

Suspect Foul Play

Det. Lt. Raymond Knuth of the Oscoda-AuSable Police Department said yesterday morning (Tuesday) that investigation continues into the suffocation death of Helen Ann Loyer, 19, who was found lying dead across her bed a week ago by her husband, John. Knuth said that Det. Sgt. Michael Welsch of the Iosco County Sheriff's Department was assisting in the investigation. The death was reported to the Oscoda-AuSable Township Police Department at 4:40 p. m. on Tuesday, May 9. Stephen Naegele, county prosecutor, said that foul play is suspected. An autopsy was performed on the body at Saginaw and police have continued their investigation.

"DORA DUCK" is a confused mallard, apparently believing she is a wood duck for it built a nest in the hollow of an old apple tree near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones on M-55. Mallards usually construct nests on the ground. The duck is incubating a cluster of eggs and does not stand for any poking around of a camera lens by the photographer. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are awaiting the hatching of ducklings, which will be added to a large flock of ducks and geese.—Tawas Herald Photo.

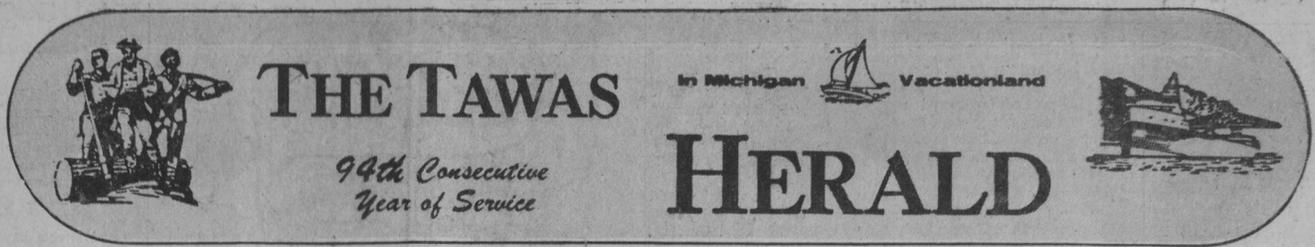

ET Council to Check Plan

Building Inspector Approves Permit for Big Boy Restaurant

Acting under provisions of city ordinance, East Tawas' building inspector has approved an application from Elias Brothers to construct a new Big Boy Restaurant and motel on US-23 east of the "Y" intersection with Tawas Beach Road. Under terms of the city's residence B zoning development of a restaurant in conjunction with a motel or cabins is permitted. Several months ago, Elias Brothers was denied a permit for a restaurant as the application did not comply with the provision for a motel combination. At Monday night's meeting of the East Tawas Council, a request was made to the developer to submit more detailed plans showing the motel development. The proposed restaurant and motel would front on US-23, thereby removing objections of Tawas Beach Road property owners concerning a possible traffic hazard if that narrow road was used for commercial purposes. All parking is to be available from US-23. Actual site of the new Big Boy Restaurant would be Hurley's Lazy Pine Cabins at 1222 East US-23. In other business, a general discussion was held on a proposed special assessment district to construct new sidewalks in the business district. This is to be a long-range program of replacement with concrete or brick construction. Businessmen have expressed concern over the fact that Newman Street will eventually have to be reconstructed, due to the fact that it can no longer be recapped with blacktop because the street crown is nearly at the same grade level as the sidewalk. In addition, the street base is faulty due to construction over a mucky area filled with sawdust and slabs from the lumbering days. A combination sanitary and storm sewer in the street also adds to the problem of excess water at the sewer plant. Concern was expressed that new sidewalks could be damaged during any future street construction program. As a result, the sidewalk program is to proceed only on repairing dangerous areas. At the request of Mrs. John Mie (See ET COUNCIL, page 4.)

Tawas City Council OK's Budget; 15.10-Mill Tax Levy

A 1978-79 operational budget totaling $627,820 was approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council. Of this amount, $198,962.43 would be raised by taxes, based on a levy of 15.10 mills and a valuation of $13,176,320. Because of an increase in valuation, the tax levy was lowered slightly from the 15.35-mill assessment a year ago. The difference would have raised an additional $3,294 for possible equipment purchases, but councilmen felt the line should be held on spending according to the preliminary budget discussed in April showing a lower tax levy. City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz said he felt the budget "fairly represents the needs of the city, both from the standpoint of expected revenues and services, to provide services that have been established." General fund receipts total $278,690, which includes $122,200 in property taxes, $35,000 in sales tax returns, $11,500 representing state income tax returns, fire protection contracts of $13,000, state business tax rebate of $14,000, plus fire improvement and equipment improvement fund of $13,100. Other receipts going to the general fund include an estimated fund balance of $2,590, $5,000 from delinquent property taxes, $2,500 from cemetery lot use, $2,000 from refunds and rebates, $1,300 from gas tax refund, $2,600 representing rentals, intangibles tax return of $2,000, charges of services totaling $4,000, collection fees of $3,500, equipment rental of $3,000, street fund transfers of $7,000, liquor license returns of $2,200, interest and dividend earnings totaling $3,800, trunkline maintenance of $4,000, fire equipment fund of $8,600 and anti recessionary money of $6,000. Expenses to the general fund include: Council, $4,000; mayor, $800; clerk and treasurer (includes supplies and printing), $8,550; par-

