Believe Plane May Have Had Engine Failure

Pilot Seriously Burned in Crash

A 27-year-old air force officer flying a single engine light plane received third degree burns over 90 percent of his body shortly before 12:30 p. m. Tuesday when the Cessna 206 crashed and burned after taking off from the Iosco County Airport.

1Lt. Douglas Woodson, assigned to Grissom Air Force Base, Indiana, was later transferred to Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda, for air evacuation to a military burn center.

Woodson was piloting a plane owned by the Kokomo Aviation Company of Kokomo, Indiana. He had landed at the airport in Baldwin Township to deliver a load of tools to Tawas Tool Company, located on Aulerich Road.

"I was watching the plane when it took off from the airport headed from east to west and noticed the pilot was in trouble because he was too low," stated Roger Lumley, manager of the tool company.

"I kept saying to myself, 'pull up, pull up' and he finally banked to the south as if to be coming back to land, but he veered off to the north and crashed."

The plane crashed in a brushy area about one-half mile north from the western outer edge of the airport. Lumley spotted smoke from the burning aircraft and, when he was unable to get into the airport office which was closed during the noon hour, rushed back to the Tawas Tool Company plant for assistance.

"I was operating a machine when Lumley came in and told Peter Guano and I to get to the airport quick to help the pilot as the plane had just crashed," said Richard Burris, who with Guano were the first to reach the scene. David Leslie and another employee stopped to pick up some fire extinguishers and arrived moments later.

Authorities are still unable to determine how Woodson managed to escape from the burning plane, but he fought his way through the brush into an open field and ran toward the airport, apparently with his clothing still burning. He was found hanging on a fence by the two Tawas Tool Company employees near the Deer Haven Lodge.

Scratches on the screen door and blood on the front step indicated that the injured pilot had attempted to get into a unoccupied and locked deer hunting lodge.

Woodson's clothing was completely burned away down to the shoes, his hair was singed and he had sustained cuts to the chin, fingers and possibly other injuries.

"When we found him he asked us to take his wife's telephone number and the number of Kokomo Aviation in order that they could be notified immediately," said Burris.

Lumley notified Iosco County Sheriff's Department and the East Tawas Fire Department dispatched several of its units to the scene, including a four-wheel drive vehicle which was able to penetrate the wooded area. Iosco County Sheriff's deputies, East Tawas Police Chief Donald Docking and Michigan State Police officers arrived shortly thereafter. Firemen used portable back pack pumps to put out brush fires caused by the burning aircraft, which was completely demolished.

Woodson was given emergency assistance by East Tawas firemen until arrival of an ambulance from Tawas Hospital.

Lumley told investigating officers that it appeared as though Woodson's plane had experienced engine failure.

Investigators from the Federal Aeronautics Administration were to have been at the crash scene last night (Tuesday) or Wednesday morning.

Historical Museum-Art Gallery Has June 17 Grand Opening

Grand opening of the Iosco County Historical Museum and the Tawas Bay Arts Council Gallery is scheduled for Saturday, June 17.

The Iosco County Historical Society was founded December 20, 1967. A long-term goal of the group was a county museum to preserve and display Iosco County history.

Realization of this goal will be the grand opening of the museum, sponsored by the historical society and Tawas Bay Arts Council, located in the former L. G. McKay Sr. residence at 405 West Bay Street, East Tawas.

Tawas Bay Artists are founders of the oldest and largest art show in Northeastern Michigan, drawing artists from all over the United States. This year's show in August marks the 18th annual event.

These two organizations will present a diverse program for the grand opening. Guest speaker is John Cumming, director of the Clarke Historical Library at Central Michigan University and a trustee of the Historical Society of Michigan.

Cumming is a contributor to historical journals, including an article concerning his late friend, Joseph Barkman of East Tawas. His hobby is operating a private press at his home, publishing historical narratives in limited editions. He printed the historical book, "Sawdust Days," by Edna M. Otis of East Tawas in 1973.

There will be an exhibition of monochromatic paintings by Paul Wolber of Parma. He was awarded best of show in the 1977 Tawas Bay Art Show. He is listed as an artist-educator in "Who's Who in American Art" for 1976. He is currently associate professor of art at Spring Arbor College.

Wolber's paintings have been included in more than 100 state, regional and national competitive exhibitions. He has received awards from Mitchel Museum of Art, Southern Illinois Artists' Exhibition, Evansville Museum of Art, Illinois State Fair Exhibition and Illinois-Indiana Bicentennial Exhibition.

The 1:00 p. m. program will be followed by an open house with guided tours until 5 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Council Denies Rezoning of Residential Lots to Industrial

With seven property owners and the entire council opposed to a zoning change, Tawas City Council Monday night unanimously denied a request to rezone five lots fronting on Ninth Avenue from residential A to industrial.

The council went on record, however, indicating the city would try to work out a suitable property exchange involving five privately-owned lots for a suitable location in the industrial park which would enable the applicant to construct an industrial building.

The request to rezone Lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of Block 23, King's Second Addition, located north of Industrial Avenue, had been presented by John D. and Thomas LeClair.

The LeClairs were present at Monday night's public hearing on the proposed rezoning and said they desired to construct a small industrial-type building on the five lots north of Industrial Avenue for boat storage or warehouse use.

