No Contract, but Teachers on Job at W-P School

Although bargaining on a new contract still had not been completed Tuesday morning, members of Whittemore-Prescott Area Education Association reported for work as buses and children reported for the first day of school. Teachers had voted at 8:00 a. m. Monday not to accept the latest salary offer in the 1978-79 contract and did not attend conferences scheduled the day before the opening of school. Settlement of the salary clause in the new contract appears to be very close and teachers voted early Tuesday to follow the school schedule for the 1978-79 term.

"Bargaining is to continue on an accelerated basis in an attempt to complete the contract as soon as possible," according to a joint statement made by Howard Wilkinson, president of the board of education; James Franklin, superintendent of schools, and a representative of the teachers' union. All items in the final agreement are to be retroactive to August 28 and any additional pay to employees is to be made in one lump sum in the first pay period after settlement. According to the statement, employees are to advance "vertically as well as horizontally" on the 1977-78 salary schedule.

Bursting Mains In Tawas City Had DPW Hopping

A hectic two days for the Tawas City Department of Public Works resulted Thursday and Friday when emergency repairs had to be made to two water main breaks, a break in a sewer force main and a plugged sanitary sewer. Water main breaks resulted on Seventh and Eighth Avenues Thursday during a surge on lines while filling of the new 500,000-gallon water tank at the industrial park in Baldwin Township was taking place. Higher pressure than normal was required to send water from the filtration plant at East Tawas to the new tank, which also placed a higher pressure on Tawas City mains. As a result, two old cast iron mains, which were apparently defective, burst in Tawas City. Included was a two-inch main on Eighth Avenue near the Tawas City Elementary Unit and a six-inch cast iron main on Seventh Avenue. In addition, the old water tank behind the city hall overflowed during the high pressure period. City Forman Merlin "Red" Look called on a private contractor, John Henry, to assist in repairing the Eighth Avenue break. The street had been blacktopped earlier this summer and the new roadway surface was damaged during the repair. The roadway is to be patched later in the fall. City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz, who was out of town from Wednesday through Friday, said Monday that it was best that the two defective mains were discovered now as a more serious problem could have resulted during winter months. New mains constructed during the past year have been tested using 120 pounds of pressure. Bublitz said that water pressure on the mains last week was slightly more than 50 pounds. During the time the city crew was making repairs, a sewer force main burst near the disposal plant and a sewer line plugged on River Street. These problems were not related to the water system. The new 500,000-gallon water tank in the Tawas City industrial park has been filled, but awaits coordination of controls before the new system is placed into use. City Supt. William Smith of East Tawas reported that the Baldwin Township water tank was filled on Friday. He said that contractors were to start work Tuesday adjusting controls on the expanded water system to serve the three communities. He expected that the work would require three weeks before the system goes into operation.

Two Masked Bandits Rob Gas Station

Two masked bandits held up an attendant at the Clark Service Station at Oscoda early Monday morning and apparently made a clean escape. Oscoda-AuSable Township Police learned that the bandits, brandishing a .22 caliber rifle, were wearing yellow ski masks. One man was wearing a green flight jacket and the other wore a brown jacket. Oscoda authorities used a tracking dog to follow the men to their car. The trail ended at that point. The robbery occurred at 3:12 a. m.

Meet With Architect School Board Views Six-Classroom Plan

Attempting to get the most out of every dollar expended, members of Tawas Area Board of Education reviewed preliminary plans for a classroom addition at the Tawas City Elementary Unit prepared by Brysselbout, Hacker and Simon, Bay City architects. Voters of the district approved transfer of $210,000 in delinquent tax money to a building and site fund to finance cost of the construction. Irvin Hacker of the architectural firm told board of education members that, with $5,000 allotted for alterations to the existing building, the estimated cost for the classroom addition is $31 per square foot. With approximately 6,104 square feet of floor space, the estimated actual cost of construction would be $188,075. With a fund for contingencies and fees, the total cost would be in the neighborhood of $210,000. Present plans call for construction of six classrooms, all measuring approximately 24 by 31 feet, on the west side of the building. Also included would be a storage room, repaving of toilets and construction of a new corridor. Original plans called for construction of five classrooms, but the board of education and architect are hoping to "squeeze" in a sixth room with available money. Representatives of the architectural firm said they were making a study of the unit's heating system in order to develop a simplified method of heating rooms. A change may be made from steam to hot water heat. Included in the preliminary study of the project will be investigation into future use of the building to handle the junior high school. The architect is to project plans for additional rooms to handle the junior high school or grades four through seven. The architect said that restrooms under the existing plan would accommodate up to 700 children. The new corridor is being constructed to a width of 10 feet to provide space for lockers in the event the building is ever used for junior high school purposes. Air conditioning is being provided for the library, due to the fact that windows are to be closed off by the new classroom addition. Members of the board of education inspected work done during the past summer by youths enrolled in a construction program supervised by Lucky Kosto. Ceilings were lowered in the original lower elementary building constructed 35 years ago and windows were replaced to conserve heat. Interior finish on the west wall of the remodeled classrooms was not completed because the proposed new classroom addition will be constructed on that side of the building in the near future. Board members expressed pleasure with the summer project and a study is to be made concerning possible use of the building trades class next summer on other projects.

No Contract Yet for TA Teachers

No settlement has been reached on a new contract between Tawas Area Federation of Teachers and Tawas Area Board of Education, but it is not expected to affect the opening of the 1978-79 school term on September 6. Negotiations on salaries at the end of two years under a three-year contract opened several weeks ago and negotiations are permitted under the contract to October 1. After that date, the entire contract can be reopened. On August 14, representatives of TAF and school negotiators met with a state mediator and discussion was held on possibly bringing in a fact finder. Supt. Robert Halle said Tuesday morning that no new date had been set for a negotiation meeting and he knew of no further developments concerning a meeting with a fact finder. TAF represents 86 members of the teaching faculty. Halle said the next negotiation session with Local 1545 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represents noncertified personnel, is to be held September 11.

