

Commissioners Made A Point on Budget

Health Services Restored to Iosco

Members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners "won" their point Monday with fellow members of District No. 2 Health Department's board of directors and planned reduction of health services to this county will not take place.

Holding its monthly meeting at the Iosco County Building, the board of directors voted to restore services to Iosco which had been cut at a meeting August 14 of the department's administrative committee. The action, however, was not without heated debate and three members abstaining from voting. With four members voting in favor of restoring service, the deciding vote was cast by Harold Fletcher of Alcona County; chairman, breaking a deadlock as five votes were required for a quorum.

Additional action by the board of directors saw a five to three roll call vote approving the return of $11,506 in supplemental funds to Alcona, Oscoda and Ogemaw Counties. The board's resolution indicated that reduction of service would not take place elsewhere in the district this year.

Controversy had arisen earlier this year when Iosco's members opposed paying additional money over and above the 1978 budget appropriation. Iosco had been asked to allocate an additional $9,208 to supplement the 1978 budget and, when officials from this county refused to make the appropriation, the health department's administrative board directed that services be cut to this county.

David George, John Webb and John McArdle, all members of the Iosco County Board of Commissioners, successfully argued that the supplement to the budget was not necessary as the department would actually end the year with a substantial balance of $30,000 used for cash flow.

Iosco's members indicated that this county's annual appropriation would be made earlier in January to avoid a problem with the district's cash flow.

George, who made an extensive study of the budget and formula used to compute each county's allocation, has contended that Iosco County is paying more than its fair share of the budget since Wurtsmith Air Force Base's population of approximately 7,000 persons is included in Iosco's total. This argument is of long standing and has never been accepted by the other counties.

The Iosco County Board of Commissioners has felt that including the base population in the formula is unfair since the department does not serve base residents with environmental health and nursing and that Iosco has overpaid its allocation by about four percent for a number of years.

The formula used to compute local contributions is based 50 percent on population and 50 percent on property valuation. Appropriations by the four counties and the percentage paid by each in 1978 were: Alcona, $40,683, 19 percent; Iosco, $85,000, 45 percent; Ogemaw, $53,928, 25 percent; Oscoda, $23,101, 11 percent.

Although the controversy over the formula has existed for a number of years, Iosco's problem with the other three counties currently dates back to 1976 when this county would only match its previous year's appropriation of $60,282.

When supplemental appropriations were made by the other three counties that year, one part-time nurse and three township inspectors were laid off, with regular full time staff from the Iosco County office covering these services. Blood pressure screening clinics were eliminated, nuisance complaints were put on a waiting list, mother-infant at risk visits were cut back, other non-critical general public health nursing services were reduced in this county and the sanitarians had to spend more time in Alcona County.

Iosco's $60,282 appropriation in 1975 represented 47 percent of the budget, the same amount in 1976 dropped the share to 41 percent, while an appropriation of $81,920 in 1977 was considered 45 percent and the 1978 appropriation of $85,000 is at 45 percent.

An announcement distributed last week to local news media by the district health department stated that local public health service changes were required "as a result of the fact that the Iosco County Board of Commissioners decided not to provide its share of local appropriations." According to officials at the county building, Iosco is current on its $85,000 appropriation for 1978 but refused to pay the supplemental amount of $9,208.

At the same time, last week's announcement said that "services in Alcona, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties will continue or may even increase since those counties provided the necessary funds to the four-county local agency."

Monday's action rescinded the above action and supplemental money is to be returned to the other three counties.

During Monday's discussion on a tentative budget of $531,816 for the district health department during 1979, it was reported that a 15 percent cost of living increase had been requested by employees.

Commissioner George of Iosco County pointed out that property taxes received by this county were not advancing at the same rate as the cost of operation of the district health department. The tentative budget indicates a $13,548 increase in Iosco's appropriation for 1979. Increases proposed for the other counties include: Alcona, $4,101; Ogemaw, $2,065; Oscoda, $1,536.

Using Commissioner George's survey, Iosco received 41 percent of the services in 1977 and paid 45 percent of the budget.

A letter from Ray Kesler, supervisor of Plainfield Township, was read during the meeting which suggested that an impartial mediator be secured to arrive at an agreeable formula to meet the problem. Such action was not necessary due to the vote by the board of directors.

"We can't have our cake and eat it, too," commented Kesler. He pointed out that when the air base census is used to increase federal revenue sharing to this county, "we are all happy; but now, when this same census is costing us money, an issue is raised."

AN INSPECTION of the expanded water system serving the Tawas and Baldwin Township was made Friday by members of the Iosco County Department of Public Works, which has handled administration during construction. Water tanks like the one pictured above are located in Tawas City and Baldwin Township which provide 500,000 gallons of storage and pressure on each end of the system. A 500,000-gallon above ground storage facility at East Tawas provides water from the filtration plant to serve each end of the system. The new system has been in operation for the past two weeks, but work by contractors has not been completed as yet. The old water tank behind the Tawas City Hall was removed from the system on Monday and the tank was drained.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Hale Enrollment Stable at 812; Up by Two Students

A preliminary fourth Friday count at Hale Area School announced at Monday night's meeting of the board of education revealed that enrollment has stabilized in this school district.

