

Teamsters Union Decertified on Tie Vote by Deputies

A tie vote last Wednesday on decertification of the Teamsters Union as bargaining agent for Iosco County deputy sheriffs means that the Teamsters no longer represents the deputies, according to an interpretation of a National Labor Relations Board ruling.

It is expected that the union will appeal the ruling to the state labor board.

A vote to decertify the union ended in an 11-11 deadlock. According to the department, 23 employees actually were eligible to vote on the measure.

The election came upon petition of deputies. Employees are presently working without a contract as the old contract expired January 1.

East Tawas Evaluating Its Share of Boat Ramp Cost

East Tawas officials are to evaluate the city's proposed investment in state boat launching facilities east of the state police post Thursday night before reviewing the $300,000 project with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources before actual construction.

As it now stands, the city would be responsible for a $75,000 cash donation to the project, plus expenditure of additional funds to bring its total share over the $100,000 mark.

Additionally, the city has already spent $4,000 to settle ownership of submerged lake bottom land formerly held under lease by Gordon MacAndrew, plus the fact that the city is contributing valuable lake frontage to the project and a new city garage would be required to replace the one to be removed.

City officials have had some second thoughts concerning this much discussed and long awaited project, especially since contractual arrangements with the DNR would seem to place the city in a position of "playing second fiddle" to the state in terms of actual administration of the new boat launching facility.

According to latest information, the state considers the boat launching facility as part of the over-all harbor project financed through federal and state funds. It has been noted locally, however, that the state had been looking for a boat launching and parking site on Tawas Bay long before the Tawas Harbor project was approved.

City Clerk Clyde Soper, who has been acting as the city's contact with the DNR and other state-federal agencies on this project, said that cost of the project was originally estimated at $250,000 with the city to pay $25,000.

The state has offered $100,000 toward the project and has assured the city that another $125,000 from Bureau of Outdoor Recreation funds would be utilized.

When bids for the project were too high, the DNR suggested that blacktopping the parking lot and construction of a toilet building be eliminated for the present time. Due to the fact that blacktopping is necessary for an orderly parking arrangement, the city made application to the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission for a $50,000 grant to provide those facilities.

The city's application was rejected, however, as the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission considers the boat launching ramp to be a local project and does not feel that it can appropriate the money to the city at the present time due to previous local appropriations. Officials of the DNR are to contact UGLRC authorities to point out that the boat launching ramp is a state project.

Attending Thursday night's meeting at city hall will be members of the city council and park board.

New Information, Council Adopts Flood Insurance

Despite added federal restrictions caused by its action, Tawas City Council had no choice but to adopt a flood damage prevention ordinance at its regular session Monday night.

Had the council not adopted the ordinance, federal lending regulations would have prohibited bank or savings and loan company financing for any construction in flood plains designated by the federal government.

Until Monday night, the council was unaware of this financial restriction imposed by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. It was one of the main points stressed by City Atty. Kenneth Myles.

After first reading of the proposed ordinance a week ago, councilmen were of the opinion that restrictions imposed upon new construction would be detrimental to property owners, despite the fact that enactment was required by February 15 to qualify any structure in the flood plains of Tawas River, Dead Creek and Tawas Bay for federal flood insurance.

The matter was referred to the city attorney for study. Had the ordinance not been adopted, Myles said those areas located within the City of Tawas City which are in the flood plain district "would not be eligible for flood insurance and, additionally, would not be eligible for mortgages from lending institutions which have their deposits insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation."

In his review of the ordinance, Myles said that it would prohibit any construction, placement of a mobile home or other portable structure on land located in a flood plain which is subject to a one percent or greater chance of flooding in any given year as determined by a flood plain map prepared under the direction of HUD.

Additionally, the ordinance prevents the conversion or structural alteration of any structure located within the flood plain without compliance with the ordinance.

The ordinance provides for anchoring of all structures located within the flood plain. It also provides that construction within the flood plain shall have the lowest floor, including the basement, elevated to or above the base flood level as determined by the flood plain map.

City Mgr. Reginald Blubitz told councilmen that the ordinance does not pertain to existing structures, but only new construction. The ordinance is designed to qualify property owners for federal flood insurance to protect against loss due to hypothetical 100-year flooding.

Floyd Smith, a resident of North Park Acres Subdivision and an area included in the Tawas River flood plain, was present at the meeting to protest enactment of the ordinance. He said, however, that any argument was a moot point after learning of lending restrictions imposed by the federal government.

Del Myles, insurance agent, said there had not been much demand here for flood insurance, but he had written two policies for new homes in the flood plain where such insurance was required by the lending institution.

The city manager, who lives in North Park Acres, felt that added federal restrictions could be met by property owners.

A map showing flood plains in Tawas City is on display at the city hall. Property owners interested should inspect the map.

Injured

William D. Hargan, 47, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after being injured in a snow-machine accident. He was traveling along a power line north from Bissonette Road in Oscoda Township and he struck a strand of barbed wire strung across the trail. He was treated for facial lacerations.

Expect Petitions on Vote

State Decides Feb. 8 on Consolidation

The state boundary commission is to meet at Lansing Wednesday, February 8, 11:00 a. m., to either approve or disapprove petitions submitted last year for consolidation of the Tawas.

If approved, dissenters have 45 days in which to submit petitions to the state boundary commission asking for an immediate vote to overrule the commission. Signatures of five percent of the residents of the two communities are required to force the vote.

If such a course is taken, each community would vote independently and if a majority in either community voted "no," the consolidation movement would end at that point. If the vote is affirmative, the process of establishing a charter commission would commence.

