

Council Appoints Mrs. McCready Acting Manager

At a special meeting of the city council Monday morning, Rachel Sue McCready, city clerk, was appointed acting city manager until such time as a vacancy is filled.

Resignation of Reginald Bublitz, veteran city manager, is to become effective October 16. He has been an employee of the city for the past 24½ years, first as city superintendent and, since January 1, 1972, served as city manager.

Under terms of the city charter, the city council is required to appoint a city manager or acting manager during a period of vacancy in the office. Mrs. McCready is to be paid at the rate of $6 per hour until such time as a new city manager is hired.

The appointment is not contemplated as a full-time job, but the function of acting city manager will be responsibility for a smooth transition period. Mrs. McCready is to file required reports and keep council informed of city matters.

In addition to the above action, the council discussed qualifications and application procedure for prospective candidates for the position. The council authorized advertising in the Michigan Municipal League's magazine, along with a national publication.

Calling of the meeting was in accord with provisions of the city charter, which came upon petition of Councilmen Hugo Keiser, Jerry Cotter, James Lansky and Donald Hayes, all of whom were present meeting. Also present was Councilman Charles Landon.

Written notice was served on Mayor Herbert Cholger and Coun. Robert N. Rollin in accord with the charter and posted in accordance with provision of the Open Meetings Act. Neither the mayor or Councilman Rollin attended the meeting.

Councilmen present at the meeting requested an explanation why others given notice of the meeting were not present.

The city manager's resignation was read at the October 2 meeting of the council, although his leaving the position had been general public knowledge for the past two weeks. Bublitz is also the city's only certified sewer plant operator.

In accepting Bublitz's resignation with regrets last week, it was suggested that immediate action be taken to secure a successor. Preliminary discussion was held at that time on advertising for a replacement.

TA Bus Director Suggests Changes to School Board

Recommendations by David Westcott toward improving and economizing on bus transportation by Tawas Area Schools were taken under advisement Monday night by the board of education.

One of the first actions of the board was to appoint Trustee Robert Curry to head a committee to meet with Westcott and administrators to consider a long range program, to provide a secure bus parking area and maintenance garage.

Westcott said he had been unable to perform certain bus maintenance duties called for in his contract, particularly in lubrication and oil changes, due to the lack of time and absence of adequate facilities.

A specific number of hours worked is required under his contract and the transportation director is actually averaging 10 hours of work per day and is paid for eight hours. During winter months, he checks roads daily at 4:30 a. m. in order to make a decision if the bus fleet is to operate. On such days, he must either take a longer noon hour or take the afternoon off.

Westcott said that he had been paid for 177 hours of overtime last year when duties prevented him from taking time off.

Among recommendations of the transportation director was one which would see installation of radio communications in each bus. Westcott felt such communication with buses was necessary to improve safety. As an example, he said that when a bus transporting kindergarten pupils has a breakdown and stops along the road, the driver must remain with the children until a passing motorist stops. He said that instant communication by radio would remedy the problem.

Westcott said that state police inspectors had complimented the school for one of the best bus fleets in the state and he said this was due to the high caliber of drivers hired. The school bus fleet traveled 200,000 miles last year without an accident.

Another recommendation of Westcott was the purchase of a special strobe light system attached to each bus to penetrate fog. He said an experimental unit was being tried on one bus this year and, if effective, he would ask permission to install a unit on each bus.

Westcott recommended that the district study the purchase of 85-passenger buses, rather than the present 65-passenger vehicles, and believed that all new buses should be equipped with diesel engines as a move toward economizing on transportation costs.

During the past year, all bus routes have been revised and the total number of routes has dropped from 18 to 15. A new policy was adopted where all drivers are given the opportunity to share in extra runs and no driver has more than eight hours on the road.

During the past summer, three buses were painted and minor repairs were made. Thirty-nine trips were made for senior citizens and other groups. A new driver's manual was adopted for each member of that department.

Westcott reported that eight buses purchased in 1976 and 1977 were being repainted by the manufacturer. (See BOARD, page 2.)

Two Received Gunshot Wounds in Oscoda Twp.

Two accidental shootings, both in Oscoda Township, were reported over the week-end by area law enforcement agencies.

According to Iosco Sheriff's Department, Ronald Beverlin shot himself in the foot Saturday with a .410 gauge shotgun. The victim loaded the single shot weapon, cocked the hammer, pointed it at the ground and it accidentally discharged. He was struck in the left foot.

John Mucaria, St. Clair Shores, accidentally shot himself twice in the left leg Sunday when a semiautomatic .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged. He had removed the rifle from the trunk of his car, loaded four rounds and the weapon discharged into his left leg.

Both victims were treated at Tawas Hospital.

Oppose 14.9 Percent Salary Hikes

Iosco Board of Commissioners Gets Some Health Budget Cuts

Executive board of District Health Department No. 2 approved an eight percent salary increase for its employees at a meeting held Tuesday at the Iosco County Building in Tawas City.

Employees originally had requested an average 14.9 percent across-the-board increase in salaries, but after a review of the budget, Iosco County members opposed the proposal as being excessive.

The three local representatives favored and held out for a six percent salary increase and voted "no" on the final eight percent proposal. The vote ended in a tie when three representatives of the executive board favored the proposal.

The tie vote was broken by a "yes" vote cast by Harold Fletcher, chairman.

A prepared statement submitted to the executive committee stated that comparing fringe benefits paid to employees of other district health departments, "it is apparent that District Health Department No. 2 employees enjoy the best and most expensive fringe benefits package in Northern Michigan."

Local representatives said that "we cannot recommend approval of any request to increase the present cost of fringe benefits, particularly the requests for retirement at age 55 with no reduction in retirement benefits and full payment of family medical insurance after an employee retires."

The above fringe benefits were deleted from the final eight percent package.

"An analysis of present salary scales indicates that the hourly rates for many positions are the highest in comparable Northern Michigan health departments, or they are exceeded only by areas which are within commuting distances of the high wage areas—Saginaw, Midland, Bay City. The requested average 14.9 percent across-the-board increase in wages appears to be excessive.

"As representatives of the taxpayers, we do not believe that District Health Department No. 2 should be in the position of paying the highest wages in Northern Michigan or in competing with the high wage-high property tax communities in Lower Michigan."

Iosco Board of Commissioners also stated it was opposed to granting a general across-the-board increase to all employees. "It appears, from the inequities shown in the salary survey, that each position must be considered individually and adjusted accordingly," stated this county's position paper.

"Since the compensatory schedule is more than competitive, we believe that the total increases in salaries should not exceed six percent ($16,038). If a higher increase is to be considered, it is recommended that the hours worked per week be increased from 35 to the more prevalent 37½ hours per week."

Representatives of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners indicated that this county's appropriation to District Health Department No. 2 would not exceed $88,000 during 1979.

Spots Burglars at Schaaf's Lumber Yard

Thieves made off with an undetermined amount of lumber Sunday at Schaaf Lumber Company, Baldwin Township.

An employee of the firm drove by the lumber yard and noticed that the hood of a pickup truck in the yard was open. He spotted several persons coming out of a shed carrying lumber and reported the matter to Michigan State Police at East Tawas.

Before police arrived, a car and trailer pulled out of the lumber yard and headed north. The area was searched but the thieves were not found.

Iosco Soil Conservation Tour Featured National 4-H Week

Iosco Soil Conservation Service's annual conservation tour was held Wednesday during National 4-H Week. Fifth and sixth graders of four area elementary schools participated.

Each school visited three farms: Beef, dairy and swine and a wood lot nature center, either the 40-acre soil conservation district center at Whittemore or the Tawas City arboretum.

Students participated from River Road Elementary School at Oscoda, Tawas City Elementary Unit, St. Joseph School and Hale Area Elementary School.