Burglars Nabbed in Long Lake Bar

Isosco County Sheriff's Department made a once-in-a-lifetime arrest early Sunday morning when two burglars were apprehended inside the Long Lake Bar west of Hale. Acting on a tip, Sheriff George Westcott and Undersheriff Basil O'Dell went to the bar at 2:30 a. m. Sunday and stayed there after customers left. The bartender secured all windows and locked the doors. Remaining hidden in the building, the two officers observed a red and white van drive past the bar and along Long Lake Road several times. "At 4:20 a. m., a female was observed looking through the window and another subject appeared," stated the sheriff's report. The two burglars cut a screen, pried open a window with a screwdriver and entered the building. While the two officers watched, the burglars began removing currency which had been fastened to sheets of paper over the bar. The money had been collected from customers for the "Dollars for Dystrophy" fund. The two officers moved out of their hiding place with service revolvers pointed at the burglars. The two night prowlers "froze" on command. The officers recovered $53 in currency which had been removed from the collection fund. Two backup officers, Deputies David Brumfield and Charles Bublitz, were notified by radio and they found the red and white van truck off South Branch Road. Arrested were James Elon McKinney, 28, Rose City, and Jean Conley, 17, Lupton. They were returned to the county jail in Tawas City for booking on a breaking and entering charge.

Annual Threshers' Reunion Planned Saturday - Sunday

The annual threshers and farmers reunion—an event which should be of interest to summer visitors and area residents, alike—will be held again this year on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, September 2-3, at the Neil Erickson farm on Keystone Road, Whittemore. The farm is located one mile south and three miles east of Prescott; or four miles north and three miles west of Twining; or four miles south and three miles west of Whittemore. The reunion is being held this year in honor and in memory of Neil's father, the late Earl Erickson, who supervised the operation of a steam traction engine used in this event for many years. Also to be remembered are such family names as Irish, Dietzel, Hess, Wallen, Poole and a host of others who were enthusiastic participants in the days when horses powered the soil tilling equipment and steam was king of belt power. To be operated again this year is the Advance-Rumley steam traction engine, powering a Huber or McCormick grain separator for threshing oats. Numerous other old engines and tractors will be in operation, some of them powering various antique farm equipment, including a hand tie baler, corn shredder, fodder cutter and corn sheller. Many other old farm tools will be on display which were used for such work as harvesting ice, stump pulling, tilling, seeding and harvesting. There will also be a display of the tools of the trade used by the farm women, when butter was made in the kitchen and milk was cooled in the well. "We will try to show and explain the use of as much of the old equipment as possible, including tools of the blacksmith," said Erickson. A lunch wagon is expected to be on the grounds both days. There will be no admission charge, but contributions toward the cost of operation can be accepted. Exhibitors are welcome and encouraged, but will be at their own risk of damage. Saturday's activities will end with a pot-luck supper at about 5:30 p. m. Visitors are asked to bring something to pass and their own utensils. Refrigeration can be provided if needed. Visitors are requested to bring soft drinks only. There will be a worship service on the grounds at about 10:30 a. m. Sunday. "Your safety is of great concern, so please be careful," asks Erickson. "Keep watch of the children and help us keep the grounds and area safe and clean." Visitors are invited to join the fun, fellowship and a good visit in memory of the era, now gone but not forgotten, when this time of year was a busy and exciting period because "The threshers are coming!" Property and equipment owners will not be held liable for accidents.

Fed. Court Bars Postal Strike

Postmasters were notified Monday morning that the United States District Court of the District of Columbia has issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting the National Association of Letter Carriers and American Postal Workers from causing or engaging in a strike against the United States Postal Service. Leonard Hosbach, postmaster at Tawas City and East Tawas, said that some employees of the local offices were not members of the union. The defendant unions were ordered to appear before the court on September 1 to show cause why a preliminary order should not be entered in the matter. The two unions have been working without a contract and about 200 postal service employees in three states were dismissed from employment on July 20 for entering in a wildcat strike. All employees are required to sign a no strike pledge. Tawas City and East Tawas, said that some employees of the local offices were not members of the union.

Canoe Monument Renovation Starts

Harry Curley of Oscoda reported Tuesday that a committee was starting preliminary work on renovation of the Michigan Canoe Paddler Association's monument on River Road west of Lumbermen's Monument. The canoe paddler monument has been the object of vandalism during recent years, despite being protected by a chain link fence. Curley said that work is expected to be completed this week and the monument would be rededicated after Labor Day.

According to a report from the group's treasurer, a balance of $5,198.62 remained as of July 31 and is available for projects. The annual community chest campaign is to be held October 2 through 16, with no extensions suggested. Location of a kick-off breakfast is to be selected by drive chairmen. Campaign chairmen are Donald Snyder, director of Tawas Hospital, and Roger McIntosh of McIntosh-McKay Chevrolet Sales. A feature article, "The Forgotten Scourge: Smallpox," appearing in last week's Tawas Herald and the 138th in a series of historical featurettes published by this newspaper during the past 2½ years, has proven rather timely.

Despite the article's assertion that smallpox has been virtually eliminated throughout the world, The Detroit Free Press reported Tuesday that a case of smallpox had been discovered in England and a new epidemic in that country may result.

A study of the deadly smallpox virus was being made at a British medical center and a technician apparently contracted the disease. Although the technician has been quarantined, she may have exposed others to the disease and British authorities are concerned.

There is no known cure for smallpox and vaccination as a preventive measure is generally not practiced today. The previous last known case in the entire world was reported last October.

Lonchar Found Guilty of First Degree Murder

John W. Lonchar Jr. was found guilty of murder in the first degree by 34th Judicial Circuit Judge Carl L. Horn, following trial by court held July 18-21. Lonchar had waived a trial by jury.

In his ruling announced Wednesday, Judge Horn said that the "court found beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of murder of the first degree, in that a murder was committed when the defendant was assisting another in the perpetration of the crime of larceny."

Two other defendants, Frederick G. Tomkins and Gary H. McLellan, were convicted in this case by an Isosco County Circuit Court jury in February 1977, and were given mandatory life sentences in prison.

