

Brothers Charged in Burleigh B&E

Two brothers, Wayne M. Wright and Leonard A. Wright, are charged with the December 19 breaking and entering of the Adolph Siegrist residence at 8567 Alabaster Road, Burleigh Township.

While on patrol in that area, officers from Iosco County Sheriff's Department found a car parked on Alabaster Road, one-quarter mile west of Mill Station Road. One subject walking along the road said the car ran out of gas.

Wayne M. Wright told officers that he had walked to several houses along the road trying to get assistance, but officers found tracks leading to a pile of stolen items in a field. Leonard A. Wright was later tracked walking along Keystone Road.

Taken from the Siegrist residence was a chain saw, welding torch, tools, two electric saws and a drill.

State Police Prescribe Winter Storm Precautions for Area

Homeowners and motorists are advised by the Michigan State Police to take some winter storm precautions now in preparation for any foul weather emergency similar to that which struck the state in January and February of this year.

Weather advisories are disseminated by government units and relayed by commercial broadcast media to alert residents and visitors as emergency forecasts indicate, said Lt. S. S. Hutchings, commander of the state police at East Tawas.

Residents and visitors are strongly urged to heed such advisories as they may affect travel or home activities in winter months, he said. Hutchings stressed that travel or home activity then should be geared to life protection measures that can include some of the following:

Motoring—Check travel advisories first, avoid all but emergency travel as advisories indicate. Be properly clad or have warm protective clothing including coats, mittens, boots, overshoes, scarves, face masks, etc. Have matches, flares, candles, flashlight, tire chains, shovel, scrapers, first aid kit, food snacks and similar articles in car storage in event of blocked roads or car failure. If storm traps car, it is advisable to remain with the car. Be alert to carbon monoxide exhaust dangers if car motor and heater are operated in bad ventilating circumstances.

At home—Have ample canned and dried food stocks on hand to last family several days or more if needed. Have emergency heating and warming equipment available if possible (wood stove or fireplace) in event of electric power failure or depletion of heating fuels. Have candles, matches, flashlights in stock. Have battery powered radios available with spare batteries to keep abreast of emergency broadcast information should electric power not be available.

Home clothing stores should include extra blankets, extra clothing in event of any emergency caused by heating loss in the home. Be alert to dangers of noxious gases from any emergency heating source, such as oil stove, gas camping stoves and the like. Persons with questions about winter storm survival measures in motoring or at home may contact the Michigan State Police Post at East Tawas for information.

Completion Target Date in March Farmers and Merchants State Bank Constructing Sand Lake Heights Branch

Two Iosco County banks are contemplating new branch offices. Work has progressed well on construction of a new Sand Lake Heights branch office of Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Hale, while Peoples State Bank of East Tawas is considering a branch office at Hale and its application, filed in September, is currently before the state banking commission.

New branch office of Farmers and Merchants State Bank is located approximately 500 feet east of the Esmond Road intersection and on the south side of Indian Lake Trail.

Permission to establish a branch office at Sand Lake Heights was given August 3 by the banking commission. Property for the office was purchased from the McKay family.

In addition to its main office at Hale, the bank has branches at Rose City, Whittemore and Glennie. Brysslebout, Starke, Hacker and Simon of Bay City is architect for the new building and Kendall Brothers of Sand Lake is the building contractor.

Richard Parkinson, president and cashier of the bank, said that Farmers and Merchants had been considering establishment of a Sand Lake Heights branch for more than a year and had submitted its application for the new branch February 3 to the state banking commission.

Parkinson said the bank had surveyed the lakes area of Grant Township and selected the Sand Lake Heights location due to its dominance as the center of activities for a fire department, community center and telephone exchange.

"We believe that establishment of this new branch will lessen the need for further additions to the main office at Hale at the present time and its location should be convenient to our customers in the Sand Lake Heights area," he stated.

Opening of the new branch originally had a target date of February 3, but it is not expected that the building will be completed until after March 1.

The 40 by 50-foot building will have a full basement. Its exterior features wood siding and brick veneer. It will have four teller windows and a drive-in window, plus vault with safety deposit boxes, a night depository, private office, open office areas, lobby and lounge. The basement will be used for permanent record storage.

A minimal amount of trees was removed from the wooded lot so as to enhance the bank building's landscaping. It is set back approximately 100 feet from the road and will have parking for about 16 cars.

