

McDonald Named Hale HS Principal

Robert McDonald, 41, in his 18th year as a member of the staff of Tawas Area School, has been offered a contract to become the new junior and senior high school principal at Hale Area School.

This announcement was made Monday following McDonald's interview Sunday with Hale Area Board of Education. McDonald, who has been middle school principal at Tawas since 1973, said he would submit his resignation next Monday night to Tawas Area Board of Education.

The appointment is pending the acceptance of McDonald's resignation by Tawas Area Board of Education.

McDonald came to Tawas Area School as a social studies teacher after graduating from Central Michigan University in 1960. He received his master degree in secondary administration from CMU in 1971 and is now finishing work on his educational specialist degree.

He served as assistant high school principal and athletic director from 1971 to 1973. He also served 11 years as track coach and seven years as cross country coach.

McDonald and his wife, Carolyn, are parents of four children. One daughter, Kelly, is a junior at Tawas Area High School and a son, Scott, is a freshman here. Their two other daughters include Keri, a graduate of Ferris State and presently a dental assistant at Mt. Pleasant, and Kathi, a freshman at CMU.

Mrs. McDonald is a clerk at Tawas Point State Park.

The McDonalds plan to move to the Hale area after making arrangements to dispose of their home here.

McDonald replaces Richard Dodge, who served as principal at Hale for eight years and resigned from that position in August to accept a new job as principal of the Sanilac County Skill Center near Sandusky.

E. Tawas Council Authorizes Bids on Sewer Project

Authorization was given Monday night by the East Tawas Council to open bids Thursday, October 6, for construction of the Tawas Lake No. 2 sewer project.

Estimated cost of this project, to serve the northeastern tip of the city which was not included under the previous construction, is $180,000.

Mayor Robert Bolen announced at the meeting that the city had funds on hand to build this sewer and that no bonding would be necessary.

In other business, the council approved the formal agreement with Gordon MacAndrew to purchase his lifetime lease with the state for offshore lake bottom land at a cost of $4,000. This proposal had been approved earlier by the council and opens the way for construction of the state and city's boat launching ramp at the foot of Wadsworth Street, between the state police post and the present city garage.

Objects to Tawas City Sewer Tax

A Murphy Street property owner, who is objecting to payment of special assessment taxes for sewer construction, was advised by the city council to check with the city attorney for clarification of the bill.

Appearing before the Tawas City Council Monday night, Alvin C. Call, 125 Murphy Street, advised the council that he and his wife had purchased the home under FHA financing and had understood the property was served by both water and sewer.

Since then, Call said he learned the previous owner had constructed a private sewer line to the property. Call said he found that the line crossed private property with only a verbal easement.

The property owner said his property was being adequately served by sewer and felt he should not have been included in the special assessment district for sewer construction. He said he appeared at public hearings prior to establishment of the special assessment district and made protest.

Call said that cost of the sewer assessment was $2,850, plus six percent interest. He said he had paid three years of assessments, but was now refusing to pay as he was not benefited. The property owner has continued use of the private sewer line, but the city notified all property owners recently that they have 90 days in which to hook up to a sanitary sewer where it is provided.

At the suggestion of Councilman Jerry Cotter, Call was directed to contact the city attorney to determine what "could be worked out." Call indicated he may hire the service of an attorney to represent him in the matter.

PARTICIPANTS in Sunday evening's program marking the 25th anniversary of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church were, from left: The Rev. Fr. Bernard J. Kirchman, first pastor of the church; the Rev. Fr. Lawrence Boks, present pastor; the Most Rev. Edmund C. Szoka, bishop, Diocese of Gaylord; the Rev. Fr. Raymond Pilarski and the Rev. Fr. Joseph Castanier, both former pastors. The lower picture shows some of those attending the dinner held at the parish hall.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Tawas C. Council Approves Street Blacktop Program

Approval was given Monday night by the Tawas City Council for a $20,000 street blacktopping program to be completed this fall.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that much depends on the availability of a contractor, due to the fact that wet weather during August and September had set back road construction programs throughout the state.

The construction project would include 4,150 feet of work on Oak Street, Beech Street, Maple Street, Fourth Avenue, Seventh Avenue and First Street.

On recommendation of the city manager, proposed construction of one or more bridges is to be postponed until next spring. Approx-mately $64,000 in revenue sharing money, street funds and anti-recessional money is available for bridge and street work. After payment for fall street work, the balance is to be invested for use next spring.

