

Two Masked Men Robbed Beer Store

Two masked armed robbers made off with $1,700 in cash Saturday night after holding a gun on a cashier at the Hale Beer Store. Yvonne Green, cashier, told investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers that two men wearing orange stocking caps pulled over their faces walked into the store on Esmond Road at 10:30 p. m. Eye holes had been cut in the caps and the men were wearing brown work gloves. "I asked them not to shoot and they said 'just give us the money and we won't—just give us the money,'" said the cashier.

The cashier, who was ordered to lie down on the floor, said one man was armed with a long gun which she thought was a shotgun and the second man carried a brown paper bag.

Later, officers found a stocking cap believed used in the robbery on Esmond Road, four miles east of M-65, and the other cap was found on Indian Lake Road near its intersection with Sand Lake Road.

The cashier told officers she did not believe a car had pulled into the parking lot immediately prior to the two subjects entry into the store. A neighbor recalled that a vehicle had accelerated from the area at a high rate of speed to the west on Esmond Road.

Both men were wearing light brown jackets.

DONALD SNYDER

Snyder to Quit Hospital Post on February 2

A letter of resignation was received last week by Tawas Hospital Board of Trustees from Adm. Donald W. Snyder, effective February 2, 1979.

He was appointed administrator and began his duties in May of 1976. Prior to coming to Tawas, he served as administrator at Hackley Hospital, Muskegon.

Snyder and his wife, Leta, will be moving to Lansing where he will assume the position of vice president of Shared Services with the Michigan Hospital Association. The Shared Services program provides consultation and services to Michigan hospitals that may not be able to obtain them because of distance, costs or availability of those services.

Driver Enters Guilty Plea to Neg. Homicide

George Romero, 24, Wurtsmith Air Force Base, entered a plea of guilty Monday in Iosco County Circuit Court to a charge of negligent homicide.

He was the driver of a car which attempted to pass a tractor-trailer unit on US-23, AuSable Township, on September 20, which crashed head-on into a car driven by Howard G. Herriman, 68, who received fatal injuries.

The crash occurred during a dense fog.

Other proceedings in circuit court saw Erick Snyder and Patrick Wilmont receiving sentences from Judge Allan C. Miller. Snyder was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay restitution of $449. Wilmont was placed on probation for three years, ordered to pay court costs of $200 and was sentenced to 30 days in jail on charges of breaking and entering.

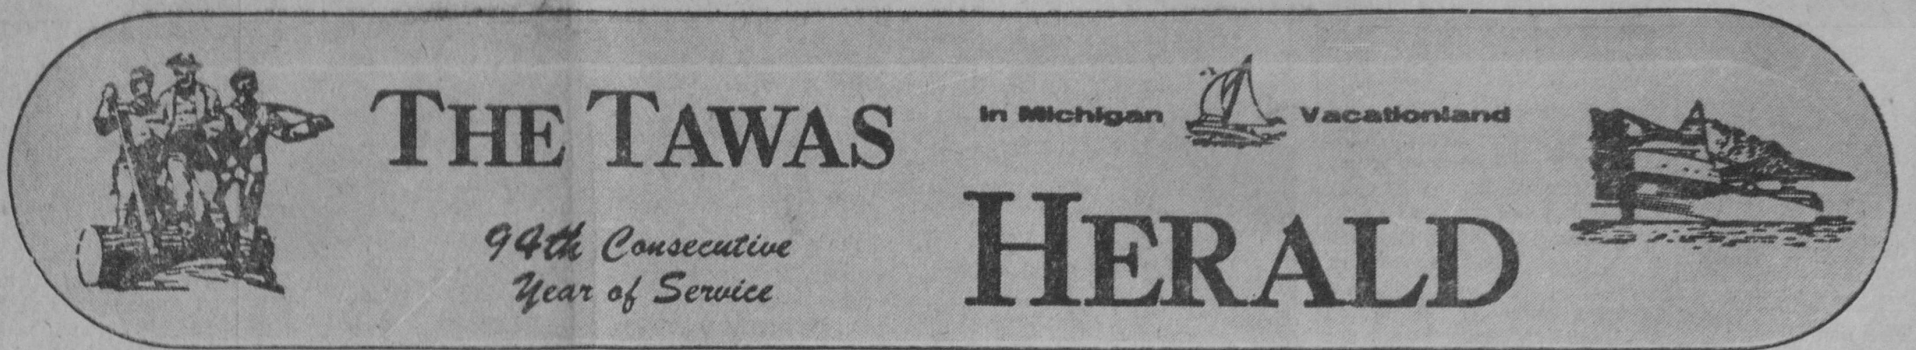

Kenneth Simmons, convicted of breaking and entering an unoccupied building, was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay restitution of $86.28.

Kenneth Johnson received a two-year probationary term, was assessed court costs of $200 plus seven days in jail on conviction of a charge of possession with intent to deliver marijuana.

Guilty pleas were accepted from Patrick Beaudet, delivery of marijuana; Henry J. Gaczowski, uttering and publishing, forgery; Paul G. Friske, breaking into a motor vehicle.

May Build Six Rooms

Bids Were Competitive for School Addition

Extremely competitive bids were opened and received at Monday night's meeting of Tawas Area Board of Education for a new classroom addition at the Tawas City Elementary Unit.

Preliminary estimates by the school architect set the projected cost of a five-room addition at $198,000 and low bids received totaled around $202,146 for a six-classroom addition, utilizing bid alternates.

Low base bids were submitted by Mako Construction Company, Lincoln, $125,000 for architectural trades; Huber's, Midland, mechanical trades, $64,960; Spark Electric, Auburn, electrical trades, $18,480.

The bids were accepted by the board of education and are being studied by the architect for a recommendation at a special meeting Thursday night, at which time contracts are to be awarded.

Depending upon acceptance of alternates, the bids of Huber's and Earegood Plumbing and Heating of Saginaw are very close. The Saginaw firm submitted a base bid of $65,760 and had higher deducts on all three alternates.

Davidson and Son Builders, Incorporated, Tawas City, submitted a base bid of $218,500 for all trades. The board of education opened and received the bid only as it had requested separate proposals on all three trades.

Other base bids under general architectural trades included: Maynard Abbott, $135,975; Charles C. Engelhardt, Bay City, $162,000; Floyd Krawczyk, Linwood, $145,000.

Mechanical trades bids included Bayview Plumbing and Heating, Rogers City, $74,000; Steve Kruchko, Alpena, $80,000; Saue Plumbing and Heating, Bay City, $73,900.

Electrical trades bids included Affleck Electric, Bay City, $21,449; Area Electric, Bay City, $21,380; Lappin Electric, East Tawas, $25,622.

If the board of education decides to go with a six-classroom addition, the total cost would be $213,713, which includes the architectural fee of $11,567.

Voters authorized a transfer of $210,000 from delinquent taxes for use in construction of this addition. The fund has gained approximately $5,000 in interest since being invested earlier this year.

Supt. Robert Halle said Tuesday morning that construction of the six classrooms would be a good investment and a saving in construction costs.

The board of education would make a decision Thursday night as to the six-classroom proposal.

Tawas Area School's Budget Up 11 Percent Over Last Year

A 1978-1979 operational budget totaling $2,513,329, representing an 11 percent increase over last year, was adopted Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education. Total anticipated revenue under the budget amounts to $2,515,087.

An expenditure analysis of the budget indicates that of each tax dollar spent, 70 cents would go toward salaries and eight cents for employee benefits, including retirement, employee insurance, workman's compensation and unemployment compensation.

The remaining 22 cents of each dollar expended would include six cents for supplies and materials, four cents for utilities and fuel, four cents for capital outlay, three cents for other expense (interest on notes, vehicle replacement and miscellaneous), two cents for purchased services, two cents for repairs and maintenance, one cent for insurance.

Expenditures include $569,672 for elementary instruction, $253,193 for junior high school instruction, $702,021 for high school instruction, $30,000 for vocational instruction, $43,555 for community education.

Other expenditures include $300 for health services, $90,135 for administration, $326,296 for fiscal services, $234,520 for operation and maintenance, $196,388 for transportation, $6,800 allocated for community services, $9,000 in outgoing transfers and $51,449 for Title I.

Of the total budget, $2,255,738 is provided locally. This includes property taxes of $2,141,648, $12,000 in special education, $32,090 in adult education, $20,000 from investment and other income of $50,000.

The state provides total funds of $191,900, but no money is received by this district from state aid membership because of the district's high valuation behind each student. The major state contribution is $130,000 in transportation money, $30,000 in vocational education added cost funds, $13,000 for special education and other lesser amounts.

Total federal appropriations amount to $67,449, including $16,000 for federal students and $51,449 under Title I.

Elementary instruction expense advanced from $537,638.70 under the 1977-78 budget and an actual expenditure of $539,863.44, to $569,672 during 1978-79. The principal's salary was advanced from $21,185 to $22,668, while teachers salaries advanced from an actual expenditure of $449,966.25 to $465,856. Secretarial salaries advanced from $10,614.70 to $12,600, salaries of aides advanced from an actual expenditure of $20,717 to $26,450, while other salaries advanced slightly to $5,798 and substitutes remained at $3,000, although $4,115 was expended during last year.

Other elementary instruction expense included: Travel, $1,100, up $100; teaching supplies, $21,232, up $5,594 over last year's actual expenditure; textbooks, $6,268, the same as budgeted last year; library, $2,000, same as last year; of-ice supplies, $1,200, up $116; audio visual, $1,000, up $200; miscellaneous, $500.

