Tornado Struck Hale Area Wednesday Without Warning

Spawed by a summer storm which converged over Plainfield Township late Wednesday afternoon, a tornado touched down one mile east of Hale and roared along Esmond Road for several miles before disappearing in a northeasterly direction.

Left in the path of the twister was about $50,000 in damaged property. Fortunately, there were no injuries.

Deputy Jack Dobson of the Iosco County Sheriff's Department told the Herald that he was at the Hale Clinic around 6:30 p. m. when it started to rain. A few minutes later he heard an intense roar "which sounded like nothing I have ever heard before."

When Dobson returned to the patrol car and reported back in service, the sheriff's office at Tawas City notified him that a tornado had struck the area.

That roar heard by the deputy was the tornado which passed over Hale and then touched down at the Arthur Szczepkowski residence, one mile east of the four corners at 6:35 p. m. The twister ripped a 3 1/2-car garage off the residence and scattered debris over the adjoining farm field.

Iris Szczepkowski, who was the only person at home when the storm hit, was taken to Tawas Hospital by her husband. She was treated for shock. Officers said the Szczepkowski residence was the hardest hit by the storm.

The twister then crossed Esmond Road and touched down again one-quarter mile away at the residence of Richard Mathews on the north side of the road. There, a 1 1/2-car garage was moved 20 feet off its slab, a car in the garage was propelled in the opposite direction for 20 feet, but was not damaged. Shade and apple trees were twisted and toppled to the ground and a barn roof was peeled off.

The twister then hit the adjoining property of Patrick Riley, where a 30-foot travel trailer owned by Dennis Chrivia was picked up and moved about 50 feet and then completely demolished. Debris from the trailer was scattered across a neighboring field in a northeasterly direction.

Following the storm, Chrivia was at the scene salvaging some of his furnishings. He said the trailer was about a year old and that he had hired Riley to adjust its brakes.

Shortly after the storm, Riley told the Herald that he had heard a noise and opened his front door to take a look. "I saw a white swirling thing dancing around in the orchard and I quickly closed the door," said Riley. He notified the sheriff's department by telephone of the storm.

The twister, or its accompanying high wind, then peeled off the roof of a barn on the south side of Esmond Road at the Marion Swantek residence.

Fred Caverly, who resides about three-quarters of a mile east of Riley on Channel Road, reported that the storm knocked over and uprooted numerous trees in his area. One tree in his yard fell across a Consumers Power line which knocked off electrical service along that road.

TC Council Heard Reports from City Planners-Park Bd.

A report on activities of the park board and planning commission was given at Tuesday night's meeting of Tawas City Council. The meeting was delayed one day due to the Labor Day holiday.

An update on projects was given the park board by Thomas Jacques, city forester. Jacques reported that fall work would include tree work, finishing the river cleanup, installation of a split rail fence at the Elms Avenue Park, a gate on the nature trail off Fourth Street, locating property lines on the city's 40 acres off Whitmore Road and establishing a timber sale.

Jacques explained the federal CETA program for the past year and what might be expected for next year.

The park board reviewed a sketch of the proposed park at the former Fuelgas site on property owned by the Detroit and Mackinac Undersheriff Basil O'Dell said later that he had been playing golf at Wicker Hills Golf Course. He and the other members of his foursome noted that the storm seemed to be converging from all directions and they sought shelter at the clubhouse. O'Dell was not aware of the nearby property damage until he was notified about one hour later by the sheriff.

According to O'Dell's rain gauge, 1.6 inches of rain fell in the Hale area in a matter of an hour's time.

Tpr. Terry Zidick of the Michigan State Police said he was about two miles south of Hale on M-65 when the storm passed overhead. He said, "It sounded like there was a freight train in the back seat," and he had difficulty controlling the patrol car. A few minutes later, he heard a citizens band radio distress call and continued east on Esmond Road to the scene of the storm damage.

The United States Weather Bureau at Alpena reported to the sheriff's department that the storm was a complete surprise to that agency and that no twister had been tracked by radar.

Gale, Tawas City, larceny of outboard motor; Nelson Briggs, Sand Lake, quantity of money stolen from house; Arthur D. White, South Branch, gasoline tank and battery stolen from boat.

Planning Commission Directed to Develop Solid Waste Plan

Development of a plan to meet future solid waste management needs for Iosco County is expected to be turned over to the county planning commission Wednesday (today) by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

A tentative go ahead was given to the planning commission Thursday during a committee meeting of the board of commissioners.

It is expected that the planning commission would utilize the services of the East Central Michigan Planning Commission to develop a solid waste management plan which is required by state law. Cost of developing the plan would be approximately $5,000.

