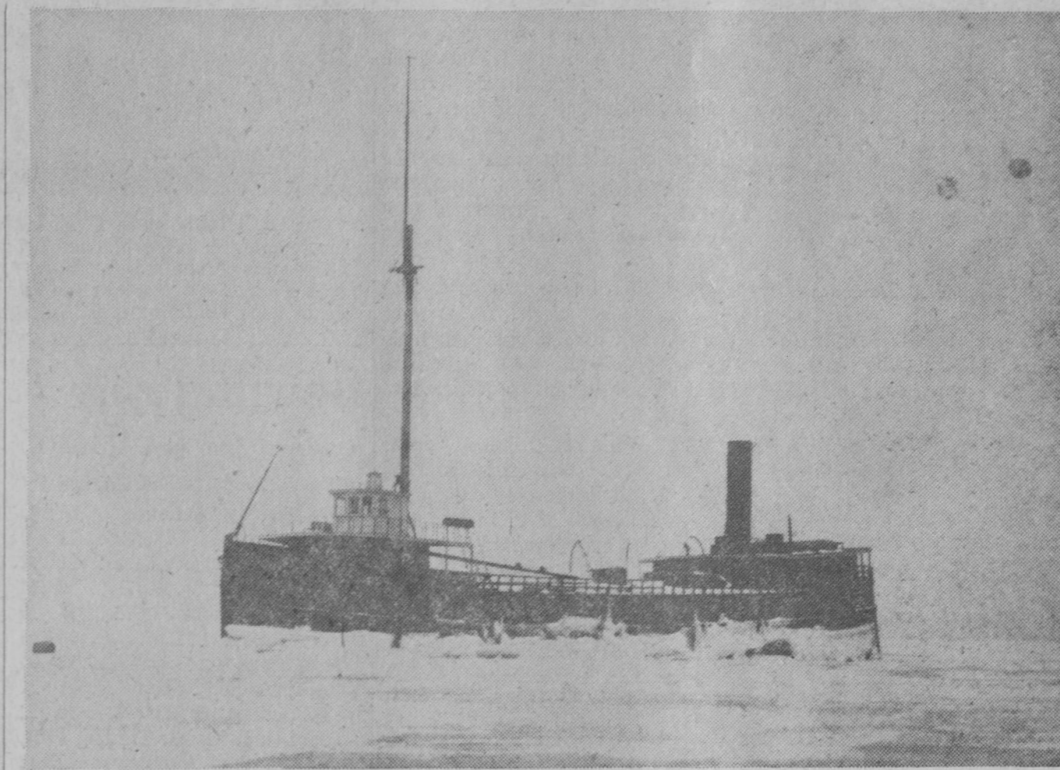

"The storm of last Sunday did great damage to shipping on the Great Lakes, the estimated loss reaching into the millions of dollars. The damage to steam and electric railroads, telegraph and telephone lines and buildings was also great. Old residents claim that the storm was the worst within their recollection," stated The Tawas Herald in its edition of November 14, 1913.

The Great Lakes form the largest body of fresh water in the world—more than 95,000 square miles and with dirtier weather than many a sea better known in song and story. The great storm of 1913 hit two weeks before the close of the navigation season.

An atmospheric depression formed in the center of the Great Lakes and large masses of air flowed toward it, the storm first making its presence known on Friday, November 7, 1913. Storm warnings were flown by the United States Weather Bureau at shore stations along Lake Superior and later in the day on Lake Huron, including the life-saving station on Tawas Point. But, the season was drawing to a close and skippers wished to get in as many trips as possible before ice jammed the rivers.

The storm warnings were to prove fatally insufficient as there should have been a forecast for a hurricane, a warning that is almost never ever necessary on the Great Lakes. On Saturday, a warm southwest which moved in on Lake Huron rapidly churned itself into a fury when it struck the cold front moving down from the north. The storm continued to build on Saturday, changing its direction and centering in the vicinity of Alpena.

On Sunday, the fury of a hurricane crashed down and those ships trapped on Lake Huron were at the mercy of the wind and sea for a

Aground Off Michigan's Thumb

THIS STEAMSHIP is believed to be one of the numerous vessels which ran aground on Michigan's Thumb during the great storm of November 1913. The ship is surrounded by ice and raging blizzard blotted out familiar aids to navigation.

