

City's Junk Car Code is Enforced

Seventeen citations under the city's junk car ordinance were issued last week by the Iosco County Sheriff's Department, which enforces ordinances under a contract with the city.

Included was a citation to Mayor Herbert Cholger, who has a Kaiser automobile stored on blocks in his back yard.

Under terms of the June 1966 ordinance, outdoor storage of a nonoperable automobile for more than 14 days is not permitted. In special hardship cases, a permit for longer storage may be issued where no adjoining property owner is effected.

The ordinance also applies to cars and machinery which are being dismantled for parts. Violation of the ordinance is a misdemeanor and the maximum fine is $100 and 90 days imprisonment. Each day after a citation is issued is considered an additional violation. Junk cars in violation of the ordinance can be impounded and sold, with the cost of removal assessed to the property owner.

Acting City Mgr. Rachel Sue McCready said that enforcement of the ordinance had been discussed by the council in recent months and, under terms of the city charter, the city manager is responsible for seeing that ordinances are enforced. The city manager directed the sheriff's department to make a survey of the city to determine the number of cars in violation of the ordinance and then to wait 14 days before issuing citations.

Mayor Cholger said he did not believe the ordinance pertained to his Kaiser as it was an antique automobile and that all it needed was a battery to put it in operable condition. He said he had two other antique cars in storage in a garage, but had no room for inside storage of the Kaiser. He said he planned to eventually restore all three cars.

The mayor also stated his wife wanted him to get the old car out of the back yard, but he wants to keep it and believed the ordinance was unreasonable. Cholger believed the ordinance pertained mainly to cars being dismantled for parts and agreed that in such instances it was a violation of the ordinance. He believed that the ordinance was primarily intended to restrict storage of junk cars at garages.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Call of Murphy Street appeared at the meeting and reported they had been cited for four cars. Call said that two of the cars had 1978 registrations. He said the battery in a third car had been removed to prevent theft and all the fourth car needed was a radiator. He maintained that all four cars were in operable condition and that he had five licensed drivers in his family. The city manager is to ask the sheriff's department for a complete report on its enforcement procedures, the actual number of citations issued and reasons for issuance.

MORE THAN ONE-QUARTER-MILLION Dollars in residential construction is under way on Twelfth Avenue in Tawas City. Seven new houses are being constructed by J. Zuehlke Builders of Oscoda and are being offered by Home Finder Realty of Oscoda. The above firm has sold 42 new Zuehlke-built houses in the Oscoda area since July 1, 1977. (Turn to page 3 for announcement.) In addition to the above houses, Carl Steinhurst, local builder, is constructing a new house on the same street and has remodeled an older house at the intersection with Fourth Street.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Beleaguered Iosco Transit System Again Gets the Axe

Iosco's beleaguered transit system, which was to end October 31 and then given a reprieve until November 14, again ran into a snag last week.

Joseph Fox of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners reported that drivers hired through CETA to operate the one remaining bus refused to take the vehicle on the road because of faulty equipment.

Fox said that repairs had been made to the bus recently, but tail lights on the unit became inoperative Thursday and runs were canceled.

Edward Fontinieve of the department of state highways' urban bus division advised last week that it would be up to the local area to take steps to provide maintenance on the bus.

On October 12, the Iosco County Commission on Aging voted to end operation of the buses due to the lack of volunteer supervision, but the executive committee decided to continue the service through November 14 when one of the drivers was appointed to supervise the operation.

The bus system, which began operation in 1976, has three buses but all have been driven approximately 200,000 miles. Two of the units await major repairs and the third was "nursed" back into operational condition.

Fox said the state desires to keep the transit system in operation until such time as a new contract takes effect. The new contract provides that the state will fund 100 percent of the cost for two years, 75 percent during the third year and 50 percent thereafter.

Under the present contract, the state provided the buses and paid 100 percent of the operation for the first year and one-third of the cost since then.

Burglar Apprehended

Breaks Into House; Returns for Nap

A 19-year-old Bridgeport man arrested here on breaking and entering charges November 1 and then turned over to Saginaw County authorities for possible commitment to a state hospital, may be returned to Iosco County.

The young man, who said he was on his way to Harrison, was taken into custody at a residence on Turtle Road west of Tawas City. Thomas Schimmel, 1749 Turtle Road, reported to the sheriff's department at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday that he had returned home to find his home had been entered.

The burglar had prepared a bowl of cereal, cooked a chicken in his microwave oven, then fired a round from Schimmel's .22 caliber rifle through a stack of magazines. The burglar also left with Schimmel's wallet.

The sheriff's department checked the area and learned that a man had been seen walking down Gypsum Road. He could not be found.

At 11:45 p. m. the same day, Schimmel called the sheriff's department and reported that a man was sleeping in his house. Schimmel told officers he returned home at 6:40 p. m. and fell asleep on the couch. When he awoke around 11:45 p. m., he discovered that a man was sleeping in his bunk bed.

The 19-year-old man admitted breaking into the house, stealing a wallet and a knife earlier in the day. He was taken into custody by officers and then turned over to Saginaw authorities.

City Boosts Pay of Office Workers

Acting on a recommendation of Acting City Mgr. Rachel Sue McCready, who felt the city should "pay as much for brains as for brawn," salaries of two city hall office workers were increased.

Mrs. McCready told the city council Monday night that Mrs. Mary Bergeron, water board office clerk, and Mary Hilbert, city treasurer, were not receiving the equivalent of the lowest paid hourly employee on the department of public works.

As a result, the council increased

Mrs. Bergeron's salary from $6,463 to $7,350 annually. She has been an employee of the city since 1957. The same $7,350 annual salary was granted to Mrs. Hilbert, who has been the appointive city treasurer since April 1977. The salary of this office had been $6,625.

Mrs. McCready said the pay to the two women figures out to a rate of about $4.04 per hour.

A wage and salary package for other employees was discussed by the council and is to be considered again at the next meeting.

Voters Reject City Hall

Tawas City will not have a new city hall. By a narrow margin of 11 votes, voters rejected a proposal to build a new city hall-fire hall-library complex, 369-358.

A total of 737 voters went to the polls at the Tawas City Elementary Unit, representing approximately 71 percent of the city's total registered electors.

The proposition lost in two of the city's three precincts. First Precinct voters rejected the proposal, 119-102, while the Second Precinct tallied 132 "no" votes and 121 "yes."