The council is considering construction of a new bridge over the Tawas River at North Street. Considerable work in building approaches would be required. Replacement of the Sixth Avenue bridge over Dead Creek, or construction of a new bridge at some other point, is also being considered. The city's engineering consultant is to inspect the Sixth Avenue bridge this week to determine its condition.

The city manager said that a 10 percent saving results when a contract is given for more than one bridge.

By proclamation of the mayor, Saturday, October 1, was proclaimed punt, pass and kick day at Tawas Area School.

The city manager was instructed to contact the county drain commissioner in regard to cleaning of the Townline drain.

Old State Road Getting New Life

WORK IS NEARING COMPLETION on grading the last two miles of Old State Road connecting with Sand Lake Road in Grant Township. This project began three years ago in Reno Township and work was resumed this summer by the Iosco County Road Commission on constructing the remainder of the road from Britt Road east to Sand Lake Road. Included in this summer's work was replacement of a bridge structure over Guiley Creek. Considerable fill was required to eliminate steep hills. The picture at left shows a dragline at work Tuesday digging a trench for a drainage tube and the picture at right shows a front end loader scooping out fill dirt for use on the road. Old State Road was the first improved road in the region and later connected with Tawas via Plank Road. In recent years, it has been blacktopped from Taft west to the county line and the remainder is to be blacktopped next year.—Tawas Herald Photos.

FHA Liberalizes Grant Formula Due to Drought

A more liberal formula for determining the amount of grant funds, supplementing loans available for improvement of rural community water systems affected by drought, has been put into effect in Michigan by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), the agency's county supervisor, Frank J. Tuma, announced this week.

Arenac, Bay, Gladwin and Iosco Counties have been made eligible for FmHA emergency loans and grants under Pres. James Carter's drought assistance program to help communities having diminished water supplies, resulting from drought conditions, in designated drought areas. Applications for projects approved must be made in time for funds to be obligated by September 30.

Tuma said the revised regulations will enable FmHA to apply a formula on grants similar to that used by other federal agencies that help to finance drought emergency water system projects.

In calculating a community's ability to repay an emergency loan for water system improvement, FmHA previously has been taking into account existing indebtedness only for water facilities. The new formula lets FmHA take into account the applicant's existing indebtedness for all purposes. This is expected to increase the grant portion of FmHA funding of many projects.

The new regulation also provides that some projects, previously not eligible for grant assistance, may receive FmHA grants of up to 20 percent of total eligible project development costs, if they are needed to safeguard public health and safety. A larger proportion of grant funds, up to 50 percent, may be provided if justified through the formula for determining the community's ability to repay a loan.

Application of the revised formula has been made retroactive to May 6, except where loan and grant funds have been delivered to the borrower. Financing of projects previously approved but not yet funded will be adjusted to the new formula, Tuma said.

In addition to the September 30, deadline for obligation of funds, the drought emergency program imposes an April 30, 1978, deadline for completion of projects. Communities of up to 10,000 population may be included in the service areas of water system receiving FmHA loans and grants. Loans are made for terms of up to 40 years, at an interest rate of five percent.

Information on project assistance can be obtained from FmHA's county office at 806 West Cedar Street, Standish, Michigan 48658.

Heed Social Security In Financial Planning

Today's workers should be aware of the role social security retirement benefits will play in their financial planning for retirement, a social security spokesman stated today.

Men and women now working in jobs or self-employment covered by social security should be aware that retirement benefits are intended to be only a partial replacement of pre-retirement earnings.

For example, social security retirement benefits will replace about 44 percent of the pre-retirement earnings of a 65 year old worker who has had median earnings. Median earnings amounted to just under $9,000 in 1976. If this worker has a 65 year old wife, then their combined retirement benefits will amount to about two-thirds of pre-retirement earnings.

The replacement rate for higher paid workers is somewhat less, while the replacement rate for lower paid workers is higher than that for workers with median earnings.

To assure sufficient income to maintain a person's pre-retirement standard of living, the worker should plan well in advance of retirement to supplement his social security benefits.

This can be done through savings, investments, insurance, and other income protection plans, he said. And, income from these other sources will have no effect on benefit payments. Only income from work affects benefit payments and then only if the worker's earnings exceed the annual earnings exempt amount, $3,000 for 1977.

Today's workers should also be aware that social security provides much more than retirement benefits. There is survivor and disability protection for the worker and his or her family during the working years. About 30 percent of a person's social security tax dollars goes to pay for this kind of protection. And then there is Medicare for people 65 and over as well as for certain younger disabled people and for insured people and their dependents who suffer permanent kidney failure.

