

TA Combines Two Posts Temporarily

Combining two administrative positions—junior high school principal and assistant high school principal—on a trial or temporary basis was authorized Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

This action came as the result of the board's acceptance of the resignation of Robert McDonald, junior high school principal, who became high school principal at Hale Area School effective Tuesday morning.

Supt. Robert Halle recommended that Jerry W. Youngs, assistant high school principal, fill both positions on a temporary basis from two weeks to a month. After a trial period working under two administrators rather than three, the superintendent said he would come back to the board with a recommendation.

Stating that he felt everything was under control and well managed at the school, Halle said he "did not want to extend Youngs or High School Principal John Alexander" to such an extent that they could not do their jobs, but he felt his proposal should be tried by the board of education.

In his letter of resignation, McDonald recommended that his position be filled. In addition to being in charge of discipline of students in junior high school and having responsibility for junior high school staff direction and evaluation, McDonald had served as curriculum coordinator for the school as well as heading up several federal programs.

Kenneth Tanner, president of the teacher's union, was called on for his comment and he told the board he looked on the decision with some degree of skepticism. He felt that McDonald's recommendation should be considered because of the amount of work involved in the job.

Daniel Stoddard, a member of the junior high school faculty, said he was petitioning the board to replace McDonald as he felt the program would be injured with a part time person or the position left vacant. He felt the students would be hurt and he believed the board should weigh any savings as to value lost to students.

The superintendent indicated that some responsibilities formerly held by McDonald may go to other staff members. He said that Youngs would have responsibility for discipline of students in grades seven through 12, as well as having charge of direction and evaluation of the junior-high school staff.

"If things do not work out, the board knows I will be back," said Halle. He said he had a responsibility to take a look at combining the jobs. "If the ship does not float as well as it has floated in the past, I'll be back," said the superintendent.

Halle said, too, that when the position is filled permanently, the vacancy must be posted so everyone on the staff can apply for the job.

Youngs, 32, became assistant high school principal here in August 1974. He is a 1963 graduate of Tawas Area High School and had spent five years on the faculty of Saginaw Township Schools. He received a bachelor of science degree and master degree in educational administration from Central Michigan University.

McDonald, 41, had been in his 18th year as a member of the school staff and was appointed middle school principal in 1973. He was appointed to his new position by Hale Area Board of Education last week and began a week of orientation on his new job Tuesday morning, assisted by Dale Purkey, acting principal.

County OK's Solid Waste Disposal Study

Authorization to expend a maximum of $5,500 for development of a county-wide solid waste disposal plan was given Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

To date, a plan prepared by Iosco several years ago has not been accepted by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which has responsibility for administering the solid waste program.

The county is to utilize the services of the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Commission for development of the plan and would coordinate its activities with the DNR to insure final approval.

The Iosco County Planning Commission would coordinate participation in planning among local units of government.

Petitions Circulated in Opposition

Iosco SCD Sides With Arenac on Channel

Another step in the AuGres River watershed project was taken Wednesday night in a meeting held at the Turner Township Hall when representatives of the three county drainage districts selected a plan for the proposed drain.

A controversial subject in the three-county area for more than 20 years, more fireworks can be expected in the future.

Long opposed by the two upriver counties of Iosco and Ogemaw, petitions circulated and signed by Arenac County property owners were presented Wednesday night in opposition to the 4.4-million-dollar project. The petitions were accepted and filed.

Ironically, the "swing vote" which set the resolution in motion was provided by Iosco County's representative. Following discussion by soil conservation district members on four alternatives to be followed, Alvin Selle, a sugar beet, bean and pickle farmer from Arenac County, moved that the first alternative plan be adopted.

Harmon Williams, AuGres, chairman of Arenac County Soil Conservation District and meeting chairman, called for a second to Selle's motion. After several minutes of silence, James Sturtevant, chairman of the Iosco County Soil Conservation District, seconded the motion. Ogemaw County opposed the measure.

Sturtevant's action shocked Harry Krueger, Iosco County Drain commissioner and former Iosco

SCD chairman, along with Joseph Fox and John Webb Jr., members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, who were in attendance with their legal counsel, Ronald Tyler.

If the watershed project goes through to conclusion, it will be Krueger's responsibility as drain commissioner to assess the cost of construction on property in the drainage district according to benefit.

"My argument is, has been and always will be that there will be zero benefits to Iosco County property owners within the district," said Krueger.

The plan adopted Wednesday night consists of 3½ miles of channel enlargement on the AuGres River from the county line downstream to about 1,200 feet north of Twining Road. This channel would vary from 130 to 100 foot bottom width with an average depth of 8.5 feet. Four grade control structures would be needed to provide channel stability since soils are sandy. A new channel would be constructed from this point, running generally south for 4.83 miles paralleling the main river. A structure to divide the flow between the new channel and old channel would be needed.

The new channel with 40 to 60-foot bottom widths and an average depth of 9.5 feet would rejoin the main river one-third mile above US-23 at AuGres. This one-third mile of the river would be enlarged, as would 15½ miles of tributary channels.

Total estimated cost of the project would be $4,400,800, which would include $3,320,600 in federal funds and an estimated $1,080,200 in local funds from the three counties. The local share would include an estimated $399,100 for easement and right-of-way cost and $454,000 for bridges, farm crossings and guard rails. All of the above figures are based on 1973 estimates and do not reflect current costs.

Krueger said that Stanley Quackenbush, deputy state drain director, and Dale Ball, state director, had promised there would be a definite recreational value to be gained in Western Iosco County from the tri-county drain. Under the original plan, provision was made for the "creation of recreational lakes on streams leading into the AuGres system."

In developing the final plan however, those recreational lakes were eliminated and all the work is in Arenac County. Krueger said, too, that he favored improvements to the original riverbed rather than to construct an expensive new channel which would require easements and purchase of expensive right-of-way through farms owned by some of the very property owners promoting the new channel.

"If Circuit Judge Swallow was aware of the true situation with respect to this case, I am sure he would alter his opinion," said Krueger. It was the Alpena circuit judge who found in favor of four AuGres farmers and ordered establishment of the drain as a means to control flooding.

The long battle over this drain is not expected to end at this point. The late Daniel Kevresian of Turner, whose funeral was held last Wednesday, had obtained petitions with more than 150 signatures from Arenac County property owners opposing the project.

Krueger said two Burleigh Township residents were now circulating petitions in that area opposing the project. This is the same township in which Chairman Sturtevant of the Iosco County Soil Conservation District resides.