Appearing at Thursday's committee meeting was Larry Thornton of Lansing, who represented the Solid Waste Management Division, Environmental Protection Branch, Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Thornton said considerable work on Iosco County's plan had already been completed and had been submitted to his office a year ago. He said, however, that information contained in that proposal was not in the proper order and required additional input to meet state guidelines. He felt that with some professional guidance in meeting state guidelines, a plan which would meet state approval could be developed shortly.

The county board of commissioners requested Thornton's appearance in order to clear the air concerning much local misinformation over solid waste disposal in Iosco County.

At the outset, Thornton said that Iosco was one of the first counties in the state to become involved in an extensive study of solid waste management by hiring a private firm to conduct a survey in the early 1970s. This county, however, has never proceeded since then to develop an approved plan.

Thornton emphasized that consideration of a county-wide or area plan for solid waste management should include input and participation by all local units of government.

The DNR representative said, too, only one sanitary landfill in Iosco County is presently approved by the state. He said that all other landfills, including a private landfill in an adjoining township of Ogemaw County, were not approved.

He expected that his department would take action to close a dump in Sherman Township and one near Skidway Lake in Ogemaw County. It is not expected that action would be taken against any other local landfills at this time which are not licensed by the state, but Thornton indicated that this would not necessarily mean that future action would not be taken.

The DNR representative said that the only approved facility was the Multi-County Sanitary Landfill on Monument Road, which is privately owned and is currently contracting for providing landfill service to the county.

The county commission expects to continue its contract with Multi-County for another year, but may turn back responsibility for future contracts to local units of government.

Thornton said that Multi-County Sanitary Landfill had conditional approval of the state but a ground water survey at that site still had not been received and several operational practices had to be changed before it could receive full approval.

He emphasized the need for information concerning the direction of ground water flow. He said this was essential in selecting a site for a sanitary landfill in order to prevent pollution to streams. He said that test wells had been made around the landfill, but that information concerning a survey had never been submitted to his office.

The DNR representative said that the county's solid waste management plan did not have to be involved with engineering of a sanitary landfill, but he felt that some consideration should be given to collection. In order to maintain autonomy of local units, he felt that each unit probably should have control of its own collection.

Thornton's office administers solid waste management supervision for 25 counties in the state. He said that only about one-half of those counties had state approved plans. Several of the approved plans involve more than one county.

He stressed the need for solid waste management plans in order to insure that ground water does not become contaminated by sanitary landfills. He felt that local units of government should comply with state law now before the federal government enters the picture.

Walked Into Airplane Propeller

Noted Reporter Killed Here in Freak Accident

A noted Washington Post reporter-editor received fatal injuries late Sunday afternoon when she walked into the spinning propeller of a light airplane at the Iosco County Airport.

Dead on arrival at Tawas Hospital was Marion L. Clark, 34, Washington, D. C. She sustained massive head and shoulder injuries in the accident.

Miss Clark and Thomas W. Zito Jr., also an employee of the Washington Post, had flown here in Zito's new single engine airplane to spend the holiday with her mother, Mrs. Ada Clark of Grosse Pointe Farms, who owns a summer home at Oscoda.

About an hour before the mishap, the party was joined by Lt. Col. Francis Smith of Wurtsmith Air Force Base and they took off on a short flight locally.

Smith told investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers that they landed at the airport, taxied to a point near the fuel pumps and stopped with the engine still running to decide if they would take off for a flight around the traffic pattern or refuel the airplane.

Miss Clark apparently exited from the passenger door of the aircraft to go to the restroom in the airport office building. Those inside the aircraft were unaware of the accident until they heard a loud thump when the victim walked into the blade of the propeller.

The victim was editor of the Washington Post's Sunday magazine section and was one of two reporters credited with breaking the story concerning the Wilbur Mills scandal.

These Sharks Are Out To Prey On Your Wallet

As the table stakes get higher, the card sharks play harder.

Most of us have probably never come in contact with a professional card or dice shark and almost as many would never know it if we had.

That bit of deception is the key to success for a dyed-in-the-wool hustler according to a new book on the subject titled Road Hustler (D. C. Heath, Lexington Books). The book was written by Dr. Robert C. Prus of the University of Waterloo, Ont. and a career hustler using the pseudonym of C.R.D. Sharper.

