Decision 'Conclusive and Final'

City Manager Retiring Oct. 16

A letter from City Mgr. Reginald Bublitz read at Monday night's council meeting stated that he was retiring from his position effective October 16.

The council accepted Bublitz's resignation with regrets and took immediate action to contact the Michigan Municipal League to advertise for a successor.

The city manager had verbally announced his intentions to each member of the city council two weeks ago and requested that the information remain confidential until officially announced by letter. The information "leaked out" and was general public knowledge.

In his letter, Bublitz said he had reached the decision after long and due consideration "where I find it personally necessary to retire from my position as city manager of Tawas City. I expect this action will carry with it all the rights and benefits due me as an employee of the city."

The city manager said he had attempted to serve the city and its residents to the best of his ability for the past 24½ years. The 53-year-old city manager said, "I do regret leaving with some projects only partially begun, but I do feel that the basic foundation for these uncompleted tasks and projects has been laid and that proper follow-up will see them to their needed completion."

He said he was not leaving his position in order to take employment in another occupation at this time. He said he intended to take some time to "collect my thoughts and myself" and to prepare to meet the demands of future employment.

"This decision on my part does not come about easily and without a great amount of heartache and memories, because you cannot serve a position for 24½ years during the best and most productive working days of your life and then leave it without a showing of nostalgia."

In his letter read by City Clerk

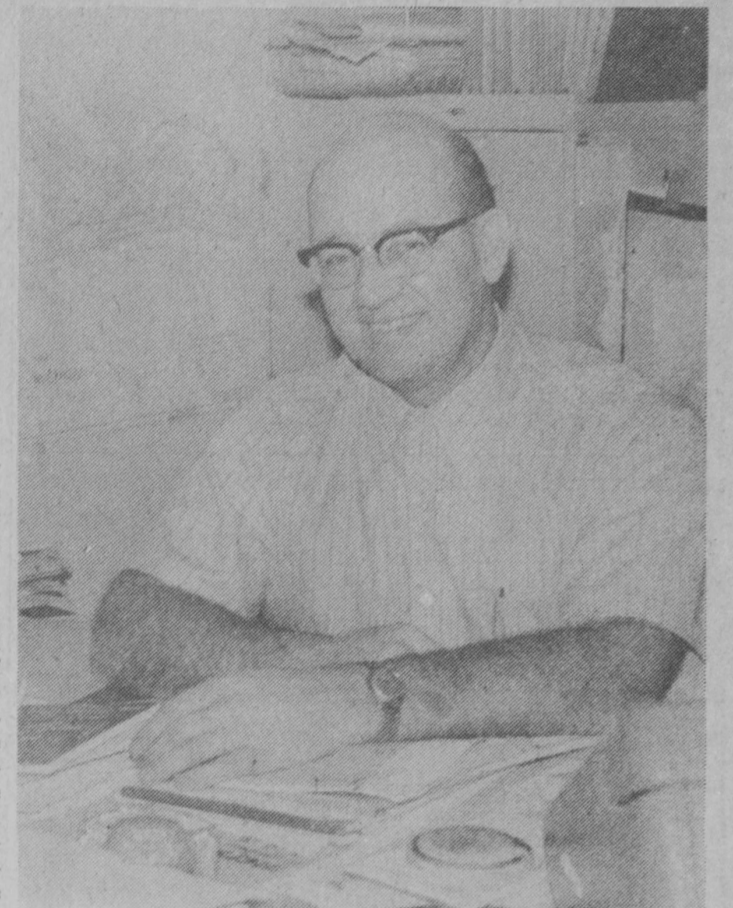

Rachel McCreedy, Bublitz said that his decision was "conclusive and final." He was out of the city on Monday and Tuesday.

The city manager concluded by saying that "I sincerely hope that greater understanding and cooperation can be forthcoming within the city and that individualism is put aside for the good of all the people of Tawas City and may the new city manager have all the success possible."

In moving to accept the resignation with regrets, Coun. Hugo Keiser said that the council should thank Bublitz for his many years of service to the city.

With only two weeks notice before the city manager leaves the position, Keiser suggested that immediate action be taken to secure a successor. When Bublitz returns, he is to be asked for his recommendations concerning future operation of the sewer plant. At the present time, he is the city's only certified sewer plant operator.

Bublitz served for nearly 18 years as superintendent of public works before becoming the new city manager on January 1, 1972, effective date of the city's home rule charter.

Damages Sought by Elouise Dimmick

Multi-Million-Dollar Suit Filed in Federal Court Against East Tawas

A four-count suit seeking a multi-million-dollar judgment and punitive damages against the City of East Tawas and City Atty. Michael N. Freel was filed Monday in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Michigan, Bay City, by Elouise M. Dimmick of East Tawas.

In demanding a jury trial, the plaintiff seeks a $2,500,000 judgment, plus $200,000 in punitive damages, against each defendant, jointly and severally.

This suit has resulted over the plaintiff's contention that the city trespassed across her property on the west side of Newman Street with a drain.

Early last April, the city was notified by Mrs. Dimmick that she was "closing the drains and canal this city has confiscated on Newman Street." An AuGres contractor was hired by the owner to construct an earthen and rock dam closing the drain.

The suit contends that the city "failed and continues to fail to even attempt to legally purchase or condemn the said lands, even after public and repeated demands of plaintiff" and that the continuing trespass inhibits the use and enjoyment of her property, without due process of law and without equal protection of the laws.

The first count of the suit contends that Mrs. Dimmick's property has been "constructively condemned" by the city, through the illegal actions and omissions of its employees and agents. The complaint states the city has failed to attempt to legally purchase or condemn the property, even after several months of opportunity to respond.

A declaratory judgment is sought, plus judgment of $1,000,000 for unlawful and unconstitutional acts of the city described under the first count.

The second count claims that the city, in 1977 and continuing to and through the present, is trespassing upon her 100-acre parcel by dredging a canal without condemnation proceedings, permission or authority of any law, in order that the city could utilize a private canal owned by the plaintiff through which to drain water into Tawas Lake from the city's Dewey Durant Park.

The plaintiff seeks a declaratory judgment of the city's unconstitutional acts on the above count and a money judgment of $1,000,000.

The third count contends that the city denied the plaintiff due process and equal protection of the law by reducing the value of her property through public advertising of preferential tap-in and sewer assessment rates, as an inducement to potential purchasers. The petition claims the city shifted a tax (See DIMMICK SUIT, page 6.)

Clinton Halstead, TA Sophomore, Died Tuesday

Clinton "Clint" Halstead, a sophomore at Tawas Area High School who had undergone corrective heart surgery about four years ago, was pronounced dead Tuesday afternoon, October 3, at Tawas Hospital.

Although unable to participate actively in sports because of his heart condition, Clint was manager of the junior varsity football squad. During a football practice session about 3:30 p. m., he was watching from the sidelines and suddenly collapsed. Coaches attempted to revive him and an ambulance was called to rush him to the hospital.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis "Bud" Halstead of East Tawas.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Jacques and Kobs Funeral Home, East Tawas.

Tawas Bike Trail Now Under Study

On direction Monday night of the East Tawas Council, City Clerk Clyde Soper is to meet with persons promoting establishment of a bicycle trail through the Tawas, in order to determine what financial commitment is expected from the city.