If no petition is filed for an election and should the boundary commission approve continuance of the charter process, a charter commission would be elected. According to population, East Tawas would have five members and Tawas City would have four members.

Once elected, the charter commission would have two years to draft a home rule charter and have it adopted by the people. The charter would provide for election of officers for a single home rule city.

If disapproved by the people, the charter could be revised and a second vote taken. If disapproved the second time, the entire consolidation process would come to an end. The entire process from petition to adoption of a charter requires from one to three years.

George Stalker of Baldwin Township, who with John N. Brugger of Tawas City represents Iosco County on the State Boundary Commission, said Monday that he had been informed locally that petitions would be submitted asking for an immediate vote on the question. He said, however, he did not know "how sincere that suggestion had been."

Petitions on the proposed consolidation were submitted to the state a year ago and public hearings were held in the two communities last August. Expansion of the boundaries to include certain areas of adjoining townships was suggested at the August hearings, but only the area outlined by the petitions is to be considered in the merger.

Tawas Area School Board Appoints Administrators

During a brief special meeting Monday night, Jerry W. Youngs was hired by Tawas Area Board of Education as the junior high school principal. Charles Reddick was named the new assistant high school principal to succeed Youngs.

This action by the board followed recommendations of Supt. Robert A. Halle a week ago when three candidates were interviewed. The third candidate was Mrs. Marilyn Barry, a member of the junior high school staff.

Youngs, who had filled both the assistant high school principalship and filled in as junior high school principal since the resignation of Robert McDonald, has been employed by Tawas Area School since 1974.

A graduate of this school, he attended Central Michigan University, graduating in 1968. His first employment was with Saginaw Township Schools. He received his master degree in educational administration from Michigan State University and in July 1975, received an educational specialist degree in administration from CMU.

Reddick has spent his entire teaching career in this school system, coming here in 1969 as a science teacher. He graduated from Bay City Central High School in 1964, attended Lake Superior State College and received a bachelor of science degree from CMU in 1969. He was awarded a master degree from CMU in December 1976.

In other action, the board hired Patricia Shotwell as the new Title I reading teacher at the Tawas City elementary Unit. A graduate of MSU, she has a degree in elementary education and five years of experience. She succeeds Donald Spencer, who resigned.

The board of education tabled all bids on the purchase of three new school buses. A work session was held following the regular session to discuss goals of the school district.

Commissioners Nix County Funds for Festival Promotion

Iosco County Board of Commissioners re-emphasized Wednesday that no funds under its control would be used to help finance an area promotion, but individual members saw no objection to the county parks and recreation commission using funds under its control for such promotion.

Col. Edward Whitney and Ray Andrus, representing the Iosco County Winter Festival, appeared before the board of commissioners, which was meeting as a committee of the whole.

Whitney, who is chairman of the new festival, said he had appeared before the parks and recreation commission and had received assurances that $3,200 in parks and recreation funds would be made available for promotion of the festival.

The festival, to be held February 17, 18 and 19, is being sponsored by chambers of commerce of the county. The event originally was to be sponsored by Oscoda Chamber of Commerce, but has been expanded to other areas of the county.

Whitney said that 5,000 brochures had been distributed and money was needed to purchase an additional printing. He said the event was expected to attract 2,000 families to the county.

Spokesmen for the festival emphasized that they expected events held during the festival would make it self-sufficient.

The county commission is to call a meeting with the parks and recreation commission to determine the latter's intent in regard to an allocation of $3,200. Individual commissioners expressed objection to using county funds for such a promotion, but said they had no objection to use of parks and recreation funds.

Burglaries Keep Police Busy

Thirteen breakings and enterings were investigated last week by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department. Included were nine in the Bay Drive area.

The Bay Drive burglaries were discovered by Harold Frank. Homes entered were owned by James Gallup, Ruth Howey, M. Johnson, John Grunwell, Richard Moss, Barbara Schnell, Edward Schwarz, Lyle DeWar and Edgar Boettcher.

Other breakings were reported at residences of Arnold Bronson, Margo Street; Thomas Smith, Hale; Robert Greve, Hale, and Whittemore-Prescott Area School.

EXCITING snowmobile events held the attention of these youngsters Saturday at the Iosco County Fairgrounds during the second annual Hale Winter Festival. Sunday's drag races had more than 60 entries and the entire festival was termed a success.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Study Finances for US-23 Drain in TC

Action on financing the city's share of a new US-23 drain below the Tawas River bridge was tabled Monday night by the Tawas City Council for further study. The matter is to be reviewed Monday, February 5, prior to the regular meeting of the city council.

The city's share of this project would be $48,400 and the state would pay $137,600. Existing drainage ditches along US-23 would be covered and would be of sufficient size to handle drainage from the Margo Street area.

The city manager said that financing could be provided by a number of methods, including using a portion of Act 51 money received from the state, federal revenue sharing money, a bond issue or additional tax millage.

The most practical method of financing, said the city manager, probably would be to use federal revenue sharing and street funds. The city receives $57,000 annually in federal revenue sharing money.

Before final action is taken, the council is to consider all project goals for the next fiscal year.

If approved, bids would be taken this spring on the project and $9,680 would be required immediately with the balance to be paid after July 1 during the next fiscal year. The city manager believed cost estimates were realistic with a maximum cost overrun of 10 percent.

In other business, James Rudel was officially appointed to the city park board with a term to expire in 1981. The council reappointed John N. Brugger to the board of review, subject to his acceptance.

Authorization was given to expand the park board to seven members. The vacancy is to be filled at a later date.