While Quackenbush, who was chairman of the former augmented drainage board, successfully blocked any past opposition by Iosco and Ogemaw Counties to this pet drainage project of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, some Arenac County farmers are becoming concerned with the cost involved.

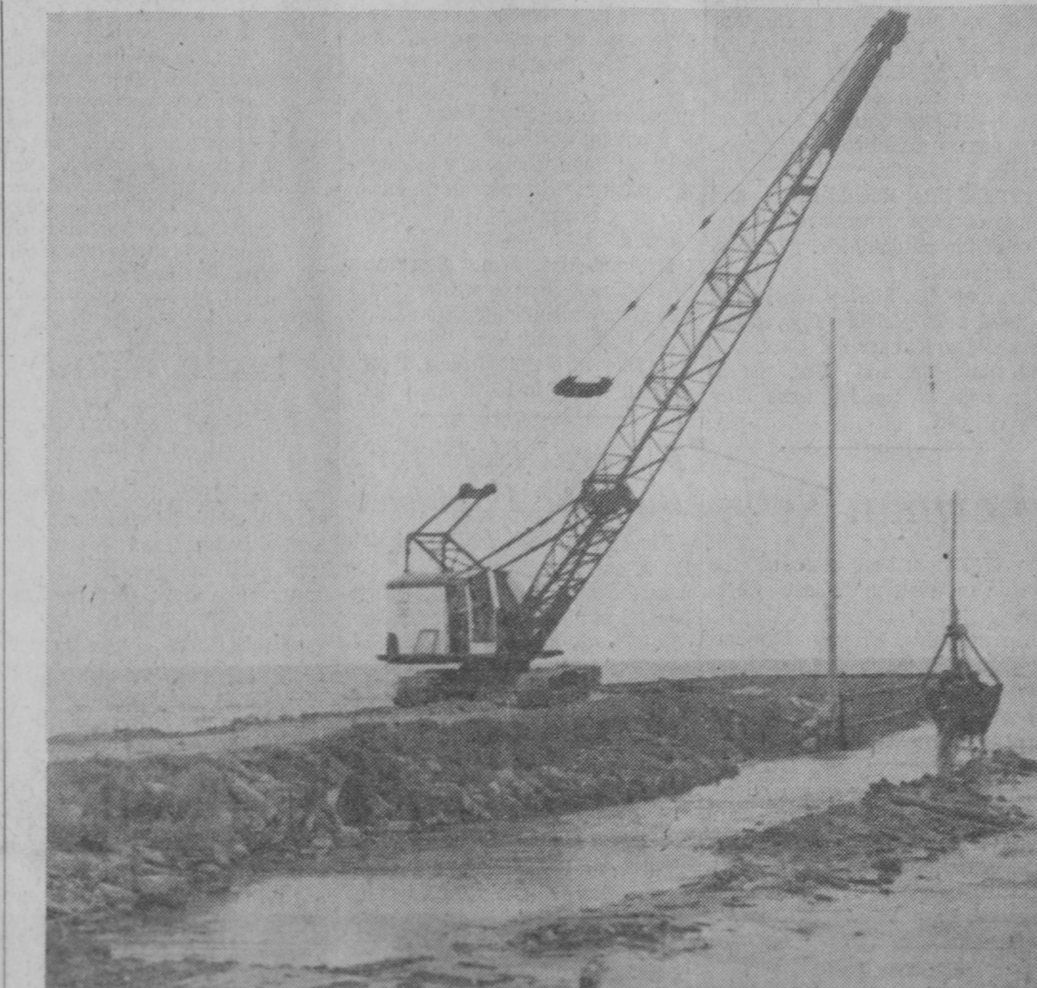

In addition to the construction cost, the total average annual cost for channel work is $293,000, annual maintenance cost is $19,000, for a total annual cost of $312,000, according to the official preliminary investigation report.

Based on a ratio adopted in Judge Swallow's court, 91 percent of the cost would be borne by Arenac County, six percent by Iosco County and three percent by Ogemaw County.

The Iosco drain commissioner said Thursday that he felt many people who formerly had favored the proposal would now look at the AuGres watershed project in a different light, due to the initial cost and the high cost of maintenance annually. He also pointed out that construction of the new harbor with federal funds at the mouth of the AuGres River had accelerated the flow of water in that stream and had corrected many of the past problems. He said there had been no serious flooding near AuGres since the new harbor had been constructed.

WORK STARTED last week by K. G. Marks, Port Huron contractor, on construction of steel piling on the shore end of the Tawas City Park dock. The project is being funded by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources at a cost of $59,523.80. Work on the outer end of the dock was provided by the city. The contractor is using a dragline (above) to remove rubble from the lake bottom in order to install the piling. The dock is closed to the public during construction. —Tawas Herald Photo.

E. Tawas Applies for Federal Funds

Applications for two federal grants are now being made by the City of East Tawas, according to a report Monday by Clerk Clyde Soper.

One application for Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds would pay one-half of the cost of the boat launching ramp under a state-local project. The second application is with the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission for assisting the city in purchasing the McKay property west of the city park.

The application for BOR funds is being coordinated by Walter J. Poyet, launching ramp coordinator for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The program would include four ramps behind the state police post, a parking lot of 57 spaces east of Wadsworth Street, plus restroom facilities near the pumping station west of Hester's Market.

The city recently authorized purchase of a lease held by Gordon MacAndrew for offshore lake bottom land at the foot of Wadsworth Street. The pier on that property is to be improved for the boat launching area.

A public hearing on the proposed boat launching ramp is to be held Monday, October 3, at a meeting of the city council.

As the result of proposed construction of the boat launching ramp, along with location of a parking lot and new exit to serve the harbor of refuge under construction, a number of camping spots are to be eliminated at the city park.

The city is making application for $40,000 in Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission funds to help finance purchase of a portion of the McKay property for park expansion. The county has allocated $30,000 for purchase of a house on the property for use as a county museum.

The city would retain lake frontage on the McKay site and would remove a residence from city owned property formerly owned by Dr. Harold Jones. This would be utilized for expansion of parking, picnic and recreational facilities.

Iosco County Files Additional Programs for CETA Money

Iosco County has filed for another $295,000 in CETA projects, according to Joseph Fox, who represents the Iosco County Board of Commissioners on the Region 7-B Consortium.

Additional federal funds are available under this training and employment program. Since early summer, the county has had projects totaling $398,000 under way.

Fox said he had received assurances that finances would be provided for East Tawas Parks and Recreation, work at the Dewey Durant Park and Tom Dillon Park, $28,189; Iosco County Creel Census, $19,117; Tawas River Reclamation Project No. 2, $17,646; Iosco County Manpower Survey, $10,547; City of Whittemore, $15,140; Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Footesite maintenance, $4,586.

