

Seek Park Board Candidate

City officials seek candidates to fill the vacancy of James Robertson, who recently resigned from the Tawas City Park Board to accept a new position with Forward Oil Company at Standish. Robertson, former manager of Forward's in Tawas City, had been appointed earlier this year.

At Monday night's council meeting, it was suggested that either Vernon Blust or William Kidder, who had been appointed to other city boards recently, may wish to be reappointed to the park board.

Both men are to be contacted and councilmen, as well as park board members, are to contact other residents of the community to determine if there are other candidates desiring to fill the park board vacancy or openings on the cemetery board or planning commission should either Blust or Kidder wish a change in positions.

Council Takes No Action on Proposal

Protests Heard on Rezoning

Proposed rezoning of the lake side of US-23 from River Street to Mathews Street hit somewhat of a snag Monday night when four protesters were entered at a public hearing, including the property owner who had requested action by the planning commission.

Following the hearing, no action was taken by the council on rezoning the strip of land from B2 to B1 commercial.

Mayor Herbert Cholger said that no decision on the proposal was immediately necessary, that there was no need to hurry into a zoning change and approval would be more or less contingent upon the financial capacity for proposed construction.

Recommended by the planning commission in February, the change would permit construction of a hotel or motel in that zone, which had been under consideration for some years by L. G. McKay.

Rezoning of the land would also permit closer supervision of city growth, according to City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz. Under terms of the zoning ordinance, existing garages are permitted to remain in a B1 district, but expansion is not allowed. Expansion of gasoline service stations is permitted under special approval.

Appearing at the meeting, McKay said his plans for developing a "Holiday Inn type" motel on property formerly occupied by his automotive dealership had lagged behind previous expectations. He said he had appeared before the planning commission last year and told of his desire to remove the former McKay Sales building and the two-story frame building to the east for his new development.

Because he was running behind time on plans for his motel development, McKay said he now desires to use the former dealership building for a marine sales and he plans to reconstruct the former Prescott dock on the bay for its use. He said that the latter would tie in with his motel development in the future.

McKay said that any business permitted in a B2 district is also permitted in a B1, including a hotel or motel, and as a matter of record, he was opposing the proposed zoning change at the present time.

Other letters of protest were received from William Brown, Carl Babcock and James Sheehan. The latter, owner of Huron Auto Parts, said he had been in business here for 13 years and he felt that his business was being singled out by the proposed zoning change, while giving others special privileges.

McKay said that, following a recent meeting with other businessmen in the "500" block between Mathews and Whittemore Street, he was encouraged there was serious consideration being given to a business district renovation program.

Owner of Lad's Padd, he said that discussion was being held concerning removal of a number of buildings on the north side of the street and constructing new buildings with parking in front. He said that consideration was also being given to moving present business places on the south side of US-23 to the proposed new development.

Revised Hospital Site Plans Approved With Contingency

Revised site plans for additions to Tawas Hospital were approved Thursday night by the Tawas City Planning Commission, contingent on approval of the Tawas Masonic Temple Board.

Marvin Flan, representing the architectural firm hired by the hospital, presented a revised plan to include additional parking along Maple Street by removing two houses. The original plan submitted by the hospital in January had been approved without restriction.

The revised plan calls for construction of the north wing as close as 18 inches to the line between the hospital and the rear of the Tawas Masonic Temple property.

The hospital construction program is a $1,745,500 project to renovate the facility and to purchase nuclear medicine equipment.

Flan said the revised site plan was necessary in order to develop space for a separate medical arts building which is planned on the east side of the hospital site.

Although the rear of the Tawas Masonic Temple building is approximately 60 to 70 feet from the rear property line, the hospital's proposal to building within 18 inches of the property line is in conflict with the city's zoning code and a variance or exception to the violation could be granted by the planning commission.

Flan said the revised site plan would also allow greater flexibility for internal design of the hospital. The present oxygen storage area would be moved to a new location and one fire hydrant would be moved to a new site.

The proposed medical arts building would be privately owned and would offer rented office quarters to physicians.

The proposed project calls for expansion of X-ray services to accommodate nuclear scan equipment and to relocate beds for a more effective staffing pattern.

A 34-bed nursing wing would be constructed on the north end of the hospital to form a "T." The original nursing wing would become a service area for patients, including inhalation therapy and physical therapy. The surgery department would remain in that wing, along with a new radiology department.

The present north nursing wing, constructed in 1972, would be retained.

Fire Tuesday Destroyed Reno Home

Fire Tuesday morning destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kaiser, 6300 West Miller Road, Reno Township, located four miles north of Whittemore and 1 1/2 miles east.

Mrs. Kaiser told firemen that she discovered the fire when she returned home from shopping around 10 o'clock. One wing of the L-shaped house was completely leveled and the remaining wing was gutted.

Firemen believed the blaze may have been caused by a wood burning stove in the recently remodeled house. Some clothing, a sewing machine and a mattress were the only items salvaged from the ruins.

The Kaisers have five children and Mr. Kaiser is employed at West Branch.

Assisting two fire trucks from the Whittemore - Burleigh - Reno Fire Department were trucks from the Plainfield Township Fire Department.

Delinquent Bills to Go on Tax Roll

On authorization of the city council, delinquent water-sewer accounts, as well as past due water-sewer connection fees, are to be levied against the property taxes of owners.

At Monday night's Tawas City Council meeting, a report from the water board indicated that attempts to collect 21 past due accounts had been unsuccessful and approximately $3,000 in bills was outstanding.

Under terms of four different ordinances establishing operation of the water and sewer department, accounts which are past due for two quarters are eligible to be placed on tax statements of property owners for collection.

Property owners are to be notified that past due accounts can also become a lien on property.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said that delinquent accounts amounted to approximately nine percent of the total billing for the water and sewer department.

On recommendation of Coun. Jerry Cotter, the council directed the water board to shut off water service when bills are not paid as soon as practical under city ordinances No. 142, No. 91, No. 92 or No. 99.

Councils OK Fireworks Participation

City councils of both Tawas City and East Tawas approved contributions of $500 each for the Fourth of July fireworks display.

Dennis Cholger, president of Tawas Area Promotions, told each council that TAPS would match contributions of each council in order to improve the display. Last year, each city contributed $450 and that was the only money spent for fireworks.

Cholger said that members of the TAPS organization favored having the fireworks display on the Sunday preceding Tuesday, July 4.

Members of the Tawas City Council felt that the fireworks program should be held on July 4. A decision on the actual day for the program is to be announced later.

East Tawas Seeks BOR Funds for Park Expansion

Designation of City Clerk Clyde Soper as the city's representative in obtaining Bureau of Outdoor Recreation matching funds for development of the city park was authorized Monday night by the East Tawas Council.

Included in the proposal would be purchase of shore front property at the former McKay residence, plus expansion of camping and picnic facilities.

The project would also include a new parking area, restroom building, a new pavilion, moving playground equipment to a new area and 20 additional campground sites.

Estimated cost of the project is $142,000 and the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has indicated that it would contribute $24,000 to the project if approved for BOR funds.

East Tawas Council Approves Participation in New Bridge

An agreement with the Iosco County Road Commission authorizing payment of one-half the cost of developing plans for a new bridge over the Tawas River was authorized Monday night by the East Tawas Council.