The city has joined Iosco County and county schools in making application for a federal grant on energy saving improvements to public buildings. The city has applied for a $5,000 grant to insulate and update storm windows at the city hall plus a $7,000 grant for insulating the city garage. The proposal was submitted through a joint program to East Central Michigan Planning and Development Commission. The Iosco County Board of Commissioners served as the local applicant.

The city clerk, city manager and mayor are to attend a workshop February 14 at Lansing concerning parliamentary procedures at council meetings.

Iosco Farmers Eligible for SBA Loans

Iosco County farmers who sustained actual crop losses from the fall rains are eligible for the Small Business Administration's disaster loan program. The disaster loan office is located on the second floor of the Arenac County Courthouse, Standish.

Verification of crop loss is left to the ASCS office and loan approval is handled at Detroit. All that is necessary is for the farmer to appear at the Standish office or submit an application no later than February 8, to be eligible for loans.

Millions of dollars are available in disaster loans at three percent interest. The office at Standish will assist the farmer in filling out required forms.

Park Board Discussed Plans

At a special meeting last week, Tawas City Park Board discussed plans for the new year.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz told the Tawas City Council Monday night that consideration is being given to construction of two new softball fields near the Knothole League fields on city property west of the Tawas City Elementary Unit.

Because of expansion of summer softball leagues in the community, plus the need for facilities during tournaments, Bublitz said that consideration was being given to the new fields.

ATTENDANTS to Colleen Johnson, center, 1978 Parishville-USA queen, will be Dawn Kuerley, left, first runnerup, and Jeanine Rose, right, second runnerup. Selections were made by judges in a personality contest held last week. The annual festival is to be held February 3, 4 and 5.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Hiram Rose Retired from Mental Health Position

Hiram Rose will tell anyone that the community in which he lives, Rose City, was named for his grandfather, who founded it. One thing that concerned him was the fact that the only way people living in this area got any mental health services was by going to the state institutions in Traverse City or Mt. Pleasant. Rose felt strongly that such services should be available to area residents on a local basis.

Because he felt so strongly, he has given nearly 10 years to the effort to bring comprehensive community mental health services to Ogemaw and Iosco Counties. He served eight years on the Northeast Michigan Community Mental Health Board. He participated in the development of the Iosco-Ogemaw Mental Health Board which began operations in October 1976. Since then, he has served as chairman of the Iosco-Ogemaw board.

January 1, he retired because of personal reasons from his position as chairman of the board. He continues to serve as a member of the board, by appointment of the Ogemaw County Board of Commissioners.

At the January 9 meeting of the Iosco-Ogemaw Community Mental Health Board, Carlton Merschel, chairman of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners and a member of the mental health board, presented Rose with a plaque of appreciation on behalf of the Iosco-Ogemaw Community Mental Health Board. Spontaneous remarks of appreciation were also offered by Ralph Sperry of West Branch, another member of the mental health board.

Tawas City Construction Listed for '77

Valuation of all construction in Tawas City during 1977 totaled $2,618,815, according to a report read at Monday night's council meeting.

As expected, the largest single category was in new commercial, which totaled $2,195,200. Eight permits were issued in this category, including the Provincial House nursing home, Manitou Village apartments and the new Kroger Store.

There were 10 new homes constructed during the year with a valuation of $289,794. There were 46 home alterations with a value of $108,021.

The final category was in commercial alterations with 10 permits issued at a valuation of $25,800.

City Assessor Made Report

Information from Ronald Turner, city assessor, indicated that housing on Third Avenue had been sold to private individuals and was not in the hands of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that investigation by Turner had revealed that four of the houses had been sold last year, one under Farm Home Administration financing, and that improvements had been made to two of the dwellings.

He said that owners of two of the houses planned to make alterations and the third was owned by a real estate broker.

Last week, a letter from the Tawas City Businessmen's Association asked the Tawas City Planning Commission to cause vacant "HUD houses" on Third Avenue to be removed because the neighborhood had undergone substantial change since originally constructed.

The city manager felt that the "matter had been settled" as ownership was in private hands.

"Consumers can call toll-free to some government agencies for help with certain problems," Joy added. "We have included as many of those numbers as possible in the calendar."

He and his shipmates had the opportunity to visit Australia, Iran, Pakistan, Singapore and the Republic of the Philippines during the deployment.

Trio Council Institutes 'Life-Line' Service to Area Elderly

Beginning this week, Trio Council on Aging, serving older Americans in Isoco, Ogemaw and Rosy common Counties will initiate a new program and service to the elderly called "life-line."

This program is specifically designed for older persons who are isolated and/or living alone. It can also be made available to couples.

The life-line program is just that. Many times people are unable to communicate with rescue workers, ambulance drivers, doctors and police when they arrive. Consequently, it could result in a real tragedy. To help alleviate this problem, Trio Council on Aging will furnish to each requesting older American a typed form of vital, pertinent information regarding themselves. After the form is completed, a representative will place the form in a plastic vial and tape it in the refrigerator, placing a brilliant green and orange life-line sticker on the outside of the refrigerator door. This sticker will alert ambulance drivers, rescue teams, etc., that the information needed is in the vial inside.

The program is a duplication of one started last year in Monroe County. The choice of the refrigerator was made at that time not only for convenience but also because it is virtually fireproof. It also eliminates each person choosing a favorite spot to place the vial.

Police, ambulance services, rescue teams, fire departments, etc., have been sent copies of our new service information sheets. These sheets will make them aware of the program. With this information, they can look for the sticker and vial. Individuals interested in having a vial placed in their home can contact the nearest senior citizen drop-in center.

