

Sixth TC Industrial District Authorized

Approval was given Monday night by the Tawas City Council establishing an industrial district for Baylock Manufacturing Company at 620 Ninth Avenue.

Through council action, a tax exemption on new construction by the firm would be provided for a period of 12 years. Baylock is currently completing a warehouse and loading ramp at its factory site.

Council action was similar to five other districts established during the past year in the community.

Approval by the state tax commission is required before the industrial tax exemption would become effective.

In other business, the council adopted a resolution authorizing publication of a notice of intent to issue sewer system revenue bonds in the amount of $100,000 for construction of a force main between the Second Avenue lift station and the waste water treatment plant.

In 1973, voters approved a general obligation bond issue for this project, but delays resulted from state permit requirements.

Acting City Mgr. Rachel Sue McCready reported that 13 applications had been received for the position of city manager, five from Michigan and the remainder from out of state.

A plan prepared by Edmonds Engineering Company for development of the city industrial park off Ninth Avenue was discussed with no action taken. The plan calls for development of eight industrial lots on the former Hughes property, with sewer designed to handle future loads, at a cost of $300,000.

The acting city manager reported that 37 warnings had been issued by the sheriff's department in enforcing the city's ordinance on junk cars and inoperable equipment. No citations have been issued.

Discussion was held on forcing removal of the former fishing tug, "Katy Mae," which is partially submerged in the river below the US-23 bridge. The old boat had been stored on property now owned by the city for a number of years and the new owner was to have placed it into service elsewhere last spring.

Auto Negligence Suit Filed Here

An auto negligence suit has been filed in Iosco County Circuit Court by Dwight L. Broadstone and Theresa Broadstone of Arenac County vs. Arlene J. Sellers and Floyd W. Bush of Genesee County.

The suit involves an accident November 27, 1975, which took place on US-23 in Oscoda Township.

A vehicle operated by Sellers and owned by Bush struck the Broadstone vehicle from the rear. Broadstone sustained neck injuries and seeks $10,000 in damages.

'Black Bear' Mystery Solved

The mystery of the "black bear" which has been eating handouts at the hunting camp of County Treas. Edward Nelkie finally was solved Sunday.

Since mid-October, Nelkie has been certain that a "blackie" has been coming out of the Tawas Lake swamp to feed at his hunting camp. The animal was never seen nor were its tracks, but Nelkie assumed that prints of a "large deer" found around the feed pile covered the tracks of a bear.

At the start of the deer hunting season Wednesday, Nelkie warned all hunters at his camp to watch for the bear and not to shoot it because the animals are protected in this area.

Robert Scholtz, Nelkie's long-time hunting companion, solved the mystery Sunday morning. While seated on a stump at the edge of a swamp, Scholtz spotted a white animal coming through the brush. He knew he was too far south to see a polar bear and dismissed the notion that it could be an albino deer.

When the animal approached within 50 yards of Scholtz, the beast emitted a sound which, to the untrained ear, could have been that of a bear poking its sore nose in mud. The bear story came to an end when Scholtz heard clear and distinct "oinks"—an old sow and two little pigs, gone wild, crossed the trail within a few feet of the startled hunter.

The Nelkie hunting camp did not have roast pork over the week-end for Scholtz was too surprised to fire his rifle. As for Nelkie, he reports that the closest farm to his property is about five miles distant and he has no idea of how the "wild pigs" ever got there.

OK Six Classroom Addition to School

Authorization to accept low bids totaling $208,440 for a six-classroom addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit was given Thursday night at a special meeting of Tawas Area Board of Education.

With an architectural fee of $11,881, the total cost of the project would be $220,321.

Unanimous acceptance of the six-room proposal came on recommendation of Supt. Robert Halle and the school architect, Brysselbout, Hacker and Simon of Bay City.

At the bid opening November 13, the architect estimated the projected cost of a five-room addition at $198,000. The architect recommended acceptance of the six-classroom bid, however, as the cost for the additional room would be about one-half the normal rate for construction.

Superintendent Halle told board of education members that there would be no difficulty finding use for the additional room as it is expected there will be a second section of special education offered next term at the elementary unit.

He also pointed out that the district presently utilizes seven portable classrooms, two of which are quite old and should be replaced.

Halle said that the $210,000 in delinquent taxes which voters approved for establishing a building fund for this project would gain $7,273 in interest payments by next spring, which would help make up the difference in finances above the $210,000. He said the remainder could be utilized from the district's general fund.

Contracts were awarded Thursday night to Mako Construction Company, Lincoln, architectural trades; Huber's, Midland, mechanical trades; Spark Electric, Auburn, electrical trades.

Mako delivered its performance bonds Thursday and was to begin preliminary work Friday.

Included in the project will be remodeling of existing rest-rooms, which is being required by the state health department.

Sheriff's Dept. Complaints Are Listed

Five breakings and enterings, three larcenies and a vandalism complaint were investigated last week by Iosco County Sheriff's Department.

Burglaries included one at Gilbert's Drug Store, Baldwin Centre, reported November 14. When the store was opened at 9:00 a. m., it was found that one of two cash registers was missing. Also missing was $115 in currency and change.