According to the authors the real "road hustler" is experienced at controlling the outcome of cards or dice and usually works with two or three partners. They may attend conventions for real estate agents, car dealers, contractors, lawyers, dentists, pharmacists, as well as those of the Lions Kiwanis, Optimists, American Legion, and B'nai B'rith. Especially good signs for the hustler are an affluent guest list, a free bar and an all-male function.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Matthew 6:19-21, 31-33)

"The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts." (Haggai 2:8)

Burglars broke open a window, ransacked the house and stole Thomas' valuable coin collection. Thomas prized the coins, not only for their worth, but because they had belonged to his father.

After the burglary, a concerned friend asked Thomas, "Weren't you sick about losing that valuable collection?"

Thomas shook his head and said, "No, I was not. Everything I have belongs to God."

Thomas, a boy in high school, had learned the truth that our hearts are with that which we love the most. He valued the coins because they had belonged to his father, but his real treasure was in the kingdom of his heavenly Father.

If earthly possessions mean more to us than our loving heavenly Father, then our treasure is not in heaven. But when our treasure is in heaven, there will be no hoarding or miserly counting of earthly treasures. No coveting. No asking God why when such losses occur.

It all belongs to God. What a way to keep books!

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, help us take our eyes and hands off earthly possessions. May we store up heavenly treasure instead. Amen.

Bills Not Itemized Can Delay Payment of Medicare Claims

Submitting medical bills that are not itemized can delay payment of claims under the medical insurance part of Medicare, according to social security officials here.

"If the patient uses the 'payment-to-you' method of medical insurance payment," a spokesman said, "the claim cannot be paid unless an itemized bill of services from the doctor or other medical provider is submitted with a completed Request for Medicare payment form."

Medicare medical insurance helps pay for doctor bills and many other medical expenses of people covered by the program. Claims are handled two ways—by the "payment-to-you" method or the "assignment" method.

"The patient is required to send in an itemized bill of services with his claim only if the payment-to-you method is used and the doctor or supplier does not complete Part II of the payment form," the spokesman said. "If the patient and doctor agree to use the assignment method, the doctor sends in the claim and Medicare payment is made directly to the doctor."

An itemized bill from a doctor must show the date, place, and description of each medical service involved—as well as the charge for each service. It must also show the patient's Medicare claim number exactly as it is shown on the card—including the letter at the end.

In the payment-to-you method, the patient sends in the claim with the itemized bill of services. Medicare payment may be made to the patient before or after the bill is settled with the doctor.

Claims are sent to the health insurance organization that handles the medical insurance claims in this area.

"Help in preparing Medicare claims is available at any social security office," the spokesman said. "Ask for a free leaflet, How to complete the Request for Medicare Payment."

Medicare medical insurance is available to people 65 and over, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more, and to many people under 65 with permanent kidney failure. The protection is funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues.

People can get information about Medicare by calling or writing any social security office.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Braves Open Season Friday With Eight Letter Winners

With only eight returning letter winners on the 26-man squad, Tawas Area Braves open the 1977 football season Friday night by playing host to Sanford Meridian.

After losing the opener last year to Meridian, the Braves went on to win five straight games before losing to Gladwin.

Coach Dick Look said last week that he was disappointed over the fact that several seniors were not turning out for football this fall, but he was happy with the 19 juniors moving up with last year's JV squad.

"Everyone has been working hard during practice, but it is really too early to tell what we can expect this season," said Look.

running back. Gary Birkenbach won a letter last year as a sophomore and will be returning as an end.

Moving up from the junior varsity are Pete Wood, defensive back; Billy King, quarterback; Bill Grack, back; John Bouchard, defensive back; Phil Lixey, hatcher; Scott Tonsley, running back; Mike Harsch, end; Lance Brooks, tackle; Jim Jurczyk, guard; Joe Cotter, center; Mike Fisher, center; Rick Metcalf, center; Dave Dunham, nose man; Donn Rakestraw, tackle; Jerry Lauwers, line backer; Jeff Nichols, end.

Brian Norton, end, is the lone sophomore on the squad. Following Friday's game, the Braves play September 16 at Boyne City and open the Northeastern Michigan League September 23 by playing host to Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals.

Home Canning Easy and Fun in 4-H

CHICAGO—One of every three American households now cans fruits and vegetables at home, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In rural areas, one of two households cans each year.

Home canning can be easy and fun, especially for young people 9-19 in the national 4-H food preservation program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corp.

Program members learn-by-doing to can and freeze produce from their own gardens or local markets. Fruits and vegetables that have been carefully selected and properly processed supplement the family's food supply year-round and add important nutrients to the diet.

Practical 4-H food preservation projects and activities teach girls and boys how to choose equipment, handle food safely and use up-to-date instructions to preserve a variety of foods including fruits, vegetables, meats, pickles, juices, jellies and preserves.

