

East Tawas OK's Blacktop Program

A $41,624 street blacktopping program to be constructed this fall was accepted Monday night by the East Tawas Council.

According to a report by William Smith, city superintendent, the following streets would be constructed with blacktop:

Newman Street, from Jefferson to Tawas Lake Road, 2,885 feet, $19,630; Newman Street, from Lincoln Street to Jefferson, 1,395 feet, $6,820; Smith Street, from Bennington to Fox Street, 731 feet, $3,573; Fox Street, from Smith to American House, 760 feet, $3,715; Bennington, from Smith to Wadsworth Street, 330 feet, $1,613; Lincoln Street, from Wadsworth to Grant, 1,324 feet, $6,473.

In addition to the above work, shoulders on Newman Street would be constructed at a cost of $7,000.

One project remains under study. The council decided to stabilize River Street with gravel this fall.

In other business, a letter was read from Elmer Werth objecting to the payment of $4,000 to Gordon MacAndrew for his interest in submerged lake bottom property. The city recently purchased MacAndrew's rights to the property in order to construct the new boat launching facility at the foot of Wadsworth Street.

A meeting is to be held by the council Thursday, 2:00 p. m., to open bids on construction of the Tawas Lake sewer project No. 2.

A meeting is to be held at 6:30 p. m. Monday prior to the 7:00 p. m. hearing on proposed rezoning of various areas of the city for multiple family housing and an area of US-23 for commercial.

Tawas City Purchases River Mouth

Two land purchases, largest in the city's history totaling $70,000, were approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

Documents were signed by city officials purchasing the former Lubaway property at the mouth of the Tawas River plus a 40-acre site in Tawas Township adjoining the Ninth Avenue industrial park, purchased from Mrs. James B. Hughes.

Acquisition of the river mouth property from the Lubaways has been a long-sought dream of city officials and private citizens interested in development of the river mouth for boating. The city is to study utilization of the Hughes property for industrial and other uses.

The Lubaway property includes the east side of the river mouth along with a concrete block building and four lots fronting along US-23 and extending out into Tawas Bay. The building and the four lots, located east of the Graystone, were added to the final transaction by the Lubaways for the original price of $30,000 established for the river mouth property.

The council is to inspect the property and building, which apparently was not included in the original negotiations. The four lakefront lots are not usable because of being submerged by Tawas Bay.

This transaction is being funded initially with $3,000 from city revenue sharing money. The city signed a contract with Grace A. Lubaway and Landon B. Lubaway to pay the remaining $27,000 at an interest rate of eight percent. The city has the option to pay off the entire contract at one time.

The Iosco County Board of Commissioners recently designated $15,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to assist with the purchase of this property. City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz is to appear before the commission today to outline details of the purchase and make application for the funds.

The city has sought ownership of the east side of the river mouth for 15 or more years. In past negotiations with state and federal agencies for assistance in development of a small boat harbor, funds were not available due to the lack of public property.

The property was purchased by the late Joseph Lubaway of Wyandotte in the 1920s and he was instrumental in organizing the Tawas Yacht Club. Improvements were made to the property, including construction of a pier at the site of the old Hale sawmill dock. A boat slip was also dug to connect with the river.

The organization was not active during the depression, but Lubaway made minor improvements to the property over the years. Following World War II, he made repairs to the pier and constructed a concrete block building east of the Graystone for a boat and motor sales and service. He and his son, Landon, operated the business for several years.

An unsuccessful attempt was made a number of years ago to secure the property for the city, but negotiations were resumed several months ago by City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz and Carl B. Babcock.

Plans are to be made for future development of the property by the council, planning commission and other city officials.

The second transaction saw the council authorize an expenditure of $10,000 from federal revenue sharing funds to complete the city's transaction with Mrs. Hughes for 40 acres of land near the industrial park and in Tawas Township. The remaining $30,000 has an interest rate of 8 1/2 percent, but the city has the option to pay the entire balance owed on the property.

An option was taken on this property three years ago by the Tawas Area Industrial Development Corporation during original negotiations on the federal funding for the area water expansion program. The city obtained the option on the property earlier this year.

ANNUAL KICKOFF for the Tawas-Hale-Whittemore Community Chest was held Monday morning with breakfast at Tawas Golf and Country Club. Miss Clara Bolen, president of the organization, gave her "pep talk" to chairpersons and workers to open the campaign for a goal of 19,386. There were 57 persons in attendance. Miss Bolen and other speakers emphasized that every effort is to be made to complete the program by October 17. Co-chairpersons for the 77-78 campaign are, from left, Dr. Robert Halle and Susan Freil, Tawas area; the Rev. Willis Braun, Hale area; James Franklin, Whittemore area. It's a Great Time of the Year —Local Dealers Show '78's

October is an exciting time of the year in automobile salesrooms across the country—traditionally so for Michigan, which has long been the automobile capital of the country.

Automobile manufacturers of the state introduce new models during the first week of October to kick off another 12-month sales campaign.

Initial acceptance of newly introduced features is an important testing factor in automobile sales as that first public reaction is carried over during the remainder of the selling campaign.

Over the years, there have been some real surprises awaiting new car buyers during October. In spite of the advance publicity which precedes introduction of new models or innovations, it is at the local dealership where the public is able to make a first hand inspection of the actual product.