Scott Engineering Company, Alpena, would develop plans for the new structure. Estimated cost of the engineering was $10,000.

James Delahanty told the council that federal funds for the project were anticipated on an 80-20 matching basis. Estimated cost of a new bridge is from $180,000 to $200,000 and the local share of 20 percent would be divided equally by the county and the city.

The proposed new bridge would be located slightly downstream from the present bridge and would have a slightly different angle across the river to connect with Nunn Road. When completed, the Monument Road would intersect at a right angle and would be a stop street to improve traffic safety.

The proposed bridge would also have walkways for use by fishermen. The city has an ordinance prohibiting use of the bridge by fishermen due to the traffic hazard.

Acquisition of additional property for relocating the bridge would increase the construction total.

ET Businessmen Request Parking Meter Removal

On request of the East Tawas Businessmen's Association, the East Tawas Council is to evaluate use of parking meters and is to make a decision concerning future use.

George Kay, new president of the association, appeared Monday night before the council and reported the group favored removal of the parking meters. The group felt that enforcement of a two-hour parking limit would be beneficial. Members of the council expressed the opinion that enforcement of a two-hour parking limit was difficult and that any such move would only increase the number of cars owned by store owners and employees using customer parking spaces.

Mayor Robert Bolen turned the request over to the street and sidewalk committee. He said that after an evaluation, a decision would be made according to the wishes of the majority of businessmen.

At the request of the businessmen's association, Newman Street between Bay Street and State Street is to be closed May 18, 19 and 20 for an auto, boat and camper show.

Senate Bill Would Benefit Schools and Government in North State

Schools and local governments, located primarily in Northern Michigan, will be in for a windfall when the house gives its approval to a bill passed by the senate last week.

The measure, Senate Bill 189, co-sponsored by Senator Robert W. Davis of Gaylord, increases from 58 cents to $2 per acre the payment in lieu of taxes on state tax reverted lands.

Tax reverted lands are properties owned by the state for recreational purposes. Since these lands cannot be used for development, they generate no property tax revenues for schools and local governments.

Specifically, the bill will provide five-million dollars in additional revenue for schools and local governments in Michigan. That revenue, plus the two-million dollars already being paid, will be divided among townships and counties, each of which will get 30 percent and school districts will get 40 percent.

Schools and local governments are not now being compensated for these lands which were taken off tax rolls by the state. The increase will not mean that taxes will go up, but will provide the funds necessary to maintain these lands for residents and tourists.

Farmers Should Check Tax Benefits Under 1974 State Act

Farmers in the Northern Lower Peninsula and the Eastern Upper Peninsula may want to look into the benefits available under the Farmland and Open Preservation Act.

This 1974 act allows farmers to obtain special credits on their property taxes and exempts them from special assessments if they pledge to limit development of a certain portion of the land for a minimum of 10 years.

Such development agreements may be terminated sooner, however, upon repayment, at the time the property is sold, of all tax benefits, plus interest, granted under the act.

Iosco County, with 57,190 acres of farmland, has 4,514 acres enrolled. Iosco's 7.9 percentage of farmland enrolled is the highest of 19 northern counties.

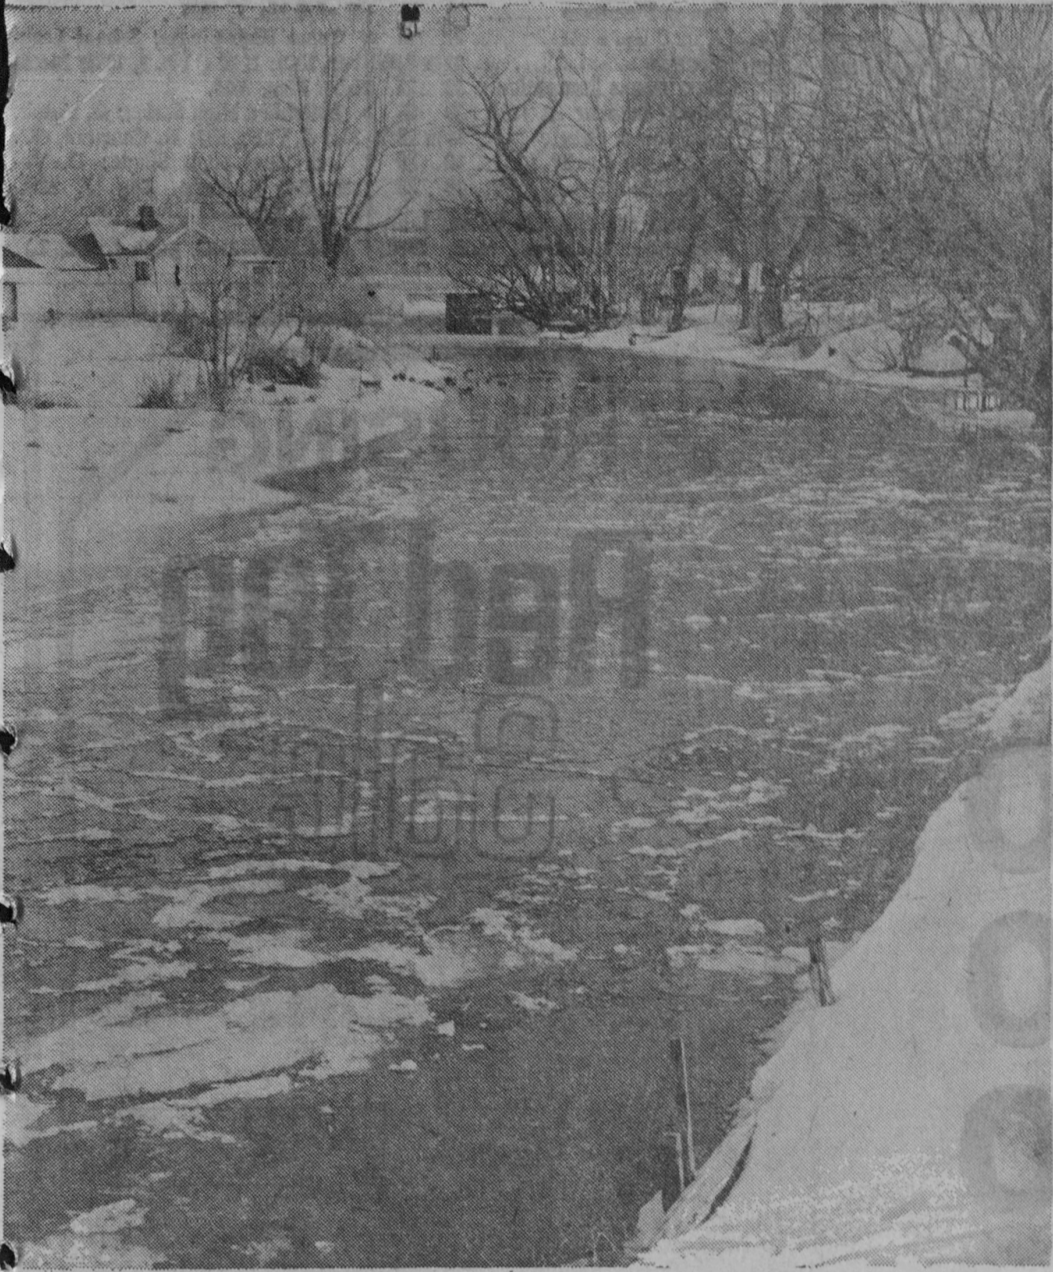

At the end of last year, a total of 516,336 acres of land statewide were enrolled under the act and 19-77 credits on property taxes paid the previous year amounted to nearly one-million-dollars, with an average tax credit of $1,898 per farmer.