Nine different farms were involved in this county-wide tour. Included were the farms of Jack Rohn, Whittemore; Warren and Howard Britt, Whittemore; Donald Daniels, Whittemore; Russell Nelkie Jr., Tawas City; Harold Cholger, East Tawas; Franklin Bischoff, Baldwin Township; Harry Krueger, Wilber Township; Robert Curry, Tawas Township; Donald Huff, Tawas Township.

Each farmer, along with a resource speaker, conducted a tour of farms. Resource speakers for these farms included Susan Lambrecht, county extension director, Iosco County; Robert Rosenow, manager, Mackinac Land and Cattle Company, Whittemore; Rueben Kaarre, county extension director, Ogemaw County; Michael Fisher, soil conservation service, Arenac County; George Byelich, Alcona County; Kenneth Kernstock, extension agricultural agent, Iosco County; Russell Howes, county extension director, Arenac County; Frank Kapp, area 4-H youth agent, Iosco County; Robin Bell, 4-H program assistant, Iosco County.

Gregory Mund, Soil Conservation Service, planned the wood lot tour at the Soil Conservation District wood lot at Whittemore. Additional resource speakers were James Sturtevant, Soil Conservation District director, Iosco County; Homer Roberts, Hale; Henry Luitje, Hale; Frank Wilkuski, retired United States Forest Service employee, East Tawas.

The Tawas City arboretum wood lot stop was conducted by Thomas Jacques, city forester, Tawas City. Joseph Drocowski, United States Forest Service technician, was the additional forest resource speaker.

The tour began at 9:30 a. m. As students visited each farm, they were told about the animals, feeding and diseases, the farm facilities and the daily routines of the farmers and their families. The wood lot stops involved identifying the trees and forest growth, learning about the enemies of the forest, the wildlife and forest products. Students ate sack lunches at one of the tour stops. McDonald's Restaurant of Oscoda provided free milk for each youth.

Each year, the 4-H and Soil Conservation District sponsor this joint youth conservation program. The conservation tour is the beginning of the program. Later, each participating school receives resource materials and a list of films and speakers. The schools utilize this information in regular science curriculums.

In the spring, each student may participate in the conservation contest by making a poster, box display, research report or scrapbook.

School Plans Early Start in SPEDY Program for 1979

Success of last summer's SPEDY program, which saw the hiring of disadvantaged youths under the federal-state program to perform construction and maintenance work at three school buildings, is expected to be used again next year.

"The 1978 summer program was a rewarding program for all parties concerned," stated Lucky Kostko, building trades instructor.

Students received some experience in most areas of construction. Activities which resulted and centered around the Tawas City Elementary Unit and high school buildings provided a great learning experience for the students, said Kostko.

"The schools have also been rewarded with this program by improving the buildings and updating them for safe and economic use," stated the building trades instructor.

Work at the Tawas City unit included lowering of ceilings, installation of insulation and replacement of windows in three older classrooms. The students, working under Kostko's supervision, also constructed a concrete base for a new walk-in cooler and made minor changes in one room at the high school. Work at the East Tawas unit included window replacement, installation of lights and painting a fence.

Kostko said he felt the school had learned a great deal from problems which occurred and the results of efforts toward improving vocational training.

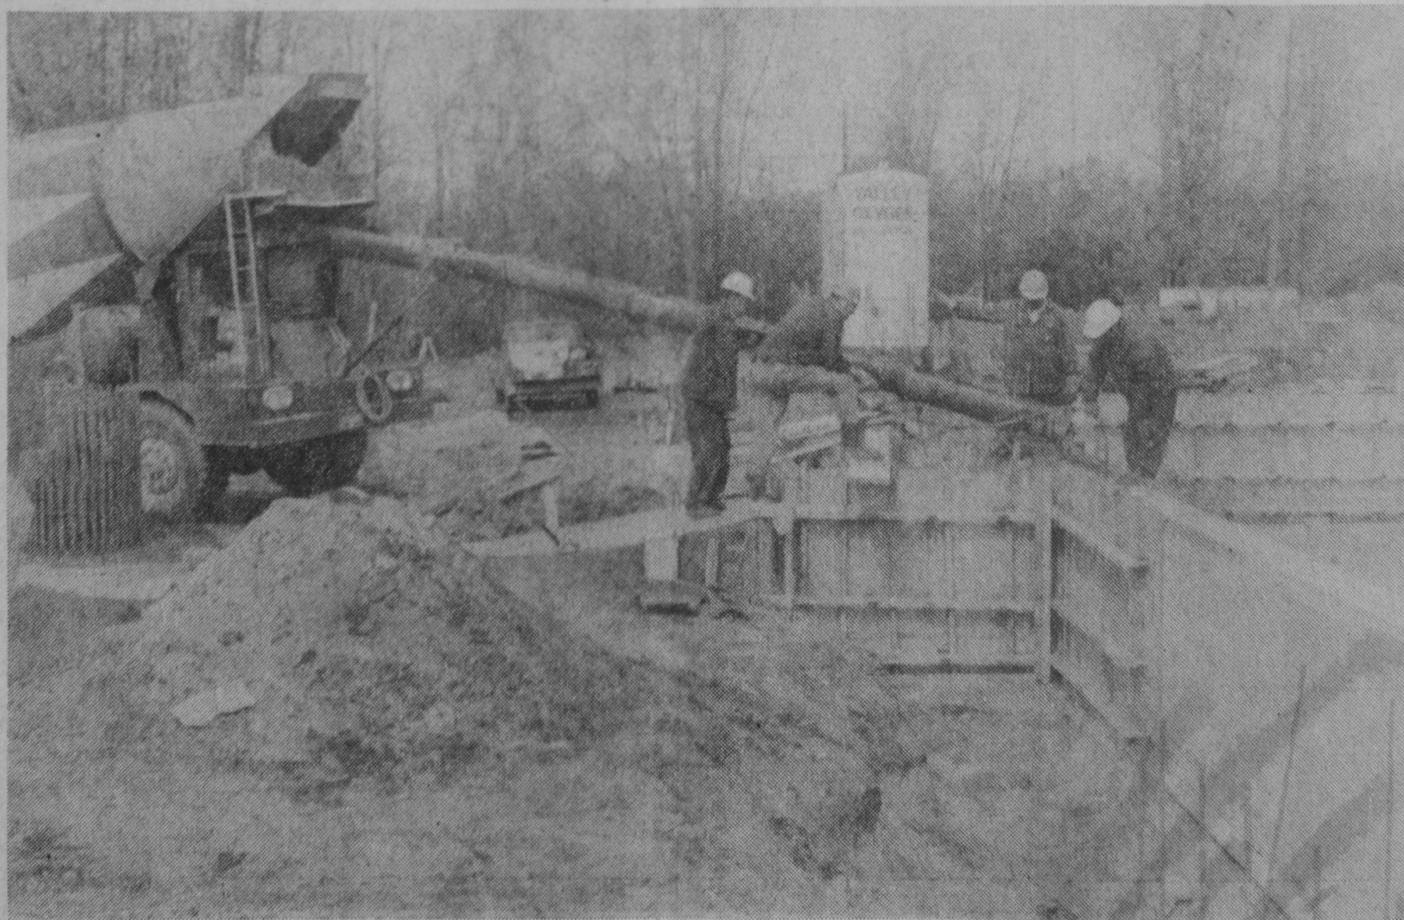

He believed that work under next year's program should be scheduled earlier in the spring with complete planning or blueprinting to be completed by May 1. He also recommended that materials be ordered as early as possible to avoid delay.

In addition, Kostko recommended that all students be located at one site, that not more than eight students be under direction of one supervisor, that transportation be provided if the job site changes, that a storage facility be provided for equipment and time be allowed each day for preparation of and ordering materials.

Labor for the program was financed through federal CETA funds and state vocational funds. James Russo, president of the board of education, stated the program had been beneficial to the district and to students and he complimented administrators.

REPORTS BIKE THEFT

PROGRESS on the two-million-dollar expansion program at Tawas Hospital is pictured above. Workers are pouring concrete for the addition on the west side of the building. The contractor

He said that delivery of 1978 buses had been delayed because of the lack of proper equipment to meet state or federal standards. He said the buses were now on the road. He proposed disposing of one 1972 bus and two 1973 models.