Only Third Precinct voters favored the proposal with 135 "yes" votes and 118 "no."

This proposal, one of the most controversial city issues here in recent years, has been debated at council meetings for many months.

Rachel Sue McCready, city clerk and acting city manager, who had anticipated a turnout of about 83 percent of the voters, said there were 10 uncounted ballots in the election. There were five blank ballots and five marked with checks.

At the Herald's 10:30 o'clock presstime Tuesday night, early state-wide projections had Gov. G. Milliken winning his race for re-election, while United States Sen. Robert P. Griffin was losing to Democrat Carl Levin. Fate of state proposals, plus other state and local races, will not be known until Wednesday morning.

Seek New Fire Truck at East Tawas

Authorization to develop specifications for a new pumper unit was given to the East Tawas Fire Department Monday night by the city council.

Fire Chief William Look Jr. told the council that a 19-year-old pumper serving the department should be replaced. He indicated that the new pumper would include equipment for foam, additional water capacity and automatic transmission.

After preparing specifications for the new unit, Look is to meet with the council's finance committee.

In other business, Clerk Clyde Soper reported that he had begun circulation of petitions requesting for a vote on consolidation of the Tawas prior to establishment of a charter commission. Findings of the state boundary commission were reviewed at the meeting by Mayor Robert Bolen.

Approval was given to proceed with legal steps for a $125,000 bond issue to finance purchase of lake frontage at the former McKay property west of the city park. Funds provided by the bonds would also finance improvements to water and sewer service to the city park. If a petition signed by 10 percent of the registered electors is submitted within 45 days, the matter would go to a voter referendum.

Donald McClellan, president of Tawas REACT citizens band radio organization, was present at the meeting and asked the city to designate the month of November as REACT month. He said the local organization would be cooperating with state police in delivering emergency messages to deer hunters during the coming season.

Table Action on New Force Main Bonds

Action on adoption of a resolution authorizing publication of a notice of intent to issue $100,000 in sewer system revenue bonds was tabled Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

Members of the council stated they wished additional information concerning the actual project before formal action could be taken. Acting City Mgr. Rachel Sue McCready said the revenue bonds would finance cost of constructing a sewage force main from the Second Avenue lift station to the waste water treatment plant.

A general obligation bond issue of around $40,000 was approved several years ago by a vote of the people and could still be in effect, if that type of financing is desired. This project ran into numerous delays in obtaining a permit from the state and was resolved last summer through completion of a television survey of existing sewer mains to detect ground water infiltration.

While awaiting permission to proceed with the project, the cost has about doubled. Repayment of the revenue bonds would come through a sewer rate increase.

The sewer force main was deemed a necessity a number of years ago to correct overloading at the Second Avenue lift station.

ANNUAL Tawas Perchville USA buttons went on sale Monday at local business places. Purchasing the first button from Daniel Brewer, left, is David O'Farrell, president of Tawas Area Promotions. Brewer is chairman of the button committee for the Huron Shore Jaycees. A button is the only admission cost to the Perchville USA program to be held February 2, 3 and 4 at East Tawas. First prize of an all-expense-paid trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, will be made during the festival. Business places not having buttons for sale may telephone 362-4048 for delivery.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas City Rents Graystone to Tawas Bay Arts Council

Rental of the Graystone building east of the Tawas River mouth to Tawas Bay Arts Council was approved Monday night by the Tawas City Council.

This field stone building, originally constructed in the mid-1930s for a tavern and later used for a gasoline service station and bait shop, was included in the recent purchase of additional property at the mouth of the Tawas River for recreational and harbor use.

The city council has sought a tenant for the building at a rental rate of $200 per month plus utilities.

Joan Blust, president of Tawas Bay Arts Council, appeared at Monday night's council meeting and said the organization was interested in renting the building.

The arts council presently shares quarters with the Iosco County Historical Society Museum in the former L. G. McKay residence at East Tawas. Mrs. Blust said that both organizations lacked space at that location and said the arts council for rent at the museum building.

The City of East Tawas presently allocates $50 a month to the arts council for rental at the museum and has indicated it would continue its allocation at the Graystone site. The City of Tawas City presently pays $37.50 monthly toward the museum building.

The Tawas City Council is to raise its contribution to $50 per month and the arts council will pay the remaining monthly charge of $100, plus utilities, at the new location.

In addition, the city is to reglaze windows of the building and inspect the fireplace.

Mrs. Blust said the move to the new quarters could be made in about a week and that members were extremely pleased with the desirable location.

It was noted that the city would save approximately $550 annually in insurance premiums by having the building rented and occupied.

In other business, a report from the water board indicated that water meters would be provided to all customers outside the city limits for installation at the property owners' expense. The meters are to be installed within 30 days.

A bid from Peoples State Bank to provide tax anticipation notes in the amount of $48,000 for the purchase of the Graystone property was accepted. Peoples State Bank submitted the low bid of a 4.98 percent interest rate. A second bid was received from Oscoda State Savings Bank of 5.80 percent interest.

The acting city manager reported that it was permissible to contract for a licensed sewage plant operator. Since resignation of the former city manager, Reginald Buttlitz, the city is without a certified sewage plant operator. Under terms of state law, a licensed operator is required and the city is to contact the City of East Tawas to determine if an arrangement can be made to provide this service by its licensed operator.

A report from the city attorney indicated that property recently purchased from the Hughes family in Tawas Township had been annexed to the city and was now included within the city boundaries.

Under provisions of the city charter, RA residential zoning applies to the property annexed and the matter was referred to the planning commission to take appropriate steps to provide proper zoning.

The acting city manager reported that nine applications had been received for the position of city manager. She said that additional applications were expected since appearance of a notice in Friday's issue of the Michigan Municipal Review.

The acting city manager was appointed by the council to serve as the zoning administrator.

Minutes of the October 9 meeting appointing Mrs. McCready as acting city manager were approved on a four to two roll call vote. Voting in favor were Coun. James Lansky, Donald Hayes, Jerry Cotter and Hugo Keiser. Voting in opposition were Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert Rollin.

A report from the acting city manager indicated that architectural fees for preparing plans for the proposed city hall complex would be approximately $3,500. She said that no bills had been submitted for attorney fees as yet, which would be included in the bond issue should the proposal be approved Tuesday by voters.