Slightly over 10,500 acres in the Northern Lower Peninsula and Eastern Upper Peninsula are currently enrolled under the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act.

FIRST DAY OF SPRING found the Tawas River partially clogged with ice and Dead Creek frozen almost solid to the bottom. Ducks and geese were enjoying the sunshine upstream from the Mathews Street bridge, the spot from which this picture was snapped, but the general public was complaining about muddy driveways and impassable side roads. The worst is yet to come, judging from snow banked along the river and along streets.—Tawas Herald Photo.

City Would Utilize Federal Census Data for Block Study

Approval of an agreement for the federal government to provide block data following the 1980 census was authorized Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

At a cost from $500 to $700, the federal government would provide information concerning the number of persons and residences in each block based on census information in 1980.

City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said the plan would provide data which the city would not have otherwise. Payment of a $250 down payment was authorized by the council.

In other business, the city manager reported that Consumers Power Company was not replacing any burned out street lights at the present time due to the coal emergency. In the event the energy emergency continues and the power company's coal reserve gets down to a 40-day supply, street lighting would be reduced by two-thirds unless a safety factor is involved.

A letter from Richard Ziehl requesting rezoning from RC multiple family dwelling to B1 business at 101 Lake Street was turned over to the planning commission.

Officers elected by the Tawas City Fire Department were approved by the council, as follows: Herbert Blust, chief; Myron P. Trafelet, assistant chief; Gene Sal-amony, captain (a new position) and treasurer; Richard Look, secretary.

At the request of the park board, park board and planning commission is to be held at the regular April 3 meeting of the council.

The city manager was designated as the single street administrator in transactions with the state highway department.

The council assured a number of property owners present that the city would participate with the state in construction of a new drainage system south of the river bridge. At the present time, the city awaits word from the state relative to deletion of one paragraph from a proposed contract.

The city manager said the project could be ready for construction by May, but he felt that any construction should not take place until late August to avoid any business disruption during the tourist season.

HINTS ON HAVING HEALTHY HOUSE PLANTS

Anyone can have a "green thumb"—it's no mystical power, but just a matter of having a little plant care know-how.

• Make sure you start out with healthy specimens. Look out when plants aren't perky—and for any signs of pests, like webs or dried-out brown spots on leaves.

• Think about your home's lighting before you buy a plant. If you get little light, for instance, an African violet won't thrive (unless you grow it under artificial light).

• Feed your plants. Soil has some nutrients, but they may not be enough or the right kind to make leaves their greenest or to make plants bloom.

• Make sure plants have enough humidity—most homes are too dry. Spray them with a plant mister weekly. Also put a layer of vermiculite in the tray under the plant and keep it wet for added humidity.

This was prepared by experts in the plant care laboratories of House in Bloom.

ANYONE CAN GROW common house plants, such as (clockwise from top left) begonia, African violet, peperomia and philodendron, with just a little know-how.

and rot. Always move plants to the next size container—from a 4-inch to a 5-inch pot, for instance. The Plan-tool, which you'll find in the plant supply display, will help you repot and do other chores. It's a tiny all-purpose indoor garden aid for grooming, pruning, aerating and tamping soil—and even helps take cuttings.

County Considers Own Computer; Having Problems With Contractor

Upset by complaints received from John Rose, county equalization director, Iosco County Board of Commissioners Wednesday directed that a meeting be held with a Midland-based computer organization to air those complaints.

That meeting is to be held today during the commission's committee of the whole meeting.

Rose told commissioners last week that his department, along with local units, had been having serious problems with the CFC Corporation, which provides tabulation and printing service for tax rolls and tax statements.

The equalization director said that the latest incident saw East Tawas' property tax statements being delayed, due to an omission in tabulations by CFC. Similar problems had been experienced concerning errors in tax statements. Rose indicated that every effort had been made by his department to have the contractor make corrections in its operation, but work was still unsatisfactory. He said the county pays $14,100 annually to CFC for this computer service, which he said was getting progressively worse.

Rose recommended that the county investigate a change in contractors, or even purchase its own computer equipment and re-establish its own tax statement and tax roll operation. Such a move had long been supported by County Treas. Edward Nelkie, who felt that an "in-house" operation offered more control.

The equalization director believed that the county could purchase its own equipment and pay it off in 4½ years for what it was presently paying for the contracted service.

Preparation of tax statements and tax rolls was once handled entirely by the tax equalization department. That work was discontinued here a number of years ago during a breakdown of obsolete equipment.

Members of the commission felt that representatives of CFC should be permitted to "give their side of the story" before any action is taken and arrangements were to be made for the meeting today.

Commission OKs Purchase of Property

Purchase of adjoining property for county building parking purposes was authorized Wednesday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners.

Exercising an option negotiated a month ago, the county paid $35,000 to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Prescott for the 60-foot-wide parcel, which extends from Lake Street approximately 240 feet to the Tawas River.

A house and old barn on the property would be removed and a much-needed parking lot would be developed. Plans for the parking lot are to be made by John Dye, Oscoda architect hired by the county.

This is only the second addition to county building property in the last 111 years. In February 1867, Charles H. and James O. Whittemore gave Lots 8 and 9, Block A, in Tawas City for a county seat. Adjoining property was contributed by Henry F. Wells.

Following construction of a jail in 1957, the former James O. Whittemore house and lot west of the then new jail were purchased for county purposes and a garage for patrol cars was constructed several years later.