Local dealers' showrooms and sales lots are packed with gleaming new 1978 models and the public is invited to attend these showings:

Those local dealers announcing new models in this newspaper are as follows:

The 1978 Oldsmobile will be on display Thursday, October 6, at Barbier Motor Sales, Incorporated, 604 East Bay Street, East Tawas. Featured are the Oldsmobile Cutlass Salon Brougham Sedan and Oldsmobile Cutlass Calais, along with other new models. Coffee and donuts are to be served. Hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The first shipment of exciting new 1978 Pontiacs, Buicks and GMC Trucks has arrived at William Look and Sons, Incorporated, 200 Newman Street, East Tawas, and will be on display Thursday, October 6. Buick models include LeSabre Custom Sedan, Regal Coupe, Century Sport Coupe and Century Four-Door Sedan. Pontiac models include Grand Prix LBJ, Phoenix LJ Coupe, Firebird Formula and Grand LeMans Coupe. Free coffee and donuts are to be served and the dealership is to be open Thursday and Friday until 9:00 p. m. and on Saturday until 6:00 p. m.

Zubek Motor Sales on M-55, Tawas City, will be showing the beautiful new 1978 Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge Trucks on Friday, October 7. Featured at the salesroom will be the LeBaron Medallion four-door Sedan. Stanley Humphrey and Albert Zubek invite the public to stop in, browse through the showroom and new car lot to inspect the 1978 models with all colors, many body styles and features from which to choose. Sales representatives will be on hand to answer questions.

The Ford-Mercury auto show for 1978 opens Friday, October 7, at Inglis Ford-Mercury Sales, 401 Lake Street, Tawas City. All mod-

Oscoda's 'Bigfoot' May be 'Duckfoot,' Say Police

Strange tracks found along a wooded trail near Oscoda over the week-end by a St. Clair Shores hunter brought forth the story that "Bigfoot" may be living in Iosco County.

But, a state trooper who looked at a plaster cast made from an impression in the hard ground, said Tuesday it looked like a big "duckfoot" to him.

Reports of this type have been received throughout the state in recent weeks. The experts at Lansing are to determine if this report is a hoax, or if some type of "super duck" has developed in an Oscoda swamp after two solid months of rain.

It must be remembered, too, that Oscoda was the home of the late James MacGillivray—who wrote the original "Round River Drive" concerning Paul Bunyan.

Hale Area Citizens Opposed New Sanitary Sewer Proposal

Proposed expansion of a sanitary sewer collection system in the Hale area has been sidetracked for the time being—perhaps permanently—following a public hearing September 27 at the Plainfield Township Hall.

Expressions by those in attendance indicated that 60 of the 88 persons testifying verbally or in writing were opposed to the project. A "straw vote" was held giving each property owner the opportunity to indicate if he wished the township to proceed or not to proceed with plans for the project.

Major reasons for the opposition listed on the reverse side of the ballots included the high cost of construction as well as the fact that many property owners felt they were presently being served adequately with private septic tanks or they had new septic tank systems.

The proposed program included expansion of sanitary collection sewers, an additional waste stabilization pond and pumping stations.

As a result of the hearing, the township board decided to prepare an application for a federal grant for an additional waste stabilization pond at the township's lagoon sewage treatment facility off Esmond Road.

Ray Kesler, township supervisor, said the additional pond was needed to handle present users of the facility as well as to provide some expansion of service. He emphasized, however, that the new pond would not result in added fees to users of the system.

In addition, Kesler said that a meeting would be called to determine actual interest by property owners in a collection sewer main to serve the commercial area on M-65 south to the Colonial Inn.

Nab Two Youths in Stolen Auto

Two Oscoda juveniles were arrested early Sunday morning in a stolen automobile following a high speed chase with Iosco County Sheriff's Department deputies.

The two youth had stopped at the intersection of Monument Road and Wilber Road and a patrol car pulled up to question why the car was improperly parked. The car pulled away from the patrol car and sped north on Wilber Road.

The sheriff's department patrol car gave chase, but was unable to stop the other car until after it made a circle back to Monument Road over Grabow Road, Sherman Road and Cornet Road. During the chase, several oncoming cars were forced off the road. Officers said that the boys threw objects at the patrol car during the chase, which broke the car's spotlight and stopped the radio transmitter.

The patrol car bumped the other car several times and finally forced it off the road.

It was discovered that the car had been stolen following a breaking and entering at the Robert A. Young Jr. residence at Oscoda. A quantity of coins had been stolen there and were thrown at the patrol car.

ANNUAL HOMECOMING will be held this week-end at Tawas Area High School. One of the three senior girls pictured in front will be selected as homecoming queen and will be introduced during halftime of Friday night's football game between the Tawas Area Braves and Ogemaw Heights Falcons. Candidates include, from left, Judy Colton, Lynn Look and Carol Oates. Members of the queen's court from left include Janice Kitchen and Dawn Hester, juniors; Val Williams and Nancy Mooney, sophomores; Geraldine Fisher and Jill Sias, freshmen. A spirit banquet was held Monday night to open festivities. Sponsored by the student council, 150 persons attended. A snake dance and bonfire were held Tuesday night and students are to build floats Wednesday night. The annual homecoming dance is to be held at the high school gymnasium Saturday night starting at 8 o'clock.—Tawas Herald Photo.

May Rent Building for TC Fire Trucks

Rental of a concrete block building on South US-23, which has served at various times as a service station, restaurant, recreational vehicle sales and is now unoccupied, is being studied by the Tawas City Council as a second location for fire trucks.

During discussion on the proposal Monday night, a letter from Fire Chief Herbert Blust said he favored the proposal because of its being close to volunteer firemen living in that area and also due to the fact that it was close to Alabaster Township.

The building is owned by Robert N. Rollin, a member of the city council, who indicated the rent for the building would be $225 per month.

The city manager is to contact the Iosco-Arenac Regional Library to determine if a portion of the building might be used for the branch library. The city's contract on the present library in the old Buch building expired September 1. A decision is to be made within the next week.

In other business, the council is to inspect property at the corner of Cedar and Maple Streets. Three houses constructed many years ago on Maple Street are actually located in the street right-of-way. As a result, motorists drive on a privately owned lot owned by Frank Wilkuski, who has offered to sell the lot to the city. Appraised price of the lot is approximately $3,000.