Junior high school instructional expense advanced from $229,027 to $253,193. The principal's salary was advanced from a budgeted $14,535 and actual expenditure of $21,237 to $22,470; teachers salaries advanced from a budgeted $186,189 and actual expenditure of $200,846 to $204,523; secretarial salaries decreased from an actual expenditure of $8,821 to $7,100; substitute teachers remain at $2,500; other salaries remain at $4,200, although there was an actual expenditure of $9,915 last year.

Other expenditures include: Travel, $600, up $100; teaching supplies, $6,400, only $2 higher; textbooks, $3,000, up $68; library, $1,000; office supplies, $500; audio visual, $300; miscellaneous, $600, all approximately the same as last year.

High school instructional expense advanced from $626,158 under last year's budget to $702,021. Actual expenditure last term amounted to $597,773. While salaries of two principals was budgeted at $42,121 last year, actual expenditure was $32,353. The new budget calls for an expenditure of $45,005.

Salaries of teachers were budgeted at $488,037 under the 1977-78 budget and the actual expenditure (See BUDGET, page 5.)

Felonious Assault Charged in 'Wild West' Shoot Out

Two of three Pinconning men, one a 17-year-old juvenile, were held at the Iosco County Jail following a "wild west" shoot out early Sunday morning at the Sportsmen's Bar, Whittemore. Two patrons of the bar were struck by .22 caliber rifle slugs, but were not seriously injured.

Michigan State Police from East Tawas initially sought warrants charging assault with intent to commit murder against the trio. Monday morning, police asked Pros. Atty. Steven Naegle to issue a felonious assault charge against the men.

No warrants were issued against a 20-year-old man and the juvenile, but Mark A. Christian, 19, was to have been arraigned Tuesday in 81st District Court on a felonious assault charge.

Oliver Spencer, bartender, told officers that shortly after midnight Saturday, the three Pinconning men, who were shooting pool, got into an argument with two bar patrons. All five persons were ordered out of the building.

A short time later, a car with a loud muffler sped past the building on M-65 and a series of shots was fired at the northeast side of the building, two slugs entering the building through the door. The car proceeded south on M-65, then turned west and came around the block, spraying the north side of the building with rifle fire, two bullets coming through that entrance door. The car then turned around the corner and the northeast side of the building and parked cars were sprayed with rifle fire.

After the first series of shots was fired, the bartender, barmaid, owner of the establishment and seven customers, four of them from Whittemore, were lying on the floor to avoid injury.

One patron, Robert Mazzara, 24, Bay City, apparently stood up to see what was happening after the first series of shots was fired. He was struck in the right buttock by a .22 caliber slug as the second series of shots was fired. He was treated at Tawas Hospital.

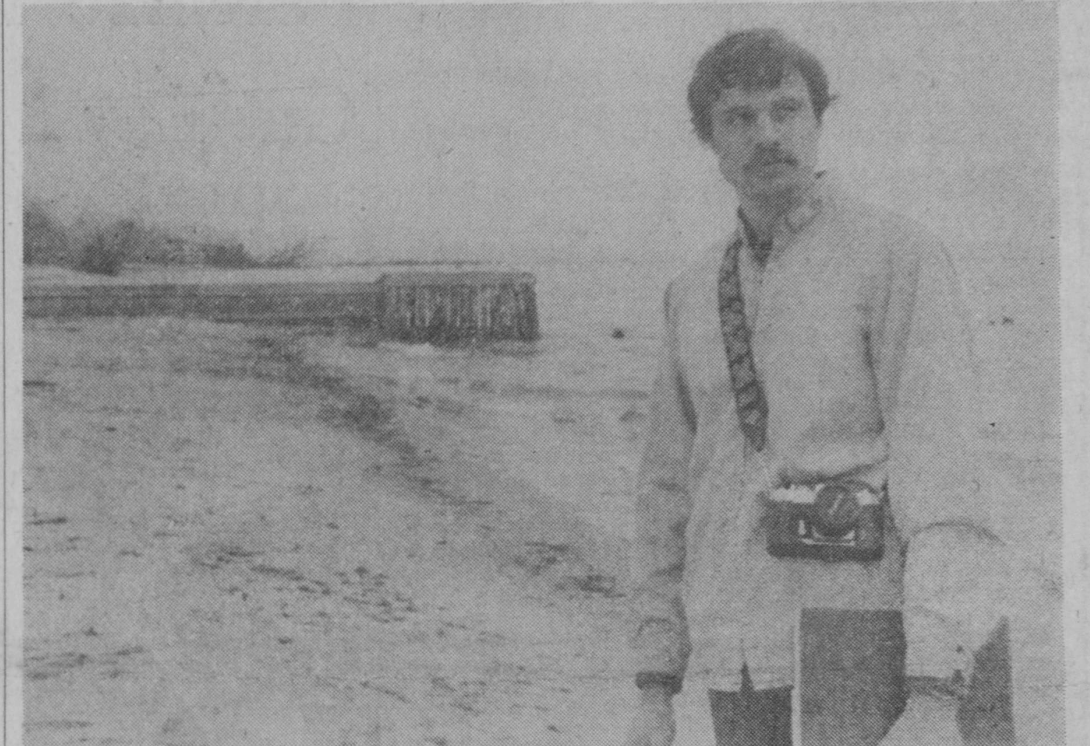

George Worden, 63, Whittemore, is also believed to have been injured in that volley. A bullet or piece of glass grazed his forehead.

After state police were notified, road blocks were set up in Iosco County, but the three men were apprehended by the Bay County Sheriff's Department on M-13 around 1:30 a. m.

One subject told officers that the three men purchased some beer at Pinconning and took a .22 caliber rifle to go shooting deer. They wound up at Whittemore, where they were involved in "pushing and shoving" inside the bar.

A second subject admitted that the weapon had been loaded three times and three passes were made around the building. It was stated that patrons of the bar had thrown beer bottles at their car at the commencement of the incident.

Investigating officers counted two bullet holes in the glass door at the northeast entrance, four bullet holes in the door on the north side of the building. The north side of the building had been struck eight times by slugs.

THOMAS LAWRENCE, a graduate student of the University of Michigan, is shown on the shore of Tawas Bay at the Tawas City Park Friday after outlining plans the previous night to city officials for his coastal zone study as a thesis for his master degree in landscape architecture.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas Bay Shoreline Studied for Upgrading Its Appearance

It is a generally recognized fact that the Tawas Bay waterfront holds the potential of being the Tawas' single greatest resource. Abused, ill-used and often neglected throughout most of the community's history, the waterfront could take on more meaningful new dimensions in the future—that is the aim, at least, of a young graduate student of the University of Michigan.

Thomas Lawrence, 24, a resident of Alpena, is currently conducting a coastal zone study of the waterfront, as it pertains to Tawas City, to gather information for his master thesis in landscape architecture at the University of Michigan.

Lawrence, who met Thursday night with members of the planning commission and park board, plans to have his thesis completed by April. During the next six months, he will be spending considerable time here gathering information.

"I plan to focus this coastal zone study on ways to upgrade the image and aesthetics of the Tawas Bay waterfront, as well as to develop a plan so as to coordinate and consolidate local efforts toward achieving specific development goals," said Lawrence.

Meeting with local planners and park officials was the initial step in this study, although some preliminary work has been conducted. Lawrence sought information on present zoning regulations pertaining to the waterfront, as well as explaining provisions of the Michigan Environmental Protection Act and the state's Coastal Zone Act.

Most importantly, the young landscape architect sought ideas and input from local officials as to community thinking on how best the coastal zone could be improved. After reviewing his own findings, local information will be included in his thesis.

Using color slides which he had snapped in October, Lawrence said that unique features of Tawas City include the Tawas River and Tawas Bay, along with good fishing, swimming and boating. The city's problem areas, insofar as the coastal zone study is concerned, include shore erosion, sedimentation of the river mouth and water quality.

He emphasized that the coastal zone could be improved by intelligent decision making, use of state coastal zone program grant money, a redesign of city-owned waterfront land and best mixture of public-private waterfront uses.

Four immediate questions asked by Lawrence included:

1. What are the existing plans and regulations which influence the coastal zone?

2. What kind of public access is there to the waterfront?

3. What aesthetic value does the Tawas City coastal zone now have? How can we take advantage of this beauty?

4. What are the erosion and pollution factors affecting the coastal zone?

All of the above questions are important and members of the planning commission and park board are to prepare written answers for use in the study. Preliminary discussion on those questions was held Thursday night.

In addition, a questionnaire to be filled out by both groups (with multiple choice answers of favorable, possible, not a good idea) was presented by Lawrence as follows:

1. Should the city acquire additional waterfront land; should there be an increase in tourism; should boat launching facilities be provided; possible ideas of shoreline protection; should a boardwalk-bike path be provided; should additional parking be provided at the waterfront; should the shoreline be utilized for more housing and commercial buildings?

Principal public access to the waterfront at present is provided by the city park and city property at the mouth of Tawas River. Lawrence said the visual access to the waterfront is good, but his color slides gave a visual demonstration that there are numerous unoccupied and ugly buildings along the shore which detract from the bay's aesthetic image.

He also pointed out that numerous property owners had thrown broken concrete and rubble along the shore as a means of reducing shore erosion, but he believed the entire shoreline image could be improved through a more efficient rearranging of those materials in the manner of rip-rap.

Lawrence said his study would include a look at the historical aspect of the shoreline and how actions of previous generations had possibly established the shoreline as it appears today.