LeClair said he had talked with one adjoining neighbor concerning the proposed rezoning and no objection was expressed. He said he would stand on his past record that nothing objectionable or offensive to neighbors would be permitted in the building.

Two residential property owners, Ervin H. Ulman and Ferris Brown, commented that there was presently a high noise level in the neighborhood due to existing industry while Mrs. Barry Schley, another neighbor, believed that further expansion of the industrial zone would depreciate residential property values.

Coun. Jerry Cotter expressed the opinion that the five lots, which have a depth of only 90 feet, would not be suitable for industry because of the existing industrial zoning requirement for a 50-foot setback line from Ninth Avenue. It was also pointed out that the zoning ordinance requires a 20-foot rear and side lot setback for industrial, which would permit an industrial building only 20 feet deep.

Coun. Hugo Keiser said that parking would have to be provided and pointed out that a number of good residential dwellings existed in the area. He suggested that the LeClairs reconsider a land swap which had previously been proposed to locate in the city's industrial zone.

County Commission Race Closes With Late Filings

Candidates for the Iosco County Board of Commissioners had until Tuesday afternoon (yesterday) to file nominating petitions with the county clerk. A primary election is to be held August 8.

Joseph Fox of Tawas City announced last week that he would not be a candidate for re-election as Fourth District commissioner.

Filing petitions as a candidate for the Fourth District seat was Marian L. Ulman of Tawas Township.

Filing petitions for re-election were Jack W. Allen, First District; John D. Webb Jr., Fifth District; Carlton Merschel, Third District.

David George, who was recently elected to fill a vacancy in the Second District, filed his petitions. All of the above are Republicans.

Democrats filing for commission seats were Hope Rescoe, Fourth District, and Robert Pember, Fifth District.

District One comprises Oscoda Township east of F-41, part of Wurtsmith Air Force Base, plus that area east of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway to the south of F-41. District No. 2 includes the easterly two-thirds of the Capehart housing area and the area to the south, including part of Northern AuSable Township.

ET Housing Commission to Answer Letter of Mrs. Stewart

A letter from Elaine Stewart, former secretary to the East Tawas Housing Commission and assistant to the executive director, concerning alleged irregularities in commission operations, has been turned over to the housing commission for investigation and clarification.

Mayor Robert Bolen, to whom the letter was addressed, said Tuesday that he had instructed the housing commission to hold a special meeting this week to answer charges contained in the communication and to report back to the city council.

A copy of the former housing commission secretary's nine-page communication to the mayor was also submitted as a letter to the editor of The Tawas Herald. Because of its length and allegations contained therein, the housing commission's clarification to the East Tawas Council is awaited.

The East Tawas Housing Commission has been delegated by the city council to administer operation of Bay Park Tower and is presently considering construction of a second housing unit.

In her letter, Mrs. Stewart said it was "with real personal sadness that I found it necessary to tender my resignation as secretary."

She said, however, that "the situation there was fast approaching a point where my integrity and principles would be so blighted that I would soon fall prey to 'guilt by association and participation' . . . My decision was not a spur of the moment action; it has been under consideration for several months."

The former secretary said her letter was not an indictment of all commission members, but alleged that federal HUD regulations were not being followed and cited illegal closed sessions of the commission. The letter also alleged a conflict of interest on the commission, building code violations, harassment of a renter, changing of commission minutes and other charges.

Mayor Bolen told the Herald Tuesday that he received the letter a week ago. He said he had not been aware of any of the alleged irregularities, that it would serve no useful purpose to bring the matter before the city council until the housing commission had the opportunity to answer any and all charges.

Millage Proposals - Board Races Feature Elections

Three millage proposals plus three slates of board of education candidates will be placed before voters of three Iosco County schools next Monday.

Polls open at 7:00 a. m. and close at 8:00 p. m. at Hale and Tawas Area Schools. Polls at Whittemore-Prescott Area Schools open at 10:00 a. m.

Tawas Area School voters are to receive three ballots, one listing candidates for the board of education, the second for a millage proposal and a third asking voter approval of a transfer to the building and site fund.

Nominating petitions have been filed by four candidates seeking to fill a four-year term on the board of education. Candidates include Estella Bonds, Susan Rieth, Larry Wingrove and Loren Dalbec.

Two persons seeking to fill a three-year vacancy on the board of education are Richard Dines and Barbara Miller.

Voters will be requested to approve renewal of the present 12 mills for operation for three years, plus a request to transfer $210,000 in delinquent taxes to the building and site fund.

Filing petitions for two vacancies on Hale Area Board of Education are Richard A. Braun, David A. Brumfield, Dale L. Humphrey, Joseph E. Kimmerer, Audrey Koehler, Evelyn Moore and Gerald Peters. Voters of the district are also being requested to renew a school operational tax levy of 14.75 mills.

Four candidates have filed for two vacancies on Whittemore-Prescott Area Board of Education. (See ELECTION, page 6.)

Hear Objection to Proposed Elias Brothers' Restaurant

Objection over proposed location of Elias Brothers' Big Boy Restaurant east of the "Y" intersection of US-23 and Tawas Beach Road was made indicated at Monday night's meeting of the East Tawas Council.