A word of caution to all older Americans that only when the representative of Trio Council on Aging contacts them should they allow him to enter the home to place the vial. This contact will be made only when the form has been completed at the local senior citizen center.

Why Tuff-Kote's two-step rustproofing is one better than anyone else.

Tuff-Kote gives rust the old 1-2.

Nobody can rustproof your car in one step exactly like Tuff-Kote can in two. First, we apply a unique penetrant that creeps through all welds, seams and crevices. It displaces moisture, goes down to the bare metal, and stops rust in its tracks. Then, we apply our special aluminized sealant that locks out moisture and prevents any new rust from starting. Only Tuff-Kote Dinol delivers this 1-2 punch against rust.

One step ahead from Australia to the Alps.

Tuff-Kote is the world's largest automotive rustproofers. Through the years we've developed an international reputation for conquering rust. Our two-step process has stopped rust cold from the humid salt air of the land down under, to the snow-drenched terrain of the Alps. This experience and know-how abroad enables us to solve every kind of automotive rust problem in America, from Maine to Hawaii.

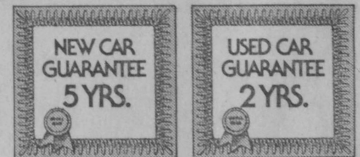

Why Tuff-Kote can effectively rustproof used cars.

If anyone tells you they can rustproof your used car in one step, start asking questions. One-step rustproofing may look like it coats the metal on your car. But if it doesn't penetrate existing rust, it can seal in moisture and create more rust damage than you may have had in the first place. Tuff-Kote's exclusive penetrant drives out moisture and neutralizes existing rust. Then our sealant prevents new rust from starting.

The Tuff-Kote two-step vs. the Johnny-come-lately shuffle.

Don't let some fast-talking upstart tell you that all rustproofing is the same. With over 15 years in the business, Tuff-Kote has more knowledge and experience about the prevention of rust than most of our competition put together. The Johnny-come-lately rustproofers don't use a two-step rustproofing process, like Tuff-Kote. They don't use 13 specialized tools, like Tuff-Kote. They don't send their employees through a rustproofing school, like Tuff-Kote. So it's not likely that they'll rustproof all the critical areas of your car, like Tuff-Kote. At Tuff-Kote, rustproofing is our profession. We have to do a better job.

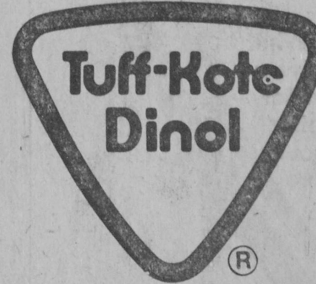

Two steps — two guarantees.

With an ordinary one-step process, there is no way in the world we would guarantee used car rustproofing. But our exclusive two-step process makes the difference. It enables us to guarantee most used cars, in writing, for two full years. It also enables us to guarantee new cars, in writing, for five years. And our limited guarantee covers every body part of your car from the window-line down. Some rustproofers guarantee only the parts they rustproof, which may be no more than the bottom six inches of the car.

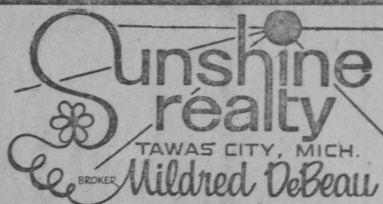

The big dividend.

If Tuff-Kote rustproofing was free, you wouldn't be able to drive over to your Tuff-Kote dealer fast enough. But there is a modest cost. Or we should say, "a modest investment." Since almost nothing eats away at a car's resale value faster than rust, it could cost you a lot more if we don't rustproof your car than if we do. Tuff-Kote Dinol Rustproofing. Maybe it's better than free. © 1976, Tuff-Kote Dinol, Inc.

Offer On-the-Job Training in Iosco

On-the-job training will be one of the major programs operated by Region 7B Employment and Training Consortium in 1978, says Roberta Volker, administrative director. A total of $163,000 has been budgeted for OJT in the coming fiscal year.

Title I CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) activity is the only program where CETA funds are channeled into private enterprise. The training is conducted on a "hire first-train later" basis with ultimate permanent placement with the training organization or another employer in the same field. Employers may be reimbursed up to a level not to exceed 50 percent of the entry level wages for training costs.

Participants must meet eligible requirements as set forth by federal regulations and Region 7B. Most will be referrals from other CETA programs or the Michigan Employment Security Commission, who works closely with Region 7B. Target groups for referrals include economically disadvantaged persons, unemployed, underemployed, veterans, handicapped and offenders.

For further information regarding the OJT program, contact Michael Revord, chief OJT, Region 7B Employment and Training Consortium, 1375 South Clare Avenue, Harrison, MI 48625.

Grand Opening Set January 29 for New Kroger Superstore

A new Kroger Superstore serving the Tawas area will open its doors on Sunday, January 29. A big grand opening celebration is planned that day with a ribbon cutting at 9:00 a. m.

The new store is located at 220 West Lake Street and was designed to replace the existing Kroger Store located across the street.

"When our old Tawas store was opened on October 22, 1958, it was more than adequate for the times, but consumers in the 1970s have different shopping needs and wants," said David A. Burt, Kroger's Michigan marketing area vice president. "This new kind of supermarket is designed to fulfill those expectations and provide the kind of shopping service they want." Customers will find the new store spacious, yet warm and friendly. The decor features warm earth tones accented with rugged wooden beams in various areas of the store. They will also find more than 12,000 items within the four departments: Grocery, meat, produce and delicatessen. Among the features of this superstore will be special areas such as bulk produce. Customers will be able to select their produce individually and in the quantity they desire like at a farmer's market; yet they will have a selection of more than 120 varieties of fresh fruits and vegetables.