No decision was made by the council. Several councilmen were of the opinion that the property owners should buy the lot and turn it over to the city for a street, due to the fact that they were encroaching on street right-of-way.

The council authorized installation of street lights in the middle of the block on Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Avenues, between Second Street and First Street. Miss Esther Look had requested a street light in the middle of the block on Fourth Avenue and the city manager felt that lights should be installed on each of the above avenues.

Iosco SCD Director Points to Local Benefits of AuGres Drain

In response to a Herald news story last week, James Sturtevant of the Iosco County Soil Conservation District points out this week that the proposed AuGres River Valley flood control project would be of definite benefit to Iosco County property owners in the watershed.

Iosco County's share of the cost, based on six percent of the $1,000,000 total local cost to the three participating counties, is $60,000. Arenac County property owners would pay 91 percent and Ogemaw County's share would be three percent.

"There are 58,000 acres in the Iosco watershed, or a cost of just over $1 per acre to the property owner. This $1 gives watershed owners the right and privilege to drain into the AuGres River," said Sturtevant.

All farmers know the value of good drainage and "the benefits of drainage to agriculture cannot be overestimated," stated Sturtevant. "Last year, in one 15-acre field of corn, we had three acres with water damage with a loss of production amounting to 150 bushels of corn. Figured at $2.25 per bushel, this loss amounted to $337.50."

According to official minutes of a meeting of the soil conservation districts for the Counties of Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw, held September 21 at Turner Township Fire Hall, Kenneth Neepner, Arenac district conservationist, displayed on a map the watershed boundaries and flood plain area. He went into detail describing the routes and tributaries involved, along with cost estimates and benefit ratios of each alternative.

Sturtevant stated that Iosco County would like the Elm Creek and Gregory Drain included, if possible, in the tributary work to be done with any alternative selected on the watershed. Harry Krueger, Iosco County drain commissioner, reported that these were county drains at present.

On motion of Alvin Selle, Arenac director, and seconded by Sturtevant, all directors present unanimously agree that alternative No. 1, with additions of Elm Creek and Gregory Drain included, and requested the Soil Conservation Service to do further study on the alternatives.

No local funds have been obligated to date on the project. Studies being conducted by the SCS were authorized by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Chairman of the meeting was Harmon Williams, Arenac County director. Directors present included: Arenac County — Williams, Selle, Ralph Osier and Charles Schman; Iosco—Franklin Bischoff, Sturtevant, Russell Nelkie, Eilert Barnes and George Strauer; Ogemaw—Melvin Peters, Robert Kartes and Fritz Ehinger.

Others attending the meeting besides Neepner were Jerrell Lemunyon, Iosco district conservationist; Alfred Bishop, Ogemaw district conservationist; Christine Ance, Arenac district aide, along with approximately 20 other interested citizens.

New signs are being obtained limiting weight loads on the Sixth Avenue bridge to three tons, rather than the present elimination of all trucks. Following a recent inspection, the city's engineering consultant pointed out that a posted load limit must be provided.

The engineer reported that the bridge is still safe, but emphasized that truck traffic should be limited due to erosion under the south abutment. Estimated cost of repairing the area undermined is between $10,000 and $15,000.

The city manager reported that he is attempting to secure the services of a firm to provide blacktopping work this fall, but he said that wet weather during August and September had set schedules far behind for all firms doing this work.

The council authorized purchase of public officials and employees insurance to cover liability in case of error or omission.

Edward Brenner appeared before the council and was given permission to apply to the state for a license to sell new and used mobile homes.

A letter from the Tawas City Businessmen's Association asking designation of a bicycle route along US-23 is to be discussed at the next meeting. The city manager is to check with the state highway department concerning bicycle routes.

A letter from Harry Krueger, county drain commissioner, indicated that the prosecuting attorney was making a determination if the Townline Drain is a county drain or if it is maintained by the county road commission. The city asked that it be cleaned out.

Martin Cornack Died Sept. 27

Martin W. Cornack of Saginaw passed away Tuesday, September 27, at General Division of Bay Medical Center following a lingering illness. He was born July 5, 1899, at Tawas City and married the former Anna Crane July 17, 1970. She survives.

He was a retiree of General Motors Corporation where he was a power engineer. He was a member of Messiah Lutheran Church, past watchman of the shepherd of White Shrine of Jerusalem No. 34 of Saginaw and a life member of Saginaw Lodge No. 77, Free and Accepted Masons.

Services were held Saturday, October 1, at Penzien Funeral Home, Saginaw, with the Rev. Ronald F. Fuller officiating. Entombment was at Oakwood Memorial Mausoleum. A Masonic memorial service was conducted Friday evening.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Charles Cornack, Essexville, and Donald Cornack, Pompano Beach, Florida; a daughter, Mrs. Harold (Charlene) Wheatley, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; two stepdaughters, Lois Leffel, Bay City, and Wanda Johnson, Albuquerque, New Mexico; 12 grandchildren, and 15 great grandchildren.

Cardinals Lost to Panthers, 12-0

Picked by many to win the Northeastern Michigan Conference this season, the Standish-Sterling Panthers scrambled to a 12-0 win Friday night, but not before being given a scare by the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals.