Additional information about social security retirement, survivor, and disability benefits and about Medicare can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number can be found in the telephone directory.

questions and answers

Q. I'm taking my brother, who is blind, to a social security office to apply for SSI payments. He has no income at all, and I understand that it takes quite a while for claims to be processed. Is there some way he can get payments without having to wait a long time?

A. If your brother meets all other eligibility requirements and it is determined he will probably meet the social security definition of blindness, he may be able to get payments for up to 3 months while his blindness is being evaluated medically.

Q. I've heard that people who get SSI payments may be eligible for social services. My next-door neighbor, who lives alone, gets SSI checks and she could use some help with housework and other chores. Would this be considered social services?

A. Yes, but the kinds of social services available vary from State to State. In most States, social services include help with household chores, shopping, meal preparation, laundry, marketing, and personal care. Some States also offer counseling, transportation, and special help for the handicapped and blind. Your neighbor can contact a social security office to find out what services are available in your State.

Notify social security if you change your name.

Nine Attended Major AARP Conference

Nine members of Lake Shore Chapter No. 661, American Association of Retired Persons, attended a major regional conference of the national organization in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 14-16.

Melvin Thompson of the local chapter, currently national vice president and member of AARP board of directors, presented the special session on mandatory retirement and age discrimination and said that recent developments indicate that the AARP's 20-year fight against mandatory retirement is winning support. Thompson stressed the point that when a person is physically able to continue work and so desires, it should be a matter of choice.

General theme of the meeting was "Count Me In!" The event was one of six being held this year by the 11-million member associations.

'Zoonoses' are diseases that can spread from animals to humans. Keeping household pets and farm animals healthy is one of the goals of young people 9-19 in the national 4-H veterinary science program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by The Upjohn Company. Local veterinarians often provide opportunities for program members to observe and assist with animals.

4-H Vet Scientists Study 'Zoonoses'

CHICAGO—If you think 'zoonoses' are the facial fevers of animals at the local zoo, you're wrong! Zoonoses are diseases—tuberculosis, rabies, spotted fever and encephalitis, to name just a few—that can spread from animals to humans under natural conditions.

Although the risks of disease transmission are relatively low, it still doesn't hurt to be cautious around sick animals. And the best medicine of all is to keep household pets and farm animals healthy in the first place.

Maintaining animal health through a routine of proper care and sanitation is one of the goals of young people 9-19 in the national 4-H veterinary science program. The program is conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by The Upjohn Company.

4-H veterinary science projects and activities give both urban and rural youngsters opportunities to learn by doing through observing and working with animals. 4-H'ers can visit local clinics

Wind-Water Erosion Under SCS Study

Iosco County wind and water erosion problems are being studied by the Soil Conservation Service, states Jerry Lemunyon, district conservationist. Iosco County study is part of a national erosion inventory being made to determine the extent of soil erosion occurring in the country.

A conservationist from SCS will study 45 160-acre sample areas in the county. He will evaluate nearly 20 factors that effect erosion. Lemunyon will visit the sample areas in October and November and gather facts about the slope, soil use, existing conservation practices and cropping systems for each sample. Land owners will be contacted as needed regarding this inventory.

Tawas Braves Won Over Boyne City

Tawas Braves had trouble holding onto the ball in the football opener two weeks ago, but had no trouble lugging the slippery pigskin during a driving rain Friday night. The Braves shut out Boyne City, 20-0.

Billy King played the entire second half at quarterback for Tawas and, despite a deluge of rain at Boyne City, completed nine passes as his mates had sticky fingers.

Andy Mayer was the big offensive threat for the Braves. Mayer scored three touchdowns and racked up 148 yards in 18 carries.

Mayer's first touchdown came on a 42-yard run in the first quarter, a 34-yard run in the second quarter and he ran for nine yards in the final quarter. Pete Wood scored the point after touchdown.

Tawas had 226 yards rushing during the night and 38 yards by passing. Boyne City totaled 100 yards. The Braves had nine first downs to their opponents' eight.

Wood picked up 50 yards in 10 carries and Jerry Gracik had 14 yards in five carries.

Tawas opens the Northeastern Michigan Conference this Friday night by playing host to the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals. The Cardinals have turned in two good efforts this season but have failed to win.

Junior Braves Lost, 16-6, to Tough Alpena High Team

Tawas Area Junior Braves were bested by a tough Alpena High School junior varsity, 16-6, in action Thursday night.

The Junior Braves turned in an excellent game against a team which shut out Bay City Central's junior varsity, 14-0.

Tawas rang up 197 offensive yards, had 16 first downs but had trouble sustaining a drive against a tough Alpena defense. The Alpena team had 138 yards rushing and 58 yards passing for a total of 196 offensive yards, along with 15 first downs.