DNR Extends Trapping Season

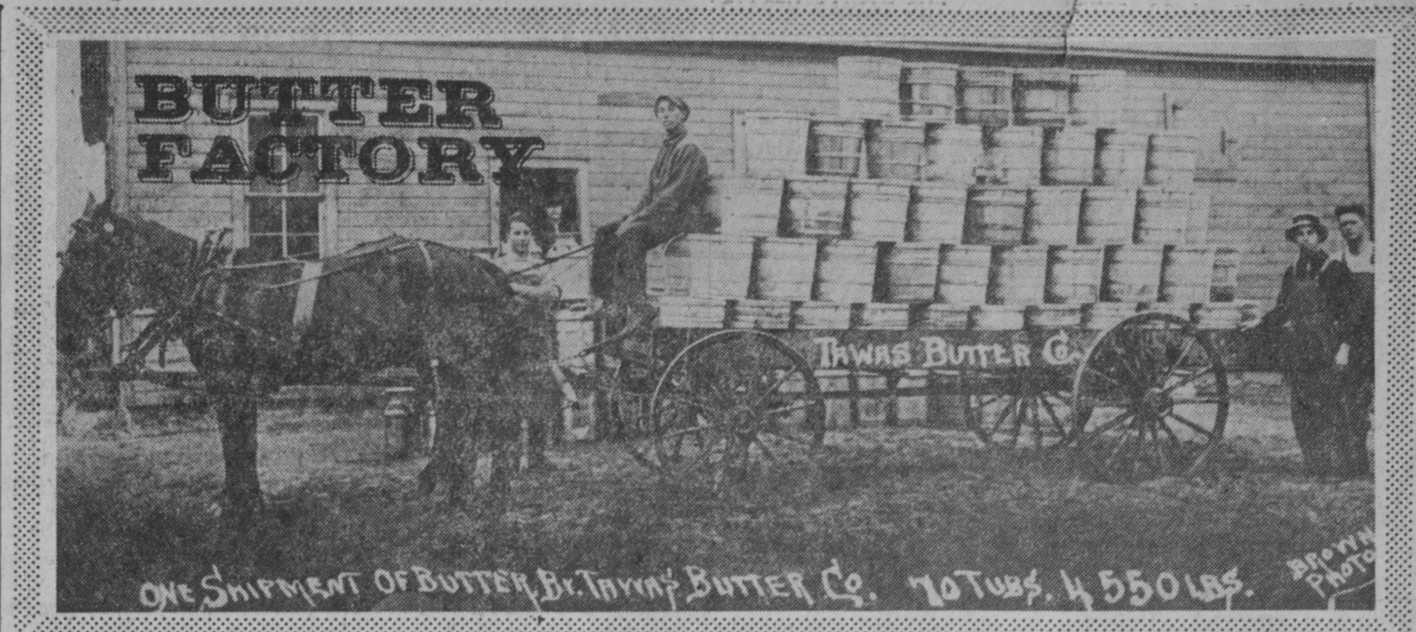

Michigan Department of Natural Resources announced Thursday that the trapping season for beaver and otter had been extended two weeks in most counties in this area.

The season on beaver and otter was to have closed March 19, but trapping conditions have been poor due to the excessive amount of snow and ice.

The trapping season in Iosco, Alcona, Arenac and Alpena Counties has been extended through April 2, 5:00 p. m. The season has been extended through April 9 in Ogemaw County, with the same closing hour.

The limit of six beavers and one otter trapped during the season remains the same as before.

Persons with questions concerning the season may contact offices at Tawas Point State Park, Lincoln or the field office at West Branch.

In the early 1900s, Iosco County looked toward the expansion of family farming for its salvation. Although the county's most productive lands were limited to portions of Burleigh, Tawas, Alabaster and Sherman Townships, farm land in the remainder of the county was particularly suited to general crops, grazing and the production of hay.

Several experiments which fostered the idea of growing cash crops—sugar beets, peas and potatoes—had seen the expenditure of substantial sums for the development of specialized processing plants in the Tawas. All were doomed to failure due to low crop yields, indifference by growers and the lack of good roads to get those crops to the plants for processing.

Another cash crop introduced here in early days was chicory and as late as 1920, 24 carloads of this heavily-rooted plant used as a coffee substitute were shipped out of Tawas in a single season by George C. Anschuetz, local representative for a Bay City processing company. Barney Blust of the Meadow Road was the largest producer in this area, having raised about 55 tons of chicory annually.

Development of dairy farms—large and small—was also an important contribution to the agricultural business of Iosco County. Several large dairy operations were established in the county, particularly in Plainfield and Tawas Townships, and income from the dairy business is still one of the most important contributions from agriculture in Tawas and Burleigh Townships.

Prior to World War I, the emphasis was on small farms of 80 to 160 acres supporting many families and many small herds of cattle. To provide a local market for those farms, numerous small milk processing plants were established to supply the needs of local communities. In addition, handling the transportation of milk cans between those farms and processing plants in the Saginaw Valley was an important business of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway.

Other specialized plants were established locally for the manufacture of cheese and churning the raw material from the dairy into butter. One such processing plant was located in Tawas City.

Tawas Butter Company was organized in March 1909, by H. N. Ahmmeon and E. J. McCartney of Flushing, along with a number of local businessmen.

"E. J. McCartney, a butter maker of large experience, will be in charge of the plant and informs us that he expects to be ready to receive cream by April 15," reported the Herald. "He informs us that it is not the company's intention to contract for cream, but to buy all that they can and to pay the highest market price for it. If fair treatment and good prices will secure the cream, McCartney says that there will be no doubt but what the company will get all that they need."

Residents of the community were enthusiastic about the new boom in the local economy being provided by agriculture and on June 11, 1909, the Herald reported that the Tawas Butter Company had turned out its first churning of butter and now had everything in nice running order.

"There is not a more complete and up-to-date creamery in this section than this and the company proposes to treat the farmer fairly in every way and asks the support of all. A home market for cream should certainly be the best."

On April 9, 1909, the Herald announced that the building for a new creamery was about completed and the machinery was being installed. The new plant was located just west of the intersection of Lake Street and Mathews Street, present site of Bublitz Oil Company.

This historic site had been an important business location from the very beginning of Tawas and Iosco County as the Whittemore sawmill had been located there. When the old mill was razed at the end of the lumbering era, the local community looked to farming to take up the business slack by replacing jobs lost when the mills closed and the last white pine log was brought to the Tawas for reduction into lumber.

The lumbering era did not come to an abrupt end here with the closing of the big mills in the 1890s, but slowly strangled to death as small jobbers continued to cut small stands of pine which were left during the heyday of white pine. For all practical purposes, the end of the lumbering business in the Tawas ended in 1905 with the destruction by fire of the C. H. Prescott mill and it was not until August 1910, that the last shipment of logs was made from the S. G. M. Gates holdings near South Branch, which wrote finis to the lumbering business.

The Tawas Butter Company lived up to all the expectations of the community and provided an additional market for dairy farmers. The Herald had this to say about the well-established firm on February 3, 1911:

"The Tawas Butter Company is certainly making a record. It has closed a contract with the Hotel Pontchartrain of Detroit for not less than 600 pounds of butter per week, plus good standing orders from other Detroit concerns."