He believed that a five-year program could be developed to provide a paved parking area with security fence to protect buses against vandalism, along with a building for minor maintenance of buses. He believed considerable tax money could be saved through purchase of minor bus parts by the school, along with a new storage tank for purchase of gasoline in a larger bulk quantity.

Should Keep Accurate Employment Records

Employers must keep accurate records for social security purposes, a social security representative said recently.

The records required are the name and address of each employee, the social security number of each employee, the amount of wages paid each employee, and the employer identification number.

These are the records required by an employer to file the necessary reports. Employers are required to make summary reports of wages to the Internal Revenue Service after each quarter on Form 941, to submit a detailed report of wages to the Social Security Administration at the end of each year using Form W-2, and to supply each employee a statement of earnings after the end of the year on Form W-2.

The spokesperson gave these tips for employers:

- Copy each new employee's name and number as shown on his or her social security card when hired. Don't rely on the employee's memory. Also record the employee's home address.

- If the employee uses a different name than the one shown on the social security card, or if he or she later has a name change, instruct the employee to contact any social security office so that the social security records can be - changed.

- If an employee was issued a number but lost the card, he or she should contact any social security office to apply for a duplicate card.
- If an employee has never had a card or number, he or she should apply for one at any social security office.

Additional information about employers' responsibilities can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

Explain Social Security Farm Labor Coverage

This is the time of year that many area farmers are hiring summer or part-time workers, and they should know the rules concerning social security coverage, a social security spokesperson said recently.

It is important that farm employers keep the proper records and report their employees' earnings for social security purposes when they are covered. Employers should record their employees' name, address, social security number, wages paid, and their own employer identification number. This information is needed so that if reports are required, they can be made promptly and accurately.

If the workers' wages are covered, then social security taxes must be withheld. Whether or not the wages are covered depends on how the employee is paid.

If the employee is paid on a time basis—by the hour, day, week, or month—all of his or her wages are covered when the employee works on 20 or more days during the year.

If the employee is paid on the basis of piece work, all of his or her wages are covered if the employee is paid $150 or more in cash wages during the year.

Should the employer withhold social security tax from an employee's wages and then finds out that the wages are not covered because neither test is met, the social security tax should be refunded to the employee.

Wages covered by social security should be reported by the farm employer after the end of the year in which they were paid.

More information about coverage of agricultural labor can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

CONVERSION of an old school building west of Tawas City into a two-unit residential duplex has required much work and the project is still only partially completed, but results have been amazing. Upper Townline School, officially known as District No. 2 when constructed in 1912, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Penman. The building had been in a state of deterioration and was once used as a horse barn. Work on the project, under planning of the Penmans, has been carried out by Gary Warner. Partial drywall remodeling of the building by former owners had to be removed by Warner at the start of the project. Ceilings were lowered from 11 to eight feet, permitting construction of an upstairs bedroom at each end of the building. Six inches of insulation were installed on interior sidewalls and interior roof. Old windows which had extended nearly from the floor to the ceiling were removed and replaced with smaller openings. Warner is now finishing a two-bedroom apartment on the south end where he is living. A portion of the old hardwood floor has been restored in the bedroom and the apartment is carpeted throughout. He has also restored several pieces of antique furniture purchased from the local junkyard, including a new beautiful china cabinet with leaded glass doors, once a weather-beaten pile of wood. The second apartment on the north side of the building, which clearly shows the "before" and "after" look of this project, awaits remodeling. Warner is shown in the top photo with paint bucket in hand and the picture at lower left shows one corner of the completed apartment.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Field Narrows for New Music Director

Hale Area School has conducted preliminary screening of 22 applicants for a vacancy of director of the school's instrumental and vocal music department, according to a report Monday night to the board of education by Supt. Wayne Case.

Case told members that a number of the applicants were interested only in elementary grades while others were only interested in junior high school.

He said the field had been narrowed down at present to six bona fide applicants and administrators were now in the process of preliminary screening of those applicants.

The vacancy was caused by the recent resignation of Donald Milano. Donald Parrish of Oscoda has been hired as a substitute during the interim period.

In other business, the superintendent reported that some insulation was still to be installed in renovation of the elementary school.

Barbara Braun of Hale has been hired as special education and dropout coordinator.

Revised Septic Tank Plan Eyed at Hale Estates

A revised plan of septic tank construction was approved Wednesday by the district health appeals board for Hale Lake Estates, but final approval is still contingent on approval of health district sanitarians.

This subdivision was developed in its present form by Peoples State Bank of East Tawas, which sold 10-acre parcels around the lake after engineering was devised on a septic tank system.

The owner of four lots at the south end of the lake made application for a septic tank permit, which was denied by the health department sanitarian. A second sanitarian employed by the health department was of the opinion that an adequate septic tank system could be devised and the owner appealed the first ruling.

Seated on the appeals board are the chairman of the board of commissioners, the township supervisor involved and local members of the four-county health committee.

The matter was referred to the county's legal counsel to prepare a proper resolution and to study subdivision restrictions to determine if the suggested septic tank system would be permissible.

IOSCO COUNTY RESIDENTS are enjoying the gorgeous colors of the fall season and the area along Sand Lake Road, Grant Township, west through National City and past the Au Gres River in Burleigh Township is particularly beautiful. TAWAS BRAVES had trouble holding the football Friday night after some hard tackles by the opposing Pinconning Spartans. Bryant Wilke held on to the ball in the above play when the Braves penetrated deep into Pinconning territory early in the first quarter, but the drive ended on the five-yard line when Tawas lost the ball on a fumble, the first of five during the night. —Tawas Herald Photo.

TA Braves Stung, 13-0, by Spartans at Homecoming

Tawas missed two golden opportunities to score in the first half Friday night and the Pinconning Spartans' defense completely closed the doors on the Braves in the second half to spoil local homecoming activities.

The visiting Spartans ended any thoughts the Braves might have had for a second straight undefeated record with a 13-0 victory. The Braves had a perfect record in four clashes and now slips to two wins and one loss in conference play.

Judging from first quarter play, it just did not seem possible the final outcome would have Tawas shut out from the goal line.

The Braves threatened early in the first quarter and began to move with authority when Bill King completed a pass to End Jeff Nichols for a first down. Bryant Wilke, coupled with one nine-yard run by John Bouchard, moved the ball to Pinconning's 12 in five plays. Wilke charged through Pinconning's defense and was stopped on the five.

This set the stage for a disappointing play as the ball was fumbled on a quarterback option and Pinconning took over back on the 15.

Tawas again threatened to score when the Braves took a punt late in the first quarter and began to move again early in the second quarter. Wilke, Bouchard and King combined to move the ball to Pinconning's 16-yard line but Tawas then lost the ball on fourth down with the ball resting on the 12.

Pinconning caught Tawas' defense napping minutes later as Tailback Brian Picard took a hand-off from Quarterback Steve Edwards and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. Dennis VanHorn added the extra point and the Spartans held a 7-0 lead with seven minutes, 26 seconds remaining in the half.

The Braves made another bid to score shortly before the half, but Fegan intercepted King's pass on the 11-yard line to end that threat.

Tawas defense turned in a good game but it really was at a disadvantage when a bad snap from center sailed over the head of King, who was punting on fourth down. Pinconning took over the ball on Tawas' 24 and a personal foul charged to the Braves moved the ball to the nine. A 15-yard penalty against the Spartans put the ball back at the original position, where Tawas' defense again was napping when Edwards hit Fegan with a touchdown pass with two minutes, 22 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

After that, Pinconning's defense took charge of the game and recovered five Tawas fumbles during the game. Pinconning scooped up a loose ball with five minutes, 35 seconds left in the game and Tawas never got the ball again. Wilke paced the Braves with 66 yards in 15 carries and Bouchard had 58 yards in 18 attempts. Other Northeastern Michigan Conference games Friday night saw Ogemaw Heights defeating Gladwin, 7-6, and Standish-Sterling downed Whittemore-Prescott, 22-0. Tawas travels to Ogemaw Heights this Friday night for another big NEM encounter.