The three men had been accused of being involved in the shooting death of Danny R. Christian, 27, on September 11, 1976, at Oscoda.

In his ruling, Judge Horn stated he had found five elements proved beyond a reasonable doubt, which led to the first degree murder conviction for Lonchar:

1. Danny Christian died on or about September 12, 1976;
2. Christian's death was caused by bullet wounds fired from a gun operated by Tomkins;
3. That the death was not excused, justified or in any other way mitigated;
4. That the crime was consciously and knowingly performed;
5. That at the time of the act causing the death of Christian, the defendant (Lonchar) was assisting another in the crime of larceny (Christian had been robbed).

Lonchar claimed that he did not aid or assist in the commission of any crime, but that he was just present. The court said it could not accept this version of what happened.

The finding of the court stated that Lonchar knew there was a gun in the car when he, Tomkins and McLellan left Pinconning; Lonchar was present at the Office Bar at Oscoda when Tomkins made a threat to kill Christian; Judge Horn said the defendant had testified he had possession of the gun at the time and place when all four men left the bar. Horn also noted that after the killing, the three men were seen together when an attempt was made to get rid of a gun on a bridge at Oscoda.

Judge Horn said that, in reaching his determination as to the guilty verdict, he had not considered Lonchar's attempt to avoid arrest and flight as evidence of guilt. The defendant had been apprehended in California and returned to Michigan to face the charge.

Sentencing of Lonchar is scheduled after completion of a pre-sentence report by the department of corrections officer.

Substance Abuse Program Change

Possible take over of a substance abuse program by Isosco-Ogemaw Mental Health District is currently being discussed by the mental health group, Isosco County Board of Commissioners and Northern Regional Substance Abuse Coordination Agency, Incorporated, which represents a 12-county area with headquarters at Gaylord.

This county's substance abuse program, which includes a highway safety program involving persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol and referred to it by the district court, has been handled by Tawas Hospital. The hospital desires to turn the program over to some other agency.

The county board of commissioners met Wednesday with William Streur, regional coordinator for the 12-county substance abuse program, who explained the operation.

He was accompanied by Elizabeth Rosenberg, who represents this county on the state board.

Carlton Merschel, chairman of the Isosco County Board of Commissioners, said that a proposal is being made for the local mental health district to take over the substance abuse program being handled by Tawas Hospital.

Approximate cost to the three counties involved, Isosco, Ogemaw and Oscoda, would be $60,000, with $53,000 coming from the state for the program.

Floyd Smith, director of the mental health district, has been directed to make a feasibility study concerning taking over this service from the hospital. If approved by the mental health board, a new contract would be signed for the service.

It was stated at Wednesday's session that the hospital had experienced problems in collecting fees from those referred to the substance program from the district court and that available operational funds were not sufficient.

Big Brown Leads Contest

DUANE WALTERS of Tawas Hardware is holding a brown trout which he believes has a good chance of being a contest winner. The fish was actually caught by his brother-in-law, Robert Spence, Wednesday afternoon, but fishing action was so great in Tawas Bay that Spence took only a few minutes off to go to shore and then returned to the No. 2 buoy where he landed this fish. It weighed a whopping 18 pounds, seven ounces, some 3½ pounds heavier than the next largest fish entered thus far in the Lake Huron Salmon Derby, brown trout division.—Tawas Herald Photo.

County Gets Final Bill on Master Plan

Isosco County Board of Commissioners has directed a search of records before making payment of a $4,200 bill submitted by the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region.

A letter from the regional office asked final payment of the above amount for services rendered in preparing a development plan for this county.

The county entered into contract with East Central Michigan in October 1971, the latter to provide a comprehensive plan for development, to be used by the county planning commission.

Due to numerous delays, it was not completed and turned over to the county until December 1977, and all publications were not received until March.

Total contracted cost for this project was $14,600. A search of records is now being made in the county clerk's office to determine the actual amount the county has paid for the work.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

Chicken In Shells A entertaining needn't be expensive if you look for good buys in meats. Happily, such perennial favorites as turkey and chicken are economical most any time of year.

Lost Final Game of Season

Tawas Indies Had to Settle for NEM Runner-up Trophy

Tawas Indies had to settle for the runner-up trophy in the North-eastern Michigan League's round robin tournament. The Indies came out on the short end of a 6-2 score Sunday at Crump.

The Tawas team has played excellent baseball all season long and jumped off to a one-run lead in the first inning on a walk to Tom Gracik, a bunt by Bernie Link, an error and a sacrifice fly by Earl Parsons.

Crump came right back to tie the score in the bottom half of the first inning on a single, a double and another single. Crump scored one run in the third inning on a home run by Bob Escenvilla and added three more runs in the fifth inning on an error, two singles, a walk and a sacrifice fly.

The championship team added another run in the sixth inning on a single, a bunt, an error and a single.

Down 6-1 going into the eighth inning, Link and Parsons belted back-to-back two baggers, but three infield outs got Rod Kennedy, winning pitcher, out of that jam. Brad Potts, losing pitcher, gave up nine hits, struck out seven and walked three. Kennedy allowed seven hits to Tawas, struck out six and walked four.

Tawas had two errors during the game, both of which figured in the scoring. Crump had one error and that aided Tawas' first run.

Wheat Smut Threatens State Crop

Bunt (stinking smut) in wheat, once nearly eradicated from Michigan, is threatening wheat growers with severe economic losses. Milton Erdman, Michigan State University field crops specialist, urges growers to plant only seed that has been treated with hexachlorobenzene (HCB) this fall.

Other seed treatments to control problems like damping off, seed rot and seedling blights are less effective or may have no effect on bunt. Maneb, thiram, captan or other fungicides for seed treatment should be combined with HCB to give control of both bunt and seedling diseases.

Seed treatment is critical because, once a field is infected, there is nothing a grower can do about it. Losses are severe; millers will not use bunt-infested wheat, so elevators will not buy it. A bunt problem is not a matter of losing a few bushels per acre, growers may lose an entire crop.