Other burglaries included David Shepard, Oscoda, door of residence forced open; John D. McFarlin, Whittemore, entry to residence made through second story bedroom window with items stolen including a shotgun, rifle, set of tools, tires; Donald Schuster, National City, house ransacked and missing were two shotguns, three rifles, a television set, watch and ammunition; Dennis Grabow, National City, bedrooms of house ransacked.

Larcenies were reported by Tawas City Elementary School, theft of 10 tapes with a value of $148; George Masich, Tawas City, larceny of 10 gallons of gasoline from car; Robert V. St. Lawrence, Taylor, theft of clothing left in washing machine at King's Laundromat.

The vandalism complaint was reported Thursday by Jacquelin Brown, Whittemore, rock thrown through window.

Area Hit by First Snow Storm of Winter

The first snow of the winter season fell Sunday night and Monday in Northern Michigan and there was an accumulation of about three inches of white fluff.

Within a period of five minutes Monday morning, Iosco County Sheriff's Department received two reports of cars rolled over on Iosco highways, one on Esmond Road east of Hale and the other on Plank Road west of Tawas City. There were no serious injuries.

Area service stations were expecting a rush of customers seeking installation of snow tires on vehicles by Monday afternoon.

If the snow stays on the ground until Thanksgiving Day Thursday, deer hunters are expected to take advantage of good tracking conditions on the day traditionally set aside for driving wood lots.

Two Hunters Died From Asphyxiation

Two downstate deer hunters staying at Old Orchard Park west of Oscoda were found dead in their camper Thursday afternoon. Death resulted from asphyxiation caused by a faulty propane stove.

The two hunters, Terrence W. Hill of Mt. Clemens and Gary E. Leach, Detroit, both 30 years of age, had checked in at the county-operated park the night of Tuesday, November 14.

Others staying at the campground became suspicious that something was amiss when no activity had been noticed around the camper Wednesday or Thursday morning, although it was first thought the two men might have gone hunting.

Floyd McDonald, park manager, was notified and a park employee checked the camper. Detecting the strong odor of gas, he looked through a window of the camper and observed the two men, one lying on a couch and the other slumped over in a chair.

Michigan State Police from East Tawas were called to the scene and determined that both men had been dead for more than a day.

Dr. Devendra Sharma, county medical examiner, said that the probable cause of death was due to asphyxiation and ordered autopsies.

Investigating officers learned that the camper had been stored in Wilber Township until the night of November 14, when the two men moved it to Old Orchard Park.

Officers found that a propane gas stove had been used to heat the camper. The stove pipe had been disconnected for some time, however, as officers found spider webs across the stove pipe opening.

Autopsies were performed on the bodies at a Saginaw hospital.

Fewer Deer Hunters Came to Iosco Area

Deer hunter traffic through Iosco County seemed below that of other years and the deer kill appeared to be somewhat below other seasons, although the actual harvest of whitetails is unpredictable and official figures will not be known until after the end of the season.

Doyle Nelkie of Tawas Township was the first hunter reporting success to The Tawas Herald office. At 7:30 a. m. on opening day, Nelkie bagged a four-point buck weighing approximately 180 pounds.

His report was followed by Keith McCready, Tawas Area High School student, who shot a spike horn buck at his parents' hunting camp in Grant Township. It was the first time he had ever filled his license.

Travis Abbott of Tawas City, another student at Tawas Area High School, shot a seven-point buck on opening day near the National Gypsum Company quarry. The buck weighed 150 pounds and it was the first time he had filled his license.

One of the largest racks was reported by Claude DeLosh of Pontiac, formerly of Tawas City, who shot a 13-point buck near Turner.

Area hunting camps appeared to have no difficulty in filling licenses, particularly in the area south of M-55 in Tawas, Alabaster and Sherman Townships. The Kendall hunting camp in Tawas Township had 11 bucks hanging on the meat pole opening day and the total was swelled to 13 by the second day.

More than 700,000 deer hunters moved into Michigan's deer areas starting Wednesday and there were numerous car-deer accidents reported throughout the state.

Traffic was steady November 14 on M-65 and US-23 in Iosco County, but the flow did not seem to compare with other years. The returning traffic on Sunday saw no particular problems in this area reports area police agencies.

Local restaurants, gasoline stations and taverns reported excellent business from deer hunters on Wednesday and Thursday.

Michigan State Police from East Tawas reported that deer hunter traffic on area highways was down from other years and fewer calls were received for delivering emergency messages to hunters.

One lost hunter call was received in the area covered by the East Tawas post. George G. MacKenzie, 51, was reported lost off Maple Ridge Road, Arenac County, on Saturday, MacKenzie later stumbled out of the woods and hitchhiked a ride to Standish.

On Thursday evening, state police received a report from a Grant Township resident stating he had heard "the scream of a panther, lynx or a lost hunter" calling for help in Section 22. There was no hunter reported lost in that area.

Collapsed While Hanging Deer

An 82-year-old Northville man, Dr. L. W. Snow, collapsed and died Sunday of an apparent heart attack in Wilber Township.

Investigating Iosco County Sheriff's Department officers said that Snow was assisting Dr. E. B. Cavell hang a buck deer in Cavell's garage when he collapsed.

Attempts were made to revive the victim but he was dead on arrival at Tawas Hospital.