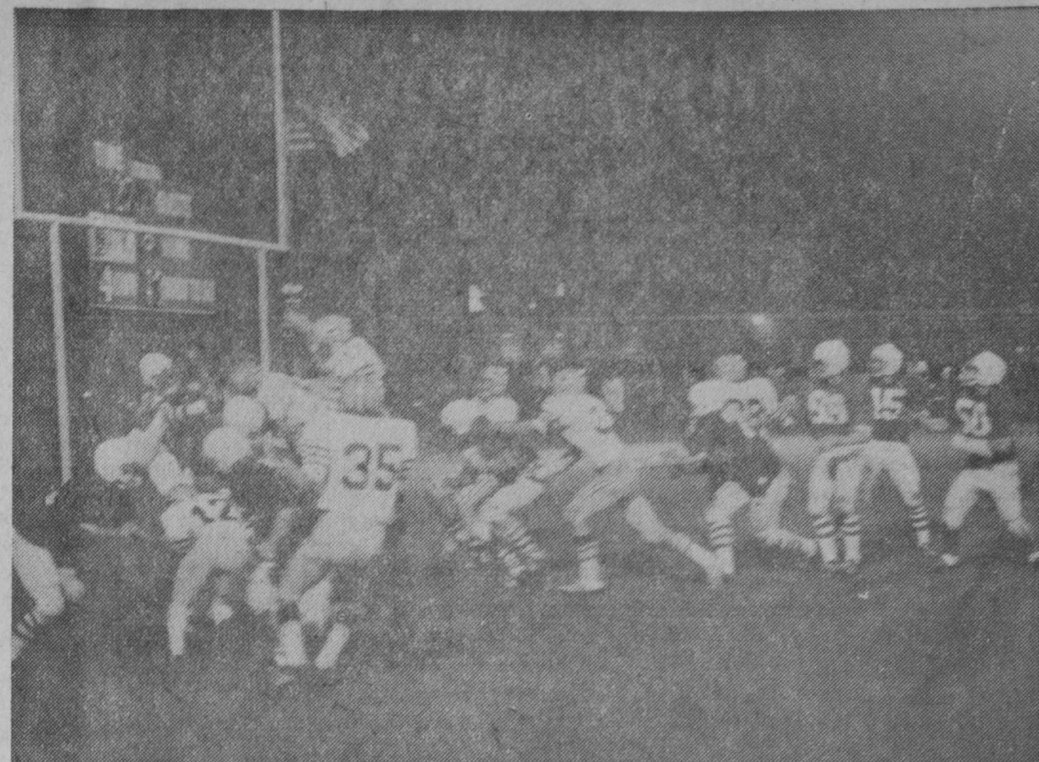

The Panthers are undefeated in four games this season. The Cardinals have turned in four good games this season, but are still looking for their first win.

The two teams turned in a good defensive battle Friday night and it was not until the third quarter that the Panthers could get on the scoreboard. That touchdown came when the Cardinals were forced to punt from their own endzone and the kick was blocked by the Panther line and recovered by Randy Burch.

The second touchdown of the game came late in the fourth quarter when the Panthers recovered a Cardinal fumble and Don Szostak scored on a quarterback sneak.

Bari Bell gained 101 yards in 22 carries for the winners while Dave Galvas had 38 yards in 10 carries.

The largest crowd in Whittemore-Prescott School history—approximately 1,200 fans—was on hand for a program dedicating the school's new football stadium.

THIS PLAY provided the winning touchdown in Friday night's game between Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals and Standish-Sterling Panthers. The Panther line is breaking through to block a punt and it was recovered in the endzone by Randy Burch of the Panthers.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tied for NEM Lead

Braves Upset Spartans, 6-3

An 84-yard kickoff return by the Tawas Area Braves to open Friday night's game ruined Pinconning's homecoming as the Braves held on to score a 6-3 upset victory.

Jerry Gracik put Tawas on the scoreboard with just 14 seconds gone in the first quarter when he picked off the opening kick on Tawas' 16 and went 84 yards up the middle to score.

Bill King tried to run the PAT and was stopped short. As it turned out, that was all the Braves needed to win.

The loss was the first for the Spartans in four games, one of the leading contenders for top NEM honors this year. The Braves are now tied with Standish-Sterling at the top rung in the conference, each with two wins.

Tawas' upset victory over Pinconning was aided by two Spartan fumbles and a pass interception with one minute, four seconds in the game. The Spartans picked up 188 yards on the ground to Tawas' 119, but the Braves took advantage of every break which came their way.

The Spartans' only score came on a 31-yard field goal by Steve Edwards with seven minutes, eight seconds left in the second period, after a Pinconning drive stalled at the 13-yard line.

Playing on a rain-soaked field, the Spartans got a final chance to score with two minutes left in the game when it took over at midfield following a Tawas punt. Pinny drove to Tawas' 25 on two pass plays, but the next two passes went incomplete and King intercepted the third pass to kill the threat.

Andy Mayer again led Tawas in rushing with 71 yards in 21 carries.

The Braves play host to Ogemaw Heights Friday night in the school's annual homecoming game.

TA Junior Braves Won Big Over Pinconning, 44-6

The hard-hitting Tawas Junior Braves racked up their third victory as against one loss Thursday night by defeating visiting Pinconning, 44-6.

Tawas scored in every quarter to avenge a loss last year when Pinconning freshmen shut out Tawas, 27-0.

Six different players scored for Tawas. Jim Gracik ran 12 yards in the first quarter for the first touchdown and Ken McKenzie went 38 yards for the second touchdown in the second quarter.

The Junior Braves scored twice in the third quarter. Hugh Hofacer went 40 yards and Bryan Wilke scored on a 35-yarder.

Two more touchdowns finished out the scoring in the fourth quarter. The first came on a four-yard run by Bill Colton and the second was scored by Tony Mayer on a six-yard run.

Scoring points after touchdown were Wilke and Gracik, each on a run, while Vern Beaubien and Joe Paitl scored on passes from Grant Mousseau.

Tawas had 392 total yards as compared to 66 for Pinconning. Pinconning scored its lone touchdown on a pass interception in the second quarter.

Defensive standouts were Hofacer, Mayer, John Foley, McKenzie, Steve Drumm and Paitl.