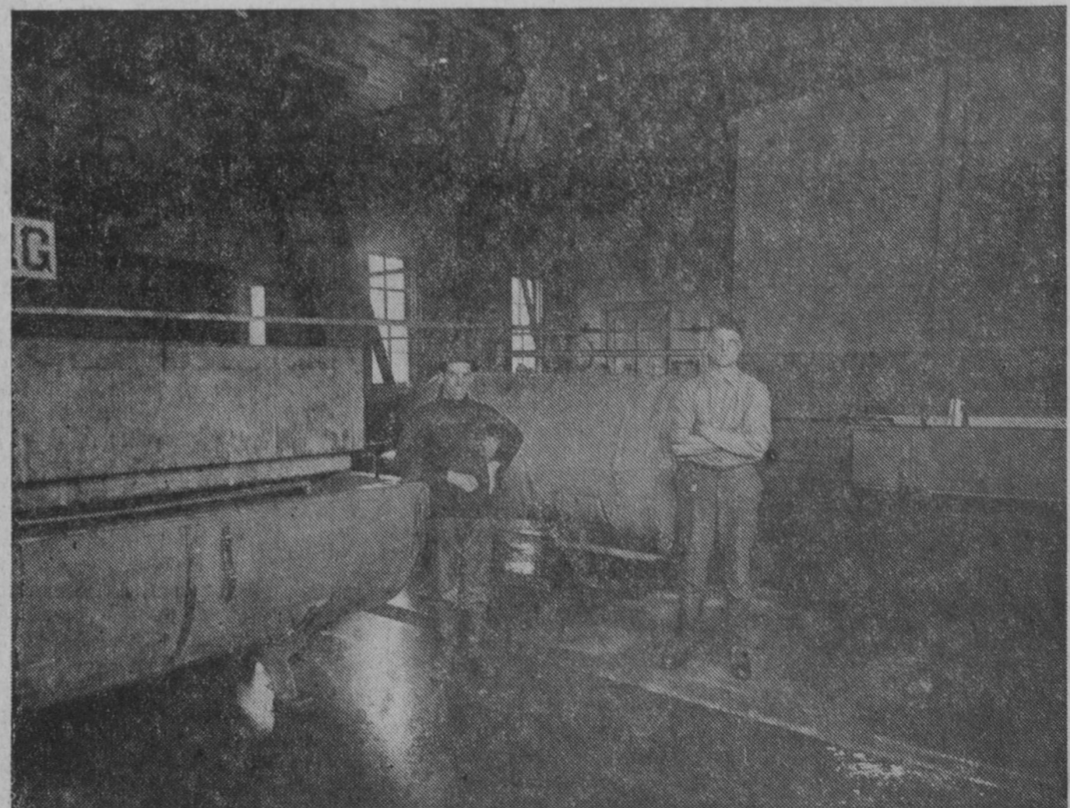

"A representative of the Hotel Pontchartrain recently visited the factory and was most highly pleased with the fine, sanitary condition and the careful, clean condition in which butter making is conducted by McCartney."

The Herald commented in its columns that "very few people in this city realize the amount of business that is being done by the butter company in the course of a year, or of the vast benefit it is to the farmers. During 1911, this company paid to farmers of this vicinity $18,789.92 for cream. When what is considered only a small industry does this, it is certainly a good thing for the town and surrounding country."

On August 23, 1912, the Herald announced that the Tawas Butter Company had been purchased by George Fahselt of Tawas Township. Carl E. Fahselt, who had been with the firm for two years, assumed management. McCartney purchased a creamery at Merrill and moved there in February 1913.

"The new management is so well known here, especially among the farmers, that the members need no introduction," commented the Herald. "That the business will be conducted on the same honorable and successful plan is assured."

As an example of what local dairy farmers were doing to improve their herds, the Herald reported as follows two weeks later: "Oscar Fahselt arrived home Tuesday morning from Bay City (See CREAMERY, page 6.)"

tract to produce butter for the Hotel Pontchartrain, Detroit, plus other large hotels and operated successfully until competition from larger creameries forced them out of the business.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room (Read Luke 22:54-62)

"Perfect love casts out fear." (John 4:18 RSV)

Child abuse is one of the many situations in which people say, "I do not want to get involved." It is an area in which some problems and pain could be avoided if friends and neighbors would report abuse to the proper authorities.

All of us have times when we do not want to get involved. In the Garden of Gethsemane, Peter was not afraid to get involved when he cut off the ear of the slave of the high priest. Yet, later that same night Peter acted like a coward. His world was crumbling about him. Frightened and cold, he had seen what was happening to Jesus, the one whom he had called the Christ, the Son of the living God.

Jesus was on trial inside and surely Peter was on trial outside when he denied three times that he was involved with Jesus. When Jesus looked at him, Peter went out and wept bitterly. Later, when he saw the risen Lord, his doubts vanished and he became totally involved.

We do not need to be ashamed of being afraid but only of not becoming involved when we see a need.

PRAYER

Our heavenly Father, we know You are an ever-present help in time of trouble. Give us courage to get involved when others need us or when we see a wrong which could be righted. In the name of Jesus, who got involved for us. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Getting involved is part of loving my neighbor.—Dorothy Pryse (Cincinnati, Ohio)

Grace Lutheran Church

The Rev. William Graf, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, East Tawas, has prepared the following explanation of Holy Week and its celebrations for the congregation of his church:

Holy Week being an intense focus upon the Passion of our Lord begins with Passion Sunday (Palm Sunday), March 19, commemorating Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem. Matins will be sung each morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Maundy Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock finds the gathered believers, again assembling to remember the events of their salvation. This is a very holy night since it is the night in which Christ instituted the Holy Eucharist—His Sign and food for the church until He comes again in Glory. At this Eucharist, we also have the stripping of the altar as Psalm 88 is read by the congregation. This action is symbolic of Christ's next step in salvation; that of going to the garden to pray and his subsequent arrest and trial. The church building is darkened and we go home in silence as the bell tolls the years of Christ's life.

Good Friday service is scheduled from 2:00-3:00 o'clock, with the church remembering the Cross of Christ. In response to the death, she intercedes for "all sorts and conditions of man" by use of the ancient Liturgy, The Bidding Prayer with the solemn passion of St. John being read. On Good Friday, Pastor Graf will be in his office for the purpose of hearing personal confessions. Members and friends may avail themselves of this sacramental act.

Holy Saturday, Easter Vigil will again be jointly held by Grace and St. Paul Lutheran Church of Augres. This year, the most ancient Liturgy will be at Augres, 7:30 p. m., with Pastor Raymond Moelter and his congregation hosting this celebration.

This is the night that we keep the Vigil (watch) for the first Risen of Christ from the Tomb. And as we Vigil, we recall the mighty Acts of God in the deliverance of his people. From ancient times in Egypt to our eternal deliverance in Holy Baptism, we remember the deliverance of people by God's Word through water. This is the night to remember our baptism and also the holy gift of the Christian faith. The Sacrament of Baptism is given to new converts. Baptism then gives way to the awaited acclamations of the New Creation: "Christ is Risen! He is Risen, indeed!" The first communion is celebrated—the foretaste of God's Easter creation in his Son, Jesus Christ.

Easter morning, The Resurrection of our Lord, 10:30 a. m., finds the faithful gathering as with Mary to see the empty tomb and celebrate the hope of eternal life. We join in Prayer, Praise and Thanksgiving (Eucharist) for God's New Day, as we affirm once again that death is swallowed up in victory; the Victory of Christ, our Lord and our God.

County Finances Operation of Two Ambulance Services

Iosco County has entered into contract with Tawas Hospital for financing a county-wide ambulance service, with or without participation by Oscoda and AuSable Townships, effective July 1.

According to action taken at Wednesday's meeting of the county board of commissioners, the ambulance service would be funded six months at a time through the use of county general fund money.

Although local tax money is to be used for support of the ambulance service, the county is actually receiving approximately $34,000 annually from the federal government as payment in lieu of taxes from federal forest land.

At the present time, Oscoda and AuSable Townships are still considering operation of a separate ambulance service, either through contracted service with a funeral director or by establishing its own ambulance service.

The two townships also suggested that the ambulance service be manned by the Oscoda Township Police Department. In any event, the ambulance service for those two units would be funded by the county.

Carlton Merschel, county commission chairman, said Wednesday that Oscoda and AuSable Townships planned to operate a separate ambulance service on an experimental basis. After six months of experience, the program may be continued or dropped should the two units decide to have Tawas Hospital provide the service.