In addition to the above development, Farmers and Merchants plans to provide remote item processing after January 1 at the main office located at Hale. This department is to be located in the bank's original quarters on Esmond Road, which was purchased last year from Ira Scofield.

Remote item processing is to be accomplished through electronic means connecting the department at Hale directly with a computer at Saginaw. At the present time, this work is accomplished by physically carrying documents daily to Saginaw and then returning them to Hale.

Parkinson said Farmers and Merchants was the first bank in the state to utilize this new data processing system.

THE NEW branch office of Farmers and Merchants State Bank at Sand Lake Heights had progressed to the above point of construction by Saturday. Approval for the new branch was given in August.—Tawas Herald Photo.

New Commissioners Take Office January 1; Board Held Final 1978 Meeting Wednesday

Two new members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, Marian Ulman of District No. 4 and James Stech, District No. 1, received their oaths of office this week from County Clerk D. Keith Pappas and are to take over their new positions effective January 1.

Mrs. Ulman becomes the second female commissioner in the history of the county, having won the position in the general election. She replaces Joseph Fox of Tawas City, who was not a candidate for reelection.

Stech won his position in a write-in vote held during the general election, defeating John McArdle, who had been appointed by the commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Jack Allen.

With no special ceremony planned this year, other incumbent commissioners re-elected during the general election are to receive the oath of office this week. They are David George, District No. 2; Carlton Merschel, District No. 3; John Webb Jr., District No. 5.

The board of commissioners held its final meeting of 1978 last Wednesday.

Action at that meeting saw the county commission canceling its workmen's compensation insurance provided by Tawas Bay Agency, Incorporated, and authorizing enrollment in a new workmen's compensation plan developed by the Michigan Association of Counties.

During discussion, Webb said that 25 counties of the state had developed a self insurance program and he believed that cost to the county would eventually be lower than under the present arrangement.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie told commissioners that he hoped the board had made a complete study of this new program before "jumping into something" and Merschel, board chairman, was of the opinion that action should be delayed for further study.

A resolution approving the new program was adopted by a roll call vote with McArdle, George, Webb and Fox approving the action. Merschel abstained from voting.

No action was taken on a resolution proposed by George and McArdle for filling four vacancies on the county planning commission. Terms of Ralph Western and Neal Miller of East Tawas, Robert Curry of Tawas Township and Bernard Bergeron of Oscoda are to expire December 31. A fifth vacancy formerly held by Ray Whatley, who resigned, is also to be filled.

It is being proposed to fill the vacancies through appointment of Webb, McArdle, Anthony Richardson and re-appointment of Curry.

Opposition to replacing both Western and Miller on the commission was voiced by Merschel.

Bids were accepted from area automobile dealers for leasing an unmarked car for the sheriff's department.

Resolutions were adopted dissolving the former Iosco-Ogemaw Community Mental Health District and establishing a new Tri-County Mental Health District to include Oscoda County.

Fox was appointed to represent the county on the East Central Michigan Health Services Board to December 1980.

The board appropriated $5,000 from 1977 federal revenue sharing funds to Reno Township for construction of a new bridge.

It was reported that claims submitted by Dennis Frank and Chester A. Wilson Jr. to the Michigan Department of Labor had been denied. Both are former members of the sheriff's department and, after leaving the department, a new wage contract with deputy sheriffs was made retroactive to January. The former deputies claimed that back wages were owed to them under the contract. A resolution was adopted requiring that filling of vacancies in any county funded position must first be approved by the county commission.

The board approved payment of $22,000 as this county's first quarter payment for 1979 to District No. 2 Health Department.

It was the last meeting, too, for Commissioners McArdle and Fox, who are to be replaced effective January 1.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Two Persons Injured in Iosco Crashes

Two personal injury accidents were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department. Jane L. Leslie, Whittemore, was treated Wednesday at Tolfree Hospital, West Branch, after her car went off Prescott Road and rolled over.

Linda L. Lee, Oscoda, was treated Friday at Tawas Hospital following a snowmobile accident in Oscoda Township. She was a passenger on a machine operated by her husband, Daniel R. Lee, 30, Oscoda.

City seeks funds for river mouth development-city park expansion.