International foods, dietary products, gourmet selections, are included in the grocery department along with more than 1,000 frozen food items. The meat department will offer all USDA choice beef and Grade A chill-pack chickens, along with pork, veal, lamb and seafood. The package size or quantity will vary with the customer's preference from two pork chops to a side of beef.

An assortment of health foods is there, such as sunflower seed soup, sea-salted soybeans or safflower mayonnaise. A special wine department offers both imported and domestic wines.

The delicatessen with its mouth-watering sights and scents will beckon shoppers to this department. In the delicatessen, which is topped by a wood-shingled roof and accented with the golden glow of lighted panels, prepared foods of all kinds are ready to carry home. There is traditional cole slaw or chopped liver; luncheon meats of every variety; tender, pink-centered slices of roast beef; succulent sausages; cheeses to suit every taste, from the mildest to the most aromatic and pungent; ribs and chickens turn lazily on a barbecue spit, sizzling as they brown.

"We are proud to have this thoroughly modern supermarket and, even though this store is much larger than a regular store, we will still provide courteous and prompt service," said Vice President Burt.

"We tried to think of everything when designing this store to the extent of careful planning of the energy usage. This store is equipped with a heat reclaiming system which utilizes wasted heat from refrigeration compressor motors to supply 75 percent of the store's heating needs. We will also use low energy lighting instead of regular fluorescent lights."

Approximately 75 specially trained employees serve the store and will be under the management of Robert Weisend, a Kroger Store manager with many years of experience.

 IMPERIAL GERMAN EMBASSY,
 WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL 22, 1915.
 THE GERMANS' WARNING AD.

AN EDITOR'S PRAYER: 'Deliver Us from Hatred'

Many times in life, individuals have wished for the ability to recant or wipe the slate clean of remarks or actions which have been ill advised or made in haste and have since returned to haunt the conscience. The same might be true for an entire nation and a case in point could well be the belligerent attitude of many citizens toward old neighbors just prior to and during America's entry into World War I.

That era between the outbreak of the European war in 1914 to the spring of 1917, when the United States joined the conflict, was a difficult time for the entire country. The majority of the people did not wish to see this country embroiled in a costly foreign war; American blood was too sacred to be spilled in a European fight.

Many families here in Iosco County traced their roots back to the European nations which were then in a belligerent mood; many had migrated to this country from Europe at an early age and, while true to their adopted land, felt a pang of regret when things were going wrong back home or, conversely, felt a swelling pride in the accomplishment of their old homeland's military arms.

The United States could not escape its destiny on the European battlefields of World War I—the Monroe Doctrine of 1823 had guaranteed the fact. Several of the European countries had strong footholds in South America and this nation's security seemed to be threatened because of pro-German governments in Brazil and other South American countries; in addition, the Atlantic Ocean could offer no insulation to the Western Hemisphere against involvement in a war on Continental Europe.

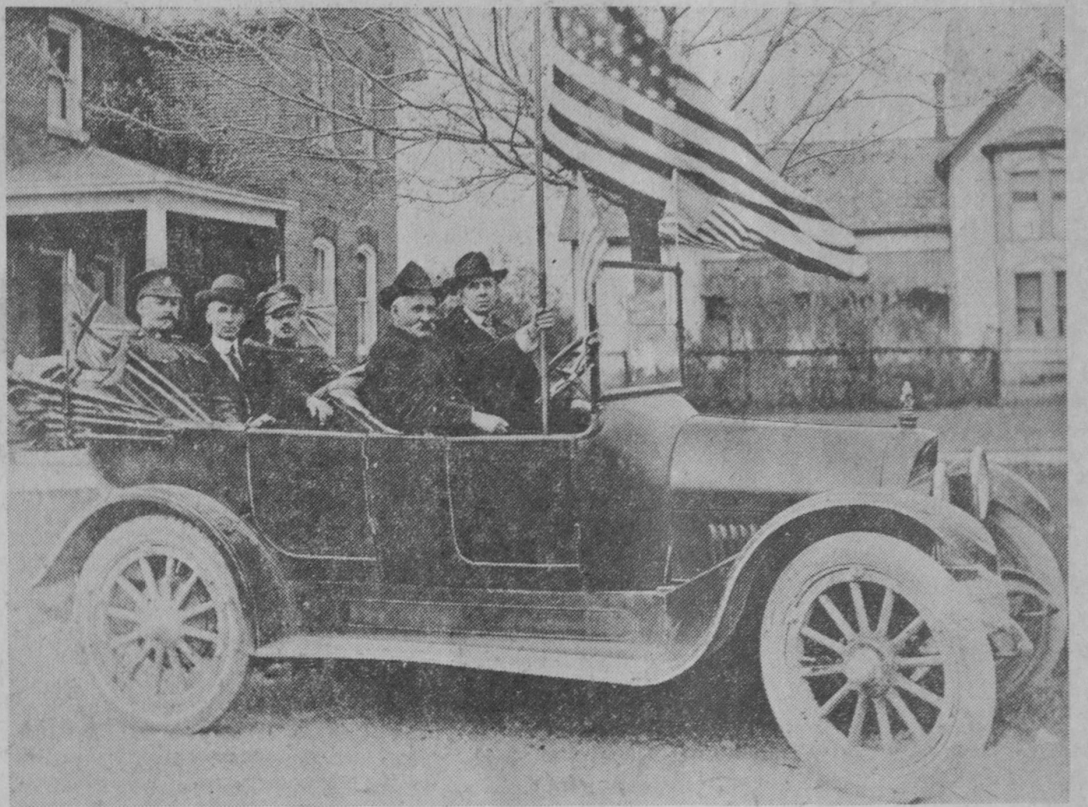

Particularly trying times were witnessed throughout this country during 1914-15. Pres. Woodrow Wilson was elected on a platform which declared he would keep us out of war, but many national leaders and not a few citizens believed that this country should immediately enter the conflict and on the side of the Allies. This led to spirited arguments between neighbors right here in Iosco County.