Worcestered Barbecue Sauce Has Many Uses

This barbecue sauce, with its apricot base and Worcestered sauce seasoning, could well be the easiest one you've ever made. And one of the most versatile. Just three ingredients quickly mixed together and it's ready to use on any number of different meats before baking. Used in this recipe with chicken, it's equally good with ham, pork chops, ribs and roast duck. The trick that makes it so quick and easy to prepare is the use of Worcestered sauce. In one measure you get the mingled flavors of eschalots, garlic and onions, anchovies, tamarind, vinegar, soy, sugar and numerous spices, all aged together in a smoothly blended condiment. It's a perfect flavor foil for the tart-sweetness of apricot preserves.

SAUCY BAKED CHICKEN

- 1 jar (12 oz.) apricot preserves
- 1 envelope (1.37 oz.) dehydrated onion soup mix
- 3 tablespoons original Worcestered sauce
- 2 chickens (2-1/2 lbs. each), cut in serving pieces

Preheat oven to 350° F. In a small bowl combine apricot preserves, onion soup mix, and Worcestered sauce. Place chicken in a shallow baking pan. Spoon sauce over chicken. Bake, uncovered, for one hour. Increase oven temperature to 450° F. Bake 10 minutes longer. If desired, spoon half of the sauce on one chicken; cover and refrigerate remaining sauce for future use on ribs, duck, pork chops, ham, etc. Yield: 8 portions.

Mrs. L. Stanton Bush, chapter regent, displayed a copy of State Senate Resolution 640, honoring work of the Michigan DAR, and a certificate of appreciation personally awarded to the chapter by Mrs. George U. Baylies, president general, NSDAR, as one of five Michigan chapters which have completed allocations to the current national project.

The project includes construction of a new home economics building at Kate Duncan Smith DAR School in Grant, Alabama, an accredited kindergarten-12th grade school where 1,000 mountain children are given special educational advantages such as music, arts and crafts, athletic and agri-business courses.

The chapter was represented at the dedication of the new building by Mrs. Worthy T. Boyd, who, with other Michigan members visited four of the six DAR supported schools on a bus tour in October.

needy students where Michigan DAR built and maintains a boys' dormitory; The Berry School in Rome, Georgia, and Hindman Settlement School, Hazard, Kentucky

In Michigan, you have a lot of energy in your life.

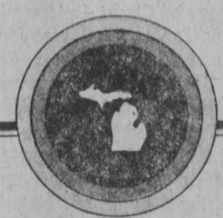

It means a lot to live in a state with plenty of energy.
 Because energy works to keep our homes comfortable, and factories and businesses running. Energy is needed by schools, hospitals, farms, government—just about everything that affects the way we live.
 Fortunately, Michigan has adequate natural gas and electric generating facilities to provide the energy needed, not only for comfort and convenience but also for jobs.
 It didn't happen just by chance.
 The energy our state has is the result of a lot of advance planning, development and investment on the part of Michigan's natural gas and electric power utilities.
 Without energy, jobs would disappear. Life would be a lot less comfortable.
 That's why Michigan utilities are working hard to make sure you have plenty of energy in your life.
 It's up to you to use it wisely.

TA Bravettes Won Close Game, 57-55

Paced by the sharp shooting of Forward Laurel Minard, Tawas Bravettes protected their lead in the Northeastern Michigan Conference Friday night with a 57-55 win over Pinconning. The junior varsity lost its game in another thriller, 39-38.

Playing on Pinconning's home floor, the Bravettes jumped off to a 21-9 lead in the first quarter and seemed to be heading for an easy victory.

The Pinconning girls, paced by Saiois, had no thoughts of being counted out and come back with a 22-16 bell ringing first quarter to cut Tawas' lead to 37-31 at intermission.

Pinconning tied the game in the third quarter and even led by one point, but Tawas was down by only one basket for the quarter scoring, 14-12, and managed to hold a 49-45 lead at the buzzer.

Tawas' big score in the first quarter proved to be the deciding factor as the Spartan girls again outscored the Bravettes, 10-8, in the fourth quarter.

Minard topped all scoring for the night with 21 points on 10 field goals and one foul shot. Kari Allen proved the difference in the first quarter with good rebounding and she picked up 15 points on six field goals and three foul shots.

The Junior Bravettes trailed the Pinconning junior varsity all the way as the Bay County team held a 6-5 lead at the end of the first quarter and outscored Tawas, 14-11, in the second quarter. Tawas was down by one field goal, 12-10, in the third quarter and Pinconning held a 13-12 margin in the fourth.

Scoring for Tawas were Diane Nelkie, two points; Linda Nelkie, five points; Lisa Bielby, eight points; Lisa Konenski, 10 points; Debbie Allen and Kelley Brockenbrough, two points each; Cindy Beach, five points.

Tawas was to host the Ogemaw Heights girls Tuesday night in the last conference game of the season.

Cindy McKinney to Appear in Hudson's Parade

Cindy McKinney, formerly of Tawas City, is scheduled to participate in the J. L. Hudson Thanksgiving Day parade. This event will take place in Detroit and excerpts of this parade, along with Macy's from New York, will be aired locally preceding the football game on both NBC and CBS network television.

Miss McKinney is one of the young women representing J. L. Hudson in the Flint Genesee Valley Mall. Her entry is scheduled fourth on the parade program line up and is entitled "Fish Fantasy."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pfeiffer of Tawas City and an honor graduate of Tawas Area Schools, class of 1975. Following her high school graduation, she attended Baker Business College, Flint, where she was an all A graduate in the class of 1977.

