$115,410 Increase

Tawas School Board Adopts '77-78 Budget

A budget calling for expenditures of $2,229,386 for operation of Tawas Area School during 1977-78 was adopted Monday night by the board of education. The budget reflected a $115,410 increase over the previous year's operational cost.

Sixty-seven percent of the increased operational cost represents the law adopted by the legislature which mandates payment of five percent of teacher retirement by local school districts.

Revenue to finance the school district's operation includes $1,956,408 from local sources. This represents property taxes of $1,873,319, special education funds of $22,089, adult education tuition of $6,000, investment of $20,000 and other income of $35,000.

Revenues from the state include state aid membership of $42,431. At one time, more than one-half of the school district's operating funds came from state aid membership, but legislation has reduced the state's share of educating youngsters in this district.

This school district has 80 less memberships than last year. Total enrollment based on the Fourth Friday count is 1,880, which includes 1,829 students in kindergarten through the 12th grade, 43 adult education students and eight part time students. The total membership in 1976-77 was 1,960, down from a high of 2,067 in 1972-73.

Other revenues to be received from the state includes $100,000 for transportation, $33,000 for vocational education added cost, $5,940 for driver education, $3,907 for community education, $10,000 for adult basic education, $13,000 for special education, $1,200 for part time nonresident students, $3,500 in other funds.

The revenue portion of the budget includes $20,000 for federally impacted students and $40,000 representing a transfer from building trades for construction of a house.

Expenditures are budgeted as follows: Elementary instruction expense, $537,638; junior high school instruction, $229,027; high school instruction, $626,158; community education, $41,682; vocational, $34,000; administration, $85,007; health services, $200; fiscal services, $235,040; community services, $4,830; outgoing transfers, $28,000; transportation, $184,490; operation and maintenance, $223,310.

Salaries represent 80 percent or more of any budget and totals at Tawas Area School include $445,627 for elementary teachers' salaries, $21,185 for the principal's salary, $3,000 for substitutes, $10,614 for secretaries and $5,419 for other salaries.

Total budgeted for junior high school teachers' salaries is $186,189, $14,535 for the principal, $2,500 for substitutes, $9,637 for secretaries and $4,200 for other salaries.

The total for high school is $488,037 for teachers' salaries, $42,121 for principal and assistant principal, $9,000 for driver education, $3,500 for substitutes, $15,050 for secretaries and $36,350 for other salaries.

Other salaries include: Community education, $20,542 for director, $14,000 for teachers, $3,140 for secretary; vocational education, $2,400 for director, $2,400 for placement and followup, $10,000 for salaries; administration, $2,000 for board of education per diem, $28,035 for superintendent, $23,472 for secretaries; community services, crossing guards, $4,830; transportation, $10,000 for director, $60,000 for drivers' salaries; $4,000 for extra trips and $3,140 for secretary; operation and maintenance, $71,702 for custodial salaries.

Area Sewer Project Receives Federal Grant for Survey

A $95,175 grant to continue preliminary design and site surveys for a proposed regional waste water treatment system was approved last week by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

According to United States Rep. Phillip Ruppe, Houghton, the grant is to fund ground water table studies and examination of natural filtration patterns.

The grant was made to Tawas City as the lead applicant for the four units involved in the study, which includes East Tawas, Baldwin Township and Tawas Township.

This project received a step one planning grant and work on that project was completed last summer. Conducted by Edmonds Engineering Company, consultant for Tawas City, and Spicer Engineering Company, consultant for East Tawas, that survey recommended the addition of secondary sewage treatment facilities at both Tawas City and East Tawas waste water treatment plants.

The above recommendation was adopted following a public hearing concerning a number of different alternatives for secondary sewage treatment.

Nature Center Meeting Oct. 19

Official opening program of the Huron Nature Center is to be held Wednesday, October 19, 7:30 p. m., at the Whittemore-Prescott Area High School library.

An apple cider press will provide homemade cider for those people present. Movies from the National Audubon Society and the Canadian consulate will highlight the meeting. Interested persons of all ages are welcome.

Input from members of the Iosco Audubon Society, area boy scouts, local conservation groups, community organizations and area school officials will be especially welcome.

During the past year, a group of citizens with input from the Iosco Soil Conservation District, the Agricultural Extension office, the Chippewa Nature Center of Midland and local school systems have been organizing the nature center which eventually hopes to provide an area for environmental education and outdoor recreation for the benefit of area residents. Local community organizations and area schools.

Tawas Lake Residents Voice Protest on Multiple Housing

About 35 Tawas Lake residents were on hand Monday night to express disapproval concerning a proposed zoning change to permit construction of multi-family apartment homes in residential areas of East Tawas.

No objection was heard to proposed rezoning of the US-23 area east of the Tawas Beach Road intersection for commercial purposes.