In 1915, the editor of the Iosco County Gazette took note of an event which had shaken the entire country. "We heard a naturalized German citizen of our city the other day condemning in moderate yet emphatic language the act which sent the Cunard liner, Lusitania, to the bottom of the Atlantic with its cargo of human souls. He made little or no attempt to excuse the crime which was instigated and carried out by those manipulating the war of the 'Fatherland,' his native home, against other European countries.

"We thought what a noble example of the truly naturalized foreign-born citizen and, in these strenuous and trying times, how commendable was this man's attitude. We should remember that the blood of every nation at war is mixed in our citizenship. America is made up of people from many lands. These people are, for the most part, good citizens, loyal to their adopted country, ready to defend it in the case of need, but we cannot expect them to entirely forget the kindred ties to their nativity."

"The blood of their forefathers is calling to each of them and in the heat of argument or in the excess of strong emotion it is easy to say or do that which will wound so many whose sympathies are with another country—with the place he once called home—with the land that shelters the bones of his ancestors.

"Let us use forbearance one to another. Let us concede to others that same right of sympathy which we ourselves enjoy. Let us remember that there is good among all people, honorable men of all races, justice in every land. Let us refrain from acrimonious debate and turn our united energies to the preserving of our free country from the horrors of the conflagration which is devastating Europe and this will be following out the policy of our own President Wilson."

WWI War Bond Parade

WAVING THE FLAG was the patriotic thing to do during World War I. This picture was snapped during an Iosco County war bond rally in 1918 and shows county officials with two military officers who assisted in the campaign. One had to have a legitimate reason for not buying government bonds during that war; if not, his name was placed on a "slacker list" and the names were made public. This incident and others leading up to and during World War I are described in this featurette.

In that same issue of the local paper, black headlines stated the "Nation Mourns Great Sea Horror of the War" and that about 140 Americans were lost when the Lusitania was torpedoed by a German submarine. Grave fears were felt by the administration that the torpedoing would lead to a wave of anti-German feeling that would sweep the country. The fact that many Americans were known to the Germans to be aboard the Lusitania excited the general populace. The sinking of the ship without warning indicated the Kaiser's government held America and Americans in cool contempt.

Argument over the sinking was local as well as national in scope. William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, resigned from President Wilson's cabinet when he believed a second note to the Imperial German government would provoke war between the two nations. "President Wilson could not recede from his demand that Germany observe the principles of international law and Bryan's advocacy of peace left no alternative other than that which he chose," stated the newspaper.

America did not go to war over the sinking of the Lusitania, but it began to prepare itself in case war came. On May 19, 1916, The Tawas Herald reported that a meeting was held at the East Tawas City Hall to organize a semi-military company of men from Tawas City, East Tawas and vicinity to be known as the Iosco Rifle Club.

"The object of the organization is the same as that being pursued in many places throughout the country where a citizen soldiery is being formed to give those interested an opportunity to secure a training of a military nature and to fit them for service as soldiers should occasion require," stated the article.

It was pointed out the organization would have no connection with the federal army or state militia, but ammunition, uniforms and other equipment would be furnished at a nominal figure by the military department of the federal government. Krag-Jorgenson rifles were sold at $5 each to those who wished to buy, and, with each five rifles purchased, the government loaned one to the company for use of those not wishing to purchase one.

Elected chairman of the organization was A. W. Black, East Tawas attorney, and Edd Pierson was named secretary. Fifteen men signed the roll and promoters formed a company of 60 or more men.

"There is a great deal to be said in favor of an organization of this kind as it gives an insight into military training without compelling its members to bind themselves in any manner to perform military duty," editorialized the Herald. "In case of need, the training thus received in this organization would fit a man to become a real soldier in time of war with a great deal less drill than would be necessary under ordinary circumstances."

War finally came to the United States on April 6, 1917, when President Wilson signed a resolution passed by congress declaring that a state of war existed between the United States and Germany. In a gigantic wave of patriotism, citizens throughout the land immediately supported measures of the government aimed at winning the conflict and there was a rush by young men to military recruiting stations throughout the country.

One of those measures by the government prescribed the status of aliens while this country was at war. Under instructions from the immigration department to county clerks, no German could obtain naturalization papers while a state of war existed between this country and Germany. This also applied to those who had obtained first papers and who, in the eyes of the law, were still aliens. Headlines in the daily newspapers told of the roundup of German spies and some aliens in the larger cities.

A rather sad note was printed in the Herald two weeks later which indicated an entirely different aspect of the war on the home front. A local family of German descent paid for a front page notice stating "the undersigned have been the victims of a malicious rumor to the effect that we are not loyal to the American flag and we hereby brand the rumor as false." The public notice stated that although the father of the family was of German descent, "He is American born and knows no other flag than the Stars and Stripes." The wife declared her loyalty by the fact that her father had been a member of the Ninth Michigan Infantry Regiment from 1861 to 1865 during the Civil War. "An American flag flying over our home is an added proof of our loyalty. What more can we do to prove it, we ask of the man who criticizes us."