A letter from Allen D. Walton and Kimberly A. Morrical asked official approval for establishing a pedestrian-bicycle trail in the area. Initial phase of the suggested trail system was along Tawas Bay from Tawas Point State Park to the Tawas River.

According to the letter, the chairman of the state's non-motorized transportation committee was sending information to assist in developing a likely plan for the Tawas area. He would also prepare an evaluation for consideration of funding by the state highway department.

The council approved establishing a communications system between the main pumping station and water tower in Baldwin Township using citizens band radio, inasmuch as telephone service is not available at the water tower on Aulerich Road.

The council approved an application from Audie Johnson American Legion Post No. 211 for a club license sought from the state liquor commission. Actual investigation is handled by the chief of police, but the council gave its approval to the license.

A letter was read from Sheriff George Westcott responding to a recent letter from the council. Westcott said that public safety represents 28 percent of the county's total budget of $1,669,383 "and not over one-half of the total as you suggest."

East Tawas had written a letter expressing concern over the fact that the city, which provides its own police department, is being

Council Directs Issuance of Building Permit Application for Masonic Temple

Tawas City Council unanimously voted to direct the city manager to sign a building permit application for construction of a new Tawas Masonic Temple on M-55 at Victoria Lane, but property owners of North Park Acres announced they had organized to protect existing subdivision restrictions.

This action followed a public hearing of the zoning board of appeals a week ago, which was adjourned without taking action on the matter.

A letter from City Atty. Kenneth Myles Monday night advised the council to take no action with regard to the Tawas Masonic Temple Association's building permit until such time as the planning commission clarified its action.

Before the meeting was finished, the council deemed the planning commission had clarified its action and directed the application to be issued to permit construction.

Brent Babcock, Tawas City attorney representing the Masonic Temple Association, appeared before the council and expressed the opinion that the planning commission had acted correctly in granting a special use permit. He said, however, that the city manager refused to sign the application for a building permit on advice of the city attorney.

Babcock objected to "Myles running the city council from his law office" and believed the city manager, in refusing to sign the application, on the city attorney's advice, disregarded duties as city manager and did not follow the ordinance.

Inasmuch as Babcock is legal counsel for the Tawas Masonic Temple Association, it was stated that he might be prejudiced concerning recommendations of the city attorney, who was not present.

Babcock said the Masonic Temple Association had strong feelings last week for starting a lawsuit against the city, but felt it would be inappropriate action for such an organization.

He said the association's board of directors met Friday night with adjacent property owners in an effort to resolve differences. He said that alterations to plans costing an additional $10,000, meeting wishes of neighbors, were approved by the association and that the approval of property owners in the neighborhood had been received.

Irwin Ruppert, a property owner in North Park Acres, said that he and his neighbors had formed a corporation to protect their property rights. He said that construction of a commercial building on a residential lot was contrary to the subdivision's restrictions and that deviating from those restrictions could set a legal precedent. He said that fraternal organizations are permitted under the ordinance to construct in a B1 commercial zone and that all restrictions would be clouded if permitted to construct at the proposed site.

Robert Pawloski, chairman of the planning commission, said that the city attorney had found nothing in the ordinance permitting the zoning board of appeals to overrule the planning commission and last week's hearing was adjourned. He said the planning commission made its decision within the ordinance permitting the construction.

"It may not be the best law in the world, but it is there. If you disagree, then it can be changed, but do not ignore it," said Pawloski.

He was referring to the planning commission's action approving a special use permit in a residential zone by interpreting that Masons and a Masonic Temple were church associated, which permits construction in a residential zone under a special use.

"I feel it was right and so does the majority of the planning commission," said Pawloski.

John N. Brugger said he presumed that lack of a public hearing on the special use permit was the basic reason for the city attorney's advice for the council not to take action. He said that regardless of ordinance wording, state law provides for publishing notices of hearings concerning the intent of meetings. He said no public hearing had been held on this matter.

Coun. Hugo Keiser expressed the opinion that the planning commission, through statements by its chairman, had clarified its actions by stating that the special use per-

Eagles Suffer Fourth Loss

Hale Area Eagles, defending champion of the North Star Conference, suffered their fourth straight loss Friday night without a victory.

In a non-league game, Saginaw St. Peter and Paul crushed the Eagles, 56-18.

The visitors rushed for 566 yards during the game and jumped off to a 30-6 lead in the first period. By intermission, the Saginaw team held a 43-6 lead.

Hale's first touchdown in the opening quarter came on a 48-yard pass play from Quarterback Vern Reed to Max White. Daryn Bernard scored a touchdown in the third quarter on an eight-yard sweep and repeated in the fourth quarter on a 32-yard sweep.

The Eagles could not mount a ground offense but picked up 203 yards in the air as Reed completed 17 of 36 passes with two interceptions.

Bernard picked up 53 yards on the ground and caught five passes for 50 yards. White snared two passes for 84 yards, Jay Clements had three passes for 35 yards, Todd Peters caught three passes for 25 yards and Mark Turnbull had three passes for 12 yards.

Turnbull was the top defender with 12 tackles from his defensive end position. Gary Wood and Bernard each had seven tackles.

The Eagles play this Saturday at Posen, always a tough opponent in the North Star League and upset last Friday night by Mio.

Hale's junior varsity defeated the Alpena "B" junior varsity team, 8-6, in action Thursday night. Tony Boughner ran an 18-yard touchdown and a two-point conversion for Hale.

Braves Drop Cardinals and Take NEM Lead

With the aid of the Spartans and the Panthers, Tawas Area Braves took over undisputed possession of first place last Friday night in the Northeastern Michigan Conference.

Tawas posted a 27-14 win over Whittemore-Prescott, but the Cardinals had the Braves on the ropes during the game with an excellent passing attack. Pinconning knocked off Ogemaw Heights, 12-5, and Standish-Sterling came from behind to defeat Gladwin, 16-12, to put unbeaten Tawas alone at the head of the standings.

The Braves, the undefeated conference champion last year, will put their winning streak on the line this Friday night when they play host to Pinconning. Annual homecoming festivities will also be held Friday and Saturday nights.

Tawas exploded for 20 points in the second period Friday night to turn aside a stubborn Whittemore-Prescott Area squad. It was the second straight conference loss for the Cardinals, but they were still in the ball game until less than three minutes were remaining on the clock.

The Cardinals played good defensive football in the first quarter and put Tawas in the hole with three minutes, 14 seconds, to go in the quarter when Quarterback Todd Horn scored from two yards out. The touchdown was set up on a good pass from Horn to Dave Sievers. Larry Snyder booted the conversion and the Cardinals had a 7-0 lead.

A pass from Bill King to Gary Birkenbach set up Tawas' first score as Halfback John Bouchard went the last 15 yards for a touchdown and King tied the game with his conversion with less than a minute gone in the second quarter.

The Cards could not move against Tawas' defense and the Braves took over a punt on their own 22. Bouchard moved the ball to the Cardinal eight-yard line in three plays and Bryant Wilke scored the tie-breaking touchdown with seven minutes, 26 seconds, left in the second quarter. King booted the conversion and Tawas had a 14-7 lead.