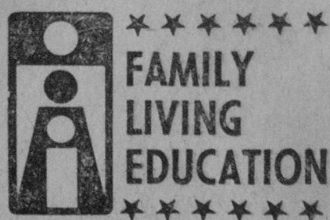

Because of the fact that most of the shoreline is presently privately owned, Lawrence emphasized that his study would develop practical ideas on how to best mix land uses through a coordinated effort between the local government and private property owners.

It will be a tall order, but Lawrence said his study would look at different ways to control land use in order to make the Tawas Bay shoreline a positive resource to the community, both economically and environmentally.

"We will be talking with the various state agencies involved in improving water quality, as well as to determine sources of available grant monies to aid in achieving the community's goal toward upgrading the image of the waterfront. It is my hope that this study inventive and imaginative in their play.

Look for toys that provide a variety of play experiences. While very young children may simply stack a set of blocks, slightly older children may use the same blocks to represent a city, using their other toys (cars, dolls, animals) as props. There are many toys that suggest a variety of activities to children and encourage them to use their imagination in play.

Gradually introduce more complex versions of familiar playthings. For example, board games for younger children should be simple and governed by chance. As children grow and learn strategy, games requiring skill can be introduced. Observe children's play to determine when they are ready for the next, more complex play experience.

Spread the toy budget throughout the year. Do not overwhelm children with too many new toys at once. Use birthdays, the start of family vacations and other occasions to introduce new toys and play experiences.

Involve children in the toy selection process. Learning to play also means learning to make decisions. Discussing toy selection with children encourages them to think for themselves and live with the consequences of their decision. It is a valuable lesson in consumer education.

GUIDELINES FOR CHOOSING CHRISTMAS TOYS

A few simple guidelines will help select appropriate toys for children of various ages and interests. These suggestions are provided by the Toy Manufacturers of America. Rule number one is to carefully consider a child's age, interests and abilities before shopping for toys. Note the age guidelines printed on many toy packages and select playthings that will help children learn new skills and discover new interests, such as sports, arts or the sciences.

Do not buy toys impulsively. Both parents and children will enjoy new playthings more if the types of toys that capture the children's interest are considered. Try not to restrict purchases only to those kinds of toys that were enjoyed in your childhood.

Select playthings with some degree of realism. Through television, movies and books, today's children are aware and stimulated by the world around them. Psychologists suggest that realistic toys (playthings that are scaled-down models of real-life objects) help children, especially younger ones, to become

Fertilize Now to Cut Lawn Disease

Fusarium blight can be a severe problem in some bluegrass lawns. To reduce the susceptibility of lawns to this disease, fertilize in November rather than in early spring.

Fertilizing in late fall provides for slow spring green-up and improved root and underground stem development. Grass that greens up gradually and has a strong root system is less likely to develop Fusarium blight than grass that experiences a sudden flush of new top growth with little root development.

Some bluegrass varieties are more susceptible to Fusarium blight than others. These include Merion, Fyking, Nugget, Pennstar and Windsor. Merion bluegrass is especially common in sod. Improved turf grass seed mixtures for sunny locations usually contain one or more of these susceptible varieties.

Either slow-release or quick-release, high-nitrogen fertilizers can be used but a combination of one-half slow and one-half quick release is preferred. Apply at a rate of one to 1½ pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

Fertilize after the lawn has stopped growing but before the first snow. Shaded lawns planted in red fescue can also be fertilized now. Red fescue is not susceptible to Fusarium blight, but it will respond well to a November nitrogen application. Fescue does not need the high nitrogen levels bluegrass requires, however. Apply nitrogen at a rate of three-fourths to one pound per 1,000 square feet.

If fescue lawns are fertilized now, feeding again should be avoided until May or early June, when the grass begins to yellow slightly.

Luncheon was served by Frances Hill and Erna Becker.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE AN EXPERT TO MAKE THIS HOLIDAY COOKIE HOUSE

You don't have to be a craftsman to build this cookie house. Since the base is a cardboard box, it's much simpler to make than most cookie houses and won't put a big dent in your holiday budget.

You don't even have to make the cookie dough, because this uses refrigerated slice and bake sugar cookies. Two rolls of refrigerated cookie dough will make enough cookies to cover the whole house. Walls and roof are covered with your own butter cream frosting or frosting mix.

The cookies should be completely cooled before you work with them, so you can make them a day ahead. But if you'd rather complete the house in one half-day session, bake the cookies first. Construct the cardboard base while they are cooling, then decorate the cookies and "build" your house.

Cookie houses can be kept from one year to the next, with just a little patching necessary the second year.

COOKIE HOUSE

- Materials Needed
2 rolls Pillsbury Refrigerated Sugar Slice 'n Bake Cookies
Red tinted sugar
3 - 15.4 oz. packages vanilla frosting mix or 6 to 8 cups homemade butter cream frosting
Pressurized cake and cookie decorators (red and green)
Decorators (red and green)
Cardboard box with top flaps (9" x 12" x 9")
Heavy cardboard for roof (14" x 15")
Masking tape

First Bake The Cookies:

1. For Roof Shingles. Slice one roll of the cookie dough into 50 slices (less than 1/4-inch thick); sprinkle each with red sugar. Bake at 350° for 8 to 10 minutes until light golden brown around edges. (Do not overbake.) Cool on rack.
2. For Wall Bricks: Slice

28 1/4-inch slices from second roll of cookie dough (Refrigerate rest of dough.) Cut each slice in half. Bake as for Roof Shingles.

3. For Front of House Decorations. Slice remaining cookie dough into 1/4-inch slices.

Santa - Use two slices. Cut narrow strip from two sides of one slice, forming a triangle. Place triangle over one edge of whole slice for Santa's hat. Use two narrow strips for moustache. Add chocolate chip eyes and candy mouth. Bake and cool on rack. Frost hat and moustache with vanilla frosting, using a decorator tip, if desired. Sprinkle hat with red sugar.

Angel - Use one and a quarter slice. Cut narrow strip from two sides of full slice to form triangular body. Place cut-off strips at sides for wings. Roll 1/4 slice into ball for head. Place at top of triangle and add candy eyes. Bake and cool on rack. Outline body and wings with decorator writing tip.

To Make the House
Cut the two longer flaps from box (reserve one for the chimney and the other for reinforcing). Shape shorter flaps into triangles, cutting from top center of flap to corners of box, to form peak at front and back of house. Reinforce triangles on the inside by taping cardboard over the flap fold. Fold 14" x 15" piece of cardboard in half to form roof. Tape securely to house from reserved flap, form and tape chimney, cutting bottom at same angle as roof. Tape to roof.

To Decorate
1. Prepare frosting (Keep it covered as you work.) Spread frosting over sides of chimney. With red decorator, pipe on lines of frosting, using small writing tip, to resemble bricks. Spoon frosting around top of chimney to resemble snow.
2. Spread thick layer of frosting over sides and back of house. Press cookie "bricks" securely into frosting.
3. Spread frosting over roof. Starting at the bottom, arrange a row of red sugared cookie "shingles." Overlap remaining shingles in rows to cover roof. (Carefully press cookies into frosting to secure.)
4. Spread frosting over front of house. With leaf tip and green decorator, make door and shrubs. With small writing tip make window. Arrange decorated cookies on front. Press into frosting to secure.
5. Spoon remaining frosting on peak and around edge of roof to resemble snow. (If frosting becomes too stiff, add a few drops of warm water.)

Table Action on Surplus Bus Sale; Bd. Committee to Study

Action on the sale of two school buses was tabled for further study Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education.

A special transportation committee headed by Trustee Robert Curry is to study recommendations of David Westcott, transportation director, which called for the sale of one 1972 model and one 1973 model bus, which have been deemed surplus to the school's fleet.

In August, Westcott believed that three surplus buses could be sold in November, but he said a shift in enrollment to the Sand Lake bus had required an additional bus to carry students.

Trustee Randall DeWise pointed out that the 1973 model had one more year to go on state reimbursement payments and believed that additional study should be made by the transportation committee before final action was taken.

In other business, the board of education established the salary of the transportation director at $12,000 for 50 weeks of work annually. The above salary is based on an eight-hour day and, should overtime be required during winter months, hours would be adjusted during the summer months.

The 1977-78 budget indicated that the director's salary was budgeted at $10,000, but the actual amount of money expended was $12,546.20, reflecting overtime payments.

Pay of driver education teachers was increased from the current rate of $5.50 per hour to $6 for the current year and $6.50 for 1979-80.

Coaching assignments approved by the board of education included Paul Becker, varsity basketball; David Busha, junior varsity basketball; Robert Ericksen and Thomas Pinkowski, ninth grade basketball; the Rev. Fr. Lawrence Boks, eighth grade; Carol Frank, varsity and junior varsity volleyball; Richard McTaggart, wrestling.

A petition submitted by students for establishment of a smoking area at the high school was accepted and turned over to administrators for study.

Supt. Robert Halle said he believed the latest information from the state attorney general's office was that student smoking areas in a school building are illegal.

Reading Council Slates Speaker for Meeting

Iosco Reading Council will present Clarence L. Brock at a dinner meeting at Lixey's China House Wednesday, November 29. Doctor Brock, a past president of the Michigan Reading Association and presently curriculum director for the St. Clair Intermediate School District, will speak on "25 Ways to Turn Kids on to Writing."

Advance registration for the 6 o'clock dinner may be made by calling Joan Arrington at County Line School, 739-7531, by November 17. The IRC meeting will follow the dinner at 7 o'clock. Members will be admitted free of charge to the meeting and the cost to non-members will be minimal.