Supt. Wayne Case said that the count on Friday indicated that there were 812 students in the school district, as compared to 810 last year.

In other business, the bid of Farmers and Merchants State Bank was accepted for the purchase of $300,000 in tax anticipation notes. The local bank submitted the low bid of 5.04 as the interest rate to be charged, as compared to a bid of 5.5 percent submitted by Community Bank of Bad Axe.

The superintendent reported that progress on renovation of the elementary unit was nearly completed. This $31,600 program paid by district funds saw reduction in the number of windows, dropping of ceilings in classrooms, new electrical equipment and insulation. The project was designed to save energy.

A relocatable classroom is to be moved near the shop area for use by special education classes.

An offer to purchase property for school use was rejected by Melvin

Teachers Criticize TA Superintendent

Criticism leveled by the president of Tawas Area Federation of Teachers at Monday night's board of education meeting was parried by Supt. Robert Halle, but criticism by a teaching staff member was discussed at the regular board meeting and later discussed in executive session.

Kenneth Tanner, TAFT president, an elementary teacher, told board members that staff morale was extremely low due to the fact that contract negotiations had not been completed and he was disappointed over the fact that a get-acquainted breakfast had not been held this year for staff members, administrators and board of education members.

Tanner was particularly critical of Superintendent Halle, stating the superintendent had delayed in placing orders for expendable materials used for classroom instruction in the new term. He said that teachers had submitted orders last February for basic consumable materials through building principals, that the orders were returned to building principals and cuts were then made.

The union president said that the final list was completed in May, that millage was renewed by voters in June, but a considerable amount of materials still had not arrived. He said, too, that certain orders for materials had been canceled and felt that cuts in supplies were illogical.

The union president also criticized the school for its lack of regular teaching stations, that there currently were two unfilled positions in the elementary staff, that classroom aides were not always

Negotiators Met Informally on Monday

An informal meeting was held Monday between negotiating teams representing Tawas Area Federation of Teachers and Tawas Area Board of Education in an effort to clear the air and get back to the bargaining table.

Attending the meeting were Harry Cook, chief representative for TAFT and the union's state representative, while the board of education was represented by Jerry Youngs, middle school principal, and Thomas Basil, the board of education's negotiator.

Also attending the informal meeting was Supt. Robert Halle.

The last meeting between the two negotiation teams was held August 14 with a state mediator and discussion was held at that time on possibly bringing in a fact finder in (See NEGOTIATIONS, page 7.)

The launching ramp was not as busy last Saturday and Sunday as the previous week-end, but the fall fishing season is expected to bring another surge of fishermen. The mouth of the Tawas River was again dredged over the week-end but wave action Monday filled in much of the work.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Attorneys Want Answers Controversy Still Stirring Over Co. Building Contract

Davison and Son Builders of Tawas City this week uses a page advertisement in this newspaper to ask the county to reconsider recent action in accepting bids for county building expansion.

Signed by 30 employees of the firm, the advertisement claims that the county board of commissioners used its right to waive irregularities in other bids, but did not waive any irregularity in Davison and Son Builders' bid.

The local firm claims that acceptance of its bid would save $17,284 and employ county laborers and taxpayers with county funds.

At the bid opening August 21, Davison and Son submitted a proposal for the entire project, totaling $392,000. The proposal listed $292,000 for architectural trades, $70,000 for mechanical and $30,000 for electrical trades, but a notation on the bid form stated it was Davison's intent to bid on the entire project and totals for the three different proposals were for bookkeeping purposes only.

John Dye, architect for this project, said Friday that Davison and Son had not followed specifications for bids. He said that separate bids were required for architectural trades, mechanical trades and electrical trades and Davison's combined bid was contrary to specifications, resulting in automatic disqualification.

Dye said, too, that an addenda to the county's original specifications failed to mention a bid bond requirement. He said that one contractor questioned this and did not include a bid bond with his proposal. Dye said the bond would be handled through the general contractor and that the contractor had agreed to honor his bid.

The architect also pointed out that the county building authority, which actually is handling the project rather than the county board of commissioners, reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

On a gloomy day when the youngsters are bored, introduce them to Instant Bread Pudding. Made with Jell-O vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling, left-over bread and other on-hand ingredients, it's a dessert children enjoy making and eating. And when they have a hand in preparing meals, picky appetites suddenly improve. One 1/2-cup serving of this particular dessert, made with milk and enriched bread, provides about 10 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances for protein, calcium and riboflavin.

INSTANT BREAD PUDDING

- 8 to 10 slices white bread
- 2 packages (4-serving size) vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 4 cups cold milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts

Trim crusts from bread; toast and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Arrange half of the bread cubes in 1-1/2-quart baking dish. Prepare pudding mix with milk as directed on package for pudding, adding salt, nutmeg, cinnamon and vanilla before beating. Pour half the pudding over bread cubes, add remaining bread cubes and top with remaining pudding. Combine brown sugar and nuts. Sprinkle over pudding, and broil 2 to 3 minutes. Chill. Makes 6 cups or 10 to 12 servings.