It was not long before the rolls of the army and navy included men of all walks of life and made up of many people with heritages traced back to many lands. The military rolls included many Iosco men who were second generation members of German-American families.

On June 29, 1917, The Tawas Herald touched a very important point in its editorial, "Deliver Us from Hatred." The editorial said that Americans could not afford to harbor hatred and, especially, could they not afford animosity toward citizens of foreign descent. "If the citizen of Teutonic blood is loyal to our country though he grieves at the necessity for war with his fatherland, his burden is heavy enough without the added knowledge of suspicion that he is viewed with antagonism and distrust," stated the Herald.

The editorial pointed out that there were some who were unquestionably traitors to the land of their adoption, "but they will soon come to their just end—time will efface them. If Americans are even approximately true to their ideals, they will not permit the loyal to suffer for the acts of the disloyal. To do so would be to defeat the very aims in view of the struggle before us."

The editorial also pointed out that no great cause was ever won without martyrdom. "Some must suffer greatly, all must suffer some. It is nature's way in which she works out human redemption. But if bitterness and hatred are permitted to creep into the martyrdom and suffering, their uplifting and purifying influence is nullified."

On July 6, 1917, the Herald noted Sheriff Thomas Hill reported that someone had been circulating seditious literature among the men working on construction of Foote Dam, a project essential to the war effort. One man was arrested and samples of the literature he was distributing were secured. He was turned over to federal authorities at Bay City for prosecution.

As the war progressed and practically everyone's thoughts were involved in the nation's war effort—on the farm and in the factory—along with worry over the men overseas, some of the high toned editorial comments of 1917 were forgotten by the editors. One of the most disturbing headlines ever to appear in the Herald was printed on October 25, 1918. In the form of a public notice signed by the County War Board, a resident of Baldwin Township was named as a slacker for refusing to purchase Liberty Bonds.

"While making great claims as a 'Good American Citizen,' he still (See WORLD WAR I, page 6.)

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Exodus 16:13-30)

"Gather of it, every man of you, as much as he can eat; you shall take an omer apiece, according to the number of persons whom each of you has in his tent." (Exodus 16:16 RSV)

The quails and manna in the wilderness offered proof of God's care in providing for His children. Even in the face of this generosity, however, human nature showed its perverse side, and Moses had to remind the people not to take more than they needed. In this case, the hoarders did not enjoy the fruits of their greed. The hoarded manna spoiled.

Successive generations have failed to profit by the experience of the children of Israel and frequently the worst offenders are those regarded as most highly civilized. The plants of the earth, the beasts of the field, the fowls of the air and the fish of the waters are gifts of the Creator—to be used, not abused.

Very late we are learning what God, through Moses, tried to teach His people long ago. God is generous and His gifts are many, but His natural resources are not inexhaustible. We must be good stewards, not spoilers, of these resources.

PRAYER

O Lord, help us to see the treasures that are ours in all Thy works, and strengthen us in our determination to use them as any good steward uses entrusted treasures. Amen.

Thursday sewing sessions are held each week, starting at 10:00 a. m. Women are encouraged to attend and bring a sandwich.

Hostesses for the day were Grace Mark, Anna Schaaaf, Georgia Sims and Edith Thornton.

Rev. Laidler Exchanged Pulpits

The Rev. Keith Laidler, son-in-law of the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Symons of Tawas City, participated in a six-week exchange of pulpits with the Rev. Peter Lancaster of Wrenthorpe Methodist Church, England.

Pastor of the First United Methodist Church at St. Johns, Mr. Laidler may be remembered in this community for his singing over WIOS-Radio in the early 1960s, sponsored by the Alabaster Community Church.

As his last duty at Wrenthorpe, Mr. Laidler participated in a cornerstone laying ceremony for a new Sunday school extension.

Disability Rules Strict For Social Security

The social security disability benefits program has stricter eligibility requirements than many other disability programs, a social security representative said today.

The spokesperson noted that some programs pay benefits based on occupational disability; social security does not. Some programs pay benefits based on percentage of impairment; social security does not. Some programs pay benefits based on short-term disability; social security does not.

What social security does is to pay benefits to severely disabled workers who have worked long enough and recently enough under social security and to certain members of their families.

To be disabled under the social security law, a worker must have a physical or mental impairment so severe that it prevents him or her from engaging in substantial gainful work for a year or longer or is expected to result in death.

The amount of social security work credit needed to qualify for benefits depends on the worker's age at the time he or she becomes disabled. It ranges from 1 1/2 years of credit earned in a 3-year period for a worker disabled at age 24 or earlier, up to almost 7 years of credit (with 5 years of credit earned in the 10-year period before disability) for a worker disabled in his or her late 40's or later.

No benefits are payable during the first 5 full months the worker is disabled; the first possible payment is for the 6th full month of disability.

When a worker is found disabled under the law, benefits can be paid to certain dependents. These include:

- Unmarried children under 18; 18-22 if full-time students; over 18 if disabled before 22.

- A wife under 65 caring for an entitled child under 18 or disabled.

- A wife 62 or older even if there are no eligible children.
- A husband 62 or older.

Generally, once disability payments begin they will continue as long as the disability prevents the person from working. Also, after receiving benefits for 24 consecutive months, the disabled person becomes eligible for Medicare health insurance.

All social security offices have several free pamphlets that describe the disability benefits program. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Tawas Hosted Third Annual Skating Meet

15 Years Ago—
January 16, 1963—About 125 speed skaters competed here Saturday in the Tawas Chamber of Commerce's third annual skating meet. Strong winds out of the northeast broke up Tawas Bay ice Thursday and Friday, forcing Edward Seifert Jr. and his committee to arrange for a new rink inside the bight of the Tawas Waterways Commission Dock.