All the scoring came in the first quarter. Alpena scored on runs of three and six yards, while Tawas' score came on a 60-yard run by Jim Gracik at the end of the first period.

Field Goal Won for Hale Eagles Over Arch Rival Cards

One fan summed up Friday night's football game between Hale Eagles and Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals by saying it was too bad there had to be a winner. It was just that kind of a game.

These two arch rivals of Western Josco County battled to a scoreless tie in regulation time and the game was finally decided in overtime when Mark Braun booted a clutch field goal to give the Eagles a 3-0 victory.

With 33 seconds left in regulation time, Braun missed a field goal by an eyelash which would have ended the game had it been successful.

That kick from placement climaxed Hale's best drive of the night and came after the Cardinals threatened to blow the game wide open with its best scoring drive.

The Cardinals started a drive when they took over on Hale's 47 following a punt. Duane Lorenz picked up good yardage in the series as did Albert May. End Bill Rasse caught a pass from Quarterback Norm Nichols and the Cardinals seemed to be headed toward a score.

Hale's defense stiffened at that point and held on four plays, the Eagles taking over on their own 14. From that point in the game, it looked as though the Eagles were going to blow the score wide open as Rick Weaver, Terry Allen, Bryon Bernard and Daryn Bernard combined running talents to move the ball to the Cardinal four.

With 33 seconds left in the game,

Braun attempted a field goal, but the ball was about one foot wide of the uprights and the game was sent into overtime.

The overtime period was just as exciting as the preceding four quarters. The Cardinals had the first crack at scoring from 10 yards out, but May fumbled the ball at the two-yard line. Hale recovered and then had its chance to score.

The Eagles were able to pick up only two yards against the Cardinal defense and Hale elected to give Braun's toe a second chance on fourth down. He responded by splitting the uprights with a game-winning kick from placement.

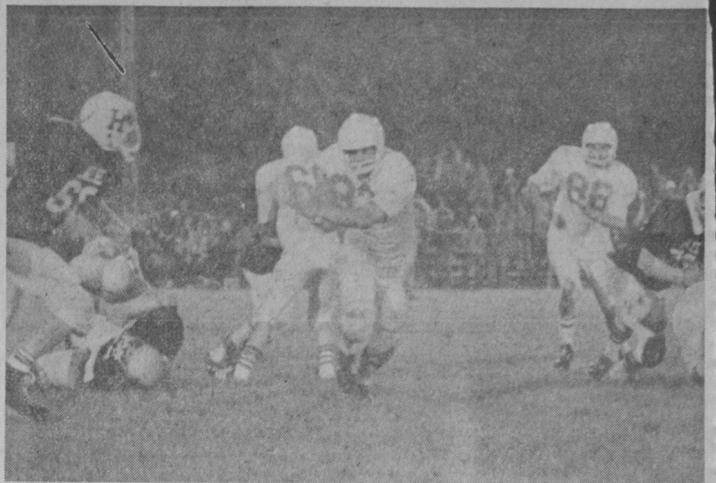

Except for the very first offensive series of the game, when the Cardinals penetrated deep into Hale territory and tried an unsuccessful field goal, neither team threatened to score at any other time during the game.

Offensively, the Cardinals picked up 225 yards to 170 yards for the Eagles.

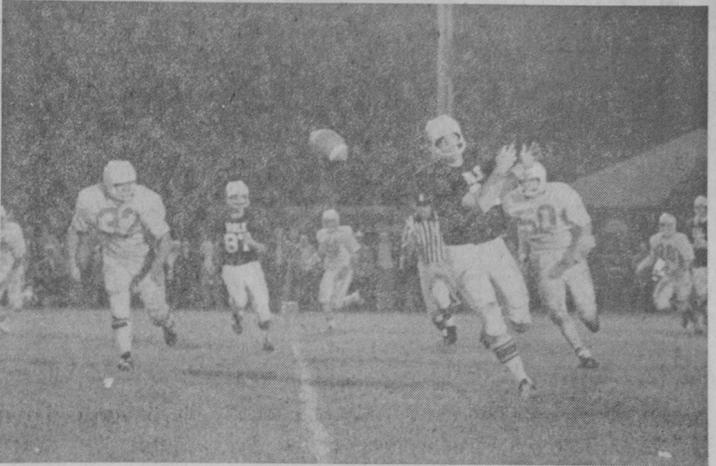

Weaver topped Hale defenders with seven tackles, followed by six tackles for Kelly Wilson and five for Bryon Bernard.