Cards Defeated by S-S Panthers

Whittemore - Prescott Cardinals lost their third straight game in the Northeastern Michigan Conference Friday night and are still looking for a couple of breaks to fall their way.

The Cardinals lost to the Standish-Sterling Panthers, 22-0, and the game was all but over in the first quarter after the Panthers scored their first touchdown.

The playing surface of the football field at Standish was damaged heavily by vandals this fall and recent rains turned it into a quagmire. Neither team could get a good offense rolling, although the Panthers proved to be better in the mud.

Bill Gulvas scored a pair of touchdowns while Bari Bell added a touchdown and two two-point conversions.

Tom Donaghy led the Cardinal offense with 61 yards in 12 carries and Todd Horn completed three of nine passes for 31 yards.

Roy Bridgeman and Ken Turner were the leading defenders with seven solo tackles each.

This Friday night the Cardinals play host to Gladwin during the annual homecoming game.

Cardinal Girls Lost Two Games Last Week

Whittemore-Prescott Area High School's girls basketball team lost a pair of games last week. Alcona walked off the floor with a 52-42 victory and Tawas Area turned back the W-P girls, 72-56.

Alcona jumped off to a 15-6 first quarter lead and outscored the Card girls in every quarter but the fourth. Kim Bonnell and Marilyn Moraitis had 10 points each to lead the losers. Tammi Clark topped the winners with 16.

Tawas held an 18-9 lead and the Card girls were outscored in every quarter but the fourth. Barb Erickson was the game's high scorer with 25 points, followed by 14 points for Joy Ori. Minard had 14 points to lead Tawas and Allen had 12.

Tawas completed 50 percent of its shots from the floor compared to 29 percent for Whittemore-Prescott.

Games this week found Whittemore-Prescott at Standish-Sterling Tuesday night and the Card girls travel Saturday to Hale.

Eagles Trowned by Posen Squad

Hale Eagles again took it on the chin in the North Star League, losing to Posen, 30-0, in a game Saturday on the winners' home field.

Posen scored 22 of its points in the first half and Hale's defense settled down in the second half to play nearly perfectly. The lone score by Posen came in the fourth quarter and was set up by an intercepted pass.

The Eagles just could not get an offense rolling and totaled only 59 yards rushing and 32 yards passing against the tough Posen defense.

Bryon Bernard rushed for 39 of Hale's yards and Glenn Bell, playing his first game in the backfield, ran for 20 yards.

Vern Reed III completed five of 12 passes from his quarterback slot and had three interceptions.

Bernard led on defense with nine tackles and one fumble recovery. Gary Wood and Todd Peters each had seven tackles. Troy Peters intercepted a pass, while Luke Sidebottom and Randy Louks each recovered a fumble.

The junior varsity lost Thursday night to Grayling, 14-8.

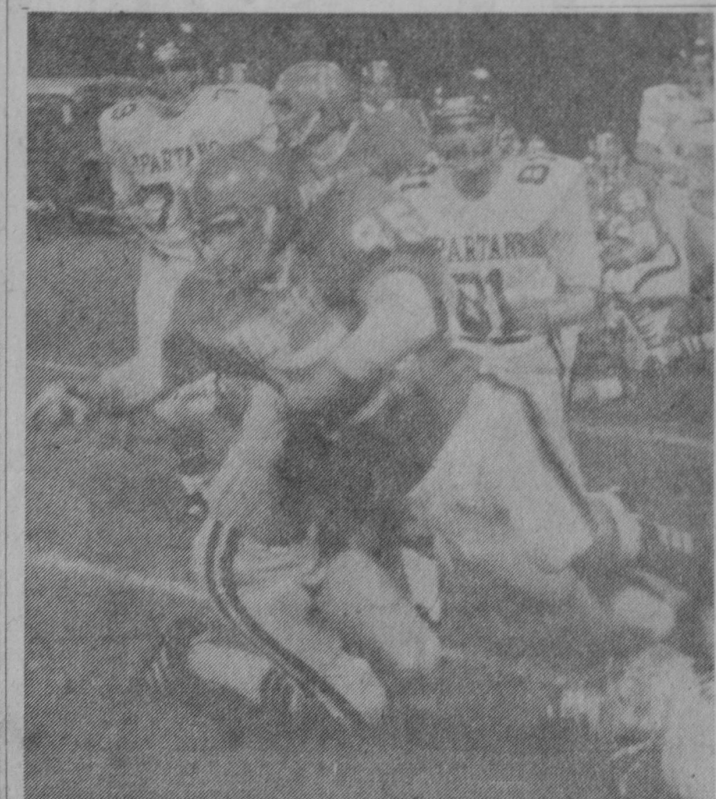

This Friday night, Hale travels to Atlanta, unbeaten and unscored against thus far this season. Hale has a record of five losses in as many games going into that contest.

Industry-Business-Employees Rally to Cause

Hospital Fund Drive Rolls Toward $395,000 Goal

Tawas Hospital Development Council, headed by Timothy O'Connor, announced Thursday the first report of funds raised by hospital employees, auxiliary and the initial gifts by local industries for the current expansion project.

The hospital auxiliary pledged $25,000 and is planning various fund-raising projects over the next year to meet its commitment.

Hospital employees voiced their support of the program by pledging $20,000.

"We have a special investment to make in that we not only utilize the hospital facilities, but we are employed here as well," stated Judith Bessey, co-chairman of the employee fund-raising committee.

Local industry is rallying to the cause with National Gypsum Company and the Detroit and Mackinac Railway and its subsidiaries pledging $15,000 each.

Commitments by local businesses saw Peoples State Bank pledging $10,000 in the name of its employees, while Frank Storey and his employees of the Bear Track Inn pledged $10,000, the largest amounts to come from nonindustrial businesses.

"We are pleased with the initial response of the community to the development council's effort and we know with its continued support we will be able to meet our goal of $395,000," stated O'Connor.

Total gifts received for 1978-79 amount to $137,527 and represent approximately 35 percent of the total goal set by the development council.

Both Robert Elliott, president of the board of trustees, and John Lippert, chairman of the foundations and corporations committee, expressed optimism about reaching the development council's goal. In addition, Lippert said that efforts were to be continued toward making applications to various agencies for grants to aid in the project.

Construction has begun on the two-million-dollar expansion program and is progressing despite the inclement weather which had plagued the construction crews.

Plans are to enclose the additions before winter so construction can continue unhampered during severe cold weather.

Would Form CAP Cadet Organization in Tawas Area

If one crash lands a small private plane (or a large one, for that matter), gets lost while hunting in some wilderness, or his child wanders away from a vacation camp, who will come looking for him?

Well, you answer, "Lots of people—the police, local volunteers and just lots of people."

Chances are that among the searchers will be the dedicated members of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP), the official civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force which, on December 1, will celebrate its 37th anniversary.

As of August 6, CAP was credited with saving the lives of 36 persons through its search and rescue operations so far this year. It has flown 505 missions and used 1,759 aircraft, had 15,124.1 flying hours in 6,861 sorties.

The 19,508 CAP members actually made 283 finds and this means that its crews have located searched objectives 283 times this year.

When Civil Air Patrol members proudly tell one of their organization, they begin by explaining its lifesaving efforts, since that is the mission for which it is most famous. But there are others—its aerospace education mission, for example.

Civil Air Patrol has been responsible for helping inaugurate courses on aviation and space-related subjects in hundreds of schools across the nation. Each year, it sponsors aerospace educational seminars in colleges in every state to help train teachers in how to teach these subjects.

But most of all, CAP is proud of its program of leadership development and motivation for young people—its cadet program. When some young people are told about CAP's cadet program, they may shy away from an organization which has friendly ties to the military. But after they become part of it, they think it is wonderful.