Animal Claim Submitted for 'Wild Turkey'

An animal claim approved Friday by the Iosco County Board of Commissioners was set aside Monday by County Clerk D. Keith Papas.

A Tawas City resident entered a $25 claim for a wild turkey-domesticated, which was killed by dogs. Papas said that further clarification was needed as he believes a wild turkey belongs to the public.

Commission Pay Rate Questioned

Iosco County Board of Commissioners is expected to seek a legal opinion today concerning the rate of pay for commissioners.

Bylaws of the commission state that members shall not be paid for more than two meetings-work sessions attended in a 24-hour period.

County Clerk D. Keith Papas pointed out Friday to the board's finance committee that state law limits pay to commissioners for only one meeting per day the board or a committee is in session.

IN 1922, THE STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS WORE

BLACK BLOOMERS

"The playing courts were small and the halls were drafty. Members of the opposing teams delighted in pinning a visiting player against steam pipes along the wall or forcing one into the central heating stove—but we loved it."

That is the way Rhea (King) Matthews remembers the 1921-22 basketball season. She was a forward on the Tawas City High School girls team, the only area team ever to lay claim to a state basketball title.

Interscholastic competition 56 years ago is not what it is today with district, regional and state tournaments to decide a champion according to enrollment classification of schools. In another era, if a school was good enough and wished, it had to issue a challenge to any school in the state to lay claim to the championship title.

Joining the Michigan Interscholastic Association in 1921 to improve basketball scheduling, Supt. T. E. Ousterhout of Tawas City High School, coach of the local team, issued that sort of challenge to any team in the state at the start of the 1921-22 season.

At the end of the season in March 1922, the Tawas City girls had won 15 games, scoring 539 points against 197 for their opponents. The team's only loss came at the hands of Onaway. Each team had emerged victorious in two meetings during the regular season and a final game, won by Tawas City, decided the Northeastern Michigan championship.

The Tawas City team claimed the state title by defeating both Saginaw Arthur Hill, defending state champion, and Sebawaing, the Thumb area champion. A challenge was issued to Saginaw Eastern High School, said to be the top team in Central Michigan, but the gauntlet thrown by Tawas City was not accepted.

According to a report in The Bay City Times, Saginaw Eastern claimed the state championship and had ignored all challenges sent out by the Tawas City team for a contest. For ever after, the title claim by each team was in dispute.

"From all appearances, Saginaw does not want to play the Tawas lassies and, by their actions, the up-river players and school authorities are showing the white feather very plainly, to say the least," stated the newspaper.

"We also challenged a Flint team which was contending for the state title, but that school backed out—we heard they thought we were too good for them," recalls Louise (Burgeson) Ernst, now of Bloomfield Township in the Detroit area. In 1921-22, she was captain of the Tawas City girls team and its star forward.

"The town was full of enthusiasm about our team. We had a tremendous following for those days," recalls Mrs. Ernst, who is the mother of Dist. Court Judge J. Richard Ernst.

Other members of the championship squad included Mary Robinson, guard; Gladys Brown, guard; Meta Wendt, center; Rosetta Leitz and Phyllis Latham—seven members in all with only one substitute player.

TAWAS CITY High School girls team above claimed the state basketball championship in 1922. This was in the days before a tournament was held to decide the state championship—a contender sent challenges to other teams claiming the title—and Tawas City had "beaten everything from Saginaw to the Straits of Mackinac and, in addition clinched the Thumb championship by soundly trouncing Sebawaing, champion of that territory. Saginaw Eastern has cleaned up on most of the teams south of that city, but does not seem inclined to schedule a game with

"We had played three seasons together going into our senior year in 1921-22. We had a tall squad topped by Meta Wendt, who was about five feet, nine inches in height. And were those games rough," recalls Mrs. Matthews, now of AuSable Township and the only member of the team still residing in this area.

According to files of the Herald, one game in particular was rough for Forward King.

In a game against West Branch, she received a straight arm jab which knocked her unconscious and the game was delayed for 15 minutes until a substitute player was found.

All home games were played at the Auditorium on Lake Street, constructed in 1920 as a combination motion picture theatre-gymnasium owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Berube. The hall was equipped with moveable opera chairs and seating capacity totaled around 500 persons, including the balcony.

At East Tawas, games were played at the old opera house. Two large support columns in the playing floor were hazardous for the players.

A girls basketball team then had six players, but a center jump was utilized in 1921-22, which slowed the game considerably.

Standard uniforms worn by all teams consisted of black sateen bloomers, long black stockings and white blouses—complete with black tie. The ties were removed during particularly rough games. Members of today's girls basketball teams would not be caught dead wearing those uniforms of grandmother's day, but sportswear styles have a habit of changing over the years and who knows what the gals will be wearing for basketball games 50 years from now.

Transportation to out-of-town games was by railroad and visiting teams would stay overnight with members of the home squad. A subscription paper was circulated locally to help pay the cost of railroad passenger fare.

"When games were played at Standish, the team would get off the Detroit and Mackinac Railway passenger train at Omer and board a sleigh which would take us the rest of the way to Standish. The same was true for Onaway or Rogers City—a sleigh pulled by a team of horses would meet us at some junction to take us to those two towns," recalls Mrs. Matthews.