Public Hearings Thursday on Proposed River Mouth-Tawas City Park Development

Residents of Tawas City interested in proposed development of the mouth of the Tawas River for recreational use, along with proposed expansion of the city park, are invited to attend public hearings Thursday, 2:30 p. m. and 7:00 p. m., at the city hall.

Boynton (Bud) St. James of the city's parks and recreation board, who will conduct the hearings, said that participation by citizens was necessary in order to comply with federal funding regulations.

Last week, the city council authorized the parks and recreation board to make preliminary application for federal HUD money to assist in the proposed developments.

Previously, the council agreed to submit an application for state recreational funds and the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission for a project at the river mouth. If approved for funding, the city's share of the river mouth project would be approximately $250,000. St. James contacted HUD officials and learned that funds from that federal agency could possibly be used as local matching money for the river mouth project, as well as for acquisition of additional property for expansion of the city park.

St. James has proposed to the parks and recreation board that should HUD funds become available, a proposition be made to L. G. McKay for the purchase of his property east of the city park for park expansion purposes.

Interest has been expressed by McKay in the sale of this property, but the city is seeking a stronger commitment on the purchase.

A difference of opinion by parks and recreation board members exists as to the most suitable use of the McKay property, should it be acquired. St. James has suggested location of a trailer park on the proposed new site, but the majority of members have opposed use of lake frontage for a mobile trailer campground.

The parks and recreation board has given top priority to development of the river mouth project. The preliminary application with HUD is to be filed by January 15.

PROVISIONS of a new state law in regard to snow removal do not apply to municipalities, but private businesses and citizens are warned that the new law prohibits pushing snow on a state highway along with other restrictions regarding snow removal.

New State Law Prohibits Businesses-Citizens from Pushing Snow on Highway

A new state law designed to eliminate piled snow as a traffic hazard is in effect this winter, the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation said last week.

Basically, it prohibits businesses and citizens from dumping snow on roadways and shoulders or piling it so high at driveway entrances that it obstructs the vision of motorists.

Under the law, enacted last spring, snow, ice or slush may not be removed from a driveway or other property and placed across a roadway or its shoulders. Snow piled near a driveway entrance must not obstruct the view of a motorist entering the roadway.

Pushing snow from a driveway to the opposite side of the road also is prohibited.

"Citizens or hired snowplowing services usually clear driveways after the highway crews have cleared the roadway and shoulders," said John P. Woodford, department director.

"The snowplowing vehicle moving back and forth across the roadway from the driveway in itself is unsafe, but the snow that this activity leaves on the pavement is spread down the roadway and makes a slippery spot that is hazardous and could be the cause of an accident."

Violation of the new law is a misdemeanor. Both property owners and persons hired to remove snow are responsible for any illegal snow removal activities.

In addition, any accidents caused by illegal snow removal will leave violators open to lawsuits for public liability and property damage.

Both the highways and transportation department and Michigan State Police encourage property owners to make special plans for snow removal from their property.

They recommended that snow be pushed away from the roadway and to the sides of the driveway for its full length.

Large businesses may find it necessary to truck snow from their parking lots.

For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation, or a citizen may file a complaint.

"Careless dumping or plowing of snow into the roadway can present a serious traffic hazard," said Col. Gerald L. Hough, state police director. "This new law should help control dangerous snow-removal practices."

THERE'S A BETTER WAY TO START THE NEW YEAR!

Heaven can wait...but maybe won't if you take the wheel when drinking. Make sure '79 begins happy and healthy and serious injuries and tragic deaths are prevented. If you're entertaining...serve your guests in moderation and if someone is unfit to drive invite them to stay or encourage them to accept a ride.

If you are going out, be aware that other drivers may have had a few too many and proceed with caution. If you see that another car is obviously being driven by an intoxicated person, alert the police so that recklessness doesn't end in disaster. The "better way" to celebrate the holidays...skip the one for the road...avoid a dead end.

Family Heirloom

Tiny Christmas Village Comes to Life

A Christmas village surrounding the tree at the Truman Barbier residence on Tawas Beach Road is a family heirloom dating back to 1890. It once was the focal point of a "Christmas Heritage" exhibition at the Detroit Historical Museum.

Residents of the Tawas Beach area and several elementary grades have been invited to the Barbier home to view this unique display, carved by Mr. Barbier's grandfather, Altheus Barbier, nearly 90 years ago.