Albert May was Whittemore-Prescott's leading rusher with 138 yards in 18 carries.

Lloyd Saunders was the top Cardinal defender with 21 tackles, followed by 11 tackles turned in by Don May.

DEDICATION CEREMONY for the new Cardinal Field at Whittemore-Prescott Area High School is to be held Friday, September 30, during intermission in the football game between the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals and Standish-Sterling Panthers. The stadium, which has seating for 1,200 persons, cost $25,000 and has been financed entirely by the Cardinal Booster Club. Ronald Gawne, club president, said that 8,000 yards of clay were hauled in to construct a hill on the west side of the field. A contractor then constructed concrete "steps" which form the base for bleachers. The project includes a press box. Sodding of the slope was completed two weeks ago.

Sewer Hearing
 Sept. 27 at Hale

Proposed additions to Plainfield Township's sanitary sewer system are to be discussed at a public hearing to be held Tuesday, September 27, 7:30 p. m., at the township hall.

Ray D. Kesler, township supervisor, said that purpose of the hearing is to receive comments and views of interested persons on the facility plan.

The program includes collecting sanitary sewers, an additional waste stabilization pond and pumping stations.

Sewer extensions are proposed from the existing system at Hale northerly on M-65 to Ora Lake Road; southerly on M-65 to the Colonial Inn area; westerly on Esmond Road to the Hale Creek area, including Pine Street in Hale Acres plat.

Alternatives to be considered in the plan include building of proposed sewer extensions or continuing with septic tanks and updating as required to prevent pollution.

A second alternative would be to provide sewage treatment by adding an additional waste stabilization pond or disposal of waste water by treatment and land application.

Land Management Tour Scheduled

Persons who own land in north-east Lower Michigan are invited to attend a land management tour this fall. For convenience of participants, two such tours have been scheduled.

The first will be held on Saturday, September 24, from 1:00 to 4:30 p. m. It will begin at the entrance of the Canada Creek Ranch on M-33 (13 miles north of Atlanta and 12 miles south of Onaway).

The second tour is on Saturday, October 15, and it will begin at 9:30 a. m. and run until noon. An optional more in-depth tour and discussion will be available (if there are interested people) in the afternoon. However, these participants should provide for their lunch. The program will be held at the Lovell Demonstration Forest on M-72 (20 miles west of Harrisville or two miles east of the M-72 and M-65 junction).

Both of these tours will cover wildlife and forest land management alternatives for the private woodland owner. Participating foresters and resource managers from the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Huron Pines RC&D District, Michigan Department of Natural Resources and wood industries will lead the tours, discussions and be available to answer questions.

Hunting clubs, recreational groups and individual owners will have an opportunity to see various types of forest cuttings. Most of the forest types found in Northeastern Michigan are short-lived species and require cutting. If private owners are going to obtain the maximum enjoyment of their property they must understand the biology of the area.

Wildlife and timber are dependent on each other and a property owner must cut mature timber in order to improve wildlife habitat. A mature forest is not an ideal game area and much of our northern timber is now mature. Many aspen and jack pine forests are now 45 to 55 years old and this is the age of maturity.

Private landowners are many

Huron Water Level Drops
 20 Inches

Elevation of Lake Huron at the end of August was about 20 inches below what it was a year ago and about one inch below one month ago. The end of August level of Lake Huron was at 578.45 feet above the mean water level at Father Point, Quebec.

The August monthly mean level was about two inches below the long-term average and about 30 inches below the all-time monthly mean high for August, which was set in 1973, and about 31 inches above the all-time low August monthly mean set in 1964.

The six-month forecast of levels shows that the lakes are expected to be below the long-term average level during the next six months. At the end of September, Lake Huron will be about three inches below what it was at the end of August.

The Great Lakes are expected to continue their seasonal decline into February. At the end of February, the lakes are expected to be eight inches below what they were at the same time in 1977. The February mean would be below the long-term average for that month and 29 inches below the all-time high for February, which was set in 1952.

Iosco's First
 Land Speculator

'CURT' EMERSON

Conduct a survey in present-day Iosco County and it will soon be discovered that not more than one out of every 5,000 residents has ever heard of or recalls reading the name of Curtis Emerson. Old "Curt" deserves a better fate: Not only was he the first land speculator in this county, but he probably was one of the most colorful characters in the history of Michigan!

Iosco County cannot lay sole claim to Emerson as one of its early sons—it must share that honor with Saginaw and Detroit.

This region was still a howling wilderness when Emerson came to the mouth of the AuSable River in March 1849. A couple of fishermen had brought their families here to form the nucleus for a fishing village, but Iosco County was not to be organized until eight years later.