The development council is continuing its efforts to raise $395,000 to assist in the funding of the current project.

COOL, FROTHY AND A SPECIAL DESSERT

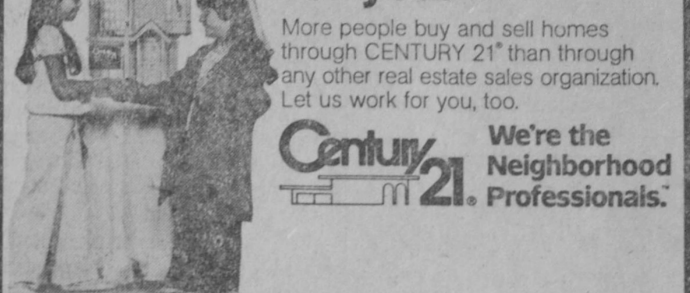

Provide a touch of spring with sparkling glasses and this frothy whipped orange dessert. Prepared according to directions, with just three kitchen-handly ingredients—Jell-O® brand orange flavor gelatin, ginger ale and orange juice—within an hour you're ready for any impromptu occasion.

GINGER ORANGE WHIP
1 bottle (7 fl. oz.) ginger ale
1 package (3 oz.) orange flavor gelatin
1 cup cold orange juice
Bring ginger ale to a boil. Add to gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add orange juice. Place bowl of gelatin in larger bowl of ice and water. Stir until slightly thickened; then whip with hand beater or electric mixer until fluffy and thick and about double in volume. Spoon into individual dessert dishes; chill until set, at least 30 minutes. Garnish with mint leaves. Makes 4 cups or 6 servings.

Department of State Highways Offers Iosco Co. $10,000 to Keep Troubled Transit System Going

Iosco County's off again-on again transit system received an offer of $10,000 Monday from the Michigan Department of State Highways to keep buses operating.

The surprise offer came through an amendment to the contract under which the transit system had operated for the past three years.

Iosco Commission on Aging, which has been responsible for the operation, voted to end the service in October due to the lack of volunteers to keep the system running. A decision to extend the life of the service temporarily was later reached by the commission's executive council, but the bus service officially ended at 5:00 p. m. November 3 when drivers refused to get behind the wheel due to mechanical deficiencies in equipment.

Joseph Fox, a member of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners and this county's representative on the Region 7B Consortium which administers the federal CETA program, said Monday that the three CETA slots allocated for bus drivers were being placed in other positions.

According to Fox, word from Lansing Friday indicated that no additional money would be made available to the transit system and he was surprised that action had been taken over the week-end.

At a meeting Monday morning, the Iosco County Council on Aging reiterated its stand that it would not run the transit authority under voluntary supervision or have anything to do with it.

Fox said that the $10,000 offered by the state actually was "a drop in a bucket" as compared to the actual requirements for getting the transit system into operation. Two of the three buses in the fleet are in need of major repair and the one bus in operational condition needs maintenance work. All are stored at the county garage.

Study

will provide an important tool in future local decision making concerning waterfront development," said Lawrence.

The completed study is to be presented free of charge to the city by Lawrence, inasmuch as he is preparing it as a thesis toward his master degree. His six-month efforts here were instigated by Thomas Jacques, the city's forestry consultant, who has been working actively with the city parks and recreation board.

A similar study of the waterfront at East Tawas was conducted a year ago by another landscape architect graduate student from the University of Michigan.

Open Bids

Nov. 29 on

Garage Insulation

Bids are to be opened November 29 on energy conservation work at the city garage in Tawas City. This project is one of three federal EDA grants received in this county during the past year.

The project includes installation of insulation. Bids are to be opened by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, which coordinated applications.

A major stumbling block to the operation is the lack of a director. This job had been handled on a volunteer basis, the last director being Fred Francis, who resigned in October due to the lack of help.

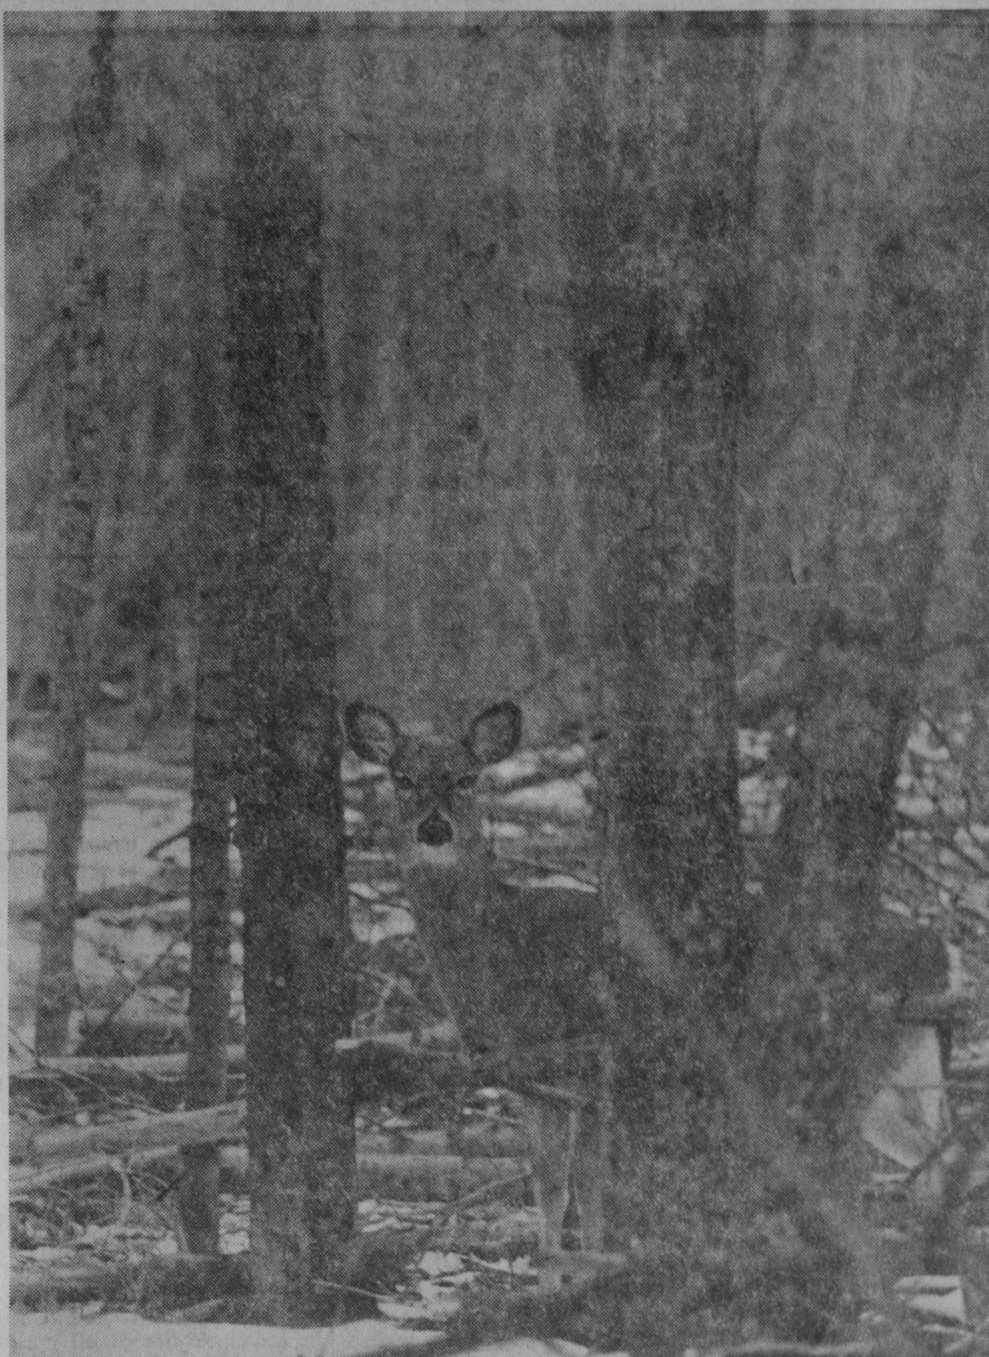

The Iosco Commission on Aging indicated Monday that the state would have to come up with enough money to pay a director and provide funds for repairing the buses in order to keep the system operating. Fares received by the system are not enough to keep buses running, but the Older American Act insists that transportation must be provided for senior citizens.

It is expected that the county will sign a new contract on November 22 with the department of state highways for operation of the transit system. The new contract states that the state will provide 100 percent of funding for two years, 75 percent during the third year and 50 percent thereafter.

Commissioner Fox said, however, that actual funding under the new contract may be a year or more away. In the meantime, the county is giving consideration to the latest $10,000 offer from the department of state highways and possible additional funds from the Michigan Council on Aging.

THIS DOE is trying to decide if it will make a mad dash out of this brushy area to cross a highway. Last week, there were 14 car-deer accidents in Iosco County and one driver was injured in a collision with a whitetail. Motorists should be particularly cautious while driving at night in wooded areas.

Car-Deer Accidents Increase in Fall; Motorists Should be Alert on Highways

A 47-year-old Flushing man, Walter C. Davis, was treated Saturday at Tawas Hospital after swerving his car to miss a deer on Wilber Road.

Davis was southbound when a deer ran into the path of his vehicle. The car rolled over and hit several trees when he attempted to avoid a collision.

Iosco County Sheriff's Department said Monday morning that the above accident was one of 14 car-deer crashes investigated by that department last week.