Not a Cure All Auto Lemon Law Can Help Some

The new auto lemon law will not solve all consumer headaches with defective cars but it does provide additional protection for consumers who finance their cars through a dealership.

When a consumer buys a car on an installment contract from a dealer, the dealership usually sells the contract to a financial institution so the dealer can have immediate access to the money for the car. Consequently, the consumer is actually paying a third party—the financial institution—for the automobile.

Problems arise when the car turns out to be a lemon—when it continually breaks down and the dealer cannot or will not repair it to the consumer's satisfaction. Before the new law, the consumer was generally forced to continue to pay for the car having no recourse insofar as the third-party financial institution was concerned.

Under the new auto lemon law, the financial institution is subject to the same claims and defenses in court that a consumer may raise if the dealer were still holding the contract.

In other words, if a consumer stops making payments on a car loan because the car is defective and the financial institution sues to collect back payments, then the consumer has some leverage in court. If the financial institution sues, the car owner can explain to the judge that payments were being withheld because the car did not measure up to the terms of the dealer's agreement. For example, the dealer was not honoring the warranty. Before this, a judge could refuse to consider the consumer's reasons for withholding payments.

Confusion about the new law arises because many people are under the impression that in order to have something repossessed, the holder of the contract must first go to court. That is true if the repossession would breach the peace; consequently, for most consumer items a court order is used. But for cars it is possible to hot wire or tow them from the street or parking lot without "breaching the peace." This is called "self-help" repossession where, quite simply, the company helps itself to the consumer's car.

Before taking the extreme step of withholding payments, consumers should complain to the manager or owner of the dealership. Often the problem can be solved at this point because most businesses want to keep their customers satisfied.

For a free brochure on how to complain effectively, write the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, 106 West Allegan, Lansing, 48933.

If talking to the management does not work, consumers should call the state's Bureau of Automotive Regulation toll-free at 1-800-292-4204.

Final Study Meeting Held Tuesday on Plans for TA Classroom Addition

A meeting was held Tuesday between the architect, staff members, administration and board of education members to discuss proposed plans for an addition to the Tawas City Elementary Unit.

To be financed through establishment of a building and site fund using $210,000 in delinquent taxes, approved at the annual election by voters, the proposed construction will see the addition of four or five new classrooms.

A representative of the architectural firm, Brysselbout, Hacker and Simon, was present at Monday night's meeting of the board of education to present revised plans.

Tentative approval of plans could have been given Tuesday in order to speed the process of approval at the state level. It is expected that approximately 14 weeks will be required for approval from the state fire marshal's office.

An attempt is being made to provide as many functional classrooms as possible with a minimum expenditure of money. The architect reported that the boiler used in heating the unit was in excellent condition and had a large enough capacity for the addition of 12 to 13 rooms. A converter will be used in the system to utilize hot water rather than steam.

Tuesday's meeting was for the purpose of discussing size of classrooms. Most classrooms in the present structure have 800 feet of floor space and the proposed new classrooms have 765 square feet of floor space.

In other business, Terry Grabow presented the annual school audit.

EAST TAWAS Volunteer Fire Department held its annual picnic Sunday afternoon at Dillon Memorial Park. Organized games were held for children of firemen and all enjoyed rides on the

Davison

received the architectural trades contract at a cost of $255,684; the mechanical contract went to Bay View Plumbing, Rogers City, at a cost of $118,000; Spark Electric, Auburn, received the electrical contract at a cost of $32,600.

Attorneys for Davison and Son Monday submitted a letter to the county board of commissioners asking a "freeze" on considering and proceeding further with the construction of the proposed addition and its consequent funding.

The letter, submitted by Atty. Brent R. Babcock and James W. Shotwell, requested a copy of bids accepted by the county building authority and a copy of the meeting minutes and reasons given for acceptance or rejection of bids.

A previous letter from the attorneys requested "the rationale employed in rejecting" Davison and Son's bid.

The latest letter said it was not the purpose to delay construction of the proposed addition, but "it is the purpose of this letter to insure that the rights of all persons concerned in this matter are given proper consideration."

Negotiations

order to reach a contract settlement. TAFT represents 86 members of the teaching faculty.

A session was held Monday with a state mediator on contract negotiations between the school and Local 1545 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represents non-certificated personnel.

The contract with this union expires October 1 and it is expected that a contract extension will be requested to permit further negotiations.

Criticism

materials in classrooms in the form of ditto work sheets, workbooks, fill in a blank tests. It was his opinion that some of the material requested showed little creativity and originality by the teachers.

He also questioned if materials ordered related to current curriculum and textbook programs at the various grade levels. In one particular instance, Halle recalled that certain materials did not fit into this school program. The superintendent said that he had reviewed materials during the summer "so we don't go off on a wild goose chase."

As for space problems in the school, Halle said that lowering enrollment would see improvement at the high school in another year and that plans were now being studied for an addition at the elementary unit. "We are also better off space wise than four years ago," he stated.

