

Ratified Contract Being Challenged by TA Bus Drivers

A new contract with noncertified employees was accepted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education. However, 13 members of Local 1545 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees say they are challenging voting procedures used by union officers in ratifying the contract by the membership.

The union represents 48 bus drivers, teacher and library aides, some secretaries, crossing guards and cooks. Bus drivers apparently were not happy with salary provisions of the contract, but were outvoted by other members in ratification. The union has been working under the old contract which has expired.

Robert King, a bus driver, said outside the board of education meeting room Monday night that 45 union members voted in the election December 7, but 46 ballots were actually cast. Although ratification of the contract was approved, 24-22, giving a one-vote margin even if one affirmative was thrown out, he questioned election procedures by officers of the local union which would permit the extra ballot.

King and 12 other bus drivers signing a petition challenging the vote claim that the election was not held according to bylaws of the union, although he was unable to contact state union representatives on Monday. He said that the vote actually was to have been held later this week, but was held Thursday without negotiators for either the union or board of education being present.

King said that salary provisions of the new contract for bus drivers were lower than any other school district in the county.

Members of the board of education said they were ratifying the new three-year contract "in good faith" and it was adopted by a four to one roll call. Voting to accept the contract were Trustees Barbara Miller, Clare Herriman, Willard Dillon and Treas. James Russo.

Trustee Robert Curry, who said the proposal was under contention and "I would rather wait and let them work out their problems," voted against acceptance.

Supt. Robert Halle said that the new contract provides for salary increases averaging eight percent, plus improved health insurance, increased holidays, improvement to the hourly rate for extra runs by bus drivers and new sick leave benefits.

Employees are to receive a $20 per month increase for 10 months of employment the first year of the contract, $30 per month the second year and $40 per month the third year.

Employees presently receive two paid holidays per year and that has been upped to three the first year, four during the second year and five for the third year.

Under last year's contract, bus drivers received $2.80 per hour for extra duty runs. Under the new contract, drivers are to receive $3.40 the first year, $3.60 the second year and $3.80 per hour the third year.

All employees are to receive one sick day per month and may accumulate up to 114 days. They are also to receive one personal business day a month.

Milk Price Hiked at Hale Schools

Milk prices paid by students in Hale Area School's lunch program will be increased from five cents to eight cents per carton effective January 2.

This action was taken Monday night by Hale Area Board of Education.

Supt. Wayne Case said the increase reflects an increase in the cost of milk paid by the school, as well as anticipating a future increase in cost.

In other business, the board of education reviewed a report on trip club guidelines presented by Trustee Audrey Kocher and the report was tabled for further discussion in January.

The board of education toured the elementary school to inspect renovation of classrooms there during the past several months. All were impressed with improvements to appearance of the building as well as improved energy saving factors afforded by the project.

The board of education approved formation of a junior high school representative council.

Low bids were accepted for the purchase of two 65-passenger buses. Carpenter Body Company submitted the low bid of $8,749 for each body unit and S. and W. Ford, Oscoda, submitted the low bid of $13,115.23 for each chassis. Each body is to be equipped with an enclosed storage rack at a cost of $125 extra.

Retired Postmaster Died December 8

Funeral services for Richard L. Price, former postmaster of East Tawas, were held Monday, December 11, at Tawas United Methodist Church with the Rev. Kenneth Tausley officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, East Tawas. He expired Friday, December 8, at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey.

He was born September 27, 1908, at Chicago, Illinois, and retired from the postal department in 1969 after serving 32 years. He had a total of 35 years of service with the federal government, having spent three years with the United States Forest Service. He was a member of Baldwin Lodge No. 377, Independent Order of Odd Fellows; Tawas Masonic Lodge No. 274, Free and Accepted Masons; Audie

Johnson Post No. 211, American Legion, and a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn, whom he married in 1932 at East Tawas; a son, Robert of East Tawas; two daughters, Ginger Penman of East Tawas and Patricia Price of Saginaw; five grandchildren.

Questions Use of Public Funds

Approval by Iosco Social Services Board to entertain medical care facility employees at a Christmas party later this week at the Wabun—at public expense—was questioned Monday by Joseph Fox, a member of the county board of commissioners.

Fox said that a review of action of the social services board at its recent meeting indicated that authorization was given to spend up to $5.25 per employee attending the party.

While he has learned that utilization of public funds in such instances was permissible under state law, Fox questioned the advisability during the current financial crunch at the medical care facility.

"The county board of commissioners does not even permit use of public funds to send flowers during the death of a county employee or his family—how can the cost of a Christmas party be justified?" asked Fox.

Roy Bergstrom, facility director, said Tuesday that the $5.25 dinner rate would be paid for each employee attending the party and to those working the evening shift at the facility. He said spouses of employees attending would pay their own way.

Bergstrom said that a Christmas party for employees of the medical care facility had been an annual event for the past 12 years. It was first held on a pot-luck basis at the facility and later at area eating places through funds provided by the social services board.

GYPSUM ROCK is being hauled to the lake loading site of National Gypsum Company in preparation for the final three ships of the season.

Rock is normally shipped to this point via the railroad but a late season demand saw expansion of hauling methods.—Tawas Herald Photo.

TRUCKS AND TRAINS have been working overtime the past two week-ends in order to stockpile gypsum rock for shipment by Great Lakes ore carriers. This truck is leaving the White Rock quarry north of McIvor.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Lake Freighters Battling Bay Ice

A scarcity of Great Lakes ore carriers earlier in the year has caused an extension of the shipping season for National Gypsum Company.

In order for the gypsum company to build up a stockpile of rock to be shipped to its plants on the Great Lakes, crews of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway have been working Saturdays and Sundays during the past two week-ends. In addition, a private contractor has been transporting crushed rock to the loading site south of Tawas City by means of trucks.

One ship was scheduled to have been loaded Tuesday, a second was to arrive Wednesday (today) and the last ship of the season is to arrive on Sunday.

Tuesday's ship was to have arrived here Sunday, but was iced in at Green Bay, Wisconsin. It also experienced icing conditions Monday at Bay City.

The firm had demand enough for eight ships in October, but only four ore carriers were loaded that month at the Charles T. Prescott Dock south of Tawas City due to shipping requirements elsewhere on the Great Lakes.

FINAL SHIP of the season is expected to be loaded at the Charles T. Prescott Dock south of Tawas City on Sunday. A shortage of lake freighters earlier in the season caused a last-minute rush and ships will be battling ice on the Great Lakes.—Tawas Herald Photo.

TA Administrators Get Salary Hikes

Salary increases averaging 7.7 percent for five administrators were adopted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

Prepared by the board's salary committee after four meetings, with input from administrators, Supt. Robert Halle said the schedule was designed "to give minimum raises to administrators and still allow a bonus amount for performance."

He said the 7.7 percent raise for administrators was close to increases received by both certified and noncertified personnel and was close to recommendations of President Carter.

Due to the lateness in the school year, the new contract is for two years.

The superintendent said the new schedule narrows the gap between the lowest and highest paid administrators, that it recognizes the position and responsibility of individual administrators, as well as recognizing the desire and willingness to assume additional responsibilities. He said the schedule was in line with those of other schools of similar size in the region.

The schedule includes an administrative base salary, plus factors for education, experience, length of work year and performance rating. Base salaries paid under the old contract were $17,600 for building principals and $16,500 for assistant principals.

Total salaries paid to administrators under the new formula include: High school principal, $25,643; junior high school principal, $22,800; elementary principal, $22,877; high school assistant principal, $19,008; community education director, $21,620.

The superintendent said the increases ranged from a low of 5.75 percent to a high of 8.62 percent.

Additional Paid Hospitalization Benefit Gets County Commission OK

A four to one roll call vote December 6 saw the addition of paid hospitalization insurance for members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

The commission had adjusted the salary and per diem paid to members prior to the November election, but did not include hospitalization insurance in that schedule.

Compensation paid to commissioners includes a salary of $200 per month for regular members and $250 for the chairman, plus a per diem rate of $23 for one-half day (four hours) and $35 for full day sessions or committee meetings attended. Commissioners also receive 17 cents per mile for travel.

The resolution stated cost of hospitalization insurance could not exceed 15 percent of the combined salary and per diem paid to any commissioner.

Com. John Webb, who abstained from voting, said he felt that the addition of hospitalization insurance was fair, but he felt action should have been taken prior to the general election.

Voting in favor were Com. John McArdle, David George, Joseph Fox and Carlton Merschel.

Commissioner George was appointed as the county's representative to the Trio Council on Aging, replacing Fox, whose term as county commissioner expires December 31.

Rules and regulations for operation of county parks, as adopted by the county parks and recreation commission, were approved.

McArdle was named the interim energy coordinator during the absence of Harold Schmitzke.

Rose Stewart, who is presently on a disability leave of absence from the county clerk's office, is to act as a consultant on bookkeeping procedures in the clerk's office for two hours a day. For this service, the county is to pay her hospitalization insurance cost, which she has been paying during her leave of absence. County Clerk D. Keith Pappas told commissioners that his office was presently understaffed and that her assistance was needed.

John Dye of Oscoda was authorized to act as the agent to coordinate purchase of fixtures and furniture for the county building.

He is to be paid at a rate of 5 1/2 percent of the total cost of purchases.

Three Named to Chamber Director Posts

Three members presently serving on the board of directors of Tawas Area Chamber of Commerce were elected to three year terms by a vote of the membership last week.