Last year, there were 16,315 car-deer accidents in the state and two persons were killed, along with 840 persons injured.

According to a recent report of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, there were 394 car-deer accidents in Iosco County and 10 persons injured during 1977.

David Arnold, DNR deer specialist, says more deer are killed during the last three months of the year because of the deer mating season which keeps the whitetails on the move.

With over one million deer in the state, Arnold says motorists should take extra precaution as they drive along Michigan roads and highways.

Budget

was $474,847. The new budget calls for $551,072. Drivers education advanced from an actual expenditure of $11,281 to $12,000, other salaries advanced from an actual expenditure of $32,425 to $38,894, while secretary salaries increased from an actual expenditure of $13,402 to $19,550. Salaries of substitute teachers amounted to $4,498 last term and has been budgeted at $3,500 under the new budget.

Travel expenses for the high school amount to $1,500, teaching supplies total $16,500, textbook costs were budgeted at $6,000, budget of the library is $3,500, office supplies amount to $2,000, audio visual was allocated $1,000 and miscellaneous expenses amount to $1,500, all approximately the same as last year.

Other salaries of the school include director of vocational instruction, $3,552; director of community education, $21,980; superintendent's salary, $29,435, as compared to $28,035 last term. Salaries of noncertified personnel are still being negotiated.

"The sculpture 'Warp III' represents the intricate balance which exists in today's complex society and the forces of change at work," according to Robert G. Welch, president of the Steel Service Center Institute (SSCI), which selected the stainless steel wire sculpture as the art theme for its '78 annual meeting.

Designed by metal sculptor Harold Bertola, whose work has been shown at major museums across the country, the 62-inch-tall and 30-inch-wide piece is crafted from stainless steel strands radiating from a central rod attached to its base.

Reward Often Offered When Tip Leads to Arson Arrest

The Michigan State Police fire marshal's office warns that arson is a big part of the fire loss picture throughout the state.

Arson, the fastest growing crime in Michigan, destroys 40-million dollars worth of property each year and a whopping one-billion dollars nationally.

Besides the dollar loss, incendiary fires kill about 1,000 persons each year and, here in Michigan, arson accounts for 20 to 30 percent of the price paid to insure property.

According to the fire marshal's office, something is being done about it. Through the Michigan Arson Committee, a coalition of police, fire service and insurance industry representatives, legislative efforts, public awareness campaigns and reward programs are being employed.

In the Arson Control program, rewards of up to $1,000 may be paid for information that leads to the arrest or conviction of an arsonist.

Tips on arson are phoned in, anonymously if the caller wishes, to a collect number (517) 322-9469. The number offers 24-hour response.

Arson committee officials point out, too, that citizens can join the fight by seeking tougher laws and better funding for arson detection and by alerting law enforcement authorities through the tip program.

Fire service and police officers at the state and local level remind citizens that, when it comes to arson, everybody pays. They say: "If arson in Michigan doesn't burn you up, it should."

Card Girls Lost to Roscommon

Officials at Roscommon could have left their whistles at home Friday night as the visiting Whittemore-Prescott Cardinal girls ended up on the short end of a 52-24 score.

Only four fouls were called against Roscommon, none in the act of a player shooting, and the Cardinal girls never took the charity lines all night. Officials were nearly as stingy with Roscommon as only six fouls were called against the Cardinals.

The Cardinal girls were cold from the floor, meshing only 12 of 54 shots for a 22 percent shooting average. Roscommon meshed 25 of 52 shots for 48 percent.

Teresann Smith topped Whittemore-Prescott scorers with eight points, followed by Marilyn Moraitis' six points.

Car Burned Following Crash

Investigation into an accident early Friday morning on Curtisville Road in which a 1978 model Pontiac taken from Whittemore was destroyed by fire is being continued by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Officers were called to the scene of a fire at 5:45 a. m. The vehicle had been eastbound on the road, turned completely around and the rear of the vehicle struck a tree. Plainfield Township Fire Department was called to the scene.

The owner, Leona Wright, told officers that three sets of keys were accountable at her home.

Tawas Girls Won Four Out of 10

Tawas Area School girls basketball teams won four out of 10 games played last week.

The varsity basketball team won a conference game over Whittemore-Prescott, 69-29, but lost to Alcona in a nonconference game, 40-73.

Barb Stonehouse garnered 11 points to lead against Whittemore-Prescott. Lori Gracik and Karl Allen each meshed nine points while Jan Johnson turned in eight. Gracik was top rebounder with eight.

Tereann Smith and Barb Erickson topped Whittemore - Prescott girls with eight points each.

The varsity girls fell before Alcona Thursday night as Tracy Apsey turned in 14 points for the winners. Playing on their home floor, the Alcona girls had four players in double figures.

Allen topped Tawas girls with 14 points and Meg Peterson had 10. Allen was top rebounder with 14.

The varsity team is undefeated in eight conference games and has an over-all record of 13 wins and four losses.

The junior varsity team lost both of its games during the week, being nosed out, 31-30, by Whittemore-Prescott, and only one basket separated Tawas and Alcona Thursday night, 40-38.

Tawas did not have a player scoring in double figures against Whittemore-Prescott as Diane Nelkie, Patty Hughes and Debbie Allen each meshed six points. Shelly Cole was high for the winners with 15. Diane Nelkie had 13 points and Allen had 10 points in the game against Alcona.

The freshman "A" team defeated Pinconning, 37-33. Lisa Bielby paced scoring with 13 points, followed by 10 points for Lisa Cotter and six points turned in by Lisa Konenske.

The freshman "B" team lost to Pinconning, 35-24. Katie Bolen and Tracy Whitford had five points each.

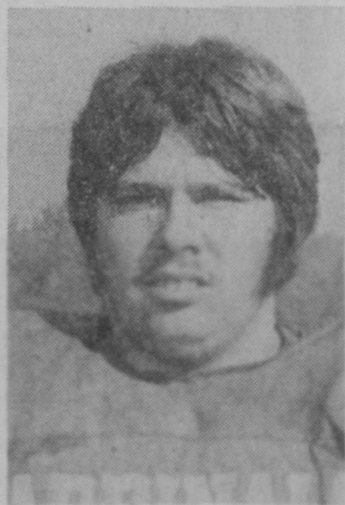

The eighth grade "B" team turned in a 77-30 win over Oscoda and lost to Whittemore-Prescott, 17-14. Peggy Holmes had four points against Oscoda and eight points against the Cardinals.

The eighth grade "A" team lost to Oscoda, 32-22, as Dawn Allen led the squad with 11 points. Colleen Curry had seven points.

Curry turned in 15 points as the "A" team defeated Whittemore-Prescott. Allen meshed seven points and April Stephenson had four.

Reports Theft of Tools at Oscoda

Heinz Vujak, Saginaw, reported last week that approximately $1,200 worth of tools had been stolen from his van truck parked at Oscoda. The theft was investigated by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Health Appeals Board Rules On Plainfield Septic Tanks

Iosco County Health Appeals Board indicated Wednesday it would approve septic tank systems in two Hale area developments if state requirements are met. No action was taken on a third appeal in Plainfield Township, although the board indicated that developers could submit septic system plans for study.

A request to approve an alternative septic tank system, denied by one health department sanitarian and approved by a second sanitarian, was submitted to the appeals board by developers of Hale Lake Estates.

Legal opinion from the county's legal advisor, Ronald Tyler, stated it seemed obvious that the intent of septic tank restrictions was to protect the lake and surrounding property owners from contamination.

"If the local health department opinion regarding these proposals indicates that the site or sites met with health standards, it is the opinion of this office that the reasonable legal test has been met and that the spirit of the deed restrictions would not have been violated," said Tyler.

The district health department has advised that there is sufficient sand area within the lot in question which would permit an approved septic sewage system without a health hazard.

The property owner was allowed to construct a septic system which has been approved by District Health Department No. 2.

A second resolution adopted permitted developers of Lakeside Heights to submit design plans for a typical septic system to John Lixey, health department sanitarian. This design is to be drawn by a professional engineer showing necessary fill sand. After being submitted to the health department, it would be turned over to the appeals board for approval or disapproval.

Russell Pierce of Tawas City and Terry Bronson of Tawas Township, developers for D. A. McClellan of Orchard Lake, have permission from the Iosco County Building and Safety Inspection Department to level a hill at Loon Lake and fill in low spots, all in compliance with soil and erosion requirements.

The district sanitarian was concerned with the small size of some lots and no decision was made until percolation tests are made and a septic system design is submitted to Lixey.

Acting on the appeals board, chairmaned by Carlton Merschel, were John McArdle, John Webb Jr. and David George, all members of the county board of commissioners. Also acting on the board were Ray Kesler of Plainfield Township and Lixey.

Ulman-Stech Won Commission Seats; Webb Re-Elected to Post

Iosco County Board of Commissioners will have two new members at its first meeting in January following the November 7 general election. A third candidate was successful in his bid for re-election and the other two commissioners were re-elected without opposition.

Two close races saw James Stech winning over John McArdle in District No. 1 at Oscoda and Marian Ulman won over Hope Rescoe for the seat in District No. 4. McArdle, who had been appointed by the commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Jack Alen, lost to Stech, 138-134, in a spirited write-in election. A third candidate, Jack Bourquin, received 61 votes.

Mrs. Ulman, a Republican, who is to become the second female commissioner in the history of the county, turned aside Mrs. Rescoe, former Alabaster Township clerk, 1,044-936.