Halle said that substitutes were being used to fill two elementary positions until those positions were filled. As for the lack of a staff breakfast on opening day, Halle said that a decision had been reached with principals that teachers could better use a full day to prepare for the opening of school rather than to hold the breakfast.

The second encounter with a staff member at the board of education meeting saw T. D. Haskin enter a complaint over elimination of one class Monday and "dumping" 22 students in his classes which raised his class size from 23 students to 29 or 30 students in three sections.

Haskin claimed the move was made because the superintendent had not favored his recent appointment by the board of education as the school's athletic director. He said that one of his sections was eliminated in order to give him time to devote to his athletic director duties, but a class formerly taught by another teacher was eliminated Monday and those students were distributed in his three remaining sections.

He felt the move was not fair and may result in litigation. He felt that students would suffer as his classes were now too large.

Prin. Jerry Youngs said that the decision to make the change followed study of enrollment since last Friday. He said that the junior high school had picked up 15 new seventh graders this year, while eight to 10 students left the eighth grade, which required a redistribution of students in some class sections. The contractual maximum number of students per class is 30 students.

An executive session was held with Haskin, Tanner, board of education members and administrators following the meeting.

Following the executive session, the board of education returned to the meeting room and expressed its support of the superintendent and principal in adjusting class sizes concerning the three sections of social studies taught by Haskin.

WHY FREEZE APPLES? HERE'S WHY

Why put apples in the freezer when you can buy them fresh the year around? The best reason is to hoard favorite varieties that may not be available later in the year. Many popular varieties for cooking and baking such as Baldwin, Northern Spy, Newtown Pippin, Rhode Island Greening and York Imperial are available during the fall months. However, because of demand for them for commercial processing they are less readily available in later months of the year.

It takes about two pounds of apples to make a quart. There are three ways to freeze them: dry pack, sugar pack or in syrup. Dry pack is done without the addition of sugar. The apples must be scalded or steamed for 1 1/2 minutes before packing. For the sugar pack, sugar is added to the prepared fruit before packing it into containers. Some cooks heap the prepared apples into pie pans for freezing and they are ready to put into crust-lined pie pans. Fresh apple pies can be assembled in a matter of minutes. After the sugared apple slices are frozen, remove from pie pans and wrap in foil packages, pre-shaped and measured for the pie shell later on.

Cooks who do a lot of freezing prefer the syrup pack for fruits that tend to darken, such as apples. The cored and pared apples are sliced into a brine made with 3 Tablespoons salt to a gallon of water. Prepare the syrup using a cup of sugar to 2 cups of water. Add 1/2 teaspoon powdered ascorbic acid to each quart of syrup and heat to 180 degrees. Dip the drained apple slices into the simmering syrup and simmer 3 minutes. Cool the apples quickly. (Plunge the pan of apples into a sink full of ice water. This prevents over cooking.) Pack the apple slices with the syrup in which they were cooked, into containers that can be sealed tightly. Leave head space of 1/2 inch for pint containers, 3/4 inch for quart containers. Seal. Freeze at once.

Apple pies take well to freezing and can be put in the freezer unbaked or baked. Use your favorite recipe and if you prefer to freeze the pie unbaked, don't slit the top crust. If you have a microwave oven, you may prefer to bake and brown apple pies before freezing. The frozen pie will thaw and bake in a matter of minutes—check the use and care book for your model of range for time and setting. Using a standard gas or electric oven a frozen apple pie should be placed in a 375 degree preheated oven and baked for 30 minutes.

Hale Eagles Had Rough Going in Home Season Opener, 14-0

Hale Area Eagles, defending champion of the North Star League, got off to a shaky start Friday night by losing to visiting Johannesburg-Lewiston, 14-0.

With nine new players on defense and eight newcomers to the offensive unit, the Eagles of Coach Vern Reed II just could not get their game going until the second half.

Jim Payne scored on a one-yard plunge to open Johannesburg's scoring, followed by a nine-yard scoring play by Chuck Westfall on a quarterback option. Payne also ran a two-point conversion.

The Eagles had only 91 yards on the ground and Quarterback Vern Reed III passed for 74 yards. The visitors totaled 335 yards on offense, with 50 coming through the air. Payne had 143 yards on 23 carries.

Daryn Bernard was the leading ball carrier for Hale with 77 yards in 20 attempts. He also had one pass reception for 17 yards.

Reed completed four of 13 passes, hitting Todd Peters twice and Tom Sanders once.

Eric Bellville led the defense with 12 tackles, followed by 10 tackles turned in by Peters, eight by Bernard, eight by Gary Wood and seven by Mark Turnbull.

"We were pleased with the way the team came back in the second half to stop Johannesburg on several touchdown drives. The Eagles eliminated some of their first half mistakes and we had a couple of chances to get back in the ball game, but a fumble and a dropped pass on the five-yard line proved costly."

Reed felt that with a couple of more games under their belts, his Eagles will be making fewer mistakes.

Tawas A. Braves Had 13-0 Shutout Until Final Second Against Meridian

Braves Opened Season With Win

A meeting of two defending champions turned into a defensive battle Friday night as the Tawas Area Braves turned aside Sanford Meridian, 13-7.

