Pick Mason - Alley for General Election

Ogemaw County's two candidates in the contest for nominations in the 105th District state representative post won in the August 8 primary election.

Russell Mason of Rose City won the Republican nomination in a race with eight other candidates, while Thomas Alley of West Branch received the Democratic nomination in a field of three candidates.

Mason won a tight contest over Robert Forsyth, former mayor of Standish, by 27 votes while Alley led the field with 49 percent of the Democratic vote.

The two candidates are to meet in the November general election and the winner will succeed State Rep. George A. Prescott, who goes into retirement at the end of his term on December 31.

Republican voters of the district, comprising Iosco, Ogemaw, Arenac, Alcona, Gladwin, Oscoda and parts of Bay, Midland, Montmorency and Roscommon, did not single out a lone candidate for major support but scattered votes among all nine candidates. Total population of the district is around 80,000 persons, but only 7,500 showed up at the polls.

A perfect example of the scattered vote was in Iosco County, probably the key county in the election. Two local candidates had the largest number of votes here, but not enough to make them real contenders at the district level.

Timothy Dean Haskin of Tawas City received 505 votes and Merton Killey of East Tawas received 424 votes. Mason polled a respectable 413 votes in this county and his 85-vote margin over Forsyth's surprisingly excellent showing of 328 was actually enough to make the winning difference at the district level.

Stephen J. L. Goforth of Ogemaw County also made an excellent showing in this county with 328 votes and was fifth from the top in the total vote. Totals received by other candidates from Iosco County included 52 for Norman C. Caldwell, 234 votes for C. J. Smith Jr. (See ELECTION, page 8.)

Prescott Led Iosco, but Lost District

Hugh Prescott of East Tawas held a slight lead over R. L. Brown in Iosco County, 748-728, for the Republican nomination to the 37th District seat in the state senate, but Brown was nominated by a substantial majority in the district. Robert L. Wise, another Republican candidate, received 517 votes in this county. The unopposed Democratic candidate, Mitch Irvin, received 621 votes in Iosco.

Rifle Slug Hit Sand Lake Woman

Deborah Martin, 28, Sand Lake, was treated for a gunshot wound to her right leg Saturday at Tawas Hospital.

Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers said that she was in the bathroom of her dwelling when a .22 caliber rifle slug entered through the sidewall of the residence. The victim was struck below the knee.

Officers said the victim's husband apprehended an 18-year-old Flint man, who walked out of the woods with a rifle. The subject later told officers he had been target practicing in the woods. He said he had not intentionally pointed the rifle in the direction of the house and he was unaware that he had shot someone.

The matter remains under investigation.

Three Larcenies Were Investigated

Michigan State Police from East Tawas investigated three larcenies Thursday and Friday at Jerry's Marina on Tawas Point.

Gary Ulman of East Tawas reported Thursday that fishing equipment had been stolen from his boat docked at the marina. On Friday, officers investigated larcenies reported by Mathew J. Rawluszki, Bay City, theft of a compass and tools, and Mark Kilmer, Oscoda, larceny of fishing equipment.

The last scheduled summer event in Iosco County, the annual Paul Bunyan Festival at Oscoda, is to be held this week, Thursday through Sunday. The annual parade is Saturday, 10:00 a. m.

Tawas Adopt Strategy for Conference 'Pitch'

Area officials met Monday morning at Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce office to map out final plans for a 15-minute presentation to be presented later this week at a governor's conference on Northern Michigan growth.

Being held Thursday and Friday at Ferris State College, the conference marks the first major effort in Michigan to look at all the problems of rapid community growth.

Emphasis of the conference will be on housing, municipal facilities, crime, employment, social services, health care, education, transportation, recreation and finances. The Tawas are one of 10 areas of rapid growth to be highlighted and the major "pitch" from the local area will be in the field of transportation needs.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz of Tawas City said the Tawas, along with other communities along the Lake Huron shore, will place major emphasis on the need for widening and improving US-23.

"The local committee will not present a lot of statistics showing the need for improvements to US-23, but it will point out that the Lake Huron shore route carries more traffic than I-75 above West Branch," said Bublitz.

He said the committee would emphasize the industrial expansion which has taken place in this area during the past 10 years, most of which has been gained through the area's own industrial development corporation without state assistance.

Also to be emphasized will be the rapid expansion of recreational facilities in the area, including development of Old Orchard Park, Tawas Point State Park, city parks in the Tawas and township parks in the outlying areas. The area is also the gateway to the thousands of acres in Huron National Forest.

"This region is served by one of the most successful short line railroads in the nation, the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, for heavy industrial transportation, plus the products of mines and agriculture, but improvement to US-23 is essential to this area to serve present (See CONFERENCE, page 8.)

Jacques and John McMurray. The city is currently negotiating the purchase of land to expand city owned property purchased earlier this year at the river mouth. It is expected that development will be a long term effort on the part of the city.—Tawas Herald Photo.

In addition, present hospital trustees and members of the Tawas Hospital Development Council are to be introduced.

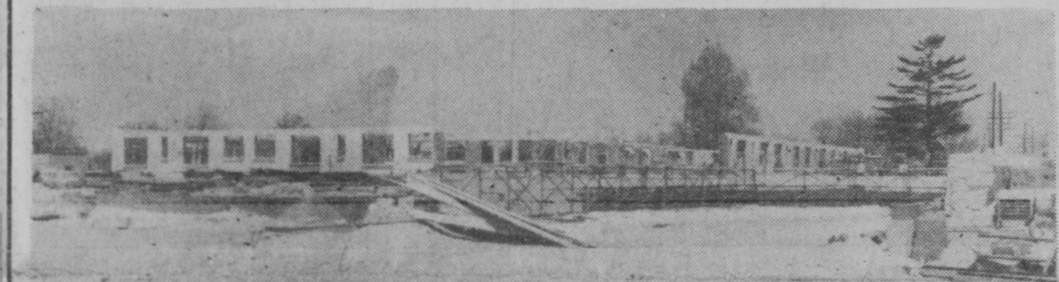

Expansion of the hospital's facilities opens the way to meet the growing health care needs of the community.

community," said Snyder.