"We have not set this village up at Christmas for about 10 years and it probably will be the last time—it is getting too old," said Mrs. Barbier. She and her family have spent about a week assembling the exhibit.

Tucked in a snow-clad setting, the display consists of tiny, hand-made buildings, complete with flickering street lamps and figures. A church bell chimes, calling the tiny moving figures to Christmas Eve service high on a miniature hill, just as they have since carved by Barbier in 1890.

A water wheel (now started by electricity) moves villagers on a conveyer belt from house to house, past the revolving lighthouse, through tunnels, past flocks of sheep, a duck pond and grazing deer and into church.

The church has real stained glass windows. Once lighted by candles, the houses and street lights now have electricity. An electric train runs around the seven by four-foot base of cotton "snow."

Buildings comprising the village were made from cigar boxes and meticulously fashioned into a work of art.

Upon the death of the original owner, it was left to his son, Truman F. Barbier Sr. In 1962, his widow fulfilled a promise to her late husband by loaning the family treasure to the Detroit Historical Museum and Detroiters were delighted with the exhibit.

Shortly afterward, Mrs. Barbier gave the exhibit to her son, Truman F. Barbier Jr. of East Tawas and it has been assembled only two or three times since then.

Keystone Lumber Co. and Burleigh Township

In the mid-1920s, a building custodian at Whittemore decided that an old American flag had outlived its usefulness and disposed of it by traditional means—it was burned. Little did he know that he was destroying an object of historical significance to Southwestern Iosco County.

The flag, measuring a full 40 feet in length along its horizontal side, figured in the naming of Burleigh Township in 1877.

When Alabaster Township was organized by the board of supervisors on March 31, 1866, its territory comprised Township 21 North of Ranges 5, 6, and 7 East. The main settlement was on the shore of Saginaw Bay in Range 7, where gypsum rock was quarried in the growing community of Alabaster.

Although the infant gypsum industry provided the major source of employment in Alabaster Township, harvesting white pine timber was the industry which consumed most of the energy of early Iosco pioneers working in Ranges 5 and 6 west of the shore settlement.

The easterly range of Alabaster Township was not particularly well watered for lumbering operations—despite a fine stand of white pine which would equal those in other areas of this county, Range 7 had only Mason Creek emptying into Saginaw Bay. A good stream upon which to drive saw logs to mills was essential to any lumbering operation in the days before a railroad.

On the other hand, Range 6 (later Sherman Township) was crossed diagonally by both the AuGres River and the East Branch of the AuGres, plus numerous feeder streams; in Range 5, the main AuGres watered three sections along its northerly boundary while the interior contained a network of small feeder streams emptying into the AuGres River.

Lumbermen penetrating the wilds of Range 5 for the first time in the early 1870s noted that early day surveyors and timber cruisers had given an accurate appraisal of that region: Not only did it contain an excellent stand of white pine and had numerous streams suitable for transporting logs in spring, the property would be valuable for farming after the timber was harvested—the land was thought to equal even that of the rich Saginaw Valley.

When the lumbering industry of Range 5 is considered, a firm known as the Keystone Lumber Company deserves prominent mention. Many other operators were to harvest white pine in the area now known as Burleigh Township, but Keystone was the giant in that particular "neck of the woods" and left its mark for all time with a farming settlement, a road and a school named in its honor. Only a road designation and a tavern today are reminders of this once important enterprise.

A MARKING HAMMER used to identify logs owned by the Keystone Lumber Company in its Iosco County operations during the 1870s is held here by Earl Stone of Whittemore, great grandson of Albert W. Rikely, who came here in 1874 to supervise logging camps established by Keystone. He was to become Burleigh Township's first supervisor on May 1, 1877.—Tawas Herald Photo.

In the spring of 1874, Albert W. Rikely of Syracuse, New York, was sent to Iosco County to serve as the general foreman of five logging camps being established by the Pennsylvania firm known as Keystone Lumber Company. Pennsylvania was known as the "keystone state," hence the name of the Michigan lumbering firm.

Rikely, with his wife and two small daughters, landed at Pine River east of Standish, then part of Bay County and now in Arenac County. A tote team met the Rikely family after getting off the boat at Pine River and drove them about 24 miles inland to the Keystone farm.