In the 1890s, old citizens of Detroit and Saginaw were still laughing with glee over his grotesque eccentricities, witty expressions, violent prejudices, monumental profanity and crackling humor. He had already been forgotten in Iosco County.

"Curt," as he was generally called, lived and died a bachelor. In person he was slight, being not more than five feet two inches in height and weighing about 100 pounds. He had fierce, gray eyes, which glared with resentment or twinkled with fun, according to his ever changing moods.

He was an energetic man full of vitality and when engaged in an altercation would tackle a man twice his size; but, he was not vindictive and, when worsted in wordy debates or fistfights, would promptly extend his hand to his antagonist and invite him and all the bystanders to liquid refreshments.

A paper read at the 1898 annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer Society said that he was "always well dressed in the pink of fashion and looked as if he had stepped out of a band box." Those words were penned almost 20 years after his death.

Emerson was a successful businessman when he and a partner, James Eldridge, came to AuSable in 1849. Emerson purchased land from the federal government along the AuSable River, divided it into lots and offered it for sale to resident fishermen and others who wished to buy. It should be remembered that this was nearly 20 years before the first lumbermen came to the AuSable region and the only settlement for miles around was clustered at the river mouth.

Some time previous to 1848, Emerson located the land on both sides of the mouth of the river. Benjamin F. Pierce had a trading station there and formed the landmark from which, in March 1849, Emerson set off and divided lots fronting on the river.

These lots had from 50 to 150 feet of frontage and ran back at right angles to the river to the back line of the government subdivision. The land was resurveyed in 1867 which resulted in later confusion and extensive litigation over property lines.

By 1852, an old log house and a few fishermen's huts comprised the entire fishing village of AuSable. The white fish and trout fisheries at the mouth of the river constituted the main business of the town for many years. The capture of fish required a large fleet of sailing craft and the curing and packing gave employment to many coopers and other hands.

It has been written that life in the late 1840s had but few variations at AuSable, although the population was a floating one. The only staples in the town were whiskey and fish, but the people took very little interest in fish, except as articles of merchandise. Emerson, like the other residents, appreciated strong liquid refreshments.

It is not known how long Emerson spent at AuSable, but after developing his property there, he returned to his favorite stomping grounds, East Saginaw. (Emerson was the first supervisor of Buena Vista Township in 1850.)

Born at Norwich, Connecticut, on February 4, 1810, his father, Thomas Emerson, was at one time engaged in business at Detroit but never lived there. The elder Emerson was a partner of Stephen Mack and the firm of Mack and Emerson were extensive fur traders and general merchants in the early part of the century. (Emerson may have learned something of the AuSable River region through his connection with trappers.)

Curtis graduated from college and commenced work with his father, but in 1836, at the age of 26 years, he came to Michigan Territory as a representative of an eastern land company. With his father's capital he invested in the first brewery at Detroit.

The early escapades of Curtis at Detroit were notable. After one drinking spree with friends, Emerson showed up at the old Michigan Exchange and ordered dinner for all. When he went into the dining room he thought the fare was not worthy of the occasion and, mounting the table, he went from one end to the other knocking off all the dishes in his progress. He then held the supper in a restaurant. The landlord of the hotel did not complain, for Emerson always paid liberally for everything.

In 1844-45, Emerson went into the copper enterprises of the Upper Peninsula, which was highly speculative in those days. In December 1846, he moved from Detroit to Saginaw to engage in the lumber business. Despite his temperament, he was a good businessman and by 1863 was a wealthy man.

On July 4, 1847, he crossed the Saginaw River and became the first permanent resident of East Saginaw. That year, he loaded a schooner with lumber and consigned it to Albany, New York, which was the first cargo of clear lumber ever shipped from Michigan.

One of the best descriptions of Emerson during this period of his life can be found in Stewart H. Holbrook's classic of the American lumberjack, "Holy Old Mackinaw."

Holbrook's chapter on Saginaw includes mention of an incident during the opening of the Bancroft Hotel in 1859. Although Emerson was a wealthy lumberman and had a Saginaw street named for him, he was not invited to the gala opening festivities of the Bancroft. Before the night was over, he was to make his presence known.

All the lumber aristocracy of Saginaw and near-by Bay City was present. When the orchestra finished playing, Emerson walked in unnoticed, eyed the guests as they sat down to eat. He jumped to the head of the table and then strode and kicked his way to the foot. Damage was later estimated at $2,000 and a score of guests were cut by flying glass. Emerson broke up the banquet and, when he had sobered slightly the next day, willingly paid the damages.