Acting under provisions of city ordinance, East Tawas' building inspector had approved an application from Elias Brothers to construct a restaurant and motel earlier this month.

Appearing before Monday night's meeting was Charles Schreck, a Tawas Beach Road resident, who said he represented a group of property owners opposing the construction.

He requested a detailed plan for the proposal.

Kenneth L. Verlac, realtor, presented plans for the proposed restaurant-motel to be located at the present site of Hurley's Lazy Pine Cabins at 1222 East US-23.

Mayor Robert Bolen pointed out that the owners had agreed to install a privacy fence between their commercial property and residential property. The mayor also stated that the council had authorized the building inspector to act as its agent concerning approval of building applications according to terms of city ordinance.

City Council Split on Deleting Fire Run Pay

Tawas City Council was evenly divided on a roll call vote Monday night concerning allowance of a bill paying volunteer firemen for answering a call outside its jurisdiction.

During a discussion, on bills, Coun. James Lansky, former fire chief, pointed out that past practice had been for the council to deny payment of such a bill and cited several past instances.

He felt that the fire department, which provides service to Tawas and Alabaster Townships, should be aware of the contractual boundary lines, particularly since the boundary between Tawas and Baldwin Townships is irregular.

Lansky pointed out that fire departments of Tawas City and East Tawas have an excellent mutual assistance agreement, but pointed out that the East Tawas department had not been notified of the fire.

He believed that in this instance, answering a chimney fire at the Raymond VanHorn residence in Baldwin Township, that the East Tawas department should have been notified as it provides fire service to Baldwin Township under contract.

Coun. Robert N. Rollin, Charles Landon and Mayor Herbert Cholger were of the opinion that the fire department was manned by volunteers and should not be penalized for answering this call outside of the contractual boundaries. All voted to allow the bill.

Lansky was joined by Coun. Hugo Keiser and Jerry Cotter in voting to deny the bill. Coun. William Ezo was not present at the meeting and a tie vote resulted.

Councilman Cotter suggested that payment be deferred until a report is received from the fire chief at the next meeting.

In other business, Geraldine Lemon of the Tawas Tennis Association was present and requested information concerning progress on lighting of the tennis courts at the North Street athletic field.

The city manager reported that the council had authorized installation of the lights on recommendation of the parks and recreation board, but that Consumers Power Company was now requiring an underground electrical service which would cost an additional $1,320.

The council directed that lights presently on hand be installed and that the city manager negotiate with the power company on the matter of electrical service.

A public hearing is to be held at the next council meeting concerning a proposed rate increase requested by General Cable Television, which operates its service here under a 15-year contract expiring in 1988. Under terms of the franchise a public hearing may be held concerning a rate increase.

Steven Kniffin, regional manager for American Television and Communications Corporation, parent company of the local television cable service, asked an increase in monthly rates from $5 to $6. He said the increase was necessary due to inflation and that the company was presently considering installation of new equipment to bring four additional channels via satellite.

The firm is to present a financial statement in conjunction with the public hearing at the next meeting.

A request from Clara Trombley to rent the former Lubaway building included in a recent property purchase by the city was turned over to the city attorney and parks and recreation board for a recommendation. It has been proposed to rent the building on a short term basis for antique and retail sales. It was pointed out that the building has no plumbing and may not meet health requirements.

On recommendation of City Clerk Rachel S. McCready, pay of election inspectors was established at the minimum wage of $2.65 per hour. Precinct chairmen are to be paid an additional $5 per day. The former rate was $2.50 per hour for election inspectors. The new rate of pay, plus mileage, is also to be paid for attendance at annual schools of instruction for election boards.

A discussion on projects, equipment purchases and buildings is to be held at the next meeting.

Because of the Independence Day holiday, July meeting dates have been changed to July 10 and July 24.

Local School Districts Get State Aid Payments

Local school districts have been sent the fifth payment of state school aid funds for the 1977-78 school year. These funds are taken from state tax revenues and are based on a formula which, on the average, enables each school district to provide equal educational opportunities for all school children throughout the state.

Payments to Iosco schools included $327,850 in state aid and $60,879 in Title I to Oscoda Area School; $42,048 in state aid and $11,200 in Title I to Tawas Area School; $126,163 in state aid and $11,818 in Title I to Whittemore-Prentiss Area School.

Because of its high property valuation behind each student, Hale Area School did not qualify for state aid.

Hearing

trial park. He said the council must respect the rights of residential as well as industrial property owners in this matter.

LeClair said that he had a prospective client who was interested in locating on the five lots, but doubted if he would be interested in the industrial park location. He said that Sixth Street would have to be extended and that considerable fill would be required on the alternate site.

The area bounded by Seventh Avenue on the east and Ninth Avenue on the west and by Fourth Street on the north and the railroad tracks on the south is surrounded by a row of residential dwellings on three sides.

The inner property, purchased by the city about 45 years ago, is the location of the municipal sewer disposal plant along the railroad tracks. Intersecting the property is Industrial Avenue, running east to west from Ninth Avenue to Seventh Avenue.

The city later disposed of portions of this interior land to Tawas Plating and Bopp-Busch Manufacturing Company for development of small industries. Those industries are now expanding facilities on their vacant property.