Adoption of a county funding program for the ambulance service has been advocated by local units of government, which have financed the service since funeral directors got out of the business a number of years ago.

In other business, the commission authorized use of county general fund money to supplement the $1,100,000 bond issue which was to have been sold Friday to finance the complete payment of delinquent taxes to local units of government.

County Treas. Edward Nelkie told commissioners Wednesday that Lakewood Shores Subdivision at Oscoda had not paid its taxes for the past year and that additional funds would be needed to make a 100 percent payoff on delinquent taxes.

Nelkie presented his annual report on receipts from the single business tax, National Forest Reserve Fund "swamp" tax.

Under the single business tax, the county received $19,347.40, the medical care facility received $644.96 and the Commission on Aging received $859.73 for a total of $20,852.09.

National Forest money amounted to $27,110.79, with $6,777.70 going to county roads, $4,066.62 to Tawas Area School District, $5,422.84 to Hale Area School and $10,843.63 to Oscoda Area School.

The total amount received under the state "swamp" tax was $13,453.77. The county received $4,407.27 and six townships split $4,407.27. The largest amount went to Oscoda Township, $2,912.67; AuSable Township, 38 cents; Burleigh Township, $105.79; Grant Township, 65 cents; Sherman Township, $736.88; Alabaster Township, $650.90.

The remainder of this fund went to three schools. Whittemore-Prescott Area School received $422.37, Tawas Area School received $1,071.68 and Oscoda Area School received $2,913.22. The intermediate school district received $231.96.

SPRING CLOTHING FORECAST

Prettier, softer and lighter fabrics best describe the spring clothing forecast. The general trend is classic and safe. Fabric trends center around linen and cotton with a continuation of gauze in softer, dustier colors in small floral prints. Sailcloth, canvas, corduroy and knits are also still popular. There still is some layering this spring such as layering dresses over skirts and skirts over pants but it is less emphasized. Fullness is more controlled and brought closer to the body rather than the former very full oversized dresses. Women will find floral prints with the look of dried flowers, paler, washed-out colors and ecru and tinted pastel backgrounds. Men's wear suiting patterns emphasize woven effects in birdseye dots and tiny houndstooth weaves. The seamstress will find dress fabrics are prettier, softer and lighter. Blouses are fuller, shirred, gathered, tucked, tied and bloused. Spring fabrics will include open weaves, gauzes, Swiss whites, challis and handkerchief type linens and leno meshes; very open weaves, linen, leno meshes and gauzes; plain weaves, lawn, batiste, broadcloth, sheer muslin and voile; less plain weaves, crepes, silk and pongee; knits, jersey, eyelet-like interlocks, lightweight interlocks and meshes.

Skirt fabrics, either trendy or traditional, will be lightweight. Fabrics include light weight traditionals, linen, poplin, chamo, broadcloth and cord or very open weaves, linen, leno meshes and gauze.

Committee Would Establish Snow Days for Iosco Employees

On recommendation of a committee appointed two weeks ago by the county board of commissioners, Iosco has a new policy concerning situations where some employees fail to report for work as the result of snow conditions and other emergencies.

Adopted Wednesday by the county board of commissioners, the resolution establishes a special committee to determine whether or not the county building and other county offices, excepting the sheriff's office and road commission, would be open during business hours on a storm day or in case of other emergencies.

Making the determination as to whether the offices would be open would be a committee composed of a county commissioner, the deputy officer on desk in the sheriff's office and one representative of the road commission. Employees would be notified by communication over local radio stations.

In the event of snow or other emergency occurring during regularly scheduled working hours, a committee composed of the clerk, treasurer and register of deeds would determine if it was in the best interest of the health, safety and welfare of employees to continue work that day in county ofices. In any event, once a decision was reached by either committee and notification given, the pay of employees would not be docked if they were notified not to report for work or to leave their places of employment due to storms or other emergencies.

No policy had previously been in force concerning storm days. On the day following a recent storm, a number of employees were unable to report to work due to snow conditions and unofficial radio broadcasts had advised all persons to stay off highways until roads were cleared.

CHURNING OF BUTTER provided an important outlet for locally produced cream during the first two decades of this century. Tawas Butter Company is shown above with a week's shipment of its product, amounting to 105 tubs or 6,615 pounds of butter.

FIRE which destroyed the Tawas Butter Company's creamery in 1920 provided a controversy for Tawas City officials. The city council had purchased this Model T Ford fire truck shortly before the fire and firemen learned, to their dismay, that the pump was not capable of providing adequate water pressure.

and other points, including the state fair at Detroit. He brought with him two fine registered Holstein cows and a fine calf which he purchased from the Cameron Stock Farm."

The butter company continued to prosper under the management of the Fahselt's and, on January 3, 1916, Charles Moeller purchased George Fahselt's interest and entered into a partnership with Carl Fahselt.

"Mr. Moeller has been in the employ of the C. H. Prescott and Sons hardware store for the past year and severs his connection with that concern. Both of these young men are hustlers and their friends predict for them unqualified success in their undertaking," commented the Herald.

Tawas Butter Company continued to operate successfully and pictures surviving from the era provides graphic proof of that success. One picture shows Moeller and Fahselt on a horse-drawn wagon, accompanied by a Ford truck in front, loaded with 105 tubs of butter, representing the production for one week.

Moeller and Fahselt sold their interest in the firm to John Kobs, Tawas Township farmer, who was Moeller's father-in-law. The business continued to operate under the management of Kobs' son, Henry.

On April 30, 1920, the Herald reported that the building housing the butter company burned to the ground.

"Trouble with connections on the fire engine delayed the fire fighters in securing water and, by the time the water was available, the blaze had gained such headway that the plant was practically a total loss before it was extinguished," stated the Herald.

That was only part of the story for the fire truck mentioned above provided one of the most controversial topics in Tawas City of that era. The pumper, mounted on a Model T Ford chassis, was purchased by the council over the wishes of Mayor John Myles, who thought the city should purchase an American LaFrance fire truck.

The Ford fire truck proved to be practically worthless in fighting a fire as it was incapable of producing adequate water pressure and was soon replaced by ap-

JOHN MYLES, mayor of Tawas City at the time of the fire, was upset when he learned that the council had purchased a new fire truck when he was out of town. When the pumper failed its test at the butter company fire, the council followed the mayor's previous recommendation and purchased an American LaFrance fire truck.