Additional projects expected to be funded included East Tawas forestry program, $76,427; Tawas City forestry program, $73,528; Plainfield Township, $50,522; Burleigh Township, $41,000.

Complaints are Investigate Suspected Arson of Two Autos at East Tawas Sheriff's Dept.

Two vandalism complaints, two breakings and enterings and a larceny were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Vandalism complaints were reported by Steven A. Fox, Hale, gas tank of vehicle filled with sand; David M. Ledin, Townline Road, damage to hunting camp.

Breakings and enterings were reported by Clarence Oates, Alabaster Road, kitchen utensils stolen from dwelling; Truman Terpenning, Wilber Township, hunting cabin entered.

Vernon Arms of Taylor reported that the back window of his camper truck was pried open at Footesite Village and five salmon were stolen.

Iosco County Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation into an alleged arson at East Tawas early Tuesday morning in which fire damaged two automobiles.

East Tawas Fire Department was called to 3487 Walnut Street when a passing motorist noticed flames coming from a 1971 Pontiac sedan. The car was owned by Regina Greenway.

While there, firemen were called to a neighboring residence at 1493 US-23 where a 1965 Ford owned by Teresa Hirschak was on fire.

Investigating officers said the Greenway vehicle was destroyed. The front seat of the other vehicle was damaged.

Investigating officers said the Greenway vehicle was destroyed. The front seat of the other vehicle was damaged.

Store Windows Smashed from Oscoda to Standish

Continued investigation by Iosco County Sheriff's Department and other local law enforcement agencies indicates that damage to area store windows on September 16 probably was caused by persons driving in a vehicle along US-23.

The sheriff's department said that similar reports were received in an area from Oscoda to Standish and the same car may have been involved.

A slingshot using ball bearings or marbles was used to smash windows in a number of area business places, including Consumers Appliance, Inglis Ford, Tawas Sport Center, the Fireplace Centre, Nordic Sport Center, Barbier Oldsmobile and Seymour Carpets.

Consider Hiring Energy Consultant

Consideration is being given by Tawas Area Board of Education to the hiring of a professional firm to conduct an energy study and to make recommendations concerning methods of saving energy.

Representatives of Manson, Jackson and Kane Architectural Company, Lansing, told the board of education that the cost of such a survey would be in the neighborhood of $2,500.

The firm has conducted energy conservation surveys for a number of schools in the state, including Alpena. The firm is now conducting a survey at Oscoda Area School.

The firm's representatives said that future energy costs would escalate 500 percent from where they are now and that everyone had to cope with the problem. Included in the work would be checking light levels in rooms, study and recommendations concerning insulation and replacement of windows. The firm would also provide its assistance in filling applications for federal assistance.

The proposal was taken under advisement by the board of education and is to be considered at the next meeting.

In other business, a public hearing on the 1977-78 operational budget is to be held October 10. Under a tentative budget studied in March, estimated expenditures for the year were $2,212,000. This figure is now $25,000 higher.

Because of the illness of Edward Poppe, transportation director, a replacement is to be hired.

Mental Health Needs Asked

Iosco-Ogemaw Community Mental Health Services Board is going to people of the county to ask what their mental health needs are. This is the essence of the Needs Assessment Program announced last week by Floyd R. Smith, director of the mental health agency.

Leonard Stephens of West Branch, who will be carrying out the program for the board, was recently employed through a CETA program. He expects to contact approximately 200 residents of Iosco County in order to seek their views on mental health problems and needs in the county. The survey will take about 15 minutes of the time of the individual cooperating in the survey.

Reason for the survey is to assure the mental health board and the community that programs needed are being provided. If the survey indicates new or expanded programs are necessary to meet mental health needs, the survey will also provide basis for seeking additional state funding to meet these needs.

Any person desiring to present his views regarding mental health in Iosco County should contact Stephens at 362-4612. The survey will take approximately six weeks to complete.

5.8 Million Youth To Observe National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8

CHICAGO—From California's agricultural valleys to the central cities of the East Coast, more than 5.8 million young people will observe National 4-H Week Oct. 2-8. Theme of this year's observance is "4-H—Freedom to Be."

President Jimmy Carter said in a message to 4-H members and volunteer leaders: "4-H—Freedom to Be" is a most appropriate theme for an effort that reaches out to all young Americans—rural and urban—from all racial, cultural, economic and social backgrounds. For many, 4-H is the door to a lifetime of personal growth and self-fulfillment."

National 4-H Week is set annually by the Cooperative Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. The observance gives 4-H members, their leaders and parents an opportunity to review the past year's work and plan for the coming year. It also focuses public attention on the values of 4-H as an informal educational program that enables young people to learn real-life skills, develop leadership abilities and become productive citizens.

Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 participate in 4-H through organized clubs, special interest groups, nutrition education programs, television series, short-term activities and camping.

At the core of 4-H work is the learn-by-doing project. Some of the most popular projects are food-nutrition, clothing, home improvement, gardening, health, safety and leadership. Newer projects range from aerospace to dramatics and karate.

Giving public demonstrations and speeches, planning and carrying out community service projects, and serving as officers or junior/teen leaders in their clubs are some of the ways 4-H members acquire leadership skills and practice good citizenship.

4-H projects and activities are supervised by nearly 10,000 county agricultural, home economics and 4-H agents. These extension professionals are assisted by more than 570,000 volunteers—adults, teens and juniors—who give leadership to local clubs, special interest groups and other activities.

The private sector, represented by thousands of businesses, foundations and individuals, contributes financial and technical assistance at local, county, state and national levels to help strengthen and expand the 4-H program.

22.4 percent of 4-H members now live on farms, and an approximately equal percentage (22.7%) live in suburbs and cities of more than 50,000 population. 38.4 percent live in towns of less than 10,000 population, and 16.5 percent in towns and cities of 10,000 to 50,000.

Corned Beef Hero Conquers Hearty Appetites

All hail the Corned Beef Hero, a satisfying protein-packed repast for many a casual (and carefree) meal! Don't be put off by its heroic proportions, as this big inviting loaf can be cut into pieces as generous or slender as appetites prefer. Lean, fully-cooked canned corned beef, one of the "good things that come in small packages," slices neatly and easily when the 12 oz. can is well chilled before opening. A zippy spread adds a bit of juicy succulence and distinctive flavor to this specialty sandwich. It's quick to mix with chili sauce, mayonnaise, mustard and ripe olives from the cupboard shelf. Add lettuce, tomatoes and let the hero come to the rescue of hearty appetites.