The Braves won top honors last season in the Northeastern Michigan Conference while Meridian grabbed the Jack Pine Conference trophy last season.

Tawas again unveiled an outstanding defensive unit to gain some revenge for last year's loss to Meridian. The Braves held their opponents to only 76 yards rushing and 94 yards rushing in 33 plays, with only four first downs.

After a scoreless first half, Tawas broke the ice with one minute, 19 seconds remaining in the third quarter when John Bouchard scored on a three-yard run to cap a 64-yard drive.

With 37 seconds left on the clock, Pete Wood ran four yards to score and Quarterback Bill King kicked the point after touchdown to make it 13-0.

Tawas' defense was caught napping with one second remaining in the game when Meridian's Dan Fillmore passed to Randy Hoyt for a touchdown and Kim Ropp kicked the conversion.

Bouchard was leading ground gainer for the Braves with 144 yards in 20 carries. Wood had 92 yards in 14 carries and Bryant Wilke picked up 63 yards in 11 attempts.

Tawas had 308 yards rushing and 16 first downs. The Braves had two passes without a completion and lost two fumbles. The Braves were penalized 75 yards to 41 yards for the losers.

Leading the defensive unit were Hugh Hofacer and Brian Norton with eight tackles each, followed by seven tackles turned in by Bill Grack, four by Gary Birkenbach and three each by Jim Jurczyk, Joe Paitl and Wood.

Tawas plays host this Friday night to Boyne City in the 1978 home opener.

Bravettes Split Decisions in Opening Games

After losing the season basketball opener to Alcona, 54-50, Tawas Area Bravettes turned back visiting Mio-AuSable Friday night, 61-37.

The opening game September 5 saw the Bravettes fall behind Alcona, 12-9, in the first quarter and were unable to close the gap during the rest of the game.

Joyce Hatcher scored 10 points to top Tawas, while Kari Allen had nine points and nine rebounds. Laurel Minard had six rebounds and Hatcher pulled in four. Traci Aspey led the winners with 20 points.

Tawas turned the tables on Mio Friday night, jumping off to a 20-6 lead in the first quarter. Meg Peterson scored 22 points to lead the winners, followed by Minard's 12 points and 10 for Allen. Linda Wysocki topped the visitors with 21 points.

The junior varsity split the decisions in two games, winning over Alcona, 38-25, and losing to Mio-AuSable, 52-32. Patty Hughes was top scorer with 14 points against Alcona and seven points Friday night. Diane Nelkie was top rebounder with nine against Alcona and six Friday night.

Darla Toska Day Set for Saturday

Darla Toska of Tawas City, a 17-year-old Tawas Area High School senior, who has been hospitalized almost continuously since March and leaves this week for Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minnesota, is to be the beneficiary Saturday of a special collection.

Sponsored by Tawas United Methodist Youth, members will be at many local business places with canisters seeking financial contributions. All legitimate collectors will be wearing a "Darla Toska Day" button.

Born with a hip deformity, Darla has had 17 major surgeries in as many years in an effort to correct the problem. She has had three surgeries since March and the most recent detected an extremely rare form of infection.

Her doctors made arrangements for her transfer to Mayo Clinic and she will be going this week for an unknown length of time. The Crippled Children Fund of Michigan will be paying most of the cost for treatment, but all other costs must be covered by the family.

Darla is a band member and is determined to graduate this year. She lives with her mother, Bessie, and has one married older brother, Douglas.

It is the hope of Tawas United Methodist Youth that the Tawas area will support Darla and her mother, both financially and by prayer. Anyone desiring to contribute may send a check to the Tawas United Methodist Church, Darla Toska Day, Box 666, East Tawas, or through canisters on Saturday.

Cards Please Fans-New Coach by Ending Long Losing Streak

The drought has finally ended for Whittimore - Prescott Area School's football fans—the Cardinals ended a 14-game losing streak compiled during the past two seasons by winning over Augsburg High School, 20-0, in Friday night's opener.

Led by the hard running of Tom Donaghy and excellent defensive play, the Cards turned in a convincing win as they scored all 20 points in the first half of the game.

With five minutes, 20 seconds gone in the first quarter, Quarterback Todd Horn completed a touchdown pass of 30 yards to Bill Rase.

Horn put another touchdown on the scoreboard with 10 minutes, 21 seconds gone in the first quarter when he went over on a one-yard sneak. Larry Snyder kicked both conversions.

Second quarter action found Horn connecting on a 78-yard touchdown pass to Rase. The try for a conversion failed.

Horn completed eight of 18 passes for 158 yards and Donaghy picked up 127 yards in 16 carries. "Our team is young and green, but played with much enthusiasm," stated Coach Kyle Tobin, who is in his first year at Whittimore-Prescott Area.

In action earlier in the week, the Cardinal junior varsity lost to the Hale JV, 20-0.

This Friday night will see the Cardinals hosting the Hale Area Eagles in a traditional battle between teams of the two schools.