Drama Tryouts Held Last Week

Hale Eagles Lost to Saginaw Team

Hale Area Eagles tasted defeat for the first time in four games this year Saturday when they lost to Saginaw St. Peter and Paul, 20-6, at Arthur Hill Stadium.

Always a top contender on the gridiron, the Saginaw team was ranked among the state's top class C teams last week.

Saginaw scored in the first quarter on a three-yard run and scored two more touchdowns in the second quarter. The first was set up on a punt return of 40 yards and, six plays later, the winners had the ball on Hale's 20. From that point Saginaw scored. With three minutes to go in the half, the second score of the period came on a roll-out around right end and Saginaw held a 20-0 lead.

Hale took the kickoff to open the second half and had to punt on fourth down. Saginaw ran three plays and was stopped by the Eagles. Hale's Rick Weaver ran 23 yards to the Saginaw six-yard line, but Hale was penalized back to the 26. On the next play, Halfback Terry Allen passed to End Gary Williams for the Eagles' only touchdown.

Saginaw threatened to score late in the fourth quarter with an intercepted pass.

Weaver was Hale's leading ground gainer with 56 yards in 11 carries. Bryon Bernard, Allen, Daryn Bernard and Williams were top defenders for the Eagles.

The Eagles will host Posen Friday night during Hale Area School's annual homecoming game.

Study Tax Revolving Fund Would 'Buy' Delinquent Taxes

Iosco County will take another look at establishment of a revolving fund to make an annual payoff of delinquent property taxes to local units of government as a means of improving cash flow.

To do this the first year would require the county to borrow approximately $1,000,000 to "buy" the delinquent taxes. In so doing, it could mean an administrative saving to both the county and local units and it is expected that the county treasury would more than break even. This was the word Wednesday at the second monthly meeting of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners. The plan was proposed by John R. Axe, Detroit attorney representing the Michigan Association of County Treasurers, and County Treas. Edward Nelkie.

Axe explained that the idea of establishing a tax revolving fund originated in 1968 when several counties began using this method of payment to improve the budgeting of school systems. The action was not legalized until 1972, when the legislature approved borrowing of up to 100 percent of delinquent taxes for paying off local units.

The Detroit attorney said that most counties south of here now use this system, approximately 40 counties in all, and other counties in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula are starting programs.

The first step to join the parade would be for Iosco to establish a tax revolving fund, which can be accomplished by the county board of commissioners. On March 1, the county treasurer would estimate the amount of delinquent taxes for that year and would file a request with the Municipal Finance Commission for borrowing that amount. After approval, bonds would be sold in the normal manner.

After spring settlement with township and city treasurers, the county treasurer's office would submit a check to each unit for the full amount of the taxes owed that unit.

Under the current system, when delinquent taxes are paid at the county treasurer's office by the property owner, considerable work is involved in entering the money on ledgers, computing the amount of money to be received by each unit (including schools) and preparation of checks.

Nelkie said the plan would result in an actual saving of six days per month by members of his office and he felt this was important as he believed that, if the plan was adopted, it would avoid hiring an additional person next spring in his office. Due to the amount of "red tape" and paper work involved with the county's participation in the CETA program, federal revenue sharing, handling anti-recessionary money, as well as new duties thrust on his office by being responsible for the mental health district and other new agencies, Nelkie said his office was swamped with work.

In addition, treasurers of local units would be saved considerable work through this plan, while local units and schools would benefit by being able to budget according to the exact amount of taxes levied.

Through investment of the borrowed money, plus investment of the county general fund's share of the delinquent tax payoff, both Axe and Nelkie stated that the county would more than break even for the work. Any profit made through borrowing would be returned to the tax revolving fund to reduce the amount of annual loan.

The above plan had been suggested here several years ago and was again recommended last year by school districts of the county. Those districts which would benefit the most would be Hale Area and Tawas Area, the former receiving no state membership aid and the latter receiving only a small amount. Nelkie said that all units would benefit directly from the plan.

Carlton Merschel, acting chairman of the commission, said that the plan would be taken under consideration and that all local units of government and school districts would be contacted for advice.

LARRY OTTO, district representative of the United Way, was speaker Wednesday night at a training session for Tawas-Whittemore-Hale Community Chest workers held at Tawas Area High School. A film covering work of various health agencies covered under the Michigan United Fund was shown and drive materials were handed out to workers. The campaign is to be held October 3-17.—Tawas Herald Photo.

GREENE PACK

Lumber Baron Who Packed Revolver

Lumber baron is an epithet which could justifiably be used in characterizing Greene Pack of Oscoda. Once described by a contemporary as "the ablest of businessmen," Pack was also a man to be reckoned with when he was backed into a corner.

When it was noised around Oscoda-AuSable on February 25, 1895, that Pack had died at Detroit, all flags in the twin communities were flown at half mast.

This gesture of sympathy at a time of death was only natural and the passage of 10 years had healed old wounds which had resulted in a community confrontation with Pack and other mill owners.

There was very little friction between employer and employee during the lumbering days, although Oscoda-AuSable was the scene of two major strikes by mill workers in 1881 and 1884. A great conflict seemed certain in 1884, when employees of the various mills demanded the same pay as they received the previous year, 10 hours of work and cash every Saturday.

The demand was refused by the employers and on June 17, 1884, mills at AuSable were closed down by the men who went out on strike. The 800 strikers crossed the river into Oscoda and marched on the huge mill of Pack, Woods and Company, whose employees were still at work. Carrying signs proclaiming, "Cash Every Saturday or No Sawdust," the strikers attempted to enlist sympathy of Pack, Woods and Company mill workers in joining the walkout.

It was thought that blood would be shed when Pack climbed up on a lumber pile and threatened to shoot the first man who attempted to enter his mill. The mill owner waved a revolver in the faces of the strikers leading the procession, but he was soon overpowered and disarmed after being drenched by a fire hose.