Councilman Rollin asked the council to prepare a lease for city rental of his building to house the library and fire hall. Other councilmen were of the opinion that it was the property owner's responsibility to prepare the lease and present it for consideration of the council. Rollin said if the city desired to lease his building, the acting city manager could make arrangements at his office.

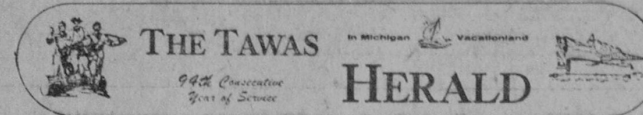

The acting city manager reported that the river mouth had been dredged recently and that launch ramp fees received by the city would cover the cost of all dredging this year.

The acting city manager reported that cleanup days are held each spring and fall and that refuse placed along the streets at other times would not be picked up by the city crew.

A certificate extending thanks to Walter Moeller for his many years of volunteer labor in maintaining the baseball field is to be made by the city.

A hearing was established for the November 20 meeting to consider an industrial district for Baylock Manufacturing Company at 620 Ninth Avenue. Under terms of a state act, a tax exemption on new construction would be provided for a period of 12 years, similar to five other districts established by the city council.

The Morning After...

Michigan voters who struggled with yesterday's long propositions ballot should know that this state is one of only 22 in the union which provides for a voter referendum on constitutional proposals.

that legislative action would have raised the legal drinking age to 19 years effective December 3. A constitutional amendment voted upon by the people yesterday would raise the drinking age to 21 years.

TODAYS Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

(Read 2 Corinthians 5:17-21) "When anyone is joined to Christ, he is a new being; the old is gone, the new has come." (2 Corinthians 5:17 TEV)

God made a promise to His children in the Old Testament Book of Joel. He said, "I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten."

I did not understand the meaning of this promise until the Lord untangled the mess in my own life. I now realize that God is able not only to work in the present and in the future but is also able to work in the past! He can restore wasted years.

In our lives, God can do major surgery—cutting out the wasted past and sewing up our lives in such a way that at last even the scars are healed. Because of Calvary and Christ's atonement, God is able to throw all our sins and wasted years into a bottomless lake, to be remembered no more. He even puts up a sign that reads, NO FISHING!

Just as Paul, the apostle, wrote, we can forget those things which are behind and reach forth. We can "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

PRAYER Our heavenly Father, we thank You for the blood of Jesus, which redeems us from our wasted past. Use us now for Your glory and honor. In Jesus' precious name. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY Christ breaks the power of canceled sin.—Jeannie C. Riley (Franklin, Tennessee)

Missionary to Africa Slated as Speaker

The Rev. John E. Rumohr, American Baptist Missionary in the African nation of Zaire, will speak after the 6:00 p. m. pot-luck dinner at First Baptist Church, Tawas City, Sunday, November 12.

Along with his wife, Trissie, and five children, he has served in Zaire since 1956. Presently, the Rumohrs are engaged in evangelistic work centered in Vanga, an area in which there are over 40,000 Christians.

Five sites have been chosen in the Vanga field and on each, a church or center for work has been created, airstrips constructed and village health ministries have been organized. Rumohr is a licensed pilot who has been serving the field for many years with a plane provided by American Baptists of Michigan.

On a regular basis, the flying missionary, with his team, is able to visit the centers along with a pastor, a school principal and a nurse—all Zairians. They hold meetings, distribute tracts, treat the sick and teach village health programs. Since he has been there with his plane, the ministries of the Vanga station have been greatly expanded.

Prior to their present assignment to the Vanga field, the Rumohrs served at Kenje, Kinshasa and Kikongo where they were engaged, first in primary school work and then in youth work. During their first term of service, they were evacuated, along with other missionaries, because of political unrest.

The Rev. Charles Cering Jr., associate minister of the Hopevale Baptist Church of Saginaw, will be the speaker at the 11:00 a. m. church service.

Sidewalk Ordinance Adopted by Council

Tawas City's new sidewalk ordinance was adopted unanimously after its third reading Monday night.

The ordinance provides that the city will pay 75 cents per square foot as a participation with property owners in replacement or construction of new sidewalks. The above rate is to be effective until 1980 and would be re-evaluated in April 1981.

Mayor Herbert Cholger believed that consideration should be given to property owners where trees in the city street right-of-way had damaged sidewalks.

Coun. Jerry Cotter said that it had been suggested to give consideration to owners of corner lots. In cases of sewer assessments, the owner of a corner lot pays a sewer charge on only one side of the property. He pointed out, however, that this was due to the fact that only one sewer connection is made per lot and doubted if the sewer assessment policy should apply to sidewalk construction.

Coun. James Lansky expressed the opinion that the city was paying a fair share for sidewalk construction at 75 cents per square foot.

Coun. Hugo Keiser said that there was nothing in the ordinance to force a property owner to construct a sidewalk where one was not in existence, but pointed out that a letter had been received concerning an unsafe existing sidewalk. He said the city and the property owner had been put on notice of the unsafe condition and, unless corrected, both the city and the property owner could be negligent. He said the new ordinance places the burden both on the property owner and the city to provide a safe sidewalk.

Discussion on a sidewalk ordinance was renewed last summer through a letter from Mrs. Rachel Sue McCready, acting as a private citizen, who complained of an unsafe sidewalk leading from the Whittemore Street bridge to Lake Street.

Harold Moeller, property owner, pointed out that the sidewalk along his building had been damaged by city trucks in the past and believed the city should bear the cost of replacement.

On recommendation of the water board and city attorney, the council denied a claim from Peter Popp for flood damage to his house caused by the city sanitary sewer. Voting not to honor a $354 bill submitted by Popp were Coun. James Lansky, Donald Hayes, Jerry Cotter and Hugo Keiser. Voting in favor of the bill were Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert Rollin. Coun. Charles Landon was absent.

Acting City Manager McCready said that the city attorney had advised that the bill not be paid without a court order as it could set precedence for future claims. She said the city's liability insurance would not assume liability under such circumstances.

On October 4, a pump at the Bay Drive lift station became inoperative when it became entangled with a piece of cloth flushed into the sewer system. Popp's residence is located on the end of the line and sewage backed into his house. He said he planned to take legal steps to force the city to pay the damage bill.

Mayor Cholger expressed the opinion that each case of this sort should be handled on its own merits, rather than for the city to deny all claims.