Chief Sodney

MUH-KAH-KUSH

One of the most colorful characters in Isosco County's history and one of the most beloved residents of his day in Plainfield Township was a direct descendent of a long line of Chippewa Indian chiefs.

Despite his ancestral heritage as a leader of his people, it was not until about 1907 that Sodney Adams of Hale was named an Indian "chief" and that came about through an executive order of a white man—Gov. Fred M. Warner of Michigan.

Governor Warner's official proclamation was accepted with genuine pleasure by the remnants of the once powerful Chippewa nation of Northeastern Michigan, for Sodney was highly respected by both his Indian and white brothers.

Many Isosco County residents living today recall Sodney, but there is still some misunderstanding concerning the spelling of his Indian name.

Nellie Nunn Jennings, who compiled a history of Plainfield Township, which was accepted by the Michigan Historical Commission in 1920, wrote Sodney's obituary appearing in The Tawas Herald on November 8, 1929. In that obituary, his name was recorded as Sodney Adams Muh-Kah-Kush. A later historical article stated that his name was Sodney Adams Mucka Poosh.

Irregardless of the confusion in spelling, Chief Sodney left an admirable legacy of promoting a better understanding between the Indian people and white Americans.

"Sadness was cast over the community at Hale Sunday morning, November 3, when it was found that Sodney Adams Muh-Kah-Kush, beloved of every family in that locality, had passed away in the night, the cause of death being dropsy," stated his 1929 obituary.

"Sodney was the oldest son of John Muh-Kah-Kush, who was well known in the early days of this county and long before, as chief of the Chippewa tribe that lived around Dease Lake and Long Lake."

Preacher John, as he was known to all, brought the Christian religion to his people in a small building used for a church and school at North Dease Lake.

Born in Shiawassee County, Sodney never knew the exact date of his birth, but it must have been around 1849. Sodney's mother died when he was a baby and his maternal grandmother took care of him. Her name was Adams and he grew up using that name.

SODNEY ADAMS, who died during the "Indian summer" season of 1929, was a beloved resident of Plainfield Township and Isosco County. His grandson seated at right in the wagon, Lewis Williams, now 71 years of age, said last week that the proper pronunciation of his grandfather's Indian name was Muh-Kah-Kush, not "Mucka Poosh" or "Muckle Poosh," which some white folks believe. This picture was snapped more than 60 years ago when Chief Sodney and Lewis were in a parade at Hale.

At an early age, he learned to use his bow and arrow to supply the family needs from the then almost unbroken wilds of Shiawassee County.

When still a youth, he was taken into the home of a white family living near Owosso, then a small village, and through the kindness of these people he learned to love the whites.

Later, he came to Isosco County and found his father. He was married to a girl of his own race and the young couple had one daughter, Eliza. His wife died and Eliza grew to womanhood, marrying an Indian by the name of Daniel Williams. Both Daniel and Eliza died, leaving two young sons in the care of Sodney and his son-in-law's mother. One of Sodney's grandsons, Lewis Williams, is still a resident of Hale and lives in his grandfather's old home.

Miss Marion Jennings of Alabaster Township, whose father, Fred Jennings, operated a farm in Plainfield Township, recalls that Sodney and her father were close friends—so close, in fact, that at the time of his death in 1929, Sodney's last request to be buried next to Jennings was granted.

"Sodney worked for father on the farm for many years. I recall that he was quite a weather prophet. He was never wrong in predicting rain and my father never lost a crop of hay when he followed Sodney's advice on the day to cut it," said Miss Jennings.

After being honored by Governor Warner, Sodney was feted in all the important cities of Michigan and other states. That period of history from the turn of the century through the 1920s saw increased interest by the general public in the heritage of the American Indian.

Sodney became a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cowan, pioneer resort operators at Bass Lake in Plainfield Township and he was called upon to officiate at Indian camp meetings held there during the 1920s.

He engaged an Ottawas woman, skilled in the art of bead work and the insignia of his tribe, to make him a suit and a pair of moccasins. This suit was said to be worth a considerable sum of money and was later sold to the Museum of American Arts at Chicago, Illinois.

Sodney was a familiar participant in early-day patriotic parades of Isosco County and one or two pictures have survived showing him in his beautiful regalia—complete with headdress of eagle feathers, deerskin suit and highly decorated moccasins. In his earlier days, he even played in the community brass band at Hale.

"I recall Sodney being a great friend of all of the youngsters growing up around Hale," said Leon Putnam, county register of deeds. "I still have the bow which he made for me out of black ash when I was a kid at Hale. The blunt arrows which went with it have been lost over the years, but that bow is a prized possession."

Miss Jennings recalls that Sodney was an extremely shy man, not one to force his opinions on others, but one who was interested in the teaching of traditions, lore and heritage of his race. He was also skilled in the use of native herbs for medicinal purposes, but the retired school teacher could not remember if Sodney ever prescribed any Indian remedies for white residents of the Hale area.

"He was a very proud man and an excellent citizen," said Miss Jennings.