One of the children, later Mrs. John (Agnes) Hess, recalled that wheels of the wagon often dropped into deep holes in the road—almost up to the hubs. The headquarters camp for the lumbering operation was not yet finished in the spring of 1874 and the Rikely family set up housekeeping in a barn.

Eventually, Rikely was over-all foreman of camps located as follows: Headquarters camp on Craner Creek, camp No. 2 at the head of Johnson Creek near Prescott, camp No. 3 at the mouth of Johnson Creek where it empties into the AuGres River, camp No. 4 located six miles north of Taft on State Road and camp No. 5 located on the East Branch of the AuGres River near the present M-55 bridge.

The general foreman walked from one camp to another to supervised operations. Because of the poor road conditions, walking was actually much easier than using a horse and wagon.

Mrs. Rikely and two helpers cooked at the headquarters camp, feeding a crew there of 50 to 60 men daily. In the spring of the year, the crew was expanded to include from 250 to 300 men as expert rivermen from the Saginaw River region were hired to drive logs down the small creeks feeding the AuGres River.

Because of the necessity for rivermen to tend logs constantly during spring drives, Mrs. Rikely delivered food to rivermen wherever they might be. The food was packed in 50-pound lard cans and delivered by means of a horse-drawn pung, or what was known later as a stone boat.

Her granddaughter, Inza Hess Cataline, recalled that her grandmother told her that wolves would often follow on delivery rounds and one time she had to throw out food in order to keep the wolves from attacking.

"Grandmother also told me that during the river drives, the chore boy would open a barrel of flour every morning." After baking enough bread for the day, she would turn the rest of the flour into pies, friedcakes and cookies.

A barrel of flour weighed 196 pounds and a tremendous amount of supplies was required to keep five camps operating. This item found in the November 14, 1878, issue of The Iosco County Gazette indicates the extent of supplies being used:

"John Wilson, who for a dozen years has been with the Keystone Lumber Company, informs us that the company will do an extensive lumbering business this winter. They are now shipping in and storing away at East Tawas 60 tons of hay, 9,000 bushels of oats, 150 barrels of flour, 100 barrels of pork,

STREAMS coursing through what is now Burleigh Township carried several million feet of logs from the pneries to lake shore mills during Iosco County's early history. One of the largest operators in that region was Keystone Lumber Company.

Equalization A Problem for Wayne County to Solve

After supporting this state's property equalization process for years, this corner was shocked last week to read in the daily press that property assessments were not "equalized" throughout the state.

The state tax commission is contemplating legal steps against the City of Dearborn, which apparently has not had a property reappraisal in years.

On the surface, this news probably had a shattering effect on the majority of property owners in the rest of the state, who have had to "bite the bullet" each year at county equalization time. Inflated property valuation based on true cash value, one-half of which theoretically represents the state equalized valuation, has resulted in higher property taxes, especially in the northern half of the state.

However, a major point neglected by the daily reporters is the fact that, because of approximately $75,000 property valuation behind each child, Dearborn's schools do not receive any membership aid under the department of education's formula. Consequently, property valuation in Dearborn has no effect whatever on school taxes paid in other parts of the state.

The only area possibly affected is Wayne County, where it is alleged that residential dwellings in the City of Detroit are appraised higher than similar dwellings in Dearborn. That, however, is a problem for the Wayne County Equalization Department and not our concern.

Members of the state legislature, however, should make a mental note of the inequality of equalization, especially the next time "poor" Wayne County asks for a special state appropriation to bail it out of a financial mess. Perhaps Dearborn and even some other communities are not paying a fair share of the county tax.

The above is being reported by this newspaper to dispel any misapprehension local readers of Detroit newspapers may have concerning the state's property equalization system. Certain governmental units of Wayne County apparently disregard established state procedures for property appraisals and equalization, but that does not seem to be the case in the rest of Michigan—thanks to the "watch dog" efforts of the state tax commission.

It may be great to have a Ford Motor Company to keep city taxes low, but Dearborn can keep it.

Tawas City Should Not 'Gut' Its Junk Car Ordinance

Discussion concerning enforcement of Tawas City's 1966 "junk car" ordinance governing outdoor storage of automobiles, parts of automobiles and machines has taken a considerable amount of the city council's meeting time as of late.

Like any code designed to improve the appearance of a community, Ordinance No. 167 is workable as long as it is enforced and there remains a spirit of cooperation among all citizens desirous of improving the community.