There was no ship to shore radio communication in those days and the seamen had to live by their own resources, their own knowledge of the shoreline and their own wits—they could not be helped by the small surfboats of the United States Lifesaving Service, although many tales have survived the storm telling of heroic actions by the lifesaving service.

It is difficult to visualize great steel freighters being battered to pieces by mountainous waves towering above; it is even harder to picture those ships overturned in the rough of the yawning seas or sinking in the vastness of the icy black waters, leaving nothing behind to tell of their last battle with wind and sea.

As the storm tore across Lake Huron on Sunday, ships were trapped between the vicious storm and a vicious shore. The gale reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour and waves were reported to run 40 feet high in areas swept by the worst of the storm. The Michigan shoreline had harbored scores of ships when the storm broke, which was a fatal mistake for, as the wind shifted, the shore received the full force of the mighty gale. The sailors' haven became the Great Lakes' biggest graveyard.

There were no vessels stranded in the Tawas area for the shipping lane skirts Saginaw Bay, but two lake carriers went ashore near Alpena and the entrance to Saginaw Bay between Port Austin and Harbor Beach was turned into a ship graveyard.

One Tawas resident who remembered the storm was the late Charles Nash, who was serving with the United States Lifesaving Service and stationed at Pointe Aux Barques on the tip of Michigan's Thumb in 1913.

On Monday, November 10, 1913, a life boat from the Pointe Aux Barques station put out into Lake Huron in an attempt to rescue the crew of the H. M. Hanna Jr. The 500-foot-long ship loaded with 9,200 tons of soft coal had left Cleveland, Ohio, on Saturday and hit the devastating storm on Sunday. It had made only about a third of the way up the lake by early Monday morning and had been thrown onto a reef about 900 feet off the lighthouse at Pointe Aux Barques.

With Nash as engineer, the life boat from Pointe Aux Barques rescued the crew of the ill-fated Hanna. For this feat, along with bringing in the crew of another ship which had grounded off Harbor Beach, each member of the nine-man crew was awarded a medal by the United States government.

When darkness fell two nights after the hurricane and blizzard ceased the destruction, the full impact of what had happened hit the country. A total of 251 sailors lost their lives in the storm and fully 200 of those lives were lost on Lake Huron.

Bodies and wreckage steadily washed ashore for days and as storm-blocked avenues of communication were reopened, tragic news unfolded for many families. The storm had taken a toll unlike anything ever before experienced on the Great Lakes.