Horn, who completed eight of 13 passes for 110 yards during the night, came back with an aerial attack, but the Cardinal offense bogged down at midfield when three good passes were dropped.

Tawas roared back into Cardinal territory and, in spite of a 15-yard penalty at one point, Bouchard scored a touchdown with one minute, 38 seconds, to go in the first half. King's boot was wide and Tawas held a 20-7 lead.

The two teams battled to a scoreless tie in the third quarter and Horn posted his second touchdown of the night with four minutes, 37 seconds to go in the final quarter. Snyder's conversion from placement cut Tawas' lead to 20-14.

The Braves took possession of the football after the kickoff and were not to be denied a victory as Bouchard went 38 yards to a touchdown with two minutes, 45 seconds, remaining in the quarter. King booted the point after touchdown and Tawas held a 27-14 lead.

Bouchard was leading ground gainer of the night with 157 yards in 23 carries. Wilke gained 73 yards in 14 carries and Tawas had 306 yards to 145 for the Cardinals.

Westcott's letter stated that East Tawas paid taxes to the county amounting to $78,588 and, based on 28 percent of the budget, the city provided $22,000 toward the county's public safety budget. Of that amount, $7,261 is directed to road patrol.

The Secret Life Of The Forest

READING THE RINGS

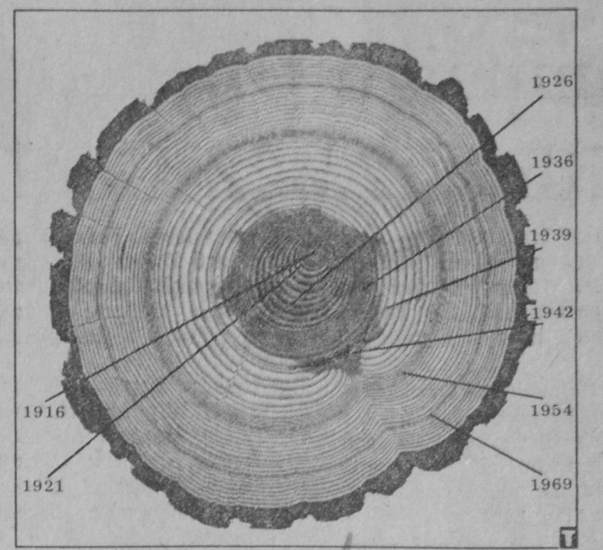

This tree is 62 years old. It's been through fire and drought, plague and plenty, and all of this is recorded in its rings.

Each spring and summer a tree adds new layers of wood to its trunk. The wood formed in spring grows fast and is lighter because it consists of large cells. In summer, growth is slower, the wood has smaller cells and is darker. When the tree is cut, the layers appear as alternating rings of light and dark wood.

Count the dark rings, and you know the tree's age. Study the rings, and you can learn much more. Many things affect the way a tree grows and alter the shape, thickness, color and evenness of the rings.

In 1916, the tree pictured here—a loblolly pine—was born. Through 1921, the tree grew rapidly, with no disturbance. There was abundant rainfall and sunshine in spring and summer. The rings are relatively broad and evenly spaced. When the tree was 10 years old, something pushed against it, making it lean. The rings became wider on the lower side as the tree built "reaction wood" to help support it.

By 1936, the tree was growing straight again, but its neighbors were growing, too, and their crowns and root systems took much of the water and sunshine the tree needed. In 1939, the surrounding trees were harvested. The larger trees were removed, and there was once again ample nourishment and sunlight. The tree grew rapidly.

A fire swept through the forest in 1942. Fortunately, the tree was only scarred, and year by year more and more of the scar was covered over by newly formed wood. The narrow rings around 1954 may have been caused by a prolonged dry spell. One or two dry summers would not have dried the ground enough to slow the tree's growth this much.

Around 1969, another series of narrow rings can be seen. They may have been caused by an insect like the larva of the sawfly. It eats the leaves and leaf buds of many kinds of coniferous trees.

This article was prepared by the St. Regis Paper Company which—together with the other members of the forest products industry—is vitally concerned with maintaining the beauty and usefulness of America's forests for the generations to come.

City Signs One Year Lease for Boat Ramp-Parking Expansion

A one year lease has been signed with the Detroit and Mackinac Railway adding 100 feet of land for parking purposes along the Tawas River at the city's boat ramp.

Under terms of the lease, the city agreed to construct a six-foot cyclone fence along the property with a 12-foot gate for use by the railroad.

Under the agreement, railroad officials are to be permitted use of the boat launching facilities without charge.

In other business, Tawas Hospital notified the council that it had not received its check for Tawas City's share of the ambulance deficit. The city's assessment on June 30 was $2,291.42. Other shares included East Tawas, $3,000; Plainfield Township, $4,110; Alabaster, $1,030; Baldwin, $2,166, to name four of the units.

The city treasurer is to substantiate the bill and report back to the council.

Discussion continued on a new sidewalk ordinance, but no action was taken by the council.

Del Myles, chairman of the water board, reported that television films of the recent sewer system survey were to be shown at Tuesday night's meeting of the water board.

The council accepted an audit report from Weinlander, Fitzhugh, Bertuleit and Schairer and adopted recommendations of the certified public accountants. Pay of election inspectors for the general election in November was established at $2.65 per hour and $5 extra for the chairperson. This is the same rate paid at the last election. Election workers are to be paid $10 for attending a school of instruction and 20 cents per mile travel expense.

The city clerk was directed to contact the city attorney to determine if an option to purchase property west of the city hall could be extended. The option was due to expire Tuesday.

Bravettes Post Two Big Wins

Tawas Bravettes' varsity basketball team won two games last week, defeating Standish-Sterling, 57-50, and then turning back Oscoda Thursday night, 56-53. The junior varsity lost both of its games.

Tawas led in every quarter against Standish-Sterling for its second conference win. Led by Meg Peterson and Laurel Minard with 13 points each, the Bravettes shot 41 percent from the floor.

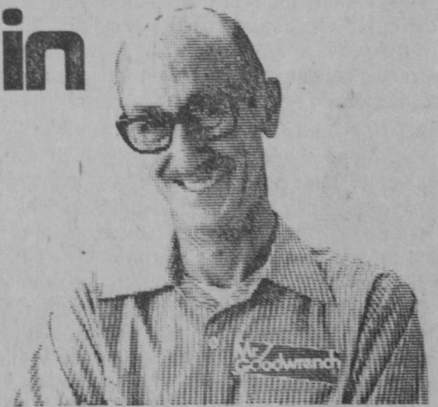

Kari Allen had 11 points and led rebounders with 19. The Bravettes took an early lead over Oscoda and headed off a good second half effort by the losers. Allen was high scorer with 22 points, followed by Peterson's 14 and 12 for Minard. Allen had 14 rebounds and Minard had 13.

The Bravettes completed 44 percent of its shots from the floor and meshed 12 of 17 free throws. Oscoda tied the game at one point but was never able to go ahead.