Council's Financial Agent for Projects

Authority Appointed

Named to a three-member building authority Monday night by the Tawas City Council were Leonard Hoshbach, Carl Babcock and Benjamin Brewer. The new authority, established by the city in April, would serve as the council's financing vehicle for future municipal construction. In submitting the above names, Coun. Jerry Cotter, who has served on a special council-appointed building committee, said that Hoshbach had indicated he would accept the appointment. Babcock and Brewer are to be contacted this week to learn if they would accept. During discussion on the appointments, Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert Rollin expressed the opinion that action should be delayed in order to give time to consider other candidates for the positions. Cotter and Keiser felt the three candidates at present were highly qualified to serve. Coun. James Lansky pointed out that their names had been suggested during the past two meetings of the council. The mayor was out of town at the regular meeting on May 1 and did not attend a special meeting May 8. Rollin was unable to attend the May 8 meeting. The building authority, patterned after those established by the County of Iosco and Oscoda Township, would follow council directives and has no authority to enter into any contract without prior approval of the council. Approving the appointments on a roll call vote were Rollin, Keiser, Lansky, William Ezo, Cotter and Charles Landon. Mayor Cholger was opposed. In reviewing minutes of the May 1 meeting, which saw rezoning of lake front property between Mathews and River Streets from B-2 to B-1 commercial, a petition was presented from eight property owners protesting the change. Signing the petition were James Sheehan, William Brown, Fred Fletcher, Winnifred Hatton, Alvin Cholger, Gary Stephan, William Walsh and Carl Babcock. Mayor Cholger said he agreed with the council action in changing the zoning, but not with the tim-

Tanner Says River Mouth Unsuitable, but DNR to Check

An offer from the City of Tawas City to turn over recently purchased land at the Tawas River mouth for recreational development by the state is under consideration by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. However, a letter read Monday night to the city council from Dr. Howard Tanner, DNR director, said that a previous evaluation of the property indicated that the property was not suitable for boat ramp purposes. Tanner's letter said that Donald Kaiser, recreational and gift coordinator for the DNR, would meet with the city in the near future to inspect the property and report back to Lansing. City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz told councilmen Monday night that he believed the statement by Tanner indicating the unsuitability of the property may be confused with the city's application several years ago for a state boat ramp project at the river mouth. Bublitz said the project had not been turned down because of unsuitability, but because of the projected cost at that time of more than one-half-million-dollars. That plan included a large property purchase and extensive filling for parking. Since then, the city has acquired the former Lubaway property and has scaled down its plans for a river mouth harbor, boat launching ramp and parking facilities. One proposed plan has an estimated cost of $300,000, although this could be scaled down according to available financing. The city manager said he would explain the new proposal to the DNR representative when he makes his inspection of the property.

Radio Auction Proves Success

Harris Barkman, president of the Iosco County Historical Society, reported at 7 o'clock last night that about 65 percent of the merchandise offered in Tuesday's radio auction had been sold. "We have been amazed with the response to this program. Listeners have even called to donate items to be auctioned off," he stated. The radio auction was to raise funds for the new county historical museum at East Tawas.

$337,023.50 Budget Gets Approval of ET Council

A general fund-debt service budget of $337,023.50 for 1978-79 was adopted Monday night by the East Tawas Council. Total expenses for city operation amount to $677,877.97, which includes general fund, water and sewer, major street, local street and debt service, all under separate budgets. The general fund and debt service budgets call for a tax rate of 14.5 mills, the same as last year. Actual city operation calls for a levy of 10.71, $187,045.50, and 3.79 mills for debt service, $66,190.71. The remainder of the tax levy would include .99 of a mill for 1967 general obligation sewer bonds, one mill for Tawas Lake No. 1 Sewer and 1.8 mills for 1977 Iosco County Water Project. In addition to local property taxes, other major revenue items include $70,000 in state funds, $15,828 from Baldwin Township for fire protection, $10,000 from parking fees and fines, $7,000 from penal fines, $8,600 from street department sales, $10,000 interest and $15,000 in equipment rental. Not included in the general fund budget is $49,700 in federal revenue sharing and approximately $16,000 in federal anti recessionary money. At the request of Kenneth Myles, a special assessment district is to be established on Twelfth Avenue for sewer construction. Myles is sole owner of the property. Action of the water board saw a sewer rate charge established at 60 percent of the water billing effective July 1. The old rate was 50 percent of the water billing. Resignation of Jack Johnson from the cemetery board for reasons of health was accepted. Orville Koepf was appointed chairman to succeed Johnson. The name of Richard Pfeiffer was presented to fill the cemetery board vacancy. Because of the fact that Pfeiffer is a city employee, the appointment has been delayed for a legal opinion. A new grillwork sign is being designed for the cemetery by Guy Lickfelt, which would incorporate the name of "Memory Gardens."