LeClair pointed out that property fronting on Ninth Avenue south of Industrial Avenue was presently zoned industrial and, if purchased at some time, could be used for industrial purposes despite the presence of dwellings along the east side of the street.

He said he had purchased the five lots along Ninth Avenue north of Industrial as a potential site for the American Legion Hall. He also pointed out that the city garage is located north of Fourth Street, along with Brooks Auto Parts.

Mayor Herbert Cholger expressed the opinion that the city had allotted land in its industrial park to the south and west of Ninth Avenue for such purposes and felt it would be advantageous for all concerned for any new buildings to be located there. The industrial park is served by both water and sewer.

In denying the zoning change, the council directed the city manager to meet with the LeClairs in an effort to develop an exchange of land with the city. Coun. Robert Rollin suggested that the five lots could be utilized for a neighborhood park.

At the same time, the council directed the planning commission to prepare a plat of remaining city-owned industrial property between the railroad tracks and Sixth Street west of Ninth Avenue, which also adjoins a 40-acre potential industrial site to the west which the city recently purchased.

The original portion of the industrial park, purchased a number of years ago from Gordon Clute, has never been platted, although a number of parcels have been sold. Seven of 13 residential property owners in the neighborhood were present at the hearing.

DNR Says No Suitable Uses for Tawas River Mouth

Ronald Kaiser, donations coordinator of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' recreation services division, said in a letter to the City of Tawas City that the DNR does not have suitable uses for a site at the mouth of the Tawas River offered as a gift to the state.

"However, a site review involving staff from the department, as well as city officials, may modify this position," said Kaiser. "If it does not, we would encourage you to develop a site for recreation purposes."

Kaiser said that James Beers of the DNR is to contact the city regarding a site inspection. The earliest meeting date possible would be in July.

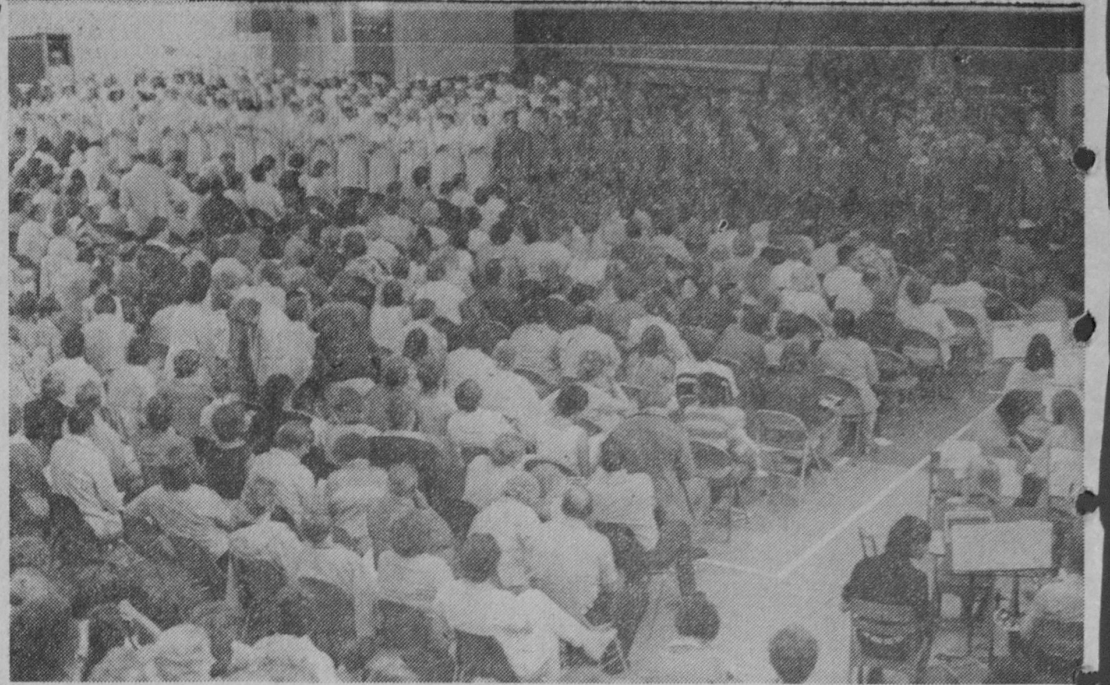

"If after this site review our interest in this gift is changed, we can advise as to the next steps. In the event the land is best suited for development by the city, Beers can outline a potential program for development utilizing grant monies," said Kaiser.

The property proposed as a gift to the state from the city comprises the east side of the river mouth and was purchased from the Lubaw family.

Progress on the development is to be discussed at Thursday's meeting of the Tawas City Parks and Recreation Board.

Plan Exhibits Now for '78 Fair

It is time to start preparing exhibits for the 1978 Iosco County Fair at Hale.

This was the word from Richard M. Samson, secretary-manager, who said that assembling of exhibits would start at 9:00 a. m. on Wednesday, July 26.

"There is less than two months between now and July 26, so time is short and the opening day of the fair will soon be here. We would like to have entries from all sections of the county and now is the time to start making plans," said Samson.