Karl Cross was re-elected, while Donald Hayes and William Western, who had been appointed to fill vacancies, were elected to full terms.

Roger Jackson, executive secretary of the chamber, said that ballots were received from 40 percent of the membership.

The nominating committee included Richard Stevens, Ronald Tyler and C. A. Pinkerton III.

Santa Plans Visits

Santa Claus will make his first stop in the area Friday, December 15, at Family Home Furnishings, East Tawas, from 6:00-8:00 p. m.

East Tawas Park Commission and Volunteer Fire Department have made arrangements for Santa Claus to be at the East Tawas Community Building Tuesday evening, December 19, 7-9 o'clock. He is to arrive by fire truck and will have candy for the children who visit him.

First Change Since Reorganization

Board of Education Approves $15 Pay Increase for Meetings

After much discussion over a period of years, members of Tawas Area Board of Education are to receive an increase in the per diem paid for attending regular and special meetings.

When the school district was reorganized 25 years ago, the per diem was established at $5 per meeting attended. At one time, state law prohibited raising the salary of board members and certain other elective officers during their period of office.

As a result, a change in the per diem applied only to new officers coming on the board. Supt. Robert Halle reports that provisions of the law have been amended to permit increasing the per diem rate of all members. As a result, board of education members increased the per diem rate from $5 to $20 per meeting attended effective January 1, 1979.

In other business, the board of education is to continue present school policy of prohibiting smoking on school premises by daytime students.

A petition signed by a number of students was presented to the board of education November 13 asking that a student smoking area be designated.

Until this year, an attorney general's opinion stated that boards of education were prohibited from designating smoking areas in a school building. That opinion has now been revised to permit boards of education to either prohibit all smoking in buildings, or to designate certain smoking areas for adult students or for public gatherings, or to designate areas for minor students. The opinion stated there would be no criminal offense if the school failed to report smoking by minors to police.

The superintendent said that citizens of the district had demanded that the no smoking provision by students be enforced and he recommended that the past policy be reaffirmed. The report received unanimous support of the board of education.

ET Elementary in Concert Dec. 13

Christmas concert by first through fourth grade students of East Tawas Elementary School, under the direction of Daniel Bergh, is slated for Wednesday evening (tonight), December 13, at the Tawas Area High School gymnasium beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Program for the evening includes opening selections of "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," and "Christmas Cards" by the combined group. First graders will sing "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas," "Up on the House-top" and "Oh, Christmas Tree." Students in grade two will present

"Oh, Come Little Children," "Away in a Manger" and "Rocking." Third grade selections will be "We Three Kings," "How Far is it to Bethlehem?" and "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," followed by the fourth grade students with "Wonderful Day," "Deck the Halls" and "Jingle Bells."

Presentation by the papoose choir includes "Caroling, Caroling," "Are You Weary" and "How Can it Be?" Joining voices, the final selections are "Must be Santa," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" and "Silent Night."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Your editorial on conserving energy and who pays for management mistakes is of great concern for all consumers.

When the big utilities directorate misjudges a project, it is not a couple of bucks; it is a hundred-million dollars and we, the consumers, are forced to pick up the tab.

A suggestion for a partial hedge for protection: If your electrical bill averages $37 per month or $444 per year, you should invest your surplus funds in public utility common stock. For example: Consumers Power Company pays $2.24 dividend per share on their common stock. Therefore, buy 200 shares at $23 per share for a price of $4,600 plus $75 brokerage fee and your dividend will pay you $448 which you can use to pay your electrical bill. Save the remaining $4 and buy an attitude adjuster on New Year's Eve.

No need to worry about the dividend payments. If the utility has a short cash position at dividend payment time, all that is necessary is that the company borrow sufficient cash to meet the dividend. However, when the company makes this maneuver, they pay an extremely high rate of interest because of their low corporate qualifying borrowing rating. And this goes right back to your statement in your editorial "Mismanagement of Those Utilities."

Of course, due to inflation, you will need to constantly increase your holdings of common stock to increase your dividend to pay your ever increasing utility bill. And your electrical bill is further increased by the high rate of interest the company is charged to borrow money to meet the expense of doing business and paying dividends. Next, of course, the company declares an increase in the cash dividend and the complicated procedure starts all over again.

Sincerely yours,
John E. Hoshbach

IN THE SERVICE—

Steno Earns Commendation at Wurtsmith

Meritorious service at Wurtsmith Air Force Base has earned the United States Air Force commendation medal for A1C Charles P. Steeno, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Steeno, De Pere, Wisconsin.

Steno, an administration specialist, was presented the medal at Bentwaters, Royal Air Force Station, England, where he now serves with a unit of the United States Air Force in Europe.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of East De Pere High School. His wife, Sheila, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Loll, Tawas City.

Paul H. French Commissioned in Marine Corps

2Lt. Paul H. French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. French, East Tawas, was commissioned in his present rank upon graduation from Officer Candidate School. The 10-week school was conducted at the Marine Corps Development and Education Command in Quantico, Virginia. The course is designed to screen and train personnel for commissioning as United States Marine Corps officers by providing instruction in leadership and basic military subjects and emphasizing esprit de corps and self-discipline. A demanding physical conditioning program complements the students' course of study.

French will now attend the 21-week officer's basic school, also at Quantico.

A 1972 graduate of Tawas Area High School and a 1976 graduate of Northern Michigan University, Marquette, with a bachelor of art degree, he joined the corps in April 1978.

Friend of Court Claims

Commissioners Should Pay for Own Defense

Iosco County's friend of the court, who is suing the county board of commissioners, contends that the prosecuting attorney should be representing the commission at no charge, or the commission should "foot the bill themselves for private counsel."

During a preliminary hearing in district court two weeks ago, the commission was represented by Timothy Weaver, a member of the East Tawas law firm of Weaver and Tyler, which is under contract to provide legal counsel to the commission.

Edward F. Seifert Jr., friend of the court who is suing the commission for not paying his $78.20 claim for mileage, acted as his own legal counsel at the preliminary hearing.

In a letter to the county commission dated December 6, Seifert cited one statute which declared: "It is hereby made the duty of the prosecuting attorney to represent the board of supervisors or board of county auditors in any such appeal, but he shall not receive or be entitled to any additional compensation therefor."

"In all good conscience," said Seifert's letter, "I am assuming that the commissioners, themselves, are footing the bill for the private counsel."

Seifert said he would appreciate a clarification on this "because it was not my intent to place an added expense on the taxpayers to collect the amount in question."

A decision is awaited from Judge Joel Miller of the 82nd District Court of West Branch concerning whether the district court or circuit court has jurisdiction in the matter. Judge J. Richard Ernst of the 81st District Court disqualified himself from hearing the case.

On December 1, Weaver cited a statute which he said placed claims against a county board of commissioners in the circuit court. Seifert had commenced action in district court and the visiting judge said he would rule on the jurisdictional matter December 15.

The friend of the court is an appointive officer of the governor and serves Judge Allan C. Miller of the 23rd Judicial Circuit.

Seifert claims that his attendance at a Kalamazoo conference last July was a legal travel expense; the board of commissioners contend that Seifert and his assistant should have traveled to the conference in the same car, pointing out that Seifert's wife accompanied him on the trip and both stayed at Kalamazoo beyond the date of the conference to visit with his family.

When Atty. Ronald Tyler appeared at a recent commission meeting and was directed to ask for a jury trial, he told reporters he could not estimate the cost of defending the commission in the suit.

Incredible Edible Cut-Outs

Deck the boughs with edible decorations made from a basic confection mixture. Pack wafers into gift boxes. This treasured recipe uses Certo fruit pectin and gives the option of flavoring or tinting the mixture. It's time to get out your cookie cutters!

QUICK CREAMY WAFERS

- 2 pouches liquid fruit pectin*
- 2 pounds confectioners sugar
- 1 pound (about) confectioners sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon peppermint, rum, almond or orange extract (optional)
- 6 drops food coloring (optional)
- * Or use 1 bottle (6 fl. oz.) liquid fruit pectin

Pour fruit pectin into a bowl. Gradually add 2 pounds confectioners sugar, mixing well after each addition. (Mixture will be very stiff.) Divide into four parts; wrap in wax paper or cover with a wet cloth. Use remaining 1 pound (about) confectioners sugar to dust board and rolling pin.

Place one fourth of the mixture at a time on a pastry board, well dusted with sugar. Add flavoring and food coloring, if desired. Knead until smooth, adding sugar to board as needed and lifting with a spatula to prevent sticking. (Any unrolled portion may be wrapped in wax paper or plastic wrap and stored at room temperature overnight.)

Roll out with sugar-dusted rolling pin, about 1/4 inch thick, turning often and dusting with sugar to prevent sticking. Cut with cookie cutters dipped in confectioners sugar. If desired, make a small hole at top of each wafer with a wooden pick. Place, top side down, on wax paper on baking sheets or trays. Press leftover mixture together; knead again until smooth, roll and cut, or shape into small balls. Allow to dry, uncovered, for 24 hours, turning once. Pack wafers in layers between wax paper in a loosely covered box. Makes about 2-3/4 pounds.

Groff-Sandusky Vows Said at Emanuel Lutheran Church

Jacki Lynn Sandusky became the bride of Lyle F. Groff Jr. Saturday, December 9, at Emanuel Lutheran Church, Tawas City. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sandusky of Tawas City. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Groff, also of Tawas City, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. James Rockhoff performed the 5 o'clock double ring ceremony. Attendants for the couple were Mrs. Charles (Sue) Petersen of Caro, sister of the bride, and Charles Groff of Warren, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandusky hosted a dinner party at their home for members of the immediate families following the ceremony.