To recognize outstanding accomplishments in the program, Kerr offers awards ranging from six $1,000 scholarships nationally to four medals of honor in each county. One 4-H'er per state can win an expense-paid trip to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1.

After the Bicentennial The Battle For Bunker Hill Goes On And On In Boston

The Bunker Hill Monument, marking the battle site, stands on nearby Breed's Hill in Charlestown, Mass. because that's where the Colonial volunteers dug in to face the British regulars two centuries ago.

Today the Battle of Bunker Hill is fought—16 times a day—in yet another spot. Within musket range of the battle site, it is along the waterfront practically on the spot where Paul Revere stood and looked across the harbor to see the warning lanterns in the steeple of Old North Church.

Adjacent to the USS Constitution and the new national park incorporating the historic buildings and docks of the Boston Naval Shipyard, stands Boston's newest tourist attraction, the Bunker Hill Pavilion.

Inside its specially designed circular amphitheater, the presentation "Whites of Their Eyes" projects visitors back in time to the days of Paul Revere, the British occupation of Boston, and the first planned battle of the American Revolution.

The fully automated presentation combines special lighting, seven channels of "sound-in-the-round", an original ballad, 22 life-size costumed manikins, and thousands of slides projected onto 14 screens around the amphitheater. All to visually re-create the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Standing in the center of the Pavilion, the audience sees and hears the events from the Colonials' makeshift fortress atop Breed's Hill.

Here, story and battle unfold as cannon balls whistle overhead and the audience experiences the Redcoats' unrelenting advance. Three times they storm the hill while the Colonials hold their fire until they see the "whites of their eyes."

The historically accurate story is based on hundreds of original documents. During the 15-minute presentation, letters from Colonial and British soldiers describe the battle from their different perspectives and biases.

The $1.7 million, not-for-profit attraction, which was underwritten by Raytheon Company of Lexington, Mass., has been seen by more than a quarter million people since its opening on June 17, 1975, the 200th anniversary of the battle.

Installing Ceiling Tile In The Home Made Easy With Clip-Strip Metal Furring System

The do-it-yourselfer who plans on installing a new tile ceiling no longer needs to staple or nail ceiling tiles when using the unique Clip-Strip system available from the Gold Bond Building Products Division of National Gypsum Company. The system, designed exclusively for installation of tongue and groove (wide flange) 1/2-inch and 5/8-inch 12 x 12 in. ceiling tile, is composed of extruded plastic wall moulding and light-weight galvanized metal Clip-Strip channels. The two elements provide a raceway for sliding tiles into neat, snug-fitting rows for a smooth, professional looking job with no exposed fasteners—and no hammer dented tiles.

Aside from providing a fastening channel around the walls, the 10-foot long plastic wall moulding acts as a coving to eliminate the need for installing any trim. Wall trim strips can be fastened either with staples, nails or a high-strength adhesive. Both inside and outside corners can be formed using the cut-out template that is printed in the instructions.

The metal Clip-Strips, available in four-foot sections, can be fastened to furring strips or across joists with staples or nails. Once the Clip-Strip is in place, it provides a suspended channel that will accept the tongue and groove ceiling tile from both sides resulting in a tight-fitted seam the entire length of the new ceiling. (Once the tiles are installed, they completely cover the metal Clip-Strips.)

For further information about the Clip-Strip system and other home improvement products, write to: Gold Bond Building Products, Division of National Gypsum Company, 325 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo, New York 14202.

Kincheloe Now A State Prison

As a result of a rare one-day legislative session, work will now begin immediately to remodel Kincheloe Air Force Base at Sault Ste. Marie into a prison.

On August 30, 97 house members and all 36 senators descended on Lansing primarily for the purpose of approving Senate Bill No. 29 so the necessary funds could be appropriated for remodeling Kincheloe. Senate Bill No. 29 passed both houses with ease and Gov. William G. Milliken signed the bill into law the same day.

The approved bill contains 3.5-million dollars to remodel the base of which approximately 1.7-million dollars of this will be expended before the October 1 opening date of the prison.

State officials have estimated that the conversion of Kincheloe Air Force Base into a medium security prison can be done at one-third the 24-million-dollar cost of constructing a similar facility from the ground up. What is even more impressive is that within a month the state will have a facility that can house 700 inmates and possibly provide as many as 300 jobs in the economically depressed Upper Peninsula. While a 700-inmate facility will not completely solve the prison overcrowding in this state, it will certainly help ease the situation.