The vice president of the Iosco Townships Association, Mrs. Ulman won in six of the district's 11 precincts: Baldwin Township, First Precinct, 100-66; Tawas Township, Second Precinct, 109-79; Tawas City, First Precinct, 126-80; Tawas City, Second Precinct, 165-81;

Tawas City, Third Precinct, 127-108; Tawas Township, First Precinct, 176-93.

Mrs. Rescoe, a Democrat, had margins in Whittemore, First Precinct, 18-13; Whittemore, Second Precinct, 57-30; Sherman Township, 103-39; Burleigh Township, 119-95; Alabaster Township, 122-64.

John Webb Jr., incumbent commissioner from District No. 5, defeated his Democratic challenger, Robert Pember, 1,035-846.

Webb won in five of the district's eight precincts: Oscoda, Fifth Precinct, 66-58; Oscoda, absent voter ballots, 19-18; Plainfield Township, First Precinct, 312-278; Plainfield Township, Second Precinct, 326-228; Reno Township, 117-40.

Pember won in Oscoda Precinct No. 2, 29-24; Grant Township, First Precinct, 99-91; Grant Township, Precinct No. 2, 96-80.

Elected without opposition were David George, 223 votes, District No. 2, and Carlton Merschel, 1,523 votes, District No. 3.

Retiring at the end of the year will be Joseph Fox, who will be succeeded by Mrs. Ulman. Fox was not a candidate for re-election in the August primary election.

Iosco Voted With State on Proposals

Iosco County voted identically with the state on 11 proposals offered in the November 7 general election.

The so-called Headlee plan to limit how much the state can collect in taxes and spend, listed as Proposal E, won by a narrow margin, 4,849-3,321.

Two other tax proposals were defeated. The Tisch amendment under Proposal J was defeated, 4,552-3,617, while the voucher plan which would have banned the use of property taxes for schools was also defeated, 5,808-2,506.

Local voters were overwhelmingly opposed to calling a constitutional convention, 1,647 "yes" to 6,469 "no;" the vote here on Proposal B denying early parole and requiring minimum prison terms for many

New Experience for Iosco Snowmobilers

Users of Huron snowmobile trails will be treated to a new experience this year — quality snowmobile trails.

According to Donald Hoppe, assistant ranger, the forest service, in cooperation with the Huron Snowmobile Association, has begun what could be termed a major face lift of existing snowmobile facilities in Iosco County.

During the 1977-78 season, forest service personnel conducted an extensive survey of its existing facilities and concluded that several improvements were needed.

As a result of this survey, the 1978-79 season will witness 35 miles of new snowmobile trails. In most cases, this upgrading consists of abandoning trails located on existing county roads and constructing a separate trail corridor for snowmobile traffic.

According to Hoppe, these new trail segments will create dramatic improvements in trail scenery and snowmobile safety.

In addition to the new trails, the forest service has been expending a great deal of energy in improving the condition of existing trails. New signing will be seen on 30 miles of trail this year with the remaining 58 miles scheduled for resigning next year. These signs follow the international signing standards and should reduce confusion generated by numerous signing standards.

Along with signing, an intensive trail maintenance program has been started. Hoppe explains that the district's young adult conservation corps has furnished an abundant supply of manpower, equipment and supplies to begin this massive project.

Work consists of pruning overhead branches leaning down and over the trail, removal of wind-fallen trees and trailside brushing, bridge construction and tree stump removal.

Hoppe indicated that the job is never ending but, with a major effort now, an annual maintenance schedule should ensure a smooth functioning, top quality trail system in the future.

One area of particular interest is the forest service approach to annual trail bed maintenance. Hoppe explained that the major problem in the past has been the grooming of rough trail beds.

The forest service has been working with great success in developing a cheap method of leveling trail beds. The result is what could be termed a trail drag.

This two-piece unit is designed to be pulled by a four-wheel drive vehicle and consists of a modified spring tooth harrow which cuts through existing sod and roots, plus a small land leveler which shears off the rough spots and levels the entire trail corridor.

"This innovation should help prevent development of the typical 'snowmobile moguls' and greatly improve the quality of our trails," said Hoppe.

Development and maintenance of trails, along with the Huron Snowmobile Association's weekly grooming schedule, should continue to make Iosco County a center for snowmobile activity.

Roger Jackson, executive director of Tawas Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber is attempting to encourage area motels and restaurants to take advantage of the trails for additional business through development of a new advertising brochure aimed at downstate snowmobile enthusiasts.

Here's a monthly reminder to make your next building an energy saver:

The energy crisis has made us realize some things about energy: It's no longer cheap. And it isn't going to last forever.

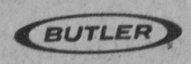

That's why you need to make your next building a true energy saver. And that's where we can help.

We'll show you how we use special insulation methods on your building to keep the heating and cooling inside where it belongs. We offer the lowest "U" factor in the industry (a low "U" factor is a measure of good insulation effectiveness). The combination of Butler Systems and superior insulation can give you the best available protection against the weather and a high energy bill.

And we can handle your entire building project from start to finish. That saves your energy.

If you're thinking about building, give us a call. We'd like to show you how to keep those monthly reminders a little gentler.

DROUGHT IS BROKEN IN THE TAWASES
MAY 12, 1933
The great drought is past! There may have been many parched tongues in Iosco county during the past fifteen years, but when the zero

From the outset the Volstead Act of 1919 was an unpopular piece of legislation.

Iosco Bootleggers Active During

PROHIBITION

A state constitutional amendment submitted in the November 7 general election was the first time in nearly 65 years that Michigan voters had a hand in deciding a "liquor question." The last time that happened, this state went "dry" and it was not until 17 years later that beer again flowed legally.

While the latest proposed amendment to the state constitution dealt with raising the legal drinking age back to 21 years, changing an act of the state legislature—previous amendments dealt with the complete prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor or beer.

Michigan, after years of agitation by the Anti-Saloon League, joined the "dry" ranks of states in 1916 through a vote of the people. The entire nation followed in 1917, when a wartime act of congress prohibited the manufacture of whiskey after September 8, 1917, and no more beer was manufactured effective May 1, 1919.

The 18th Amendment to the federal constitution went into effect on January 16, 1920, after ratification by state legislators—the people did not have a vote—and, to help enforce it, the Volstead Act was passed in 1919. The latter measure carefully defined alcoholic content of drinks. A later law provided fines up to $10,000 for offenses against the prohibition law, or imprisonment up to five years, or both.

Thus through federal acts requiring affirmation only by state legislatures and not by a vote of the people, the "great experiment" in moral reform began. It would be until 1933 before a nationally thirsty public could legally obtain liquor, but prohibition would have startling consequences in the decade that followed.

The bone-dry utopia which prohibitionists had foreseen failed to arrive; instead, there flourished a gigantic business in the sale of "hooch" to an eager, thirsty public. Most of the liquor was turned out in illegal stills—some of it pure poison—and some was smuggled in from Canada.

From 1920 to 1933, bootleggers and moonshiners had an annual traffic of 70-million gallons of illegal alcohol. In Iosco County, the traffic in illegal alcohol did not attract the big city racketeers, but a number of formerly law-abiding persons apparently were attracted to the business of selling illegal whiskey.

Most of the illicit stills and moonshine operations in this county were centered in Sherman Township, according to reports in local newspapers of the day. However, one report published on September 1, 1922, indicated that an East Tawas resident was operating a still in a swamp north of East Tawas and other stills were uncovered elsewhere in the county.

THIS CARTOON from a 1922 issue of The Tawas Herald illustrates what local law enforcement officers were doing after adoption of the 18th Amendment. The sheriff hiding behind the tree has spotted a suspicious looking bulge in the back pocket of a citizen, who is about to be arrested for violation of the Prohibition Act.

Cooperating with Sheriff Willard Robinson to enforce the law was Lt. M. D. Orr of the Michigan State Police, who in one week, rounded up three illicit stills and brought the offenders before Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson to be bound over to circuit court.

Several barrels of mash, some whiskey and the still were destroyed near East Tawas. The operator was also charged with carrying a concealed weapon, as a .25 caliber automatic pistol was found on him.

"He was reaching for the gun when a shot from Lieutenant Orr's revolver caused him to change his mind and he threw up his hands. He was bound over on bond of $2,000, which he could not furnish and therefore is boarding at the county jail," stated the Herald's report.

The remainder of the newspaper account dealt with the raid in Sherman Township. Mash and moonshine whiskey which were found in possession of one resident resulted in another circuit court charge.

A third offender in Sherman was apprehended and his still was also found in operation. He had about 10 quarts of whiskey and 250 gallons of mash on hand. His bond was fixed at $1,000.

"The authorities are to be commended for their zeal in rounding up these offenders and it is hoped that the good work will go on until every maker of the liquid poison in Iosco County is brought to justice," stated James Ballard, then editor of the Herald, who was definitely in the "dry" corner.

From the outset, the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act were unpopular pieces of legislation. The main thrust toward drying up the country was put forth by the Anti-Saloon League, which enlisted church pastors to mobilize congregations. From the same source came large sums of money to help in the campaign.

National prohibition had been considered for several decades prior to the 18th Amendment, but support lagged until league leaders found World War I a help. In order to save grain for food, congress outlawed the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Coordinated raids by state police and the local sheriff helped to keep the illicit traffic in booze within reasonable bounds, but the county was never really "dried up" to the point where a thirsty person could not find some liquid poison.

Reports in the local press periodically reported that some local resident was to stand trial for illegally operating a still or was apprehended in possession of whiskey and mash in substantial quantities. One particular "speak-easy" west of Tawas City was noted for tasty chicken dinners served to businessmen, along with a sufficient quantity of moonshine to make the party hilarious.