The couple will reside at 1750 South US-23, Tawas City.

Need Carriers for Dinners to Doors

Volunteers of the local Dinners to Doors program, delivering hot meals to shut-ins, are in need of funds to purchase carriers for the meals. At the present time, eight persons in the Oscoda area are receiving the service and six in Tawas area. The insulated carriers used to deliver warm meals were purchased several years ago and are still in very good condition but with the increase of participants, two extra carriers are necessary to assure delivery of hot meals to each person. Donations may be sent to Ruth McClintock, treasurer, 7219 Loud Drive, Oscoda 48750. Checks are to be made out to Dinners to Doors and are tax deductible. Receipts will be returned to donors.

Meals are delivered every day but Sunday by 60 volunteers in the two areas. To receive the service, call Sophie Roach, 362-2384; Ethel Coppler, 739-5279, or Sandra Wells, 739-2815.

Officers Had Wide Range of Complaints

Complaints investigated during the past week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department ranged from a breaking and entering and larceny to shining deer and careless use of firearms.

Two Oscoda men were arrested December 5 for transporting a firearm while shining deer on Monument Road. A .22 caliber rifle in the possession of Louis M. Crevier, 33, and William A. Crevier, 24, was confiscated by officers.

Robert Glancy, Chambers Road, Tawas City, reported the larceny of a 70-pound compound bow taken from his residence.

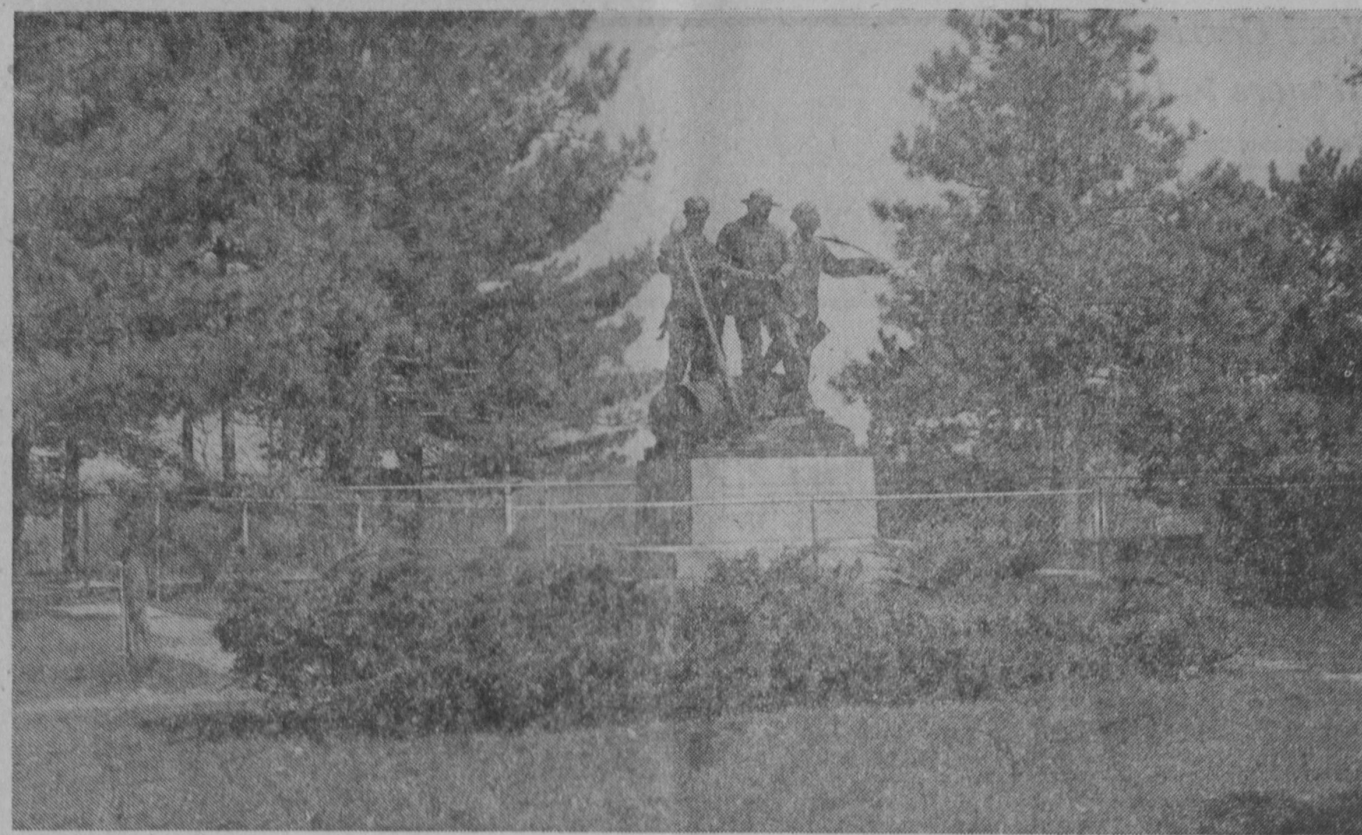

Allen W. Butts, 25, Turner, was charged with careless use of firearms. John McGillis, 18, Turner, told officers he was walking along Britt Road and his dog was struck by a charge of fine shot as a car passed. McGillis identified Butts as the driver, telling officers that the car window was rolled down and that he could see a gun in the car.

David Southard, Warren, reported the breaking and entering of a cabin on Turtle Road.

No warrant has been issued, but an East Tawas resident has been requested by the prosecuting attorney's office to pay $30 to an Alabaster Township property owner for damaging a 25-foot Colorado blue spruce tree.

The property owner, Thomas Schimmel, reported that a 16-foot section of the tree, located in Section 28, had been topped off for a Christmas tree. Officers apprehended a truck carrying a tree and the driver said he cut the tree on property owned by a friend, later stating that the tree had been cut on United States Gypsum Company property.

Officers matched chain saw marks found on the tree in the truck with the remaining portion on Schimmel's property. The driver said he was willing to pay $10 to $12 to Schimmel, but not the $30 which was requested. Schimmel requested prosecution of the matter.

NATIONALLY FAMOUS Lumbermen's Monument in Iosco County has been approved by the United States Forest Service for modernization of facilities. Included will be a new interpretive center emphasizing historic logging techniques used years ago along the AuSable River, new foot trails, expansion of parking and picnic areas.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Modernization of Monument Grounds to Include New Interpretive Center

Approval has been received for implementing a new interpretive theme for Lumbermen's Monument, as well as construction of a visitor center, toilet building, historical displays, trails and other improvements.

vin Norton, Tawas District ranger, and Wayne K. Manor, supervisor of Huron-Mamistee National Forest, the plan was approved by the United States Forest Service.

A representative of the forest service said last week that construction bids on the project are to be taken soon.

Primary theme for this nationally recognized attraction will be the process of transporting logs from streams to mills and life styles of people involved in the lumbering era of the AuSable River.

The visitor center, to be staffed from May through October, is to be large enough to handle about 30 people at one time engaged in viewing exhibits.

The existing structure would be renovated for office space and storage for audio visual equipment. The new visitor center with displays, lobby and toilets will provide about 1,800-square feet of space.

Trails are to be used to move people through the site and demonstrate various phases of early logging techniques, as depicted by bronze figures atop the monument, along with logging folklore. Equipment would be displayed at key points and other forms of displays will be used as well. Paved parking would be provided for 60 to 70 cars at one time.

The complex would be ready for public visits in the summer of 1980 and a staff interpreter would direct a guided tour system.

The entire site of Lumbermen's Monument, visited by about 1,500 to 2,000 people daily during peak months of July and August, would be remodeled to take advantage of a logging history theme. The existing 20-unit campground would be phased out, but a picnic area would be retained.

Fairview Won Big Over Eagles

Hale Area Eagles learned about hustle and defense Friday night in a 70-41 loss to Fairview. The winners have a talented senior squad and should give Mio a run for the money in the North Star League.

The Eagles led at one time during the first quarter, but fell behind, 18-17, at the buzzer. After that it was all Fairview as the winners topped Hale, 18-7, in the second quarter and 23-4 in the third quarter. The Eagles held the upper hand, 13-11, against Fairview reserves in the fourth quarter.

Hale completed only 23 percent of its shots in the second half and averaged slightly better in the first half with 29 percent.

"We tried to run with them, but we just could not work together. I expect the kids will bounce back against AuGres Tuesday night (last night) and when we host Arenac Eastern Friday night," said Coach Nelson Shellenbarger.

Top scorer for the Eagles was Vern Reed III, who had 17 points on eight field goals and a foul shot. Brian Layman topped Fairview with 22 points.

James Blair, director of special education, presented a report to the board of education indicating that 102 special education students were enrolled in the school as of December 1.

He said the program had experienced difficulty in meeting class size requirements at the Tawas City Elementary Unit and high school, having class numbers higher than permitted for emotionally impaired students.

Blair said it was not feasible at this time to hire another teacher and that two aides were hired for the two classes.

Joyce Cuny to Have Art Show

Mrs. Jack (Joyce) Cuny of Tawas City will hold an art show Friday and Saturday, December 15-16, beginning at 10:00 a. m. at Scoot's Small Mall, downtown East Tawas. Featured will be 20 paintings in oil and acrylic, Indian bead work and copies of her book, "For Heaven Sakes." A special feature will be free pencil portraits of children.