- Corned Beef Hero
- |                                     |  |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| 1/3 cup chili sauce                 | 1 loaf Italian or French bread, sliced lengthwise      |
| 1/4 cup mayonnaise                  | 1 can (12 oz.) Libby's Corned Beef, chilled and sliced |
| 1/3 cup chopped Libby's Ripe Olives | 6 lettuce leaves                                       |
| 3 tablespoons prepared mustard      | 6 tomato slices  |

Combine chili sauce, olives, mayonnaise and mustard to make a sandwich dressing. Spread both the halves of the sliced bread with the dressing. Arrange lettuce, tomato and sliced corned beef on one half; top with other half. To serve, slice loaf diagonally and pass the extra dressing. Yields 4 to 6 generous slices.

Note: 4 to 6 hard rolls may be substituted for bread loaf.

ANDY MAYER of the Braves was stopped on a good tackle by Tom Donaghy (12) of the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals (above), but the fleet-footed Tawas back scored three touchdowns during the night and picked up 246 yards to lead the Braves to a 28-13 victory over Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Braves Beat W-P Cardinals, 28-13

Andy Mayer scored three touchdowns Friday night as the Tawas Area Braves came from behind to defeat the visiting Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals, 28-13.

Rushing for 246 yards in 29 carries, Mayer scored touchdowns on runs at 85, 32 and 12 yards. Pete Wood added another touchdown, while Mayer and Quarterback Jerry Gracik each scored two-point conversions.

Tawas went out in front in the first quarter, 6-0, when Mayer went 85 yards to score. The kick from placement was blocked.

The Cardinals came right back when Quarterback Bob Gawne connected on a 27-yard pass to End Bill Race. The PAT attempt was stopped and the game was tied, 6-6.

Tawas took the kickoff and penetrated to the 40 in Cardinal territory in six plays, but Lloyd Saunders intercepted a pass for the Cards to set up another touchdown. Good runs by Albert May, Norm Nichols and Mark Gawne moved the ball to the 33, where May rolled to a touchdown with five minutes, 15 seconds, remaining in the first half. Larry Snyder booted the PAT and the Cardinals held a 13-6 lead.

The Braves bounced back to move the ball to the 13-yard line of Whittemore in 14 plays, but the drive ended there on fourth down. Tawas dominated most of the second half and scored shortly after a fumble by May, who had broken through Tawas' line and was headed for a big gain. Tawas took over the ball on the 44 and Mayer scored three plays later. Gracik ran the PAT to give Tawas a 14-13 margin.

Norm Nichols connected on a long pass to Race to give Whittemore-Prescott a first down on Tawas' 36, but Bill King intercepted a pass three plays later to end the drive. Tawas marched to the seven-yard line, the last play coming on a pass to King, but a 15-yard holding penalty hurt that drive. Tawas regained the lost yardage to the seven, but had to turn the ball over on fourth down.

The Cardinals could not move beyond the 10 and had to punt. Tawas returned the ball to the 37 and, three plays later, Mayer rolled to a touchdown to make the score 20-13.

Whittemore-Prescott took the kickoff and had the ball for only three plays when Bill Gracik intercepted a pass on the 47. Nine plays later, Wood scored his first touchdown of the season on a five-yard run with one minute, four seconds left in the game. Mayer ran the PAT and Tawas held a 28-13 lead.

The victory gave Tawas a record of two wins and one loss and the win over the Cardinals is in conference play. The Braves are to travel to Pinconning Friday night to meet a red hot Spartan squad, which defeated Ogemaw Heights for its third straight win last week.

Tawas Bravettes Won Pair of Cage Games Last Week

Tawas Bravettes won a pair of basketball games last week, taking the NEM Conference opener from Standish-Sterling, 60-49, and defeated Hale in a non-conference game, 45-36.

Kari Allen meshed 19 points to lead the Bravettes in the win September 20 over Standish-Sterling. Joyce Hatcher and Kim McKenzie each turned in 10 points.

Allen was top rebounder with 15, followed by Tara Freel with 6.

The junior varsity lost, 35-44, to Standish-Sterling. Cindy Wood had 10 points and Jan Johnson scored 7. Diane Nelkie turned in 10 rebounds, followed by nine for Lori Gracik.

Allen meshed another 19 points to lead Tawas in its win over Hale. Meg Peterson had 10 points, while Freel and Hatcher each had six. R. Ruckle led Hale with 11 points.

Hale jumped off to an 8-3 lead in the first quarter, but Tawas came back with a 22-16 margin in the second quarter. Tawas led at the end of the third quarter, 31-37.

Hale won the junior varsity game, 40-35. Maria Pintkowski was top scorer with 17 points, followed by seven points each for Jody Schuppach and Johnson.

Third Straight Win

Eagles Continue Impressive Shutout Record Over AuGres

Hale Area Eagles rolled to an impressive 20-0 win Friday night over the AuGres Wolverines. The Eagles have not been scored upon in 12 quarters this season and have three straight wins.

After the opening kickoff, the Eagles ran six plays and Daryn Bernard scored from two yards out. Mark Braun kicked the point after touchdown and Hale had a 7-0 lead. The touchdown was set up on a nice kickoff return by Rick Weaver, who returned the ball 50 yards to the 31-yard line.

Later in the first quarter, Terry Allen went 35 yards for a touchdown. Braun missed the conversion attempt and Hale held a 13-0 lead. In the second quarter, Weaver turned in a 31-yard run and Bryon Bernard had a 16-yard run to set up the third touchdown. Bernard went the final two yards for the touchdown.

That ended the scoring for the night, but Hale had several touchdowns called back because of penalties. Allen ran 29 yards and had it called back due to a clipping penalty. Weaver and Allen both ran for 45 yards and had the plays nullified by clipping penalties.

Allen was the top rusher for Hale with 103 yards in six carries. Weaver turned in 89 yards in nine carries, while Daryn Bernard had 52 yards in 13 carries. Bryon Bernard had 25 yards in four carries. The Eagles totaled 272 yards on the ground and had 30 yards passing.

Defensively, the leading tackler was Kelly Wilson with nine tackles. Gary Williams had seven tackles and Mark Richards had six stops. Bryon Bernard had six tackles, while Wilson recovered two fumbles and Williams recovered one.

Hale fumbled four times and lost two. AuGres intercepted two Hale passes.

It was a hard hitting game and the biggest difference between the two teams was in the play of the lines. Hale's line did an excellent job of blocking and the speed of Hale backs proved to be a major factor.