The council adopted a formal

He was a member of Peace United Church of Christ of Detroit and a long-time member of the Progressive Artists' Club. He gained prominence through the years and staged several one-man art shows throughout the nation. He sold his work through the Detroit Artists' Market.

Surviving are two children, Henry T. of Mt. Clemens and Mrs. Mildred Champion of East Tawas; eight grandchildren, and 11 great grandchildren.

Clemens, officiating. Burial was in Clinton Grove Cemetery. Memorials may be designated to Peace United Church of Christ.

policy requiring installation of water and sewer lines before street grading work is completed when a new street is opened. Voting in favor were Councilmen Lansky, Keiser, Cotter and Hayes. Opposed were Mayor Cholger and Rollin.

Braves Won, 20-12, Over Saginaw P&P for 8-1 Record

Tawas Area Braves had to turn in one of its best games of the season Friday night to turn back the visiting Saginaw St. Peter and Paul Crusaders. The Braves scored three touchdowns to defeat the visitors, 20-12.

After a scoreless first period, End Gary Birkenbach blocked a Saginaw punt on the Crusaders' 17-yard line. From that point, Tawas marched to a first down and Bill King scored on a beautifully executed quarterback option play. King booted the conversion and Tawas held a 7-0 lead.

Tawas scored again before the half when Jim Gracik intercepted a Saginaw pass and returned the ball to Saginaw's 37. Bryant Wilke, King and Gracik pounded the Saginaw defense in four plays to pick up a first down and Gracik moved to the 10-yard line. King then passed to Birkenbach for a touchdown, but the try for extra point was missed.

Tawas' defense combined to stop the hard rushing of Halfback Vic Rutterbush of Saginaw, whose defensive play was devastating to the Braves in the first half. Rutterbush dropped Halfback John Bouchard on the first play of the game and the Tawas halfback was out for the night.

Saginaw penetrated to the 27-yard line and, with two yards to go for a first down, Scott Tousley recovered a fumble to stop one Crusader drive.

Saginaw's Paul Harden began to find the passing range early in the fourth quarter and he connected on a long one to End Jeff Kuebler to cut Tawas' lead to 14-6. The try for a two-point conversion was stopped by the Tawas defense.

The Braves were again stopped by the Saginaw defense and the Crusaders penetrated Tawas territory, only to have excellent defensive play turned in by Tawas. Gracik and Tousley each broke up pass plays to end the threat.

With one minute, 16 seconds to go in the game, King passed to Birkenbach and the Tawas end ran 63 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown. The try for point after touchdown was missed and Tawas held a 20-6 lead.

Saginaw came right back to march into Tawas territory and a 15-yard penalty against the Braves put the ball on the Tawas 17. Harden passed to Kuebler with one second to go in the game to make the final score, 20-12.

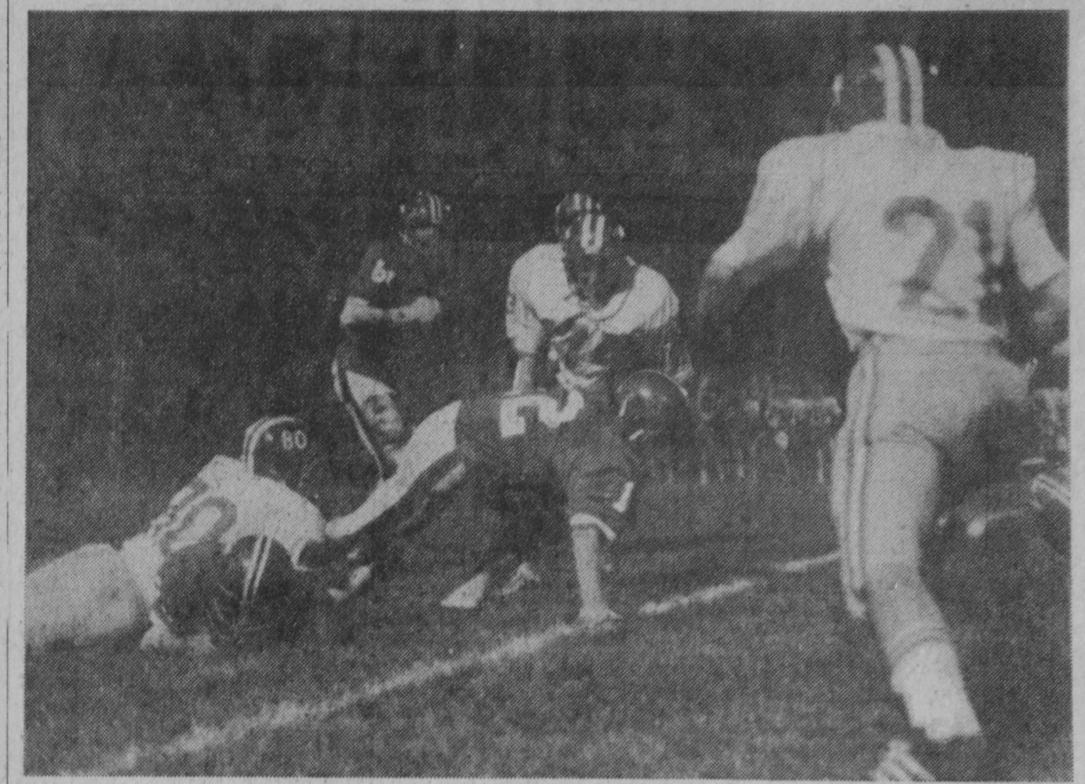

Junior Tackle Brian Norton was again the top Tawas defender with five solos and 11 assists. Gracik had five solos and five assists, followed by Tony Mayer's two solos and six assists. Hugh Hofacer was credited with five assists.

The Braves ended the season with an over-all record of eight wins and one loss, sharing the championship title with Pinconning in the Northeastern Michigan League.

Parents of the varsity squad, managers, cheer leaders and families of the coaching staff were honored in pregame ceremonies.

Tawas Area High School Marching Band made its final appearance of the season with an outstanding performance. Playing their last football game for the Braves were the following seniors: King, Bouchard, Tousley, Phil Linzey, Pete Wood, Bill Gracik, Joe Cotter, Rick Metcalf, Jerry Lauwers, Brian Lutz, Mike Fisher, Lance Brooks, Donn Rakestraw, Jim Jurczyk, Greg Adamek, Joe Gartland, Birkenbach, Jeff Nichols and Mike Harsch.