(The story of this strike is told in a booklet, "Cash Every Saturday or No Sawdust," written and published by the Herald editor in 1969.)

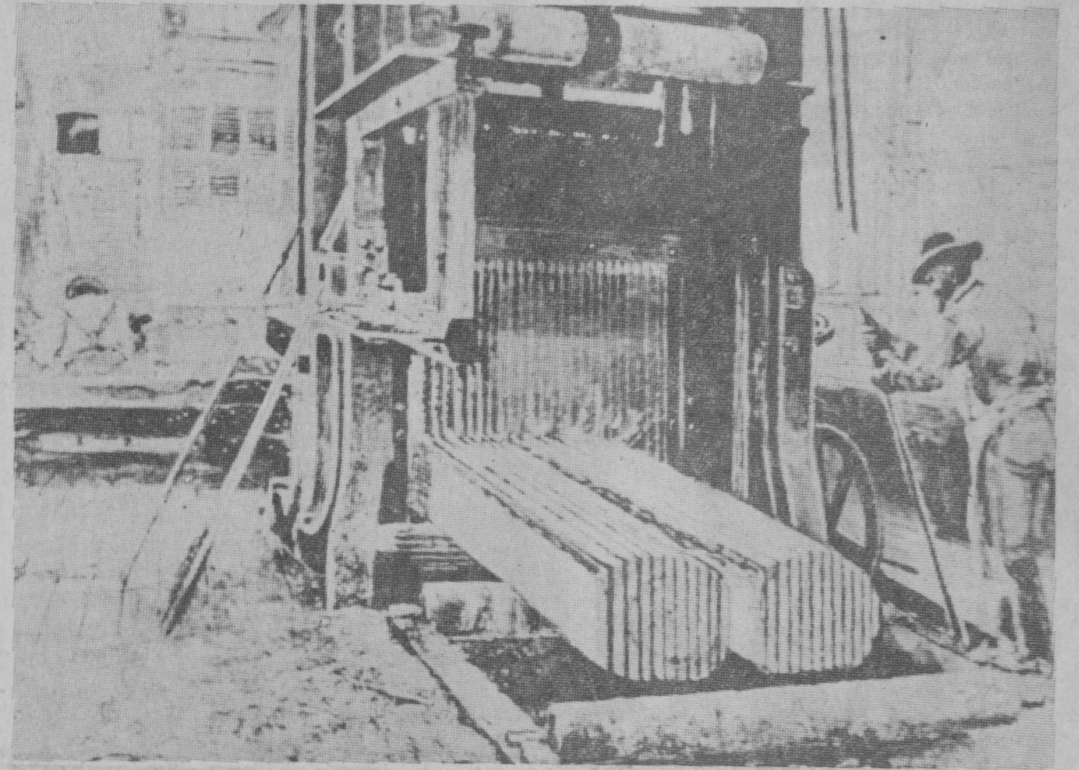

Happily, the great conflict which seemed so certain was averted, but it required the use of two companies of state troops from Alpena and Bay City to quell the disturbance. Pack was also responsible for the hiring of Pinkerton detectives to protect his private property.

The Pinkerton agents hired by industry and railroads in those days were notorious strike breakers and often bashed in the heads of "malcontent" workers. This may have been one reason for the earlier statement that "there was very little friction between employer and employee during the lumbering days"—the employer really had the upper hand before labor organizations came into being.

No material damage was done at AuSable-Oscoda to the mills or workers' heads and demands made by the strikers were finally acceded to by most of the mill owners, but not by Pack, whose men apparently were satisfied with the wages they were being paid.

Pack had been paying his men weekly and at a satisfactory rate, without resorting to the usual method of making partial payment for weekly wages in the form of orders at the company-owned store. This was a much-abused system of pay during the lumbering era whereby the mill owner and his monopolistic general store often profited at the expense of employees.

In addition, Pack also provided the luxury of a lending library

THE GANG SAW with its battery of blades did more than any other development in the lumbering industry to hasten the end of Michigan's white pine. In 1880, the modern equipment of the Pack, Woods and Company mill at Oscoda gulled 1,100 logs in one 12-hour day—that figures out to a log every 37 seconds which was transferred into lumber! In the above drawing, this monster machine is devouring two logs at a time.

with several hundred volumes of books on its shelves and a reading room, all for the benefit of his employees and their families. Apparently, he had a genuine interest in the welfare of his men.

Despite the strike episode, Pack was always held in the highest esteem by citizens of his community. In 1906, Cong. George Loud eulogized Pack as being a man "whose honesty, integrity and ability were recognized by everyone who knew him."

Pack was a resident of Oscoda until 1894, when he discontinued his mill. He had accumulated a large fortune and was renowned for his superior business qualifications.

Born in Madison County, New York, on August 13, 1843, Pack came with his parents to Michigan when six years of age. He became an active member of the lumber firm of Woods and Company at Port Crescent in 1870. Six years later, he moved to Oscoda as vice president and manager of the new firm of Pack, Woods and Company, in which an elder brother, George W. Pack of Cleveland, Ohio, was the major financier.

In 1878, the firm built one of the finest mills in the state at Oscoda, together with a salt block, docks, barns, shops, store buildings and two fine mansions for the resident partners, Greene Pack and E. F. Holmes. In 1882, the firm incorporated under the same name with Pack as superintendent.

In 1884, it was reported the company owned a sufficient quantity of pine tributary to their mill at Oscoda to supply it for at least 15 years. That prediction was about five years off as the mill, running day and night, produced about 40,000,000 feet of lumber annually and expended its timber along the AuSable and Pine Rivers by 1894.

On May 8, 1880, the mill cut 1,100 logs in a 12-hour day. In other words, every 37 seconds, a log moved up an incline into the mill and passed out at the other end in the shape of lumber loaded upon cars. This was a record for production for a number of years, but was later exceeded at the same mill when 1,500 logs were cut in a single day.