A LARGE FRAMED PORTRAIT of the late Joseph Barkman has been hung in the Iosco County Museum at East Tawas. The museum was the beneficiary of a large collection of historical items collected by Barkman over a period of years, along with cash contributed to establish a trust fund for the museum. Shown holding the portrait is Harris Barkman, president of the Iosco County Historical Society and brother of Joseph. The print, showing Mr. Barkman making the first contribution to the Community Chest Campaign of 1969, was donated by The Tawas Herald.—Tawas Herald Photo.

At the present time, Iosco County is conducting a complete reappraisal of property through the tax equalization department using CETA trainees. It was reported that a vacancy caused by a recent resignation could not be filled because of the directive.

to $56,000, including $12,000 from taxes, $25,000 from Act 51 funds, $16,000 from trunkline maintenance and an estimated balance of $3,000. Expenditures include $25,000 for street maintenance, $24,000 for new streets and transfers of $7,000.

Local streets have a budget of $45,500, with receipts of $27,500 in taxes, $16,000 under Act 51 and an estimated balance of $2,000. Disbursements include $22,500 for street maintenance and $23,000 in street construction.

Capital expenditure projects planned for the year include the US-23 storm sewer, $49,000, which would be financed by $25,000 from street funds and $24,000 from revenue sharing.

The 1978 street blacktopping program has an estimated cost of $25,000. Streets include North Street, from First Avenue to Fifth Avenue; Court Street, from Wheeler Street to North Street; Wheeler Street, from US-23 to Court Street; Birch Street, from US-23 to Court Street; First Street, from First Avenue to Ninth Avenue.

Obligations to the city would include payment of $9,000 from revenue sharing and $3,500 from anti recessionary money for payment on the purchase of 40 acres of land expanding the industrial park; revenue sharing money of $12,000 for the step one sewer participation; $9,000 in anti recessionary money for 1974 general obligation bonds and $1,500 from anti recessionary money for river mouth engineering.

The city is to purchase new equipment in the amount of $55,000. The DPW equipment fund has a balance on hand of $9,144 and the one-mill of tax would give a total of $22,000 as of October 1 to apply to the first payment toward the purchase. The remainder would be financed at an interest rate of five percent for three years.

Equipment to be purchased include two new dump trucks, a new underbody scraper, a new one-way plow, three-quarter ton four-wheel drive pickup, electric portable welder and street sweeper.

The budget allocates $17,500 per year for 40 years for construction of a new city hall and property purchase at the present location. The payment is based on a 40-year loan from FHA at an interest rate of five percent.

Construction of two bridges may be considered at a later date by the council. Estimated cost of $60,000 for a new bridge on North Street and replacement of a bridge on Sixth Avenue would be $33,000. If adopted, financing would be through tax anticipation notes.

The city anticipates federal revenue sharing funds in the amount of $62,500. Federal anti recessionary funds are estimated at $21,900, which includes a balance of $6,000.

Although not part of the budget adopted by the council, water department funds and expenditures total $94,500, while sewer department receipts and disbursements total $54,000. These two items are included in the $627,820 total of all city budgets.

Social Security Rules For Coverage Given

Many people in this area seem to be confused about the rules governing how social security credits a person's earnings, a local social security spokesperson said today.

There are two different concepts involved. The first has to do with how earnings are credited, and the second deals with how social security credits, or "quarters of coverage," are earned.

The earnings of most workers are covered starting with the first dollar they are paid each year. But, there are special rules that apply to the earnings of others.

The earnings of people who work in someone else's home are covered only if they are paid $50 cash or more in a 3-month calendar quarter by one employer. The earnings of farm workers are covered only if they are paid $150 or more in a year or they work for an employer 20 or more days in a year and are paid on a time basis—by the hour, day, week, or month. The earnings of self-employed people are covered only if they have net earnings of $400 or more in a year. Cash tips are covered only if they amount to $20 or more in a month working for one employer.

If these rules are met, the representative continued, then all of the worker's earnings must be reported to social security under his or her name and social security number. Starting with 1978, the earnings of all employees, except household workers, are reported just once, at the end of the year using the familiar Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement). Self-employed people will continue reporting their covered earnings annually, at the time they file their Federal income tax return.

Once a person's earnings are covered, and subsequently reported, another measure is used to determine whether the person gets social security credits, or "quarters of coverage," based on the earnings.

These credits are the basis of eligibility for monthly social security benefits. For example, a worker reaching 62 in 1978 needs credit for 6 3/4 years—27 quarters of coverage—to be eligible for retirement checks. By 1991, all workers will need credit for 10 years of work—40 quarters—to be eligible for checks. Differing amounts are needed for survivor or disability benefits, depending on the worker's age.

Before 1978, most workers received credit for one quarter of coverage if they were paid $50 in a calendar quarter. Farm workers received one quarter for each $100 of covered annual earnings. Self-employed people received 4 quarters if their net earnings were $400 or more. No more than 4 quarters can be credited in a year.