"We are interested in starting an organization of the Civil Air Patrol in the Tawas area," reports Lt. Col. Thomas C. LaForge, squadron commander of Civil Air Patrol 7-3, at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

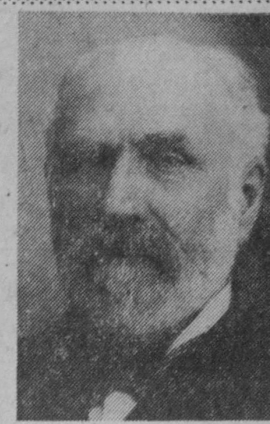

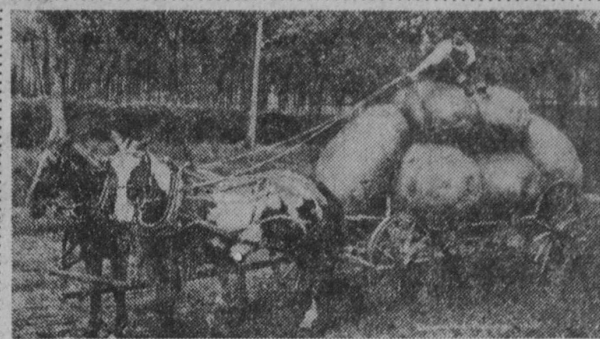

LaForge would be interested in meeting two or three adults who would work with him in starting a unit in this end of the county.

"As far as the paper work is concerned, it would be done here at our office and the membership there would be assigned to the Wurtsmith Composite Squadron 7-3, but the meeting place would be in the Tawas area," said LaForge.

He added that adults would not have to be persons with a military background, "but it would be helpful."

The CAP sponsors a training course in aerospace education as part of its cadet program. In addition, it sponsors a variety of special courses and encampments for its teen-aged members—many of these being in cooperation with the air force. A number of academic scholarships and grants were awarded recently to some CAP members.

TEMPLE EMERY'S

Evaporated Potatoes

TEMPLE EMERY was the leading lumberman at East Tawas and, when the local supply of timber disappeared, founded the National Milling and Evaporating Company. The picture postcard at right is captioned, "Potatoes grow big in our state," and, while the wagon was "loaded" through a bit of photographic darkroom wizardry, it does indicate the importance of this crop 75 years ago.

Hidden among the several thousand items comprising the Joseph Barkman collection, now owned by the Isosco County Historical Society, is a sealed tin can weighing several pounds. This unpretentious looking container is the only surviving reminder of a firm which attempted to recoup its losses at the tag end of Michigan's lumbering era.

Two weeks ago, one of the historical featurettes in this series mentioned the National Milling and Evaporating Company of East Tawas as one of the first subscribers to a newfangled telephone service. That firm showed considerable promise as the industrial vehicle to bridge the gap between the region's white pine era and an industry based on agriculture, but the firm had but a brief existence.

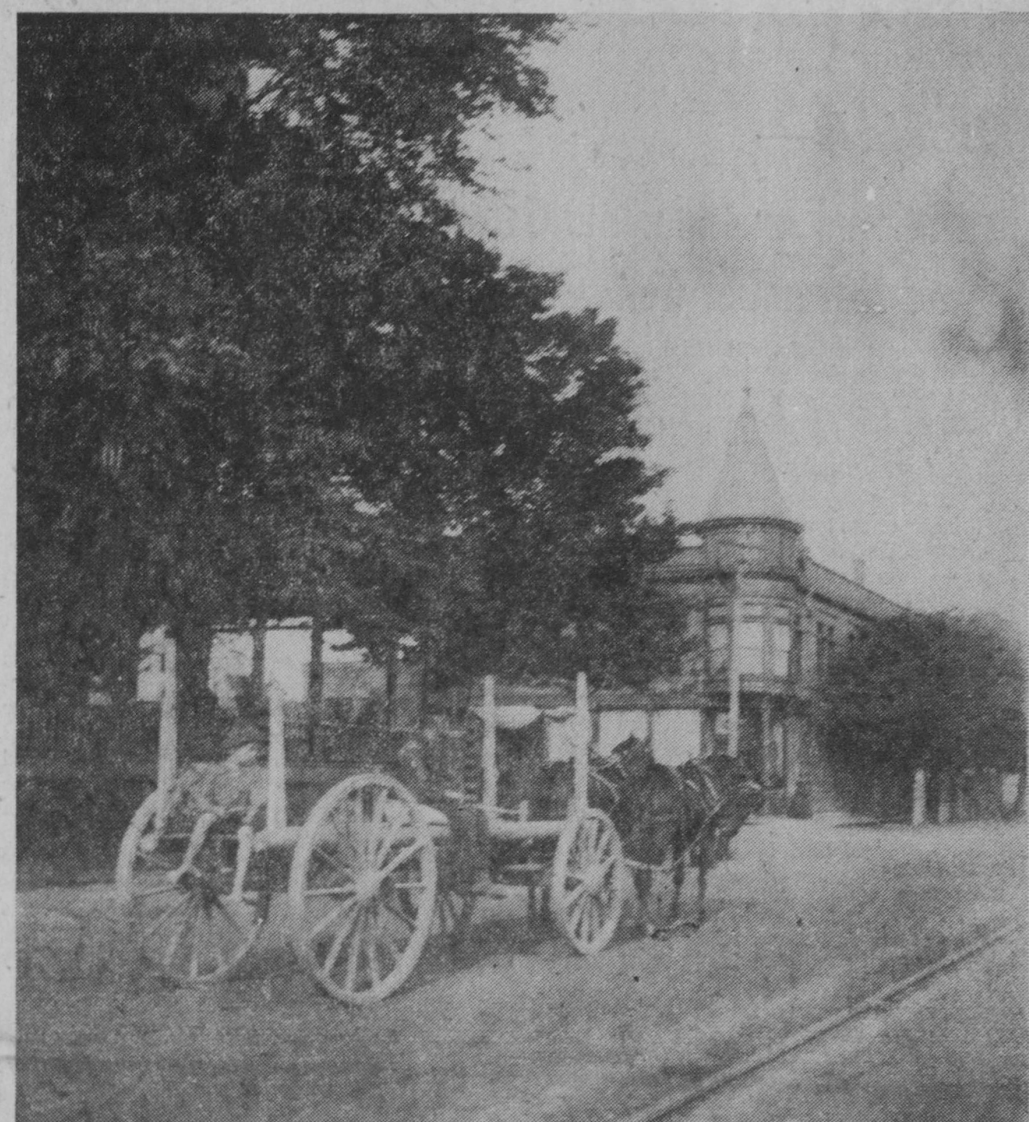

Temple Emery, first village president at East Tawas and one of the community's biggest boosters, as well as being an industrialist of note, had cast about seeking some form of venture which would replace the lumbering industry which had occupied an entire region's energies for 45 years.

Emery had been one of the most successful lumbermen on the shore for more than 25 years and, when the local supply of pine was gone, he and Nelson Holland built a new mill at East Tawas in 1891 to manufacture lumber from logs towed in rafts across Lake Huron from Georgian Bay. Emery was a heavy loser when the Canadian government placed an embargo on shipment of logs out of Ontario—when the supply of Canadian logs was gone, the new mill had to be dismantled.

With a good share of his capital lost in the last mill venture, Emery believed that agricultural pursuits would be the most likely means to fill the void. In 1899, farming was Isosco County's biggest business as the new land opened to agriculture by harvesting vast forests had yielded thousands of acres of potentially productive farmland.

This nation was flexing its muscles after its military might had defeated Spain, gaining new territory in the Pacific. England, however, was in the midst of a fight with Dutch farmers of the Orange Free State of South Africa in what was to be known as the Boer War-1899-1902.

Emery saw an opportunity which would provide jobs in the Tawas area as well as providing a market for farm products from the local area. Always the opportunist, he obtained a contract for providing the British government with a

A TEAM OF HORSES and a heavy wagon hauled lumber along Bay Street at East Tawas on a sunny summer afternoon about 75 years ago. The building in the background, located east across large quantity of locally grown foodstuffs.