In addition to the above construction, the board of trustees has authorized construction, at a later date, of a new surgery wing, estimated to cost $350,000.

The architectural firm of Hospital Building and Equipment Company, St. Louis, Missouri, is acting as general contractor for the project and is to take construction bids in about two weeks.

It Seems Like Only Yesterday

FOR MANY, it may be a sign of old age creeping up, but it is difficult to believe that 25 years have passed since Tawas Hospital first opened its doors. It seems that it was only yesterday that the hospital association and its auxiliary were selling paper "bricks" to raise money to build the facility. After years of efforts by many people, the great day finally arrived when ground was broken for the new facility on Tuesday, October 2, 1953, by Vollmer Construction Company. Businessmen and the hospital board of directors were on hand for the event, shown in the top picture. The next picture shows the hospital under construction in late 1952 and the bottom picture shows Dr. John D. LeClair, first hospital board president, and Sister Rita Louise Sullivan surrounded by gifts to be given parents of the first boy and girl born at the newly constructed hospital in 1953. Today's milestone marking ceremony is another step in the epic of the hospital as ground will be broken for a two-million-dollar expansion program, thus insuring that the facility will carry on its tradition of health service to the area.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Vending Machine Larceny in TC

More than $100 worth of cigarettes were stolen Friday from a vending machine at the Bublitz 76 service station in Tawas City. Iosco County Sheriff's Department later stopped a vehicle at the Tawas Area School parking lot and found a quantity of cigarettes in the car, which the occupants admitted had been stolen from the service station. The matter is still under investigation.

Building Authority Arranges Financing Should TC City Hall Complex be Desired

Should it decide to go ahead with construction of a new city hall, library, fire hall complex, the City of Tawas City learned Thursday that low interest financing is available.

An announcement from Cong. Philip E. Ruppe said the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) had approved a $455,000 low interest loan for construction of a new municipal building in Tawas City.

Ruppe said the 40-year loan would allow Tawas City's Building Authority to finance construction of the complex. The proposed fire station also serves Alabaster and Tawas Townships.

Construction of a municipal facility has been under consideration here for more than a year.

The present city hall was constructed in 1924 and, due to deterioration of bricks on the front of the structure, the council, about five years ago, first considered construction of a new front and to replace windows and doors in the building.

Thornton of the planning commission.

When the proposal was presented to the council in April, Cotter, who was chairman of the committee, said that 10 different sites had been studied, "but the committee always came back to the present location as being the most practical."

Cotter and other committee members felt that development of the complex on the present city hall site could be a catalyst for commercial development in the block.

The council voted in June to exercise its option to purchase land adjoining the present city hall from Audrey Adamek at a cost of $65,000.

Although a majority of the council has been in favor of locating the building on the present site, opposition has been voiced by Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert N. Rollin.

Only last week, the council majority voted against a resolution proposed by Rollin and Cholger to hold an advisory vote to determine if the people want a new city hall.

The council majority, comprising Coun. James Lansky, Donald Hayes, Hugo Keiser and Cotter, felt that further study was needed in order to present a complete package for voter consideration.

With this latest development through efforts of the new building authority in gaining approval of financing the project through low interest FmHA funds up to $455,000, it is expected that the project will be discussed next Monday night.

RAY POWERS, former East Tawas resident, is shown here during his two-year business curriculum study at Delta College. He is majoring in data processing.

Not Satisfied With Career Choices; Now in Data Field

After earning a four-year college degree, serving a stint in the army and operating his own business, a Delta College student, Ray Powers, was not satisfied with his career choices.

Now, Powers, a 29-year-old former East Tawas resident, is going for a second degree in Delta College's two-year business curriculum with a major in data processing. This time, he hopes to land a job that he likes.

He attended Delta College in 1970 only to be drafted into military service that same year. He spent, as he puts it, "22 months and a day," in the army.

After completing his military duty, he returned to Michigan and resumed his education at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, as a full-time student majoring in education.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in education from CMU in 1975 but could not find a job in a location which he preferred.

"I sort of got caught up in the old 'Catch 22' thing," he recalled. "In 1967, school systems needed a lot of teachers but in 1969, not that many teachers were in demand.

There was an overabundance at that point.

"But in 1973 when I got out of the service, there was a demand for elementary school teachers—especially males. So, I geared my curriculum toward that end. When I was graduated from CMU in 1975, I found it was nearly impossible to get a job.

"A normal situation was for me to apply for a job with 250 other applicants. They came from in-state and out-of-state. With those kinds of odds and other applicants having more experience than I—well, you know the rest of the story."

Powers emphasized that he is not bitter because he could not find a job. "You cannot sit down and cry about it. Everyone cuts his own road in life," he observed.

"Not having a job made me stronger. I even went into business with a friend as the co-owner of a maintenance contracting firm in the tri-county area for two years. Then, I decided that area of business was not really what I wanted to do for the rest of my life.

"I learned a lot from it but I needed something more challenging and productive than building a business. If you are good, it takes over a couple of months to build a business and if you really want to make it, it will take you a minimum of three years. I am not geared to that kind of long term reward.