Bunt, under control for more than 25 years, has been reported in Michigan each of the past three years. It will continue to be a problem—with the potential of causing severe economic losses—until nearly all of the seed planted here is treated with HCB.

Several factors have contributed to the revival of stinking smut in Michigan. The mercury materials that were effective in controlling the disease are no longer available. Because of stricter regulations on seed-treating facilities, fewer elevators are offering this service. And Michigan's weather is conducive to the development of the disease. Now that it is present in Michigan, the infected fields scattered around the state could serve as sources of the disease organism.

The time to avoid bunt is now. Growers should buy seed treated with HCB, treat their own seed (if they have the capability to treat seed on a large scale) or have their seed treated at an elevator that still offers this service. It may take some hunting to find an elevator that will treat seed. But no amount of hunting next year will find one that will buy a bunt-infested crop, and no grower can afford to lose an entire crop to a problem that could have been prevented.

The treatment of wheat is discussed in Extension Bulletin E-1199, Seed Treatment for Field Crops, available from the Iosco County Cooperative Extension Service office, 362-3449.

LAKESIDE BAR was crowned champion of the Tawas Men's Softball League after defeating WIOS, 8-3, Friday evening. Lakeside had won the first play off game, 3-0, earlier in the week and the two teams played to a 9-9 tie in 11 innings Wednesday night. The tie game was broken by WIOS Friday evening, 11-9, when two additional innings were played. Lakeside scored five runs in the fifth inning of the championship game to win the trophy.

Tawas Braves Scrimmage Saturday at Cheboygan

With 18 returning letter winners from the 1977 Northeastern Michigan Conference championship squad, Coach Dick Look of the Tawas Area Braves has good reason to be optimistic at the start of the 1978 season.

He was cautious about making any predictions about the upcoming campaign, which opens September 8 at Sanford Meridian.

"We have some hard runners in our backfield, but until we have a scrimmage we still will not know if we have a couple of super backs like Jerry Gracik and Andy Mayer, who led us last year," said Look.

The Tawas coaching staff will have an opportunity to watch their hopefuls this Saturday when they scrimmage at Cheboygan, 11:00 a. m. The Braves are going to make a week-end of it in the north country, camping over night Saturday and Sunday at the Cheboygan football field and then joining in the Labor Day walk across "Big Mac." Gov. William G. Milliken, who leads the annual hike, has even promised to pose for a team picture with the Braves.

backfield will be Pete Wood, Scott Tousley, John Bouchard, Bill Gracik and Phil Lixey.

Two transfer students this season include Joe Gartland of Flint Powers and John Brannan of Farmington.

Look said that only 20 candidates turned out for the Junior Braves this season, which will be an extremely small squad.

Letter winners returning to the starting position last year as a sophomore, will be back with more experience as a linebacker and tackle. Other returning tackles include Donn Rakestraw and Lance Brooks.

Other returning linemen include Mike Fisher, Rick Metcalf and Joe Cotter, centers, along with Brian Lutz, who plays guard and end. Other returning ends include Mike Harsch, Gary Birkenback and Jeff Nichols.

Bill King came into his own as a junior quarterback last year to pilot his mates to an undefeated record in five conference games and will be back as a more experienced senior. Over-all record of the Braves last year was seven wins and two losses.

Tawas Hospital Auxiliary members and guests attended a luncheon Tuesday, August 22, at Lakeside Shores and enjoyed an interesting, informative discussion on classes in nurse-orderly vocations by Shirley Lustig. These classes enable students to decide which field of hospital work they wish to enter.

Donald Snyder, hospital administrator, was present to answer questions on the new addition to the hospital. During the session, members unanimously agreed to pledge $25,000 to the current expansion project at the hospital.

The next meeting of the organization is scheduled for Tuesday, September 26, 1:00 p. m., at the hospital in-service room.

TA Schools Open September 6; Bus Schedule - Routes Listed

Tawas Area Schools bus schedule has been released by David Westcott, transportation director, to aid parents in preparation for the opening of school Wednesday, September 6. "All the route times are estimated. It is expected within the first week that parents can anticipate times will be stabilized," stated Westcott.

Routes have been established to eliminate congestion along US-23. There will be no student pick ups between Townline Road on US-23 to the intersection of Bay Drive. All parents are requested to have their children walk back to Margo Street in Elms Gardens and the lake shore side of US-23, to Bay Drive, excluding kindergarten.

Due to the rising cost of gasoline and anticipated increase of associated materials, kindergarten routes have been established to most effectively utilize the existing transportation needs. With this in mind, all kindergarten children within the city limits of Tawas City and East Tawas will attend school in the afternoon session. All kindergarten children outside the city limits will attend school in the morning session.

No children, with the exception of headstart and special education students, who live within one-half mile of any school will be bussed. Students who live within one-half mile of East Tawas Elementary and attend Tawas City schools must be at East Tawas Elementary prior to 8:15 a. m. Students who live within one-half mile of Tawas City Elementary and attend East Tawas schools must be at the Tawas City school prior to 8:15 a. m.

"Smokey the Bear," rescued as a cub suffering from serious burns received in a fire, is credited by the National Advertising Council as being the foremost symbol in this country's efforts in recent years to promote protection of natural resources through prevention of forest fires.

"Smokey" and his fire-fighting "brothers" from the United States Forest Service, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and area volunteer fire departments have been so successful in their efforts, however, that a once major "cottage" industry has practically disappeared from the plains land of Northern Michigan.

Harvesting the Michigan huckleberry crop was once a big business right here in Iosco County—so big, in fact, that carloads of the blue berries were annually shipped to market by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway from Kunze Siding above East Tawas and from other stations along the Huron Shore Route.

No criticism is intended, however, concerning the effectiveness of the forest service in its campaign to emphasize the need for preventing forest fires. Due to circumstances of nature, man had to make a choice many years ago; He could either have a forest or huckleberries; he wisely chose to protect the forest and the land.