The vegetables grown on local farms were to be processed in a new manufacturing plant at East Tawas and shipped from here by the railroad carload for use by British troops fighting in South Africa.

Exposing food to the sun's rays was the earliest known method of food preservation and dried foods had been utilized in the Civil War, but the end product had a bad taste and smell. Labels on cans used in the Civil War were identified by the term, "desiccated vegetables;" to the union soldiers, the horrible mess in the cans was called "desecrated vegetables."

It was not until the 1880s that dehydration—removal of more than 90 percent of the water from food—had become commercially important. Dehydration of food saved considerable shipping and storage space as the process made foodstuffs lighter and more compact, an important feature for military operations. Adding water to dehydrated food makes it ready for eating or cooking—ask any GI of World War II—and many forms of dehydrated foods are on grocery store shelves today.

The light, sandy soil comprising a considerable part of Isosco County was thought to be excellent for the growing of potatoes and Emery based nearly his entire new business on the production of tubers.

On October 13, 1899, The Tawas Herald announced that the editor had inspected the new plant of the National Milling and Evaporating Company. He was shown through the place by General Manager Emery "and was agreeably surprised at the magnitude of the new industry."

The main building, measuring 100 by 323 feet, was at the former site of Emery's sawmill near the shore of Tawas Bay. The frost proof-cellar of the building was 180 feet long, contained 48 bins capable of holding 70,000 bushels of potatoes, with a top capacity of 100,000 bushels using the remaining floor space.

"The mill contains all new machinery of the most modern make," said the editor. "There are four large dry kilns, in which there are 6,100 feet of steam pipe and everything from the big potato washer to the packing room is arranged in the most convenient manner."

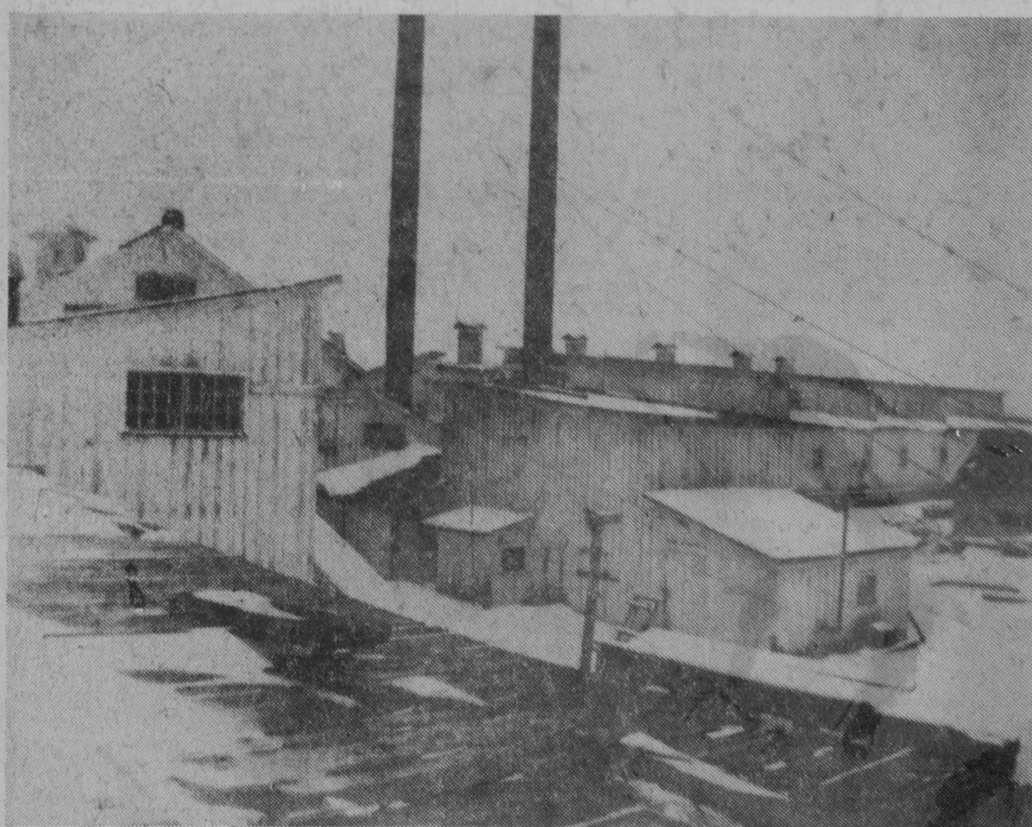

In addition to potato flour, the company manufactured evaporated potatoes and nearly every kind of evaporated vegetable. "They will use squash, carrots, onions, etc. Mr. Emery informs us they also expect to prepare chicory for the eastern market and may later add machinery to make the finished product."

The report noted, however, that "farmers who made contracts with the company last spring to grow potatoes are now delivering their crop, but owing to the poor season, the company will not have a full season's work." That statement should have been underlined for it was to haunt Emery later.

The entire county shared the enthusiasm of the Herald editor, who commented that "the institution cannot fail to be a great advantage to the agricultural interests of the county as it furnishes a home market for an unlimited amount of vegetables. Our farmers should be quick to discern the advantages and avail themselves of the opportunity to make a much larger profit from their farms than heretofore."

"One of the main points in growing vegetables for this company is that the crop can be delivered direct from the field to the factory, thus saving extra hauling, which means much to the farmer," commented the Herald.

On November 17, 1899, the Herald (See POTATOES, page 3.)

PRACTICALLY FORGOTTEN today is the National Milling and Evaporating Company, which operated for a few brief years at East Tawas. The firm, which developed a process for evaporating potatoes, used a converted sawmill for its operation. After the plant closed, a warehouse filled with canned evaporated potatoes was still standing.

Constitutional Amendments Galore in State's November General Election

Eleven different proposals will go to voters of Michigan on November 7; 10 of those proposals would amend the state constitution and the first, Proposal A, would call a constitutional convention.

First off, the editor opposes Proposal A. Because of the large number of proposed amendments this year, it might seem that an entirely new constitution is needed in this state. This corner does not agree—the present constitution is adequate for some time to come.

What is needed is some leadership in the state legislature at Lansing. The state constitution should not get bogged down with so many detailed restrictive provisions, five of which this year are clearly beneficial to special interest groups.

Writing and enacting REASONABLE laws is the responsibility of the elected state legislature; if those highly-paid solons cannot fulfill that responsibility, then some radical changes may be needed in state government. It must be remembered, however, that this is an election year and legislators are not prone to debate certain issues for fear of losing their seats at the trough.

On the other hand, a former editor of this newspaper always admonished his junior editor that inaction by the state legislature meant that the people were safe for yet another year! That thinking was not all that bad.

Let's Have Some Uniformity in Enforcing Landfill Restrictions

About a year ago, the editor of this newspaper was invited to sit in on a session with the Iosco County Board of Commissioners and a representative of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to discuss and learn something about state requirements for operation of sanitary landfills.

At the time, the board of commissioners was involved in a flap concerning a lease with Multi-County Landfill for providing "dump" service to the major part of Iosco. Many statements had been made locally over the years concerning certification of existing landfills and the commission wished to "clear the air," once and for all.

Larry Thornton, who handles DNR landfill certification for this area, stated there was only one landfill in this county which was certified by the state—Multi-County—and that was still on a provisional basis as some minor specification still had to be met. All others, he emphasized, did not meet state requirements and were not certified.

The DNR representative made the point then that one of the major qualifications for certification was the requirement that test wells be dug around a landfill in order to monitor for possible ground water contamination. He emphasized that these wells were mandatory and compliance with this provision was one reason why Multi-County Landfill had been certified, although one more well was still needed.

The DNR spokesman, who had been a member of the state health department until general reorganization of the state government placed those environmental protection duties in the hands of the DNR, emphasized that the wells were absolutely necessary to protect the general public against possible toxic poisoning. He pointed out that wastes worse than PBB were being buried in landfills.