Insulating Hard-To-Reach Places Isn't Difficult

NECESSITY is the mother of invention, even when one is insulating the attic. Here is a suggestion—use a wax applicator or mop handle to help install attic insulation in hard-to-reach areas, according to the demonstration in the photograph above.

Fall Officially Starts Sept. 22

The official beginning of fall at 11:30 p. m. on September 22, a "harvest moon" on September 27 and a "penumbral eclipse" on the same night are among astronomical highlights of September, according to University of Michigan astronomer, Hazel M. Losh.

The beginning of fall on September 22 is marked by "the autumnal equinox, when the sun in its apparent yearly journey crosses the equator on its way south," says Losh.

During the autumnal equinox, "the day and night are said to be equal," according to Losh. But this is not strictly true, she notes, because as a result of the earth's atmosphere refracting the sun's light, the day and night will really be equal on September 26.

"Although on the 22nd, the sun is really above the horizon for 12 hours, it is visible for 11 minutes longer," notes Losh. "As the sunlight enters the atmosphere, it comes to a more dense region and its light is bent or refracted, so that it appears lifted into view making the sun visible." This phenomenon occurs before the sun rises above the horizon and after it sets.

Losh notes that "the moon that comes to full phase on September 27 at 4:17 a. m. is designated as the harvest moon. The harvest moon is defined as the full moon that comes nearest the date of the autumnal equinox."

Losh says that in late September "the nearly full moon will rise at approximately the same hour for several nights in succession and hence there will be an unusual amount of bright moonlight in the early evenings. The harvest moon is likely to appear larger than usual and take on quite a reddish appearance near the horizon."

Another highlight of the month, says Losh, is that the full moon of September 27 will enter "penumbral eclipse."

"In penumbral eclipses, the dimming of the moon is so slight that usually they go unnoticed, even by astronomers. The penumbra or partial shadow is where the light from the sun is partly but not wholly cut off by the earth," according to the U of M astronomer.

On September 27, the moon will reach the penumbra at 2:19 a. m., with this partial shadow remaining until 6:41 a. m. The "most pronounced dimming, or middle of the eclipse," will come at 4:30 a. m., says Losh.

Alaska Has Large Amounts Of Gas

Engineers brave the cold to check a line of "Christmas Trees" at Prudhoe Bay in Alaska. These wellhead control valves mark one area in Alaska's North Slope where sizeable resources of energy can be tapped for American consumers. About 32 trillion cubic feet of natural gas have been identified as proved reserves, this is enough gas to heat six million homes for 50 years. Experts estimate there is an additional 366 trillion cubic feet of gas in the Alaskan area alone.

Hale A. School Enrollment Showed Slight Increase

Enrollment August 29 at Hale Area School's two buildings was practically at the mark projected earlier in the year by school administrators. The count at the high school was 415 and the total for elementary grades was 382.

Dale Purkey, acting principal at the high school, said the total for junior high school and secondary grades was five students higher than the number projected earlier in the year; Peter Holley, elementary principal, reported that the elementary total was two students lower than projected.

It is expected that there will be some variances in enrollments at the two schools leading up to the official fourth Friday count in September. No significant change is expected.

Total by grades in the high school building was as follows: Seventh grade, 63; eighth grade, 64; ninth grade, 72; 10th grade, 75; 11th grade, 72; 12th grade, 69.

Enrollment in the elementary school included: Kindergarten, 53; first grade, 63; second grade, 62; third grade, 54; fourth grade, 44; fifth grade, 58; sixth grade, 47.

Two new teachers were on hand for the opening of classes at the high school last week. Joanne Hampson, a May 1977 graduate of Central Michigan University and a former resident of Rochester, is the new special education teacher.

Linda Zebarah, a 1975 graduate of Michigan State University and a former resident of Lincoln Park, is the new art teacher.

Three new teachers at the elementary school include:

Adrien Durham, third grade, a 1977 graduate of Saginaw Valley, where she was certified for elementary grades. She graduated from Miami of Ohio as a secondary teacher.

Karen Schmidt is the new speech therapist. She graduated from Wayne State University in 1966, taught at Detroit for one year and at Oscoda for eight years.

Greg DeNio is the new first grade teacher. A former Detroit resident and a Redford High School graduate, he completed degree work at Eastern Michigan University in 1977 and is in his first year of teaching.

Constitution Week Is Proclaimed

On behalf of the River AuxSables Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mayor David Mills of Whittemore has proclaimed the week of September 17 through September 23 as Constitution Week.

Mills urges citizens of his own community, as well as other communities of Iosco, to pay special attention during that week to the federal constitution and the advantages of American citizenship.