State Should Get Out of the Mailing List Business

This corner has been aware for some time that the state has been making addresses of driver's license holders available to direct mail advertisers and it was a genuine pleasure to read in the daily press last week that an incensed citizen plans to do something about it.

It is this corner's opinion that selling lists of names by the state is an invasion of privacy of each individual contained on those lists. It is difficult to believe that the state has no choice but to sell names and addresses of its citizens for commercial purposes under terms of the freedom of information act.

Using the present thinking of the secretary of state's office, then names and addresses on tax rolls in every county treasurer's office of the state would be open to direct mail advertisers. That would be an invasion of confidential information.

Despite the fact that state coffers are enriched considerably by annually selling names of its citizens, this corner cannot be led to believe that it was the intent of the freedom of information act to require this unwarranted invasion of privacy.

The legislature should take immediate action to correct the situation and, if the bill is challenged in the courts, let it be done. This corner strongly believes that such lists should be purchased elsewhere.

Time to Reconsider Iosco's District Health Involvement?

For a number of years, Iosco County has been at odds with adjacent counties comprising the district health unit concerning the method of financing this public service.

In this week's issue of The Tawas Herald, an article by the administrative committee of the health department threatens to curtail its services in Iosco should the county board of commissioners "not provide its share of local appropriations."

At the same time, the article states that "services in Alcona, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties will continue or may even increase since those counties provided the necessary funds to the four-county local agency."

One of Iosco's biggest objections to the formula used to determine each county's proportionate share of financing has been the insistence of other counties that the total population at Wurtsmith Air Force Base be included in this county's population figure; Iosco officials, on the other hand, have pointed out that while some services have been provided by the health department to persons on the base, the extent of service is not that great.

This corner is tired of hearing threats over this issue. Perhaps now would be an opportune time for Iosco to disengage itself from public health financing with the other three counties.

The county board of commissioners should take a hard look at the actual value of services provided to this county by the district health department—Iosco might be better served going its own way; it may even be able to eliminate some needless governmental expense by curtailing certain public health activities.

(Read I John 3:1-3)
 "When He appears we shall be like Him." (I John 3:2 RSV)
 When I was newly entered in Chaplain's School, a drill sergeant lined us up. He chose eight men who were of an even height and said to us, "You are the honor squad. You will represent this school in the drill competition."
 After we were dismissed, I went to him and said, "Sergeant, you will have to get someone else. I have no sense of rhythm. I am awkward. I am dumb. I will foul everybody up."
 He said to me, "I have noticed that. You are awkward. You are dumb. You are on the honor squad."

Then, he worked us and we were all what I said I was. But, he worked us. When the day of competition came, we were very good. We won. We were the honor squad.
 You and I are not what we ought to be but we do belong to Jesus Christ. He can take us as we are and make us what we ought to be. We are His, and He will shape us.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT FOOD
 Many people today are concerned about food safety and nutrition. While they enjoy the wide variety of foods available, some people are concerned about specific aspects of their daily diet.

25 Years Ago—
 September 18, 1953—Iosco County Library's bookmobile has inaugurated adult service at the Hale School.

Question: Are carbohydrates fattening?
Answer: The body will make fat whenever it gets more calories than it burns up. It is the body's way of storing up energy for the future. It will make fat from carbohydrate (like sugar or bread) if it is eaten in excess; it will also make fat from protein and from fat, too, if they are eaten in excess. The important thing is keeping a balance between food intake and energy use, plus eating a variety of food.

Question: Is too much sugar or too much salt harmful?
Answer: Too much of anything, including sugar and salt, can be harmful. Excess salt, especially in individuals with high blood pressure, can be dangerous. It also helps body cells retain water, leading to puffiness or edema. Sugar is a concentrated source of calories, which can lead to obesity, or it can replace other foods in the diet which provide other needed nutrients. It has also been accused of causing or aggravating a number of diseases but most studies are not clear-cut.

Question: Should we get more roughage (or fiber) in our diets?
Answer: Probably, but it should not come exclusively from a single source. A diet chosen according to the recommended number of servings of each of the basic four food groups, especially the fruit and vegetable group and whole grain breads and cereals from the bread and cereal group, should provide adequate roughage for normal, healthy people. Roughage and fiber are terms that describe a wide variety of indigestible materials and the fiber from each source acts somewhat differently in the body. Again, the key words are variety and moderation. Roughage itself has no calories but foods which contain it do.

Question: Why are foods processed, if that causes them to lose nutrients?
Answer: Foods must be processed if they are to keep fresh and wholesome and be available in all parts of the country at all times of the year. The nutrient losses from most food processes are insignificant compared to the losses even from cooking. Fresh produce begins to lose nutrients as soon as it is harvested, so simple storage is no protection against loss.

Question: Why does the government allow junk foods?
Answer: In our free-choice economy, the government allows food processors to produce any type of food a consumer wants to buy, provided it is safe and labeled properly. In a varied and balanced diet that contains no excess of calories, there are no such things as junk foods. There are junky eating habits, of course, many of which arise from poor understanding of nutritional needs.