Starting with 1978 the same rules apply to all, employed or self-employed alike. A worker will receive one quarter of coverage for each $250 of annual earnings, up to a total of 4 quarters if annual earnings are $1,000 or more.

The $250 measure will increase automatically in future years to keep pace with increases in average wages covered by social security.

More information can be obtained at any social security office. The nearest office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

questions and answers

Q. My wife is very ill and has been in the hospital for some time now. We know her Medicare hospital insurance will help pay for up to 90 days in the hospital in a benefit period. But, what happens if she has to stay longer than 90 days?

A. If a Medicare beneficiary has to stay in the hospital for more than 90 days in a benefit period, Medicare hospital insurance includes an extra 60 hospital days that can be used.

These extra days are called reserve days. In 1978 hospital insurance pays for all covered services except for $72 a day for each reserve day used. Once a reserve day is used, you never get it back. Reserve days are not renewable like the 90 hospital days in each benefit period.

Q. I've heard that Medicare can only pay for care in participating hospitals. What happens, though, if I ever have to go into a hospital that doesn't participate in Medicare?

A Medicare hospital insurance can help pay for care in a qualified non-participating hospital if (1) you are admitted to the non-participating hospital for emergency treatment, and (2) the non-participating hospital is the closest one to get to that is equipped to handle the emergency. Under Medicare, emergency treatment means treatment that is immediately necessary to prevent death or serious impairment to health.

CB Radio Organizations Join Police in Traffic Safety Effort

Tawas EARS and Iosco County ECAR are cooperating with the Michigan State Police in Operation CARE, combined accident reduction effort.

Operation CARE I and II, which were conducted over the 1977 July 4 and Labor Day holiday periods, were an outstanding success. Four midwestern states joined together in the program of increased patrols and enforcement of the nationwide 55-mile per hour speed limit with concentration on drunk driving, improper lane usage and following too closely. The project resulted in the lowest holiday death rate in over 20 years.

Operation CARE III, IV and V are planned for 1978. However, instead of four states joining together to reduce accidents, over 40 states will take part in the coast-to-coast life saving project. In order to pass the word to Michigan motorists, considerable public information activity is planned by the Michigan State Police.

Tawas EARS and Iosco County ECAR, citizens band radio organizations, will assist in this activity by holding a public information coffee stop for motorists at the Midway parking lot over the Memorial Day week-end.

said that a hazard existed when cars were parked along narrow Tawas Beach Road. The city had installed no parking signs there several years ago, but all have disappeared.

The council took formal action to vacate a sufficient area of Wadsworth Street between US-23 and Tawas Bay to permit construction of a boat launching ramp by the state. The entrance from US-23 is to be closed.

The park audit for the past fiscal year was accepted by the council. A report read at the meeting indicated that the Liquor Control Commission was considering transfer of an SDM license from John H. and Mary J. Klenow to Steven and Carol Klenow.

Action on a new grass and weed ordinance is to be taken at the next meeting.

The council approved loaning of old city records to the county museum. The loan includes voter registration books, assessment rolls and records of the justices of the peace.

UNDERSTANDING WETLANDS

WETLANDS ARE NOT WASTELANDS AS SOME STILL BELIEVE. NOT ONLY WILDLIFE BUT PEOPLE NEED THEM.

ACRE FOR ACRE, WETLANDS PRODUCE MORE WILDLIFE — IN NUMBERS AND VARIETY — AND MORE PLANT GROWTH THAN ANY OTHER HABITAT.

MICH. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Hospitality Vital Factor

"Michigan's beautiful lakes, panoramic views, towering convention centers, and fascinating cities wouldn't mean much to travelers without the hospitality displayed by Michigan residents," says Commerce Director Keith Molin. "Yet hospitality means more than a smile and a handshake," adds Molin. "For many of us it means a way of life, for over 208,000 jobs are supported by the travel and tourism industry in the state." Molin pointed out that travel and tourism are one of Michigan's top economic activities—along with manufacturing and agriculture, and Michigan ranks sixth on a nationwide scale in travel expenditures. "Our Travel Bureau does much more than promote tourism. It works with communities and developers to both improve existing travel facilities as well as expand the market to encourage greater travel activity. This means more jobs and a healthier economy for all of us."

Michigan Seal Preceded State

From 1837 until 1865, the Michigan flag remained the same. The blue flag, designed by Detroit artist Allen Smith, Jr., bore a portrait of Gen. Hugh Brady, a state seal, an American flag, a portrait of an unidentified woman and some other items. On the other side was a portrait of Gov. Stevens T. Mason, a Brady Guard cap and a white horse. Except for the U.S. coat of arms which was removed, the flag remains essentially the same today. The flag's focal point, Michigan's coat of arms, was established before Michigan became a state. It goes back to the hardy pioneers who inhabited the area when it was the Michigan territory in the very early 1800s. The coat of arms appears to have been an origination of General Lewis Cass, governor of the Michigan territory from 1813 to 1831.

County Takes Over Funding

Emergency Ambulance Service to Cost Estimated $43,362.12

Estimated cost of ambulance service support in Isosco County for one year effective July 1 is $43,362.12, according to a report at Wednesday's work session of Isosco County Board of Commissioners.