Mrs. Cuny received a basic drawing and illustration certificate through Art Instruction School of Minneapolis, Minnesota. She has owned and operated her own free lance studio and has appeared in numerous art shows throughout the state.

Appropriate $12,000 to Meet MC Facility's Dec. 20 Payroll

A $12,000 appropriation to meet an expected year end deficit in the operation of the Isosco Medical Care Facility was approved Wednesday by the Isosco County Board of Commissioners.

Although funds will not be available until December 20, the commission authorized the county treasurer to utilize anti-recessional funds to meet the medical care facility's payroll on that date.

This action came on a three to two roll call of commissioners. Approving the transfer were Com. John McArdle, Carlton Merschel and John Webb; opposing the action were Com. David George and Joseph Fox.

The latest appropriation brings the county's total financial support of the medical care facility operation this year to $67,000. Because state support has not kept pace with increasing cost of operation, Isosco's share is expected to exceed $100,000 next year.

Serious financial complications may result in the county treasury next year to meet this new financial burden. The county will no longer have the cushion of antirecessional money to meet emergencies as those funds have been deleted from the federal budget for 1979.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie warned the county commission and members of the Isosco Department of Social Services Board Wednesday that 42 different departments of the county had to be financed through 4 1/2 mills of property taxes allocated to the general fund. That millage is "locked in" through a vote of the people and taxes gained through an increase in property valuation would only meet inflation.

Nelkie said the county's 1979 budget had a substantial contingency fund, which the commission provided when it became apparent that the county would have to meet the rising cost of medical care facility operation. If that money is not needed to meet other county expenses, the medical care facility deficit could be met, but Nelkie declared there would be no surplus in the county treasury at the end of 1979.

For that reason, the treasurer suggested that the county commission and social services board get together to determine means of reducing expenditures at the medical care facility, as well as determining means of increasing revenue. He suggested that a proposition be placed before the people to meet this revenue need through an increase in the voted tax rate.

This is the last year for a special one-half mill levy voted by the people in 1964 for financing the county's $300,000 share for construction of the medical care facility. The full one-half mill of taxes was never levied, however, because of the annual increase in valuation. To retire the bonds, a levy of only .029 of a mill was necessary on 1978 taxes.

Under the current valuation of the county, a one-mill tax levy raises $227,000 and voters may be asked to "renew" a portion of the 1964 voted levy at some future time to meet the current operational deficit at the facility.

When the idea of a county medical care facility was originated 15 years ago, supporters "sold" the proposition to voters with the understanding that federal and state funds would be sufficient to meet the cost of operation.

State and federal medicare and medicaid reimbursement, however, has not kept pace with the rising cost of operation. Joan Case, chairman of the social services board, pointed out, too, that medicare and eight private care patients occupy one-third of the facility's 64 beds. Any increase in the daily rate would only effect the private pay patients and she said that would be an injustice.

Roy Bergstrom, facility director, said there had been hope that the state would take over 100 percent of the operational cost next year, but he said the latest information is that "the state is only playing games with figures" and the increase, if any, will be small.

Added to the problem of rising operational costs, the medical care facility constantly has a cash flow problem caused by delays in state reimbursements. As of last week, the facility had $78,000 in accounts receivable and expects to collect $72,000 before the end of the year or at least, that is the hope.

Bergstrom said that the facility is averaging 98 percent occupancy of beds, as compared to about 63 percent five years ago.

Commissioner Fox was critical of the fact that the director had projected the need for $54,000 from the county commission in October to meet an operational deficit, while the $12,000 requested Wednesday brought the county's actual contribution to $67,000. Commissioner Webb said, too, that the medical care facility "lost a lot of credibility" because of the differences in anticipated deficits.

Commissioner George criticized the fact that the social services department had approved an eight percent increase in wages to employees, while the county commission had held the line on a six percent increase to other county employees.

He said the increase in pay next year totaling $62,000 represents approximately the deficit which the county commission will be asked to pick up, according to his calculations.

Mrs. Case pointed out, however, that the pay scale at the medical care facility was too low to begin

OPERATING expenses have been increasing while revenue has shown a decrease at the Isosco Medical Care Facility. Beds in the facility have a 98 percent occupancy rate. Bonds sold in 1964 to pay the county's share of the construction are being retired with the 1978 tax levy and voters may be asked to renew a portion of the millage rate to help finance operation. —Tawas Herald Photo.

CONSUMERS APPLIANCE SALES

300 W. Lake Street — TAWAS CITY BEN BREWER Phone 362-6116

"The Lansing correspondent to yesterday's Detroit Free Press says: A so-called local bill passed the house this afternoon that ought to be framed. It provides for the incorporation of the City of Whittemore, Isosco County, the reason assigned being that the people there want to control the highway funds. The town has less than 100 population and one street, so that the First Ward will be on one side of the street and the Second Ward on the other."

The above item reprinted in the February 8, 1907, issue of The Tawas Herald touched off considerable controversy between the west and east sides of Isosco County and serves as a reminder of political maneuvering which took place in the early history of Isosco to control the county board of supervisors.

From its origination in 1857, the eastern shore of Isosco "controlled" county government by virtue of the fact that the first settlements were clustered along Lake Huron. Originally, the county was comprised of two townships—Tawas and AuSable—but as the interior began to fill in with settlers, territory was sliced off the first two units to form new townships, each with one representative on the county board of supervisors.

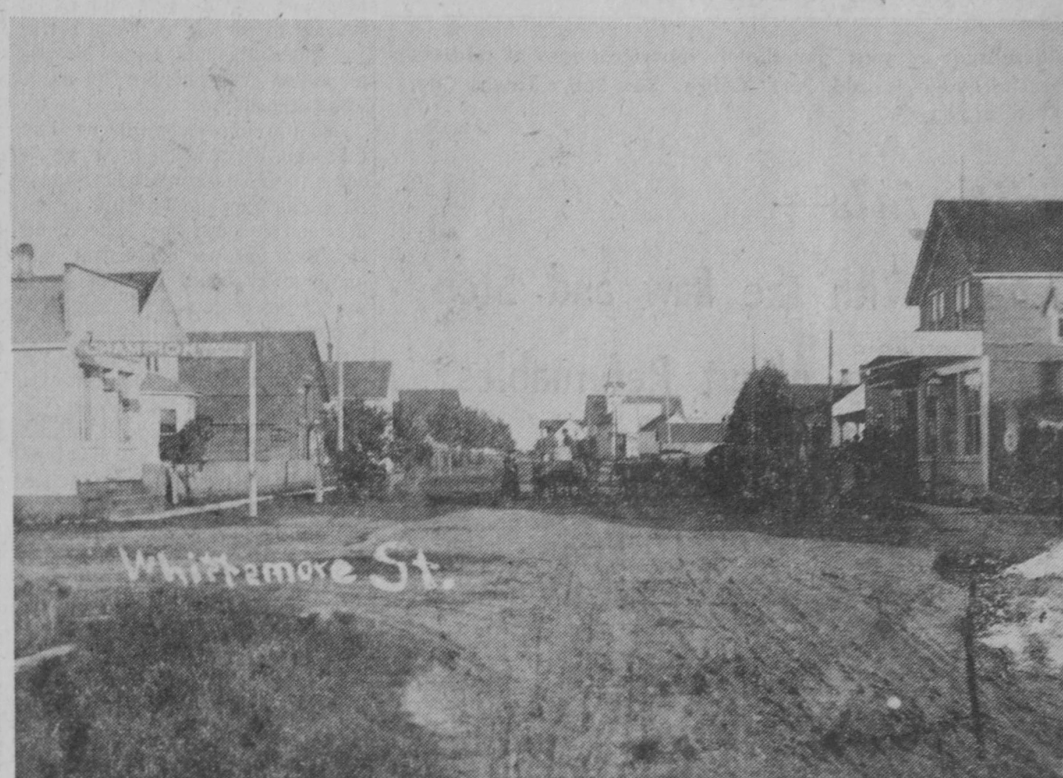

Rapid growth of shore settlements saw incorporation of the Village of AuSable in 1872, followed by incorporation of the Village of Tawas City in 1895 and the Village of East Tawas in 1887.

Those incorporated villages were entitled to one seat on the county board of supervisors and political matters moved along smoothly until 1889, when AuSable incorporated as a city. This action gave AuSable City five members on the board of supervisors, which included the mayor, three aldermen and the city attorney, membership of the latter being a rather unique quirk in AuSable's city charter.

Not wishing to be out-voted on the board of supervisors from their neighbors to the northeast, Tawas City incorporated as a city in 1895 with three elected ward supervisors serving on the county board of supervisors. East Tawas followed suit that same year, its charter providing that the mayor and three senior ward aldermen serve on the board of supervisors.

After incorporation, these three cities had a total membership of 12 on the board of supervisors, as compared to 10 for the remaining townships of the county. Isosco had a total population of 15,224 persons in 1890, with 8,072 residing in the three cities—4,328 at AuSable, 1,544 in Tawas City and 2,200 at East Tawas.

Because of sectional interests, the three cities seldom voted as a block on issues coming before the governing board of the county and various combinations of city-township supervisors would be the result on important questions.