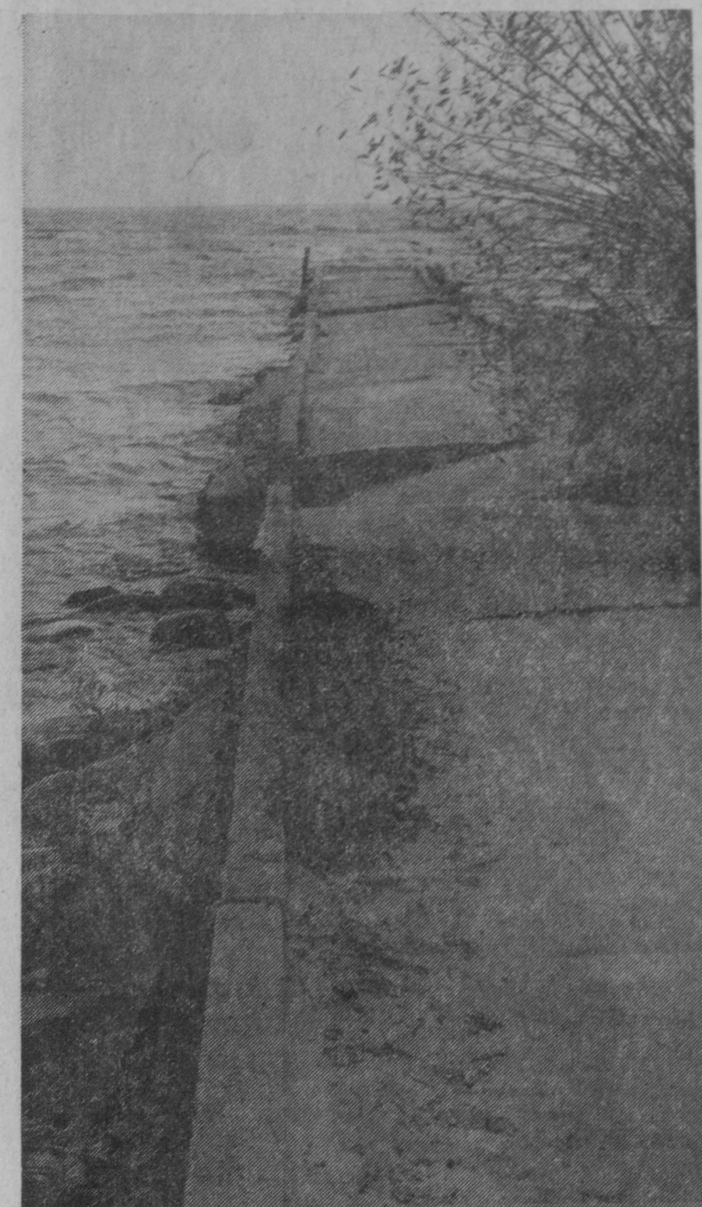

Under the proposal presented at the public hearing Monday night by the East Tawas Council, apartment homes up to three stories high would be permitted in four areas of the city. One area includes the 40 acres formerly comprising the county airport and two other sections in the Tawas Lake area as well as one area a block east of Newman Street on Jefferson.

City Clerk Clyde Soper said that notices of the hearing were sent to 507 property owners. Ten letters were received in opposition to the zoning change, plus the 35 persons who were on hand Monday night.

No action was taken by the city council on the matter. The planning commission is to be requested to study the proposal and make a recommendation, as well as to study the present zoning ordinance.

Prior to the hearing, the council accepted the bid of BMY Contractors, Beaverton, of $180,073.50 for construction of the Tawas Lake Sanitary Sewer Project No. 2. This work is to be financed with funds on hand by the city and will require no bonding.

The council permitted the firm of E. A. Wood of Oscoda to withdraw its bid of $132,457 for this project. An error was found in cost of the sewer main.

FOR MANY YEARS, the City of Tawas City has attempted to obtain ownership of the east side of the Tawas River mouth. This was accomplished last week through a land acquisition costing $30,000. The old pier in the above photo was constructed years ago on the same location of the old Hale sawmill dock.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas School Studies Return to 'Old Fashioned' Discipline

A new in-school suspension program for disciplinary purposes is under study at Tawas Area High School, according to a report at Monday night's board of education meeting.

The administration is to involve the teaching staff with this new concept, seek personnel to provide supervision and locate proper and adequate space.

Jerry W. Youngs, assistant principal, indicated this program is similar to school disciplinary action taken years ago, whereby offenders of school rules were required to remain after the regular school day. Such discipline was still in use here during the 1960s, although it was complicated by bus transportation conflicts.

Youngs said that under the new detention program, offending students would be assigned to a room after the regular school day. A staff member would be on hand and the student would work on class assignments or on work details around the school building.

Parents would be responsible for providing transportation home for the student.

Youngs said that the proposed program would not eliminate the school's present suspension policy for some offenses.

In other business, the board of education heard reports on the school vocal and instrumental music instructional program. Speakers included Patricia Casey, vocal and instrumental music teacher at the Tawas City Elementary Unit; Daniel Bergh, vocal music teacher at the East Tawas Elementary Unit; Gene Salamony, instrumental music teacher and department head.

After School Sessions

In addition to its vocal music program, the Tawas City Elementary Unit utilizes 10 guitars, flutophones and 30 xylophones in its instrumental instruction.

Bergh outlined his program at the East Tawas Elementary Unit as well as the choir program for the junior and senior high school. He said that his special elementary choir numbering 74 voices is available for guest appearances at meetings of local organizations. Salamony outlined objectives of the music department and told of upcoming evenings involving the bands. The marching band is to participate in a festival this week-end at Reed City. The symphonic band has been invited to participate in a rehearsal type clinic at Ann Arbor.

Gene Gerber, community education director, reported that 13 classes are being offered in adult high school completion this year. There are 215 adults enrolled this year as compared to 174 last year. Adult enrichment classes have an enrollment of 458 as compared to 384 last year.

Merschel Heads Iosco Commission

Hale A. Board Adopts Budget for 1977-78

A $1,228,254 operational budget for 1977-78 was approved following a public hearing Monday night by Hale Area School Board of Education.

According to the revenue budget, income of the school during the coming year will be $1,231,486. Hale Area School receives no state membership aid and $1,059,540 is to come from property taxes.

Other revenue items include $65,000 from the state for transportation, $27,000 from Title I and about $28,000 from other state sources.

Supt. Wayne Case said that total revenue from local sources would amount to $1,091,643.

He said that the budget plans for a 15 percent increase in the cost of utilities this school year.

In other business, a first draft of school district goals was presented to the board of education for its study and input. Study sessions are to be held later in the year to work on a final draft.

The board of education voted to name the high school football field in memory of the late William Wereley, former member of the board of education and former county commissioner.

Official hiring of Robert McDonald as the new junior and senior high school principal was approved.