Included with this week's issue of the Herald is the 1978 guide for exhibitors, which lists the program, premium list and rules for entry.

Besides divisions associated with agriculture, there are many other areas opening for exhibits including flowers, plants, home economics, domestic arts, antiques, art, hobbies and handicraft.

In addition, there is a youth division with many opportunities for exhibits. A special youth division preregistration entry form is printed on page eight of the special premium list supplement.

Fair-goers will have four big days of program activities and the midway is scheduled to open Tuesday, July 25.

"The Iosco County Agricultural Society encourages participation by all residents and hopes to make the 1978 fair better than ever," said Samson.

Tawas Bay Arts Council Plans Exhibit

Tawas Bay Arts Council will sponsor an exhibition of monochromatic paintings at the Iosco County Historical Museum June 14 through 20. Paul J. Wolber of Parma is the artist who created these paintings.

Wolber was selected "best of the show" winner at the 1977 Tawas Bay Art Show. Listed as an artist/educator in "Who's Who in American Art" of 1976, he is currently associate professor of art at Spring Arbor College. From 1965-1976, he developed the art program at Greenville College and received the outstanding educator of America awards in 1972 and 1975. His paintings have been shown in over 100 state, regional and national competitive exhibitions.

Wolber's paintings of the Midwest deal simultaneously with abstraction and realism. The artist presents a challenging and highly-resolved statement of reality based on the formal and expressive qualities of art. They show a simultaneous command of subtlety in both color and value.

The public is invited to see this exhibit. It will be open each afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock.

SMOKE "A. S." CIGAR!!

MANUFACTURED BY

A candidate for the office of vice president of the United States once declared during a time of inflation that "what this country really needs is a good five-cent cigar!" Thankfully, for the sake of the country, that candidate was not elected to office.

But his statement brings to mind the fact that the prevailing price for cigars in the 1890s was two-for-a-nickel and some of those "two-fers" were manufactured right here at East Tawas.

There probably is not a person living today who smoked one of Ambrose Schill's products, but he manufactured cigars at East Tawas for 30 years prior to his death on January 31, 1914.

Cigarettes were not popular at the turn of the century and, in 1880, 60 percent of all cigarettes were manufactured in New York City. In 1910, they were still primarily an urban smoke with Camels being the number one brand.

During the eighteenth century, tobacco leaves were fashioned into a twisted form—yards long. This rope twist, still sold in parts of the Southern States, was sliced into shavings for use in a pipe, ground for snuff or cut into bite-size for chewing.

As chewing became popular, plug tobacco was manufactured by using pressure devices to compress the tobacco into a flat cake. Plugs weighed one pound and a clerk sliced it into pieces using a special cutter.

The rise of the cigar came during the first half of the nineteenth century with three grades emerging—the expensive Havana, the cheaper blended domestic cigar and the cheap cheroot or stogie.

By 1890, cigars were highly competitive and hundreds of "two-fers" brands were on the market. Cigars featured a band with colorfully embossed trademark and labels on wooden or cardboard boxes featuring colorful brand names.

These boxes and labels are among the most sought-after collectibles today, but an "A.S." or "D&M" label of A. S. Schill has never been discovered in any local collection.

Not much has been recorded concerning the cigar manufacturing business at East Tawas, although some old-timers may recall that Schill's building was located on the north side of East State Street across from the present-day office of Mutual Savings.

The Tawas Herald made this mention in its March 4, 1892, issue: "Ambrose Schill, having leased his place of business to Alfred Bradley, will open up a cigar factory in the old company building, corner of Bay and Newman Streets. Mr. S. proposes to manufacture cigars this season on an extensive scale." He had been a cigar maker at East Tawas some years before that date.

That same year, the Herald noted

THIS BRICK FRONTED building on East State Street housed Ambrose Schill's cigar making business. It was later purchased by Edna Otis for the office of The Iosco County Gazette and later an antique shop. Schill is shown in the buggy with his two children.

the fact that E. E. Jahraus and Company's "Smile" brand cigar was being manufactured at East Tawas. That same year, the company went out of business.

Schill's marketing area probably was limited to communities along the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, which would have meant that the operation was quite small in comparison to those of larger cities. That was probably the reason for his "D&M" brand.

One of the cigar makers employed by Schill was Peter Pfeiffer of Tawas City.

By 1900, there was a multitude of tobacco brands on the market including 12,600 chewing tobaccos, 7,000 smoking brands and 2,100 cigar and cigarette manufacturers.

Store owners were induced to stock brands by numerous promotional gimmicks, including counter displays, cigar cutters, wall lighters and printed matter ranging from professional sports and historic figures to leg art.

The consumer was rewarded with picture cards and premiums for prizes, while youngsters of the day assembled large collections of the small metal brand tabs fastened to each plug of tobacco.

In larger cities, carved wooden figures of an American Indian became the emblem of the cigar store and tobacco specialty shop. It is not known if one of these figures, now a rare form of American folk art, ever adorned the streets of East Tawas or Tawas City.

There is a possibility that a cigar store Indian was located in front of the tobacco shop of Philip S. Applebaum, an early-day merchant at AuSable. His name is mentioned in the Bradstreet reports for July 1874.