Over the years, a small minority of property owners—most of whom do not comply with the ordinance—have been very vocal when the code was enforced. On the other hand, enforcement of the code has been beneficial to improve the appearance of neighborhoods of the community and has been generally accepted by the majority of property owners.

It may be interesting to note that the above ordinance is similar to one enacted at East Tawas and was copied from those used in Oscoda Township and at Jackson.

This corner would hate to see this code "guttled" to satisfy the few property owners vocally opposing it. It has been said that the ordinance is not enforceable, but that is not what the city attorney told the Herald last Thursday and there never has been a court test.

Minor changes in terminology of the ordinance might clarify some provisions—perhaps insertion of the word "unlicensed" vehicles—but the spirit of the original intent of the ordinance wording should not be lost.

The ordinance does provide for a special permit to be issued in hardship cases where no adjoining property owner is adversely affected. But the editor of this corner, who is a collector and has some knowledge of the value of antique automobiles, must point out that what might some day become a valuable antique automobile is soon turned into a "basket case" of junk when it is parked outdoors and not protected from the elements.

Just because the rusting hulk of an automobile may have or seem to have value to the owner, especially to those who have been cited under the ordinance, it is still "junk" in the eyes of others in the community.

"If a person wishes to preserve a valuable antique or protect an investment in one, common sense dictates that it be protected against the elements and vandalism. But do not confuse "rights" or "freedom" of the individual when a duly enacted ordinance is enforced; other residents of a community also have "rights," one of which is protection against neighborhood blight caused by outdoor storage of old cars.

As for commercial storage of junk or wrecked cars, that is another matter and probably is not adequately covered under the existing ordinance. That matter, too, should be addressed in a cooperative spirit to make a better community.

The Upper Room

(Read Matthew 1:18-25)
"The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a Son, and they will call Him Immanuel," which means "God with us." (Matthew 1:23 NIV)

Shah Abbas, ancient king of Persia, once disguised himself as a peasant in order to move freely among his people. It was Christmas-time and he had decided to find one special person to whom he could give whatever gift that person might desire.

So the king set out. He stopped at a public bath and walked about for a while. Soon, he wandered into the boiler room and stopped to talk with the keeper of fires. The workman offered to share his lunch, not knowing who this peasant really was.

The king came back to see the man several times and each time felt the affection between them growing. Finally, the king told the workman who he was and asked him what special gift he would like for Christmas. The workman replied, "I do not want any riches. Give me just what you have been giving me. Come back and sit down and talk to me."

The great joy of Christmas is God coming to us, living among us, loving us—then dying for us. When we ponder this gift, our hearts have nothing more to ask.

PRAYER
Father, thank You for the gift of Yourself—Your peace, Your presence, Your love. Amen.

20 barrels of beans, 350 bushels of corn and other things in proportion. They will employ 150 men, in some three or four camps, and design putting in 20,000,000 feet of logs."

In May 1879, the Gazette reported as follows concerning that lumbering season: "The Keystone Company has put in the finest lot of logs ever lumbered on this shore, so we are informed by a good judge. Among them, 16-foot logs that scale at a thousand feet are quite common and there is one that scales 1,680 feet. They are all rossed and ready for the drive, but it will take a freshet to float them out of the creek."

(According to an old scale owned by the author, a 16-foot log scaling 1,680 board feet would measure approximately 48 inches in diameter.)

All logs harvested by Keystone were transported down the AuGres River and then rafted to its mill at Bay City on the Saginaw River. The company purchased that mill in 1866 and, by 1883, its annual cut was 20,000,000 feet of lumber. Officers of the company included D. Noble, president, and C. S. Riley, vice president, both of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and F. Johnson, superintendent of the mill at West Bay City.

In the spring of 1875, settlers began moving into Range 5 of Alabaster Township, including James Mickle, Orlando Croff, Samuel Brooks, Charles Bronson and David Tucker. All bought land and settled near the headquarters camp on Craner Creek. There were nine children living at the settlement and no school, so Rikely and the settlers got together and had a log building erected. Joseph Belknap was hired as a teacher at a wage of $8 per month. George L. Cornville was the next teacher.

Other settlers soon followed and their thoughts eventually turned to controlling their own political destinies, particularly in respect to the expenditure of township road funds. Inasmuch as the township seat was hours away at the shore village of Alabaster, the settlers thought something should be done about it.