The earliest white inhabitants of the region learned from the Indians that forest and brush fires promoted the growth of huckleberries on the sand plains of Iosco County. For centuries, the Chippewa Indians migrated to this region each summer to pick berries and set brush fires when they left to promote future crops. For many years after the advent of the lumbermen and settlers, the region was still thinly populated and forest fires were intentionally set to burn off worthless barrens.

This usually resulted in a bumper crop of huckleberries the following summer, depending on climatic conditions during the spring blossoming season. If the sensitive huckleberry blossoms were damaged by frost—and there was good chance for this to happen as the average temperature inland was about 10 degrees colder at night than near Lake Huron—berry picking in July would be poor; under ideal weather conditions, there would be a bumper crop of blue berries.

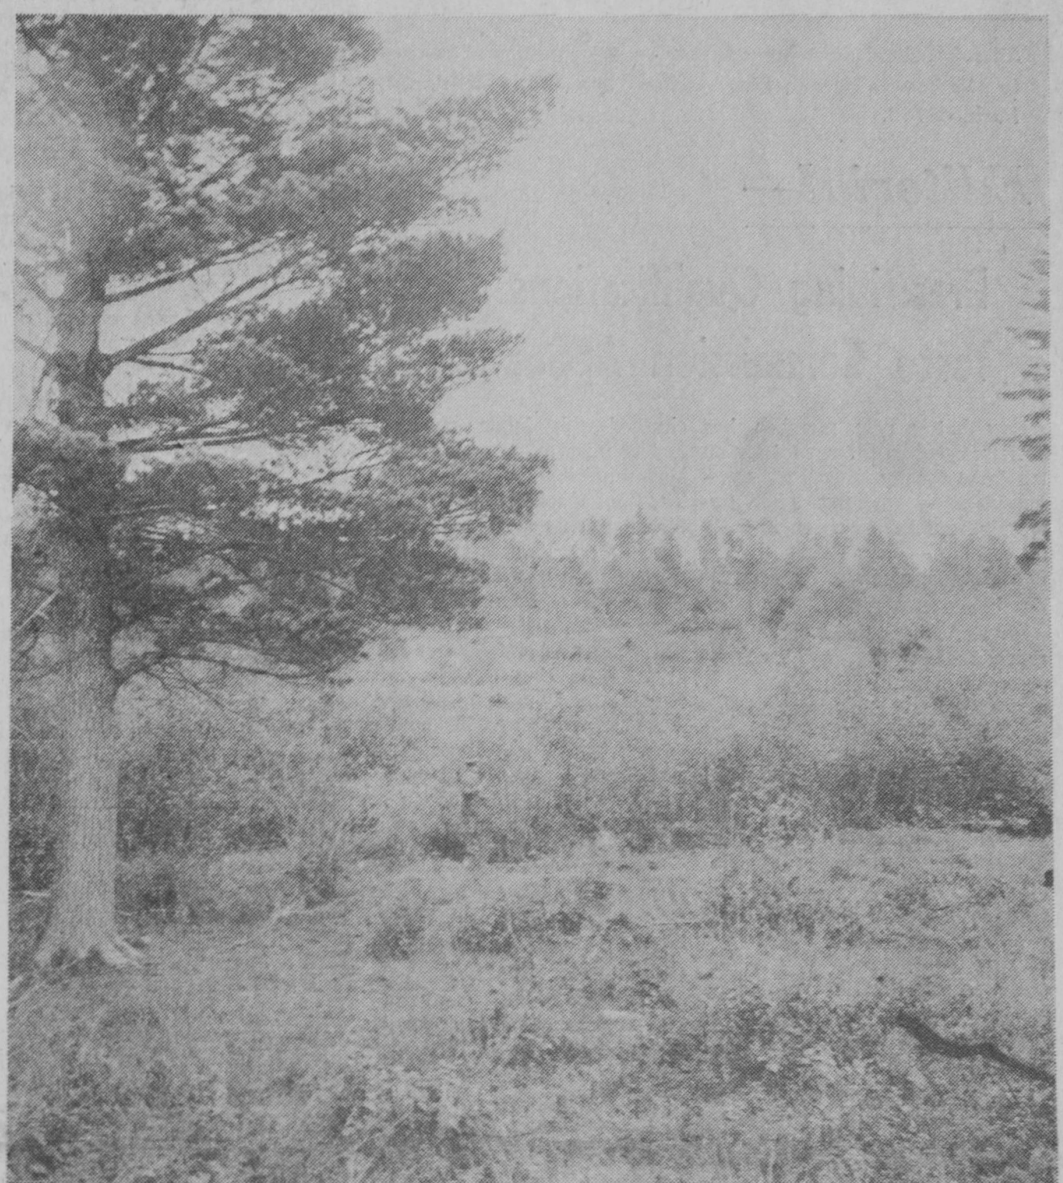

As the interior of the county gradually was settled by industrious farmers, who spent years removing pine stumps from future productive fields, the need for protection against grass and forest fires became apparent. Burning of thousands of acres of brush land to promote the growth of huckleberries became a menace to the improved property of settlers.

With establishment of the United States Forest Service and setting off of thousands of acres to comprise the Huron National Forest in 1909, the need for protecting young tree growth against the forest fire threat was soon realized. It would be many years, however, before the federal government would win its battle against fire—local residents interested in the profitable huckleberry harvest would intentionally start fires on the "worthless" plains of Wilber, AuSable, Oscoda and portions of Plainfield Townships.

Older residents of Iosco County may recall the days when harvesting the huckleberry crop was important to the economy of Iosco farmers.

"My father, Richard Cornett of Wilber Township, always called the huckleberry crop his 'tax money'—he paid his annual property taxes with earnings the family would receive in picking huckleberries," recalls Mrs. Harry Goodale of Tawas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodale, who moved to Tawas City more than 30 years ago after operating a farm in Wilber Township since their marriage in 1909, recall that the huckleberry harvest was important to many Wilber Township families.