Warren Ott, AuGres' fine running back, had only one good run of 35 yards during the night and Hale's defense held him in check the rest of the time.

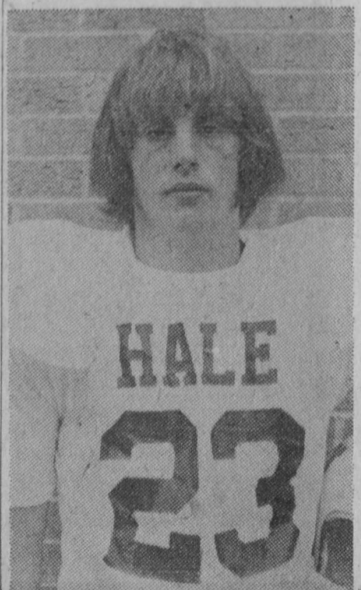

The only time that AuGres threatened was in the third quarter when the Wolverines took the kickoff and drove to the Hale 10. Running an end sweep on fourth down, Daryn Bernard caught the quarterback from behind for a 10-yard loss to end the threat.

Hale's offense made a number of mistakes which resulted in penalties, but some good downfield blocking helped to get the Eagle ground attack moving.

The Eagles will put their undefeated record on the line Saturday night when they meet Saginaw St. Peter and Paul at Arthur Hill Stadium. The Saginaw team was ranked 11th in class C last week.

Opponent Spent $188,878 in Attempt to Defeat Bottle Bill

The leading opponent of Michigan's "bottle bill" spent $188,878 in an unsuccessful attempt to defeat the measure, according to an article in the current issue of Michigan Out-of-Doors.

The monthly magazine is published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, which led the campaign for passage of the bill to ban throwaway bottles and cans in the general election last November.

The magazine said a campaign expenditure report filed by the Committee Against Forced Deposits (CAFD) reveals that the Can Manufacturers Institute outspent all other donors in the losing battle. Its $188,878 donation was substantially more than was spent by all of the supporters of the bottle bill combined.

MUCC, which spearheaded the petition drive to put the issue on the ballot and organized the election campaign in support of Proposal A, spent $75,000 on the campaign. Other groups added approximately $50,000 collectively for a total of $125,000 expended by bottle bill proponents.

"The CAFD alone spent more than one million dollars for advertising against Proposal A," the magazine reported. "In addition, various unions, supermarkets, trade associations and other vested interests poured hundreds of thousands of dollars into the campaign independently of the committee," Michigan Out-of-Doors stated.

"It is believed that the amount spent in an attempt to defeat Proposal A exceeds the total expended on any other political contest in Michigan's history. But because of the diversity of sponsors of the advertising, the exact total may never be known."

In spite of the huge expenditures, however, Michigan voters approved of Proposal A by a margin of nearly two to one. The bottle bill carried in all but four of Michigan's 83 counties.

Seek Lower Water-Sewer Rates

Would Annex Medical Care Facility Site of 80 Acres to City of Tawas City

Annexation of the 80-acre Iosco County Medical Care Facility site to the City of Tawas City as an economy move is being considered by the Iosco County Department of Social Services, which operates the facility.

Permission to commence annexation proceedings with the city was granted Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners. The first step in such an action would be to petition the city council.

In a letter to the commission, Roy Bergstrom, medical care facility director, said that the proposed move was "predicated on an attempt to reduce operating costs in the area of water and sewer rates." Because the medical care facility is located just over the boundary line in Tawas Township, the facility must pay a 100 percent surcharge to the city for water service. The sewer rate is 50 percent of the water charge.

Bergstrom said that cost for the combined utilities in 1972 was $2, $41 and the cost in 1976 had advanced to $5,998. A new rate schedule increasing the cost to all public buildings, as well as to residential and commercial users, becomes effective on October 1. Bergstrom said that the new rate would add $500 to the medical care facility's cost.

The rate increase to all users is part of the financing procedure for constructing Tawas City's share of the current water expansion program with East Tawas and Baldwin Township. Larger mains provided by the expanded system, as well as additional water storage facilities, is expected to benefit all water users.

Legal steps to be taken in the annexation procedure are now being studied by county authorities. It is not expected that a vote of the people would be required for such action, but it probably would require approval of the state boundary commission.

The medical care facility property abuts the city in the latter's west boundary. The area under consideration for annexation does not include homes fronting along the south side of Plank Road.

The above area was among several suggested for consideration in the proposed reorganization of Tawas City and East Tawas into a single home rule city.

Giant of the Lumbering Industry

JOHN E. POTTS

To an older generation now at rest, the day J. E. Potts Salt and Lumber Company failed on November 27, 1890, was one of the blackest in the history of AuSable-Oscoda—almost as black as the day 21 years later when fire destroyed the two towns.

Circumstances surrounding the financial reverses of one of the largest lumber companies in the world are difficult to understand 87 years later—so indelibly did J. E. Potts stamp his identity upon Michigan's lumber industry that his very name represented money made from pine holdings.

Collapse of the firm came one year prior to the very peak in lumber production at AuSable-Oscoda, but it should be noted that the fortunes of the industry were all down hill after 1891, an era of national financial depression.

Writing in 1906, Harry R. Solomon of AuSable said that the ambitious Potts "strived to increase his business so that his institution would be world-famed; he was a benefactor to mankind, a martyr to the cause which he advocated."

Solomon was the principal speaker during the 1906 "homecoming week on the 'Sable'" and, in his remarks, said that many remembered when Potts "first landed on this soil to take hold of the large industry that had already been established."

With tremendous business sagacity, said the speaker, Potts "looked into the future and foresaw what a God-send it would be to the community to build a railroad into the wilds of the forests, so that he not alone would be materially benefited, but that the inhabitants throughout the district would be brought into closer communication with one another."