By 1900, the population of Isosco County had undergone a tremendous change. The decline of the lumbering and fishing industries saw the shore towns losing heavily in population as families followed the bread winners to new jobs in adjacent timber producing states. At the turn of the century, the three cities had a total population of 4,080 out of the county population of 10,246—AuSable dropped from 4,328 to 1,116, East Tawas' population dropped from 2,200 to 1,736 and Tawas City's population of 1,544 in 1890 withered to 1,228 persons by 1900.

Every inland township of the county gained in population as many of the former mill hands of the shore towns turned to the soil to make a living and established farms. Alabaster's population increased from 372 in 1890 to 464 in 1900. Baldwin Township grew from 285 in 1890 to 349 at the turn of the century, Burleigh jumped from 179 to 287, Plainfield increased from 200 persons to 330, Reno showed a slight increase from 358 to 364 and Sherman grew from 168 residents to 288.

Oscoda Township, which included the sawmills in the unincorporated Village of Oscoda, was a heavy loser, its population dropping from 3,848 in 1890 to 1,349 in 1900. The only other township showing a loss was Wilber, dropping from 299 in 1890 to 268 in 1900.

As shown by the foregoing comparisons, the inland townships enjoyed a population growth at the expense of the older shore towns; political influence wielded on the county board of supervisors remained unchanged, however, as the cities still commanded 12 votes to 10 by the townships.

Burleigh Township had shown the most rapid growth of any political subdivision of the county during the 10-year period and, although Whittemore was never incorporated as a village, town fathers decided to strengthen the "political clout" of southwestern Isosco County by incorporating as a city in 1907.

Whittemore, named for James O. Whittemore, son of the county's founder and holder of many different public offices, was a station on the Detroit, Bay City and Alpena Railroad's main line and later a station on the Prescott Division of the succeeding line, the Detroit and Mackinac Railway; it was the center of a promising agricultural section and the trading place for a large district. The community boasted of a saw and planing mill, stores for the sale of agricultural implements, several general stores and a sprinkling of residential dwellings.

On February 8, 1907, accompanying the report printed by the Detroit Free Press, The Tawas Herald made the following observation:

"Senator Carton has introduced a bill in the senate to incorporate Whittemore as a fourth-class city. Now if Hale, Emery Junction, McIvor, Taft and Alabaster will get in line, Isosco County will be a county of cities. Of course, the effect is to secure a larger representation on the board of supervisors, which is now comprised of 22 members. A reform which would be in the best interest of the people would be a bill which would cut the present board to about one-half its membership."

This comment naturally drew some irate protests from the Whittemore area, but Herald editor, Len Patterson, pointed out that "so far as wishing to do that place or the people there any injury, it would be the last thing to enter our minds."

Patterson editorialized the practice of incorporating small towns as cities "was a bad one, and we believe that nowhere is this better demonstrated than in Isosco County. The last census gives the county a population of 10,540 and in 1904, the entire vote of the county was 1,977, yet we have a board of supervisors comprised of 22 members. There are but few counties in the state that have larger boards, or even so large. There is no justice as to what the supervisors represent in valuation, as the man whose assessment district is equalized at $200,000 has no more power than the one who represents a district valued at $5,000."

In urging reduction of the board of supervisors by one-half its membership, the editor pointed out that such a move would be a real reform in the interest of the taxpayers. "It is reasonable to believe that not only would half the expense be saved, but that the business of the county would be equally as well looked after and possibly even better than now."

"If Whittemore is to reap any strictly local advantage by incorporation, there is no one who will be more pleased to see them than ourselves," said the Herald editor. "We only hope that she may grow and prosper until she would be entitled to incorporation without a special act of the legislature, yet we are firmly of the opinion that no town should be allowed to incorporate that cannot do so under the general act which requires a population of not less than 3,000 inhabitants. Also, that Isosco County would be benefited if all city incorporations, insofar as they affect the board of supervisors, at least, be reduced to not more than one member."

Residents of the unincorporated portion of Burleigh Township sided with the Herald editor's opinion, judging from the following note in Burleigh Buzzings: "At its meeting last Friday, Whittemore Grange voted to subscribe to The Tawas Herald and to have it read for the good of the order. The Grange is in a prosperous condition with a membership of 40 and several can-

Comply With the Law and Stop the Whining About Returnables

This corner is getting a little tired of the whining beer industry, the marketing groups and now even the truck drivers, who have gone on strike from their jobs of peddling amber suds around this state, all in protest to Michigan's new law requiring a deposit on beverage containers.

The whiners are ignoring the fact that THE PEOPLE of the State of Michigan ordained the new law through a constitutional amendment. Compliance with the law is mandatory and for good reason; THE PEOPLE got sick and tired of seeing the countryside littered with empty throw away beverage containers.

THE PEOPLE mandated that, henceforth, beverage containers shall be returnable through a deposit charged for those bottles and cans and to heck with the increased cost—the public will be paying for it.

The dispensers of brew and pop are doing everything in their power to make this new law obnoxious to the public, even requiring that cans and bottles, upon which people have paid deposits, must be returned in their original cardboard or plastic container, that cans cannot be dented, that brands must match, or that paper labels may not be torn on bottles.

That is not what the state law says, according to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, but the brew and pop dispensers are ignoring this. The majority of THE PEOPLE of the State of Michigan ordained this new law and the state legislature, if necessary, should take immediate steps to enforce compliance with it.

It is not too long ago and in the memory of most when it was common to see people walking along the roadside picking up beer and pop bottles upon which deposits had been paid by the original purchaser. That deposit, if the container is not returned for a refund, stays in the manufacturer's pocket, although the state is currently disputing this.

This corner thinks it is time to stop the whining about a new law enacted by the people through the constitutional amendment process.

Old 'John D.' Was A Piker

Old John D. Rockefeller must be rolling in his grave—he was born 75 years too soon. Vilified in the early 1900s as the archetype manipulator of railroad rebate schemes to swindle the public with his Standard Oil Company, "John D." was a piker compared with today's breed of petroleum price manipulators.

An example of this was shown a week ago when Shell Oil Company suddenly announced a change in policy which would ration gasoline to its service stations across the country. Because of a "shortage," Shell's management said its dealers would have to get by on a 25 percent reduction in supply.

This was a blatant subterfuge to saddle the public with another increase in gasoline prices, or at least to prepare the public for price hikes in the near future.

There can be no doubt in anyone's mind that this country is at the mercy of oil producing nations, that our balance of trade is out of line with other countries and the dollar has shrunk in value because of the need for importing petroleum; but it is also quite evident that American oil companies are taking advantage of the situation. Investigation by a congressional committee points out that the petroleum picture is not quite what it is being painted by the oil companies and that the country is becoming unhinged by oil corporation actions; and despite the "shortage," this country is still exporting petroleum.

It is reminiscent of the day less than 10 years ago when the Detroit area was engaged in a giant gasoline price war. The major producers told the small independent operators to get their prices in line or their supply would be dried up. Gasoline prices took an immediate jump throughout the state.

Governmental controls on the price of petroleum and gasoline are not effective because of corporate greed and political influence. Because of the fact that this country runs on wheels and petroleum is so essential to individual products and our way of life, perhaps now is the time for congress to nationalize and take absolute control of the industry; at least, that is what many responsible people believe should be considered today.

(Read John 7:37-44)
 "If any man thirst, let him come unto Me, and drink." (John 7:37)

A tired and weary salesman stood before a water fountain in the lobby of a fashionable hotel. The sign over the water fountain said, "Stoop and drink." But he could find no place to turn on the water. There was no button to push, no handle and nothing to step on. But finally, looking around to make certain no one was watching, he dared to do just what the sign said. As he stooped to drink, a photoelectric cell caused the cold, refreshing water to flow across his lips; his thirst was quenched.

God's promises come to us like that sign. We read them but we do not always understand how anything can happen. We want to understand first and then believe and act. But then we make up our minds to try it and see. And lo, it works! The waters of blessing flow into our lives.

One of the first discoveries we make is a realization of what we have been missing for so long. We must first stoop. The proud will die of thirst. The waters will not flow into lives too proud to stoop or too busy to worship or too greedy to share. But when we stoop, we drink.

PRAYER
 Our Father, thank You for Your grace so freely given when we respond in obedience to Your will. In Christ's name. Amen.

 SELECTING THAT PERFECT TREE

There are three quick tests to use in determining the freshness of a cut tree: The needles dry out first near the trunk on the bottom two-thirds of the tree. If the needles are faded or appear whitish, the tree has started to dry out; take hold of a few needles, bend them at a right or 90 degree angle, then pull with a steady pressure. Dry needles will break, fresh needles will be pulled off the twig; lift the tree at least 16 inches off the ground and let it drop back to the frozen ground or other hard surface. If many green needles fall off the tree, it is already getting dry.

The needles at the branch tips or on the upper third of the tree dry out last so do not test there. If, on the other hand, the tests there show dryness, the tree should not be considered for purchase.

Most people recommend storing the tree in a cool place with the stem in water. Setting up the tree is slowed down considerably if a block of ice must be chipped off the bottom of the stem. If the storage area temperature goes below freezing, skip the water.

Before setting up the tree, saw off the bottom inch of the trunk. This will help the tree take up water. Try not to set up the tree near heat sources such as furnace vents and television sets. Get the tree as far away as possible from the fireplace and keep candles as far away from the tree as possible. Check light cords for frayed spots. Keep the tree watered! This is important. A tree can use up more than a quart of water per day. Always keep the tree supplied with water.