Kelly Brockenbrough had eight points and Linda Nelkie had six points as the junior varsity lost to Standish-Sterling, 47-24. Diane Nelkie had four points and Cindy Stephan had four points. The junior varsity came out on the short end of the 53-35 score with Oscoda. Danette Halle was high with eight points, followed by seven points for Patty Hughes.

THE FOREST AND YOU

Could America Run Out Of Trees? This article has been prepared by Georgia-Pacific, the growth company interested in protecting our natural resources.

This year, every man, woman and child in America will use at least one tree, in the form of lumber and furniture, paper and thousands of other products made from wood and wood fiber.

As there are more than 200-million Americans, the equivalent of over 200 million trees must be harvested for our use, and the demand for wood is expected to double by the year 2020.

Fortunately, despite all the wood we've used over the past hundreds of years, America has nearly 75 percent as much land in forests as it did when Columbus landed. Much of the credit for the preservation and restoration of our timberlands goes to good forest management.

Today we know how to grow trees faster than nature, using superior seedlings and effective fertilizers.

Foresters and scientists are developing superior Douglas fir and Southern pine. To develop superior trees, foresters first find the fastest-growing, healthiest trees in the forest. They then take the tips off a few branches. These are grafted to small trees in seed orchards. The seed cones from the superior orchard

As a result of intensive forest management, the development of supertrees and new manufacturing processes, the time cycle between planting and harvesting has been shortened by about half.

Our country has the know-how to keep up with—even keep ahead of—the growing demand for renewable resources, trees.

A SUPERIOR SORT OF TREE is being grown by America's forestry companies.

These trees are then fertilized with pollen from other superior trees, and the resulting seedlings are planted in nurseries. When the seedlings are a few months old, they are hand planted in the forest. The seedlings develop into supertrees, which often grow twice as fast as ordinary trees. Supertrees are more resistant to disease, have higher survival rates and have more usable wood fiber.

wood. There are hundreds of billions of board feet of standing softwood saw timber in America, with more than half of it owned by the federal government. If these lands are managed as wisely as privately owned lumber lands, America is in no danger of running out of one of its most valuable renewable resources, trees.

These trees are planted and tended carefully to help make sure we have all the wood we need.

As a result of intensive forest management, the development of supertrees and new manufacturing processes, the time cycle between planting and harvesting has been shortened by about half.

Our country has the know-how to keep up with—even keep ahead of—the growing demand for renewable resources, trees.

Student Beneficiaries Should Report Plans

About 870,000 young men and women between 18 and 22 who will be returning to their studies as full-time students late this month or next have one thing in common—they all receive social security benefits, a social security spokesperson said recently.

Social security benefits can be paid to unmarried full-time students when one of their parents receives social security retirement or disability benefits or when a parent dies after working long enough under social security.

Most of these men and women have been receiving benefits throughout their summer vacation because they planned to return to full-time school attendance this fall. But many of them, for one reason or another, may not return to school when the fall term begins.

If this happens, the ex-student should notify social security right away so that benefit checks can be stopped. If checks are not stopped quickly enough, the representative said, the student may have to repay the money he or she received incorrectly.

Another group of young people, whose benefits were stopped last spring because they did not plan to continue in school, can have their benefits started again if they do return to full-time attendance while they are under 22 and unmarried.

But, benefits are not restarted automatically. The student must contact social security and reapply.

More information about social security students' benefits can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

questions and answers

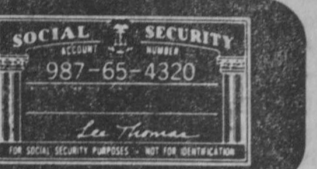

Q. I have been in the hospital for almost a month. Next week, I'm being transferred to a skilled nursing facility. Does Medicare pay for all covered services in a skilled nursing facility?

A. In each benefit period, Medicare hospital insurance pays for all covered services for the first 20 days you need to be in a skilled nursing facility. If you need to be in a skilled nursing facility for more than 20 days, hospital insurance pays for all covered services for the 21st through 100th day, except for $18 a day.

Q. I was recently discharged from the hospital. How can I find out if Medicare paid for all the services I received?

A. Whenever you receive services covered by Medicare hospital insurance, you will get a notice called Medicare Hospital, Extended Care, and Home Health Benefits Record. The notice tells what Medicare paid for and how many days (or visits) were counted for the services you received.

Q. I was 65 several months ago. I've been meaning to apply for SSI payments, but never got around to it. When I do apply, can I get payments back to the month I was 65?

A. No SSI payments can be made for months before an application is filed. If you think you are eligible for SSI, you should apply as soon as possible at any social security office.

Q. I think my grandfather may be eligible for SSI payments. He has very little income, but he does own some valuable items. Are all assets counted for SSI purposes?

A. An individual may have resources (assets) of up to $1,500 and be eligible for SSI payments. The following resources are not counted: a home the person lives in and the land adjacent to it, regardless of value; personal effects or household goods of reasonable value; and life insurance policies with a total face value of $1,500 or less per person. Under certain conditions, a car also is not counted. For more information, call any social security office.

Q. My ex-husband died last month. Can I get survivors benefits on his social security record? We had no children.

A. You may be eligible for monthly survivors checks based on your ex-husband's work record, provided you are 60 or older (50, if you're disabled) and you were married for 20 years or more (10 years for benefits starting January 1979). You can apply at any social security office.

Aim of Contractor to Have Additions Enclosed Before Cold Weather Hits

Work was started last week by MAKO Construction Company of Lincoln on a $405,684 project of alterations and additions to the Iosco County Building in Tawas City. "Depending upon weather conditions, it is expected that the architectural trades contractor will have completed a weatherproof envelope around the major additions before cold weather sets in," said John Dye, architect, as he viewed the start of work Friday.

A Detroit firm was hired to cut through a 52-inch-wide overhang on the circuit court wing at the east side of the building. The ledge is 10 inches thick and consists of solid concrete with steel reinforcing rods.

Removal of the overhang was necessary to facilitate hanging bar steel trusses for the circuit court addition.

After removal of the overhang, the general contractor is to start excavations for footings, concrete foundation walls, dig a basement under the new district court wing, pour concrete floors, build up exterior walls, install roofs, insulate and install windows.

All of this work is to be completed before existing walls in the original portion of the building are entered.

The project includes expansion of the circuit court wing, construction of a new district court wing with enclosed corridor leading into the jail, expansion of vault space for the clerk-treasurer-register of deeds office, renovation of the former district court room for the board of commissioners and renovation of the present county commissioner's room into offices.

In addition, bids are now being accepted for construction of a new parking lot in the former George Prescott property west of the jail, which was purchased earlier this year by the county.

"We do not expect to do anything with the present parking lot behind the county building at this time as that entire area will see heavy use during the construction program. When the construction is completed, that parking lot will be put into

to the building. It is hoped that weather conditions will permit enclosing the new additions before cold weather arrives.—Tawas Herald Photo.

STRIKE MANIA HIT SHORE IN 1881

EMERY BROTHERS mill at East Tawas was one of those plants hit by strike during the summer of 1881. This faded picture was snapped by A. J. Lawson about 1884. The crew stands on and in front of the long tramway used to move lumber from the mill.