Another major requirement is that a landfill must have the proper subsoil to prevent toxic substances from leeching into the ground water. In some instances, installation of a clay base is required. (A few months later, Judge Allan C. Miller required just such a clay base for burial of PBB-tainted cattle at Mio, much to the annoyance of the state.)

Now, "environmental time bombs" are much in the news; the DNR has scurried around many parts of the state digging wells to check for ground water contamination. As of Thursday, the DNR had identified 120 "risky dumps" in Michigan.

John Shauver, who coordinates the search for the DNR, was quoted by The Detroit Free Press as stating that "much of the blame for laxity in controlling toxic waste disposal belongs to local governments which often fail to exercise their regulating authority over landfill operators."

What nonsense! By state law, regulatory control over all landfills rests with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Most

Thanks, 'Reg'

Before he leaves city hall in a couple of weeks, this corner would like to commend and publicly thank City Mgr. Reginald Blublitz for 24 1/2 years of faithful and responsible service to the residents of this community. Regardless of what one might think, the pressures of that particular job are immense, even in a small town.

Blublitz had an auto mechanical background when he took over the job of city superintendent in 1954, after having served briefly on the city council. His knowledge gained on the job over the years—particularly in budgeting, water-sewer department operation and general direction of city government—has been absolutely essential to successive city councils.

It was so essential that the logical choice for a new city manager under terms of the home rule charter back in 1972 was Reginald Blublitz. His efforts for the good of Tawas City can never be minimized for there have been many accomplishments while he has been at the helm and he has laid the groundwork for projects to be completed by others in the future.

While entrusted with this responsibility, "Reg" has always been a courteous public servant and one who has done his very best toward working out daily problems, large and small, but never losing his composure when dealing with the public. That particular attribute is often lacking in certain officials, particularly when in office for such a long period of time.

This corner sends its best wishes to a friend for success in any future undertaking.

local governments are not equipped or have the wherewithal to monitor industrial wastes. The DNR has had to play catch-up after taking over functions formerly handled by the health department, but do not pass the buck back to local government.

Existing laws are adequate to protect the public against ground water contamination by toxic wastes. There are some sloppily run dumps in Michigan—"We have some rotten, lousy, wretched messes," said Shauver—according to the Free Press.

If state laws were enforced elsewhere as they have been—at times—in Iosco County, how could there be sloppily run dumps? This corner distinctly recalls when gates at several sloppily run dumps in this county were padlocked by the health department. There are at least two dumps still operating here which have no certification—the DNR representative said last year that at least one of those dumps could get certification with monitoring wells.

Another interesting point is this: The operator of Multi-County Landfill told the editor of this newspaper only last week that, to his knowledge, the state had never taken any samples for the monitoring wells drilled around that landfill.

The main point of the Herald's editorial is this: State officials have talked and acted tough in this county on a number of occasions regarding sanitary landfills—how about doing the same in other parts of Michigan, particularly where industry attempts to bury toxic wastes which could endanger future generations. As Thornton of the DNR said a year ago, "One never knows what goes into a landfill."

"Whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." (John 11:26)

Priscilla, the third daughter in our family, was a missionary here in the Philippines. When she was 28, she went to the United States for leadership training. Barely three months had passed when news reached us that she was one of those who died in the 1976 flash flood in Loveland, Colorado.

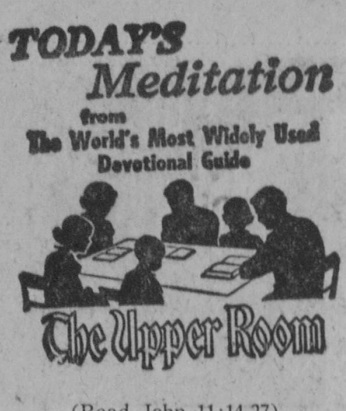

We were shocked. Bitter tears flooded our eyes and we silently asked, "Why? Why?" As we prayed, words from the Bible flashed in our minds and, amazingly, illuminated our darkened hearts.

Comfort: "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me, though he die, yet shall he live."

Delight and Joy in God: "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy."

Support in Death: "O death, where is thy victory?" "Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

With these divine assurances, we know Priscilla's death to be a glorious victory. We know she is now with the Lord. Our joy is anchored in the blessed assurance that someday we shall be with her again.

Bible Conference-Teaching at Hemlock Road Church

The Rev. John Wood of Cass City will conduct a week of Bible conference and Bible teaching ministry at the Hemlock Road Baptist Church, located at the corner of M-55 and Chambers Road, Tawas City, October 15-22, except Saturday night, at 7:00 p. m.

He is the state representative for the Michigan Association of Regular Baptist Churches, a fellowship of fundamental Baptist churches numbering more than 200 in Michigan, raising together a united voice against the liberalism and ecumenism so evident in the religious world today. The churches of the MARBC cooperate in youth ministries, camp programs, missionary and Christian education ministries, as well as maintaining several outstanding social agencies. Wood assumed this responsibility after 21 years in the pastorate, having served churches in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. He left a successful pastorate in Ohio in 1973 and, with his wife, Anna Jean, moved to Cass City, where he handles the business of the association. He also edits The Baptist Testimony, a monthly magazine with a circulation of nearly 5,000, a publication which serves as the official organ of the MARBC. Wood's ministry includes church counselling, conducting evangelistic and Bible conference-type meetings, serving as liaison between churches and pastors especially when churches are seeking candidates for their pulpits and promoting the cause of the Regular Baptist movement.

The Rev. William Wright, pastor of the Hemlock Road Baptist Church, extends an invitation to the public to attend these services.

Potatoes

ald reported that the "National Milling and Evaporating Company made the first shipment of its big order for the English government on Wednesday. It consisted of two carloads of three and four-pound cans of potatoes."

Poor growing seasons and poor roads upon which horses and wagons were used to transport farm products to the processing plant—coupled with an apparent indifference shown by local farmers to the growing of vegetables in sufficient quantity—all combined to make the National Milling and Evaporating Company a nightmare for its owner.

Like Iosco's brief romance with growing sugar beets during the same era, Iosco farmers did not "discern the advantages" of growing potatoes under contract, as suggested by the newspaper editor; and, like the new plant constructed here to process sugar beets, Emery's vegetable evaporation plant had a brief life.

After filling his contract with the British government—the Boer War ended in 1902—Emery continued in production but could not find further large contracts. He was left with a large warehouse full of evaporated potatoes—all packed in three or four-pound cans.

The large processing plant—like the sugar beet factory—was dismantled some years later and the warehouse full of dried vegetables apparently was sold to the United States government.

In 1918, a former Tawas resident was serving with the American Expeditionary Forces in France as a "powder monkey" on one of the army's big howitzers. Like GIs of all wars, the Tawas private found his name on the KP list and he was directed to report to a field kitchen for three days of duty.

The mess sergeant told the private to "go to work on the spuds." The private, expecting to spend the next three days peeling potatoes, was at a loss when the sergeant told him to open several cans of those "newfangled evaporated potatoes."

By now, the reader has guessed it: Somehow, the potatoes grown in Iosco County and processed at East Tawas for use during the Boer War eventually found their way into the United States Army's quartermaster supplies. Labels on the cans stating "Manufactured at East Tawas, Michigan, by the National Milling and Evaporating Company," still looked like brand new in 1918.

The private opened the cans and the evaporated potatoes were as hard as stones. "Follow the directions on the label and see what you can do with them—we don't have anything else to eat," said the mess sergeant. After the potatoes soaked in water overnight, they returned to nearly their original size and were quite palatable—despite their age, recalled the private many years later.

When the old Prescott Hardware building in Tawas City was being cleaned out for new occupants prior to World War II, youngsters helping Archie Ruckle and the late Harold Colby set up new quarters for Alpena Candy and Cigar Company found several cans of evaporated potatoes on a shelf—all marked with the National Milling and Evaporating Company label.