Only one referee usually handled the games and C. C. McGaeth, YMCA secretary of Lapeer, officiated at a number of Tawas City games in 1921-22. Occasionally, the superintendent of the home school and an outside referee named by the opposing school would officiate games, but this often led to disputed calls between the teams.

Visiting teams were met at the railroad depot in Tawas City by a delegation from the local high school. The visitors were entertained by team members during the day and, after the game, a hall was rented for a dancing party given for the entertainment of the visitors.

The game between Saginaw Arthur Hill and Tawas City was one of the most important games of the year and was the principal basis for the local team laying claim to the state title. The Herald's news coverage was as follows:

"One of the cleanest and speediest basketball games of the season was played on the Arthur Hill floor at Saginaw on January 25, Tawas City defeating the Arthur Hill girls, 44-37. At the request of the Saginaw girls, the game was played by quarters."

After Burgeson meshed the game's first basket, Saginaw quickly took command and held a 25-15 lead at the half.

"By this time, our girls had become accustomed to the floor and, in the second half, they showed the (See STATE CHAMPS, page 6.)

TAWAS CITY AUDITORIUM was a privately-owned building constructed in 1920 for theatre use. It was also utilized for basketball games and public meeting purposes. The property is now a parking lot west of Keiser's Drug Store.

Editorial—

Needed: A 'Better Idea' for Senior Citizen Transportation

One of the nation's leading auto makers makes the point in its advertising campaigns that it has "found a better idea" to improve its product. This corner cannot vouch for the auto maker's claims, but the thought does serve as a focusing point for this editorial.

It is this corner's belief that it is time for the Michigan Department of State Highways to "find a better idea" to provide means of transporting senior citizens in compliance with provisions of the Older Americans Act, especially in rural areas like Iosco County.

And this corner is not so all-fired sure that such a transportation system is really needed or desired in this part of the "sticks." Some will consider this pure heresy, but bear us out.

On November 29, the Iosco County Board of Commissioners will give consideration to adoption of a new contract with the department of state highways for operation of a county transit system. In the meantime, the state offered $10,000 under an amended contract to keep the current financially-troubled bus system operating.

In this corner's mind, continuation of this transit authority in the face of serious existing problems is a waste of tax money—yours and mine—despite the fact that a goodly share of the cost is shared by "Uncle Sugar" and the state, not to mention locally provided funds.

Providing an even greater share of state and federal revenues, as it would do under the new contract, will not solve the real problem: There are not enough potential passengers in rural Iosco County to provide one-quarter or even one-half of the revenue necessary to make a bus system reasonably self-sustaining.

The question which immediately comes to mind, then, is why would the state want to continue this transit authority? The foremost reason, perhaps, is that in order to comply with the Older Americans Act, some means of transportation must be provided senior citizens; secondly, the Iosco County Transit Authority was used as a "model" for other rural areas of the state when it was established three years ago.

It must be admitted that the local transit authority was operated on a seemingly efficient basis when it was inaugurated, but it also must be pointed out that driver slots were provided through federal CETA funding and over-all supervision was provided to the Iosco County Commission on Aging through volunteer help.

The unpaid volunteer director, who was employed at that time by another governmental agency, got herself and the county into a peck of trouble, perhaps innocently enough, over a nepotism charge lodged with CETA. After months of haggling over a technical point, which was brought to light when someone with an axe to grind "blew the whistle," this county had to repay slightly more than $4,000 in "misused" CETA funds.

The last volunteer director was at wits end trying to keep a system operational with worn-out equipment, no money to pay bills and no one else to share this voluntary load. He finally resigned when the Iosco Commission on Aging understandably said it could provide no volunteer help.

This should tell one something: 1. A paid director cannot possibly keep a system operating for the very real reason that, even when the transit authority was inaugurated three years ago, there were not enough passengers using the vans to make the system worthwhile; 2. The first director tried to increase the use of buses by developing schedules whereby commercial and industrial workers could utilize the system but, despite the fact that it seemed to be working out, the system never could get rolling with three buses, which were soon worn-out traveling around the county practically empty—and complaint after complaint was heard about this.

Even in metropolitan areas, bus systems have been financially plagued for four or five decades and that condition will remain until such time as automobiles are forced off the roads due to the lack of fuel or through prohibitive gasoline costs. This state once had a marvelous system of electric inter-urban trains and metropolitan areas had efficient street railways which paid their own way until the advent of the automobile, when everyone had their own wheels. Even the railroads discontinued highly unprofitable passenger service for the same reason.

Continuation of a public transit system in a rural area seems to be a waste of tax money—if that money must be spent, common sense would dictate that funds should go to Detroit and other cities where it is really needed to keep existing transportation operating.

Even dial-a-ride systems do not seem to be practical in rural areas, but it does seem to this corner that some system of providing transportation for those senior citizens needing it could be offered by subsidizing a passenger car or station wagon at existing senior citizen centers.

(By the way, what ever happened to the long held belief and tradition that children—even neighbors and friends—had some responsibility for taking care of people in their old age? It is great for one to be independent and self-reliant, but is it practical to operate a bus system solely for senior citizens—to take them to weekly meetings at senior citizen centers, shopping or to the doctor? How about a share-the-ride program where senior citizens still driving their own cars could be subsidized for carrying others?)