They turned to Rikely and asked what could be done about the situation and the general foreman of Keystone wrote to an old friend, State Sen. John L. Burleigh of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County. Burleigh was wise in the ways of politics involved in creating townships out of the wilds of Northern Michigan and he introduced a bill into the state legislature setting off a new township on May 1, 1877.

For naming the new township in his honor, Senator Burleigh presented the settlement with a flag large enough to cover the plank floor of the log school house. The wool flag was later draped on the east wall of the old Forester Hall at Whittemore.

The first election of Burleigh Township was held in April 1877, at the home of Rikely. First officers named were: A. W. Rikely, supervisor; O. R. Croff, clerk; Henry Neil, treasurer; David Tucker, highway commissioner; Robert Cruise, justice of the peace; Croff, superintendent of schools; Henry F. Neil, drain commissioner; Samuel Brooks and Joseph Conway, constables.

The first township meeting was held at the schoolhouse with a pot-luck dinner meeting at noon. A flagpole was raised and the new flag waved from the top. Following races and games for children in the afternoon, at night there was dancing to music furnished by Rikely on the mouth organ and Croff played the Jews harp.

In 1879, a fire swept through the area and the headquarters camp buildings were destroyed, the Rikely family barely escaping with their lives. The camps were never rebuilt as, within the five years between 1874 and 1879, Keystone Lumber Company had nearly completed its logging operations in Burleigh Township.

The firm continued to harvest the pine on its land here into the 1880s through contractors, but Keystone was only interested in saw logs and not in cutover land—it soon began disposing of its holdings to avoid paying property taxes.

Rikely continued to work for Keystone long after its lumbering operations ceased. He operated the farm and sold land to new settlers moving into the township for prices ranging from $1 to $1.50 per acre—all potentially prime farming lands, but with much work to be accomplished in future stump clearing operations.

Rikely died in April 1881, after being in ill health for only a short time and about 35 years of age. He had gone to Bay City for medical treatment and died at the hospital.

Twice supervisor of the township, "he was an honorable, upright, energetic citizen and well and favorably known throughout this end of the county," stated his obituary in the Gazette.

By the 1920s, most residents of Burleigh Township had forgotten or had never heard the story behind the huge 40-foot woolen flag and how it figured in naming the township; so, too, had residents forgotten Rikely's friend, Senator Burleigh, who served only one year in the state legislature.

Although Burleigh's name remains as a lasting memorial, the 38-star American flag which he gave to the township in 1877 was burned sometime after 1925.

Bobcats Win at Charity Lane

Tawas Lost in Overtime

KEVIN GRACE (33) gets off this jump shot in the third quarter before being intimidated on a good defensive move by Chris Kasper (32) of John Glenn. Kasper fouled on this play, but Tawas' shooting eyes were off at the charity lane.—Tawas Herald Photo.

If ever a team could lose and still hold its head high for a good effort, it was the Tawas Area Braves after their meeting Thursday night with Bangor John Glenn.

The Braves and Bobcats played to a 60-60 tie in regulation time, but the Bay City team demonstrated that experience counts by holding a two-point lead gained in the three-minute overtime to win, 62-60.

The loss dropped Tawas' record to one win and four losses for the season, the win coming at the expense of the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals a week ago. The Braves now will be idle until after vacation when they travel to Standish-Sterling on January 5 for their second conference game of the season.

Tawas was not without excellent opportunities to put Thursday night's game in the win column, missing one shot just before the final buzzer in regulation time and then missing five field goal attempts in the three-minute overtime.

With Kevin Grace turning in another outstanding performance on the backboards and scoring 14 points, Tawas controlled the rebounds most of the night, but much credit must be given to the aggressive defensive play of the Bobcats under the baskets, intimidating the Tawas players by not giving up cheap shots or allowing any drives up the lanes.

That aggressive play led to guarding fouls by the Bobcats, but Tawas could not take advantage of that opportunity, meshing only 10 of 23 shots from the charity lines. On the other hand, the Bobcats were deadly on free throws, meshing eight of 10 opportunities.

With 34 seconds to go in the game, Jim Dubovsky meshed a pretty shot from the outside corner to tie the game at 60-60. Bangor took time out to set up a play, but Scott Tousley fouled things up for the Bobcats by slapping the ball away and Tawas took over with 18 seconds to go.