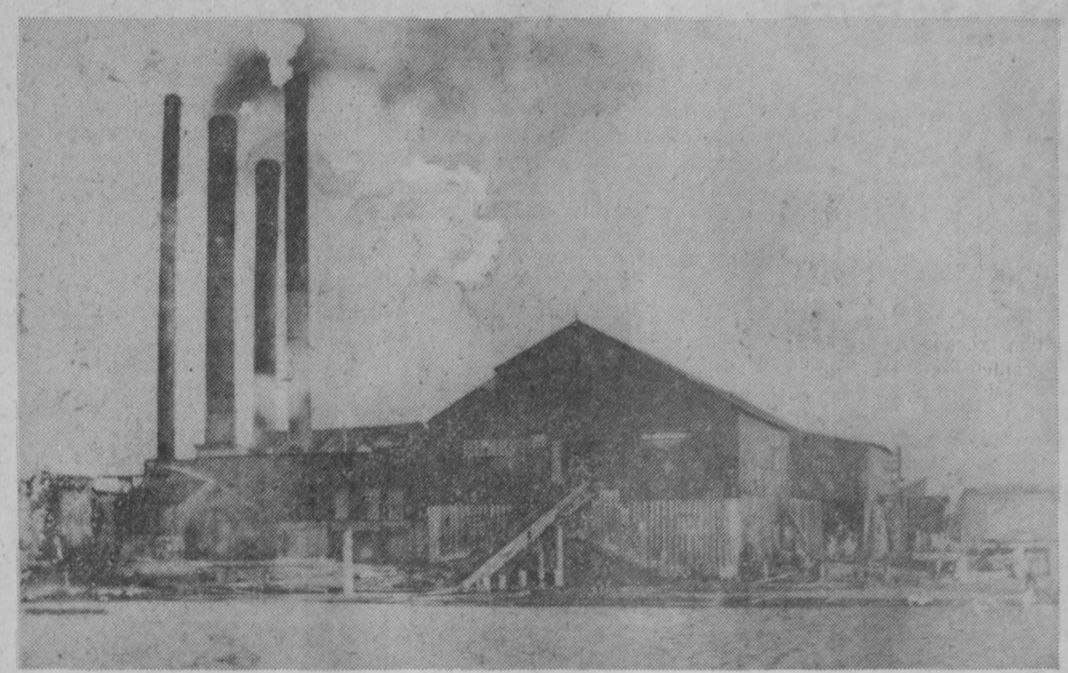

Therein lies the key to the financial ruin of one of the state's industrial captains of the last century. The tremendous expense of constructing a private railroad into the heart of the state to tap the white pine forest proved to be so huge that Potts' enterprise had no chance of success.

The late Frank Hebner, who was once a locomotive engineer on Potts' railroad, the AuSable and Northwestern, believed years ago that the real key to failure of the AuSable lumbering firm was the expense involved in building a railroad grade to climb the Seven Mile Hill, north of the AuSable River and approximately seven miles from Oscoda.

This railroad grade is still visible today and an inspection of the vast earthen work, now covered by trees, will give an understanding of the immensity of the project. Thousands of man hours, working with teams of horses, must have been required to move tons of sand to the fill area.

Potts, originally a resident of Simcoe, Canada, came to Iosco County in 1875 and purchased the Backus Brothers mill at the mouth of the AuSable River. The original owners were the pioneers in the lumber business there, having constructed their first mill in 1865 and, following a fire, replaced it with a second mill.

The Canadian paid the Backus firm $30,000 for the mill and its considerable pine holdings along the Pine River. He then remodeled this mill at a cost of $15,000 into one of the world's largest and later added a large salt block, plus modernizing facilities.

THE FAMED POTTS SAWMILL at the mouth of the AuSable River was one of the world's largest in its day. It produced 98,000,000 feet of white pine lumber in the last year of its existence to set a record. The first mill constructed at AuSable, Potts purchased it in 1875.

Its location at the mouth of the AuSable River, later known as Potts' Point, was the 'most ideal spot for a sawmill along that stream. The operation had an annual capacity of more than 75-million feet of lumber and its docks were close to the river mouth for loading the finished product onto lake carriers.

Potts operated his giant firm individually until 1883, when the J. E. Potts Salt and Lumber Company was organized, which formed the nucleus for one of the largest mill organizations in the world. This reorganization came as the need for additional capital arose to construct narrow gauge railroad tracks inland.

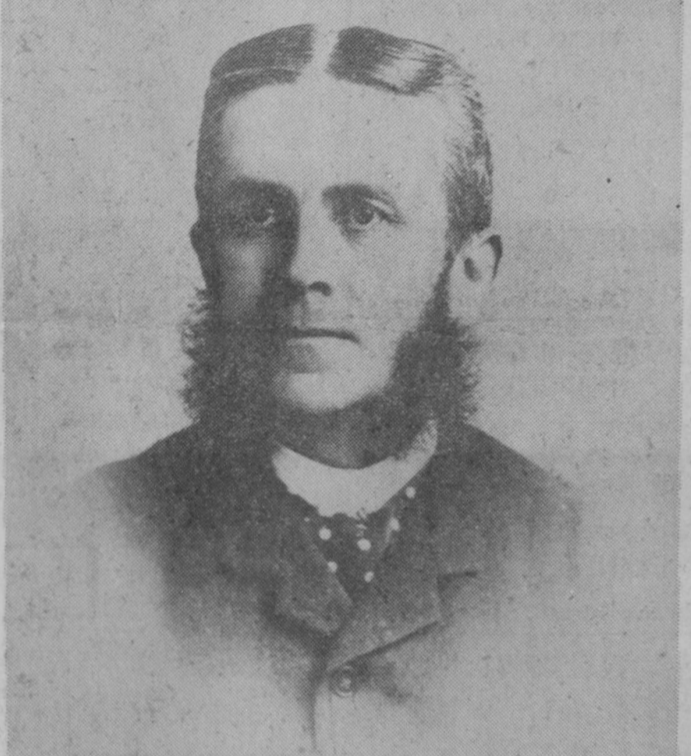

Potts, who resided at Detroit where the principal office of the company was located, was president of the new firm and George A. McBean of AuSable was vice president. The firm had capital stock of $350,000, of which Potts owned $306,225. No information is available concerning the firm's indebtedness.

The firm tapped the vast reserves of timber in Oscoda County and its terminal became known as Potts' Headquarters, later known as McKinley, site of its repair shop.

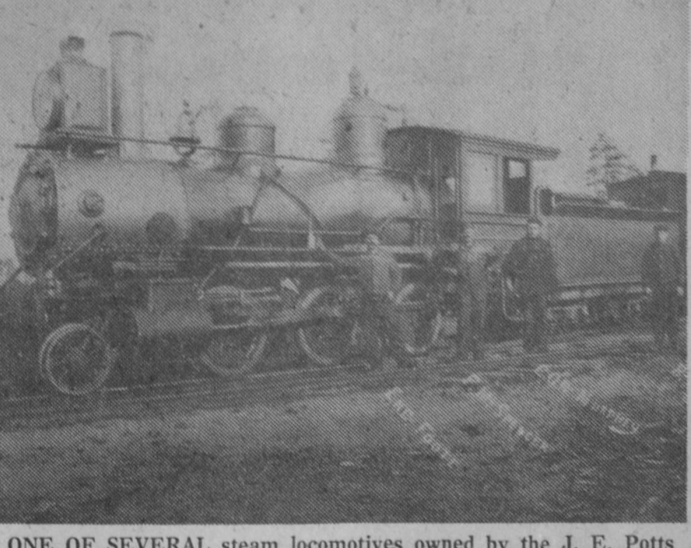

At its beginning, Potts' railroad was 50 miles in length, but it continued to expand inland as the forest was rapidly being depleted of merchantable timber. The road was to reach Lewiston before the lumbering day bubble collapsed.