This operator continued for a number of years as officers of the law never could find the place of concealment for illegal liquor.

Finally, on April 6, 1928, the Herald printed the following bold headline: "30 Gallons of Moonshine Taken in Raid." That arrest spelled finish for a popular operator.

"Sheriff Charles W. Curry, Undersheriff Charles Harris and Marshal John Moran, in a raid on a house in Tawas Township, found 30 gallons of moonshine whiskey and a quantity of beer," stated the Herald's report. "The cache of illegal alcohol was found under a stairway in the house."

The operator was held at the county jail and later taken to Bay City by a deputy United States marshal for violation of the federal liquor laws.

Although drinking had been prevalent in rural areas, it was seldom acknowledged as a real problem—except at election time in earlier days when the county was voting on local option. Prohibition was an experiment noble in motive, but it had an effect on society which was directly opposite of the good intentions of reformers—in the 1920s, there was heavy drinking by women, who would have never entered a saloon in earlier times. The girls won the right to vote with an earlier amendment and society (man's) has never been the same!

After 13 long years of prohibition, both houses of congress voted in February 1933, to repeal the 18th Amendment. The measure was then sent out to the states for ratification.

Nine days after Franklin D. Roosevelt became president, he asked congress to legalize beer by changing the Volstead Act, which had prohibited beverages with an alcoholic content of over five percent. The first beer sold in 1933 contained 3.2 percent of alcohol.

Before the year of 1933 was out, the 21st Amendment was ratified and the prohibition era—the era of bootleggers, rumrunners and bathtub gin—was at an end.

"Blind pigs" selling illicit liquor were not new to Iosco County in the 1920s for the county had gone dry several times through local option votes by the people prior to 1916. Total national prohibition, however, was another matter and the law was difficult, as well as un-

MICHIGAN WATERS proved to be a handy avenue for smuggling illicit liquor into the United States. Shorn of all their glamor, these bootleggers' boats are shown as they were brought to an ignominious roost behind bars.

Reflections On An Election

This corner was disappointed that Tawas City voters defeated the proposed city hall-fire hall-library complex in last Tuesday's general election. The project was and is important to the future of Tawas City, or "this end of town," depending upon possible future consolidation with our sister city. A number of factors were responsible for defeat of the proposal, but the voters have spoken and all must comply with wishes of the majority, even though it was only an 11-vote difference in a record turn-out of voters in an off year election. Because of controversial issues raised in debate, it was generally thought that the margin—one way or the other—would have been 100 votes or more, but an election day survey indicated that the question was too close to call and could have gone either way. Had there been an 11-vote margin in favor of the proposition it would not have been enough to clear the air of controversy. It is hoped that the matter will be tabled for the time being in order for the council to devote its energies toward other important work. Actually, there is no need now to rush into another election as the city was required to notify Farm Home Administration that it could not utilize the offered $500,000 low interest loan. That was the last FHA grant available in 1978 and was returned to the federal treasury for application against the national debt. It is to be hoped that the city council and citizens will "bury the hatchet" — forgive and forget past animosities engendered by this and other controversial issues and move forward toward bettering this community. A few months ago, this newspaper editorialized that it felt that all citizens should "pull together" in a cooperative spirit—it is still possible with a bit more understanding and compassion shown by all quarters toward the other fellows' views.

PBB Issue Fell Flat With Voters

This newspaper must again commend Tom Alley and Russell Mason of Ogemaw County for one of the cleanest, best campaigns in the past election. Each candidate talked about his own qualifications and discussed the issues with voters in door-to-door campaigning, without throwing mud at one another. The same could not be said in the governor's race, where the PBB smear campaign conducted by Democrat William Fitzgerald proved to be his personal disaster. Television viewers just got tired and fed up with listening about PBB tainted cattle—and apparently a circuit judge, in ruling against a damage claim, came to the same conclusion. Michigan voters did not become "unstrung" on tax issues and soundly defeated the Tisch and voucher plan amendments, while narrowly approving the Headlee amendment, which sets limits on the state's taxes without making drastic cuts in existing programs. Michigan and local governments can live with Proposal E, but adoption of the other two proposals would have been a disaster. Democrats further strengthened their hold on Michigan politics with some big victories. In this region, Alley ended the long Republican domination in the 105th District House of Representatives seat to be vacated December 31 by the retirement of State Rep. George A. Prescott. The last Democrat to hold this seat was Sam Charron of Pinconning, who upset James Mielock in the early 1960s. Other notable changes saw voters retiring Sen. Robert Griffin, who announced his own retirement last year then changed his mind in February and ran for re-election. Another Republican loss of local interest was that of Cong. Elford A. Cederberg of Midland. The ranking Republican on the house appropriations committee was defeated by Donald J. Albosta. Although he had not represented Iosco County since changing of congressional lines a number of years ago, Cederberg's interest in the area had continued and he was instrumental in bringing about the federal appropriation for the harbor project at East Tawas.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

(Read Matthew 5:1-16) "Your light must shine before people, so that they will see the good things you do and praise your Father in heaven." (Matthew 5:16 TEV)

Have you ever caught yourself apologizing for your ineptness, your inferiority? I have. You know what that does to me? It turns the spotlight on me, blinds me and makes me overly concerned about myself. It hampers God's ability to use me. Someone said, "Christians are punching holes in the world's darkness, building people strong enough to solve life's daily problems and helping the world to be a little less deaf, a little less dumb and a little less blind."

To make that kind of penetration requires a sharp tool, used by capable hands. The Lord made us, equipped us then turned us loose to do a job. How often have we prayed to be instruments of the Lord? His hands are capable; how sharp are we? False humility, self-centeredness and misplaced ego all blunt us and prevent us from applying the talents we have been given. To complain about, deny or fail to use our talents then becomes an insult to God.

PRAYER

Father, thank you for the talents You have given me. Show me how I can use them for You today. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Film Tells Story of Bible in China

"Green Jade" is the title of the American Bible Society film to be shown at the East Tawas Assembly of God Church, located at 311 East Lincoln Street, East Tawas, Sunday, November 19, 7:00 p. m.

Filmed in Southeast Asia, this important new film tells the story of the recently published "Today's Chinese Version New Testament." Beginning with a description of Chinese life, culture and tradition, the development of the American Bible Societies work among the Chinese speaking people and the importance of the book is traced and documented.

Since 1816, the American Bible Society has existed for the sole purpose to translate, publish and distribute Scriptures in languages people can readily understand and at a price they can afford to pay. It makes its services available to everyone who shares that goal regardless of religious affiliations. Last year, the American Bible Society with the United Bible Societies distributed over 400-million Scriptures throughout 150 countries of the world.

The Assemblies of God missionaries and churches use and distribute thousands of Bibles, Testaments and Scripture portions, which the American Bible Society produces.

The Rev. Edward J. Fairbanks extends an invitation to the public to see this film presentation.

PBB Stickers Did Not 'Bury' Circuit Judge

Despite PBB stickers reciting "Burn PBB—Bury Governor Milliken and Judge Miller," it appears that Judge Allan C. Miller led the ticket in the three counties of the 23rd Circuit.

In Iosco County, Judge Miller garnered 5,699 votes. In Alcona County, also in the circuit, Judge Miller led all candidates with 2,304 votes and in the county where the burial occurred, of the 2,759 votes cast, Judge Miller drew 1,242.

Judge Miller's total of 9,245 votes is the highest total for any single candidate in the three counties, outpolling such vote-getters as G. Mennen Williams and Frank Kelley. The second largest in the three counties was Kelley with 8,774. Maybe the stickers helped!

Democrats Get State House and Senate Seats

Iosco Voters Followed State Trend in Splitting Tickets

Jumping party lines was the order of the day in Iosco County at the November 7 general election, but this traditionally Republican county stayed within the GOP fold in a number of races.

Like state voters, Iosco favored Democrat Carl Levin to replace Robert P. Griffin in the United States Senate, 4,137-4,015, and like other voters in the district, Iosco favored Democrat Tom Alley over Republican Russell Mason for the state house of representatives, 4,103-3,937.

Gov. William G. Milliken, returned to another four-year term in the state house, fared only slightly better here than in 1974. Iosco gave Milliken 4,423 votes to William Fitzgerald's 3,858 votes. In the last election, Milliken won over Sander Levin by 477 votes, indicating that Milliken picked up only 88 votes in four years.

Iosco voters gave a substantial margin to Robert W. Davis, Republican, who was elected to congress over Keith McLeod, Democrat, 4,639-2,900; R. L. Brown, Republican, will not take over Davis' seat in the 37th State Senate District. Brown won in Iosco over Mitch Irwin, Democrat, 3,203-2,809, but lost in the district to Irwin.

State Sen. Robert D. Young, Republican, received the nod in the 35th District, defeating William Bartlett, Democrat, 953-578.

There was no contest at the state level in re-election of two popular Democrats, Richard Austin, secretary of state, and Frank Kelley, attorney general. Iosco County voters favored Austin over Melvin Larsen, Republican, 4,804-3,185, while Kelley polled 5,114 Iosco County votes to 2,757 for Stephen Bransdorfer, Republican. James E. Wells, American Independent Party, received 47 votes. Kelley was top vote getter on Iosco's general election ballot.