A labor dispute in Iosco County was a rare occurrence during the lumbering era, due primarily to the fact that workmen were unorganized and a union was unheard of; too, mill owners and "boss" lumbermen of the state had control of government ranging from the governor's chair at Lansing to the lowest township office, including the judicial system.

By and large, loggers and mill hands were as willing to work as horses—from before dawn until after dusk in the woods, while the standard shift in mills dotting the shore of Tawas Bay or at the mouth of the AuSable River in 1881 was a 12-hour day. Just having a job was paramount; no thought was given to radical labor organizations and collective bargaining was something far in the future.

The average rate of pay for a general laborer along the shore was $1 a day, although the lowest hand was paid 75 cents a day. The rate of pay for more skilled workers ranged up to $3.25 per day for a head sawyer, $2.25 for a machinist, $1.62 for a cut-off sawyer to $3.75 for a saw filer, the highest rate of pay for any workman in a mill.

Dock wallopers, probably the equivalent of today's longshoremen, were the only workmen here with any resemblance of a labor union and they were a loosely knit group of men whose organization primarily functioned to protect their choice hourly-rated jobs from fellow workmen.

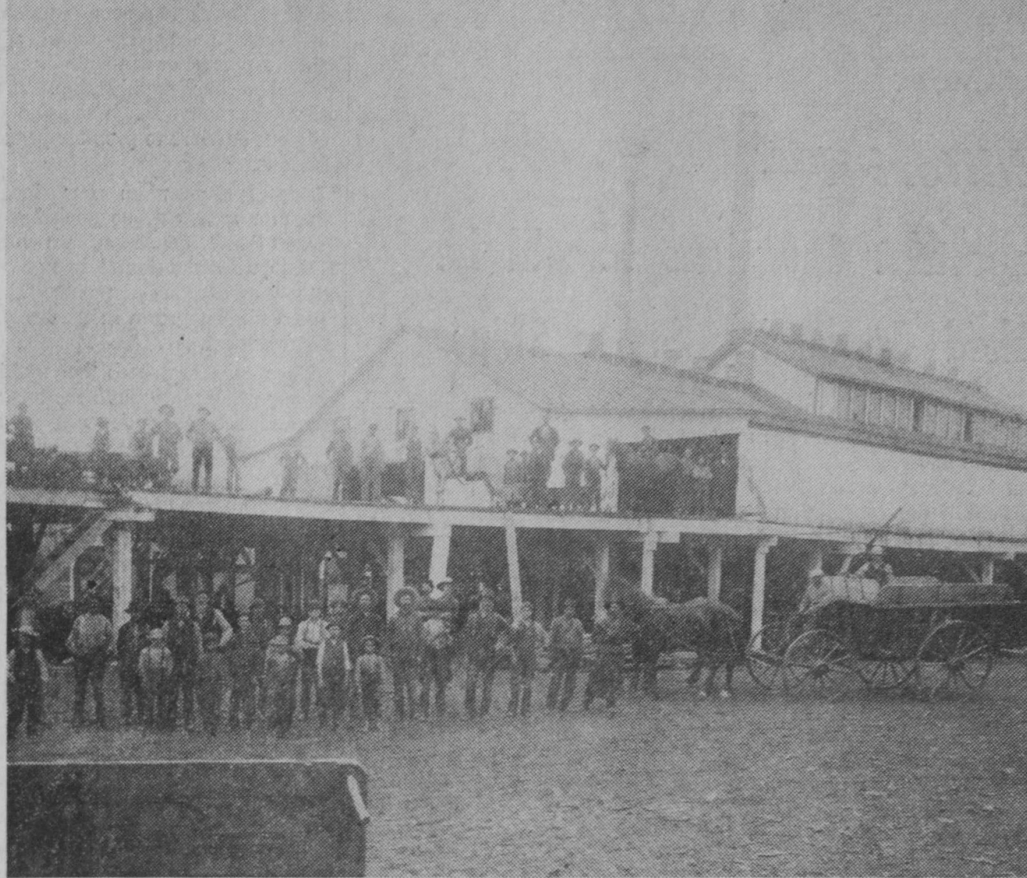

Despite the fact that discontentment by railroad workers around the country boiled over and over again into strikes starting in 1877—resulting in trainmen having their pay increased to $2 for a 12-hour day—scant attention was paid by loggers and mill hands to the improved wages paid in other industries. On the whole, workmen in Iosco's pineries and mills seemed to have cared little about how many hours made a day's work.

There were two major labor disputes in Iosco County during the lumbering era—the one of most importance and of the longest duration closing sawmills of AuSable-Oscoda in 1884. (This story is told in "Cash Every Saturday, or No Sawdust," by the Herald editor.)

The very first note of labor strife in Iosco County came in 1881 and coincided with a general speed-up in the Michigan lumbering industry, which paved the way for a mill revolt. A strike at East Tawas, in August 1881, actually predated a much larger and more publicized walkout of workers on Lake Michigan in the fall of 1881, when employees of the Muskegon Booming Association went on strike for a 10-hour day.

It should be noted, however, there was no concert of action in strikes on the Lake Huron and Lake Michigan sides of the state—separate actions were more or less spontaneous.

On August 18, 1881, The Iosco County Gazette reported that "the striking mania has finally reached the shore." The initiatory step was taken by the crew employed by the

THE MILL of East Tawas Salt and Lumber Company was the first to be closed by strikers in August 1881. Men walked off their jobs and would not permit others to enter the building. Owners threatened to bring in a new crew by steamboat from Bay City, but the men did not budge from their position and won an 11-hour day with only one-half day of work on Saturdays, receiving the same rate as formerly paid for a 12-hour day and a full six days a week. The strike was accomplished by unorganized men as a labor union was never dreamed of during the heyday of Michigan's lumbering industry.

East Tawas Salt and Lumber Company on August 12. Nearly the entire force of that mill walked off the job, demanding adoption of the 11-hour day instead of 12 hours.

"The company refused to comply with the attempted compulsory request," which resulted in temporary cessation from labor in its mill," reported the local newspaper. Results of such an unorganized strike could be anticipated: "By mutual concession, operations were resumed this morning, the positions held by some of the instigators of the strike being filled by other competent men and henceforth but 11½ hours will be required by laborers in the mill, with 11 hours on Saturday."

Similar strikes followed by laborers in Emery Brothers mill—the owners refusing to yield and business was at a standstill—and by workmen at Jenkinson's mill, who were granted the 11-hour request and the mill continued in operation.

At Tawas City, employers at the C. H. Prescott mill, Wenona Salt and Lumber Company mill and C. D. Hale mill voluntarily dropped to 11 hours a day; "laborers at the AuSable mills made similar demands, but we were not authoritatively informed and cannot palm this for fact," said the Gazette.

In the mid-1870s, there was a universal complaint of hard times—thousands of laboring men were out of employment and many men of all professions were idle. There were men on every street corner searching in vain for labor in order that they might earn their bread; in 1881, there was a demand for laborers and that, too, while foreign workmen were pouring into the country by the 10s and 100s of 1,000s.

"The daily account of laborers throughout the county is the best of indications of the prosperity of the country," noted the editor of The Ann Arbor Courier. "There is not a company of workmen to be found foolish enough to strike for higher wages unless they have been steadily employed and with wages enough to keep hunger from their doors."