Some of the famous brands of chewing tobacco from the late 1800s survive to this day, including Beech Nut and Red Man, but such other brands as Jolly Tar, Jackson's Best, Bag Pipe, Ben Hur, Sun Cured and Tom Boy have long since disappeared with the changing times.

Cigar making became highly competitive prior to 1900, but Schill continued in the business up to the time of his death.

On February 6, 1914, The Tawas Herald printed the following brief obituary:

"After being confined to his home for several months with dropsy, Ambrose Schill of East Tawas succumbed to the disease last Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. Schill had been a resident of East Tawas for 30 years, during all of which time he has been engaged in the cigar business."

By then, cigarettes dominated the tobacco counters and, like the cigar store Indian, the small town cigar manufacturers had rapidly faded from the scene.

AMBROSE SCHILL, East Tawas cigar maker, is shown in this portrait taken around 1900. His most famous smoke was the D&M.

'YES' Vote Urged by TA Voters

On Monday, June 12, voters of Tawas Area School District are being asked to approve renewal of 12 mills of operational taxes for a period of three years.

The Herald endorses this proposal being submitted by Tawas Area Board of Education and urges voters to support the proposition. Renewal of the present tax levy is absolutely necessary for continued operation of the school.

Because of its high valuation, this school district has always been in an excellent financial position, as compared to other school districts of the state which have a lower state equalized valuation behind each student. We may object to the state aid formula which allocates the major portion of state funds to downstate school districts, but the fact of the matter is that school taxes here are much lower than most sections of the state.

It can also be noted that the per-student cost for education in Tawas Area School District is lower than most others in the state. Out of 530 districts, Tawas is ranked 23rd from the bottom. Whether or not this is an ideal situation concerning education of youngsters may be debatable, but this has been an ultra conservative district in money matters since reorganization 25 years ago.

From a taxpayer's standpoint, the fact that the board of education and administrators have always been concerned with the best utilization of tax money has been commendable and renewal of the June 12 millage proposal should receive the support of the majority of taxpayers.

The Herald also endorses establishment of a building and site fund through the transfer of $210,000 received from delinquent taxes through establishment of a new county revolving fund. Wise use of this money approved by taxpayers is important as once the complete payoff in delinquent taxes is completed within three years, there will be no more large checks received as delinquent taxes will be paid annually.

The board of education and administration has studied projected school finances over the next three years and has determined that this first delinquent tax check can be utilized to make some much needed improvements to school facilities. Those improvements should also help the district to comply with state fire marshal mandates and to conserve energy in the school buildings, something which is important to all.

A "yes" vote is urged on both propositions.

After Nearly 50 Years, Fireworks Again Pose Danger to Children

For nearly 50 years, fireworks have been banned in Michigan and the public has generally accepted and followed provisions of the state's 1931 Fireworks Act. There have been exceptions to the rule, naturally—there are always law-breakers—but the majority of Michigan residents have supported the law.

The major reason for that support has been that the state fireworks act has kept potentially dangerous explosive devices out of the hands of children. While some may say this act is a denial of their rights, the law has reduced the number of hand and eye injuries to children, as compared to the days before 1931.

Now Michigan residents are being told by a federal judge that the 1931 fireworks act adopted by the state legislature has been superseded by a more lenient federal law. The loophole was opened when the legislature adopted the 1976 Hazardous Substances Act. In that act, the state legislature adopted by reference several federal regulations, including one that allowed more potent fireworks.

Since the state act restricted fireworks except as otherwise provided by law, the federal court has ruled the federal regulation stands. A proposal is now before the state legislature to delete the federal regulation.

One thing that can be done, however, is for local police agencies to start enforcement of state regulations for labeling and storage of fireworks.

What is difficult to understand, however, is the number of local merchants who are out to make a "fast buck" and the safety of children being imperiled. Explosions of firecrackers, skyrocketers and other devices were heard over the Memorial Day holiday at all hours of the day and night.

What these local merchants selling fireworks may not realize, however, is that they are opening themselves to potential civil liability if a child or even an adult is injured. It is something to consider when adding up the small profit made on the sale.

The Michigan Legislature should take immediate steps to correct this problem BY BANNING FIREWORKS.

All traffic must stop for a 10-minute period and all lights must be extinguished or obscured in homes and business places as well as streets.

Attending the 4-H camp at Higgins Lake are Wayne Biggs, Vine School; Gerald Putnam and Irene Kindell, Greenwood School; Theodore Lichota, Ronald Blust and Harvey Smith of Sherman Township; Edward Robinson, Helen Robinson and Alvin Travis of Taft; Betty Putnam and Rose Marie Webb of Hale; Beatrice Robinson of the Cottage School; Audrey Fix, Georgena Wilson, Janet Dorsey and Jo Anne Higgins of Whittemore.

Junior-senior banquet of East Tawas High School was held at the Barnes Hotel. Charles Schreck was toastmaster and welcomed the seniors. Jean Haight, senior class president, gave the response. Miss Eleanor Blakely, junior class advisor, and C. H. Nickel, senior class advisor, spoke briefly.

The Upper Room

(Read Romans 10:10-17)
"Faith comes from what is heard and what is heard comes by the preaching of Christ." (Romans 10:17 RSV)

One afternoon, in the year 1936, I went to a medical clinic for consultation. There, I found a visiting preacher in conversation with the doctor. They closed their conversation with a prayer in which they prayed for me.