SATURDAY'S brief "Indian summer" weather brought out trout and salmon fishermen by the hundreds to the Tawas area. This picture is reminiscent of the days when fishermen lined the Tawas River during the annual perch run, but these fishermen are out after much larger prizes. Many of the fishermen were successful.—Tawas Herald Photo.

"Make love your aim." (1 Corinthians 14:1 RSV)

Stuart wondered why it always had to end this way. He loved the children; but no matter how hard he tried, his mornings with them always ended in a fight. They seemed so close to their mother; why not to him? He worked hard to see to it that they were well clothed, that they had a home as fine as that of any of their friends, that they ate well—all of this, and yet, they did not really seem to care for him. Why?

It was always the same things: Aileen's skirt was too short; Todd's jeans too faded and old looking, with patches all over them, and somehow Kevin managed to spill the milk every single morning! He hated leaving in a huff but what could he do about it?

As he drove across town to work, Stuart felt angry, guilty, sorry, disgusted, totally upset. Why did every day start out like this? Was every family like his?

PRAYER

Father, why are we divided from those we love? Why do we seem to hurt the ones we care for the very most? We ask You to help us through this dilemma. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Maybe God is trying to show us something when the whole world seems to be going wrong. What is it?—W. Jack Noble (Alexandria, Virginia)

His ship was recommissioned September 17 at the Norfolk Naval Shipyard in Portsmouth, Virginia. VAdm. W. L. Read, commander of Atlantic Naval Surface Forces, was the principal speaker at the ceremony.

The King, first commissioned in 1960, was decommissioned to undergo an extensive anti-air warfare modernization program. Leamon is one of more than 377 officers and enlisted men assigned to the King. His ship is now capable of providing fast carrier striking forces with both antisubmarine and anti-air defense. She is equipped with long range search radar and is outfitted with surface-to-air Terrier missiles and an antisubmarine rocket launcher. She is 512 feet long, displaces 5,800 tons and can travel at speeds in excess of 30 knots.

The King is scheduled to undergo an intensive test and crew training period in December of this year, followed by final contract trials and a post shakedown cruise.

His ship will be homeported in Norfolk, Virginia.

A 1975 graduate of Hale Area High School, Leamon joined the navy in May 1976.

Assigned to Lowry AFB

Ann. Michael W. Eccleston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Eccleston, Oscoda, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colorado, after completing air force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the air force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force. He will now receive specialized training in the supply field.

The airman is a 1977 graduate of Oscoda Area High School.

Participates in NATO Exercise

Michael I. Butler, navy gunner's mate third class, son of Irving L. Butler, Oscoda, is participating in the major NATO exercise, Display Determination.

His command has joined naval forces from Portugal, Italy, Greece, Turkey and the United Kingdom for the combined exercise which includes convoy operations, amphibious assault landings and antisubmarine warfare maneuvers.

Display Determination is designed to train NATO naval forces in combined sea operations, refine NATO procedures and ensure that operational plans are current. Participating units will test NATO standardized doctrines, equipment and armaments, plus command and control procedures for coordinated action by NATO sea, land and air forces.

He joined the navy in September 1975.

Property Transfer Request Denied

Tawas Area Board of Education accepted a recommendation from Supt. Robert Halle Monday night and denied property transfers requested by three Sherman Township families.

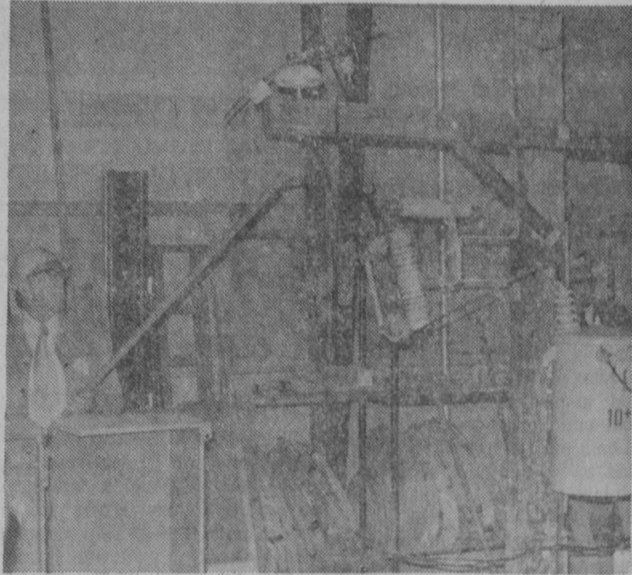

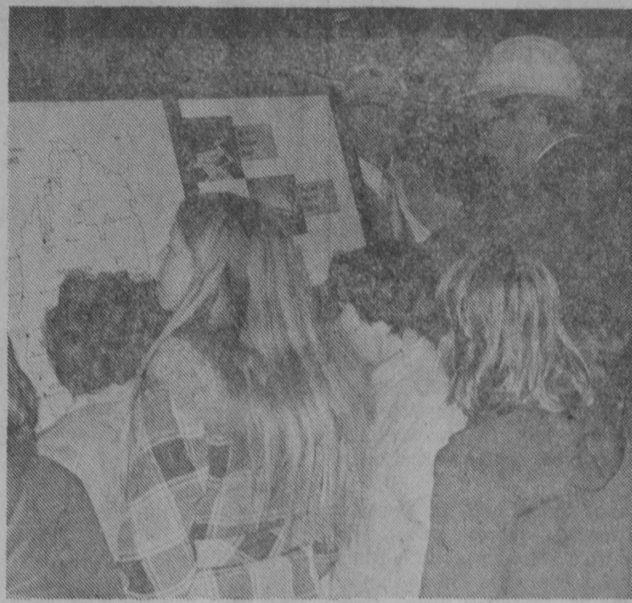

A letter had been received requesting the transfer of property owned by Giori and Lorenz families to Whittemore-Prescott Area School District and transfer of property owned by the Busch family in Whittemore-Prescott Area School District to Tawas Area School District.