"After selling my share of the business to my partner, I sat down and took a long look at what Ray Powers wanted to do."

He decided he wanted to work with computers at the very institution where he began his post-secondary education, Delta College.

"I had always felt that I wanted to work with computers—it just took time," Powers said. "My decision was based on a culmination of things. Working in the data processing field allows you to be creative and to have movement in your area. You just are not sitting at your desk all day.

"There is communication between you and the machine that is in front of you. You tell the computer what you would like it to do. That is the beautiful thing about the field. It is not like pounding two rocks together."

Powers is especially grateful to two Delta employees, Benjamin A. Paulson, director of data processing, and Marjorie M. Leeson, a professor of business, for supporting his career change.

"I had met Paulson when I first came to Delta in 1970," he said. "When I returned, he remembered me and answered all the questions I had about the field. He suggested that I re-enroll at Delta. He has been an adviser and friend ever since."

Mrs. Leeson, another Delta computer expert, was so impressed with Powers' work and enthusiasm that she recommended him for a lab assistant's job in the college's data processing center.

Today, everything seems to be slowly but surely falling into place for him. He is a newlywed and his wife, Christine, is a business analyst for an area bank.

And he is nearing graduation from Delta. He thinks his chances of getting a job are "promising," he cautiously says.

"The job opportunities are supposed to be fantastic. I have checked and there are data processing jobs state-wide as well as nationally. It is a growing field.

Powers and his wife reside in Saginaw. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Powers of East Tawas.

Elderly May Get Lower Electric Bills

Persons at least 65 years old who are heads of households are eligible to receive electric service at lower rates under a new schedule established July 31 by the public service commission. Consumers Power Company estimates that 60,000 to 70,000 customers may meet the eligibility requirements.

The company is preparing contracts to mail to those who apply and is reviewing the use records of all customers to determine who would benefit from the new rate.

Once the mechanics are set up, customers who apply will be sent a one-year contract for the new rate. The customer must sign and return the contract to become eligible.

Lighter Cars, Better Mileage Levels Gas Tax

Revenue from the state gas tax edged up a mere 1.8 percent in the second quarter of 1978, in comparison with the same three months last year.

Iosco County's share is $299,909, as compared to $291,008 during the same quarter last year. East Tawas received $14,737, as compared to $14,497 in the second quarter of last year; Tawas City received $9,769, as compared to $9,609, while Whittemore received $2,827, as compared to $2,666.

It is believed that lighter automobiles and more efficient engines have combined to level off the revenue earmarked for Michigan's transportation programs.

Net proceeds totaling $134,569,460, up 2.6 percent, leave $59,592,925 for the department of state highways and transportation at its 44.5 percent share; $48,227,141 for the 83 county road commissions at 35.7 percent and $26,749,394 for municipalities.

Patrols to Insure Riding and Hiking Status of Trail

Michigan Shore to Shore Hiking and Riding Trail crossing the Huron National Forest is soon to be the focus of attention of the United States Forest Service. According to Wayne Mann, forest supervisor, additional patrols will be used to ensure that the trail maintains its status as a non-motorized trail.

"There are some instances where it is obvious that foot travelers and motorized travelers are not compatible," Mann stated. "The shore to shore trail is a good example. This has always been primarily a horse riding and hiking trail and, more recently, a ski touring trail. To try to add motorized vehicles to this is inviting conflict between users. We hope the increase in patrolling efforts will prevent most of the possible conflicts."

Mann said that the 80-mile long portion of the trail which passes through the Huron Forest has been relocated recently and improved for foot travel. It has also been well signed as a non-motorized use trail only.

"We hope that people who use motor vehicles will use the many miles of secondary and two-track roads available to them and stay off the shore to shore trail," Mann continued. "Besides causing conflict among users, vehicles can cause damage to the trail and other resources."

The Huron-Manistee National Forest has posted some trails for motorized use. These trails are marked as being open to motorized traffic and will provide users with a good and enjoyable recreational experience.

Port Huron Men Apprehended on Stolen Motorbikes

Two 18-year-old Port Huron men with stolen motorbikes, apprehended Sunday by Michigan State Police from East Tawas, were held at the Iosco County Jail while awaiting arraignment in district court.

An officer on patrol noted that the motorcycles were without license plates and stopped them on Rea Road, Oscoda Township. One subject drove off, but the other was lodged at the jail. The second man was taken into custody later in the day.

The energy crisis has made us realize some things about energy: It's no longer cheap. And it isn't going to last forever.

That's why you need to make your next building a true energy saver. And that's where we can help.

We'll show you how we use special insulation methods on your building to keep the heating and cooling inside where it belongs. We offer the lowest "U" factor in the industry (a low "U" factor is a measure of good insulation effectiveness).

The combination of Butler Systems and superior insulation can give you the best available protection against the weather and a high energy bill.

And we can handle your entire building project from start to finish. That saves your energy.

If you're thinking about building, give us a call. We'd like to show you how to keep those monthly reminders a little gentler.

and future commercial and recreational needs," said Bublitz.

Because of the fact that the Tawas area is ideally located within an hour or so drive from metropolitan areas, which results in a gas saving for recreational bound motorists, the city manager said that emphasis would also be placed on the need for improving traffic safety on US-23.

He said that Monday's meeting was held to discuss and digest top priority projects for the area's brief presentation. Acting on the committee besides Bublitz were City Clerk Clyde Soper of East Tawas, Roger Jackson of the chamber of commerce, Carlton Merschel of the board of commissioners.

Emphasis of the conference will be on making better use of existing state programs and all major state agency directors are to attend so they can provide answers about current state policies.