The visitors scored 19 points in the first quarter, seven each in the second and third quarters and 14 points in the fourth quarter.

Hale had only 100 yards rushing and 50 yards passing. Daryn Bernard was the leading rusher with 51 yards in nine carries. He also had 35 yards with four pass catches.

Leading defender was Dean Penrod with nine tackles, followed by Gary Wood's eight tackles and six assists. Mark Turnbull had seven tackles and a fumble recovery, while Todd Peters, David Young, Wally Millard, Joe Bannister and Randy Louks each had six tackles.

The Eagles ended the season with one victory and eight losses.

Junior Braves Posted Fourth Win Thursday

Tawas Junior Braves registered a 44-6 victory Thursday over Alcona. Don Brannan scored four touchdowns for Tawas on runs of 14, one, four and 51 yards.

Other scores came on a 55-yard pass to Jon Erickson from Jay Grabow, a 20-yard run by Andre LaPalme and Mike Gotcher recovered a fumble in the end zone. One extra point came on a pass from Grabow to Bob Hester.

Jeff Wojahn played an outstanding game on both offense and defense.

The team had a season record of four wins, three losses and a tie.

Cards Undefeated in Non-NEM Play

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals finished with an undefeated season in nonconference play, winning over Caseville, 21-16, in Saturday's season ending game.

The Cards had an over-all record of four wins and five losses, losing all games in the Northeastern Michigan Conference.

Tom Donaghy scored the first Card touchdown with eight minutes, 32 seconds gone in the first quarter when he scampered 12 yards. The extra point from placement was kicked by Larry Snyder.

The second Cardinal touchdown came in the second quarter when Ken Turner punched his way into the end zone from one yard out. The try for extra point was no good.

Todd Horn, a prime candidate for all-conference honors, scored the third touchdown with six minutes, six seconds gone in the third quarter when he went one yard. A two-point conversion was scored by Donaghy.

Dan Fitzpatrick put Caseville on the score board in the fourth quarter when he caught a one-yard pass and he caught a second pass in the quarter good for an 18-yard touchdown, plus a two-point conversion.

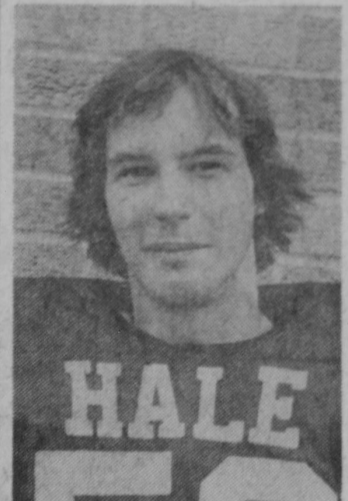

Donaghy led the Cardinal offense with 157 yards in 24 carries and had 1,088 yards for the season, the first Cardinal halfback to collect more than 1,000 yards rushing since 1972.

Horn completed five of 11 passes for 97 yards and was the standout on defense with eight solo tackles and six assists.

Don May was the leading tackler with 12 solos and four assists.

PROSPECTS point to another big deer kill when Michigan fire-arm deer season blasts off November 15. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources believes there are more than 1,000,000 deer in the state today, but only around 140,000 whitetails are taken during the season. Scenes like the one above will be repeated in wooded areas of this region on opening day when the kill is dragged back to camp. Even weather conditions noted in the above picture—there is no snow on the ground—may be repeated this year, judging from the beautiful fall weather.

Iosco Included in Reg. Water Quality Plan

Iosco was one of 14 counties of East Central Michigan formally certified for inclusion in a $1,090,000 water quality management plan to abate water pollution.

East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region executive director, David W. Gay, made the announcement after receiving a copy of Gov. William G. Milliken's certification.

The plan, developed by the East Central Region staff, local elected officials and residents, identifies 19 categories of water pollution and those categories of water pollution that need to be controlled in each watershed of the region.

According to James Sygo, water quality management program planner, the plan was developed to assist local units of government throughout the region in meeting federal and state water pollution requirements.

The plan will now be sent to the United States Environmental Protection Agency for approval. Formal EPA approval is expected by late January or early February.

In a new project, Trio Council on Aging, which encompasses Iosco, Ogemaw and Roscommon Counties, will soon be providing photo identification cards to persons 60 and older. The cards, which will be available this fall, will serve a dual purpose: As a form of identification and to allow card holders to take advantage of senior citizen discounts offered by businesses in the three counties.

As a part of this cooperative effort, senior citizen volunteers will be trained to solicit merchants who wish to provide senior citizen discounts. Once enrolled, participating businesses will be listed in a county directory, which will then be distributed to each card holder. Merchants will also receive a window sticker which identifies them as giving these discounts.

For further information, contact Trio Council on Aging in West Branch. The phone number is (517) 345-3010.

CITIZEN-PEACE OFFICER

TOWN MARSHAL

THE TOWN MARSHAL or constable provided the major law enforcement for Iosco County communities during much of its history. The county sheriff's department was a one or two-man operation until about 20 years ago and the town marshal was responsible for enforcing local ordinances as well as acting as a peace officer. The first town marshal for the City of AuSable was Patrick Murphy, pictured at top left, and at right is John F. Moran, East Tawas marshal, who later became county sheriff.

Changes in Michigan's constitution and revision of state statutes over the years to modernize state and local governmental structures have eliminated at least two elective or appointed part-time positions which once served as law enforcement and judicial arms in rural areas.

The old justice of the peace system, which had a long and often controversial history, gave way to the district court system; the village or city marshal, an appointive officer, has been replaced by the city police chief, who commands a force of trained and state-certified officers.

Only the township constable remains as the last citizen "police officer," but much of his powers have been stripped by state certification requirements and his duties today consist mainly of monthly inspection of tavern licenses and attending township board meetings.

The marshal had a long and colorful history as a peace officer in small town rural America. Here in Iosco County, the exploits of village marshals did not match the heroics of similar officers in the Far West, but they provided an essential and useful service when called upon.

Duties of the village marshal in the Tawas, prior to the advent of the automobile, consisted mainly of enforcing local ordinances (including the prohibition of spitting tobacco juice on sidewalks, etc.), keeping a watchful eye to quell possible disturbances on busy Saturday nights, assisting the sheriff when called upon and enforcement of the town curfew.

The latter duty probably was the most important of all, for parents and town fathers relied on the marshal to make sure that youngsters were in their own yards when the curfew bell rang each summer evening at 8 o'clock.