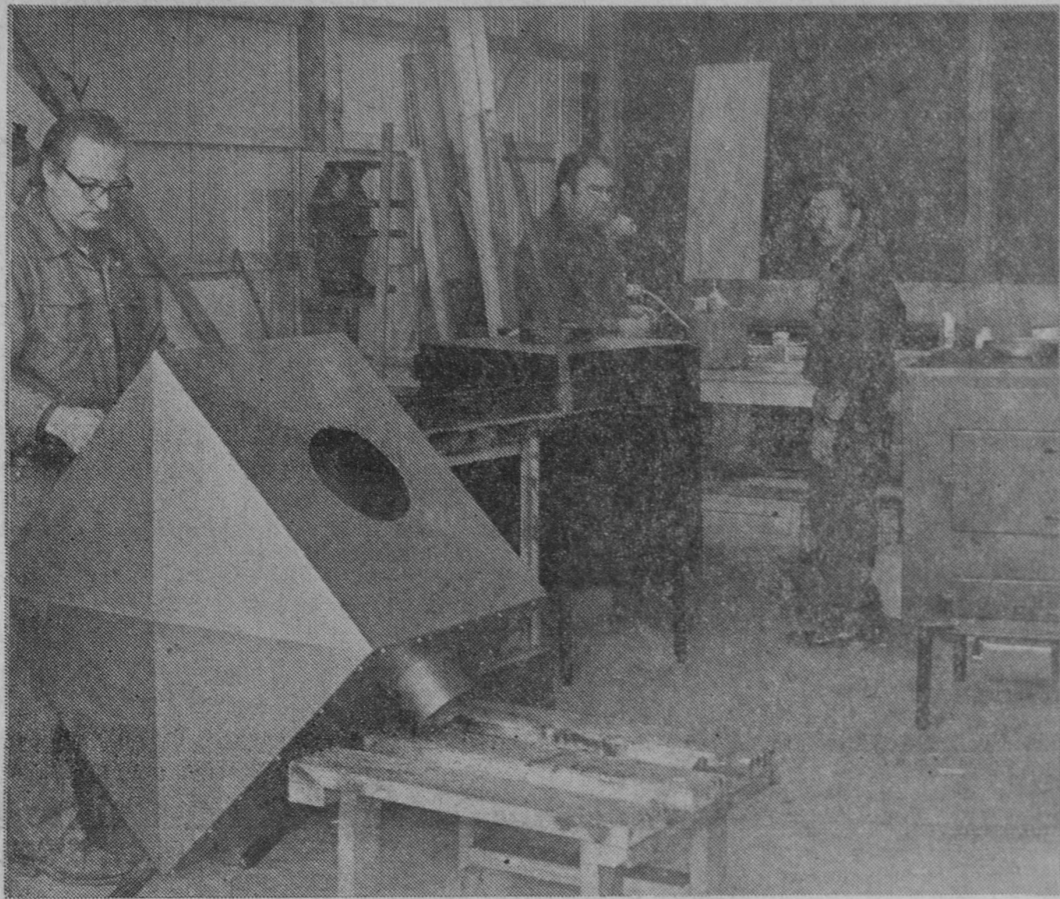

Steamers foundered on Lake Huron included: Charles S. Price, 28 lives; John A. McGeen, 23 lives; Isaac M. Scott, 28 lives; Argus, 24 lives; Hydrus, 23 lives; Regina, 22 lives; Wexford, 22 lives; James Carruthers, 30 lives.

The United States Weather Bureau report of 1913 stated: "The survivors' accounts of the storm and of their struggle to keep their vessels afloat are almost heart-rending. The water, they claimed, was simply a seething mass, such as they had never seen before. So helplessly were they tossed about by the waves and carried by the currents that most of them did not know where they were."

"Some of those stranded near Saginaw Bay felt absolutely sure before striking ground that they were at least 10 to 15 miles from the shore; others, again, were under the impression that they were near the middle of the lake."

The story of the struggle of the eight vessels lost in Lake Huron will never be known, neither are the places known where seven of them foundered. One of the ships, the Charles S. Price, was discovered 11 miles north of Port Huron and seven miles off shore completely turned over.

The Great Lakes will continue to be pounded during November storms and mighty Lake Huron will receive its share of terrifying gales and blizzards during the tail-end of the shipping season. Men will continue to defy hazards of the Great Lakes during the storm season for, as one survivor of the 1913 storm stated, "A sailor who is any sailor at all feels far safer aboard his ship than anywhere else."

Judge Miller

grams were started and have continued to do so, we are being penalized."

Judge Miller later admitted that no state regulation existed requiring the county commission to increase the friend of the court budget with incentive receipts. He insisted, however, that the money was labeled "incentive payment," and "it is a little short of fraud to receive these monies and not increase the budgets of the departments affected."

Because of the board's inaction on this matter, Judge Miller said the friend of the court's office had no time to recover support money from ADC parents until his other work is done.

Before Wednesday's session ended, the commission approved a new cooperative reimbursement program with the state on collecting support payments. This program had been under discussion for about two years, but official resolutions were presented only two weeks ago to the county commission.

In addition, the commission authorized an assistant friend of the court and designation of a circuit court assignment clerk. The commission pointed out that it had received no formal request for the new positions at budget time and learned of the request during Wednesday's meeting with the judge.

The judge had pointed out that the assignment clerk's duties were full time in this circuit and little time was left for that person to provide secretarial assistance to the judge.

Judge Miller said that 427 cases were filed in Iosco County in 1976. This circuit is the only one in the Lower Peninsula that has not added a judge or subtracted a county. Not only are cases up, "but it should be recognized that when analyzing the budgets of the prosecutor's office and the judicial officers that most criminal cases now require two to three hearings more than they did a decade ago."

In addition to the preliminary examination which the prosecutor conducts in the district court, there are now confession hearings, entrapment hearings, search and seizure hearings and incompetency hearings prior to trial. Commissioners indicated that further consideration would be given to judicial salaries, but no commitments were made.