Halle told board members he could see no advantage to this district through the transfer as it would not solve the problem of a jagged line between the two districts. He believed the intermediate school district should be involved in any change of the boundary lines.

The proposed transfer has been discussed for a number of years. The Giori and Lorenz families send their nine children to Whittemore-Prescott Area School and the Busch family has one child attending Tawas Area School District. Tuition is not charged to any of the families.

The denial was approved by a four to three roll call vote. In favor of accepting the superintendent's recommendation were Trustees Kathryn Leitz, James Russo, David Kennedy and Clare Herriman. Voting "no" and in favor of the transfer were Robert Curry, Willard Dillon and Randall DeWyse.

YOUNGSTERS from Josco County participated in a four-day fall school conservation energy tour sponsored by the Josco County Soil Conservation District and 4-H Clubs. Stops included Consumers Power Company's facility at Baldwin Centre (pictured above), Michigan Consolidated Gas Company at Baldwin Centre, the waste water treatment plant and water filtration plant at East Tawas. Funeral Held for Mrs. Schanbeck

Edna Elizabeth Schanbeck, who was born April 9, 1914, at Mikado, died Friday, October 7, at Tawas Hospital. A resident of East Tawas, she was a member of Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Tawas City.

The Rev. Marshall McGuire officiated at services Monday, October 10, from Jacques and Kobs East Chapel and burial was in Greenwood Cemetery, East Tawas.

Survivors include her husband, Edward; one son, James Minard of Bridgeport; one daughter, Charlotte Skiver of East Tawas; 13 grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. She also leaves three step sons, Terry Schanbeck of East Tawas, Randy Schanbeck, at home, and Ben Schanbeck of Ft. Myers, Florida; one step daughter, Sue Schanbeck of San Francisco, California; four brothers, Charles and Claude McGuire of Tawas City, Roger McGuire of Bay City, and Wilber McGuire of California; six sisters, Marion Fowler of Mikado, Katherine Wogaman and Wilma Whisenand of Oscoda, Rose Goodison and Gladys Miller of California and Ora Skiver of East Tawas.

Braves Defeated Falcons; Take NEM Conference Lead

Tawas Braves surprised the Northeastern Michigan Conference Friday night by taking over undisputed possession of first place in league standings. Coupled with Pinconning's upset of Standish-Sterling, the Braves extended their league record to three wins and no losses by beating Ogemaw Heights, 28-10.

Observing homecoming night before a large crowd of fans, the Braves spotted the Falcons a 7-0 first quarter lead, but came back to take the lead in the second quarter.

Ogemaw Heights scored first when the Falcons took a Tawas punt on the eight-yard line and seven plays later scored on a five-yarder by Brian Zettle. Kyle Davison booted the one-point conversion.

Tawas could get nowhere on the next series and had to punt, the ball coming to rest on Ogemaw's two-yard line. The Falcons picked up four yards and had to punt on fourth down. A bad snap from center gave Tawas a two-point conversion when the ball sailed over the punter's head and Tawas recovered.

The Braves scored on the next series when Bill King took Ogemaw's free kick to the 46-yard line. Six plays later, Halfback Jerry Gracik rolled 20 yards to a touchdown and Tawas had a 8-7 lead. A good block by Jeff Nichols opened the way for Tawas' first touchdown with five minutes, 24 seconds to go in the second quarter.

Tawas kicked off to Ogemaw and received a break on the first play from scrimmage when Brian Norton recovered a Falcon fumble on the 28. Six plays later, Halfback Andy Mayer scored from three yards out to give Tawas a 14-7 margin.

Davison kicked a 24-yard field goal with three seconds remaining in the half to cut Tawas' lead to 14-10.