In its last year of existence, Potts' mill at AuSable produced 98,000,000 feet of lumber to set a new world's record. The firm operated day and night as the mill was illuminated by electric lights.

Other lumbering firms, including the Louns, Penoyer Brothers, Gratiwicks, John C. Gram, Moore and Tanner, plus Pack, Woods and Company, were to operate at AuSable-Oscoda for several more years, but Potts' firm had run its course.

JOHN E. POTTS' name represented wealth made from pine holdings in the fourth quarter of the last century. His firm collapsed at AuSable in 1894 and he was thrown into financial ruin.

ONE OF SEVERAL steam locomotives owned by the J. E. Potts Salt and Lumber Company, it was purchased in April 1889 for use on its logging railroad operating out of AuSable. Before the railroad could reach the plains, it had to climb the Seven Mile Hill west of Oscoda—that may have been its undoing.

Creditors of the firm demanded payment of outstanding debts and the firm could not comply. Potts was reduced to a financial shambles, losing everything in the collapse of his business. He was living with his children in 1906, when those attending the AuSable reunion offered a prayer that he would be granted "health and strength in his declining days."

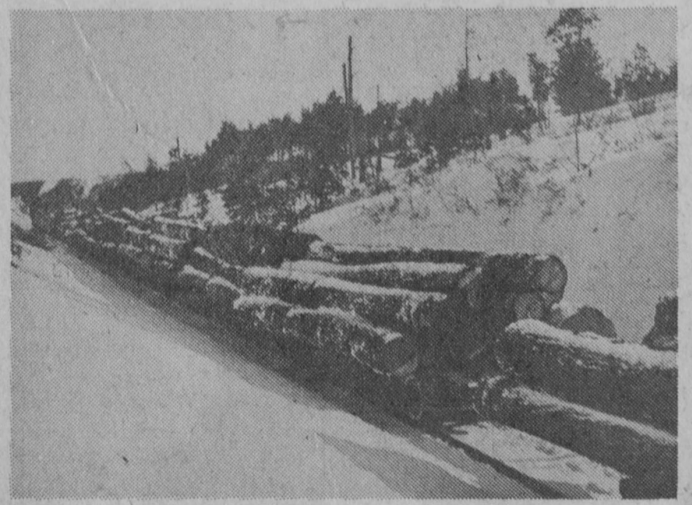

In 1892, H. M. Loud and Sons Lumber Company purchased the mill machinery, railroad, equipment, timber and valuable lands formerly owned by Potts. The Louns broadened their business operations by building branch railroad spurs and opened good farming land to settlement.

Business boomed at McKinley for about 10 years, or until the railroad repair shop burned. It was to become one of the ghost lumbering towns of Michigan.

The late Harry K. Loud of Oscoda supervised dismantling of the old Potts mill in the late 1890s and the gear operated Lima locomotives purchased by Potts in the 1870s and 1880s were finally silenced by the 1911 fire at AuSable-Oscoda, which wiped out the Loud operation.

Few people in that community today even know the location of Potts' Point, or the man for whom it was named. The old railroad grades remain today in the cut-over lands north of the AuSable River, visible reminders of a man who once had a vision, but who lost all he possessed in one of the riskiest businesses ever devised—Michigan lumbering.

THIS VIEW shows a trainload of white pine logs paused on the AuSable and Northwestern Railroad. The railroad tapped pine stands far into the interior of Michigan to bring logs to mills at AuSable-Oscoda.

What's cooking in Michigan—

Kitchens Harbor Potential Danger

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

Are you running a high risk kitchen? Do not laugh! A recent USDA survey showed 63 percent of American home kitchens have an unnecessarily high potential of sickness due to possible contamination of food.

Many of the points brought out in the study are the same ones mentioned time and time again by technologists with the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Food Inspection division.

What made certain kitchens high risk? These are some of the undesirable practices:

Cooked hamburger rare; left cooked beef roast, pork roast, turkey or chicken at room temperature for more than two hours; left salad (tuna, chicken, turkey or egg) at room temperature for more than two hours; kept beef roast, turkey, pork or chicken leftovers in the refrigerator at above 45 degrees; stuffed a turkey a day or more in advance of roasting it; stored leftover stuffing in the turkey; cooked a turkey partially at one time and completed cooking at another.

There was a surprise in the survey. The homemaker guilty of having a high risk kitchen is likely to be younger, better educated, with a higher household income, than those who did not engage in high risk practices.

"The application of ordinary sanitary practices will prevent many foodborne diseases in the home," the report concluded. "Their occurrence is largely the result of apathy, poor judgment, carelessness or inadequate knowledge of the proper way to handle foods."

Next time you are in the kitchen, you might remember some of the pitfalls and make sure your working area is not a disaster area.

Maus Completes Recruit Training

Marine PFC John P. Maus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Maus, Glennie, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1977 graduate of Oscoda Area High School, he joined the corps in October 1976.

New Recruiter at East Tawas

SIC Russell Davidson, army recruiter, has recently been transferred to the army recruiting station at 836 North US-23, East Tawas.

Davidson is a 10-year army veteran who has been a recruiter in Michigan since 1974, serving at the Alpena recruiting station. He had previously been in the navy from 1958 to 1962 and after he joined the army in 1963, he served on army tugboats. He has commanded both a 65-foot and a 100-foot tug.

Davidson and his wife, Bonnie, with their three children, live at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda.

'Don't Shoot the Cable' is Bell Plea

"Please don't shoot the cable!"—That is Michigan Bell Telephone Company's request as hunting season opens throughout the state.

Fall appears to bring out the hunter in man and often telephone cables seem to end up as the hunter's targets, according to Howard L. Haight, local Michigan Bell manager.

Every year more than 100 cases of phone trouble are traced to bullets or pellets hitting telephone cables. Such careless use of firearms can knock out phone service to many customers, Haight said.

"A single shot or pellet can cut off scores of conversations—one of which could be an emergency call for police or fire or a call from someone sick or bedridden," Haight said.