The doctor gave me a copy of the New Testament and the preacher handed me a tract entitled "The Way of Salvation."

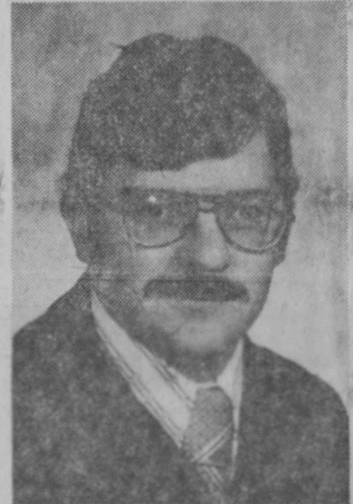

So came about my first complete reading of the Gospels. This induced me to purchase a Bible for further reading.

The way was slowly paved to the momentous surrender of my life to God in Jesus Christ six years later. Two years after that God called me to become a minister.

Thirty-eight years later, the preacher who had given me the Scripture tract died and I was asked to deliver the eulogy at his funeral. At that time, I disclosed the connection between this man and my ministry—through his sharing of the good news with me.

PRAYER
Lord Jesus, help us love Thee enough to share Thy good news. Amen.

Former Tawas Area Resident Ordained

Ordination council and service was held May 23 at Riverview Baptist Church, Casper, Wyoming, for Raymond L. Herriman, former resident of the Tawas area. Dr. Frank O. Euler Jr. officiated. Attending the services were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Herriman of National City, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Smith of Whittemore.

BOSTON CHURCH SETTING is scene each June for the annual meeting of Christian Scientists, who gather at The First Church of Christ, Scientist. Founded 99 years ago by religious leader, Mary Baker Eddy, the denomination is still best known for its commitment to Christian healing. The inspirational meeting attracts several thousand church members from around the world.

Christian Scientists Held 83rd Annual Meeting

Christian Scientists were told at their 83rd annual meeting June 5 in Boston, Massachusetts, to put aside "busywork, organizational mechanics and zeal for media exposure."

"The need today," said the board of directors, in its message to the denomination's global membership, "is for more healing, more spirituality, meekness, humility."

In a strongly-worded statement, the directors warned against "powerful mental cross-currents at work against religion and against the moral code inculcated by Christianity."

"It is obvious that the present period is marked by a conspicuous lack of stability—in our homes, schools and institutions, our commercial and public life as well as in individual experience," said the statement.

The directors are principal officers of The First Church of Christ, Scientist at Boston of which Christian Science congregations around the world are branches.

The board statement was read by DeWitt John, chairman. He reminded the several thousand gathered for the meeting that in 1894 Mary Baker Eddy, the denomination's founder, counseled: "The Church, more than any other institution, at present is the cement of society and it should be the bulwark of civil and religious liberty."

The chairman called on twentieth century Christian Scientist to "go forward in the spiritual work which is the essence of the Church—loving one another, restoring the lost element of Christian healing, overcoming sin and living the life of a Christian."

In their yearly review of denominational activities, other church officers noted: A continuation of the gradual decline in membership, but also, an increase in the number of new branch churches formed during the past year (37 as compared with 22 in 1976); an increase in individual contributions to the church (double the level of five years ago); significant stirrings of interest among other Christian churches in Christian healing, long a central aspect of Christian Science.

The directors also announced the establishment of an endowment fund for The Christian Science Monitor to help the church's famous newspaper cope with spiraling publishing costs.

Named as the new president of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston was John R. Peterson, a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science and the church's general counsel.

Files Suit Over Injury

A two-count suit asking damages totaling $20,000 has been filed in Osco County Circuit Court by Valerie A. Tudor and Edward Tudor vs. Jerry's Marina of Tawas Point.

The complaint alleges that Valerie A. Tudor fell through a dock at the marina on May 17, 1975, and claims negligence on the part of the owner. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tudor ask judgments in excess of $10,000 each as may be determined by a jury.

VACATION ACTIVITIES

Everybody can use a summer vacation. For some parents, however, keeping the kids occupied for three months seems to be quite a chore. Betty Garlick, specialist in family and child sciences at Michigan State University, offers these thoughts on summer activities.

Summer should be a time of renewal and experimentation. After nine months of studying, give the kids a break from school subjects and time to do a little growing. There is a tendency to get so programmed that one forgets to think about what to do and where to go. Planning activities for every minute of the summer does not allow the kids to rely on their inner resources. Summer is the perfect time to let the kids assume some responsibilities by making some decisions about how to use their time.

As part of the family unit, children should be expected to help around the house. With the extra time the summer offers, they could work on painting or attic cleaning. Involving the kids in planning the work will get a better response than ordering them to do it. Do not hesitate to ask the kids what repairs they may have noticed need to be done—you may be surprised. The family should discuss what to pay for housework. Children should be responsible for some jobs without pay, of course, such as keeping their room clean.

Many kids want to use the summer to earn some money outside of the home. Jobs depend on the community. Sources to check include bulletin boards, newspapers, schools, neighbors and friends. Allow the kid to find their own jobs. Job hunting is a major part of the experience.