TODAYS Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read Matthew 24:34-40)

"Whenever you did this for one of the least important of these brothers of Mine, you did it for Me!" (Matthew 25:40 TEV)

The cold of the November night clutched at my bare arms as I ran from the back door of the church to our parked car. I glanced at the church windows—frosty squares of light in the starless sky.

Tonight, I was on a special mission and my heart beat wildly with the secrecy and joy of the affair. In the darkened seat of the car, I groped until my arms grasped the huge paper sack, heavily weighted with the surprise turkey. Staggering under my voluntary burden, I made my way to the widow's car. Silently, I placed the gift in the driver's seat. I knew that to the widow and her children it would mean an unexpected feast, a real Thanksgiving, an answer to prayer.

I remember the excitement of the widow's children upon finding the treasure. I remember the stories they told on the school bus the next morning—stories of the "magic" turkey. But most of all, I remember the warmth, peace and completeness that encompassed my whole being as I learned that it truly is better to give than to receive.

PRAYER

O God, fill us with the joy of unselfish giving. May this Thanksgiving bring a reawakening of our love for others. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I will plan a special mission of love each day.—Mary Lou Carney (Chesterton, Indiana)

Want Meals In Minutes?—Think Chinese

If the people of the Orient seem serene, it might be because they don't spend hours over a hot stove! To retain her serenity, today's busy American homemaker needs good-tasting entrees that can be whipped up in minutes. Thirty-eight million women are now working. That's 44% of all adult women. They're spending three hours less a week in meal preparation, so appetizing and convenient dishes are a godsend.

Budget is also a factor and a meatless main dish is economical. Eggs provide complete protein and can fill in for meat. But eggs are the single highest source of cholesterol. Oriental egg foo yung can be adapted to give you the nutrition and taste of fresh eggs without cholesterol by preparing Foo Yung Pancakes made with Egg Beaters Cholesterol-free Egg Substitute.

Bean sprouts and chopped green pepper and onion add texture and flavor. They are fried in corn oil which is low in saturated fats. Serve them with an easy sauce made with water, soy sauce and chicken bouillon. Green beans and tomato wedges provide eye appeal. Add a side dish of rice for heartier appetites. For dessert, serve mandarin orange segments and hot tea.

FOO YUNG PANCAKES
1 cup Egg Beaters
Cholesterol-free Egg Substitute

1 can (1 pound) bean sprouts, well-drained
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
Corn oil
Foo Yung Sauce

Beaters mixture onto griddle. Fry until well-browned on both sides. Serve hot with Foo Yung Sauce (below).

Foo Yung Sauce: In a saucepan, blend together 1 cup cold water and 2 teaspoons cornstarch. Add 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1/8 teaspoon sugar and 1 chicken bouillon cube. Bring to a boil, stirring. Boil 1 minute.

Combine Egg Beaters Cholesterol-free Egg Substitute, bean sprouts, green pepper, onion and flour. On a griddle or skillet set at 300°F, heat enough oil to cover bottom. For each pancake pour 1/4 cup Egg servings. Makes 8 pancakes (4 servings).

Elegant Desserts In A Jiffy

The piece de resistance of a luncheon or dinner is dessert. Smooth and creamy, cool and refreshing, sweet and rich, an elegant dessert makes any meal a special occasion.

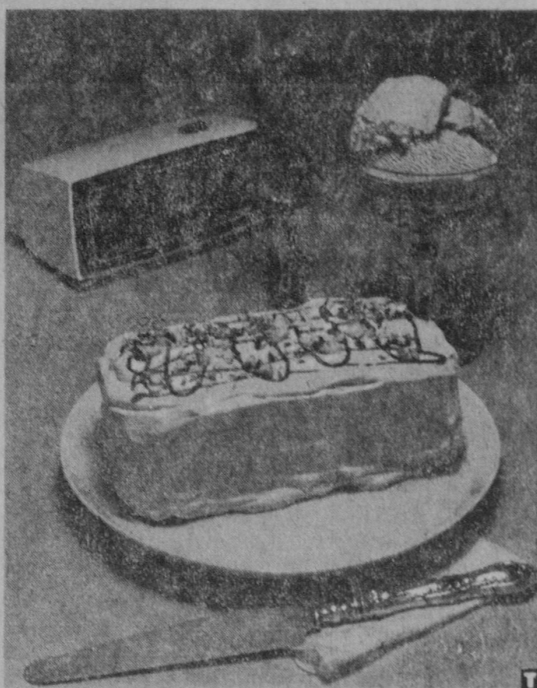

But many women no longer have hours to spend in the kitchen preparing desserts. They rely heavily on convenience foods and partially prepared products to save time and energy.

Presto, change! You can become a kitchen magician in a matter of minutes by using a little imagination. Suggested here are three elegant desserts made in a jiffy with the help of convenient, versatile concord-grape products.

Grape Mallobet is a smooth, creamy blend with a lavender tint. The recipe uses marshmallows, apricot nectar and concord-grape juice along with such staples as lemon juice, egg whites, salt and sugar. This luscious mixture can be kept frozen in refrigerator freezing trays and served on a moment's notice.

Looking for a cool, refreshing dessert—something light to serve after a hearty meal? Concord Frappe is a frozen blend of three fruit juices—concord-grape, apple and lemon. Keep a batch in the freezer and scoop into glasses at serving time.