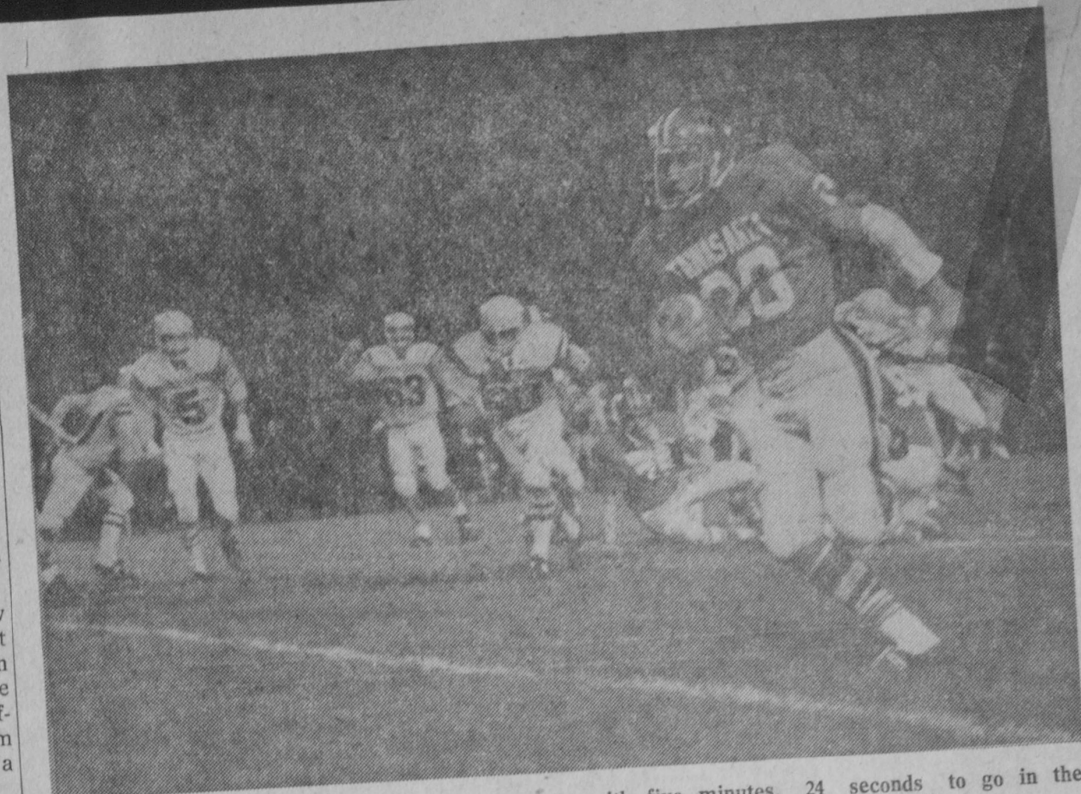

The Braves had a golden scoring opportunity in the third quarter when another bad snap from center on an attempted punt had the Falcons in trouble. The Braves moved the ball to the three-yard line, but could not score.

A good defensive play later in the quarter by Halfback Pete Wood stopped a Falcon passing threat and Tawas took over the ball on a punt at its own 49. Gracik rolled to his second touchdown of the night on the first play from scrimmage.

The final touchdown of the game came on a nine-yard pass from King to Gary Birkenbach. Gracik ran the two-point conversion to give Tawas the 28-10 victory.

Gracik finished the game with 176 yards rushing in 21 carries. The Tawas defense held Ogemaw Heights to 26 yards rushing in the second half.

The Braves are to play at Gladwin this Friday night and are to meet Standish-Sterling Central on October 21. The Panthers were upset Friday night by Pinconning, 24-6, rebounding from a 6-3 loss to Tawas the previous week.

Hale Eagles Come from Behind to Win

Hale Area Eagles observed homecoming night in fine fashion by turning back Posen, 20-12, in football action Friday night. The Eagles are tied with Hillman for first place in the North Star League race.

Posen scored first when Todd Neidczwiecki went 25 yards in the first quarter, then ran eight yards for a second touchdown in the second period to give the visitors a 12-0 lead.

Hale put a good drive together shortly before the half and Rick Weaver scored on a five-yard run. Mark Braun booted the conversion to cut Posen's lead to 12-7.

The Eagles took over the lead in the third quarter when Quarterback Bryon Bernard ran 82 yards for a touchdown. Terry Allen ran 85 yards for another touchdown in the fourth quarter and Braun booted the conversion for the final score.

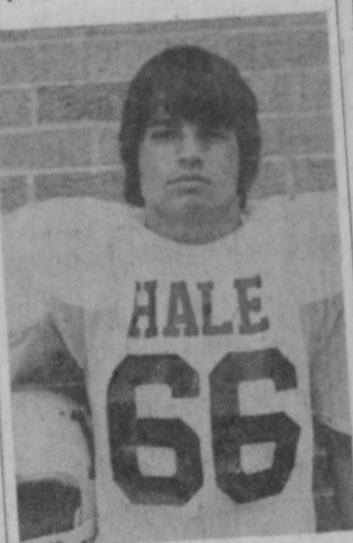

Hale dominated the game with 281 yards rushing and 26 yards passing. Allen had 128 yards in six carries. Bernard picked up 83 yards in two carries and Weaver had 52 yards in six carries.

Card Girls Swept Two Games from S-S Central

By DORNACE BELLVILLE

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals girls swept two games from Standish-Sterling October 4. The varsity ran its victory string to six games with a 44-38 win while the junior varsity squad won its second straight game, 44-33, after four defeats.

The varsity game was a slow affair in the first quarter with Standish - Sterling scoring three fielders and the Cards connected only once to give the visitors a 6-2 first quarter lead.

Eight straight points for the Cards as the second quarter started cut the home team ahead, 10-6. The Card lead was cut to only one at intermission, 16-15.

The Panthers took the lead as the third quarter started, but the Cards went back to work to take over the lead, 30-28, at the three-quarter mark. The S-S girls cut the lead to 33-32, but a fielder by the Cards, one by Standish-Sterling, then four two-pointers by Smith gave the Cards a commanding 43-34 lead and coasted home with a well earned win.

The Card girls gave Coach Cindy Preston some anxious moments as they usually wait until late in the third quarter before really getting down to work.

Smith and McCord led the scoring with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Christie and Swartz each had 11 points for the losers.

The Cardinal junior varsity team is playing much better basketball and rang up its second straight win. Nancy Britt scored 22 points and Joy Ori had 15.

Cards Search for Win; Lost to Gladwin Gs

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals continued to have rough going in the football season as Gladwin racked up its first league victory in three games. The Flying Gs blanked the Cardinals, 34-0.

Phil Redman rushed for 89 yards in 13 carries and scored twice on runs of six and five yards in his first start as a Gladwin tailback.

Other Gladwin scores were turned in by Charles Brown, four yards; Gary Nash, five yards; Dick Rhoads, two yards. John Wadmark kicked four one-point conversions.

The Cardinals were held to just 43 yards rushing.

Whitney Area Residents Sign Petition Against AuGres Drain

A petition signed by 112 property owners of Arenac County objecting to the AuGres watershed construction project is in the hands of Harry Krueger, Iosco County drain commissioner.

Krueger told the Herald Wednesday that he was undecided as yet to a course of action, or how they would be used.

The majority of those signing the petition are residents of Whitney Township, with a scattering of other townships. Two signatures are by persons from Tawas City, plus six from downstate areas, who apparently own hunting property in Arenac County.

Wording of the petition states that signers are opposed to construction of the AuGres watershed project for the following four reasons:

1. The cost will be borne by the taxpayer in Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw Counties which will be far in excess of the benefit that would be derived from its construction;
2. The drainage board and augmented drainage board do not have sufficient information as to the proportion of the costs to be borne by the government and the government will not commit themselves as to the amount they will bear;
3. That the project will only serve a special small interest group at the expense of the taxpayers at large;
4. That the impending policies of President Carter indicate a retraction of government spending and a possible economic recession which will bring even greater pressure upon taxpayers.