FFBEAT Michigan

Mills and covered bridges in Michigan recall a bygone era when water provided the power to work giant griststones, saws and other machinery and horses were the main means of transportation. While some bridges still carry light vehicles, other spans cater to foot traffic only. Restored mills now house a restaurant, a theater and three community centers while others still use water to grind flour or press cider.

Interview Commissioner Candidates

Immediately following Tuesday's primary election, Iosco County Board of Commissioners interviewed the first of four candidates being considered for appointment to fill the vacancy of First District commissioner, the late Jack Allen of Oscoda.

Election ballots had been printed prior to Allen's death. His name was covered with a blank sticker on paper ballots and his name was removed from voting machines.

A scattering of names were entered by voters on paper ballots and machines for this office, but none received enough for a clear-cut decision.

The county commission is to appoint an interim commissioner to fill the vacancy and Oscoda Township voters will again have the opportunity to pick their own commissioner at the November general election.

Interviewed by the commission Wednesday as a candidate for appointment was John McArdle, owner of Huron Furniture Company of Oscoda.

Others submitting applications for the position and being interviewed prior to today's (Wednesday) meeting of the commission are Helen Hubal, Kendrick Williams and James Stech.

Stech received 21 write-in votes in the primary election and McArdle received 10 votes. There was a scattering of other names.

Boat Swamps in Saginaw Bay Tragedy; One Fisherman Drowned, One Rescued

Tragedy struck Saginaw Bay off shore from Alabaster Township Tuesday, August 8, when Michael Kalisz, 59, drowned in 18 feet of water, about 1 1/4 miles northeast of the National Gypsum loading installation.

Marine patrol officers of the Iosco County Sheriff's Department said that Kalisz, along with Keith Green, 60, both of Douglas Drive, had gone fishing in their small boat earlier in the morning.

They were about a mile from shore and about 11:00 a. m. while trying to free their anchor from the lake bottom, ran the anchor line through a cleat at the rear of the boat. The outboard engine was then started and the boat swamped.

Both men were wearing life-saving devices and Green told officers that he attempted to swim to other fishermen in small boats about a mile away, but he could not make it because of three-foot waves caused by a wind out of the southwest.

The accident was not noticed until after 4:00 p. m. when Joseph Jaertner of Douglas Drive saw Green swimming toward shore. He quickly launched his sailboat and went out into the bay to rescue the exhausted man.

The United States Coast Guard at Tawas Point was notified and the sheriff's department marine patrol received a call at 4:25 p. m. The victim's floating body was quickly located by the coast guard not far from the scene of the accident.

The sheriff's department said that Kalisz was wearing what had been an approved life jacket, but it was not fastened around his body properly. In addition, the life-saving device had a seven-inch rip in the outer lining permitting water to saturate the flotation material. In addition to the life jacket, officers said the victim had a small rubber inner tube attached to one wrist, plus a standard boat cushion of the approved type around his other arm.

It is believed that the above life-saving devices were inadequate to keep the victim's face out of the water due to the high waves. The coroner ruled that the victim's death was caused by drowning.

Tawas Herald
 REMEMBERING...

J. K. OSGERBY

Several veteran educators have had notable long terms of services to public schools—the first coming to mind being A. E. Giddings at Tawas City, C. J. Creaser at East Tawas, followed by Supt. Reynold Mick of Tawas Area Schools—but one of the most enduring records preceded the above administrators.

The late J. K. Osgerby and his wife, Reine T., compiled a combined record of 83 1/2 years of teaching service to the boys and girls of this community and many other parts of the state.

Osgerby, who served as superintendent at East Tawas from 1890 until 1897 and returned to the same position from 1921 until 1929, compiled 52 years of teaching schools in this state; his wife served as a teacher for 31 1/2 years.

When Osgerby retired from the superintendency at East Tawas in 1929, he had served the schools of Michigan for 46 years. Succeeded by Supt. Hugo Swanson, he was to continue as a mathematics teacher here for another six years until old age finally forced him to retire.

Interviewed by The Tawas Herald on November 1, 1929, the account stated that one of Osgerby's most vivid memories was the assassination of Pres. Abraham Lincoln. He could not have been more than five years old when John Wilkes Booth fired his fatal shot at Lincoln, but Osgerby—like a generation a century later which recalls the death of John F. Kennedy—never forgot the Lincoln tragedy.

"Another of his memories is that of the trip his family made in 1872 from Manchester, Iowa, his birthplace, to Vassar, Michigan," said the Herald's 1929 account. "The journey which was made in a covered wagon drawn by mules, covered a distance of 800 miles and lasted 20 days. At night, camp was made by the roadside."

Receiving his secondary education in schools of Iowa and at Vassar, Osgerby never received a college degree until 1923, when he received his bachelor of art from Michigan State Normal College. By then, he was one of the most prominent teachers in the state.

This was not an uncommon situation in the early days of Michigan education for normal schools at the county level turned out the majority of teachers in Michigan for more than one-third century. It was rare for an individual in the teaching profession to have a college degree until the 1920s.

Experienced teachers handled the training of young people entering the profession and Osgerby was one of the state leaders in training young educators.

His first teacher's certificate in

"PROF. J. K. OSGERBY and four ladies" is the only identification on this glass plate negative snapped by A. G. Emery of East Tawas. The school superintendent at East Tawas is playing a child's game, "Old Cat," with the unidentified women, all carefully posed and apparently engrossed with Osgerby's skill. The picture was snapped during his first term as superintendent from 1890 to 1897 and he returned to serve from 1921 to 1929.

county institute work was granted him in June 1939.