Emerson was a Democrat and during the Civil War he was what was termed a "Copperhead" and a very emphatic denouncer of the war. On July 4, 1864, Emerson made a demonstration in honor of the day by setting fire to his old sawmill. "This is not for the black Republicans, but it is in honor of George Washington, the Father of his Country," said Emerson.

In his later years, Emerson was involved in a great deal of litigation concerning property at Saginaw and he met with financial reverses which left him a poor man. He died on February 11, 1880, at the age of 70 years.

Emerson had to be one of the wackiest millionaires spawned by Michigan's lumbering industry. It is too bad that he is recalled only for his eccentricities for he helped to develop an entire region.

The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

(Read Ephesians 6:10-20)

"God is faithful, and He will not let you be tempted beyond your strength, but with the temptation will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it." (I Corinthians 10:13 RSV)

It was my day off. I felt restless, uneasy, as I slipped into my pacing mood. I was swamped in a flood of negative feelings.

I remembered the simple injunction of Jesus when faced with temptation: "Get thee behind me, Satan." In the name of Jesus, I prayed, "Drive these negative forces from my consciousness."

In spiritual warfare, we require spiritual armor. If we rely on our own strength, we go down to defeat. We must stand in the power of Christ.

My prayer was answered when I met a new candidate for our rehabilitation program. His prayer had been that he might meet someone who would talk to him and relieve him of some of his apprehension. We spent the next two hours strolling through the streets, talking about new beginnings. We agreed that in our chance meeting God had indeed answered our mutual prayers.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank You for the movement of the Holy Spirit in our lives and for the assurance that You are a prayer-answering God. We are grateful that You can turn our weakness into strength. Be with us throughout this day. Amen.

Suggests Easy Recipe for Cauliflower Ham Chowder

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

Michigan farmers are right in the middle of harvesting a vegetable which has become, in recent years, one of the main vehicles for various kinds of cold dips—cauliflower.

I would like to suggest, however, a way to use cauliflower in a chowder which the youngsters will love either for lunch or dinner.

It is called "Cauliflower Ham Chowder" and is quite easy to make. Cook two cups cut-up cauliflower in 1 1/2 cups of chicken broth until tender, about 10 minutes. At this point, add one cup milk to a can of condensed cream of potato soup and combine with the broth.

Mix together one-fourth cup water, two tablespoons cornstarch, one-fourth teaspoon garlic powder, one tablespoon dry minced onion and a pinch of pepper. Add this, too, to the broth and stir until thick. Add two cups diced cooked ham and allow to simmer for one hour. It is hearty, nutritious and scrumptious.

When buying cauliflower, the white, edible portion should be clean, compact and white to creamy-white. If jacket leaves are attached, good green color is a sign of freshness.

Do not limit yourself to just boiling cauliflower and serving. The chowder is great but cauliflower goes well with many sauces—white, cheese or mushroom. It can also take on exotic flavorings. In India, cauliflower is cooked with ginger, cloves, cardamom seeds and cinnamon sticks. In Spain, grated orange rind is sprinkled on top and in Scandinavia a dill sauce is preferred.

While Michigan Department of Agriculture statistics indicate a drop in production between 1975 and 1976 (from 4.9-million pounds to three-million), the cauliflower crop was still worth approximately 650-thousand dollars to the state's farmers.

GGL CONTRACTORS of Belleville crossed Dead Creek in Tawas City Thursday during construction of the area's water expansion project, which has been under way since early summer. The contractor constructed an earthen dam across the creek to facilitate digging of the sewer trench. The main is to be extended to a new overhead storage tank to be constructed at the Ninth Avenue industrial park.—Tawas Herald Photo.

FAMILY LIVING EDUCATION

By SUSAN LAMBRECHT
County Extension Director

CLOTHING COSTS ARE UP

No one has to tell you, you have already noticed—fall clothes costs are up. Clothing costs are up five to 15 percent over last year's prices.

This increase is due mainly to the rise in costs for labor and raw materials. The apparel industry is in the second year of a three-year wage pact which included a seven percent increase last June, with a six percent increase planned for next summer.

Like many other industries, the fiber-fabric-clothing industry is having to invest in safety measures, antipollution controls and recycling programs which ultimately increase clothing costs to consumers. Price of fabrics and clothing are very much dependent upon energy in various forms: Petrochemicals, natural gas, electric energy, propane, fuels. This applies to producing natural as well as synthetic fibers.

The popularity of all-cotton fabrics and fabric blends with a higher percentage of cotton is resulting in a severe shortage of raw cotton. Synthetic fibers have been increasing in price during the year and the cost of wool remains high as the natural fiber continues to be in demand.