The petition summed up the signers' thinking by stating: "We therefore feel that the small benefits to be derived by this project is totally unjustified when weighed against the drastic costs that will be incurred by the undersigned. We strongly urge our governmental officials who control this project to discontinue any further proceedings."

Krueger told the Herald that he had the petition in his possession during a recent meeting of the soil conservation districts of the three counties, but did not present it as was reported.

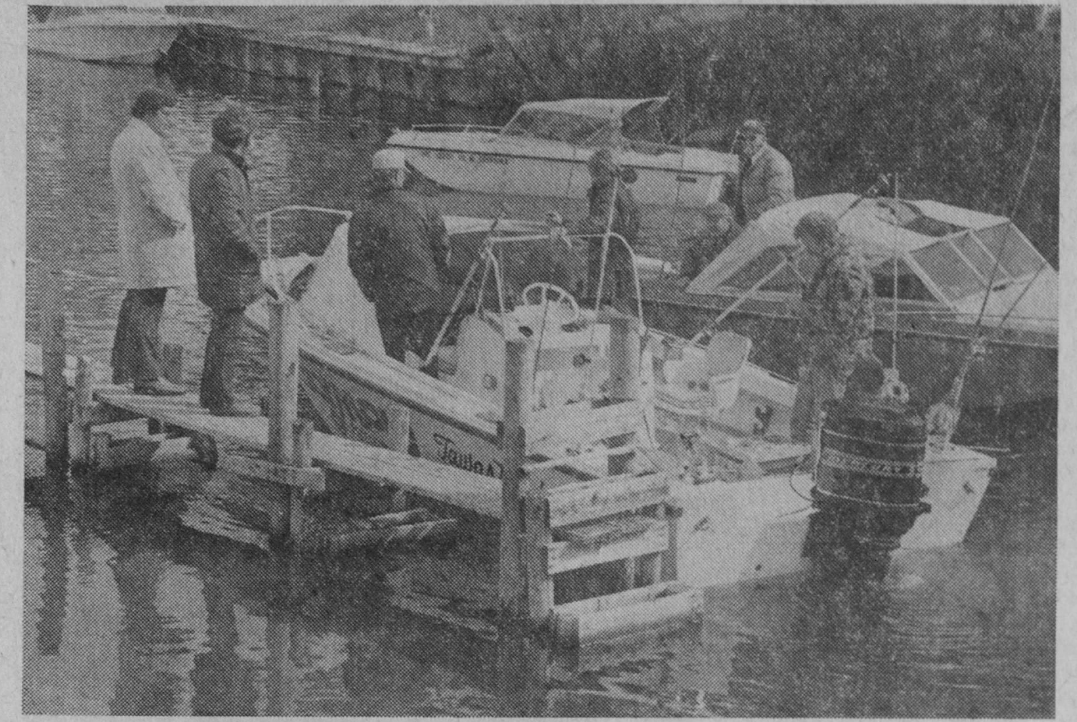

That meeting was called to record SCD preference for three plans submitted by the Soil Conservation Service as possible solutions to the flooding problem.

The recent SCD decision, according to Kenneth Neepser, Arenac County Soil conservationist was strictly an advisory action. The final decision will be made by the Tri-County Drain Board, now the only legal body involved in the AuGres River Basin decision.

Krueger was quoted by the Arenac Independent last week as stating he did not present the petitions at the SCD meeting as he "did not want to get into this with the Arenac farmers present at the meeting."

The Iosco drain commissioner told the Herald that he was particularly concerned over the AuGres watershed project because of the cost to all involved. He said that county commission of both Iosco and Ogemaw had opposed the project for years and that numerous Arenac County residents had expressed their opposition to the project.

Krueger said the Arenac people "turned to him" as they had no one else to turn to. Last week, Krueger came under fire from the Arenac County soil conservationist for statements made by Krueger the previous week in a news story which appeared in the Herald.

Four Plainfield Residents Pass State Level One Assessor Test

Four Plainfield Township students received level one appraisal certificates from the state tax commission after successfully passing recent state examinations. Receiving certification were

Richard Brown, Virginia Cruz, David Karn and Sue Jozsa.

They were among six of 20 students from Iosco County who qualified for state certification after participating in a 16-week training program conducted by John Rose, Iosco County equalization director, held at the local branch of Kirtland Community College.

The students are now continuing their studies in a Kirtland program in order to write level two examinations.

This program is part of a federal CETA program authorized by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners which will provide manpower to completely reappraise the county for taxing purposes. The above students have been working for the tax equalization department since completing training last summer.

At the outset of the training, Rose said that only about 20 percent of those persons taking state examinations would pass the test and he was pleased that the number of successful completions was higher than the average.

The county board of commissioners has considered the appraisal training as one of the most successful local aspects of the CETA program, which is designed to retrain unemployed persons for new occupations.

When the Michigan "Polar Bears" met the "Russian Bear" nearly 60 years ago, a young Iosco man was to fall as one of the martyrs in what was and continues to be one of the more controversial military episodes in American history.

The young man who lost his life in Siberia was Glen P. Staley of Plainfield Township, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staley. He was one of nearly 100 Michigan men, whose bodies were brought home in December 1929, "the culmination of one of the most poignant patriotic pilgrimages in American history," commented The Tawas Herald in its first issue of that month.

Staley's body was brought from Detroit to East Tawas with an escort from the United States Army. The following day, the body was taken to Hale by members of Jesse C. Hodder and Audie Johnson Posts, American Legion, along with local "Polar Bear" veterans. Military rites were given and the remains were interred at Evergreen Cemetery.

Staley was a member of the 339th Infantry Regiment which clashed with the Red Army through Russia's bitter snows and endless Arctic night in 1918-19.