Marlin G. Eaton of Bay City is the new area power sales engineer for Consumers Power Company.

The new Tawas City Elementary Unit has been approved by the state fire marshal and state electrical board.

Herman Dehnke of Harrisville, retired circuit judge and the Alpena Representative District's delegate to the state constitutional convention, states he would be happy to hear from any Iosco County resident who may have questions concerning the new state constitution.

Iosco County finished out 1962 with a balance of $24,717.50 in the treasury. Starting the year with a deficit of $2,346.90, the county had receipts of $317,809.21 and disbursements of $290,744.71.

Carl B. Babcock Jr. and Roxey Roach managed to reach shore safely after Babcock's auto broke through the ice of Tawas Bay Friday night. The vehicle disappeared in about 16 feet of water.

25 Years Ago—
January 23, 1953—Dizzy Trout, former Tiger baseball star, and Bob Reynolds, WJR announcer, will be here to take part in the Silver Valley events and coronation ceremonies February 6, 7 and 8.

First meeting of the newly-created Tawas Bay Harbor Commission will be held next week. Officers are to be selected. Nathan Barkman, W. D. Nunn and Carl Babcock had a conference with Bert Robb of the State Waterways Commission relative to harbor improvements.

Velda Killey of Whittemore was crowned Iosco County cherry pie queen by Gordon Helmbold, superintendent of Plainfield Schools.

Suggestions that would help improve its service to the community are being asked for by the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, states T. S. Dimmick, president.

Harry Goldsmith has started work on improvements to his beach frontage property east of the Tawas City Park. During the next few days, 2,000 yards of fill dirt will be used to level off the site.

Test wells drilled in the hope of supplementing the present water supply at Oscoda have been abandoned. The wells failed to produce the necessary volume to make them a profitable addition. A filtration plant utilizing river water has been suggested.

35 Years Ago—
January 15, 1943—Proposed legislation which would allow established rural agricultural schools to force consolidation of smaller adjoining school districts has been opposed by 47 state county school commissioners.

Sgt. Charles Follette of the 127th Infantry has been seriously injured while on duty in New Guinea. He is a former Hale resident.

Point rationing will start in February for canned, bottled and frozen fruits, vegetables, juices, dried fruits and soups.

Robert Klenow had the misfortune to break bones of his left leg while training in the physical education class of East Tawas High School at the community building.

Sealed proposals are being accepted for carrying United States mail between the Tawas City post office and the Detroit and Mackinac Railway station, according to Lydia T. Bing, postmaster.

Energy Program Offered by MSU

Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service in Iosco County announces the availability of several new programs which focus on energy. These programs are available at no cost to interested clubs and organizations in the county.

A series of four programs can be used individually or in sequence. Topics are running out of energy, energy and ecosystems, energy and world food production and developing an energy policy. Each program includes a slide tape about 15 minutes in length as well as bulletins which correspond. Any or all of them are appropriate for service clubs or other short programs.

Energy Resource Game is a simulation game developed especially for MSU's Cooperative Extension Service. It is based on household energy costs now and 13 years from now. Playing the game is challenging for participants and it raises questions about the trade-offs involved between money spent for energy and money spent for other areas. The game requires at least two hours and a minimum of nine players.

For more information about any of the above programs, contact Susan Lambrecht, county extension director, 362-3449.

Tawas Hosted Third Annual Skating Meet

15 Years Ago—
January 16, 1963—About 125 speed skaters competed here Saturday in the Tawas Chamber of Commerce's third annual skating meet. Strong winds out of the northeast broke up Tawas Bay ice Thursday and Friday, forcing Edward Seifert Jr. and his committee to arrange for a new rink inside the bight of the Tawas Waterways Commission Dock.

Marlin G. Eaton of Bay City is the new area power sales engineer for Consumers Power Company.

The new Tawas City Elementary Unit has been approved by the state fire marshal and state electrical board.

Herman Dehnke of Harrisville, retired circuit judge and the Alpena Representative District's delegate to the state constitutional convention, states he would be happy to hear from any Iosco County resident who may have questions concerning the new state constitution.

Iosco County finished out 1962 with a balance of $24,717.50 in the treasury. Starting the year with a deficit of $2,346.90, the county had receipts of $317,809.21 and disbursements of $290,744.71.

Carl B. Babcock Jr. and Roxey Roach managed to reach shore safely after Babcock's auto broke through the ice of Tawas Bay Friday night. The vehicle disappeared in about 16 feet of water.

25 Years Ago—
January 23, 1953—Dizzy Trout, former Tiger baseball star, and Bob Reynolds, WJR announcer, will be here to take part in the Silver Valley events and coronation ceremonies February 6, 7 and 8.

First meeting of the newly-created Tawas Bay Harbor Commission will be held next week. Officers are to be selected. Nathan Barkman, W. D. Nunn and Carl Babcock had a conference with Bert Robb of the State Waterways Commission relative to harbor improvements.

Velda Killey of Whittemore was crowned Iosco County cherry pie queen by Gordon Helmbold, superintendent of Plainfield Schools.

Suggestions that would help improve its service to the community are being asked for by the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, states T. S. Dimmick, president.

Harry Goldsmith has started work on improvements to his beach frontage property east of the Tawas City Park. During the next few days, 2,000 yards of fill dirt will be used to level off the site.

Test wells drilled in the hope of supplementing the present water supply at Oscoda have been abandoned. The wells failed to produce the necessary volume to make them a profitable addition. A filtration plant utilizing river water has been suggested.