REGULAR MEETING—TAWAS CITY COUNCIL
November 20, 1978

Meeting called to order at 7:30 PM at City Hall by Mayor Cholger. Present: Lansky, Hayes, Keiser, Cotter, Landon, Rollin, Cholger. Others: ACM McCready.

Minutes of November 6 meeting approved.

Water Board November 8 minutes accepted, after correction of Sixth Avenue opening to read from First Street to North Street.

Planning Commission November 9 minutes accepted. Bud St. James explained possibilities for funding, and motion by Rollin seconded by Lansky, that Parks & Recreation Board proceed with application for LWCF 50% and UGL 30% funding for rivermouth development, carried.

Cemetery Board November 14 minutes accepted.

Jack Coyle requested Council act to make easement to Bay along Townline Road more accessible, suggesting a stairway approach to the beach. He was assured Council would consider the matter in the spring.

This date set for Public Hearing on request of Baylock Manufacturing Corporation that its property commonly known as 620 Ninth Avenue be designated an Industrial Development District, publication and certified mailing duly completed and opportunity afforded for any citizen or taxpayer of the City to be heard. Resolution offered by Cholger, supported by Landon, designating Industrial Development District No. Six; roll call vote: unanimous yes. (Full text of Resolution on file in City Hall.)

Consensus was that Lubaway building not be insured, although City materials stored there should be covered.

Motion by Cotter seconded by Landon that bills totaling $3617.67 as listed on Claim Sheet 11-20-78 be paid; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

ACM reported receiving 13 applications for City Manager position; Councilmen may inspect the applications.

didates to be received at the next meeting. It meets at the residence of Adolph Cataline."

Politics came swiftly to the City of Whittemore and a city convention on March 18, 1907, named the following candidates: N. J. McColl, mayor; Edward Williams, clerk; Albert Blumenau, treasurer; Eli Dutton, assessor; John W. Curtis and Dutton, justices of the peace; Ambrose Warner, two-year alderman, and A. H. Wiltzie, one-year alderman, First Ward; Emery Pinder, First Ward constable; Joseph Goupil, two-year alderman, and O. S. Hitchcock, one-year alderman, Second Ward; Hub Van-Norstrum, constable.

"The citizens' city convention proved a lively affair and was attended by about 45 voters. With some warm debates engaged in, everything turned out very satisfactorily," reported the Herald.

A further note in the Herald's Whittemore news column stated: "It is hoped that the city fathers will speedily proceed to erect some kind of a lockup where the warlike elements of this place can be enclosed, until they have time to cool off." Whittemore, indeed, was growing to city status.

The new City of Whittemore cast 51 votes at its first election in the spring of 1907. On the state tickets, there were 40 Republican and seven Democrat votes. The above named candidates were elected to city office without opposition.

The first ordinance enacted by the Whittemore City Council prohibited livestock from running at large within the city limits. A news item in the Herald also noted that work on the new Whittemore school building was progressing rapidly.

The City of Whittemore expanded rapidly with new businesses opening along its main thoroughfare. Some of the firm names mentioned in the Herald included T. J. Spooner, funeral director; L. A. Chichester, fire insurance; C. H. Dillenbeck, funeral director; Leslie Brothers, sawmill; W. S. Hall, potato contractor; E. Louks, wagons and buggies; Albert Blumenau, Blumenau's Big Department Store; Jackson and Company, groceries; Dr. H. McColl, general physician; Schroyer and Wismer, buggies; John Huford, veterinary surgeon; Michigan Cereal Company, elevator and beanery.

The area surrounding the new city prospered, too, and the May 31, 1907, issue of the Herald noted the fact that 23 double-decker railroad cars containing over 8,000 sheep for the Logan Ranch had been unloaded at nearby Mills Station.

Despite a business and population boom, southwestern Isosco County only gained one additional member on the board of supervisors. An amendment to the fourth-class city act provided that only the mayor was eligible to serve on the county's governing body and Mayor McColl was seated officially on April 30, 1907.

Mayor George Sutherland of AuSable City was re-elected chairman that year and P. J. Hottos of Burleigh Township was elected chairman pro tem.

The eastern side of the county continued to dominate county politics until AuSable City and Oscoda were wiped out by the fire of 1911; AuSable City's charter was vacated and that area reverted to its township status. On paper, townships then held the political upper hand in Isosco County, but votes on controversial matters were often fragmented by various combinations of townships and cities.

Editor Patterson never achieved his often declared desire to have one representative from each political unit comprise the board of supervisors, but the one-man, one-vote edict of the supreme court made a radical change 60 years later when new county commissions were reappointed.

County government is now administered by a five-member board, which has eliminated sectionalism to a great degree, but not in all instances.

Whittemore is still a city and takes its politics seriously; it has had its up and downs, population and businesswise, since 1907, but the farmland surrounding the tiny community is still the best in the county and is a major contributor to that area's economy.

with as employees at the hospital with equivalent jobs were receiving more money. She said the budget was based on 69.2 employees, with 24-hour daily operation in the nursing department and 12 hours of daily operation in the dietary department. Although 92 persons are actually employed today, this represents an equivalent of 69.2 employees in the daily operation, the same as five years ago.

The opinion was expressed by Bergstrom that the facility was not overstaffed. He said there were too many "unknown quantities" in financing operation of the facility.

Mrs. Case cited instances where other counties of the state were appropriating much more money than Isosco to operation of medical care facilities. Sanilac County appropriates $97,000 annually toward its 62-bed facility, the 64-bed facility at St. Joseph receives $128,000 annually from the county and a 77-bed facility at Mason receives $155,000 annually from the county.

Commissioner George said that Isosco County has the second lowest millage rate for any county in the state, despite the fact that the county contains thousands of acres of public land which is not taxable. He said the county would soon be entering into a new contract with the state for operation of a transit system to enable older citizens to remain in their own homes, rather than in nursing homes, which he preferred.

Mrs. Case said the social services board would be revamping its 1979 budget in order to live within its income. "We will operate the facility with the money we have and it may mean a cut in services, but not in nursing," she said.

Mrs. Case said the budget would be presented December 20 to the board of commissioners for its consideration.

Chairman Merschel of the county commission stated he regretted the fact that the social services board had to come before the commission to ask for money. "Something should have been done about the problem a long time ago," he stated. He commended the board members for their dedicated service.

Commissioner McArdle said he felt the county was obligated to pay the $12,000 to meet the 1978 deficit and Webb supported his motion to pay that amount.

Forest Service Seeks Public Comments on Land-Resources

United States Forest Service is seeking public comments on its newly proposed regulations to be used in the land and resource management planning for the national forests. The proposed regulations, required by the National Forest Management Act of 1976, were issued in the Federal Register, Volume 43, No. 170, dated August 31.

Wayne Allen, forest planner, stated that, although the current planning process being used on the Huron-Manistee National Forests is somewhat different than that proposed in the regulations, the projected completion date for a detailed land and resource management plan is the same.

Public involvement in the planning is a very important part of achieving a management plan that will serve the needs of people for recreation opportunities, wood products, oil and gas, etc. Copies of the proposed regulations are available in most larger public libraries and also may be reviewed at the offices of the Huron-Manistee National Forests located in Cadillac, Manistee, Baldwin, White Cloud, Mio, Harrisville and East Tawas.

Public comment regarding the proposed regulations is welcome prior to December 16. Comments should be sent to: Chief, Forest Service, USDA, Post Office Box 2417, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Tawas Choruses Schedule Concert Sunday, Dec. 17

Tawas Junior and Senior High School Choruses, under the direction of Daniel Bergh and accompanied by Miss Robyn Erickson and Mrs. Elva Little, will present a Christmas concert, "Sing a Song of Merry Christmas," at 8:00 p. m. Sunday, December 17, in the high school gymnasium.

The junior chorus will perform "Noel, Noel a Boy is Born," "Sleep, Little Jesus," "Song of the Littlest Angel," "Listen to the Music," "Simple Holiday Joys," "Christmas is for Kids," "I Love Christmas," "Jose, The Temporary Reindeer" and "Let's Have Christmas Here Tonight."

The senior chorus will present "A Seasonal Round," "The Christ Child Sleeps," "Christmas Lullaby of Joy," "How Can It Be," "Sing a Song of Merry Christmas," "Come, Come to Bethlehem," "Fruitcake" and "Mistletoe and Love."

The community is cordially invited to this concert for which there will be no charge. Refreshments will be served.

DARLA TOSKA, 17-year-old Tawas Area High School senior, left Tuesday for Rochester, Minnesota, where she will undergo hip surgery Wednesday at Mayo Clinic. Born with a hip deformity and hospitalized almost continuously since March, she has had three surgeries since then and began her latest treatment in September when she and her mother were flown to Minnesota. Tawas United Methodist Youth collected $4,300 in September to assist in paying the cost of her treatment and she received a check Sunday for $1,534.69 from Richard MacKenzie, owner of Coyle's Restaurant in Tawas City. The restaurant donated receipts from breakfast beverages from late September to December 10. Darla stands second from left and her mother is at left. Purpose of the poster child is to help the public understand how blood is used after it is voluntarily donated. Flint Red Cross Blood Services collects, processes and distributes over 52,000 units of blood annually to 37 participating hospitals of its region. Sondra was one of the recipients in 1974 when, during open-heart surgery, she received six pints of blood.

TA Bravettes Had Super Win Season

The 1978 basketball season ended Thursday night at Cadillac for the girls basketball team of Tawas Area High School, but the Bravettes had an outstanding season by representing class B schools of this district at the regional basketball tournament.