The total includes $27,613 as the county's subsidy to finance an expected deficit in the operation of the ambulance service at Tawas Hospital, plus $15,749 as a contribution to the new Oscoda-AuSable ambulance service.

Commissioners are to meet today (Wednesday) with representatives of Oscoda Township to determine if the above financing is agreeable.

A contract with Tawas Hospital to continue operation of the ambulance service under county rather than local unit financing was approved two weeks ago by the board of commissioners. Since establishment of the ambulance service a number of years ago, all local units with the exception of Oscoda and AuSable Townships paid the year end deficit. Present ambulance service provided by a funeral director is to expire June 30 in Oscoda and AuSable Townships and those two units have elected to operate their own ambulance service.

A formula developed for reimbursing those two units was based on valuation and population. According to county records, the combined valuation of the two units represents 35.35 percent of the county's total state equalized valuation and the combined population represents 37.29 percent of the total county population.

Carlton Merschel, commission chairman, said the population figure excludes Wurtsmith Air Force Base, which provides its own ambulance service.

Payments are to be made quarterly and the commission indicated that a close check would be maintained on operational costs of each ambulance service.

No action was taken on a request from Oscoda and AuSable Township for a $10,000 allocation from the county to assist in purchasing an ambulance.

TIMOTHY DEAN HASKIN

Three More Hats in Ring for House Post

Three additional candidates, two Republicans and one Democrat, have filed nominating petitions for the August 8 primary election as candidates for the 105th District in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Seeking the seat being vacated by Rep. George A. Prescott are Timothy Dean "TD" Haskin of Tawas City, Russell D. Mason of Ogemaw County, both Republicans, and Patrick G. Flynn of Pinconning Democrat.

Haskin was a candidate for this position in the 1976 primary election and Flynn was the Democratic candidate for representative in the elections of 1974 and 1976.

Other candidates listed last week for this position were Steven J. L. Goforth of Lupton, Norman C. Caldwell of Mio and C. J. Smith Jr. of Oscoda County, all Republicans.

Haskin, 31, is in his seventh year of teaching at Tawas Area School. He is a graduate of Central Michigan University, where he received his bachelor and master degrees in education with major emphasis in political science. He has been actively involved in school functions, working with children, sports, broadcasting, theatre and various community activities.

Haskin believes the most important role of a legislator is to have direct personal contact with the people. He is in favor of a new 20-mill formula which he said would equalize funding of public schools. He also cites the need for revamping the welfare system, mandatory jail sentences for crimes committed using a weapon, the tax limitation law and assistance programs for senior citizens as important programs and issues with which the legislature must deal.

A grave injustice was committed to the memory of a native American through publication of a historical novel in 1952. The late E. J. (Pete) Petersen, then living at Sand Lake, used the names of actual residents from early Isosco County history when he authored his exciting fictional work, "North of Saginaw Bay."

Today's readers of Petersen's book often confuse the fictional characters contained therein with the names of persons who were actual residents here prior to 1900. For instance, the book's main character, William F. "Big Bill" Struthers, was the finest riverman ever to sink his calked boots into a white pine log floating down the AuSable River, not a millionaire lumber baron as portrayed in "North of Saginaw Bay."

However, the most serious malignment of a name in the book was the portraying of "Chief" Simon Greensky as a shady character, the "Injun wildcat" as Petersen pictured this man in a fictional role. The story is most interesting but, in true life, this resident of Oscoda was far from being the drunken Indian, who spoke in a "jibber-jabber," as stated by Petersen.

When the Rev. Simon Greensky passed away Sunday, December 26, 1937, at the Chippewa settlement near Oscoda, both Indians and white people from all over Michigan mourned his death.

"He will be remembered for his great devotion to his tribe. He loved his people and gave his life to their betterment and happiness," stated his obituary.

Greensky has been remembered by his people and his white friends. A bronze tablet imbedded in a Boulder station in front of the Methodist Indian Mission Church west of Oscoda briefly attests of his good work among the two races.

When he died at the age of 81 years, he had served the Indian mission church for nearly 40 years. Greensky had led a very colorful life before going to the altar to bring the teachings of Christ to his own people.

He was understudy to the Rev. John Tadgasong, pastor of the Indian mission for many years, who traveled by foot and canoe from Saganing to a land covered with trees and streams that now forms the boundary line of the Oscoda Indian settlement on the Isosco-Alcona County line.

Together, Tadgasong and Greensky led their band of eight families into the wilderness to build a new settlement. Tadgasong was quoted in an issue of the AuSable Saturday Night, in January 1888, as saying that his forefathers had lived between the Indian islands on the AuSable River and the Pine River for 400 years. The Indian islands are now covered by the backwaters of Cooke Dam.

The Indian mission church dates from 1878 and its founding was due to a missionary program of the Methodist Church at AuSable-Oscoda. The Chippewa burial ground is close by.