Each year, the Daughters of the American Revolution emphasize that Constitution Week is designated each year according to a 1956 law.

Mrs. Marilyn Linton, Constitution Week chairman for the River AuxSables Chapter, said the week was established "so that we, as Americans, can become better aware of our priceless heritage and the freedom and ideals set forth in our Constitution of the United States of America."

A NOSTALGIC LOOK AT SUMMER

THE HOT SUMMER OF 1977 will long be remembered as one of the best ever for swimming and boating in Iosco County. The swimming season started before Memorial Day and extended through Labor Day, although the weather turned somewhat wet and cool in late August. Because of the protection afforded by Tawas Point and slightly warmer water than in Lake Huron, Tawas Bay has long been noted for its bathing beaches. These pictures take a nostalgic look at swimmers of a bygone era—when fashion and modesty required an entirely different attire on the bathing beaches. The sun worshippers shown here will remain nameless, but the pictures were all snapped in the Tawas area.

THESE TAWAS RESIDENTS were enjoying a rare treat on a summer day before the turn of the century. All are thought to be members of a Sunday School class and they are ready to embark on a picnic excursion aboard this three-masted schooner tied at the commercial dock at East Tawas. Picnic baskets have been packed and the ship's crew, along with a few bold boys, pose for the photographer in the rigging.

THIS GROUP is enjoying a ride in a row boat on Tawas Lake. Despite the fact that the boat would now be deemed to be overloaded and occupants do not have life jackets, the party enjoyed an afternoon of fun. Had the boat tipped over, the ladies would have been in serious trouble with those long skirts.

THERE IS MORE than one way to enjoy the water of Tawas Bay. This man simply rolled up the legs of his trousers and waded along the shoreline while others enjoyed the crashing waves in the background.

WADING in the shallow water along the shore, the boy in the foreground straddles a floating log. The cottage at right appears to be dangerously close to the shoreline.

but people still get the same enjoyment out of the sandy beaches and the water.

On Alaskan Fishing Patrol

Coast Guard Ens. Kenneth W. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Armstrong of Tawas City, is currently on an Alaskan fisheries patrol in the North Pacific Ocean. He is serving as an officer assigned to the coast guard cutter, Midgett, homeported in Alameda, California.

During the patrol, his cutter is participating with coast guard aircraft in enforcing international treaties and United States laws concerning fishing in territorial waters, including the 200-mile fisheries conservation zone. Additionally, he and his shipmates have boarded foreign fishing vessels and responded to a distress call from a disabled tug and barge bound from Seattle to Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

The Midgett is a 378-foot long, high endurance cutter and carries a crew of 155 officers and enlisted men. She is outfitted with guns and torpedo tubes and can accommodate a search and rescue helicopter. She is capable of cruising at speeds in excess of 29 knots.

He is a 1977 graduate of the United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut, with a bachelor of science degree.

Timothy D. Shedenhelm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Shedenhelm, Tawas City, has completed the navy's basic electricity/electronics course.

Four weeks of study at Great Lakes, Illinois, included review of basic mathematics, fundamental electrical formulas plus the principles of alternating and direct current circuits. Students also received instruction on basic circuit testing methods, including the use of multimeters and audio signal generators.

A 1976 graduate of Tawas Area High School, he joined the navy in November 1976.

States Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

They and their shipmates visited Naples, Italy, during a recent port call and toured the Italian cities of Rome, Florence and Pisa. During the remainder of the cruise, their ship is scheduled to participate in training exercises with other sixth fleet units and visit several other Mediterranean coastal cities.

Energy Seminar Slated Sept. 12 at Tawas School

Slow down; bundle up; dial down; seal up; wash in cold, not hot water; go in groups, not singly, and turn out the lights when leaving the room! "That sounds like somebody's mother," says Susan Lambrecht, Iosco County extension director, "and indeed it is Mother Nature telling us, in short, to conserve energy because never again will supplies be so abundant, so cheap for so many."

Trouble is too many people take this as a threat instead of advice to prevent needless waste; they confuse conservation with curtailment, all of which tends to translate into an enemy of modern society. "So the majority of us find ourselves in one of two camps, those who think this whole thing is a lie and those who think doomsday is just around the corner. Both are wrong," Mrs. Lambrecht says.

To clarify the energy perspective and show how to adjust to future life-styles, the MSU Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with Iosco County is holding a special energy seminar for area residents Monday, September 12, 7:30 p. m., at the Tawas Area High School gymnasium on M-55.