"WORTHLESS" Land like that pictured here once provided a major "cottage industry" for farmers of Wilber, Plainfield and adjoining townships of Iosco County. Wild huckleberries grew in profusion on this burned over brush land and entire farm families would spend the latter part of July picking berries. Many students would earn enough money from picking huckleberries to buy school clothing, while other families used proceeds from berries to pay taxes or to purchase land. Hundreds of bushels of blue berries were shipped annually from this county, depending on weather conditions.

"What is now known as Cholger's woods in Wilber Township was purchased by August Cholger through proceeds that family received for one season's huckleberry harvest. The 80-acre plot cost $500," recalls Mr. Goodale.

The Goodales said that all of their Wilber Township neighbors tried to have all of the work involved in putting up hay completed by July 4 in order to take advantage of the huckleberry season, which normally fell during the last three weeks of July.

Entire families—including the Abbotts, Brooks, Searles, Cholgers and Cornetts, to name five—would head for the sand barrens of Wilber and Oscoda Townships to pick the blue berries.

Goodale, who later became an employee of the United States Forest Service, planted the first pine seedling in Huron National Forest and fought many a fire to protect the young plantations, recalls that he and his farmer neighbors, in former years, often set brush fires to promote the growth of huckleberries.

The last fire he intentionally started raged out of control and burned over hundreds of acres of worthless government owned plains land. His favorite berry picking area was near the headwaters of Buck Creek near present day Whispering Pines; his attitude changed toward brush fires, however, after he set out that first pine seedling in the Buck Creek plantation.

Harry and Ralph Johnson of the forest service were fighting a forest fire one day northeast of Hale when a group of berry pickers told them a big fire was raging near Oscoda and AuSable. That was in 1911 and the historic blaze wiped out the twin towns. Johnson rushed frantically to Oscoda where his family was living. He found his wife and children safely at home—his house and two others were the only ones saved in that part of town.

Columns of The Tawas Herald were sprinkled each July with news items concerning the huckleberry harvest. On July 23, 1909, the Herald reported that "Captain Davis and his schooner came over from Sebewaga Monday with a load of 40 huckleberry pickers, who went to Sand Lake to camp. They will find the huckleberry crop rather light in this locality this season. Small shipments of huckleberries are being made here as the crop was damaged by forest fires."

An earlier report of a poor season was recorded as follows in the July 28, 1881, issue of The Iosco County Gazette: "The huckleberry crop is about one-fourth as large this year as last."

Items in the local papers were of a much different nature in most years. "The huckleberry season has begun and the prospects are for one of the largest crops for several years," stated the Herald on July 11, 1902.

In 1903, the South Branch correspondent of the Herald reported that "Huckleberrying has been moving lively this week. Dan Stewart has shipped 300 bushels, Lon Ewens had 100 bushels and Eugene Becker shipped 75."

There were other distractions for the pickers, as recorded in this July 24, 1903, item: "The huckleberry crop this year is one of the largest ever known in this locality. Yet the prospects are that shipments will be light, owing to the fact that so many people who usually pick berries are engaged in the sugar beet weeding."

Iosco's brief sugar beet industry attracted pickers that season, but most soon learned that more money could be made by picking huckleberries. Goodale recalls that the going rate for berries during that era was $2 per bushel.

Picking huckleberries was tire-some, back breaking work, even though Goodale recalls that clusters of berries could be picked by the handful. One device used to speed the picking was a handmade rake fashioned out of a piece of board. Wire salvaged from an old umbrella formed "fingers" on the handy tool, which raked both berries and leaves directly into baskets. At the end of the day, the berries were winnowed into a second basket, a strong breeze being required to remove the leaves.

A commercial separator was later developed for cleaning huckleberries, separating the round, per-

Prescribing Qualifications for Iosco Commission Appointee

Now that a new member has been selected to fill a vacancy on the Iosco County Board of Commissioners...

First of all, we were absolutely shocked when the county board of commissioners published a list of "qualifications"...

No matter how noble an experiment in government this would be, the only qualification for any appointee is that the prospective candidate be of legal age and, in this case, a resident of Precincts One or Three of Oscoda Township; nothing more.

What we are saying should not be considered a criticism of the board of commissioners, but this corner believes the commission was a little too innovative.

We are not saying that voters should not consider qualifications of a candidate—be it for the office of president of the United States or even a county office...

In our opinion, every person has the right to be a candidate for office—it is up to each and every individual voter to make his own choice, based on his own observations.

We can understand the problem of the board of commissioners: The job is part time, but it does require three days a week; the commissioners oversee, directly or indirectly, annual expenditures of approximately $4,000,000; they are charged with labor negotiations and coordinate many programs, both municipal, state and federal. The final appointee must be able to take time off to perform that work.

Since going to a five-man commission, however, only a retiree, in most cases, can sit on the board. The job takes just too much time. In the case of John Webb, he must take valuable time off from his farming to perform his work as a commissioner. One must, indeed, be dedicated to his county to do this for, despite what appears to some to be a substantial wage for attending two regular meetings and up to 16 committee meetings a month, in Webb's case it is time spent away from his farm and his young family.

As we see it, there are just too many "mandatory" committee meetings for one commissioner to attend. This county sends its representatives to a multitude of meetings prescribed by state and federal agencies and, if the county is not represented, it would lose its place at the "trough."

Here is the only suggestion that this corner might offer: Perhaps membership on some of those boards at regional or state level could be filled by appointing more private citizens, paying those citizens the same per diem and mileage as received by commissioners. It would offer the opportunity to involve more people in our government and there are some outstanding people who are not participating. And, too, perhaps the commission should drop membership in some agencies where "wheels are spinning" and there is really no concrete evidence where much is being accomplished.

If this was done, perhaps the average John or Mary Doe could again seek election to the county board of commissioners because he or she could take time off to provide a valuable public spirited function. The job only requires a little common sense, but even that qualification cannot be included in a set of credentials to hold public office. It is up to the voter to make the final determination for that qualification.

TODAYS Meditation from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide The Upper Room

(Read Matthew 16:21-27) "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for My sake will find it."