If the children do not want jobs, they should still have a project for which they can be responsible for the entire summer. A garden is one good idea. Many communities provide summer recreation programs. If children are interested, these may keep them busy. Summer camp is also a possibility, especially if the family's attitude is, "We decided that camp would be a good idea and this is the one the kids like," and not, "Let's send the kids to camp."

Summer is also a good time to renew family ties. Most kids are interested in their roots. Sending them to visit relatives helps wean them away from the immediate family. It also gives them a chance to do more talking than if their parents were along. Some other suggestions to offer the kids are:

Volunteer work; experience can be more valuable than money. Get in touch with local concerns and see what can be done about them.

Use the library. Learn new skills which might be useful later.

Get to know a senior citizen. The older person will appreciate the company and can pass on skills and information.

The key word for a useful summer is experimentation. If successful, the kids will not be at a loss for words in September when it is time to write the paper on "How I Spent my Summer Vacation."

Open House Set for Tawas Ranger District on July 8

A series of 123 open houses are scheduled from late June into August in 87 communities throughout the 20-state Eastern Region of the United States Forest Service to inform the public of the final phases in the second roadless area review and evaluation process (RARE II). Last summer, 127 areas totaling one million acres on the 14 national forests in the eastern region were identified as roadless after 35 public workshops.

Huron-Manistee National Forests of Michigan will hold open houses July 8 in the supervisor's office in Cadillac and in the district rangers' offices in Baldwin, Manistee, White Cloud, Mio, Tawas and Harrisville. Each open house is scheduled to run from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

This summer's open houses are being held to make it convenient for people to ask questions about the process and areas. A draft environmental statement presenting alternative approaches to allocating the areas for wilderness, non-wilderness uses or further planning and the effects of the allocation will be distributed along with supplements for the Northern Appalachian and New England States, the Lake States and the Midland States.

Members of the public are encouraged to review the statements, visit areas if they wish and submit written comments to the forest service. Comments must be received by the eastern regional office in Milwaukee by October 1 so they can be considered in preparing a final environmental statement to be filed with the Environmental Protection Agency in January.

Copies of the draft environmental statement and the three supplements will be available in mid-June. Other visual materials also are being prepared to display during the open houses to help visitors gain a better understanding of the evaluation of areas.

TO FAIR VISITORS AND SPONSORS:

Fairs are an American tradition. In Michigan the first county fair was held over a century ago, in 1846. Since then the number of local fairs in Michigan has increased to a total of 86 in 1977.

From Monroe in southeastern Michigan to Houghton in the upper peninsula you'll find local fairs making it easy for citizens to participate without traveling long distances from home. With the peak season during summer months, visitations to our state can also include a local fair in their schedule of activities.

The primary objective of our fairs is to promote agriculture, the state's second largest industry. Through continuing fair programs we hope all citizens will develop greater appreciation for this outstanding industry and the spirit and determination of Michigan farmers.

On behalf of the Commission of Agriculture and the Department of Agriculture, I welcome you to the 1978 county fairs.

Sincerely,
B. Dale Ball

Creetings:

Michigan's agricultural heritage is promoted through local fairs. Citizens of all ages visit the fairs to view our products and learn about our state's agricultural industry.

Michigan agriculture is of great importance to the state's economy. The contributions of Michigan farmers are becoming increasingly significant in the world food market. Our state leads the nation in production of several outstanding food crops and ranks among the top 20 states in farm products sold overseas.

Local fairs provide a learning experience for fairgoers—as well as being fun-filled events to share with family and friends. Agricultural, educational and commercial exhibits and wholesome entertainment are characteristic of the fairs.

I welcome you to Michigan's 1978 fairs and I sincerely hope you will share in our appreciation of the state's outstanding agricultural heritage.

Sincerely,
William G. Milliken
 GOVERNOR

DEPARTMENT B—POULTRY

ENTRY FEE—10% of 1st Prize
Superintendent—Perry Shellenbarger

—Rules—

Exhibitors are requested to read carefully rules and regulations covering exhibition of poultry.
All exhibits shall be (a) purebred (b) cross bred from purebred parents.
All birds showing any general disqualifications according to the Standard of Perfection shall receive no award.
Provided the birds are typical of the breeds which they represent the placing of awards shall depend upon the following:

- A. Pullets
1. Rapidity of growth.
 2. Depth of pigment.
 3. Uniformity of shape and size.
 4. Promise of egg production.
 5. Absence of defects and disqualifications
- B. Mature Birds (Hens):
1. Degree of bleaching.
 2. Condition of abdomen (spread and pliability).
 3. Absence of new primary wing feathers.
 4. Alertness of head and eyes.
 5. Body weight, conformation and fitness.
 6. Absence of defects and disqualifications

It is suggested, especially for fairs held late in September and October, that all birds exhibited go directly from the Fair to market for slaughter so that none of them will be taken back to the farm. The reason for this precaution is that the birds may take back some disease to the farmer and injure his egg production of his farm flock, if such disease is infectious and of the type which will lower his egg production.
A pen entry shall consist of two females and one male.
(Classifications: Cock, Cockerel, Hen, Pullet.)