Speakers will include Dr. William Stout and Dr. Anne Field from MSU; John Wessels, Consumers Power Company; James LaHave, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company; Roger Jackson, Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce, and Arlene McClellan, Oscoda Area Chamber of Commerce.

"We do not intend that this session will provide all the answers area residents may be seeking in terms of future energy supplies," Mrs. Lambrecht says, "but it will lay the groundwork for understanding where we stand in energy availability and give guidelines for sensible conservation."

For instance, the confusion between curtailment and conservation. "Curtailment means a cold house. Conservation means a well-insulated house with an efficient heating system. Energy conservation does not require curtailing vital services; it merely means cutting down on energy waste," Mrs. Lambrecht points out. More than one-half of the present United States energy used is wasted. The office of energy preparedness says Americans could save 30-50 percent of the energy they use without a loss in quality of life.

World energy consumption increased 600 percent from 1900 to 1965 and is projected to increase another 450 percent between 1965 and 2000. World oil consumption is now so enormous that during this decade (between 1970 and 1980) the nations of the world are projected to consume as much oil as was used in the hundred years between 1870 and 1970.

Coal has been mined for 800 years but more than half of it has been extracted in the past 37 years. Petroleum has been pumped out of the ground for 100 years with half of it being consumed during the past 18 years.

Mrs. Lambrecht notes there are three human attitudes that can destroy us: The blind technological optimism of those who believe some scientific innovation or unknown factor will always save us; the gloom-and-doom pessimism of those who have given up all hope; the greed, apathy and refusal to face reality of those who have given up concern and involvement through easy fatalism or a naive view of reality.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Acquaint Hale School Voters With Proposal

15 Years Ago—

September 5, 1962—A meeting is to be held Friday night to acquaint voters of Hale Area School District with the proposed $125,000 school bond election slated October 5. The proposal is to erect, furnish and equip an additional elementary building and to remodel the present elementary wing.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett R. Cecil of East Tawas and a party of Detroit friends used Cecil's 20-foot inboard cruiser to take them to Chariy Island. A sudden storm churned water of Saginaw Bay into waves several feet in height and Cecil, along with one other member of the party, took the boat out into deeper water. The storm continued and they had to return to Tawas. Those left on the island were rescued by the coast guard.

Lights were turned on for the first time at Whittemore-Prescott Area School's football field. The project was financed through a joint effort of the school district and residents.

Tawas City Businessmen's Association will visit Michigan Bell Telephone Company's new office building on Oak Street September 13.

25 Years Ago—

September 12, 1952—Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish came into being last Sunday morning. As the present church located in the former Bay Theatre is only a temporary site, a simple blessing was given by the Rev. Fr. Bernard Kirchman, first pastor. Altar boys who served the first High Mass were Thomas Harris, Gary Stephan, Dewey Pavelock and Robert Jerome. Organist was Mrs. Frank Byrd.

Davison-Rose Builders, Incorporated, Tawas City, was low bidder on constructing the new elementary building for Burleigh Agricultural School District. The low bid for the general contract was $68,233.

Howard Look of East Tawas, Bruce Myles of Tawas City and Neil Bell of Hale leave Wednesday

for induction into the army at Ft. Wayne.

Tawas City Public School opened last week with an enrollment of 416 students, an increase of 20 over the previous year.

The Iosco County Fair at Hale opens September 17 and elaborate plans have been made for the entertainment of visitors during the four-day program. Besides exhibits in the various departments, harness racing, horse pulling contests, midway and grandstand shows, there will be athletic games, parades, square dances, fiddlers and callers contests.

35 Years Ago—

September 11, 1942—While being taken to Bay City Monday, a heavy gale on Saginaw Bay ripped the main sail on Sero II and the crew, consisting of John North and Wayne Wickert, were forced to run her aground off Pinconning. The crew was taken off Tuesday morning.

Edward Graham, well-known resident of Whittemore, is at Mercy Hospital, Bay City, as the result of an accident in which his team of horses ran away. He suffered a fractured hip and his elbow was crushed.

The War Price Panel of the Federal Rationing Board meets Saturday morning at the courthouse in Tawas City. The board will hear complaints of violations of price regulations.

Permanent blind owners have until September 25, the day before duck shooting starts, to get their blinds in place. Designed to prevent monopoly of the shooting sites on public hunting grounds, the licensing of permanent blinds is limited to eight of the state's most popular duck shooting grounds. Included is Tawas Bay. Owners applying for the $5 licenses are receiving equal consideration in determining priority of locations for the blinds.

Ladies Literary Club Sells Building on Newman Street; Served Since 1909

A landmark on Newman Street, which has served as the home of the Ladies Literary Club since 1909, has been sold to Larry Rose of O. S. Rose Construction Company.