During the year 1897, Greensky took charge of the mission. A pioneer in his work, his name is recorded in history and among the remaining members of his tribe as a hard worker who fought for the best in life. Many of his outstanding works are remembered by the people of this section, as each year annual camp meetings were held on the grounds in front of the Indian mission church.

Greensky is remembered as being a genial, philosophical, black-haired Indian who had many a friend in the state—friends made at the summer camp meetings, which became a tradition each August in this section.

Before the white man came to Isosco, Indian campfires blazed in the forests of the AuSable River region, the hunting ground of the Chippewa. These Indians lived in the manner and followed the customs handed down for centuries.

One of those customs was that, at certain seasons of the year, all of the tribes inhabiting the region would gather at chosen meeting places—the high banks of the AuSable River or at some other spot decreed by tradition—for tribal discussions and religious ceremonies, just as their forefathers had done.

Tepees would be pitched, altars would be erected and, in the flickering light of campfires, the tribal members would listen to the exhortations of their leaders imploring the favor of the Great Manitou or Great Spirit.

Time has a way of changing the face of this land and its native peoples and no longer do those tribal campfires burn on long-forgotten sacred grounds. But, during the 19-20s and 1930s, Greensky continued to be in charge of the annual camp meetings held near the Indian mission, which brought together for worship tribal members from Quianicasse, Bay City, Saginaw, Mt. Pleasant, Pinconning, Standish and up the Huron shore as far as Alpena.

The meetings at one time drew 500 Indians but, with the dwindling of their numbers, only 200 attended the last meeting, reported The Tawas Herald in 1937.

"Greensky gained statewide recognition by his religious work among the Indians of Northeastern Michigan. He was succeeded by the Rev. John Silas a few years ago on his retirement," stated the Herald in Greensky's obituary printed on December 31, 1937.

Greensky is remembered for his wit, for never was there a man with so keen a sense of humor, a characteristic that disproved the accepted conception that the Indian was taciturn and humorless. He is remembered for the strong pride he had in his race. He berated intermarriage, which he saw was fast destroying the purity of the strain. "Intermarriage," he once lamented in a newspaper interview, "is rapidly swallowing up the remnant of our people."

Greensky is remembered for his love of the wigwam, which he avowed was the only proper house for an Indian. During the summers, he constructed a typical birch bark tepee in front of his home near the little clapboard mission church and used it for sleeping purposes and meditation. Here, his mind dwelt on the condition of the Indian and he searched around for methods by which he could bring pride, happiness and contentment once again to his people and to blend the Christian religion to the mood of his tribesmen.

According to Greensky, the spirit of the Indian was happier, freer and more exultant in the religion of his forefathers. "Not because it was a better religion, but because it was our own."

In a newspaper interview printed in the 1920s, he said that "in the faith of our ancestors, the underlying impulses and feelings of our

AN INJUSTICE TO THE MEMORY OF SIMON GREENSKY

REMEMBERED for his great devotion to his tribe is the Rev. Simon Greensky, who died in 1937 at Oscoda. He was a genial, philosophical Indian, who had many a friend in the state. Many residents of Michigan recall his annual camp meetings held each summer near the Methodist Indian Mission Church west of Oscoda. He is shown in front of his summer wigwam with his family and visiting white friends.

THE METHODIST INDIAN Mission Church west of Oscoda, served by the Rev. Simon Greensky for nearly 40 years, was renovated as a bicentennial year project in 1976. Greensky, who became pastor in 1897, had been an understudy to the Rev. John Tadgasong, pastor of the mission for many years.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Michigan Needs State Police!

Michigan legislators are being sold a bill of goods by metropolitan area sheriff's unions and readers of this newspaper should let their voices be heard at Lansing.

Senate Bills 1517 and 1518 would prevent the Michigan State Police from functioning except as patrol officers on state freeways and trunk lines.

This means that citizens of this state are about to lose the services of the state police, who will be relegated to the duties of highway patrol if changes now under consideration in the Michigan Legislature become law.

The people of Michigan appreciate the excellent record of the state police in law enforcement and would not support these proposals if they understood them. It should be remembered that the state police came into being as state troops after World War I, when many politically untouchable local officials gave no heed to enforcing state laws—officials in some counties were, in fact, taking payoffs from the criminal element.

Motivation behind these two bills is highly questionable and it is estimated the plan will cost in the area of $10,000,000 a year in state money allocated to pay local sheriff's departments.

The Michigan State Police—and the people of Michigan—deserve better treatment at the hands of our state government than these bills provide. The people of our state deserve the efficient police service which is available from the Michigan State Police.

This newspaper urges all citizens to write immediately to Gov. William Milliken and area legislators and let their voices be heard at Lansing on this subject.

Local Officials—Take a Bow!

A financial burden has finally been lifted from 12 of 14 local units of government through agreement by the county board of commissioners to finance the annual deficit of operating an ambulance service.

Iosco's total annual contribution of an estimated $43,362.12 is actually a bargain when compared to the cost of ambulance service to other counties of this region.

Major funding of this service is expected to come from payment in lieu of taxes on Huron National Forest land by the federal government. Although this money has been "released" by the federal government after two court hearings in Michigan, a court decision is still pending the appeal of Michigan townships.