"Her long distinguished service is an achievement of which she can be very proud, for its inspiration and influence cannot be measured," stated the Herald upon her retirement.

She began her teaching career at the age of 17 years in the Wexford County rural schools, serving three years at a salary of $25 to $28 per month. Following her experience in the rural schools, she taught four years at Cadillac.

In 1905, she entered county normal work at Standish and, in 1906, organized the Saginaw County Normal. During that year, she was united in marriage to Osgerby. She taught English and history for four years at Vassar High School and spent one year in the public schools of Caro before coming to the county normal at East Tawas.

Osgerby was the third superintendent of schools at East Tawas. He followed Supt. R. B. McKnight, who had headed the school since it was changed from district status to a graded high school in 1876, and

S. B. Laird of Tawas City, who was hired as superintendent at East Tawas on June 18, 1885, at a salary of $100 per month.

Among teachers mentioned in minutes of board of education meetings after 1890 were Miss Bertha Langworthy, Miss McElhinney and Miss Amanda Hamilton. The staff numbered five teachers.

On June 15, 1893, a resolution was submitted to raise a sum not exceeding $15,000 to build a new school, but the proposal lost by a vote of the people. On September 22, 1893, the board of education rented the GAR Hall to use as a school room and Miss Herber was employed as music teacher for two months. In March 1895, the Baldwin District School No. 1 became the East Tawas Public School, the city now being duly chartered. All of the above events took place during Osgerby's first tenure as superintendent here.

One local resident who recalls the Osgerbys during his second tour as superintendent at East Tawas is Miss Clara Bolen, who graduated from East Tawas High School. She later served as an educator in public schools at Alabaster and the Tawas for 48 years, retiring as elementary principal of Tawas Area School a number of years ago. Mrs. Osgerby was principal of the county normal when Miss Bolen graduated.

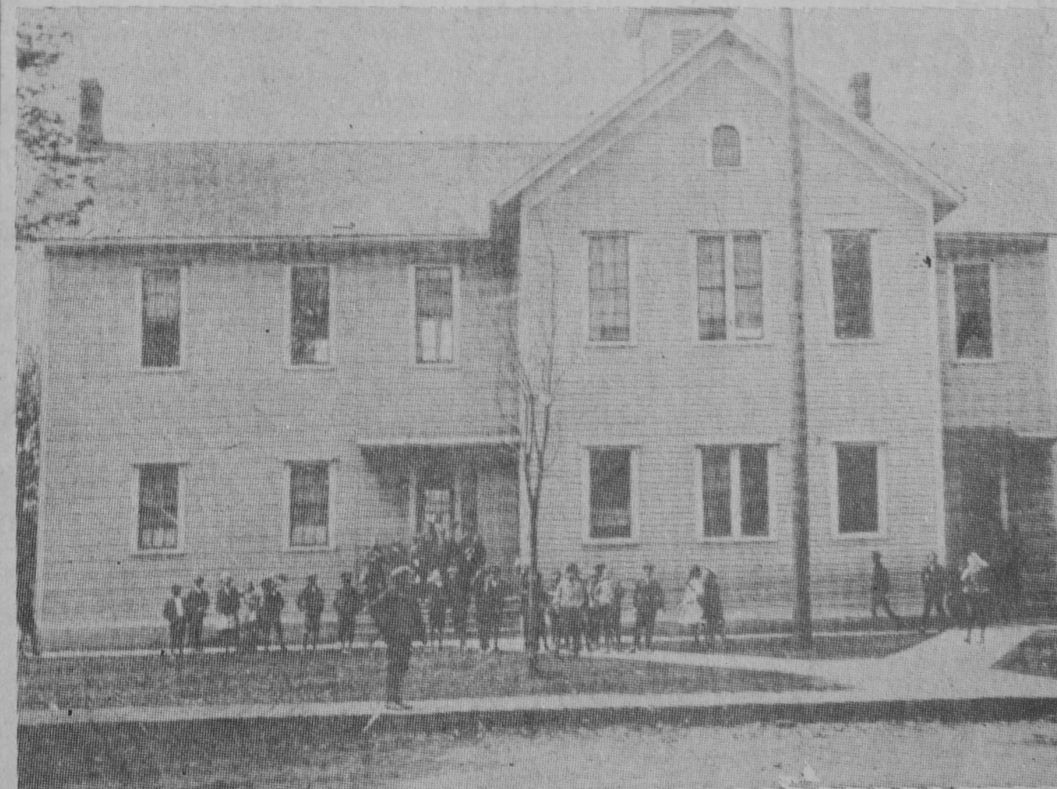

"I remember Mr. Osgerby as a fair person, a deep thinker and a man with great compassion for all of his students. He had a great influence on the lives of young people, was an excellent teacher and a good disciplinarian," recalled Miss Bolen.

"I will never forget his voice. He had committed to memory 'The Raven' by Edgar Allan Poe and we students would sit spellbound when he recited that poem in class," said Miss Bolen. "With that voice, he could have been a Shakespearean actor."

After their retirement here, the Osgerbys returned to their old home at Vassar. Mr. Osgerby died January 12, 1942, at Bradenton, Florida, and his body was returned to Michigan for burial in Riverside Cemetery at Vassar. He was 81 years of age at the time of his death.

Only one picture is known to have survived in this area showing a likeness of Mr. Osgerby. The picture was snapped about 1896 by A. G. Emery of East Tawas and shows the superintendent with a group of young ladies.

Editorial—

Primary Election Proved A Point

Although the turnout of Iosco County voters in the primary election was disappointing to this corner—less than 30 percent of the total number of registered voters bothered to show up at the polls—the election had significant results in the local area.