Newest Tawas Area Factory Assembles Auto Harnesses

Baylock Manufacturing Company, located in the Tawas City industrial park at 620 Ninth Avenue, is the area's newest industry and presently employs 41 persons.

"We are now taking bids for construction of a 20 by 100-foot building which will give us 2,000-square-feet of floor space for a warehouse facility," states Jerry Spencer, plant manager.

"Removal of storage facilities will give us additional space in the main 40 by 120-foot building and plans are to expand this building in the spring which will significantly increase the number of employees in the plant," said Spencer.

The local plant, a division of Baylock Manufacturing Company of Leonard, opened here in May with 12 women employed in the assembly of heating and air conditioning control harnesses.

Michael Lyons, a process manufacturer with the firm, has been here since May to establish and manage the facility during its initial stages. He expects to return to the parent plant by Wednesday of this week.

Baylock's principal manufacturing facility is located at Leonard and its main assembly operation is in Tawas City. The firm manufactures and assembles five different types of heating and air conditioning harnesses, all under strict quality control measures, for the automobile industry.

Extruding and moulding machines for the manufacture of component parts are located at Leonard. President of the firm is Albert Basl and Russell Melocke is executive vice president.

Spencer, who came here three weeks ago to manage the plant, is a native of Indiana and comes to Michigan from Conway, Arkansas, where he was assistant plant superintendent for a firm which manufactured vending equipment.

"My son, who is attending school here, and I are living in a trailer park while my wife and daughter are still in Arkansas waiting for me to find a house here," said Spencer. "It is a long way from Pickle's Gap, Arkansas, where we have lived the past three years."

Spencer said that, although he only had been here for three weeks, he was greatly impressed with the Tawas community and particularly the friendly people living here.

In briefly explaining the firm's assembly operation, Spencer said that Baylock had an excellent reputation for quality control in its entire operation. A policy of the firm is that the quality control manager works independently of the plant manager.

Spencer said this was a rather unique approach in industry, but the end result was to provide a check and balance system to insure that all concerned with the firm were quality control conscious.

The quality control manager in the Tawas City plant is Phyllis Howe, formerly of Lapeer and now of Oscoda, who moved to this area when the plant opened last May.

Spencer said that plans were now being made to revamp the employee parking lot located west of the building to provide additional space. The 38 women and three men employed by the firm are residents of the Tawas area, Oscoda and there is one from Twining.

Until last spring, the plant housed the NEMROC sheltered workshop.

Taxpayers . . . Citizens and Other Losers in Iosco County—

WHY would the Iosco County Board of Commissioners attempt to spend approximately $17,284 plus interest cost and additional architectural fees which could in the end amount to approximately $32,000 of the Iosco County Taxpayers' money by awarding the county building expansion contract to a contractor who is not in the county, not employing people from the county and not paying taxes in our county?

This is what is happening in our county:

The Board of Commissioners claims a technicality in bidding eliminated our bid from consideration — yet there were no questions asked for clarification . . . The bid documents required a bid bond with each bid submitted, yet no bid bond was included with the supposed low mechanical bid that was accepted. Is this a technicality or isn't it?

The bid documents firmly state the Board has the right to accept or reject any bid. Had the alleged irregularities in the Davison bid been waived, the Iosco County Building expansion project would cost some $17,284 less than the next higher bid accepted by that board.

The Right to Waive Technicalities?

- 1) Mako Construction submitted two bids (all trade, architectural)
- 2) Low Mechanical Bid had no bid bond (required by bid document)
- 3) Bids that are disqualified because of irregularities should not be read
- 4) No one requested clarification of Davison & Son Construction's notation qualifying reason for total bid

The County Board of Commissioners had and used its right to waive irregularities in other bids but did not waive an irregularity in Davison & Son Builders' bid to save taxpayers $17,284 and employ local laborers and taxpayers with county funds.

We respectfully ask the Iosco County Board of Commissioners to reconsider its action before the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission approves the bond issue on the County Building Expansion.

INTEREST in Indian lore took on a renewed interest around the turn of the century and many whites attended Indian camp meetings held during the 1920s in Iosco County.

Chief Sodney Two Workshops Set at Four Sites

obituary in the Herald:

"Proud and majestic in his bearing, faithful and honest in his dealings, he was a true Christian. Children loved him; men were proud to be his friend; he was loyal to his race; loyal to his friends. The people of Iosco County are proud to claim him; the state at large honors him," said the Herald.

Sodney's funeral was held from the Methodist Church at Hale on Tuesday, November 5, 1929. The Rev. Simon Greensky of the Indian Mission Church near Oscoda officiated.

"The beautiful evening hymn of the Methodist Church was sung in the Chippewa language by the Oscoda Indians. Later, John Silas and his wife of Bay City, Indian friends of the deceased, sang 'Rock of Ages'."

Sodney's body was laid to rest in Evergreen Cemetery, a few miles east of his home on Esmond Road. His legacy of being a true friend is carried on in the hearts of Iosco County residents who knew him.

No other memorial is needed, perhaps, but it might be fitting to erect a suitable monument or historical marker at the site of his grave to perpetuate his good deeds for the benefit and enlightenment of future generations.