The downstate editor concluded: "We heard a workman remark a few days ago that now was just the time for them to strike. It is only in a community where a certain kind of labor is demanded that the workmen dare strike and the many cases where concessions have been made or where establishments have been shut up altogether show that there is a demand for labor—and where there need be no idlers, times are good."

On August 25, 1881, the Iosco County Gazette reported that employees of the Oscoda Salt and Lumber Company's mill quit work. Men employed at the "iron mill" stopped and moved en masse to the long timber mill that was still running and compelled men at the latter to strike. (The "iron mill" was so called because of a metal covering on the building as a deterrent to fire.) Later, all hands at the E. F. Loud mill went out on strike and the operations were suspended.

"A meeting of the proprietors of these mills was held last evening and all are determined on making no concessions, declaring that their mills shall lay idle all summer before they will accede to the demands," stated the Gazette.

Reviewing operations of other companies, the Gazette reported that Gram's mill at AuSable was "laid up" for repairs, Moore and Tanner's, along with Pack, Woods and Company and J. E. Potts were still running day and night.

"A large force of men is expected up on the boat tonight to take the places of all strikers," warned the AuSable correspondent to the Gazette.

Operations resumed that week at mills of East Tawas Salt and Lumber Company and Emery Brothers, both at East Tawas, those two firms following the lead of mills at Tawas City in adopting a system requiring each man to labor 11½ hours each day, except Saturday, when mills operated 11 hours.

A not-so-peaceful settlement was reached at AuSable—200 strikers marched on the Potts' mill and demanded closing of the mill until the 11-hour day demand was complied with. The strikers were forbidden to enter the mill and did not attempt to do so and the mill was shut down.

The next night, when the mill again started to operate with a partial crew, some threats were made that no man would be allowed to enter the mill.

Editorial— Important Questions Should be Asked Concerning Super Ships

“Who benefits, who pays and what is the ecological price?” should be uppermost in the public mind in any discussion and eventual consideration for the proposal to turn the Great Lakes into a super highway for giant ships.

A proposal by the United States Corps of Engineers only last week is a multi-billion-dollar plan to open the Upper Great Lakes to larger ships. To many in Michigan—the Great Lakes state—it might seem like a brilliant idea, but from an ecological and economic standpoint, dredging of the world's greatest supply of fresh water certainly bears some watching.

Officially known as the “Great Lakes Connecting Channels and Harbors Study,” and admittedly in a very early stage, a guess of the proposed cost at this point is 9.6-billion-dollar. Basically, the proposal would prepare the Great Lakes for ships up to 1,300 feet in length, as compared to the present maximum of 1,100 feet.

This would require modification of the Soo Locks, dredging the St. Mary's River, the St. Clair River, the Straits of Mackinac and the Detroit River from 27 to 32 feet, plus modification at 14 Great Lakes ports to enable them to handle the larger vessels.

Supporters say this massive tax supported project would stimulate economy by giving a shot in the arm to the shipping industry; it would also speed the movement of bulk natural resources, including iron ore, coal and limestone.

“Is this super highway trip necessary?” should be one question asked by the general public and certainly by the country's political leaders.

It only serves to remind this corner of the study a few years ago concerning the crackpot scheme of maintaining an open shipping channel in the Great Lakes during winter months through heating of the water. That idea apparently was scrapped because of the high cost; was enough thought given to the ecological effects on the Great Lakes, or the potential climatical effects on a good share of the Northern Hemisphere through maintaining an open channel with heated water?

The Great Lakes should not be given over entirely to transportation—it is not out of balance yet—but how much more can the Great Lakes take without harming water quality? It would appear that this great federal subsidy would benefit a few industries at the expense of the environment.

People right here in Iosco County have a great stake in such a proposal and should be asking questions of congressional representatives.

(Read 2 Corinthians 9:1-9)

“Each one must do as he has made up his mind, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver.” (2 Corinthians 9:7 RSV)

A project entitled “The Fellowship of the Least Coin” has reached global dimensions. Thousands of women on every continent from the poorest to the wealthiest have shared together in this fellowship. The project began when an Indian woman, in 1956, saw the need of a world fellowship among women. She asked that each woman set aside a penny each month as a symbol of her membership. The project has cut through racial and religious barriers to promote peace and love.

This spring when our local church women's group pooled our “Least Coin” collection, we had $119. Some of the women had given more than a penny a month. The least coin had grown in the hearts of our women.

When Jesus watched the multitudes putting money into the treasury and the poor widow put in a penny, He said to His disciples, “Truly . . . this poor widow has put in more than all those who are contributing to the treasury. For they all contributed out of their abundance; but she out of her poverty has put in everything she had, her whole living.”

PRAYER

Father, help us to remember that how much we give is not the most important thing but the spirit in which we give it. Amen.

State Closes Discussion on US-23 Project

October 9, 1963—John E. Meyer, director of engineering for the state highway department, told the Tawas City Council this week that he could not see the necessity for any further meetings concerning the US-23 project through Tawas City. The city had hoped to discuss local objections to the proposal in order to reach some compromise, but the highway spokesman said it appears it is impossible for agreement on the project. Failure to receive concurrence from the city 60 days previous to the contract letting date “will force us to defer the project indefinitely,” said Meyer.

Heading up the new Tawas Area Community Chest are Mrs. George A. Prescott, chairman; Harold Gould, vice chairman; Richard Harwood, treasurer.

J. Richard Newman, East Tawas city attorney since April 1952, announced that he was retiring from that position effective November 1.

A new dog control ordinance was adopted Monday night by the East Tawas Council. The ordinance provides that when not on a leash, dogs must be securely tied or penned.

Irvin Peterson of Coon Rapids, Minnesota, and Ron Hohman, Oscoda, won top prize money of $1,200 Sunday in the 16th annual running of the AuSable River Valley Canoe Race.

October 9, 1953—Architect Henry Haberkorn, who has been working with the Tawas Area School Advisory Council in the study of potential sites for a new school, told the board of education that, from an engineering standpoint, the Neumann-Reinke property between the Plank Road and M-55 was the most practical.

Davison-Rose Builders, Incorporated, Tawas City, has been awarded two school contracts totaling $316,680. They were successful bidders on the Comins Agricultural School at Fairview and a new school at Ovid.

A permit was issued Monday to Joseph Lubaway of Wyandotte for construction of a new masonry building east of the Graystone on Lake Street in Tawas City.

The federal government intends to trim its payrolls by 100,000 more jobs, but actually fire less than one-half that number. By next

The department of agriculture has ordered an investigation of meat prices, with the purpose of determining why there is so broad a gulf between the price of meat on the farm and on the market counter.

October 8, 1943—Superintendents of various Iosco County schools volunteered services of school children in the “Victory Scrap Bank Drive.” School children of the county collected 800 tons of scrap metal in the last drive and the Tawas City School earned $50 to help purchase a stage curtain for the auditorium.

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized abandonment of the Prescott Division of the Detroit and Mackinac Railroad. Discontinuance of this branch leaves Whittemore and Prescott without railroad service.