We will bet our last dime that readers of the newspaper at Standish will be forcefully told in an editorial column today (Wednesday) that, with a little more interest shown by Arenac County residents, their own Robert Forsyth could have been the Republican nominee for 105th District state representative.

(Forty-seven percent of the City of Standish's voters turned out at the polls and gave overwhelming support to Forsyth, but that showing was not duplicated in the rest of the county. In addition, key races on the Democratic side of the ballot at the township level also cost him some possible votes.)

Only 27 votes separated Forsyth from the winning nominee, Russell Mason of West Branch. This corner cannot recall the name of the last state representative from Arenac County—it must have been 40 or more years ago—but with just a little more support from his neighbors, the former Standish mayor could have been selected. Forsyth made a good run, but he was a little late in announcing his candidacy.

Primary elections are like that, especially when the retirement of an incumbent spawns a nine-man field of candidates. A county like Arenac with only one local candidate in the race could have selected its "favorite son," but not enough voters of that county showed interest on election day.

On the other hand, winning the nomination must be particularly satisfying to Mason, a 10-year veteran of the Ogemaw County Board of Commissioners, who had strong support throughout the district and, although not formally endorsed, was supported by members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners and others.

Mason has many friends here in Iosco County through his association with work on district health and mental health boards, plus a host of other activities—even being kidded about his title as the state logging champion, as he was Wednesday afternoon when he showed up at the end of the regular meeting of the local board of commissioners.

To be in politics, one must be a politician and Mason is a good one. He demonstrated that by winning over a strong opponent in his own county, young Steven Goforth. The newspaper at West Branch editorially endorsed either Forsyth from Standish or Charles Smith from Oscoda County to voters as its first two choices for state representative, ignoring both Mason and Goforth from Ogemaw County.

The race for the 105th state representative in the November general election will be most interesting as a second Ogemaw County candidate, Thomas Alley, was picked from a field of three for the Democratic nomination. A school teacher and, like Mason, a member of the county board of commissioners, Alley was endorsed by the local newspaper as its choice for the Democratic nomination.

Mason, who stopped at the county building in Tawas City Wednesday after a tour through the district to remove his political advertising signs from the roadway—something which should be duplicated now by all candidates—expressed confidence at the county commissioners' room that he will be the next representative for this district.

If the November general election runs true to form—there has been only one Democrat, Sam Charon of Bay County, elected to the house of representatives from this district in the past one-half century—Mason will succeed State Rep. George A. Prescott of Tawas City on January 1.

Mason, with all of his experience at the township and county governmental levels, plus his political moxie, should make a good voice at Lansing for the people of this district, if elected in November.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read John 14:1-7)

"You know the way that leads to the place where I am going." (John 14:4 TEV)

We were coming back from an all-day hike in China's Lushan Range. Coming home later than planned, we tried a short cut but chose a trail that took us miles out of our way. Darkness overtook us on a contour path on a steep hillside.

Suddenly, a man called from a small village down ahead, "Danger! Stand still!" Asked what kind of danger, he called back, "Stand still. I will come and show you the way." So, we stood and watched his lantern while he made a long circuit and came up the hill behind us.

So, we waited and then followed him back the way he had come. As we passed through his village, children came running out asking, "Did those people fall down?" He replied, "No, I showed them the way." (On another hike, we saw the mountain side had been cut away where we would have gone in the dark.)

Our guide went several miles with us to a familiar road near our home. When we offered to pay him, he refused, saying, "No, I just wanted to show you the safe way."

PRAYER

Forgive us, Lord, when we try the wrong short cuts. Help us to wait for Thy leading, to follow Thee and then to show others the way. Amen.

Z is for ZUCCHINI

If one has a green thumb, chances are good that zucchini are coming from the garden faster than it can be eaten. A few years back, the famous recipe for zucchini bread saved thousands of these succulent, summer squash from the compost heap. But there are still other alternatives to be tried. Whether picked from the garden or from a produce counter, zucchini (and all other summer squash) are best when small to medium. The rind should be so tender that it can be easily punctured with a fingernail. Do not use any that show soft or watery areas.

Use zucchini immediately after picking or refrigerate in a plastic bag for up to three days. The simplest way to prepare is to slice then steam or saute just until tender.

To freeze grated zucchini for making zucchini bread, blanch in boiling water until it becomes translucent. This should take no more than two minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack into containers, leaving head space. Seal and freeze. Try low-calorie zucchini as a raw ingredient in salads or as an appetizer, cut in sticks and served with dips. It is delicious!

For a colorful dish, try this team of zucchini and tomatoes.

ITALIAN STYLE ZUCCHINI
1 Onion, sliced
2 Tablespoons vegetable oil
2 Medium-sized zucchini, sliced
1 Cup fresh or canned tomatoes
1/2 Teaspoon salt
1/2 Teaspoon pepper
1/2 Cup grated cheese, optional
Saute onion in fat; add sliced zucchini and cook five minutes, stirring often. Add tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cover and cook five minutes. Reduce heat to simmer and cook until tender (about 25 minutes). Or, put mixture in a casserole, sprinkle with grated cheese and bake at 375 degrees Fahrenheit until brown. Makes four servings.