One of the youngsters took a can next door to The Tawas Herald office and asked his dad, P. N. Thornton, if he knew anything about the East Tawas firm that had packed them. The Herald editor then related his above experience with the cans of evaporated potatoes while on KP duty with the United States Army in France during World War I.

Several pictures of Temple Emery have survived the years since his dream of reaping riches from dried potatoes evaporated—he died practically penniless—but not a picture has been located showing his beautifully equipped plant at East Tawas.

The late Joseph Barkman found one of the old NMEC cans and tucked it away in his vast collection of Tawas memorabilia. It may still be in that collection, or it may have been tossed out—when the can was shaken, the clang against metal sounded as if it were filled with stones!

Playing the part of small animals are Pam Kelly, Timothy Huck, Renee Bensingler, Faith Look, Kyra Beck and Reginald Look, all Tawas area students. Performances are scheduled for the evenings of October 26, 28 and 29, with a matinee on October 27.

PUT YOUR BUDGET ON A DIET (Final article)

If the checkup shows the budget is overweight with expenses, it is time to put it on a diet. There are lots of ways to cut down. Here are some of them:

Limit unnecessary spending. Planning purchases carefully and resisting impulse buys may be all the bullet-biting needed.

Look for alternatives that will give the same satisfaction at lower cost. Instead of buying books and magazines, for instance, one might go to the local public library. Look for lower cost foods that can be substituted once or twice a week for more expensive ones without compromising good nutrition. Or have a family evening together for watching television and eating homemade popcorn instead of a night at the drive-in or theater.

Make do for a while instead of buying something new. Instead of getting a new appliance that performs on specific function—a bun warmer, for instance—see if you already have a gadget that will do the job just as well. Whenever possible, clean up, repair, alter or reuse an item rather than throwing it out and buying a replacement.

Do it yourself instead of buying goods or services in the marketplace. Use time and energy to produce things or perform services at home that one would ordinarily buy outside. Plant a garden, preserve food, sew clothes, do your own hair, paint the house, change the oil in the car, learn to repair a leaky faucet.

Revise goals to eliminate the unrealistic ones. The goals that once seemed sure may be slipping out of your grasp and trying to achieve them may be stretching the budget to the bursting point.

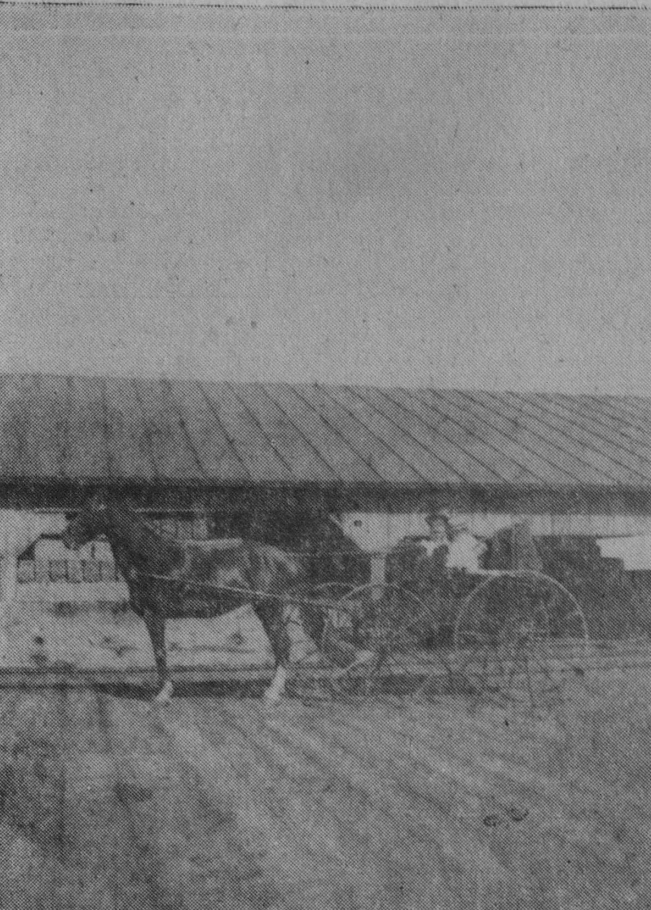

If all has been done and the budget still has the blues, it is time to get help from outside. Check with the Cooperative Extension service at 362-3449.

September 18, 1978
Meeting called to order at 7:30 PM at City Hall by Mayor Cholger. Present: Keiser, Cotter, Landon, Rollin, Cholger, Lansky, Hayes. Others: Mgr. Bublitz; City Attorney Myles.

Minutes of September 4 meeting approved.
Manager reported that, on advice of Vilcan-Leman, a Zoning Board of Appeals public hearing, with due notice, will be held September 26, 7:30 PM at City Hall, on granting a special use permit to Masonic Lodge. Planning Commission meeting September 21 will consider clarifying pertinent language in Zoning Ordinance.

Motion by Lansky seconded by Hayes that Manager be directed to contact D & M for permission to start work preparing additional parking space as soon as possible, even prior to formal lease agreement; carried.

Water Board September 6 minutes accepted. Manager is to check into possibility of resale of old water tank.
Cemetery Board September 12 minutes accepted. Council requests it to pursue the idea of a chapel for graveside services.

Parks & Recreation Board September 14 minutes accepted.
Cherie Brugger presented petition with 34 signatures asking that Council review the action of Planning Commission in granting special use of Lots 63-66, North Park Acres, without public hearing. (See above.)

Wayne Thompson asked Council's explanation of August delinquency in payment of water bill to East Tawas. Manager accepted responsibility for a clerical oversight.
Lyle E. Healey presented petition with 425 signatures asking for an election to approve or disapprove the contract between the City and the City Building Authority for City Hall complex. City Clerk certified to Council that, upon examination, the petition was determined to be sufficient to delay the effective date of the contract until approved by a majority of the City's electors.

Following discussion on ballot wording, and statement by City Attorney that the proposed wording had been recommended by bonding attorneys consulted, motion by Keiser seconded by Rollin to approve Resolution prepared by City Attorney, but to have City Attorney check with the bonding attorneys with a view to adding a dollar amount in the ballot wording if the legality of the ballot would not be affected, otherwise proposition to stand as originally worded; roll call vote: unanimous yes. (Full text of Resolution on file in City Hall.)

Sidewalk Ordinance prepared by City Attorney was read and discussed briefly, to be put on agenda for next meeting.
Motion by Landon seconded by Hayes to retain Vilcan-Leman as Planning Consultants for one year by approving proposed contract which calls for attendance at four meetings of Planning Commission and a fee of $1,400; roll call vote: unanimous yes.

Police reports for July and August accepted. Manager stated that notices are being issued for ordinance violations.
Manager was directed to handle the rental of Blow buildings.
Motion by Keiser seconded by Landon that bills totaling $28,352.49 as listed on Claim Sheet 9-18-78 be paid; roll call vote: unanimous yes. Cotter stated he felt it was each Councilman's duty to study the bills before approving them. Rollin said bills should be studied after Council meetings are called to order.
MDS&T letter dated September 13 announces that US-23 storm sewer contract bids will be let November 15, starting date set for April 16, 1979.

Water Board members Del Myles and Guy Lickfelt were reappointed, terms to expire April 1, 1981. Zoning Board of Appeals reappointments were David Kennedy and Lyle E. Healey, terms to expire April 1, 1981. Joint Water Board decreased to two representatives in new contract. Cemetery Board has one vacancy.

Motion by Hayes seconded by Cotter that Manager request a 90-day extension of option from Mrs. Adamek at no extra cost to City; carried.

Discussed, without action:
1. Occupancy permits being prepared.
2. Council would like to see building permits; urge enforcement of zoning code as to lot lines, etc.
3. Sixth Avenue work to be done this fall following completion of water main.
4. Employee wages and fringe benefits due for decision in October.
5. Ordinance regarding peddlers permits is being enforced in regard to a transient meat seller.