The old curfew ordinance is still on the books, but has not been enforced in Tawas City for more than one-half century. About 15 years ago, the city council considered enforcement of the ordinance during a period of deviltry by youngsters, but the council had second thoughts about the proposal and dismissed the idea when it was determined that there were not enough police officers available to effectively enforce the ordinance.

Around the turn of the century, the enforcer of the curfew in Tawas City was Marshal Thomas McGill. This man, oldsters now recall, had a peculiar way of walking—the weight of his body was heavily placed first on each heel and then the ball of each foot would strike the ground with a slap.

EPHRAIM ASH was a town marshal at East Tawas for many years. Old-timers recall that his one "bad eye" could burn a hole through any wrongdoer. He also served as a fire warden before plains land of Iosco County was set off as the Huron National Forest. This picture was enlarged from a family group glass plate negative snapped by A. G. Emery around 1904.

As a result, McGill's feet served as a "curfew bell" as he clumped along Tawas City's board sidewalks. When youngsters heard McGill's unique footsteps resounding on the pine planks, they knew the fire bell in the old city hall next to the Mathews Street bridge would soon begin to peal.

Fleet-footed youngsters of the Tawas delighted in trying to avoid the marshal at curfew time—in Tawas City, the marshals were McGill, Frank Miller, Joseph Win-bound youngsters in line. In those days before indoor plumbing, each business establishment and dwelling in town had an essential outbuilding which was an inviting target for Halloween pranks. Many an outdoor toilet was tipped off its foundation each year on the night of October 31, followed by much gnashing of teeth the next morning by owners.

First constables in Tawas Township and later in Tawas City were George C. Beach, Charles H. Whittemore, John McCullum, Robert Campbell, 1857; Christopher C. Smith, Adelbert S. Larabe, William Ramage, 1883.

Local editors, too, added their comments and this from the 1881 issue of the old Iosco County Gazette is typical:

In Baldwin Township, later East Tawas, the first peace officers were John Britz and Jesse Ingamalls; in AuSable Township, the first constables were James Hanlon, M. Murphy, E. Hough and F. Wilson, followed by Marshal Patrick Murphy, when AuSable became a village in 1872. "Hub" VanAustin was a marshal at Whittemore in the 1930s.

"Halloween — Monday night was the eve or vigil of All Hallows, or festival of All Saints, Halloween being the name popularly given. In England, it was long customary to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water and perform other fireside revelries. While the same could be said for Scotland, the Halloween ceremonies of that country partook more of a superstitious character; among rustics taking the form of a charm to discover who should be his partner for life."

Youngsters took great delight in playing tricks on the town marshal—drenching him with pails of water from roof tops as the officer made his rounds below, or nailing an old coin purse or wallet to the board sidewalk.

"In this section, however, some one—or few—seem to have lost all traces of ancient customs and, while they do not forget the annual occurrence of the day, their customary practices of celebrating it are not at all similar to y olden times. Their delight seems to exist in criminal acts—such as removing and concealing gates, signs, steps from store fronts, separating wagons and secreting them, removing horses from their stables, overturning horse blocks and various other deeds which result many times very detrimentally to owners and business generally."

Rarely was the town marshal ever called upon to quell a disturbance at a local saloon—the bartender of those days had to be the toughest man in town and settled all disputes with his own fists. Local editors, however, were quite critical of town marshals for not stopping fights which often erupted in the streets in front of saloons—in most instances, the marshal would join the spectators and watch the combatants, stepping in only when an ear or finger was bitten off in the scuffle.

Halloween always proved to be a busy night for the town marshal and the governing body of the village usually appointed several assistants to help him keep deviltry-

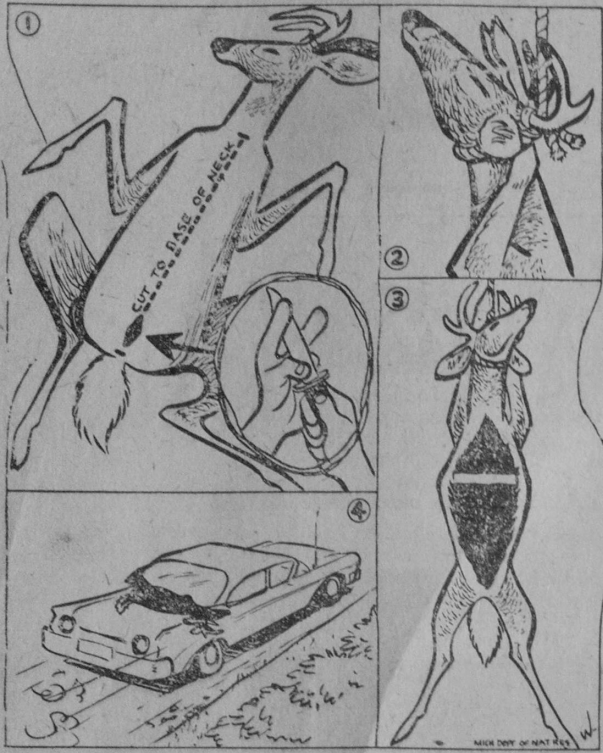

MATTHEW PFEIFFER, a long-time employee of the City of Tawas City, served as town marshal for a number of years. He had an intuitive sense concerning the handling of Halloween pranks, which can be attested to by numerous middle-aged residents of the community. Pfeiffer was also the WPA recreational director here during the late 1930s. As city foreman, he was checking a lift pump when this picture was snapped.

Time has made many changes in the observance of Halloween, particularly with respect to the vulnerability of the peculiar out-

Saving That Deer for Dinner

Good cleaning and rapid cooling are two "musts" in preparing a freshly-killed deer for the tenderest, tastiest results. Let's suppose you've just bagged your first white-tail. What now? Assuming your deer is dead, first put your rifle back on "SAFE" and attach the validation tag to the animal. Cut open the entire body cavity, moving from between the hind legs almost to the base of the neck (1). Insert the knife with the cutting edge UP and use your first and second fingers to hold the skin and muscles UP away from the innards. Next, remove the innards, working down from the neck to the tail. Turn the deer belly down and let it drain. Afterwards, tie the fore legs between the antlers or beside the head (2) so it will be easier to drag the deer to camp. In camp, prop the carcass open (3) and protect it from sun, rain, and flies in warm weather. If the weather is warmish (above 55 degrees), head for a locker plant or your home freezer. For the trip home, carry the carcass atop your car or across the trunk (4). Many a venison dinner has been overheated and spoiled on the front fender of a car.