OA Graduates First Class of Trained Tutors

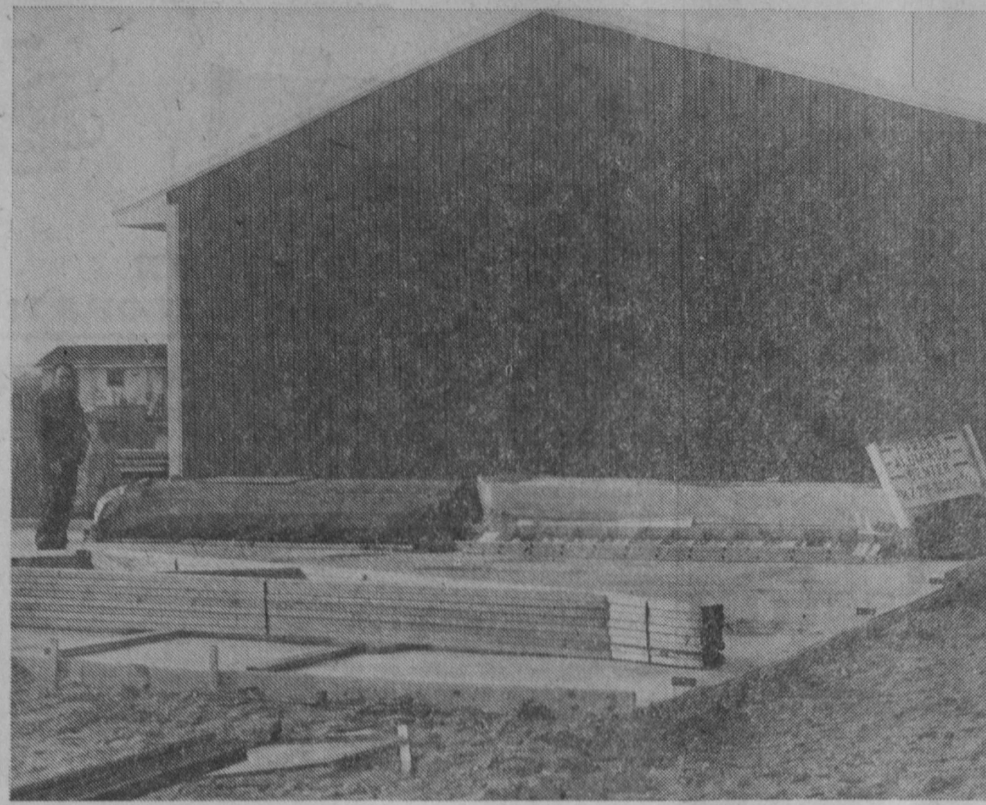

Oscoda Area Schools Volunteer Tutor Program, under the direction of Steven Hennigar, graduated its first class of trained tutors Tuesday, November 1. Susan Stuber, Title I director, presented diplomas to the tutors at their final session held at Richardson Junior High School.

The training program completed by the tutors consisted of eight sessions dealing with the role of the tutor, behavioral characteristics of children, reading skills and other pertinent areas of instruction.

Those receiving diplomas were Carolyn Farman, Natalie Haglund, Sylvia Kish, Theodore Mack, Margaret Snurka, Doris Thayer, Ann Turner and Nell Young.

Another training program is scheduled after the school's annual Christmas recess. Parent Advisory Council for the Title I reading program still has openings for parents of district students and other interested persons. The next scheduled meeting is November 16 from 10:00 until 11:00 a. m. at the high school. Anyone interested in more information on either of these two areas of involvement should contact the Title I office at 739-2971.

IN THE SERVICE—

Completes First Solo Flight

2Lt. Ted G. Wasilewski, whose wife, Margaret, is the daughter of Joseph Ahearne of East Tawas, has completed his first solo flight. Wasilewski is undergoing primary flight training at the Naval Air Station, Whiting Field, Milton, Florida. The 14-week basic course, which includes 65 inflight training hours, is the initial step of the Naval Integrated Flight Training System. Follow-on training with jets, helicopters or multi-engine aircraft will lead to designation as a naval aviator.