"It is in the hunter's own best interests to avoid hitting our cables," he said, "because the hunter might need to use a phone himself to call for help in case of an accident."

Persons can be held financially responsible for damaging telephone equipment or property, Haight added.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Air Travel from County Disappointing

15 Years Ago—

September 26, 1962—Alpena Flying Service, which has operated air passenger service during the past summer from Iosco County Airport, is disappointed with its public acceptance. Only 24 passengers were transported to Detroit from Tawas and 26 returned. This was about 50 percent of what the firm had hoped for.

Area businessmen expressed concern over unnecessary delay in development of Tawas Point as a state park. One shot at an insulator can drop a city in its tracks.
I know, because I'm a Consumers Power lineman, and it's my job to search for the cause of a power failure.
People who shoot out insulators forget that a single shot can bring down a house, a factory, a hospital or even an entire city. That's why Consumers Power offers substantial rewards for information resulting in either the arrest and arraignment, or the apprehension of persons responsible for damage to our property.
So, if you have information concerning such an incident, please contact a local police agency or call Consumers Power.

IT IS THAT TIME of the year again when hunters and other persons using firearms must be warned against using power pole insulators for targets. One shot can bring down a house, a factory, a hospital or even an entire city, reports Consumers Power Company. It is some thing to think about and it is why Consumers Power offers substantial rewards for information resulting in either the arrest and arraignment, or the apprehension of persons responsible for damage to its property.

THESE BRANDS of detergent will be disappearing from supermarket shelves after October 1. All contain more than 0.5 percent of the amount of phosphates permitted in household laundry detergents. A circuit judge upheld a recent phosphate ban adopted by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission, but the court action is expected to be appealed.

Judge Upholds Michigan Ban on Phosphate Detergent Sales

Household detergents containing phosphates cannot be sold in Michigan after October 1, a Wayne County circuit judge ruled Wednesday. The rule applies to all persons selling detergents, including supermarkets.

The court decision denied a request by the soap industry for an injunction to prevent the ban from taking effect. The no phosphate rule had been adopted by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission in August.

The ban adopted by the resources commission on August 26 reduces from 8.7 percent to 0.5 percent the amount of phosphates permitted in household laundry detergents. It has been reported that 0.5 percent is the smallest amount of phosphorus that can be scientifically detected.

The ruling last week was a mafor victory for environmentalists, who have sought the phosphate ban for years. New York and Indiana have enacted similar phosphate bans.

Rural areas of Michigan will feel the major effect of the phosphate ban, due to the fact that phosphate detergents are more effective than substitutes in "hard" well water.

Major soap companies sell both phosphate and nonphosphate products in Michigan, although the phosphate products account for most of the market.

It is expected that the soap industry will appeal the Wayne County decision and the impact on both the soap producer and consumer in Michigan could be only temporary. However, it would be impossible to perfect an appeal before October 1 and soap companies would be required to discontinue marketing phosphate detergents due to a $10,000-per-day court penalty.

In use since the end of World War II, it is claimed that phosphates as a cleaning agent in detergents and other household products cause premature aging of lakes and streams by promoting the growth of harmful algae.

Testimony before the Michigan Natural Resources Commission indicated that phosphate discharge in washwater is a major polluter of state waterways and the Great Lakes.

The soap industry contends that detergents containing phosphate substitutes do not clean as well as phosphate detergents, that the substitutes require the use of bleaches and other additives and cause mineral buildups that can damage washing machines.

PHOSPHATES COULD BE BANNED IN MICHIGAN SOON

Michigan residents face the possible prospect of using phosphate-free laundry detergents. Legislative approval of a decision banning phosphates in these detergents came on August 26. The ban could then become effective in October, pending the outcome of several lawsuits filed against the state.

The Water Resources Commission of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has proposed a ban on household laundry detergents that contain phosphates in any form in excess of 0.5 percent by weight.

It is believed that phosphorus is the key element that controls the growth of algae in most inland lakes and all of the Great Lakes. Sewage treatment is not yet removing enough phosphorus from wastewater discharged by cities into rivers and lakes. Many inland lakes, ringed by vacation and permanent homes, have no sewage treatment at all. The commission, which is charged with protecting the quality of Michigan waters, feels that the proposed ban would be an effective method for immediately reducing phosphorus inputs to Michigan waters. It also supports continued efforts to improve city sewage treatment in removing other sources of phosphorus, human waste, garbage disposers, dishwashers and fertilizer run-off.

According to Dr. Anne Field, family resource management specialist at Michigan State University, "There are pros and cons to phosphates." On the plus side, phosphates boost the cleaning power of detergents, because they soften water and prevent, or lessen, the forming of soap "curd," emulsify grease and oil, neutralize acid soil, hold dirt in suspension so that it does not redeposit on clothes during the wash cycle.

Phosphate-built detergents have been a valuable aid to those who must wash their clothes in hard water.

On the minus side, the phosphorus in phosphates is one of the several essential nutrients that promotes growth of vegetation and algae in lakes and streams. This is a natural process called eutrophication. But excessive amounts of nutrients speed up the rate of plant growth. Abundant vegetation clogs fresh water, uses up oxygen as it decays and causes stagnation. Fish will die, and if eutrophication is severe enough, eventually a lake may be lost. Most current research indicates that phosphorus is the nutrient element most responsible for the overrapid eutrophication of waters in the Great Lakes basin.

Consumers will need to look for alternatives and may have to change some laundering procedures to get clothes clean. More attention may be directed to pre-treatment of stains and to soaking before washing. Families with hard water may find it worthwhile to invest in water softening equipment. Detergent manufacturers are intensifying research to find substitutes that might clean as well as phosphates and yet be safe for human use.

Until the outcome of the legal action is known, Doctor Field says consumers can use a product with as low a phosphorus content as they can find, compatible with their laundry needs. The percentage is listed on the container.

If you are a detergent-dumper who just pours it out of the box into the washer, stop and measure the amount you use. Experiment with controlling the amount added but do not cut out so much that your clothes do not come clean.

Remember, detergent is more effective in warmer water. Cold water requires much more detergent to do the same cleaning job. Use hot or warm wash water, depending on the fabric, and save the cold water for all the rinsing.

Reduce detergent use and energy for heating water by washing clothes and linens only when they are soiled. Too frequent washing of items that are not dirty wastes these resources and wears out the clothes faster.

Recognize that maintaining water quality is a complex problem. Even experts disagree. But you can help by trying to keep informed and by being willing to change laundering habits if it helps preserve Michigan's lakes.