The meaning of the cross is frequently misunderstood. We see it as a burden but Jesus speaks of it as a release and joy. While we speak of freedoms and cherish them, it is ironic that most of life's real joys come from the burdens. Children are expensive, difficult to train and often the source of fear and frustration. But in the long run, these so-called burdens are a great joy to us.

The church is time-consuming, expensive, demanding and sometimes the source of anger or disappointment. But most of us can attest to the strength and guidance and joy we have received from Christian fellowship in the church. The same can be said of marriage, a meaningful job or just helping a person in distress.

When Jesus calls us to take up our cross, it is not a somber calling to be burdened. It is an invitation to joy, an opportunity to discover that crucifixion is always followed by resurrection and new life.

PRAYER Set free, Lord, from the prison of self into that new life, alive to Thee. Amen.

MARIE RENSON, an exchange student from Belgium, said she was "scared stiff" when she first arrived in this country a year ago. Her letter below tells what happened since then.

Exchange Student from Belgium Recalls Experiences in the Tawas

(Marie Renson, an exchange student from Belgium, who spent the past year living in the Tawas, addressed this letter, dated August 15, to her friends and all residents of the Tawas.)

There are now more than 11 months that I have been here and, unfortunately, I have only about six days left before leaving for Belgium. I want to tell you about the great year I spent here, what I liked and what I did not like (there are not many things).

I remember the first day when I got here—I was at Tri-City Airport. I can say I was scared to death! The language, the country, the customs, everything was new and unknown. But I was quickly comforted by my first family, which was waiting for me and welcomed me in a very friendly manner.

I was an exchange student with the Rotary International and I lived with three different families. First, I lived with Bob, Judy, Melanie, Linda and Bobby Werth for the first three months. I got used to all the American customs and to the language. First, I almost never understood what the people were saying. I answered "yes, yes" to everything and it worked not too badly! I enjoyed Halloween a lot (what a devil's night) and Thanksgiving (what a good turkey) because we do not celebrate them in Belgium.

On December 7, I moved in with my second family, Bob, Kay, Val, Gary and Jenny Williams. With them, I spent a nice Christmas and the last day of the year, I celebrated my birthday. I found Christmas very commercial here. In Belgium, we do not get one hundred presents and we do not decorate so much. I had the chance to go to Florida for two weeks. I was so glad to leave the cold weather and the snow for some days. During all winter, I was freezing and I really do not know how I made it and how I survived!

My trip to Florida was so great! My favorite place was, of course, Disneyworld. I was dreaming to go since a long time. In Belgium, everybody knows about it and wants to go—and I want!

On St. Patrick's Day, I moved in with my third and last family: Wilma, Brenda and Michael Gortcher. Brenda was not there all year because she was an exchange student in Brazil. I spent Easter with them. I even cooked the dessert myself: De la mousses au chocolat. I met the Easter Bunny for the first time; also, for the first time, I went to an American wedding.

Even if it was so hard to leave one family after three months, I think it was a good thing to move because each family does different things and I have a better idea of the American daily life which I think is very relaxing. I mean you really do what you want to do and you do not worry too much about things. I love all my families and friends and I know it will be very hard to say goodbye.

In my family in Belgium, we are three kids. I have an older brother and a younger sister. So this year, it was a great experience to change. Another great adventure and experience was the school. I was a senior at Tawas Area High School. I did many things I never did before: Basketball, volleyball (manager), softball (also manager because I did not know how to play), varsity club and student council. I made many friends and everybody (even the teachers) was so nice to me.

because my parents met everybody with whom I lived. They told me: "You have been lucky to come here and live in Tawas; lucky to have met so many people; lucky to have traveled around the country and to have seen 28 different states, all beautiful and different; lucky for everything."

Finally, I think people from the United States and Belgium are not too different from each other. Our world is so small. But I think the young people enjoy more the life here because more opportunities are given to them—they are spoiled a lot. In Belgium, the adults are more important, but it is getting a little better now.

I would like to express my appreciation to the Tawas Area Rotary Club, which gave me here the best year of my life: to all my American moms and dads, brothers, sisters, grandmas, grandpas, aunts, uncles, to my friends and to the post office, which had a lot of work with all my mail and was so nice to me.

I am sure I will come back sometime and you never know, maybe one day I will be an interpreter or working in an embassy in this country.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL JEANS
"But, mom, everybody wears jeans to school!" This is a common statement that will be heard often as children get ready for school. Buying a good pair of jeans along with other back-to-school clothing is an important consideration for many reasons.

Why Buy Jeans?
Jeans are important to children because they are comfortable and durable. Jeans hold up well during rough and tumble play. Jeans are important, too, because children's friends wear them. For elementary school-age children, dressing as their peers dress helps them identify with peers and gain acceptance.

What to Look For
The price of jeans is rising. Shopping wisely for well constructed, easy-care jeans will save money in the long run. Jeans are usually made of 100 percent cotton or blends of cotton and polyester. Regardless of fiber content, check to see that the fabric is firmly woven or durable. Loosely constructed, lighter weight fabrics will not hold up as well under rough wear.

Examine seams to make sure they are closely and evenly stitched. Seam allowances should be finished to prevent fabric raveling. Flat fell seams are often used. With this finish, seams are sewn twice and completely enclose seam allowances on both the inside and outside of the garment. Double stitching is strong and long lasting. If not flat felled, seams should be overcast to prevent raveling. Look for reinforcements on jeans. Thread bar tacks or rivets at places of stress, such as pocket corners, where belt loops are sewn to waistbands and zipper plackets, will help jeans last longer.

To keep their fit over time, jeans should be shrink resistant. If the label does not say "no shrinkage" or "guaranteed not to shrink more than one to two percent," you cannot be assured the garment will not shrink. However, buying a large size and hoping it will shrink to fit is not a good idea.

Remember to check the permanent care label attached to one of the seams for directions on how to maintain the garment. Follow the care instructions carefully. Jeans are usually washed in warm water. Wash dark colored jeans with other dark clothes; pastel and white jeans with regular wash. Use bleach in the wash cycle only if the jeans are to be bleached. Bleaching is not necessary to make blue jeans fade—this process occurs naturally.