A 1976 graduate of Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, Miami, Florida, with a bachelor of science degree, he joined the United States Marine Corps in June 1976.

Glennie Marines Finish Training

Marine PFC Dennis J. Kwiatek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Kwiatek, Glennie, and Pvt. Robert E. Bulmer Jr., son of the senior Bulmers, as of Glennie, have completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

During the 11-week training cycle, they learned the basics of battlefield survival. They were introduced to the typical daily routine that they will experience during their enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by marines.

They participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Kwiatek joined the United States Marine Corps in December 1976 and Bulmer in April 1977.

Tangled Tuttle Marsh

By BRUCE GLANCY

(The Herald is reprinting these thoughts of a freshman at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, who wrote them as a class assignment. He is a 1976 graduate of Tawas Area High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glancy of Alabaster Township)

It is a tangled mass of scrub brush and neck-high marsh grass. The water is just about everywhere, giving a shallow blanket covering to the mud below it. As far as the eye can see in any direction, the swamp is there staring right back, obviously objecting to the presence of human life within its boundaries.

Upon first looking at the swamp, it appears as an ugly place, especially when compared to the tall stands of beech and fir so common to the highlands. But when viewed by someone who looks beneath the cover, a whole different world comes into view. With the swamp being virtually inaccessible by man, this area has become a natural habitat of wildlife and vegetation.

This vast expanse is called Tuttle Marsh and from the eastern side of the marsh struts a small man-made pond surrounded by a long sand beach. It is an oasis in the heart of God's wilderness, yet it looks so unnatural to the land scraper in a country town. But it is a place where a person can view nature as it once was—undisturbed, untouched by the ever-spreading grip of civilization.

As I lazily sit back and watch the sun settle into the western sky, a feeling of complete tranquility, almost loneliness sets in. A lone crow caws off in the distance, probably warding off some predator. A small doe meanders down for a sip from the pond, as her fawn watches anxiously from the brush. A nighthawk goes racing over the beach, his neck outstretched, his sharp eye scanning the ground below for any sign of a fed squirrel or deer mouse which might be prey for his powerful, sharp claws.

Suddenly, a whistling whir of wings is heard and a small flock of mallards go low overhead, looking for a place of sanctuary to roost for the night. The breeze sighs gently through the tag-alders a few last times before dusk and as the last few streaks of red begin to fade, I realize how lucky I am to be able to enjoy nature in a place such as this. However, I know I must leave, for I am a foreigner to a world where I don't belong.

Iosco's Christmas Seal Campaign Opens

The 1977 Christmas Seal campaign officially opens this week in Iosco County. About 413,000 letters distributing the colorful, child-designed holiday seals are in the mail for Michigan residents. "Contributions to Christmas Seals are the primary source of funds for the Michigan Lung Association, an educational organization in its 70th year of service to Michigan with a well-known track record in tuberculosis control," said Mrs. Faith Hinton, president of the Saginaw Valley Regional Board.

This year, the goal for Iosco County is $5,985 which includes mail income, such as Christmas Seal dollars, and special events. The goal for the Saginaw Valley Region of the Michigan Lung Association of which the county is a part is $165,015.

Christmas Seals are used to fight the increasing number of lung diseases that plague so many—emphysema, bronchitis, asthma, occupational lung disease, air pollution and smoking—and to make them a menace of the past. For instance, the Michigan Lung Association instructs health care professionals in the most up to date treatment of lung diseases and sponsors breathing clubs to help lung patients cope with their physical and psychological problems.

VR Services Available To Disabled People

Disabled people in this area may be missing out on important assistance by not realizing that vocational rehabilitation services are available, a social security representative said today.

It is true that all people who apply for and meet the basic requirements for social security disability benefits are automatically considered for possible vocational rehabilitation services, the spokesperson went on. But, it is not necessary to be eligible for social security benefits or to even apply for them to get these services.

Disabled people can take the initiative in seeking out these services, she said. All they have to do is write the vocational rehabilitation agency in this State, and give the particulars about their own situation. The kind of information the agency will need includes: Name, address, telephone number, social security number, date of birth, type of disability and date it began, last date worked, kinds of work done, and education and/or training.