Should this money not be received by the county or if federal revenue sharing is ever discontinued, the county could find itself in a financial bind and the board of commissioners would have to go to the people and ask for a voted tax levy of about one mill to finance ambulance operation.

The 12 local units of government which have previously borne this cost should be recognized. When funeral directors announced in 1969 that they were getting out of the ambulance business because of new state mandated regulations, officials of the 12 units saw the need for continuing this important service and formed an organization to provide financing.

The 12 local units of government operated an ambulance service out of the county jail starting July 1, 1969, and made application for a $22,000 federal grant to pay one-half the cost of purchasing a used ambulance and two new units. The two new ambulances arrived in August 1969 and one was manned by a volunteer organization at Hale.

The application for $11,000 in federal funds was later denied. Local units then negotiated a contract with Tawas Hospital to take over the ambulance service on November 17, 1969.

Since then, the ambulance service has proven to be an efficient operation operated by the hospital, although annual financing has proven burdensome to the local units of government.

Those 12 units sharing the cost of the annual ambulance deficit were the Townships of Alabaster, Baldwin, Burleigh, Grant, Plainfield, Reno, Sherman, Tawas and Wilber, along with the Cities of East Tawas, Tawas City and Whittemore.

It should be noted that Oscoda and AuSable Townships did not elect to enter the original ambulance service arrangement several years ago as two competing funeral directors at that time chose to remain in the ambulance business. That was a good deal for those two townships as the service was provided at little or no cost to those units.

Effective June 30, the one remaining funeral director still in the ambulance business will discontinue that service at Oscoda and the two townships will establish their own service. This operation will be subsidized, too, under financing authorized by the county board of commissioners.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Psalm 146)

"The Lord sets the prisoners free." (Psalm 146:7 RSV)

A group of ministers were invited to the West Virginia State Penitentiary by the chaplain to observe the construction of the chapel within the prison walls. The prisoners themselves were furnishing the labor to build the chapel. Christians and churches from all over the state were contributing to its construction.

We stood inside the unfinished chapel, prisoners and pastors alike, and sang together some of the favorite old hymns of the church. The strains of the familiar hymns wafted out the open doors and windows of that unfinished prison chapel, into the prison yard, through the bars and over the walls.

In the midst of that experience, I was impressed with how symbolic it was. We would soon be leaving the prison walls behind; but we, too, are often prisoners of other things. Like the strains of those hymns, Christ's Holy Spirit is able to penetrate the bars and the walls and the hardness of our hearts and set us free in His love.

The chapel with its spire higher than the prison walls can be seen as a symbol of the freedom-giving Christ.

lives were given expression. They knew the meanings of both courage and fear and profited by experience." This does not sound like the Indian portrayed in "North of Saginaw Bay."

In commenting about the Indian religion, Greensky once explained it this way: "The early Indian believed in powers outside of himself and what he could discern in nature, but not in personal divinity. Our people have a great compassion for members of the human race. Life is a mystery to them, therefore they respect all living things."

Believing, or at least not denying, the teachings of the mission Indian preachers, the Indian mentally retains the right to his ancient belief. A visit to the little graveyard hidden in the woods not far from the mission church reveals the gravetops covered with glass dishes, cups, toys or trinkets, which were treasured possessions of the departed. The items are placed there for two reasons—that the living members of the family may constantly be reminded of their loss and that the spirit of the departed may enjoy their use as they did before the Great Spirit took them with him.

Thoughtless white visitors to the cemetery often take these as souvenirs, although they would not think of desecrating the graves of their own family. Oscoda residents will remember a letter written to the editor of the local newspaper a number of years ago asking that the graves not be molested.

Known as Pa-me-nah-way to his tribe, Greensky followed his calling for nearly 40 years and was ably assisted in his labors by his wife. Like other Indian families at that time, the Chippewa language was used in the home, even though both parents could speak English fluently and were highly intelligent.

This story is being written in an effort to correct a wrong, which was probably committed quite unintentionally by an author more than 25 years ago. Today, persons reading "North of Saginaw Bay" should realize its story is of pure fiction and its characters bear no resemblance to the names used—real people and certainly not a true to life representation in the case of Simon Greensky, one of Iosco County's most noted and respected residents, now departed.

The annual camp meetings near Oscoda are now a thing of the past, but the memory of Greensky will remain as long as there are men of compassion and understanding.

TAWAS CITY PARK OFFICIALS needn't have shed so many tears or lost any sleep over removal of the old willow tree which was a great favorite of young climbers. An example of what could have happened and what the park board tried to avoid was demonstrated last Wednesday when the willow tree pictured above suddenly toppled over and crashed through the rear of Lad's Padd, with no apparent reason and no warning. One limb was poked through a large picture window, showering an inside office with broken glass. Fortunately, no one was injured. Park board members shudder to think what would have happened had the old willow tree in the park suddenly snapped with a load of youngsters on one large limb, or if it had suddenly toppled during the art show. The old tree had served its purpose for 60 or more years and was ready to be removed.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Buddy Poppies

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: The annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has been officially recognized and endorsed by governmental leaders since 1922, and

WHEREAS: VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, and

WHEREAS: The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living;" therefore

I, Herbert W. Cholger, mayor of the City of Tawas City, do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on May 18-19-20, the days set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead.