To prepare jeans made of cotton and polyester blends for washing and drying, turn them inside out. This will prevent pills of fiber from forming on the garment face as the fabric moves about within the machine. Also, close zippers and snaps to prevent their rubbing against other garments in the machine.

Tumble dry jeans on medium heat or dryer's permanent press cycle and remove them promptly after the dryer stops. This usually eliminates the need for ironing. If pressing is necessary, a steam iron will do the best job on wrinkled blue jeans.

Kyle Tobin New Coach for Whittemore-Prescott Cards

"This is going to be a show me year," said Kyle Tobin, new coach of the Whittemore-Prescott Area Cardinals, during Thursday morning's workout at the new Cardinal field.

Tobin, who comes from serving under Coach Gary Humphrey at Garden City, a former Tawas boy, knows he has his work cut out for him.

But there is only one way that Whittemore-Prescott's football fortunes can go—and that is up. The Cards had a winless nine-game season in 1977 and Tobin hopes to improve on that record.

Actually, the Cards were not all that bad last year and, with a break or two, last season might have been better. But, in looking forward to the coming season, Tobin is keeping track of the future—he had 32 candidates turn out for the freshman football squad and there are promising prospects for the future.

"We will be using the same basic offense that Humphrey utilized at Garden City and he is one of the most successful coaches in that area," said Tobin. He felt that other schools in the Northeastern Michigan Conference "looked awesome," due mainly to Whittemore-Prescott School's smaller enrollment as compared to most NEM schools, but he is still optimistic about the material on the Cardinal squad.

Whittemore-Prescott opens its season at home on Friday, September 8, playing host to AuGres. Following that game, the Cardinals are to host Hale Eagles on September 15, then play at Ogemaw Heights on September 22. On September 29, the Cardinals are to host the Tawas Braves, followed by a game at Standish-Sterling Central on October 5.

Gladwin plays at Whittemore-Prescott on October 12 during the annual homecoming game, followed by a game at Pinconning on October 19, Alcona there on October 26 and the season ends at Caseville on November 3.

Eagles Are Defending League Champs

Coming off an undefeated league championship season—the only blemish on the record being a loss to the second ranked team in the state—Coach Vern Reed II and his Hale Area Eagles are looking forward to another big gridiron year. The Eagles have 11 letter winners returning from last year's squad which annexed the North Star League crown. Their only loss last year came at the hands of Saginaw St. Peter and Paul, which happened to be one of the top class C squads in the state.

Returning senior letter winners include Gary Wood, guard; Dave Young, end; Rick Barnes, center; Joe Bannister, end; Todd Peters, halfback; Eric Bellville, halfback; Randy Louks, tackle; Daryn Bernard, halfback; Wally Minard, halfback; Bill Pincumbe, end; Jay Clements, end.

The Eagles are to meet Lake City in a scrimmage and are to open the season September 8 when they host Johannesburg-Lewiston, 8:00 p. m.

fect berries from the green ones, sticks and leaves. Berries cleaned in this manner sold for 15 cents a quart, the same as hand cleaned berries—five cents more than the prevailing market price.

"This was a time saver as it was possible for a family to pick many bushels in one day," recalled Kenneth Salisbury of Hale. It is not known if any of these separators are presently in use but, like the cream separator, it was a necessity in its time.

Local dealers printed notices in the Herald as follows: "Highest price paid, in cash, for huckleberries. Before selling, call and see me at the Bay Side Hotel or at Henry Kane's implement store. H. W. Force."—July 11, 1902.

"W. W. Brown of Hale, the old reliable huckleberry buyer, will hold forth at his old stand opposite the depot, Tawas City, again this season."—July 21, 1905.

Another item recorded by the Herald on July 21, 1905, was as follows: "About 40 Indians from Saganing are camped at Sand Lake, engaged in picking huckleberries."

Goodale recalls that a favorite camping spot for huckleberry pickers of Wilber Township was at the four-mile curve on Wilber Road, presently the site of the entrance to Jacques' hunting camp. A dozen or so tents of berry pickers would be pitched there and "Hod" Stockman of Oscoda would drive his horse and wagon out from town each day to buy 30 to 40 bushels of berries.

Besides the danger of forest fires and primitive camping conditions, there were other slight "inconveniences" experienced by early day berry pickers. "Will Wood captured a rattlesnake last week having nine rattles," reported the Iosco County Gazette on July 14, 1881.

Several instances are recorded, too, where people were interrupted during berry picking time by black bears, but no injuries were reported.

Blackberries were also a major crop in Iosco County and one 1881 newspaper account records that pickers had to compete with the now extinct passenger pigeons for whortleberries near Tawas Lake.

Development of pine plantations in the Huron National Forest, coupled with improved means of protection against forest fires, saw an end of large scale huckleberry picking prior to World War I.

Isolated patches of huckleberry brush still attracts pickers each July and the whereabouts of particularly good areas for picking are carefully guarded individual secrets. This is a far cry from the days when entire families would head for the plains areas of Iosco County and pick enough berries to pay their annual property taxes or to help buy a farm.

The forest service recently staged a controlled burn off, Bissonette Road in Oscoda Township for the purpose of improving the Kirtland Warbler habitat. The warblers, if they show up, will have to compete with human eyes next season, which will be watching for a new growth of huckleberry bushes.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for (free meals and milk, or reduced-price meals). In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of income, special education expenses due to mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space of signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added to warn that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of Federal funds, that school officials may, for cause, verify the information in the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable State and criminal statutes.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free or reduced price meals and/or free milk if total family income include welfare payments, unemployment compensation and subsidy benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy Pete Holley, Elementary Principal or Bob McDonald, Secondary Principal will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he or she may make a request either orally or in writing to: Mr. Wayne Case, Superintendent, Hale Area Schools at 728-7661 for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure. Each school and the office of the Superintendent has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by an interested party.