Tousley had a golden opportunity to become the game hero for Tawas when he drove toward the bucket with a jump shot. He was well guarded by the Bobcats and the shot bounced off the rim at the final buzzer.

Tawas had five shots at the hoop during the three-minute overtime, while the Bobcats played to control the ball for one good shot which never came. On one occasion with one minute, 49 seconds to go, the Bobcats lost the ball on a zone violation, but Tawas could not cash in on the opportunity.

Tawas finally fouled with one minute, 31 seconds to go, and Chip Peters of the Bobcats meshed two charity tosses to give John Glenn the winning margin.

With 30 seconds to go in the game, Tawas was forced to foul in order to break up the Bobcats' keep-away play. Chris Kasper missed the free throw and the Braves snagged the rebound. With nine seconds to go in the game, Kraig Moffatt of Tawas drove toward the basket and missed as the Bobcat defense never lessened its pressure.

Brian Norton, who had offensive ball handling trouble in the first quarter, was scoring leader for Tawas with 20 points on eight buckets and four charity tosses turning in an outstanding game. Steve Velk topped Bobcat scorers with 22 points on 10 field goals and two charity tosses.

The visitors won both ends of the double-header as the Junior Braves lost to the John Glenn junior varsity, 74-57. The margin of difference was not quite as bad as it appears as Tawas trailed, 36-32, at intermission and 54-46 at the end of the third quarter. John Glenn had a 20-point scoring effort in the final quarter and Tawas meshed only 11 points.

Scoring for Tawas were Jay Grabow, 17 points; Rick Mousseau and Jim Pockel, 10 points each; Bob Hester, Jeff Wojahn, Brian Lansky, Jon Erickson, four points each; Marshall Proper and Larry Finley, two points each. Bob Roese topped the winners with 22 points.

Owls Cashed in on Hot Third Quarter to Beat TA

On the strength of a high scoring third quarter, Oscoda Owls downed the Tawas Area Braves, 79-69, in basketball action December 10.

The Owls jumped off to a 25-22 first quarter lead, but Tawas came back in the second quarter to take a two-point lead, 41-39, at intermission.

Oscoda settled the issue in the third quarter with a 26-14 bulge and each team scored 14 points in the final quarter.

Much of Tawas' trouble in the third quarter centered on turnovers caused by a zone full court press thrown up by the Owls.

Greg Bissonette meshed 30 points to lead the Owls while Tawas had three players in double figures. Kevin Grace topped the Braves with 19 points, followed by 18 points for Brian Norton and 16 points turned in by Kraig Moffatt. Grace was leading rebounder of the night with 15.

The Braves have one win in conference play and three nonconference losses.

Tawas Cage Teams Had Rough Week

Basketball action last week saw Tawas salvaging but one win, in four games against Oscoda in eighth and ninth grade basketball games.

The ninth grade "A" team defeated Oscoda, 49-40, while the "B" team lost, 35-33. The eighth grade "A" team lost, 65-35, and the "B" team lost, 38-24.

Tom Schriber meshed 22 points as the ninth grade "A" team bested Oscoda. Others scoring for Tawas were St. John, 10 points; Harris, six points; Mark Tousley, five points. Hultz topped Oscoda with 13 points.

Schmidt of Oscoda scored 13 points to beat Tawas' "B" team. Tawas took a 9-5 lead in the first quarter and held an 18-17 margin at the half. Oscoda roared back in the second half with a 27-22 margin at the end of the third quarter and held a two-point edge at the final whistle.

Jim Huck scored eight points for Tawas, followed by Dan Barry's seven points and six points each by Rick Look and Randy Biggs.

Duffner scored 20 points as the Oscoda eighth grade "A" team had an easy win over Tawas. Lee Irons topped Tawas with 11 points, followed by Charles Elliott's eight points.

McLaughlin scored 12 points as the "B" team from Oscoda won over Tawas. Greg Drumm and Steve Johnson each meshed eight points for Tawas.

AN OUTSIDE jump shot like this by Jim Dubovsky tied the game at 60-60 with only 34 seconds to go in Friday night's game. Tawas had another crack at the basket with 18 seconds to go, but John Glenn's defense proved to be tough under the basket and the shot was missed.—Tawas Herald Photo.