I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

GOD STILL LOVES YOU.

If you wandered away from Him, there must have been a reason. But maybe what you lost interest in wasn't really God at all. Wouldn't it be satisfying, getting to know God as He really is... understanding your place in His loving plan?

IN THE SERVICE—

Alaskan Fisheries Patrol Assignment

Coast Guard Ens. Kenneth W. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Armstrong of Tawas City, recently departed for an Alaskan fisheries patrol in the North Pacific Ocean.

He is an officer assigned to the coast guard cutter, Midgett, homeported in Alameda, California. During the 60-day patrol, Midgett will conduct surveillance operations in the North Pacific and Bering Sea, plus enforce international treaties and United States laws, including the 200-mile fisheries conservation zone. Port visits are scheduled in Kodiak and Adak, Alaska.

Midgett is a 378-foot-long, high endurance cutter and carries a crew of 155 officers and enlisted men. She is equipped with guns and torpedo launchers and is outfitted with a landing platform for a search and rescue helicopter. Armstrong is a 1973 graduate of Tawas Area High School and a 1977 graduate of the United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Connecticut, with a bachelor of science degree.

Delayed Entry Into Air Force

Susan A. Bingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Bingle, Whittemore, has entered the United States Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to SSgt. James T. Markham, the air force recruiter here, Miss Bingle's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the air force to schedule an opening for her to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables her to wrap up her personal affairs before leaving home.

Miss Bingle, a graduate of Whittemore-Prescott Area High School, will enter the regular air force on August 1. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, she will receive technical training in the electronic area and be assigned to an air force duty station.

Service Held for Ruth Todhunter

Graveside services were held Friday, May 12, at Glendale Cemetery, Okemos, for Ruth A. Todhunter of East Tawas, who passed away Wednesday, May 10, at Tawas Hospital. The Rev. Jacob Stauffer officiated.

Mrs. Todhunter was born December 30, 1896, at Howard City and moved to the Tawas area several years ago from Detroit. She resided with her daughter, Mrs. Frances Hutchens.

Besides her daughter, she leaves one granddaughter and two great grandchildren.

Two young men who are juniors at Whittemore-Prescott Area High School have been selected to attend the American Legion Wolverine Boys State this summer, to be held at the campus of Michigan State University.

David Fisher is being sponsored by American Legion Post No. 370 at Skidway Lake and John Franklin is being sponsored by the Skidway Lake Chamber of Commerce.

Fisher has earned a varsity letter for three years in cross-country, two years in track and one year in basketball. He also received a junior varsity letter and freshman numerals in basketball. He received the most valuable player award as a sophomore and junior in cross-country and holds the school record for the 330-yard low hurdles.

Fisher was on the debate team for one year and was representative for the United States Marine Corps physical fitness competition. He served as president of the library and teen exchange member. He has better than a B average in high school and was a member of the 1977 Youth Conservation Corps. David lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hickey, at 5037 Linda Drive, Prescott.

He played freshman basketball, varsity tennis and was on the varsity debate team. He joined the FFA as a freshman and was a student council representative. He received the citizenship award as a sophomore, attended the FFA state convention and was on the cross-country team.

Franklin was elected student council vice president as a junior, participated on the varsity debate team which won regional competition and was first team all conference in debate. The debate team finished seventh in state competition.

County Road Tour Made Last Friday

Iosco County Board of Commissioners were guests Friday morning of the Iosco County Road Commission on an inspection tour of the county's road system.

This annual inspection is made to acquaint county commissioners with work done during the past year, work to be done during the current year and what should be done in future years.

The first step on the tour was at the site of a dam controlling the level of Long Lake in Plainfield Township. A report to the commission indicated that some work was needed to change the size of an overflow tube leading from the dam, which would require construction in the roadway.

Ad Hoc Committee Negotiates Contract on Iosco Landfill

An ad hoc committee to negotiate a new contract with Multi-County Landfill was appointed Wednesday by Carlton Merschel, chairman of the county board of commissioners.

Named to the committee were Jack Allen, John Webb and David George, all members of the county commission.

The county currently has a one-year contract with the private firm to provide sanitary landfill service at a cost of $80,000 annually. The contract is due to expire July 1.

Merschel said the committee's responsibility was to negotiate a short term answer to the county's solid waste problem. He felt that the committee should not address any problem at this time concerning the possible establishment of a county facility, because of the time element involved. At the present time, Multi-County Landfill is the only facility in this county approved by the state.

Webb expressed the opinion at Wednesday's session that the county should give serious consideration to establishing its own landfill, perhaps on National Gypsum Company property, which has been offered.

The committee reportedly is to ask the private firm to permit a certified public accountant, agreeable to both parties, to audit the firm's books.

It was stated at the meeting that a contract price favorable to both the county and to the private firm providing the service would be sought.