ZUCCHINI BREAD

- 1 Cup salad oil
- 1 Teaspoon vanilla
- 2 Teaspoons baking soda
- 1 Cup wheatgerm
- 2 Cups coarsely shredded unpeeled zucchini
- 1 Cup chopped nuts or 1 cup raisins
- 1 Cup white sugar
- 3 Eggs
- 2 Teaspoons salt
- 1 Cup packed brown sugar
- 2 1/4 Cups flour
- 1/2 Teaspoon baking powder

In a large bowl, stir together flour, sugar, salt, baking powder, soda, zucchini and nuts. In another bowl, beat eggs, oil and vanilla. Pour over flour mixture and stir until moistened. Turn into greased nine by five by three pan. Bake at 350 degrees Fahrenheit for one hour. Cool in pan 10 minutes, invert on rack and cool completely.

CS Lecturer to Appear at East Tawas

"Physical healing by spiritual means alone is basic to the theology of Christian Science. And this is what most people first raise questions about."

James Spencer, a Christian Science lecturer from Birmingham, will discuss some of these questions in a talk entitled "The Healing Method of Christian Science." First Church of Christ, Scientist, East Tawas, has invited him to speak on Sunday, August 20, 3:30 p. m., at Tawas United Methodist Church, M-55, one mile west of US-23.

Engaged in the full-time Christian Science healing ministry for more than 20 years, Spencer views Christ Jesus as "the most radically spiritual healer the world has ever known." Jesus, notes the lecturer, "healed mental illnesses, blood disorders, blindness and deafness, paralysis, congenital lameness and leprosy."

"All that we learn about him from the Bible and other historical sources," Spencer continues, "clearly indicates that he expected his students to heal, too. He expected them to understand and apply the spiritual truths he taught and demonstrated."

Spencer explains that "for Christian Scientists the word 'healing' has a broad meaning. It extends to every part of our lives, not just to the healing of sickness. It includes our families and surroundings, our whole view of man and the universe. It extends beyond just physical health to morality, fulfillment in home life and useful, meaningful careers. In short, healing means proving our spiritual source, God."

To illustrate how a Christian Scientist might approach a problem through prayer, the lecturer relates instances of recent healings.

The Church of Christ, Scientist, was founded in 1879 in Boston, Massachusetts, by Mary Baker Eddy and a small group of followers. Primitive Christian healing has been a focal point of the denomination since its founding.

In 1967, Spencer was elected to his church's board of lectureship. The talk is free and open to the public. Second Reader Alma Holtenbeck will introduce the guest lecturer.

Party Delegate Ballot Drew Little Interest

Little interest was shown August 8 by Iosco County voters in the ballot for county convention delegates—only four Democrats and no Republicans filed petitions for their names to be placed on ballots—and winning write-in candidates have been certified by D. Keith Pappas, county clerk.

Four tie votes among Republicans were decided Thursday afternoon by drawing the names of winners out of a hat. There are 13 precincts in the Republican Party without delegates, but those vacancies can be filled at the Iosco County Republican Convention on August 16.

The four tie votes among Republicans were as follows: Alabaster Township, Robert Crawford and John Weible; Reno Township, Eilert Barnes, Basil O'Dell and John Webb Jr.; First Precinct of Tawas Township, Virginia Bygden and Katharine Wasylk; Wilber Township, Harry Krueger and Kenneth O'Brien.

Write-in candidates certified as Republican delegates include: Hugh Prescott, Second Precinct of Baldwin Township, and Elizabeth Rosenberg, Third Precinct of that township; Martin Siegrist, Burleigh Township; Lyle Long, First Precinct, and Arlys Rozer, Second Precinct, Grant Township; Bruce Myles and Marian Killingbeck,

First Precinct, and David S. George, Second Precinct, Oscoda Township; Robert Allen, Sherman Township; Orlo J. MacMurray, First Precinct of the Third Ward, and Merton Killey, Second Precinct of the Third Ward, East Tawas; John N. Bruggar, First Precinct, and Kenneth Myles, Second Precinct, Tawas City.

Units which did not name Republican delegates included AuSable Township; the First Precinct of Baldwin Township; the Second, Third and Fifth Precincts, Oscoda Township; First and Second Precincts, Plainfield Township; Second Precinct, Tawas Township; four precincts at East Tawas; Third Precinct, Tawas City; two precincts at Whittemore.

Democratic delegates elected included two write-in candidates in Alabaster Township, Hope Rescoe and Thomas Trahe; Alan D. Walton and David D. Walton of the Third Precinct of Baldwin Township; Douglas R. Brown, Evelyn P. Brown, both of the First Precinct, and Alice G. Friebe, Second Precinct, Plainfield Township.

Based on a formula of one for each 100 votes cast for the office of secretary of state, Republicans are eligible for 39 delegates in the county. Democrats have a formula of two delegates per precinct and a total of 64 delegates are eligible to attend that county convention.

May Qualify for Direct Commission

Some physician specialists may now apply for a direct commission in the United States Air Force and receive an assignment to nearby Wurtsmith Air Force Base Hospital, health professions recruiting officials announced today. "Physicians specializing in pediatrics, general surgery and family practice are needed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base Hospital," said Capt. Donald Stork, health professions recruiter. While all physician specialties are needed air force-wide, 12 have been tabbed "critical," according to officials. Critical specialties are obstetrician and gynecologists, orthopaedic surgeons, radiologists, allergists, cardiologists, otorhinolaryngologists, infectious diseases specialists, pediatric neurologists, internists, neurologists, psychiatrists and surgeons. Physicians selected under the "Operation Hometown Recruitment" program will be assigned to Wurtsmith Air Force Base for a minimum of three years unless the physician requests an overseas assignment, officials said. Eligible physicians may qualify for a direct commission in the grade of captain, major or lieutenant colonel with pay and allowances ranging from $32,000 to $46,000 annually depending on experience, training and past military service. Other entitlements include 30 days paid vacation each year, retirement benefits, if eligible; professional and variable incentive pay, training in aerospace medi-

LARGE BALES of hay are turning a golden brown in the hot August sun south of Hale following an excellent crop during the summer season. Farmers along the Hemlock Road (M-55) were making their second cutting last week of green silage in preparation to feed dairy cattle during the months ahead. Large stands of field corn await harvesting in cooler weather, which is not far in the future.—Tawas Herald Photo.