At least 13 other Iosco men served in the famous "Polar Bear" regiment. Only one man, Leonard Bouchard, is living today. Others included Joseph St. Aubin, Beryl Hughes, George Smith, Lester Biggs, "Cap" and Ernest Benedict, Fred Blust, Emil Bygden, Nelson Ulman, Leo Waack, Joseph Quartermaster and Daniel Taylor. Other local men who served with United States units in Russia or Siberia were John Swartz and Scott Shuman.

Bouchard, who lives on M-55 west of Tawas City, recalls that he had to be carried off the boat when it docked at Archangel. "I had the flu and went directly to the American dispensary," said Bouchard. "The only thing the doctors had to give us was aspirin powders, but I pulled through."

In the summer of 1918, with Russia out of World War I as a result of the Bolshevik revolution, the Allies sent troops into Russia at two points. It did so because English and French leaders had hopes of renewing the eastern front against Germany and, also, to recover large stores of war supplies which had been left at the port of Archangel.

Staley was to fall near Syskoi, a short distance from Archangel during an Allied drive. Bouchard recalled last week that after he recovered from his illness, he and other members of Company F joined the expedition to meet enemy forces about 200 miles away.

"We used small ponies and sleds for travel through the snow, which was like powder because of the cold weather. Our unit ran into numerous small enemy patrols along the way to the front."

Sixteen years ago, St. Aubin recalled that "when we debarked at Archangel in September of 1918, we found that the supplies which we were to guard had long since been removed and, that instead of becoming merely guard troops, the 339th had become a part of the Allied forces under command of the British."

The campaign was unusual in that Russia had been one of the Allied powers fighting the Germans. However, after the bloody Bolshevik revolution of 1917, the Germans were free to transfer troops to the western front because of the political turmoil inside Russia.

Czechoslovakian troops which had been fighting the Germans on the eastern front now had no enemy in front of them, or so they thought, and they embarked on an expedition to reach Archangel—they soon found their former allies were the enemy.

Frightened Allied officials believed that if Bolshevism was left unchecked in Russia, it might spread throughout Europe like some disease. Pres. Woodrow Wilson, although sympathetic to the wishes of the Allies, was reluctant to go along. He doubted that the front could be opened again and believed that intervention might even strengthen the Bolsheviks, who would then appear as defenders of Russian sovereignty against a foreigner.

Wilson later agreed to an intervention when the Czech army, which had been fighting alongside the Russians against the Germans, was attacked. The Czechs had asked for and received permission from Moscow to leave Russia via the port of Vladivostok, but were soon attacked.

By then, Siberia had become a hotbed of factionalism and political sentiments ran from the extreme left to the extreme right. A number of "governments" had been formed, none of which had more than a flimsy claim to be legitimate.

Into this situation, units of the United States Army were sent to "steady any efforts at self-government or self-defense in which the Russians themselves may be willing to accept assistance."

"When we landed at Archangel, a British officer briefed the American troops and explained that strategy of the Allied forces was offensive and not defensive—we soon learned that we were not merely sent there to guard supplies," recalled St. Aubin in 1961.

Men of the Polar Bear regiment never forgot their first ride to the "front." Boxcars were drafty and unheated and the icy wind swept around, under and through them—while the train was moving, the men boxed, wrestled and jumped up and down just to keep from freezing.

Men in Bouchard's company, using the pony carts, had to watch the faces of their comrades very carefully to detect any signs of frostbite.

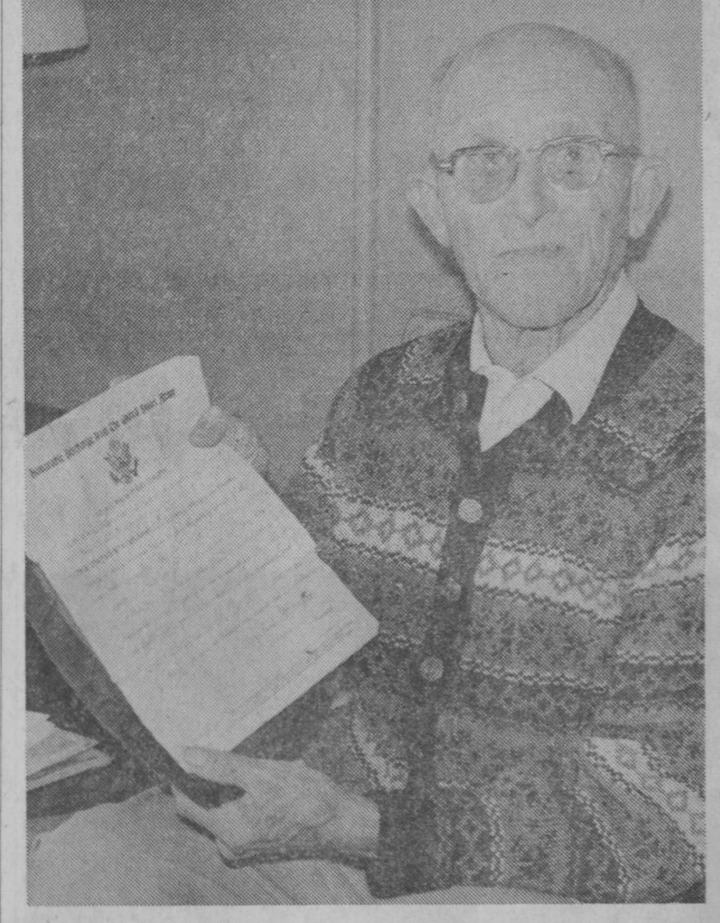

The infantrymen wore long sheepskin-lined coats in addition to regular winter uniforms. The British issued special boots and, although very warm, the boots had leather soles so smooth that it was difficult to walk in them.