Manufacturers and retailers of ready-to-wear clothing are trying to keep prices similar to last year's. But most items are costing them $2 to $5 more. To keep costs down, many manufacturers are trying to plan more efficiently but transportation and other outside overhead charges continue to rise. In children's wear, wholesale prices are up five to 10 percent, with some items up even more. Shetland sweaters, for instance, are up 15 percent from last year because of rising yarn costs.

With these increased costs for the manufacturer, some are bound to be passed on to the consumer. But when you think about it, these increases are not too different from the current rate of inflation in other areas.

If you are really concerned about balancing your clothing budget, follow these suggestions: Know what clothes you already have on hand before shopping for more.

Experiment with how many ways the separates you have can be worn interchangeably.

Use "closet leftovers" as a guide to what to avoid buying next time.

Get rid of unused, unwanted clothes or refashion them into re-wearables.

Choose new clothes which can be combined with other clothes you already have.

More things, new and old, "go together" if you work around one or several colors in shades or tones which you like and which like you. Spend less on clothes that you will wear less, more on clothes that you will wear more.

Choose clothes which span your activities and which also span several seasons.

Avoid buying fads, especially expensive clothing items.

Shop the "before" and "end or after" season sales for clothes if you really need them.

Buy staple clothing like underwear, nightwear, hosiery and socks when put on sale at fixed times throughout the year. Always try on for size—do not count on the same size giving the same fit.

When shopping, check for care instructions. Special cleaning treatments are expensive and some home care instructions are time consuming. Keep in mind what you can afford to buy and afford to keep up.

STANDING almost seven feet tall, Detroit Piston all-star center, Bob Lanier, can reach any coin telephone. But up until recently, six-year-old Kerri Hines, the 1977 Michigan Easter Seal Society poster child, may have had some problems. To make pay phone calling more convenient for handicapped people like Kerri, Michigan Bell is lowering the height of its 49,000 pay phones around the state.

Howard Haight, Community Relations Manager, East Tawas, offers you this telephone tip:

"How can you tell if the person at your door is really a Michigan Bell Employee?"

As you may have noticed, our employees do not wear uniforms. They dress in the way they think is most appropriate to get their jobs done. While this permits them to look like the individuals they are, it really doesn't help you identify them as Bell employees. But, there is a way. Every Michigan Bell employee is required to carry a Michigan Bell identification card giving his or her name, photograph, and signature. For your protection, be sure to see this card before you admit them into your home. They'll be happy to show it to you.

Clearing House for State Hay Needs

By KENNETH KERNSTOCK
Extension Agriculture Agent

HAY SURVEY PROJECT

Because many producers in this area have had lower than normal hay production from their land due to this summer's drought, the Michigan State University Extension Service is establishing a hay clearinghouse. "The project will put livestock managers needing hay in touch with producers in other areas of the state having hay to sell," says George Dike, MSU extension marketing specialist.

Iosco County Extension Service is currently distributing survey forms to hay producers which will index the quantity, type, cutting and size of bale they have to sell. The survey also contains a questionnaire for livestock managers as to the amount and quality of hay they need for their operation in the coming months. These survey forms are available through the Iosco County Extension office and at the Iosco County ASCS office in the Federal Building, East Tawas. The surveys are in the form of a self-mailer and need only to be filled out, stamped and mailed. The questionnaire filing deadline is September 26.

Survey information will be compiled and distributed to all extension offices by October 10. Producers needing to buy hay should contact the local office after that date to secure a listing of sources of hay for sale.

Price agreements between buyer and seller will be by private contract. The intent of the project is to provide livestock managers an alternative to having to liquidate some of their stock because hay is not obtainable in their area. Contact the local extension office for details.

Color Tour Planned by Senior Citizens

An afternoon of fellowship followed a noon sack lunch at East Tawas Community Building Wednesday, September 14, for 104 members and guests of Tawas Area Senior Citizens. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Verakas, Mabel Smith and Robert LoPrete. Mrs. Lois Kienholz became a new member.

Plans for a chartered bus color tour were discussed. The tour will be October 6 and reservations may be made by calling Mabel Liske at 362-3021.

Door prizes were awarded to Judy Roberson and George Brinkman.

A caravan will meet at 10:00 a.m. in Tawas United Methodist Church parking lot to travel to Alpena Civic Center for a chicken dinner Wednesday, September 28, instead of a regular meeting.

Reservations are being accepted by John Reynolds at 362-2810 until Saturday, September 24.