Parent - Teacher Conferences at TA Today - Thursday

Annual parent-teacher conferences are to be held Wednesday and Thursday at Tawas Area Schools.
 Prin. John Alexander reports that students are to be dismissed at 11:45 a. m. each day. No lunches will be served those days to junior and senior high school students, but cafeterias will operate at the two elementary units.
 Conferences between teachers and parents on Wednesday are to be held from 12:30 until 3:30 p. m. in all buildings. On Thursday, hours for conferences are from 12:30 until 3:30 p. m. at elementary units and from 6:00 to 9:00 p. m. at the junior and senior high school. Alexander said the evening conference Thursday was adopted so as to give fathers and working mothers the opportunity to meet with teachers.
 Monday was the start of a new marking period. Report cards for junior high school and elementary students are to be available for the conference days. Report cards for high school students will not be back from the computer center, although grades will be known and available to parents.

SEASON'S IN ...
Hunters,
WELCOME!

ALWAYS AIM FOR SAFETY-FIRST DURING THE HUNTING SEASON!

We hope your hunting trip will be successful and enjoyable ... be careful on the road and in the woods. Hunting should be good this year ... We wish you the best!

SAFETY FIRST — On the Highways and in the woods.

FOLLOW THESE HUNTING SAFETY RULES:

1. Treat every gun, loaded or unloaded, with due respect when handling, transporting or storing.
2. Always be sure that action and barrel are clear of obstructions, and that ammunition of the proper size is being used.
3. Always keep chamber empty or on safety until you are ready to shoot.
4. Be sure of your target before you fire; acquaint yourself with your intended game's features.
5. Don't climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; keep muzzle pointed away from yourself and others, and pointed up in the air.
6. Drink and live ammo don't mix, avoid alcoholic beverages before and during the hunt.
7. Pre-plan your hunting agenda and area movements so that you and your companions are not in each other's line of fire.
8. Never target practice without proper backstop; never shoot a flat surface or water's surface, as bullets can ricochet.
9. Wear the prescribed safety hunting color for your area; make sure the color covers not less than 50% of your body.
10. Respect all posted property; do not hunt private land without permission.
11. Guns should always be unloaded when not in use.
12. Keep guns and ammunition away from the reach of small children and careless adults.

REMEMBER: Don't take long or difficult shots; you will only miss and spook the game in your vicinity. Do take an extra second or two before squeezing the trigger. Successful hunters will aim or concentrate on one vital spot on the animal. (They will not fire blank at the whole target.)
 Follow the above rules and suggestions and your hunt will be a safe and successful one.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT TURKEY

We're getting into turkey season so clip these questions and answers for reference during the holiday season.

Question: What forms of turkey are available at the retail meat counter or frozen food case?

Answer: Turkey is now available as whole fresh, whole frozen, whole self-basting, whole frozen pre-stuffed, raw roast - boneless, cooked turkey rolls-boneless and in cut-up parts. Turkey steaks and cutlets are found in some markets with diced and even ground turkey appearing and gaining in popularity.

Question: How should fresh frozen turkeys be thawed without worrying about spoilage?

Answer: Fresh frozen turkeys may be thawed satisfactorily by: Placing the bird (still in the original wrap) on a tray in the refrigerator. The bird will thaw in one to three days, depending upon the size of the turkey. If the bird is unwrapped but covered lightly, it will thaw in slightly less time—18 to 48 hours. However, some drying can be expected. Remove giblets as soon as possible, wrap loosely and store separately. Or by placing the bird, still in its original sealed body wrap, under cold running water. Small birds will thaw in two to four hours; large birds in six to seven hours. Note: Thawing the bird at room temperature is not generally recommended.

Question: How should leftovers be handled?

Answer: As soon as possible, remove the dressing from the turkey, cover or wrap and refrigerate. Remove remaining turkey from the bones, chill, cover or wrap and refrigerate.

Leftovers should be used in two or three days if not frozen. When ready to reuse gravies and broths, reheat to rapid boiling before serving.

Question: Is there any research on the safety of stuffed birds cooked at lower temperatures?

Answer: Yes. Stuffed and unstuffed birds were compared when cooked at three temperatures—200 degrees Fahrenheit, 325 degrees Fahrenheit and 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Known amounts of bacteria were added. Turkey cooked to an internal meat temperature of 180 degrees Fahrenheit (thigh) in a 325 degree Fahrenheit oven came out ahead in flavor, tenderness, juiciness and yield, and rate of heat penetration and safety for both turkey and dressing.

Question: Is there anything wrong with pink colored meat, black bones or bloody bones?

Answer: Pink color is normal in meats cooked slowly in moist heat. Many normal seasonings will intensify the color. Meat can be completely cooked and still have a pale, pinkish appearance.

Darkened bones are one of the best indications of a young bird. As the bird gets older, the bones mature and there is less blood in the bone.

Question: Should turkeys be roasted breast up or down?

Answer: The recommended method is breast up, roasted at 325 degrees Fahrenheit and basted. The breast may be covered with a greased cloth or foil tent about the last hour of cooking to prevent excessive browning.

Question: Are hens more tender than toms?

Answer: No, not any more.

Question: What nutritional value does turkey offer?

Answer: Turkey meat supplies large percentages of many of the essential nutrients recommended for the daily diet. Turkey meat is especially valuable for the body-building proteins it provides at relatively low calorie levels. It is a complete protein of high nutritional value.

Turkey is also high in the B vitamins, niacin and riboflavin and low in fat. Turkey ranks high for calcium and other necessary minerals.

Question: What kind of turkey should be bought?

Answer: When buying a turkey ask these questions: How many servings are needed? Are leftovers desired? How much time is needed to prepare the turkey? In what form is it to be served? If leftovers are not desired or preparation time is limited, then a pre-cooked turkey roll or roast or a small raw boneless roast may be what is wanted. These forms have reduced preparation time and better portion control than whole turkeys.

Influenza A Deadly During Past 10 Years

Between 1968 and 1978, there were 150,000 excess deaths estimated to have occurred during epidemics of influenza A in the United States. Presumably, then these deaths can mostly be attributed to influenza A infection. Almost 100 percent of these deaths were among high risk groups, both young and old, and those over 65. The swine flu vaccination program fiasco must not prevent these groups from being protected against influenza.