A person accepted by the agency for rehabilitation services may receive one or more of the following:

- Counseling and guidance to work out a rehabilitation program, which may include a

- plan for achieving self-support.
- Medical examination—medical, surgical, or hospital services may be provided to reduce or remove the person's disability.
- Physical aids such as artificial limbs, braces, hearing aids, eyeglasses, or other devices.
- Job training in a vocational school, college or university, or a rehabilitation facility.
- Job placement and followup to help the person find the right job and to help adjust to a new occupation and overcome any special problems.

People who want more information about social security disability benefits or vocational rehabilitation services can contact any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

questions and answers

Q. I receive a minimum social security benefit, and my only other source of income is a small paycheck from a part-time job. If I am eligible for SSI, how would my income affect my SSI payments?

A. In general, if you have "unearned" income—such as your social security benefit—the first $20 a month doesn't count, and the rest is deducted from the basic SSI payment amount, dollar for dollar. If you have earnings, $65 a month doesn't count, and $1 is deducted from the basic SSI payment for each additional $2 of earnings.

Q. I applied for SSI payments and just received a notice saying I'm not eligible. I disagree. Is there any way I can appeal this?

A. Yes. You have the right to ask for a reconsideration. Your request for reconsideration must be made within 60 days from the date you received the notice about the decision on your eligibility. The people in any social security office can help you request a reconsideration.

Q. My nephew is only 15 and is completely disabled as a result of a crippling disease. He has no income of his own, of course. Would he be eligible for SSI payments on the basis of disability?

A. Under the SSI law, a child under 18 may be found disabled if he or she has a physical or mental impairment which is expected to last for at least 12 months, and which is comparable in severity to one that would prevent an adult from working. Your nephew may be eligible for SSI payments, depending on his living arrangements and his parents' income and resources.

Q. I rent a small apartment and have very little income. The only things I own are a few household goods and a 1970 car. Can I get SSI payments?

A. It will depend on the amount of your income and the value of your car. If the retail value of your car is not over $1,200, or you need it for a job or to get medical treatment, it shouldn't keep you from getting supplemental security income (SSI) payments. Call or write any social security office for more information about SSI.

Making Waves

Children love to get presents at Christmas. But, it's never too early to learn the joy of giving.

A contribution dropped in the Christmas kettle, or mailed to Salvation Army headquarters, is like a pebble dropped in a pond. It makes waves — good waves.

A family with many problems will be helped to have a happy Christmas. And, The Salvation Army will continue to help that family until it is able to stand alone.

A man or woman who kills the pain of living by steady drinking may come to The Salvation Army at Christmastime to share the holiday with others who are alone. The Army will work with that person, support his efforts to begin again, for weeks or months, or as long as seems necessary. The Christmas spirit is not for one day of the year. It means loving and helping all year-round.

A youngster may receive Christmas presents, because The Salvation Army reached out to him at Christmas. But it doesn't let go of that child when the holiday season is over. He can come to The Salvation Army for after-school recreation, for summer camp away from home, or day camp nearby. The Salvation Army will continue to enfold him with the Christmas spirit of caring all year round.

Your Christmas contribution to The Salvation Army makes waves — good waves — all year long.

TAKE THIS AD TO DINNER

More than fifty percent of the world is starving. Another twenty percent, just plain hungry. And yet, in the face of starvation, they have hope. Hope that the rains will return to the African Plain. Hope that the Asian rice crop will be bigger this year. Hope that someone, anyone, with anything to offer will come to help them fight the battle for life. Someone in the Peace Corps. They'd like to stand up for themselves, these prisoners of fate, but they're just too weak to stand up. But with the Peace Corps a flame begins to flicker. They've seen other like you before. Seen the changes you can bring. Two thousand wells on the parched earth of Sahel. Seen how their knowledge helped reduce the grain losses. Who are they? They're people pretty much like you. People with commitment and skills who've assessed their lives and decided there must be more than just having a job. They looked into themselves and knew it was time for the talk to end and the work to begin. They're very special people, these people. Totally prepared to give everything they've got. And getting back even more than they give. That's the beauty of the Peace Corps. The work is hard and the pay is lousy, and the progress comes a drop at a time. But the rewards are infinite. Join the Peace Corps and then take a good long look in the mirror. You'll never look the same to yourself again.