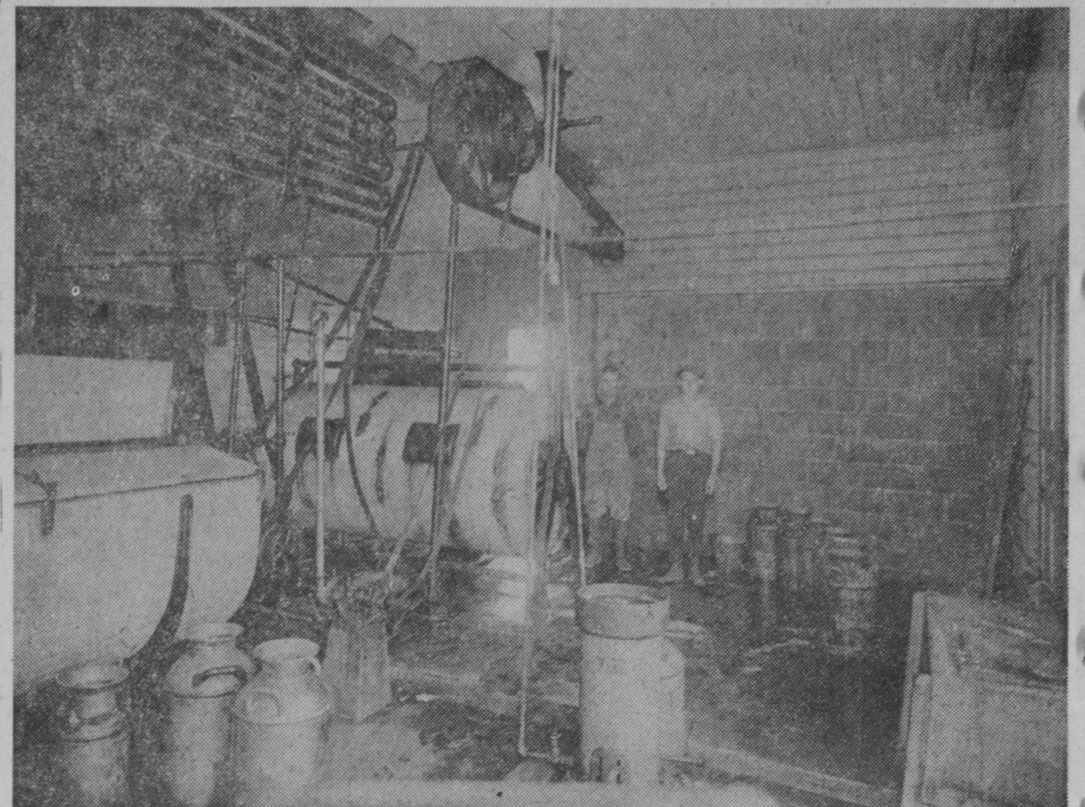

frightened away in some manner before accomplishing his purpose."

Kobs estimated his loss at upwards of $6,000, with insurance amounting to $4,000.

The Herald reported on July 2, 1920, that work had started on rebuilding the plant. "The burned building was razed to the ground and a cement block building is being erected."

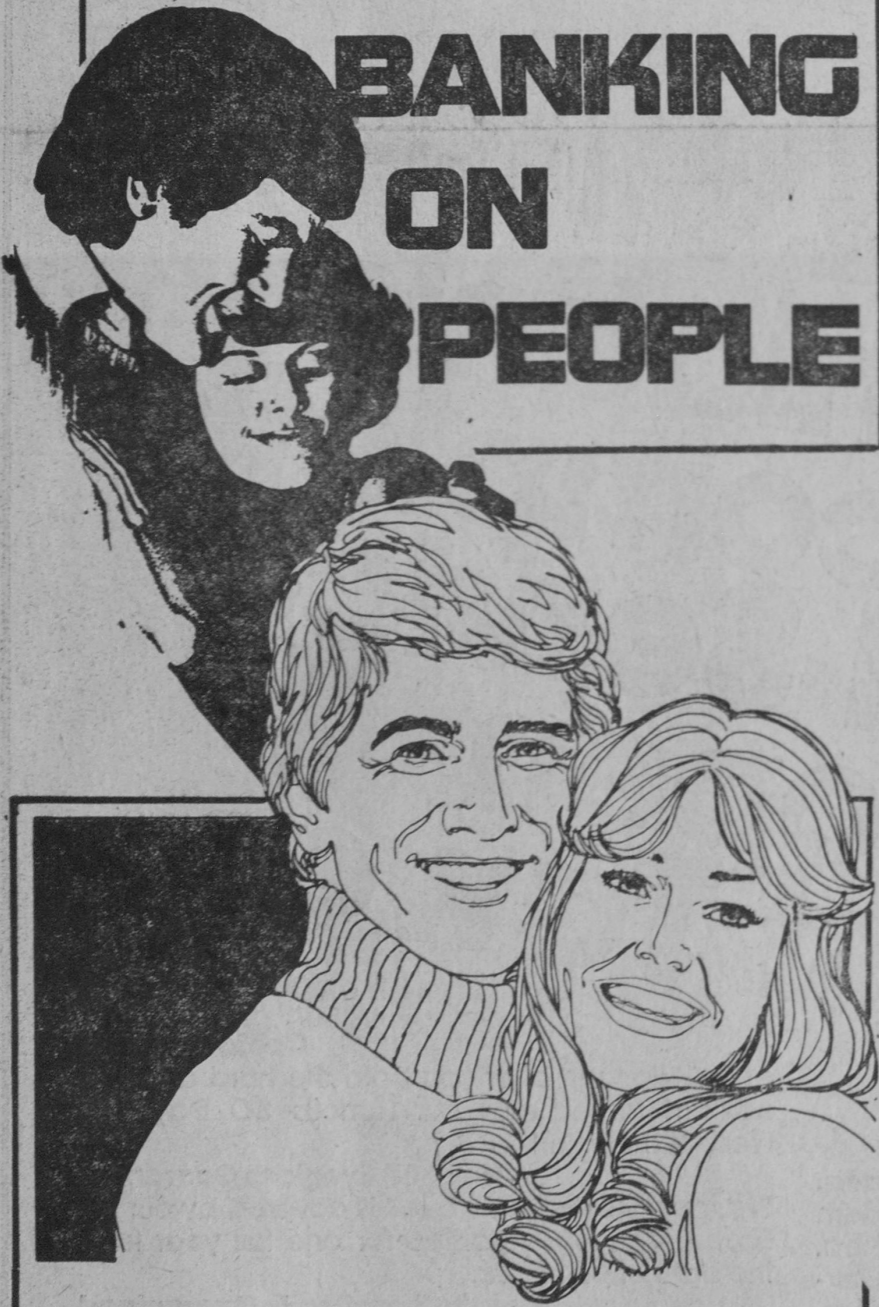

The new building was completed in September 1920 and the firm was again producing butter. Increased competition from large creameries in the downstate area, coupled with the loss of raw material as more and more Iosco farmers sought higher paying jobs in the automobile business, soon saw the end of butter manufacturing in this community.

Kobs operated a cream station at the former butter factory for some months, but the 11-year era of butter making in Tawas City had come to an end. The property was later purchased by Moeller, then a well established grocery store owner at the corner of Lake Street and Whittemore Street, who later sold the butter factory site to Karl Bublitz.

Streams Improved Through CETA

A report on utilization of CETA employees in recently completed waterway improvement projects in Iosco County was given Wednesday to the county board of commissioners by Edward J. Barry and Harry Krueger, county drain commissioner.

Barry, a teacher employed by Tawas Area School, wrote a number of projects last year which were accepted for CETA funding. Under his supervision, cleanup projects were conducted on the Tawas River, AuSable River, Van-Ettan Creek, Oscoda Industrial Park, Elm Creek and the Gregory Drain.

Carlton Merschel, commission chairman, said Wednesday that the CETA projects had proven to be a valuable undertaking by the county and commended both Barry and Krueger.

The commission authorized payment of $86.17 for materials used on the Gregory Drain and Elm Creek projects, plus $350 to Harry Chapman of Turner. When a legal drainage district is established for Elm Creek, the payment to Chapman is to be recovered by the county.