Manistee sidelined the Bravettes, 75-62, as the Bravettes could not overcome a first quarter cold streak. Tawas just had too many turnovers and Manistee took an 18-10 lead at the end of the quarter.

By intermission, Manistee was leading, 31-24, and the score was 50-35 after three periods. Tawas outscored the winner, 27-25, in the final eight minutes.

A pair of guards combined to score 55 points for Manistee, paced by Lee Ann Huffman's 29 points and Leah Alda's 26 points.

Karl Allen meshed 24 points and pulled down 19 rebounds for another outstanding effort for the Bravettes. Meg Peterson hooped 14 points and Lori Gracik had 13 rebounds.

The Bravette team, champion of the Northeastern Michigan Conference, won the district championship the previous week at Ogemaw Heights. Undeclared in 10 conference games, the Bravettes ended the season with an 18-6 record.

DAR Good Citizen at W-P School

John Franklin has been named the 1978-79 DAR Good Citizen of Whittemore-Prescott Area High School. The award is sponsored by the River Aux Sables Chapter of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Franklin was chosen by the high school faculty after being nominated as one of three candidates by the senior class. The qualities of good citizenship upon which the selection was made are dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

John has served on the student council for three years and currently is president. He has also been active in Future Farmers of America for two years, a member of the debate team for three years and a member of the yearbook staff for two years. He received a class citizenship award as a sophomore and was Whittemore-Prescott's 1978 representative to Boy's State at Michigan State University.

Athletically, he has participated in cross-country one year, basketball two years and tennis three years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin of Prescott, John plans to pursue his interest in the field of education following his graduation in June.

| 3 tablespoons margarine   | ½ teaspoon baking soda    |
| ¾ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar                                  | ¾ teaspoon salt           |

Put orange rind and juice into food processor containers. Cover and process until rind is finely chopped. Add egg, margarine, sugar and nuts. Cover and process just until nuts are chopped. Add flour and remaining ingredients. Mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 55 minutes to 1 hour or until done. Makes 1 loaf.

Holiday Banana Bread

- |                            |   |
|----------------------------|---|
| 1¼ cups all-purpose flour  | 2 slightly beaten eggs                      |
| 2¼ teaspoons baking powder | 1 cup mashed bananas (3 to 4) fully ripened |
| ½ teaspoon salt            | 1 cup mixed candied fruits and peels        |
| ½ cup chopped nuts         | ¼ cup raisins                               |
| ½ cup margarine            |   |
| ¾ cups sugar               |   |

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add nuts and blend. Place margarine in mixing bowl and beat until creamy and glossy, about 2 minutes at medium speed on electric mixer. Gradually add sugar to margarine, beating until light and fluffy after each addition. Add eggs and beat until thick and pale lemon in color. Add flour mixture and bananas alternately, blending thoroughly after each addition. Fold in fruits and peels and raisins.

Grease bottom only of the loaf pan. Turn batter into pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 60 to 70 minutes or until bread is done.

Let bread partially cool in pan before turning out onto rack. Cool thoroughly before wrapping for storage.

Banana Sour Cream Loaf

- |                           |                          |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|
| ¾ cup margarine           | 1 teaspoon baking powder |
| 1½ cups sugar             | 1 teaspoon baking soda   |
| 2 eggs                    | ½ teaspoon salt          |
| 1½ cups mashed banana     | ½ cup dairy sour cream   |
| 2¼ cups all-purpose flour | 1 cup chopped nuts       |

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and bananas and beat until well blended. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add alternately with sour cream to banana mixture, stirring just to blend. Stir in walnuts.

Spoon batter into a 9x5x2¼-inch loaf pan which has been greased and floured on the bottom only. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until done. Let stand in pan on rack for 20 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool thoroughly. Wrap in plastic wrap. Loaf is improved if allowed to stand overnight before cutting. It will store in the refrigerator for several weeks, or can be frozen and stored in freezer for about 2 months.

- Banana Glaze: 1 cup mashed banana
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine banana and sugar in small saucepan and bring to a boil. Cook over low heat, stirring, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. While still warm push through strainer. Cool and use as a glaze on Banana Sour Cream Bread or other fruit breads. Store in refrigerator.

Cheese Cranberry Bread

- |                                    |                                   |
|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2 cups fresh or frozen cranberries | 1 cup milk                        |
| 2 cups flour                       | 1 egg, slightly beaten            |
| 1 tablespoon baking powder         | Grated rind of 1 orange           |
| 1 tablespoon salt                  | ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine, melted |
| 1 cup sugar                        | 1½ cups shredded Cheddar Cheese   |
| ½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts     |                                   |

Halve cranberries; set aside. Combine flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add cranberries and walnuts to dry ingredients, coating well. Combine milk, egg, orange rind and melted margarine; add to dry ingredients along with shredded cheese. Stir only to moisten ingredients. Pour into loaf pan and spread evenly, making corners and sides slightly higher than center. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees or until done. Turn out of pan to cool. Bread slices more easily if stored overnight.

Raisin Nut Loaf

- |                                 |   |
|---------------------------------|---|
| 1 cup raisins                   | 1 teaspoon baking powder                          |
| 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour | 1 teaspoon cinnamon                               |
| ½ cup sugar                     | ½ cup chopped nuts                                |
| 1 teaspoon salt                 | 1 egg   |
| 1 teaspoon soda                 | 1 cup sour milk or 3 tablespoons melted margarine |

Sift together flour, sugar, salt, soda, baking powder and cinnamon. Stir in raisins and nuts. Beat egg lightly and mix with sour milk and margarine. Stir into dry ingredients mixing only until all of flour is moistened. Turn into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Allow to cool 5 to 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

Cheese 'n Bacon Loaf

- |                                   |                                |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 egg                             | ¾ cup grated cheddar cheese    |
| 1 cup milk                        | 6 strips crisp bacon, crumbled |
| 1 tablespoon instant minced onion | ¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts |
| Dash liquid hot pepper sauce      |                                |
| 3 cups biscuit mix                |                                |

Beat egg lightly. Add milk, onion and liquid hot pepper sauce; set aside. Combine biscuit mix and cheese. Add to first mixture, and mix to a stiff dough. Stir in bacon and walnuts. Turn into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 50 minutes or until done. Let stand five minutes, then turn out onto wire rack to cool. Makes 1 loaf.

Peach Bread

- |                        |                           |
|------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 cup dried peaches    | 2½ cups all-purpose flour |
| ¾ cup chopped walnuts  | 3 teaspoons baking powder |
| ¼ cup margarine        | 1 teaspoon salt           |
| ½ cup granulated sugar | 1 cup half and half cream |
| 1 egg                  |                           |

Cut peaches into small pieces with kitchen scissors. It is not necessary to soak them first. Chop walnuts. Cream margarine, sugar and egg together. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together; add to creamed mixture alternately with cream. Stir in walnuts and peaches. Turn into greased 9½ x 5½ x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 50 to 55 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Makes one loaf (whole milk may be substituted for cream; increase margarine by 2 tablespoons.)

WATCH OUT!

you may get coal at Christmas

by Eileen Ehnert

Saint Nicholas and Santa Claus weren't synonymous when I was a child. St. Nick came on December 5th and Santa came on Christmas Eve. If we received candy from St. Nick, it was an indication that up until then our behavior was acceptable.

We'd put dishes on the dining room table in anticipation of St. Nick's visit. If the dish was filled, you had it made; if empty, you were in real trouble. Clearly labeling each dish with our names was a precaution against getting the wrong dish. If my brother hadn't behaved and only received half a dishful of candy, I wanted to be absolutely certain it was HIS and not mine.

One year this strategy really paid off. My brother was at the age where he maintained Santa and St. Nick were a myth perpetrated by our parents. To prove it, the night before St. Nick was to come, he selected Mother's largest mixing bowl and left it, clearly labeled, next to my modest cereal dish.

Aghast at his daring, I couldn't wait to see what would happen and rushed into the dining room the following morning. My belief was strengthened when I saw my smaller dish heaped with goodies while his huge bowl was buried beneath a pile of coal. His cocky assurance shaken and clutching at straws, my brother accused my parents of trying to teach him a lesson. Mother calmly denied it, telling him we didn't use the type of coal which he had received.

Dashing into the basement, my brother brought up a bucket of coal for comparison. He almost panicked when he saw that the bucketful was all different sizes of large, squarish lumps and the mixing bowl of coal looked like small black pillows, evenly sized. His insistence that it was a trick didn't convince me and I'm sure he wasn't that certain himself since for the next twenty days his behavior was so exemplary as to be nauseous. He suddenly began making his bed before he went to school and Mom barely had to mention the sidewalk needed shoveling and it was done. It must have been an awfully hard, worrisome month for him.

Only when I was older did I find out Dad had borrowed some briquets from a neighbor for his little lesson in greed.

When I reached the age of doubt, I handled the situation in an entirely different way. I didn't bother with St. Nick. I went to the main source of supply, Santa.

One morning, about a week before Christmas, we'd wake up to find the sliding doors in our living room were closed and locked. This meant Santa and his brownies were beginning to work on the Christmas tree and would accept letters.

These letters, filled with requests for specific presents, were slipped half way under the door. If the letters were gone in the morning, it meant that at least a brownie had been present and would see to it Santa received the list.

Quite cleverly, I thought, I put the Sears catalog in front of the doors with a note which read: 'Bring me everything on pages 2 through 105 and pages 610 through 1050. Oh yes, and page 1295 has some pretty neat stuff too.'