At this rate of production, timber resources were fast disappearing. Like most of the lumber barons who made their fortunes harvesting the "green gold" of Northern Michigan, Pack left Oscoda to become president of the Detroit Railway, being an organizer of the street railway system of that city and one of its largest stockholders.

A delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago, Illinois, in 1888, Pack had often been mentioned as a desirable congressional candidate. A member of another AuSable family, George A. Loud, was to make it to congress, but not Pack—he never lived long enough after leaving Oscoda to take an active role in politics. He died in 1894 at New York City, New York, of Bright's disease, "aggravated by an acute attack of the grip," according to his obituary in a Detroit newspaper.

The man who packed a gun on his hip and drew it in defense of his property 93 years ago apparently never thought it was necessary to be remembered by future generations, which was not unusual in Iosco County.

Several of the wealthy lumber barons of other Michigan communities—Saginaw for one—perpetuated their names in the form of legacies to finance libraries. Pack's only "monument" at Oscoda is his old mansion on US-23, which escaped the 1911 fire which leveled the two towns and was converted into a restaurant a number of years ago.

(Read Matthew 25:40-46)

"The King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." (Matthew 25:40)

When I was visiting my native country of Hungary, I saw a blind man standing on the corner begging for money. I went up to him and gave him a small contribution. The old man thanked me very much. Before I left him, I told him that Jesus loves him. To my surprise, the blind man smiled and said, "Yes, I know, for I am a Christian, too."

As I left, I had a lighter heart just knowing that the man was a Christian, too.

Jesus expects us to help the poor and needy. There is great joy in our hearts when we can help someone else, because then we are fulfilling the Lord's command. Sometimes we are all wrapped up in ourselves and can't think only of what we can buy and do for ourselves. Yet, I have experienced what Jesus taught: That it is far more blessed to give than to receive.

PRAYER

Dear heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy bounteous blessings. We pray that we may not be selfish and that we may always be ready to help others in their need. In Jesus' name. Amen.

FACTS ABOUT HEAT AND COLD TO HELP FURNISH YOUR HOME FOR WINTER

Window glass is a poor insulator and allows both heat and cold to pass through it easily.

Plan winter WINDOW TREATMENTS that give added insulation. In little used areas, consider panel sheets of one-inch thick polystyrene cut so they friction fit.

Windows are a major source of heat loss, particularly on non-sunny sides of houses and at night.

Add INSULATING LINING material to draperies and close at night. Install insulating window shades.

Uncovered windows, when glass is cold, rob warm air from room and your body if you are next to them.

When possible, REARRANGE FURNITURE so that setting is not near windows. Plan window coverings of some sort.

Windows are a good source of solar heat on the sunny side of the house.

Open draperies or curtains to take advantage of the sun's warmth. Close off rest of house. Turn down thermostat and use SOLAR HEAT during sunny hours.

The colder the glass in uncovered windows, the faster the warm air is robbed.

Consider adding four to six mil PLASTIC SHEETING (in addition to suggestions already listed) on the inside of problem windows.

The greater the difference in temperature, the faster warm air moves toward cold.

Locate and cover COLD SPOTS around doors and windows. Cover walls with a quilt or coverlet that enhances the furnishings.

Air infiltration causes drafts. The colder the air, the greater the drafts around doors, windows, etc.

Make some DRAFT DODGERS—fabric tubes containing sand that can be fitted against doors and window sills. Small folded rugs can be used.

Warm air moves toward cold air. Close off UNHEATED AREAS of the house by shutting doors, hanging fabric over openings.

Open fireplace dampers let chimney flues draw warm air up out of room.

Check fireplace for DAMPER. If one exists, keep it closed. If none, install a damper or cover fireplace opening. A removable damper can be improvised using angle irons screwed to masonry to support a removable fireproof board.

The colder the outside air, the faster the warm air moves up the

Two Iosco Co. 4-H'ers to be Honored at Flint on VIP Day

Rodney Ferrin and Barbara Erickson of Iosco County will be honed at the McDonald Cooperative Dairy Company's VIP Day Wednesday, October 12, in Flint. "The youths participating in the event were dairy demonstration or dairy science award winners within their own counties," according to Arthur Forbush, chairman of McDonald's board of trustees.

"McDonald sponsors this annual event to encourage student interest in dairy science," Forbush noted. While in Flint, the 4-H'ers will see presentations on milk procurement and processing, tour the McDonald milk and ice cream plants, visit the Longway Planetarium as well as General Motor's truck plant.

In the evening, the group will be feted at a banquet where Dean McDonald, director of marketing for McDonald Dairy; Forbush, and Dr. Gale Baumgardner, 4-H youth dairy specialist at Michigan State University, will speak to the group about the importance of dairy science to the industry.

What's Cooking In Michigan—

Try Week-End Brunch for Entertainment

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

"Entertaining" to me has meant having a group of people over for a semi-formal (not too, because I am quite casual) dinner with good friends and stimulating conversation.

We have discovered another great way to entertain, however, the week-end brunch. It is a lot of fun and more relaxing.

Friends of ours have a marvelous screened-in porch with brick counters and built-in barbecue. This is a beautiful setting for a warm-weather brunch but we make-do nicely in our apartment.

What to serve at a brunch? You have a great variety from which to choose. I have had eggs benedict, ham and pineapple shishkabobs, sweet and sour spare ribs and it has all been a taste treat. Also, the Michigan Department of Agriculture recommends fresh fruits from local markets.

A recipe we tried recently was for "Cheesy Egg Bake" and you might want to experiment with it when you have a brunch.