Expect 25 Percent Increase in 1978 Home Construction

New residential construction starts in the county during the four-month period from April through August totaled $3,118,910, according to a report Thursday by Edward Sterling, director of the Iosco County Building and Safety Inspection Department.

The department handles issuance of building permits and inspections for construction in all but five units of the county, including Alabaster, AuSable, Tawas and Plainfield Townships, along with the City of East Tawas.

With figures for September not included in the above total, plus permits expected while good construction weather lasts this fall, Sterling said he believed the 1978 total would be 25 percent higher than last year.

April was the biggest month for issuance of residential permits with valuation of 25 homes totaling $769,000. There were 28 residential permits issued in May with a valuation of $798,364, followed by 21 permits in June at $588,083, 15 in July at $599,220 and 16 in August with a total of $464,243.

Residential alterations in August had a valuation of $75,492, preceded by $53,861 in July, $27,261 in June, $61,393 in May and $41,711 in April.

A number of high valuation commercial and industrial permits were issued during that period, including an $870,000 project for the Aldersgate Apartments at Oscoda, a $90,000 warehouse (100 by 150 feet) for Starboard Industries on Aulerich Road, remodeling of a resort at Oscoda of $102,800, the new Huron Beach Apartments at Oscoda costing $905,000, two new commercial buildings at $152,800, a $90,000 addition at the Valcraft plant at Whittemore.

Permits issued for public buildings included $1,010,050 for the addition to Tawas Hospital and $406,284 for the additions and alterations to the Iosco County Building.

Sterling's department provides electrical and plumbing inspection for nearly the entire county and, depending on state action, he expects that his department will be enforcing Michigan's new heating code early in January.

This inspection, which also would cover refrigeration and air conditioning, would require permits for all heating plants utilizing gas, liquid (oil) and solid fuel (wood and coal).

On Display at Inglis Ford

The all-new 1979 model Ford LTD and Mustang are now on display at Inglis Ford Sales, Incorporated, Tawas City.

Ford Motor Company invested more than 1.2-billion dollars to redesign and re-engineer its full size and sporty specialty car lines for 1979—the first time in 14 years that Ford Division has introduced two entirely new and different domestic car lines during a single calendar year, according to William Inglis, president of the local agency.

Only the ninth all new, full sized Ford in the company's 75-year history, the redesigned LTD has more head room, leg room and shoulder room for 1979. There is a full range of two and four-door sedans and station wagon models with the LTD's traditionally long list of optional equipment choices.

Standard LTD sedans and station wagons have single rectangular headlamps, while top-of-the-line LTD Landau models and Country Squire station wagons are distinguished by a unique grille treatment with dual rectangular headlamps. All models continue to offer a high level of standard equipment including power steering, power front disc brakes, steel-belted radial-ply tires, an automatic transmission and a V-8 engine.

"The 1979 Mustang is a fun-to-drive car with bodystyles, options and performance features that will appeal to a variety of new car buyers," Inglis explained. "It is one of the most versatile cars we have ever offered and is sportier and roomier than last year's models."

Travel Series at W-P High School

Whittemore-Prescott Community Education Department is presenting its "Travel and Adventure Series" which will include six nationally-known adventurers and explorers who are artists in the travelogue field. They appear on such major platforms as National Geographic, Washington, D. C.; Town Hall, New York City, New York; Orchestra Hall, Chicago, Illinois; and Town Hall, San Francisco, California.

Each is a professional photographer with many years of experience. These personally filmed, all-color motion pictures are especially popular because the man who filmed the picture appears in person and narrates his film. In addition to the thrilling motion pictures and personal narration, many of the travelogues include a musical background and special sound effects for added enjoyment and realism.

Each member of the family, young and old, enjoys the travelogues for they are wholesome, educational and adventurous entertainment.

Wednesday evening, October 11, the first program of the series will feature Roman Wilhelmisen presenting "Viva Mexico" in the Whittemore-Prescott High School Auditorium. A resident of East Lansing, the guest speaker attended St. Joseph's College for two years and graduated from Pasadena Playhouse. He started his professional career on the stage and enjoyed two successful seasons on Broadway.

Iosco Commissioners Study Health Department's Budget

Two Iosco County commissioners, David George and John Webb Jr., are completing an independent study of the proposed District Health Department No. 2 budget for 1979 and are to report their findings at a meeting of the board of directors.

According to the two commissioners, a $531,816 budget has been proposed next year, as compared to the current budget of $460,227.

Webb said that the budget at present calls for a 14.9 percent increase in wages. Other changes proposed included early retirement for employees at age 55 with no reduction in retirement benefits, plus paid medical insurance for employees and families after retirement.

Webb and Allen said they were making a comparison of wages and benefits paid in this district with other health districts in the state.

Webb said that the proposed new budget had been tentatively approved by the other counties in the district, Ogemaw, Alcona and Oscoda, but he believed that all aspects of the budget had not been considered by those counties and he did not believe the Iosco County Board of Commissioners could accept the proposal.

Under the cost sharing formula between the four counties, Iosco's share would increase from the $85,000 paid this year to $98,548 in 1979.

Hale Board and Teachers OK Contract

Hale Area Board of Education approved a one-year contract extension last week with the Hale Area Education Association calling for a three to seven percent cost of living adjustment in wages.

The adjustment in salaries paid by the district would be based on an acceptable index and could not drop below three percent. If the cost of living increased over 10 percent, the contract would be negotiable.

The contract was not due to expire until September 30, 1979, and the agreement was extended to September 30, 1980, which is a rather unique situation in contract negotiations.

The contract provides health insurance benefits of $1,236 for full family coverage for one year, a couple at $1,080 and a single person at $600.

As a means of eliminating possible dual health insurance coverage by man and wife wage earners, the school district would pay up to $600 in other insurance benefits to those dropping the dual coverage.

Effective next year, the school district is to pay part of the cost of eye examinations.

Thirty-eight teachers are covered under the contract.

Final EMT Classes Set at Tawas Hospital

Final instruction classes offered by Tawas Hospital to facilitate study for the state emergency medical technician certification examination are slated for Monday, October 9 and 23, at the Masonic Temple on M-55, Tawas City. Starting time is 7:00 p. m. and classes will last approximately two hours.

No application is necessary but students must furnish a textbook. There are no fees for this course.

GIVE YOUR BUDGET A CHECKUP (Part two of three-part series)

So the family has the budget blues. Maybe you know just where it hurts; maybe you know only that something's not right. Before taking the shotgun approach to curing financial woes, give the budget a checkup and find out where it is ailing. Curing any problem is easier if it is known what to treat!

Start by examining family goals, both short-range and long-range. Short-range goals may include anything from new tennis shoes for kids to paying off an item bought on a revolving charge account within the no-service-charge period. Long-range goals may include a house, a vacation, a new car or security for retirement years.

In view of the resources available, are goals realistic?

Estimate total income for the coming year. Be realistic. If a year-end bonus is "iffy," do not count on it. Exclude overtime, which may or may not be available, and include a raise only if it is a sure thing. Is unemployment a possibility? Then find out what income would be if depending on unemployment compensation.

For a two-income family, take into account what would happen to family finances if those two incomes should dwindle to one. A new baby, a long illness, a lay-off could end the second pay check upon which the family finances are depending.