It's amazing what you can do with frozen pound cake. Keep two or three on hand for emergency desserts like Easy Elegant Torte. Just split the cake into three layers, then spread layers and frost sides with a mixture of whipped cream, concord-grape jam and nuts.

Heat marshmallows and blend thoroughly. Pour into 1/2 cup concord-grape juice freezer container and freeze in top of double boiler, until mushy. Beat with a folding over and over until fork and return to freezer. Marshmallows are half frozen until firm. Scoop melted. Remove from heat into glasses to serve. Makes 8 servings.

EASY ELEGANT TORTE
1 package (11 1/4-ounces) frozen pound cake, thawed
2 cups prepared whipped cream or whipped dessert topping
1 cup concord-grape jam
1/2 cup chopped filberts or pecans
Concord-grape jam
Chopped nuts

CONCORD FRAPPE
1 can (6-ounces) frozen concord-grape juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
1 can (6-ounces) frozen apple juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
3 cups water
1/4 cup lemon juice

In a bowl or pitcher, combine all ingredients and Split cake into 3 layers. Combine whipped cream, concord-grape jam and nuts. Spread 1/3 cup between layers. Use remaining whipped cream mixture to frost sides and top of cake. Decorate with concord-grape jam and nuts. Makes 8 servings.

Mom-made puppets for Santa's little fans

Simple toys that are bright, colorful and, best of all, easy to play with are the ones Santa's littlest fans grab first on Christmas morning—and sometimes can't be parted from all day. Adorable hand puppets that you can easily make yourself fall into this category.

You probably already have all the materials right on hand to create a soulful brown reindeer, a cheery red Santa and a merry elf. All you'll need are scissors, small lids—such as those on baby food jars, scraps of fabric, white glue and spare bits of felt, ribbon and such. Now here's what you do . . .

To fashion the puppet's body, make a paper pattern—a triangle 6" to 7" wide at the base and about 7" high. Round off the top and you have the proper, elongated bell-shape you need. Trace the pattern onto fabric (two pieces—your puppet needs a front and a back) and cut out the shapes, using pinking shears if you have them to prevent frayed edges. Apply white glue around the edges of the fabric, press together to form a "mittens." Voilà! Now you're ready to decorate your tot hand puppet.

For a super face, pour 1/2 teaspoon of Elmer's Glue-All into the lid from a baby food jar. Rotate the lid to distribute the glue evenly; it pours white but dries to a lovely clear, glossy finish in a day. Then add facial features with "glue-paint"—a few drops of food coloring mixed with glue. The "glue-paint" provides a rich, shiny hue plus texture, so you can create gleaming round blue eyes, puffy pink cheeks, or a bright red mouth.

After your puppet face is dry, you may want to further define features by outlining them with a fine tipped marking pen. A spray of clear acrylic will permanently "set" the face and a bit of ribbon, felt or trim wrapped around the outside rim will give it a finished look.

Next step—glue the "head" onto the fabric mitten and then customize your tot puppet with buttons, cotton balls, glue-paint, scraps of material and such. For example, you can make a snappy Santa outfit with bits of cotton to trim his suit and make his beard, while felt makes a perfect cap and belt.

A reindeer is as easy as drawing a marking pen "body" onto the mitten. Add a collar of glue-paint berries and cut reindeer horns out of felt. Or, if a merry elf sparks your fancy, dress him in a colorful fabric suit, with a spiffy hat and boots to match. You can add felt buttons to his suit and trim his sleeves with gold rope ribbon. Don't forget to glue on some elfin ears!

Almost any "Christmas creature" makes a lovable hand puppet. Use your imagination and you can give your tot a special, mom-made toy that will delight him Christmas day and for many days to come.

Extension Provides Holiday Food, Gifts, Decoration Ideas

Holiday ideas that may become family traditions will be featured at three celebrating Christmas demonstrations. Sponsored by Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, the programs will provide ideas and directions for holiday foods, gifts and decorations.

Celebrating Christmas is scheduled Tuesday, November 28, 7:30 p. m., at the Tawas United Methodist Church.

Marjorie Mielock, extension home economist in Arenac and Ogemaw Counties, and Susan Lambrecht, Isosco County extension director/home economist, will present the program. Included in the two hours of demonstrations and idea sharing will be easy holiday garnishes, make-ahead holiday dishes, gifts from items on hand, home-made gifts for children, package wrapping ideas and suggestions for de-commercializing Christmas.

In order to provide food samples and a packet of recipes and directions, a $1 per person donation is requested. No reservations are necessary.

Arts Council to Meet in New Location

Tawas Bay Arts Council will hold its regular monthly membership meeting Thursday, November 30, 7:30 p. m., in the new location at the Graystone Building, located on US-23 at the mouth of the Tawas River.

Following the business meeting, Larry DeRosia will give a demonstration on leather carving. A Michigander who took up leathercraft as a hobby in 1950, he worked at Uniroyal Rubber Company as an illustrator until his retirement in 1974. He taught leathercraft to adult classes at the YMCA branch in Detroit for a period of five years and taught classes at Highland Park Junior College for 11 years.

This demonstration should be especially interesting to men and if enough men and women are interested, a night class may be started in January.