The swine flu vaccination campaign failed for two reasons: First, the epidemic that was predicted never took place (although we may have prevented it, but we will never know for sure); second, for the first time, Guillain-Barre syndrome (paralysis following inoculation) was recognized as being associated with influenza vaccination. This occurred five-six times higher in vaccinated persons but still only at a rate of one case per 100,000 persons inoculated. Of these, only five percent known with any certainty that other strains of vaccine can be implicated in Guillain-Barre syndrome.

The health department has made free influenza vaccine available to private physicians for administration at a nominal fee. It will also administer these inoculations free at its regular clinics and other clinics can be arranged for senior citizen groups. The vaccine available is over 80 percent effective against three strains of influenza. All those over 65 and those chronically ill over 26 are urged to secure this vaccination.

Iosco Red Cross Seeks Volunteers

Iosco County Chapter of the American Red Cross is looking for a few good volunteers to serve as case aides in the service to military families department.

Case aides will work with servicemen, veterans and their families, learn about community resources and assist Red Cross social workers.

The local chapter will provide a basic orientation and training program for volunteers. This opportunity is good experience for people who are interested in social work as a career or for anyone with a little time and empathy to spare.

Volunteers may choose their own hours and may work whichever day is most convenient for them. Interested persons are urged to call 739-7122 or 739-6726 between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m.

When You and I Were Young

THIS CARTOON published by The Tawas Herald in 1929 does not exaggerate problems caused by Halloween pranks of other eras. Youngsters of today are actually quite well behaved on buildings. In 1943, one of the last big Halloween "raids" saw more than 25 outhouses bite the dust in the Tawas Lake area, but the classic example of the type of law enforcement afforded by the town marshal occurred a year later.

Halloween night when compared to some of the "tricks" pulled by their elders. The town marshal and his "deputies" always had their hands full on the night of October 31.

That Halloween, several groups of Tawas City youngsters successfully eluded Marshal Matthew Pfeiffer most of the night. Before midnight, however, Pfeiffer and his aides apprehended the ring leader of one group and the youth, under questioning, revealed the names of everyone he had seen engaged in "pranks" that night.

The next morning, Pfeiffer appeared at the home of each youngster on his list and ordered parents to have their wayward sons to be at the courthouse to appear before the probate judge. At the appointed time, Probate Judge H. Read Smith delivered a stirring lecture to the youngsters concerning vandalism and wanton criminal acts, after which he ordered the youngsters to spend the rest of that Saturday repairing the damages under Pfeiffer's supervision.

Although not known as a lettered man, Pfeiffer had learned a great deal about child psychology as a town marshal. He had a truly inspirational thought and, after leading all the local "delinquents" on the back of the city truck, he stopped at the post office to pick up his mail.

The timing was perfect—every citizen of town who went to the post office that Saturday morning inquired as to the reason why the boys with hammers, saws and other tools were riding in the back of the city dump truck. The sheepish-looking boys on the truck had to withstand the ridicule of their elders, plus the taunts of friends, and most of them never again were responsible for creating havoc around town on Halloween night.

On a few occasions, the town marshal was called upon to provide service under unusual circumstances. For instance, Marshal John Moran, who later became sheriff, was on the scene at a multiple slaying at East Tawas and John Love, Plainfield Township constable, once staged a one-man roadblock on present-day M-65 after receiving a telephone call informing him that the bank at Whittemore had been robbed.

The automobile, which was responsible for so many changes in the everyday life of rural America, had much to do with changing the role of the town marshal. As the number of automobiles increased on the improved highways, the peace officer, too, had to be equipped with wheels. This resulted in a not-so-subtle change in the role of the town marshal and the office soon gave way to full time police officers.

This change was due mainly to the increased number of complaints about speeding automobiles and traffic accidents. The marshal's days were now numbered and, while other responsibilities of this officer were often delegated to city superintendents, full time police forces at the city, county and state levels were expanded.

The town marshal now is a forgotten officer and remembered now only by white-haired citizens, one of whom recalls that Saturday about 35 years ago when Marshal Pfeiffer demonstrated his knowledge of child psychology.

New Bids Being Taken on Removal of Old Tawas City Water Tank at City Hall

New bids on removal of the old water tank behind the city hall in Tawas City are to be received December 7 by the Iosco County Public Works Department.

This action was taken last Thursday following rejection of one bid received for the project.

The 41-year-old water tank has become surplus to the city's needs since completion of the 500,000-gallon water storage tank included in area expansion of water facilities. The old tank is no longer used in the expanded system.

In addition to asking for new bids, it was also suggested that attempts be made to learn if any firm is interested in purchasing the tank for $1 and then removing it for materials.

Removal of the tank is to be financed by the City of Tawas City through surplus funds remaining from the over-all water bonding project. Liability insurance requirements of the contractor would remain the same as under the original proposal.

In other business Thursday, the DPW tabled action on extension of a water main on Aulerich Road from the end of the present new main some 1,200 feet to the Iosco County Airport.

Harry Bacon of Edmands Engineering Company estimated the cost at approximately $37,000 and, while approximately $20,000 to $25,000 in funds might be provided by Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, Bacon doubted the necessity of providing water at the airport. He said that the Upper Great Lakes Commission, too, was not "overly enthusiastic" about the project.

It had been thought that extension of the water main would provide an additional safety factor at the airport, but it was pointed out that fire protection is furnished to Baldwin Township by the East Tawas Volunteer Fire Department, which is equipped with a 5,000-gallon tanker plus other equipment. It was revealed at the meeting that the DPW had been named a party defendant in the suit brought by subcontractors against GGL Construction Company, prime contractor for the water project. The subcontractors are attempting to collect $25,000 owed those firms by the contractor.

A special meeting of the DPW is to be held Thursday, 9:30 a. m., at the AuSable Township Hall.

Whittemore-Prescott Junior and Senior High School will hold the first bi-annual parent-teacher conferences Wednesday (today), November 8, from 7:00-9:30 p. m.

This year for the parents' convenience, conferences for both the junior and senior high students will take place in the gymnasium.

Parents will receive their child's grade cards for the first marking period at the door before entering the conference area. The change in the conference format is an attempt to encourage more parental visitations through the convenience of locating all teachers in one centrally located area.