In a saucepan, combine two cans of condensed cream of chicken soup, one cup of Michigan grade A milk, four teaspoons instant minced onions and a teaspoon of prepared mustard. Cook and stir until smooth and heated through. Then add two cups of shredded process Swiss cheese and stir until it melts.

Pour one cup of sauce into each of two 10 by six by 1 1/2-inch baking dishes. Break six eggs into the sauce in each dish and spoon the remaining sauce around the eggs. An option here is to stand one-inch thick buttered French bread slices around the edges of the casserole with crusts up.

Bake in a 350-degree oven for 20 minutes or until eggs are set. Garnish with snipped parsley and serve immediately.

What a way to start the day off late.

4-H Clubs Observing Their Week—Oct. 2-8

Members of 4-H clubs throughout Michigan are joining over 5.8-million boys and girls throughout the United States in observing National 4-H Week October 2-8. Theme of the week, "Freedom To Be," challenges 4-H'ers to develop their fullest potential for their club, community, nation and world.

Members, ages nine-19, participate in organized clubs, special interest group, nutrition education programs, television series, short term activities and camping. The basis of the program is individual projects from which to choose and use their own imagination as they learn by doing. Some of the more popular projects include livestock, horses, creative arts, leisure education, personal appearance, food and nutrition, gardening and ecology.

Although the 4-H program was geared toward farm youth when it began in the 1900s, it has now expanded to reach boys and girls regardless of whether they live on a farm, in a small town or in a large city. In 1902, the emphasis was on corn clubs and canning clubs. During recent years with the program expansion, it has also expanded to include new projects such as aerospace, cloning, consumer education, community development and small pets, to name a few.

The strength of the 4-H program comes from several sources. In Michigan, the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University, state and local government and the United States Department of Agriculture provide substantial resources. Also on a local, state and national level business and foundations provide much financial and technical assistance. Parents and the family provide resources for the members' individual projects.

As 4-H'ers and their leaders begin another program year, a salute is extended to them as they carry on their theme. Whether a boy, girl or adult, one can become involved in this dynamic program. Contact the Cooperative Extension Service office to learn about 4-H and becoming a part of it.

New Bill Counters State Tax Ruling

A bill to counteract the state tax commission's rulings on the Mathieu-Gast Home Improvement Act of 1976 has been introduced into the legislature by Rep. Thomas Mathieu and Rep. Harry Gast.

State Rep. George A. Prescott, Tawas City, reports that "100 of us in the house co-sponsored the bill in an obvious show of support of the legislature's original intent."

The legislature intended to encourage homeowners to keep up their property, to make repairs and improvements and to upgrade their neighborhoods without being penalized with a tax increase, Prescott stated.

"It is quite clear," he stated, "that all of us are most disturbed by the 'sucker punch' thrown at this legislature and Michigan's homeowners by the tax commission. It is one more example of the bureaucracy twisting the law and distorting the intent of the legislature—and house members are saying they are not going to allow this to happen."

The most significant proposed changes in the new bill are that first, homeowners would not be required to fill out any form; secondly, the prohibition on assessment increases would remain in effect as long as the homeowner occupied the property.

Prescott urges citizens, along with interested groups and organizations to push for swift passage of the bill by contacting members of the legislature. He also called on citizens to contact the governor's office for support.

"We can win this fight with the insensitive bureaucracy if citizens hang tough on this issue. I am confident we will prevail," said Prescott.

4-H's Fight Fido's Battle Of The Bulge

CHICAGO—The difference between a fat person and a fat dog is that Fido doesn't know it's not healthy to be overweight!

In the national 4-H dog care and training program, young people are learning that it's just as dangerous for a dog to be fat as it is for a human. Extra pounds can threaten the heart, liver and circulatory system of an animal, too.

4-H members with overweight pets can follow the advice of extension veterinarian Dr. Charles Dobbins, associate dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Georgia. He suggests cutting out table scraps and providing more exercise.

Weigh the dog initially, wait several weeks, then weigh him again. If he hasn't shed any excess pounds, have him checked by a veterinarian. Sometimes hormonal problems may interfere with weight loss, Dr. Dobbins says.

Keeping their pets trim, healthy, well-groomed and trained to obey basic commands are goals of girls and boys 9-19 enrolled in 4-H dog care projects and activities. Their efforts are supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Purina Dog Foods Group, Ralston Purina Company.

The company offers recognition for 4-H's at all levels

It's just as dangerous for a dog to be overweight—in terms of heart, liver and circulatory ailments—as it is for a human. To keep pets trim and healthy, young people 9-19 in the national 4-H dog care and training program learn-by-doing about the importance of proper diet and exercise. The program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Purina Dog Foods Group, Ralston Purina Company.

of participation: six $1,000 scholarships nationally, 18 sectional trips to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1, a transistor radio for one program member per state, and four medals of honor in each county. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service and awards are arranged by National 4-H Council.

Ralston Purina has also supported the development of new educational materials on dog care and training, scheduled for distribution this fall. For more information write: Educational Aids, National 4-H Council, 150 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

The 4-H dog care program helps young people learn-by-doing to assume the responsibilities of dog ownership, and to develop a greater understanding and appreciation of animals. More information on the program is available from county extension agents.

 15 Years Ago—

Attended Human Ecology Training

Three area 4-H leaders, Robin Bell, Elizabeth Wolf and Ann Higgins, attended a 4-H human ecology training session held in Kalkaska. The session featured new training materials developed over the past several months by the campus-based specialists of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service. Leaders were selected by their county 4-H youth agents and joined other "key leaders" from neighboring counties. In the next few months, they will be sharing their new skills and information with other leaders in Isosco County. MSU specialists and state 4-H program staff shared exercise which leaders can use to teach 4-H participants skills in personal appearance, foods and nutrition, management, family and child, health and African heritage, as well as other skills associated with the general topic of human ecology.