Bolshevik forces were much stronger than first anticipated. The object of the troops was to move up the Dvina River and, not meeting much opposition, proceeded about 125 miles. The entire expedition soon met stiff resistance and went on the defensive.

Because of the political nature of the campaign, yesterday's ally in Russia often proved to be the enemy the next day. The United States attempted to remain in a neutral position, but anything it did on that foreign soil appeared that it was taking sides in the Russian civil war, no matter how correct its conduct.

The 339th was composed of troops from Michigan and Wisconsin, along with a smattering of troops from other states. None had ever experienced anything like the cold of Northern Russia winter—the temperature ranged from 40 degrees to 70 degrees below zero.

Mail and supplies came through in a thin, agonizing trickle, but the most puzzling part was that the war for which the men had come to fight had ended with the Armistice of November 11, 1918, in France—their comrades on French soil were returning home and they remained in Russia. It was not until July 1919, that the "Polar Bear" regiment returned home and Bouchard docked at New York City, New York, aboard the troopship, US Grant.

In recent years, the country was thrust into similar circumstances in Southeast Asia and the withdrawal of forces was long and agonizing. The final departure of the adventure in Russia for the United States was not completed until April 1, 1920, when headquarters of the AEF and remaining units were removed.

"The manner in which this difficult and arduous task was performed is worthy of the best traditions of the army," ran the official governmental citation. For the Michigan men of the "Polar Bear" regiment, all were happy just to get out of Siberia. When they returned home, they soon found that the fight against the Bolshevik had been forgotten.

America's participation in the expedition has never been forgotten in Russia and has long been a point of friction between the two countries. An American Legion post has been named in memory of Glen Staley at Hale and Bouchard is one of the few survivors who recall the bitter cold during the long tramp through Northern Russia.

Tawas Braves rolled to a 3-7 win over the Oscoda Owls for their fourth straight victory of the season. It was the first time that Tawas had ever defeated Oscoda on the latter's home field.

Candidates for Tawas Area School homecoming queen include Janet Czarka, Lynn "Penny" Klenow and Sona Vance.

October 10, 1952—In order that all areas in the new Tawas School District may have the opportunity of being represented on the first school board, the Reorganization

Committee has suggested that in the election of a new school board, zones be set up under a gentlemen's agreement. The five zones would include Baldwin-Wilber, East Tawas, Tawas City, Grant-Tawas, Alabaster-Whitney. More than 6,000 people are registered in Iosco County for the November 4 general election, reports County Clerk George A. Prescott. These figures represented an increase in registration in all voting precincts of the county, especially Oscoda, Plainfield Township and East Tawas, where unusually large numbers registered during the final days. It is expected that the turnout at the election will break all previous records throughout the state.

Elmer Ogden and "Chuck" Brown have purchased a genuine (so they say) western horse and are spending their spare time laying in a supply of hay and oats. They are now in the market for a buggy.

Iosco County's quota in the salvage drive is 200 tons of scrap iron and it is expected that the current drive will go much higher than that figure. School children are showing the nation how to cut red tape by getting down to work in this campaign for the war effort. More than 75 tons of scrap have been collected by Tawas City school students and other schools are doing as well. It is expected that the county will have more than 500 tons of scrap by October 16.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Hale Area Schools finished the 1976-77 fiscal year with a balanced budget of $88,418.00. This figure is somewhat misleading due to the State Mandate on Bus Amortization. No longer are we able to show what we actually pay on bus purchases, as we are required to depreciate the cost over seven years regardless of when the money is paid.

As has been the practice for the past two years, Hale is considered by the State to be a wealthy district. This means that we receive no membership State aid, our schools are ninety (90) percent locally funded. Under the Bursley Bill, membership State aid is disbursed in relation to students and State Equalized Valuation. Our school district has either too much land or too few students.

Our district is continuing to grow. This past year we had 808 students enrolled in grades K-12 and this year we have 810.

DRESS WARM—STAY COMFORTABLE AT 68 DEGREES

If turning down the thermostat this winter to save energy and money, there is no need to be uncomfortable. With appropriate dress, one can even keep warm in temperatures below 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

What one needs to do is wear clothes that entrap the air, so body heat cannot escape. It is this entrapment of air within the garment itself and between it and the body surface or other layers of fabric that gives clothing its insulation value. So in general, thicker-feeling fabrics will be warmer than thinner ones. It is the thickness of a fabric, rather than the weight which makes the clothing warm.

It is better to wear several layers of lightweight clothing than to wear one or two heavy ones. These layers build up dead air pockets and entrap body heat. Another advantage to wearing layers of clothing is that as one increases activity and becomes warmer, layers of clothing can be removed. Fabric construction is more important than fiber content. For example, a knit sweater made of synthetic acrylic will be warm because the knit construction traps air. One does not need to wear wool to keep warm.

Another way to entrap air is to wear clothing made of thermal fabrics. Good quality thermal underwear will create a larger layer of trapped body air between the skin and the underwear and between the underwear and the next layer of clothing.

Down is a very good insulator and gives warmth without weight. It compresses easily and is still resilient. It breathes and allows body moisture to escape and it is washable. Polyester fiber fill has many of the qualities of down, but is less expensive.

To keep warm and comfortable in active sports or outdoor work activity, wear clothing that will absorb perspiration, such as cotton T-shirt. A thin pair of cotton socks can be worn under thicker socks. Some people must be given special consideration because cold is a general stress and calls on body energy reserves to compensate for these conditions. The elderly, infants, premature babies, alcoholics, the malnourished and people with poor circulation must make special provisions to limit loss and exposure to cooler temperatures.

In general, if one wears thick fabrics, several layers of clothing and an absorptive fabric next to the body, he will be comfortable in room temperatures below 70 degrees Fahrenheit. For every degree the thermostat is turned down, energy is saved constituting a three percent reduction in the home heating bill. But remember, it takes energy to produce the additional clothing needed to buy to keep warm.