HONESTY DOES PAY—Sandy Simmons, an employee of Midway Family Center, East Tawas, is a firm believer in the preceding adage. While sweeping the front entrance of the store Friday morning she found a man's ring glittering on the sidewalk. She turned it over to the store manager and thought no more about it until a short time later when paged to report to the customer service desk. "I saw two women standing at the counter and they were crying—a man was with them and he was happy the ring had been found," she stated. It turned out that the glittering stone in the setting was a six-carat diamond valued at $40,000. The customer gave her a $500 check for her honesty. Sandy went back to her job at the check out counter in the grocery department, wondering later why such a fuss was being made by the local news media over her turning in a "found" item to the office.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Write-In Candidates Added Interest to Township Primaries

Eight townships of Iosco County had contests in the Tuesday, August 8, primary election, which featured a number of write-in races. In one instance where no name was printed on the ballot for township officer, a write-in candidate did not receive the prescribed number of votes to have his name printed on the general election ballot.

In Alabaster Township, John H. Weible won the Republican nomination for treasurer over Leona Benson, 47-45, and his name will be on the general election ballot with John J. Lorenz, 17 votes, listed as the Democratic candidate.

Tom Trahey and Harry Wellna, Democrats, were nominated for the two offices of Alabaster constable; Gary Lutes, Republican, was nominated to the four-year trustee post, and Alice B. Makinen, 18 votes, received the Democratic nomination and will oppose each other in November. Robert H. Crawford, Republican, supervisor, and Raymond "Pete" Rescoe, Republican, clerk, were nominated without opposition on votes of 62 and 67, respectively.

Raymond A. Andrus was the victor in a three-way race for the Republican nomination of supervisor in AuSable Township, receiving 155 votes. Harold J. McNeill received 125 votes and Dale Lamrock Jr. received 111. Della Schweickert won the Republican nomination for clerk with 179 votes to 145 votes cast for Paul L. Blumenfield. Calvin McLaren won the Republican nomination for treasurer with 205 votes to 159 for Marguerite M. Alexander. Eileen Hall received 63 votes and the Republican nomination for trustee, defeating Dorothy Alexander with 60 votes. Constables named were Donald J. Marcoullier, 237 votes, and Armen Godt, 44 votes, both Republicans.

A confusing situation resulted in Burleigh Township where names were not filed with the county clerk in order to have candidates listed on the ballot. Martin Siegrist won the Republican nomination for supervisor with 34 votes. Republican write-in candidates for clerk included James Belson, 22 votes, who defeated Darrell Colvin, incumbent, with 19 votes. Lillian White won the Republican nomination for trustee with 23 votes with a scattering of ballots for other candidates. Richard Colvin received the Republican nomination for constable with 10 votes.

All incumbent officers were renominated in Grant Township and voters approved a two-mill proposal for six years, 135-70. One mill is for fire protection, three-quarters of a mill for garbage pickup, one-quarter mill for roads, bridges and maintenance. Robert K. Foster, incumbent Oscoda Township supervisor, had little trouble turning aside a challenge from William J. Steiert for the Republican nomination, 444-195. Edward J. Tate, Republican, 453 votes, is to be opposed by Stanley L. Kowalski, Democrat, 182 votes, in the general election. Maxine F. Bissonette, Republican, was renominated treasurer with 488 votes. Winners in the three-way race for Republican trustees were William L. Stone and William C. Christman, 297 and 327 votes, respectively. Defeated was Chesley W. Summerville, 170 votes. Delphine A. Weisl received the Republican nomination for two-year trustee with 408 votes.

Elizabeth M. Timmer, Democrat, received 220 votes for clerk and will be opposed by Shirla Vee Kesler, Republican, 111 votes, in Plainfield Township's general election. Sally Ann Bell received 111 votes and lost the Democratic nomination. Joyce L. Saunders, who withdrew from the race, received 59 Republican votes. Royden Parkinson won the Democratic nomination for trustee with 187 votes to 95 votes for Lauren J. Bleeda. Richard A. Lange received 192 votes to win the Democratic nomination of constable, defeating Leon L. Brunson with 77 votes. Ray D. Kesler, 167 votes, Republican, was renominated for supervisor, and Barbara Malcho, Democrat, was renominated for treasurer with 269 votes.

Five different candidates received write-in votes for Reno Township's supervisor vacancy, which was left blank on the ballot, but none of the candidates received enough votes for a name to be printed on the general election ballot. The remainder of the incumbent Republicans were renominated to office. Sherman Township had a blank space on the primary ballot for supervisor and Calvin Nickell received the Democratic nomination with 12 write-in votes. He defeated Arden Charters with 10 votes for the Democratic nomination and John Jordan received six votes. Township voters approved a proposal of one mill for four years for road construction, 58-48. There was only one race in Tawas Township and John J. Katterman won the Republican nomination for clerk over Katharine Wasyik, 70-69. Two write-in candidates caused interest in Wilber Township, but incumbent candidates were the winners. Betty Cross received 32 votes for the Republican nomination of clerk to 28 votes cast for Pamela Armstead. Harold Cholger received 43 Republican votes to 20 write-ins received by Ervin Kuenzli for the office of trustee. Wilber Township voters rejected a proposal of one mill for four years for road construction, 58-48.