This old frame building, along with the Audie Johnson American Legion Hall, has been acquired by Rose for future commercial construction.

Until such time as the LLC finds a permanent location, it has been invited by Harris Barkman, president of the Iosco County Historical Society, to hold its meetings at the future Iosco County Museum to be located in the former L. G. McKay Sr. residence on West Bay Street.

The LLC is the oldest women's organization in the county and one of the oldest in Northern Michigan. The following brief history was prepared from records of the organization.

On October 25, 1884, Mary White of East Tawas invited a few ladies to her home to discuss the possibility of a club for women which had been considered for some time. After several meetings, the group decided to make it a permanent organization and on January 2, 1885, the Ladies Literary Club was formed.

Charter members included Mrs. J. C. Adams, Miss Grace Anthony, Mrs. G. A. Bisette, Miss Alice Dimmick, Miss Elizabeth Donohue, Mrs. F. H. Edsall, Mrs. H. A. Goodale, Mrs. Solon Hale, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Mrs. Hugh MacDonald, Miss Florence Mitchell, Mrs. J. H. Schmeck, Mrs. J. B. Tuttle, Mrs. White.

The ladies were wives of professional men and merchants (included among the husbands were a lawyer, a circuit judge, a banker and a collector of customs), along with two school teachers and the daughter of a merchant.

Mrs. White was elected president. In March 1895, the club sent two delegates to Lansing to a meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and the LLC was accepted. The two delegates were Mrs. Ezra Thomas and Mrs. White. The club paid their expenses of $10 to Lansing.

Until 1909, the club had been meeting in homes and offices and, because of the inconvenience, members began to talk about a permanent building.

C. R. Jackson, publisher of the Iosco County Gazette, was instrumental in securing a good price on a former school building, which was being used at that time as an annex to the school.

Cost of the building was $100, plus the moving. The LLC was highly regarded by residents of East Tawas, who responded to a plea for help with contributions amounting to $157. The next step was to incorporate the club.

Programs up to 1902 had been strictly literary. The club studied America's poets and writers and programs were furnished by the membership with no outside speakers.

In 1902, the LLC became civic minded and took up many health projects, including water, sanitation, milk and school cleanliness. Since that time, the club has kept pace with the changing environment.

During the past 10 years, some of the most interesting programs have been carried out with the help of city, county, state and federal agencies. Much help with programs has been received from the state federation.

Ladies Literary Club has contributed to Girls Town operated at Belleville by the Michigan Federated Women's Clubs, the Indian

"The Ladies Literary Club of East Tawas owes much to this community and has tried hard to reciprocate," states the club's historian. "Our clubroom on Newman Street is a landmark which is very dear to club members and to many others. The decision to sell the building has been sincerely depressing to many of us, especially when those of us remember from talks with some of the former members, who have passed on, how hard they worked to maintain the building.

"But we must be realistic and when one considers the age of the building, it is not surprising that it is beyond repair and the purse of the club.

"Some of the contents we would never think of parting with. They are a part of the building and the club. All of the records are intact and are the source of this short history."

What's Cooking in Michigan—

Michigan Agriculture is Important

By CARL OLSON
Michigan Department of Agriculture

As one of the preliminary judges in this year's beef cook-off, sponsored by the Michigan Beef Industry Commission, I had an opportunity to look over a great number of excellent recipes using inexpensive meat cuts.

When the seven finalists were chosen, there was one recipe that looked great but was not one of the seven. Gary Marx of Lansing submitted the recipe and he has given me permission to pass it on to you.

Combine two pounds lean ground beef, four finely chopped Ida Red or McIntosh apples, two slightly beaten eggs, one-half teaspoon tarragon, and salt and pepper to taste. Shape this mixture into one-inch meatballs and brown in eight tablespoons of oil along with one-half cup chopped onion.

For the sauce, combine four eight-ounce cans of tomato sauce, one and one-half cups dry red wine, one-half cup cider, and one teaspoon each of basil and rosemary.

Pour the sauce over the meatballs, cover and simmer for one hour. The meatballs and sauce may be served over noodles or rice.

It has no doubt already come to your notice that there are a goodly number of Michigan products in this recipe.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is always ready to remind people that agriculture is an important industry. In fact, agriculture is Michigan's second largest industry with cash receipts to farmers totaling 1.68-billion dollars in 1976. With added costs of processing, transportation and marketing, the agricultural industry was worth approximately 8.3-billion dollars.

That is nothing to sneeze at!