On the nonpartisan ballot, G. Mennen Williams received 4,128 votes and James L. Ryan had 3,618 votes for the two supreme court justice positions, with Alice L. Gilbert receiving 2,551 votes and Gary R. McDonald, 1,758. Barbara MacKenzie received 4, 085 votes for appeals court and Kenneth L. Block had 2,067.

Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller was unopposed and received 5,699 votes and Dist. Judge J. Richard Ernst received 5,455 votes.

It was a long night for election board workers. The First Precinct of Baldwin Township was the first precinct to report results at the county clerk's office at 12 o'clock midnight and Tawas Township's

First Precinct was the last to report to County Clerk D. Keith Papas at 9:15 a. m. Wednesday.

Papas estimated that 56 percent of Iosco's 15,045 registered voters turned out at the polls. The percentage is actually higher than the above figure as pollbooks are cluttered with names of many persons who have not voted in years, but those names cannot be removed by virtue of a supreme court ruling.

Quality of Life Can Be Improved by SSI

Supplemental security income (SSI) payments can make a big difference in the quality of life for people 65 or over, or disabled, or blind who have limited income and do not own much property, a social security spokesperson said recently.

The SSI program now makes monthly payments to 4 1/4 million people. The maximum monthly Federal payment is $189.40 for an individual and $284.10 for an eligible couple. Some people get less because they have other sources of income, while others get more because they live in a State which adds to the Federal payment.

People do not have to be entirely without funds to qualify for SSI payments. The first $20 of monthly unearned income generally does not count. If they work, the first $65 of earned income does not count and only half of the rest does.

People can have resources—things they own—valued up to $1,500 for an individual, $2,250 for a couple, and still get SSI payments. Not everything counts as a resource. A home does not count, and a car may not depend on its value. What does count are things that can be turned into cash, such as stocks, bonds, savings accounts, jewelry, and items of this nature.

It does not matter how old or young a disabled or blind person is to qualify for SSI payments. Even children can get payments, although their parents' income and resources will be considered when deciding their eligibility.

More detailed information about SSI eligibility requirements can be obtained at any social security office. There are many free leaflets available describing the SSI program at the office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

questions and answers

Q. My wife and I are going to retire soon. Our daughter, who is now 28, has cerebral palsy. We are her sole source of support. Can she get any social security benefits when we retire?

A child who was severely disabled before 22 and who continues to be disabled may get benefits when either parent retires, becomes disabled, or dies after having worked long enough under social security. When you apply for retirement benefits, you also can apply for payments for your daughter. The people at any social security office can tell you what medical evidence you will need for your daughter's application. Depending on her circumstances, she may also be eligible for supplemental security income payments. You should ask about these right away at any social security office.

Q. My wife is going to have an operation and will be in the hospital for at least a month. Medicaid will pay for most of her care. How will this affect our SSI payments?

A. If an eligible person or couple is in a hospital or health facility for an entire month and Medicaid is paying over half the cost of the care, the basic SSI payment amount is reduced. However, when only one member of an eligible couple is in a health facility, the income of each member is considered separately in determining the amount of SSI payment.

Q. This summer, I rented 40 acres of my farm land to a friend. I helped him plant corn and provided some equipment. Do I have to count the rent I received as income for social security purposes?

A. Farm rental income is covered under social security if, under the rental arrangement, the farm landlord "materially participates" in the actual production of the farm commodities or in the management of production. If you are a materially participating farm landlord, you must count the rental income you receive in figuring your net earnings from self-employment. Social security offices have a free leaflet, "Farm rental income does not count for social security payments", which explains how to determine if you are materially participating.

Applying for social security retirement benefits? You'll need your social security card, proof of your age, and your Form W-2 for the previous year or, if you're self-employed, your last Federal income tax return.

b. Proper Sidewalk: Proper sidewalk shall mean a sidewalk built of concrete a minimum of four inches (4") thick and not less than four feet (4') wide.

c. Unsafe Sidewalk: Unsafe sidewalk shall mean any sidewalk which is "a sidewalk in disrepair" or a sidewalk which has sections broken, loose, cracked, separated, or heaved or which result in sections or parts thereof not being level or uniform in surface or which have an elevation variation of more than five degrees (5').

SECTION 2.
It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation owning property fronting or abutting any public sidewalk to allow said sidewalk to be in disrepair and/or an unsafe sidewalk.

SECTION 3.
Any person, firm or corporation being in violation of this ordinance shall repair or replace said sidewalk within thirty (30) days after notice sent by Certified Mail, with return receipt requested, to the owner of record as appears on the tax rolls of the City of Tawas City, or personally served thereon.

SECTION 4.
When any person, firm or corporation fails to repair or replace sidewalk which is unsafe or in disrepair after receiving notice as provided in Section 3, the City shall cause said sidewalk to be repaired or replaced and assess the cost thereof against the property fronting or abutting the sidewalk as a Special Assessment placing same on the tax rolls of the City of Tawas City.

SECTION 5.
The City shall pay $.75 per square foot for the years 1978, 1979 and 1980, said amount to be re-evaluated and revised in April of 1981, provided said sidewalk is replaced within 30 days of Notice of Violation as provided in Section 3 of this ordinance.

SECTION 6.
If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 7.
All ordinances, resolutions, or orders or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

HERBERT CHOLGER

popular, to enforce.
"Drought is Broken in the Tawas" stated the May 12, 1933, issue of The Tawas Herald when beer again became legal.

"The great drought is past! There may have been many a parched tongue in Iosco County, but when the zero hour approached Thursday afternoon, no long lines formed to make a rush as the foamy amber fluid was released. Judging from the first hours, Tawas City will take its beer calmly."

Some of the regulations set forth by the state liquor control commission included the provision that beer had to be sold to a customer while seated at a table. There could be no free beer with food, no bar, no curb service and no free lunch.

And, no beer could be sold to persons under 18 years of age—which brings this featurette back to its lead paragraphs concerning the proposed constitutional amendment in the 1978 general election.

Seven Contests Drew Major Interest in Township Elections

Seven contests drew major attention in township elections November 7 and two townships rejected special millage proposals. Voters of a third township decided that a dump should be continued to operate in violation of state laws.

The most excitement was in Alabaster Township where John H. Weible defeated Leona Benson, 80-74, for treasurer. Both candidates are Republican and Mrs. Benson was a write-in candidate. Joan J. Lorenz, Democrat, received 35 votes.

The other race in that township saw Gary Lutes, Republican, defeating Alice B. Makinen, Democrat, 96-81, for trustee. Elected without opposition were Robert H. Crawford, supervisor; Raymond Rescoe, clerk; Tom Trahey and Harry Wellna, constables.

A write-in candidate featured the election in Burleigh Township where James Belson was elected clerk over Darrell Colvin, a write-in candidate. Re-elected were Martin Siegrist, supervisor; Sharron Ott, treasurer; Lillian White, two-year trustee; Richard Colvin, trustee.

A special proposition had township voters saying that Burleigh should continue to operate its dump in violation of Michigan Department of Natural Resources regulations, 191-38. A second proposition asking the township to seek other means of disposing of waste material in compliance with state regulations was defeated, 140-64.

In Oscoda Township, Edward J. Tate, Republican, was re-elected over his Democratic opponent, Stanley L. Kowalski, 1,256-564. Other officers re-elected were Robert K. Foster, supervisor; Maxine P. Bissonette, treasurer; William C. Christman and William L.

Stone, two-year trustees; Delphine A. Weisl, trustee; Donald Schissler and Harold Schmidt, constables.

The only race in Plainfield Township saw Elizabeth M. Timmer, Democrat, turning aside Shiria Vee Kesler, Republican, 690-486, for re-election to the township clerk's position. Re-elected without opposition were Ray D. Kesler, supervisor; Barbara Malcho, treasurer; Royden Parkinson, two-year trustee; Richard A. Lange, constable.

Reno Township did not list a candidate for supervisor on the ballot and James P. Mielock, who had held that office previously, won over two other write-in candidates. Mielock received 61 votes, Terry Bellville had 34 and Charles Heintz received 28 votes. Elected without opposition were Leonard Robinson, clerk; Winona Redmond, treasurer; Elbert Barnes, trustee; Joseph Barnes, constable. Voters rejected a 1 1/2-mill proposal for bridge and road construction.

A write-in race in Wilber Township saw Betty Cross, incumbent clerk, defeating Pam Armstead, 99-60. Elected without opposition were Edwin B. Cavell, supervisor; Opal Mallon, treasurer; Harold Cholger, two-year trustee, although Ervin Kuenzli received seven write-in votes. Clifford Knight received nine votes for constable. The township's second try for renewal of one mill of taxes for road construction was defeated.

Elected without opposition were: AuSable Township: Raymond A. Andrus, supervisor; Della Schweickert, clerk; Calvin McLaren, treasurer; Eileen Hall, trustee; Armin Godt and Donald J. Marcoullier, constables.

Baldwin Township: Richter E. Lixey, supervisor; Frieda Rempert, clerk; Joyce A. Klenow, treasurer; Joseph Badalucco, two-year trustee.

Grant Township: Olen Herriman, supervisor; Lucile Blackmore, clerk; Dale Butzin, treasurer; Lowell Aspin, two-year trustee.

Sherman Township: Calvin Nickell, write-in candidate for supervisor; Harold A. Parent, clerk; Harvey E. Smith, treasurer; Michael J. Jordan, two-year trustee; Frederick Chapman, constable.

Tawas Township: LaVerne Koepke, supervisor; John J. Katterman, clerk; Irene Hughes, treasurer; Robert Grabow, trustee; Merlin Opal Mallon, treasurer; Harold Cholger, two-year trustee, although