The general public is invited to inspect the new quarters and attend the demonstration.

Chocolate Fondue Showmanship

How can this elegant Double Chocolate Fondue be so simple? The French word "fondre" means "to melt," and this rich chocolate sauce is a perfect candidate for a dessert dunking party. Before guests arrive, Baker's semi-sweet chocolate and Baker's German's sweet chocolate are melted in a saucepan with cinnamon, sugar and milk; then, the mixture is poured into a fondue pot or small chafing dish to keep warm. (Or, you may prefer to pour the chocolate sauce into demitasse cups or small glasses and serve immediately.) For fondue service, surround the melted chocolate dessert with trays of cookies, marshmallows, fresh or dried fruits.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE FONDUE
1 package (8 squares) semi-sweet chocolate
1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate, broken in pieces
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
Dash of cinnamon

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until melted and smooth. Pour into fondue pot or small chafing dish and keep warm while serving. (If heated longer than 1/2 hour, add additional milk to maintain consistency.) Or, pour into demi-tasse cups or small glasses and serve immediately. Use as a dessert or snack for dipping butter cookies, ladyfingers, fresh or dried fruits, mints, marshmallows or nuts. Makes 2 cups.

Electrical Short Circuit Caused Minor Damage

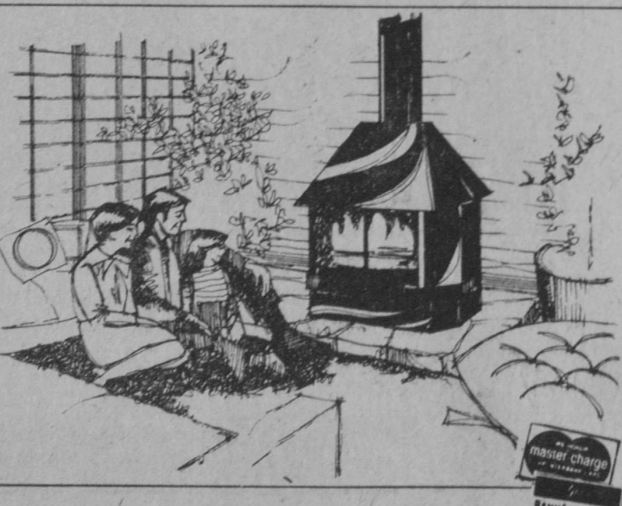

Minor damage was caused to an exhaust fan at Tawas Area High School late Thursday afternoon due to an electrical short circuit.

Prin. John Alexander said a passing motorist noticed smoke pouring out of the ventilator and notified the school office.

Tawas City Fire Department was called to the scene. Two sections of wooden support beams were damaged by flames.

The fire occurred shortly after 4 o'clock and most students had left the building at the end of the school day.

speed that the 'hay shakers' could develop. Their skill at passing and guarding kept the ball in our lines most of the time and L. Burgeson basketed at leisure. Rhea King's foul throws were a feature of the game, she having secured six out of seven."

On March 24, the Tawas City team won its 14th straight game by defeating Sebawaing, 57-11. Among other teams which fell before the local girls were East Tawas, Oscoda, Alpena, Rogers City, Onaway, Standish, Sterling and Grayling. Because of unsportsmanlike conduct, the game between West Branch and Tawas City was not completed and the game was forfeited to Tawas City.

While competition between Tawas City and West Branch ended on a sour note, the Herald reported that Onaway and Tawas City girls "are mutual in their admiration for each other, the girls of each town having stated that nowhere on their trips were they better treated than at the respective towns of Tawas City and Onaway."

On March 31, 1922, the Herald reported that the Tawas City girls had won their last game of the season, "unless some other state championship contender wishes to sign up a game in order to clear the ownership of the state title." No other team in the state accepted the challenge and these words in the local press concluded its reporting of the season: "The silver cup is ready now for the team that won the championship row."

Ousterhout, who was superintendent and coach here for three years, left Tawas City in 1923 to become superintendent of schools at St. Charles. With his departure and graduation of the 1921-22 team, girls basketball languished and was never the same. All basketball was practically eliminated a few years later when permanent seats were installed on the floor of Berube's Auditorium.

It was not until 1941 that girls basketball resumed with construction of a new gymnasium at Tawas City High School, although basketball for both boys and girls continued at East Tawas and games moved from the old opera house to the community building.

Appearing November 29

Those who enjoy organ music are in for a rare treat when the second of this season's community concerts is presented at 8:00 p. m., Wednesday, November 29, in the Oscoda High School Auditorium. The featured artist is Richard Morris, a Fulbright Scholar at the Academy for Music in Vienna, Austria. Born at Atlanta, Georgia, Morris began his performing career in that city as a soloist with the Atlanta Pops Orchestra.

This popular young organist has appeared several times on NBC's "Today" show; he has given special concerts at New York City's Town Hall, appeared as soloist at Carnegie Hall and was part of the inaugural concert series at Washington's Kennedy Center. Critics call him "a leader in the new wave of performers." They are generous in their praise of his artistry. They call him a "programmer of substance and wit," "a lively exponent of lively recitals," "an artist who is an irreverent observer of musical pomposity and concert hall pretension." There are those who feel Richard Morris is a younger version of Victor Borge.

Wednesday evening's concert will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Admittance is by membership card only.