The following morning I was dismayed to see not only the catalog and letter were still there but a typewritten note had been left. It bluntly told me that anyone greedy wouldn't get anything.

I quickly composed a long letter claiming I was only kidding but I didn't receive a reply. Really sweating it out, I left notes, night after night, all with the basic theme of: 'Come on, can't you take a joke? Where's your sense of humor?' But they were all refused. You can't imagine my relief, when the morning of Christmas Eve, I received a note, telling me he had finally forgiven me, but only because I had repented and had been such a good girl.

The problems involved with Santa and Christmas never were easy ones and maybe I should be glad they are over. But, somehow, when December arrives I wish I had all those problems to look forward to again.

◆ Candy ◆

A Christmas Tradition

by Sherry Onken

◆ Seafoam ◆

1½ cups walnuts
3 cups light brown sugar (packed)
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon light corn syrup

2 egg whites, unbeaten
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla (or, 1 teaspoon maple flavoring)

Chop walnuts. Stir brown sugar, water and corn syrup together in a heavy, deep saucepan; scrape down sides. Cover and bring to a boil. Remove cover and boil to 240 degrees F. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff, beginning just before syrup reaches 240 degrees F. Measure out ¾ cup syrup; return remainder to the range and continue cooking. Pour measured syrup slowly over beaten egg whites, continuing to beat at medium speed until all syrup is used. Let beater run until remaining syrup reaches 256 degrees F. Remove from heat and beat into first mixture at high speed. Add vanilla or other flavorings and continue beating until mixture begins to climb beaters and lose its gloss. Stir in walnuts. Immediately drop from a teaspoon into mounds on lightly greased shallow pan or turn into a 9-inch square pan. Let stand until firm. Makes about 40 pieces.

◆ Tutti Sweets ◆

30 caramels
½ cup water
¾ cup all-purpose flour
¾ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
¾ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar

2 tablespoons margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely broken peanut brittle
1 cup miniature marshmallows

Melt caramels in water on top of double boiler. Cool slightly. In heavy skillet, combine flour, rolled oats, walnuts, sugar, margarine and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until toasted, about 5 minutes. Cool. Pour into large mixing bowl. Stir in peanut brittle; mix well. Pour melted caramels over dry ingredients, stirring to coat thoroughly. Add marshmallows; mix well. Drop by tablespoons onto waxed paper. If desired, dip tops in melted chocolate.

◆ Coffee Creams ◆

Melt ½ cup margarine over hot water. Add 1½ teaspoons instant coffee. Gradually add 4 cups sifted powdered sugar; mix well. (This will be very stiff) Remove from heat. Stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 stiffly beaten egg white, and 1 tablespoon cream; beat until smooth. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. (If mixture becomes too thick before it is all used, place over hot water for a few minutes.) Let stand in refrigerator for several hours until firm. Makes 65 to 70 creams the size of a quarter. Store in refrigerator with waxed paper between layers.

◆ Two-tone Fudge ◆

1 cup evaporated milk
2 cups sugar
¼ lb. (14) caramels

¼ cup semi-sweet chocolate bits
½ cup peanut butter

Combine evaporated milk and sugar in 2-quart saucepan. Add caramels. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture comes to a boil. Increase heat and boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture comes to a boil. Increase heat and boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. To 1½ cups of the mixture add the chocolate bits and stir until smooth; turn into greased 7 or 8-inch square pan. To remaining mixture add peanut butter and stir until smooth; turn into pan over chocolate mixture. Chill until firm; cut into squares. Makes 2 pounds.

To Make Peanut Logs

Prepare chocolate and peanut fudge as above. Let stand until cool enough to handle. Shape each kind of fudge into 2 logs; roll in waxed paper until smooth and even. Unroll and roll in salted peanuts until well covered. Reroll in waxed paper and chill until firm.

To Make Peanut Clusters

Prepare chocolate and peanut butter fudge as above. Stir 1 cup salted peanuts into each kind. Drop by spoonfuls onto aluminum foil. Chill until firm.

◆ Hopscotch ◆

½ cup peanut butter
1 pkg. (6 oz.) butterscotch pieces

2 cups (3 oz. can) chow mein noodles
2 cups miniature marshmallows

Melt peanut butter and butterscotch pieces in double boiler over hot (not boiling) water, stirring until blended. Add noodles and marshmallows; toss until well coated. Place teaspoons of mixture on greased baking sheet; chill until set.

◆ Pralines ◆

1½ cups granulated sugar
½ cup molasses
1 cup thin cream

1 tablespoon margarine
Dash nutmeg
1½ cups pecans, coarsely chopped

Combine sugar, molasses, cream, margarine and nutmeg; cook slowly, stirring occasionally to 240 degrees F. (Or when small quantity dropped into cold water forms soft ball). Remove from heat; let stand three minutes. Add pecans, drop from teaspoon onto waxed paper or foil. Makes 25 pralines.

◆ Creamy Orange Fudge ◆

2 cups sugar
1 can (5½ ounces) evaporated milk
100 miniature marshmallows
1 pkg. (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

1 cup chopped walnuts
½ cup margarine, cut in small pieces
2 tablespoons fresh grated orange peel

In saucepan, combine sugar, evaporated milk and marshmallows. Bring to boil over medium heat. Boil 6 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add remaining ingredients. Beat well until fudge thickens, about 5 minutes. Pour into greased 8-inch square baking pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares. Makes about 2 pounds or 25 pieces.

THE MYSTERY BOX

"Merry Christmas"

by Cleo DuBois

As I arrived home that New Year's Eve back in 1937, I found a mystery box in front of the door on the front porch.

Attached to the simple gold cord which held the white hatbox closed was a card which read, "To Miss Cleo Gehrke."

I carried the box indoors. Lifting the lid, I gasped. Inside was an exquisite miniature dresser with a little full length mirror on the left and two tiny drawers on the right.

Inlaid in the varnished walnut wood at the base of the mirror was my name "Cleo" in slender golden letters less than one-eighth inch wide and not quite two inches long. The same intricate golden wood inlay framed my name and the two tiny drawers.

"If Charley were alive today, he'd tell you that it takes longer to make that little thing than it would to build a full-sized dresser," Grandma Shaw spoke up. Grandpa had been a skilled cabinet maker in his day.

My parents, having died when we were children, my two sisters and two brothers and I lived with our Grandmother Shaw and two aunts in Platteville, Wisconsin.

Attached to delicately carved decorative wood at the upper right of the drawers was a note:

"Push down this release as you pull on the drawer knob; to close, simply push shut."

"That part of the design is a secret release!" Brother Bob exclaimed.

I very carefully and gently followed directions; I opened the two tiny drawers lined with soft blue velvet.

There I found another note!

Dear Cleo, A Very Merry Christmas and may the coming new years return you some of the happiness you have given others. "Zeb" "Zeb"? I knew no "Zeb." And—the fact that the name was in quotation marks meant that it was purposely meant to be disguised—a code or such.

"I wonder why they didn't give it to you for Christmas instead of New Years — says 'Merry Christmas,'" Brother Bill wondered.

"With something as delicate and intricate as that, they probably just didn't get it done in time," Aunt Vera remarked.

"Note's perfectly punctuated. Capitalization and spelling correct. Must be somebody with a pretty good education," Alice, my teacher sister, commented.

To this day, over forty years later, I do not know who gave me that little dresser on New Year's Eve 1937. I do not know who "Zeb" is! Or was!

At first I was very curious and tried hard to find out. Now I'm glad that I didn't learn who the giver was.

The dresser, not knowing who left it on my doorstep long, long ago, has inspired me to be a far better person than I otherwise might have been.

My thoughts, words, and actions have often been guided by what "Zeb" would have me think, what "Zeb" would have me say, and what "Zeb" would have me do.

In the way of challenge and inspiration, the little dresser was inlaid with solid gold.

Dear Fleischmann's Yeast, Kneading needs time. What I need are easier recipes that don't require kneading.

"A friend in need of no-knead."

Dear Friend,
Kneadless to say, we can help. Get a rise out of Fleischmann's Yeast the no-knead batter way.

There are lots of sensational yeast recipes that are so easy they don't require any kneading. Some of the great classics are knead-less doughs...like Brioche, Crumb Kuchen, and Sally Lunn.

Batter Up!

With no-knead recipes, your yeast mixture is a batter... thinner than a dough. Just mix the batter, allow it to rise in a bowl or baking pan, then bake. The texture is different from kneaded doughs...more open...a little rougher. Why not start now? With this bake-it-easy recipe for Banana Batter Bread.

You'll need:

- 2 1/2 to 3 cups unsifted flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup water
- 3 tablespoons Fleischmann's Margarine
- 1 egg (at room temperature)
- 1/2 cup mashed ripe bananas
- 1/2 cup chopped Planters Southern Belle® Pecans

Now, go bananas.

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1/2 cup flour, sugar, salt, soda, cinnamon and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine milk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120°F-130°F). Margarine does not need to melt.

Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg, bananas and 1/4 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Add pecans and enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Makes 2 loaves.

Stir down; turn into 2 greased 7 1/2 x 3 3/4 x 2 1/4 inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake at 375°F. about 35 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar, if desired.

And enjoy... that aroma and taste of fresh-baked...the creative satisfaction of baking from scratch with Fleischmann's Yeast. It's more than a matter of doing your own baking. It's a wonderfully warm way to express yourself and to express your love for family and friends.