Is income holding steady or rising slightly while expenses are skyrocketing? That means buying power is shrinking and that is part of the picture, too. After looking at goals and resources, it is time to get down to the nitty-gritty: Where is the money really going? How much is spent on the so-called fixed expenses: Rent or mortgage payment, installment payments, utilities, taxes, insurance? What is spent on flexible expenses: Food, clothing, household furnishings and improvements, gifts, health care, entertainment and recreation?

Do not trust powers of guesstimation! Use the checkbook record, save cash register receipts or keep notes on the back of an envelope to figure out where the money is going.

The final step is deciding where adjustments can be made.

SAWYERS AND HELPERS in the C. H. Prescott mill, Tawas City, are pictured here. Owners of the three major mills in Tawas City agreed to an 11-hour day before employees went on strike. This picture was snapped several years after the first major labor-management confrontation in Iosco County.

Strike

lowed to go to work. A telegraphic message was relayed to Sheriff J. W. King at Tawas City and, after a few hours, the sheriff arrived at AuSable with three deputies, John B. McRoberts, E. Emerson and E. Hawkins. One striker was arrested for making threats.

However, a large crowd of men assembled on the bridge over the AuSable River and would not allow anyone to enter the AuSable Salt and Lumber Company's long timber mill to go to work. The sheriff and his posse went into the crowd to assist the men who wanted to work, but the officers were set upon by strikers with clubs. The sheriff was not permitted to make any arrests nor allow any workmen to go into the mill.

Deputy Sheriff Quinn of AuSable was struck over the head with a club and, after holding to his assailant with a firm grip for the entire length of the bridge, was forced to release his hold. Sheriff King was knocked down with a club and, finding he could not control the crowd, drew his revolver and fired two shots. One bullet grazed a man's hip, but did no harm. The sheriff and his assistants were all slightly injured and moved away from the bridge without making any arrests, the sheriff losing his hat in the encounter.

After dinner, a large number of men again assembled at the bridge with a banner reading, "11 Hours a Day, Same Pay or No Work." About 50 men marched in procession across the river to Pack, Woods and Company at Oscoda, followed by about 200 on-lookers. They were quiet and orderly and made no demonstrations.

"Here they were told the company's men were satisfied with their wages and hours and they did not want to strike," reported the AuSable News. "Four of the leaders went into the company's office with Greene Pack and Pros. Atty. C. R. Henry to discuss the matter in all its forms."

Henry explained the law to strike leaders and just what the result would be if they persisted. "He told them they must stop obstructing the streets and trying to prevent men from working; that things had come to such a pass that he should call on every citizen of the county, if necessary, and arrest them; and if sufficient power could not be raised in the county, he should call on the governor for troops," reported the newspaper at AuSable.

After listening to the prosecuting attorney, the strike leaders talked to their fellow workmen and the crowd soon dispersed. All of the mills except Pack, Woods and Company were shut down.

"No fears of a riot are now entertained, although both mill owners and strikers remain firm. The strikers are nearly all French, do not understand the laws and there is no doubt someone has been lying to them, hoping to make the trouble worse," said the local editor.

Finally, on August 29, 1881, the strike ended, the mill owners accepting the 11-hour day. Nearly twice as many men as needed at the mills were on hand when whistles blew at 1:00 p. m.—sending the gang saws, circular saws and other steam-operated equipment back into motion.

Workmen of the Tawas, AuSable and Oscoda won their first concession from employers through united action—a shorter work day, without loss in pay. The same issues were to reoccur three years later in a more dramatic way when a strike was again centered at the mouth of the AuSable River.

The only "losers" in the 1881 strike were certain businessmen of AuSable, as recorded by The Iosco County Gazette: "The saloonkeepers say the strike was productive of no especial good to them as their whiskey sales were very light. One of them says it was worse than a legal holiday."

Workmen of the twin towns were commended for avoiding saloons during the strike—throughout the week, hardly a man under the influence of liquor was seen among the strikers. Those few who tipped the bottle did so at AuSable, for Oscoda was a "dry" village devoid of saloons by township charter.

Construction

shape," said the architect.

It is expected that there will be considerable inconvenience caused by noise and dust during the construction project, but additional room in the building is essential for the operation of the county.

The present building was constructed in 1953, which was prior to formation of district courts by the state. As a result, the district court wing is a major feature of the new building. To be located in the present court area between the county building and jail, a basement under that wing will be used for record storage.

Additional office and library space is to be provided in the circuit court wing and expanded vault space is much needed in the three major county offices.

The present district court wing at the northeast corner of the building is actually the only addition to the original building and was first intended for use of the county commission.

"Because of the lack of space when the district court was formed, it was converted into court use.

Tawas Kiwanis Club Opens RIGHTSTART Program

Tawas Kiwanis Club is launching a new program called RIGHTSTART aimed at involving children in activities which will supplement the role of the family, itself, in teaching basic beliefs and basic values. The program will also seek to strengthen the family unit so that it can discharge its traditional role in society.

The local program began October 1, according to Leonard Hosbach, president of the club. He said RIGHTSTART, which was initially introduced to Kiwanians at the 63rd annual convention at Miami Beach, Florida, last June, will be worldwide in scope.

The program will be aimed at working with young people from the first grade up to the teens. All traditional youth activities will be employed, including sponsorship of athletic events and scholastic competitions, setting up part-time work projects, teaching young people how to recognize and protect themselves against potential criminals and the like.

The technique which will set this program apart, however, from other youth programs, the club president said, will be the personal involvement of Kiwanis members in the activities.

"We will do more than simply sponsor," he said, "we will act as coaches, instructors, judges, employers and partners."

The club president said that one highly important phase of RIGHTSTART will be the support by Kiwanians for every youngster desiring to participate in such ongoing programs as Boy Scouts of America, 4-H Club, girls clubs, Girl Scouts of America, Future Farmers of America and others.

The Kiwanis Club has no intention of intruding in the affairs of families in trying to reaffirm the family's traditional role of teaching basic values and basic truths. It will, however, work with organizations seeking to strengthen community functions, such as schools, recreational facilities, law enforcement and family counseling, which provide the climate for stronger family units.

Judge Allan C. Miller of Tawas City, international chairman, spoke recently at Chicago, Illinois, to Kiwanians from throughout the world. He said that the program was adopted following a survey which showed leading citizens in all walks of life throughout the world as being concerned for the "decline of the family's influence" and the resultant lowering of moral standards of young people and their ability to handle the problems of life in a mature and effective way.

Tawas Kiwanis Club began its program Tuesday with an inventory of children between the ages of five and 12 years, along with a presentation by Mark Bell, local child protective worker.

shape," said the architect.

It is expected that there will be considerable inconvenience caused by noise and dust during the construction project, but additional room in the building is essential for the operation of the county.

The present building was constructed in 1953, which was prior to formation of district courts by the state. As a result, the district court wing is a major feature of the new building. To be located in the present court area between the county building and jail, a basement under that wing will be used for record storage.

Additional office and library space is to be provided in the circuit court wing and expanded vault space is much needed in the three major county offices.

"Because of the lack of space when the district court was formed, it was converted into court use.