In other business, the commission authorized purchase of four new patrol cars from Ingils Ford Sales, Tawas City, at a total cost of $21,144.

The commission also authorized leasing of a Thunderbird car from Ingils for use as an undercover car by the sheriff's department. Cost of the lease will be $203.91 a month.

Next meeting of the board is to start Tuesday, April 11, an annual statutory session.

Hale Senior Citizens Center Denied Funds

Hale area Senior Citizens recently learned through outside sources that the organization had been denied funding of its recent application through the Older Americans Act. In previous communication, the group believed that the application was in order and there were hopes of being funded.

The organization is currently remodeling the former county garage at Hale into a Hale Area Senior Citizens Center. Much of the work has been accomplished through funds raised by the organization, along with a $15,000 contribution in federal revenue sharing funds from the county.

Application has also been made by the county and Plainfield Township for a federal energy saving grant to aid in insulating the building.

Among the list of reasons for not being funded was that the Hale Area Senior Citizens group did not have an ongoing program, states Joseph T. Roman, president of the Hale Area Senior Citizens and Retirees Advisory Board.

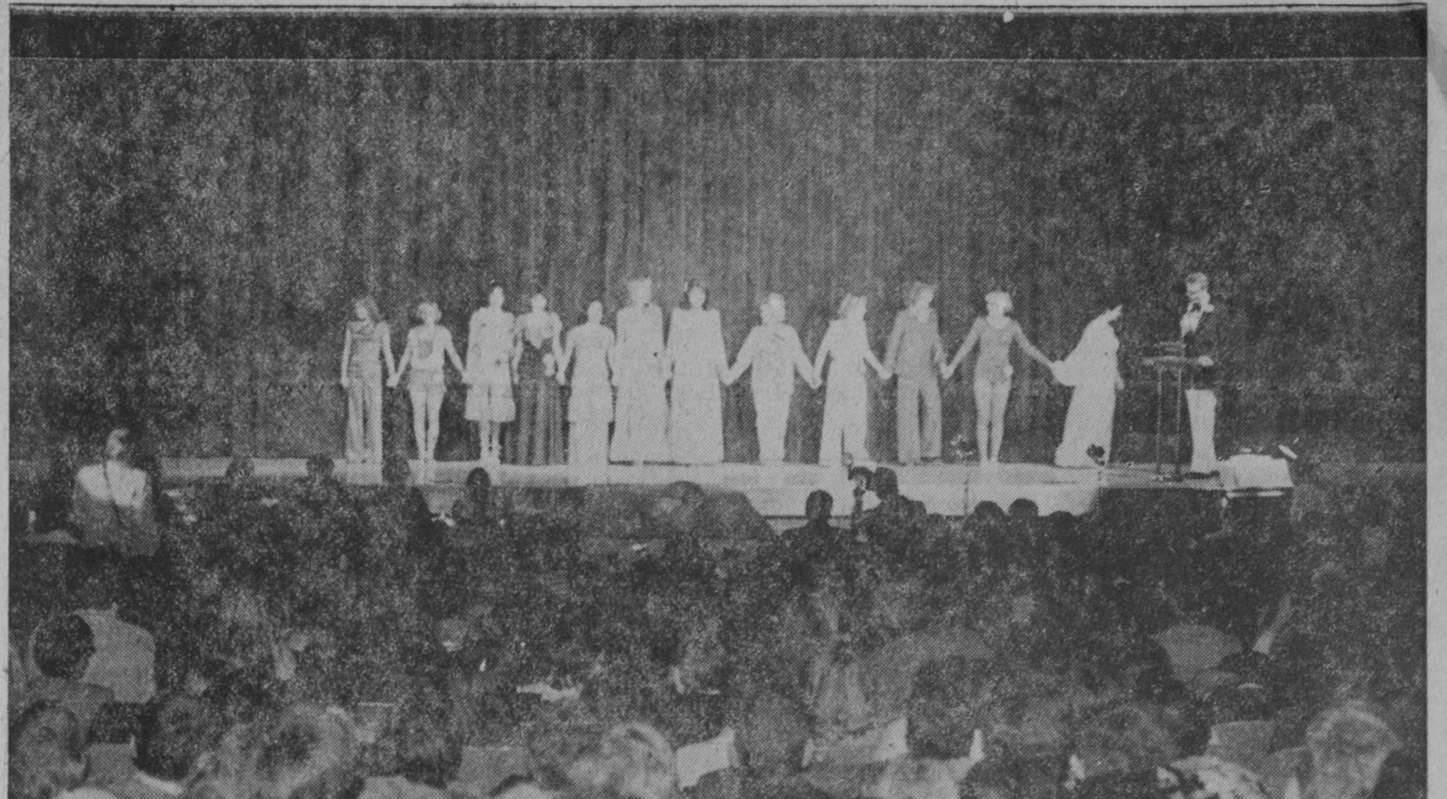

"Yet, the narrative for the application pointed out that during the last year, 4,336 meals were served, there was a total of 6,088 social activity participant days, 2,469 educational days and a general participation of 7,264 days," said Roman.

To date, the Hale group has received no official notice of the action nor, to its knowledge, has anyone from the state office for the Council on Aging visited the site.

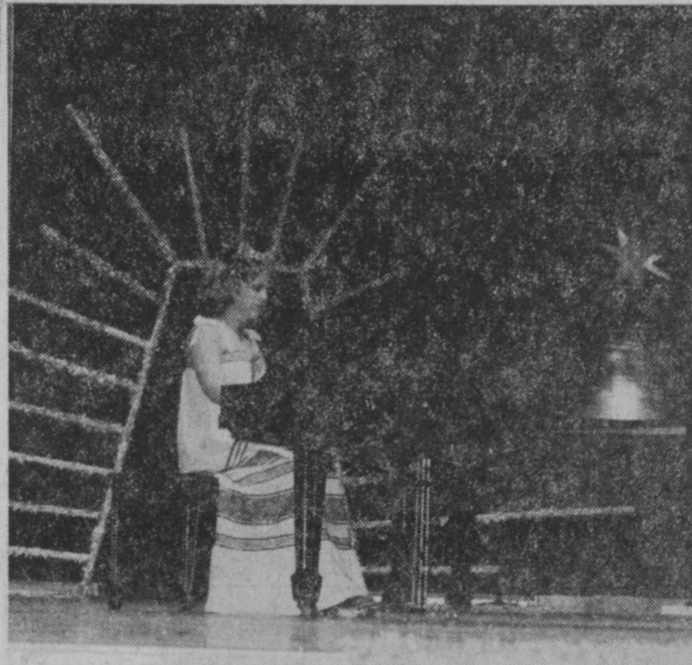

Roman said the group plans to lodge a formal appeal on the decision and to take whatever steps are necessary to obtain future funding.

DID YOU KNOW

That "recycling" takes time? Scientists now estimate that it can take as long as 60 years for paper to fully degrade in a sanitary landfill. Foam cups, on the other hand, resist the bacterial and chemical interaction required for degradability and are thus considered valuable in a landfill operation.

They're clean, and are readily compacted. That's important because foam provides stabilization—like broken concrete, bricks and earth itself—so that surface construction later won't subside.
